CORRESPONDENCE

BROOK PARK.

Chas. Tarr returned with his wife and daughter Wednesday.

Mr. Court Chase and wife returned Monday from a several weeks' visit to Duluth.

C. H. Sailer is having his house finished inside. The carpentering will be done and ready for the paper hanger next week.

It was wrong to judge by the bluster and fuss we heard Tuesday, one might think that there was war among the natives.

If the snow continues to delay our wagons will all be broken down. The sleds and the children will all be barefooted by spring.

Nice weather—Echo—yes, too nice, except for the blacksmith who is doing most business than any other man about the place.

M. G. Scofield had the misfortune to lay up one of his horses. The animal slipped and fell and hurt one of his legs. He is a fine horse, and one of the only team Mr. Scofield has, so he feels the loss greatly.

Prof. J. J. Dye closed the school Friday, and returned home Monday. He goes to recruit his failing health. The patrons of the school regret very much to have the school close, and it is hoped it will be only temporarily.

J. P. Safely is rapidly recovering from his sickness spoken of last week, but with his recovery other developments are appearing. Some three weeks ago he was up town in the evening, and suddenly became unconscious, and after several hours he came to enough to crawl to the hotel, (the only light house in town), where he was cared for, and his folks sat for. He has suffered much from a bruise on the back of the head, which was supposed to have been received by falling. Now it is believed it was a blow by some coward who intended the blow for another, as Mr. Safely is a very comely and a peaceable citizen, who has the friendship of who know him.

J. C. Sprague is creating a fine snowdrift.

Rev. P. Kandler is holding evening services here every day this week.

Miss Mattie Butler has just closed a very successful term of school at Finlandson.

G. H. Furman has returned from an extended trip out west. He looks hale and hearty.

Miss Isabel Wilcox and Edna Barnson spent Saturday and Sunday here, visiting relatives.

Miss Costello, who is teaching near the government road, was in town Tuesday evening.

Miss Phine Hakes, of Amador, visited here on Monday. Mrs. A. E. Lloyd, Saturday and Sunday.

Mrs. Lloyd entertained a score or more young folks who invaded her home last Sunday evening. Singing, music and speaking were the order of the evening. Albert Thorsen and Miss Isabel Wilcox were the chief attractions. Their declamations were delivered in fine shape.

Two timber wolves prowling the edge of the woods, and the postoffice and depot Tuesday evening, were considered quite a scene as they howled unmercifully. A dead cow by the railroad track was probably the cause of their visit.

A dance was held at the residence of G. H. Furman last Monday night. The house was filled to overflowing with young folks, and their hosts.

Miss Mildred Furman, entertained her guests until the small hours of the night. Everybody spoke with praise of the pleasure of the evening.

School opened Monday, after a vacation of two weeks.

Miss Emma, from Berona, was visiting here this week.

Mr. Nichol's brother, and family, have arrived here and intend to make this their future home.

Mrs. Geo. Hader, mother of L. E. Hader, Mrs. Kilgore and Mrs. Bath, were here from Amador. She is waiting for the arrival of her husband, when they will visit a house and remain here in the future.

A dance was given at the home of John McAdam, last Friday night. Several from Berona, and also a large number from Pine City and Hardscrabble attended. First class music was furnished by the band.

Mrs. Mary Edwards, M. Curry and Mrs. J. H. Smith, Miss Appleton, and Mrs. J. H. Smith, all of Duluth, were here on Monday, having spent a delightful evening.

When you go to St. Paul you'll find the Windsor hotel the best place to stay. See advertisement in another column.

M. S. Watt transacted business in Pine City last Monday.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Simon and family were visiting friends at North Branch last week.

Mr. Simmons, of the firm of Simmons & Foster, went to Hinckley with a load of mutton last week.

A little daughter arrived at the home of Charles Lindstrom last week. Both mother and child are doing well.

Pete Johnson has a crew of men at work getting out cord wood, which he intends to haul, if the snow will only come.

P. W. Peterson has sold his stock, and retired from all manual labor, so to speak. He intends to go to the Southern part of the state for the summer, and around again will engage in industrial work. We wish him every success.

The Rev. Parish, of Rush City, and Rev. Gremet, of Manitoba, were visiting all the families along the Bank last week. They are holding revival meetings at Rock Creek, and are looking for great results therefrom. The series will continue during the week.

Miss Anna Kruse and Miss Griffith spent Saturday and Sunday in Pine City at the home of the latter.

Mrs. J. E. Netter returned to her home here on Saturday from a visit, with her son Harry Willard, at Champlin.

Miss Ella Glanville has returned to her home here after an absence of four months, visiting with relatives and friends at her old home at Howard Lake. Her many friends here are glad to again have her with them.

Chas. Griffith took in the town on Sunday. Great surprise was depicted in his face and manner as he reviewed the vast improvements of Hardscrabble during past year, and to have now still in the pocket of his trousers as he hastened over the pavement to catch the last train for Pine City.

Last Tuesday evening a merry party of young folks congregated at the home of H. Kruse, the occasion being the 18th birthday anniversary of their daughter, Anna. With dancing, games, and an excellent lunch, the evening passed rapidly and at an early hour all departed for their homes, wishing the young lady many happy returns of the day.

J. W. Bassett and John Doran left for New Haven, Conn., a week ago Monday, with six cars of pine logs, via Montreal, Mr. Bassett will visit Malone, N. Y., and Mr. Doran, Cornwall, Ont., on their return.

Alfred Anderson, son of Jno. N. Anderson, was accidentally shot through the right hand on Monday last. The pain and writ of the member were literally torn.

Dr. Stone and Mr. Chas. Johnson of Rush City amputated the hand. The patient is doing particularly well, having but lately left the hospital at Minnapolis, where he has undergone a series of surgical operations for lung trouble. He is under the care of Dr. King of this place, and is said to be doing nicely.

When you go to St. Paul you'll find the Windsor hotel the best place to stay. See advertisement in another column.

ALASKAN POINTERS.

Information for Those Intending to Visit the Klondike Region.

Brooks, Minn., Jan. 18, 1898.

Editor PIONEER.—Since my return from Tacoma, Washington, I am asked about Klondike by so many people that for their benefit I send these lines.

I must say that I did not hear one person say who returned from there, (and I met quite a number) that there is gold in most any of the valleys and that each one of them I met would return in the spring, as they had claims for which they refused as high as $15,000, and from this down.

But I must say that the same man told me that it was a very hard journey there, and only men with plenty of vim and energy could stand it to make the trip at this season of the year.

I will give you the names of two men at Tacoma who can furnish you with the best information: Charles Hotolies and W. E. Sheard. Mr. Sheard is probably the best posted man on the coast as regards Alaska. He is without doubt the largest and fur dealer in the world, having trading stations at Cook's Inlet, Kadiak, Fort Kenai, Fort Morton and Point Barren, and agencies in London, England, Liverpool, Germany, New York, Chicago and San Francisco. Alaska is a great fur producer, last year sending out $13,000,000 worth of furs.

The above named parties told me the best way to make the journey was to go in squads of six or eight men, then one outfit and one tent would suffice for all, thus giving more room for more provisions. They also advised throwing away all furs as nothing but good substantial furs is needed.

They use what is known as A. F. Spans's evaporated vegetables, put up in London, England. This is good for from 400 to 600 meals.

But don't any think it is a snap, or that the gold lays around to be picked up easily, for you must work as you never worked before. This is what each and every man said whom I met, that came out to return. I only met one man who did not intend to return, and he remained only on account of his hands, which had become crippled. One moose, which I procured a picture of, which was killed in the Klondike, dressed at 1237 pounds, and sold for 75 cents per pound, or a total of $927. We saw a polar bear hide which sold for $500, which came from Alaska, through one of W. P. Sheard's stations. They said each as about $125 per box, flour, $100 per sack. One man gave $100 for one gallon of kerosene oil. Dogs bring from $75 to $100 each.

Yours Respectfully,
C. H. FURMAN.

THE CAT CAME BACK.

Mike Moish had a thrilling adventure with a wild cat at his place on Ann River a few nights ago, which will keep him indoors for some time. He had lost some hogs last fall, and was unable to account for their disappearance, and was keeping a watch on his hogs. The other night he was awakened by an uproar in the yard, and getting a lantern, he ran out and found a wild cat trying to make off with one of his porkers. Picking up a stick, he tried to hit the animal fair between the eyes, but the stick was rotten and failed to do any damage more than to enrage the creature, for it immediately let go the hog and sprang at his face. Mike at once had his hands full, but he braved grappled with it, calling for help. When the cookey came out and got an axe, Mike and the cat were both down, and the cookey said he didn't know which to hit first, they were both acting so queer. After a while Mike got a firm grip on the cat's throat, and landed him on an empty barrel, and covered him up for safe keeping, but Mike's face, arms and breast were badly lacerated during the struggle. The cat is a very large one, weighing from sixty to seventy-five pounds, and Mr. Moish feels elated over his capture. He had a good offer for it from some parties in Mora, but refused to sell. Mike boasted of being the possessor of a fine menagerie, last summer, composed chiefly of lion constructors, griffins and scorpions, but has disposed of them all except one old bear that he is wintering in St. Paul.
