BROOK PARK.

Dr. C. A. Kelsey made a flying trip to Minneapolis Monday. Prof. J. J. Dye is spending his two weeks vacation in St. Cloud. The wood business is increasing—from 4 to 8 cars per day leave the burg. J. T. Safely went to Pine City to buy himself a stove for a Christmas present. Miss Mary Schaska and her sister Mrs. Smith, are home with their parents for the holidays. Master Willie Kelsey, who has been attending school in Minneapolis returned one day last week. No items from Brook Park last week. The postoffice war was on and the correspondent took to the woods. Miss Althea Hoagland, who has been teaching at Norway, is enjoying her vacation with friends at home. Our young folks are all glad to welcome our friends Carlton and Mabel Kelsey in our circles for the holidays. Mr. and Mrs. Soar left Tuesday morning for Eagle Lake, Minn., where they will spend the holidays with friends. Mr. Walker, our new blacksmith, is here and pushing his shop to completion. He will be ready for work in a few days. Mr. and Mrs. Stewart of Aurora, South Dakota, arrived Wednesday morning to spend some days with their daughter Mrs. N. Aldeman. Special meetings conducted by a band of students from Macalester College, St. Paul, will begin Saturday eve, and continue through the holidays. Everybody is invited to come and enjoy the services. Fred Seymour returned from the cities Saturday, bringing with him a large stock of goods. The boys say they are ready to compete with any of our adjoining towns in the line of groceries, flour and feed. They expect to pay cash for wood. This means better times for some of our farmers. The ladies Aid Social and Sale last Friday evening went off very pleasantly. The young folks had a jolly time in a bean bag contest, and then all enjoyed a bountiful repast prepared by the ladies. Several articles of fancy needlework were brought in which went rapidly until all were sold.

BEROON.

Jas. Lane arrived in town Tuesday. Mr. Butler is working at Finlayson. Mr. and Mrs. Albert Lloyd visited in Pine City last Sunday. C. A. Furman started for Seattle, Washington, last Monday. Mrs. Oliver Wloox has been visiting in Beroon and vicinity. Mr. S. H. Derr, of Pearl City, Ill., is here to attend the funeral of Mrs. Robt. Derr. Rev. P. Knudson preached the funeral sermon over the remains of Mrs. Robt. Derr. Mrs. Derr died after a long illness last Sunday morning. Funeral Wednesday at 10 o'clock a. m.

MEADOW BANK.

Telex of News Creek, Dec. 21, 1897. G. Peterson and son Charles made a flying visit to Princeton Saturday, and returned Sunday, to visit their daughters and sister, who are living at that place, and report a well. J. Johnson has completed his residence on his land on the Bank, and he and E. Lindstrom have come out as two full-fledged bachelors. Young ladies, have some regard for their pitiable condition, and assist them before their case becomes a hopeless case of rejected bachelorhood.

With deep regret we are called upon to announce the death of Mrs. Frederica Behandt, who a week ago sustained injuries from falling down stairs, which proved fatal on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock. Mrs. Behandt was a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kruse, of the Brunswick road, near Pine City. She leaves a husband and six small children, a father and mother, a brother, and two sisters to mourn her sudden demise. The entire community extend to them their sincere sympathy in this their sad hour of affliction.

HUSTLETON.

Frank Sticker entertained a party of friends very pleasantly, Monday evening. Messrs. Kruse, Glanville and Duseback are down on Kettle river this week. Mrs. Charles Glanville spent Wednesday and Thursday last week, in North Branch. J. E. Netser, one of our most enterprising farmers was a Pine City visitor on business Monday. School closes Friday for the holidays. Miss Griffith will spend the vacation at her home in Pine City. The most enjoyable event of the season was the candy-pull given by the Hustleton Club at the home of J. E. Netser on Wednesday evening. Refreshments were served and a thorough good time was had by all.

Agnes Glanville, who has been teaching school at Oak Lake, near Kerriek, is at her home for the holidays. Agnes likes her school very much and says she had a fine time, even if they did have a 'hot time' one evening.

CHRISTMAS TREES.

By J. O. Babel, Secretary of the Minn. State Forestry Association. Last Christmas time there were myriads of young evergreens brought into the Twin Cities for Christmas trees that found no sale, but were left to cumber streets and squares until carted off as rubbish. And the experience of these cities was duplicated in many places. It was reported that 30 carloads of young evergreens were hauled out of Chicago after the holidays last year and dumped on the prairie. In the Northwest, with its scarcity of trees at best and the scarcity becoming annually more and more pronounced, it is frightful to contemplate this useless slaughter of the bright and promising innocents of our scanty forests. No one can blame the woodman for desiring to increase their slender incomes by selling Christmas trees, and there is a certain demand for them that should be supplied, but it should occur to them that there is no income in cutting and hauling to market thousands of trees that can find no sale. There are no means at hand to put an end to this sad tragedy of the trees, but it can be suggested to those who have cut trees for this purpose in the past to cut not over half as many this year as last, and to ask those who have not had the experiences of the past to guide them, to move cautiously in the work of supplying Christmas trees for their neighboring towns and cities. The young things that are so needlessly slaughtered are always the primest, most beautiful and best; they have cultivated the virtues of infancy, and are rapidly maturing and valuable trees; every one saved from destruction now is a decided gain to those who will come after us, and there should be concert of action among the suppliers of Christmas trees to confine the destruction to something near the demand. Please, good woodman, take heed of this matter and by some agreement between you, there be less slaughter of these innocents for the coming holiday.

—It seems that corduroy is again coming into favor through the dictates of fashion. This much must be understood: People like corduroy well enough to wear, but not to travel over. They like smooth roads the jolting of which is reduced to a minimum. The luxurious, modern equipment and the fine roadbed of the Saint Paul & Duluth railroad, popularly known as the Duluth Short Line, are such as to insure the passenger a comfortable and pleasant ride, enjoyable from first to last. These and other features have made this road popular with the masses traveling to and between St. Paul, Minneapolis, Duluth, West Superior and other points. Ticket agents will always furnish maps, circulars and general information, or they may be obtained by writing to C. E. Stone, General Passenger agent, St. Paul, Minn.

—The Minnesota State Forestry Association, is a timely plea to economize the cutting of evergreens for the observance of Christmas. Our spruces and pines suitable for timber, will no doubt be mainly cut within the next two decades, and the serious question arises, what shall we do to restore the waste places? Obviously there is no possible hope left us, if the extravagant slaughter is not some way checked. It would be sacrilegious to prohibit the use of Christmas trees in the home and church. But when the supply cut from the woodland is fifty per cent more than the demand, it is high time that we call a halt. The situation shows the necessity of a vigilant Forestry Commission, authorized to prevent the cutting of our native young spruces and pines, except in dense thickets. If judiciously managed, such thinning would furnish ample supplies for Christmas at remunerative prices to the licensed parties, and give needful room for the growth of the "fittest" thus improving and perpetuating our evergreen forests.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Dec. 20, '97.

President McKinley will, according to trustworthy though unofficial information, shortly meet the objections that exist, in and out of congress against present conditions in the civil service, by issuing an executive order making material modifications in the blanket extensions of the civil service rules made by Mr. Cleveland during his last year in office. While the opposition on the part of republicans in congress doubtless was a factor in this matter, it is well known that the President has had it in mind ever since his election. It will be remembered that he said in his annual message: "There are places now in the classified service which ought to be exempt and others not classified, may properly be included. I shall not hesitate to exempt cases which I think have been improperly included in the classified service." Just when this order will be issued or the full extent of the modification has not been fully determined, but it will not be surprising should the order be issued before the reassembling of congress, on Jan. 5.

Senator Hanna has gone to Ohio, to remain until the legislature elects his successor. Just before leaving Washington, he said: "The stories from Ohio that a number of the republican members of the general assembly will desert me if I am not successful on the first ballot seem to me absurd. Every republican county but four has instructed its legislators for me; the party is pledged to me through the action of the republican state convention at Toledo, and I am unable to see what can stand in the way of my election."

Notwithstanding the numerous reforms brought about in the practice before the U. S. patent office as a result of the long investigation conducted by Acting Commissioner Greeley with some abuses connected more or less directly with that office, and directly associated with it in the minds of nine out of every ten persons who know of them, which have not yet been reached, but Commissioner Greeley is more than anxious to do so, and is now investigating numerous complaints against patent solicitors, who have obtained money from inventors under the pretense of getting foreign patents for them and selling them, knowing that no valid foreign patents could be obtained for them, and that there would therefore be nothing to sell.

Uncle Sam rubbed it in on John Bull in the bill dealing with open sea sealing, which has passed both branches of congress, and only needs the President's signature to become a law, and that it will probably get Canada backed by England, has played the hog right through in this sealing business, by refusing to join the United States in efforts to prevent the speedy destruction of all the seals by agreeing to a cessation of open sea sealing, for over a limited time, and the Canadians doubtless chuckled with joy when this bill which prohibits open sea sealing by the citizens of the United States, was introduced in the senate, because of their belief that it would leave them a monopoly of the taking of seals in the open sea. But they will not chuckle, nor will their English supporters, when they learn the purport of a section of the bill that was kept quiet while the measure was pending before congress. That section absolutely prohibits the bringing of seal skins into the United States from any source. When it is remembered that the United States furnishes the largest and best market in the world for seal skins, and that the business of supplying that market has been impartially monopolized, as to raw skins by Canada, and entirely as to dyed skins by England, the full significance of what Uncle Sam has done to Johnny Bull becomes apparent.

The act for the relief of those Americans who are in the Klondike gold regions, and who, it is believed, will be in pressing need of food before spring, was as promptly signed by Pres. McKinley as it was passed by Congress, and it now only remains to get the relief to the sufferers in order to make it effective. This is in the hands of Secretary Alger, and if success is possible, he will achieve it, as his sympathy for the Klondikers is of the active kind--so active that he offered weeks ago, to advance the money out of his own pocket to send relief if any practical way of doing so could be pointed out. Secretary Alger will go to Ottawa to secure the co-operation of the Canadian authorities in relief operations.

The fact that the senate did not act upon Attorney General McKenna's nomination to the bench of the Supreme Court before the recess hasn't the significance some persons are trying to give it, in fact, it has no significance. The nomination did not go to the senate until two days before the recess and there was no time for the judiciary committee, which never acts hurriedly upon nominations of the Supreme Court, to consider it. The nomination will be confirmed, and the smallness of the vote against confirmation will be another proof of how poorly informed some newspapers are about sentiments entertained by senators.

"Run Down"

FRANK P. WEED.

CHANDLER, Mo., July 2, 1894.

Dr. M. M. PERKINS, Fredonia, N. Y.

Dear Sir--I was run down, tired out, bilious, had no appetite, poor sleep, dizzy, dull, and had constant headache. I was thus able to recommend it, and I have since sold a great deal. The last bottle I sold cured a woman of palpitation of the heart, and chronic inflammation of neck of bladder. She had "smothering spells" from her ears and had to get up many times of a night. The one bottle cured her completely of the 3 diseases. I never knew this medicine to fail wherever it was used.
