WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent

WASHINGTON, D. C., Feb. 27, '98.

The new Army bill is satisfactory to President McKinley, which is alone sufficient proof that the democratic claim of having compelled its acceptance by the republicans is a bit of moonshine.

The simple truth is that the democrats were clearly outgeneraled by the republicans.

In their anxiety to escape censure from the people for trying to tie the hands of the administration, by opposing the Hull army bill, the democrats de ferred to vote for a bill that gives practically everything the Hull bill would have given, except that it on ly provides for the additional men for two years from next July, in stead of leaving it discretionary with the President how long the additional men should be kept in the army.

President McKinley and the republican Senators took advantage of the opportunity thus presented to prevent an extra session of Congress.

Their object in doing this is obvious.

First, they avoid an extra session, which no one wanted; second, the increased army is secured at once, when it is needed, and last, but by no means least, the next Congress can be depended upon to pass any permanent army legislation that may be recommended by President

McKinley. It will be seen therefore, that the claim of victory by the democ rats is just about as substantial as that set up by the Spaniards after Dewey had destroyed their fleet at Manila and later when they announced that Cervera had won a great victory.

President McKinley has won a double triumph, secured the sol diers he needs, and avoided an extra session of Congress.

So far is Secretary Long from ent ertaining a feeling of ill-will toward Schley that he has caused it to be announced that in the event of the Senatate's failure to act upon Schley's nomination to be Rear Admiral, which he does not expect, the Navy Department will not allow Schley to be forced out of the service, although the failure of the Senate to act on the nomination would leave Schley with out official status, as another man has been nominated and confirmed to succeed him as Commodore, while leaves no vacancy in that grade.

Representative Johnson, of Indiana, made another speech attacking the President—probably his last, as he is retires from public life at the end of the present week—which was effectually replied to by Representative

Lamis, of the same state, who declared that Mr. Johnson had been repudiated by his constituents whose sentiments he did not represent in any sense, and supported the declaration by reading extracts from representative Johnson's in his district.

"Those editors," said Mr. Landis,

"are the men who thirty-five years ago, upheld the hands of Oliver P.

Morton, against the assaults of the copperheads. If the gentleman returns to his district, he will be reaccepted by his constituents and spat upon with indignation."

Senator Warren made a successful fight for an amendment to the River and Harbor bill that means much to those who live in the mid-sections of the country. It provides for the establishment of a group of reservoirs in Wyoming and for surveys to demonstrate the practicability of creating other reservoirs in mid-and semi-arid states, especially along the headwaters of the Missouri river.

How strong the Nicaragua Canal is in the Senate, was shown by the fact that only three votes were cast against the River and Harbor bill, containing an amendment providing for the construction of the Canal. The only thing that can prevent the amended bill going through the House is lack of time, and that can probably be arranged.

When Senator Sewell expressed the fear that we could not satisfy the Cubans, no matter how much was done for them, and that we should sooner or later have them fighting us, he said what many have been thinking without saying, although hoping that the Cubans would in the end justify the high opinion which Senator Foraker and others hold of them. It is difficult, however, to make peaceable citizens of men who have been professional revolutionists all their lives, as most of the Cuban leaders have been.

In view of the situation at Manila, where Aguinaldo's hordes are firing on the Red Cross, using the white flag to lure our soldiers in range of their rifles, acting as midnight incendiaries, and otherwise showing themselves to be outside the pale of civilization, the speeches in praise of the Filipinos that have been made in Congress, as closely allied to treason, and as such their makers deserve the condemnation of the country. Representative Cannon was precisely right when he said in the House: "If the speeches made here yesterday by Mr. Simpson (Jerry) and others had been made in Manila, they would have been arrested, tried by drumhead court-martial and shot. The United States has and will continue to exercise sovereignty in the Philippines. If they are obstructed, the power of the whole people, as represented by the Army and Navy, will see to it that our authority is maintained, and the rocks and mountains will fall upon any individuals or any party which seeks to obstruct us."

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

This remedy is intended especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, and influenza. It has become famous for its cures of these diseases, over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good works, of the aggravating and persistent coughs that it cures, of severe colds that yield promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured often saving the life of the child.

The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous consequences. It is especially prized by mothers for their children, as it never fails to effect a speedy cure, and because they have found that there is not the least danger in giving it, even to babies, as it contains nothing injurious. Sold by J. Y. Breckenridge, druggist.

The cultivation of the soil for the best results to the growing crop, and the destruction of weeds, can be learned at the State Farmer's Institute, to be held at Pine City, on March 21 and 22.

STATE FARMERS' INSTITUTE.

A Meeting of Unusual Importance to Every Farmer in Pine County.

The State Farmer's Institute will be held in Court House hall on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 21 and 22, 1899 session to commence at 10 o'clock a. m. and 2 p. m. of each day. The best of instructors have been secured in the different branches—farm work, breeding and care of stock, dairying, horticulture, etc.

Farmers' institute work in this state has become a permanent institution, and the instructions the farmers have received from the previous meetings have resulted in a vast amount of good to the community at large. Every farmer in the county should try and attend this institute as they will receive pointers that will help them in their work.

This is state work, and is consequently free. No charge for anything, and no collections; and besides, all those who attend the meeting in the forenoon of the first day will receive a very valuable book free of charge. The book contains over 350 pages, and is estimated to be worth from $5.00 to $25.00. The book is made by practical workers, and can be relied upon with confidence.

In connection with the institute work there will be held in the afternoon of each day, at Pioneer house hall a cooking school which is a special feature of the Institute this year. The instructions will be given free and by an experienced teacher. This cooking school is for the benefit of the farmer's wife and daughters, so on the above dates bring the whole family to the institute as you can all receive valuable instruction, come not only yourself, but see to it that your neighbors know about it. Neither your neighbor nor your neighbor can afford to miss this institute.

The book will only be given on the forenoon of the first day, so if you want one be sure and be at the court house hall before 12 o'clock on March 21st, as after that time you will be unable to get one, as they are not sold in book stores.

Remember the dates, Tuesday, March 21st and Wednesday, March 22nd, 1899. For further information call on or address Robt. Greig, president of Pine County association, or Robt. Wilcox, secretary.

A Valuable Reference Work.

The Year Book and Almanac is issued by the Globe Company, of St. Paul, is the best work of the kind which has come to our notice. Complete in every particular, it combines history and facts, statistics and general information, properly classified and indexed in a manner which permits of instant reference. The statistics are most complete and admirably arranged for intelligent understanding. Sixty pages of the 500 which this wonderful book contains are devoted to Minnesota, and the political information is the most comprehensive and valuable ever published in the state. We bespeak for this work the consideration of every intelligent person in the state, and we can say without hesitation that it is valuable alike to merchant, farmer, mechanic, sportsman or politician.

The price of the book is 25 cents, mailed anywhere, and, considering the amount of information it contains, it is worth fully three times that amount.

Change in the Northwestern Cycle Company.

The Northwestern Cycle Company of Minneapolis, one of the best known cyclehouses in the northwest, has undergone a change in ownership, the interest of Mr. Fawkes having been purchased by Chas. Lititzky, who for many years has occupied a responsible position in the executive department of the Soo railroad. The Company has secured the exclusive agency for one of the best wheels manufactured, and are better prepared than ever to meet, both in price and quality, the wishes of wheelmen. Do not purchase a wheel without asking the Northwestern Cycle Company, corner of 6th St. and 1st Ave., Minneapolis, for their catalogue. The repair and supply department has been made more complete than ever. Mr. J. F. Rivers, who founded the company, continues associated with Mr. Lititzky in the business.

The above premium is offered by the Minnesota State Horticultural society for the production of a seedling apple tree as hardy and prolific as the Duchess, with fruit equal to the Wealthy in size, quality and appearance, and that will keep as well as the Malinda. This offer is open to all.

Quite likely the seed to produce this tree may not yet have been planted even. Select a corner of your garden or orchard for a seedling nursery, and plant seed of the hardiest varieties of apples. You will find the work of growing and testing seedlings an interesting one, and it promises much for the future of pomology in the northwest.

For full particulars as to the Horticultural society, Fruit List for 1899, terms of membership, premiums offered, sample copy of its monthly publication, etc., address

The late Judge Reuben Merriman, of Dorsey of Howard county, Maryland, was born during a snowstorm, rode 20 miles through heavy snowdrifts to be married, and was buried during the recent blizzard.

Pans' city council is going to give prizes yearly to the architects and the constructors of the six handsomest houses erected during the year. The entries will be judged by a committee of betterment assessments. Fifty-two sets of plans have been handed in for the first competition, which is for houses built last year.

A bill has been introduced in the Michigan legislature providing for the non-forfeiture of life insurance policies upon which one premium has been paid, and for the non-forfeiture of policies held by companies for all representations of its agents, the company not being released from this responsibility even by the terms of a policy contract signed by the assured.

The old fight against state aid for higher education is on in the South Carolina legislature. Opponents of such aid made an effort in the house to reduce $37,500 to $30,000 the amount granted to the State College of South Carolina college, but only succeeded in cutting the amount down to $32,000. The appropriation has varied between that amount and $30,000 for the last nine years.

Bills have been introduced in the Arkansas senate and house to establish and maintain a state cotton factory, the factory to be located in the central part of the state, and the commissioners to locate it near the penitentiary. An important provision of the bill is the section for the working of juvenile offenders who are to be confined in the building, when not at work.

The reason why ships are not stricken by lightning is due to the general belief which is now prevalent that the rope for ringing purposes, as well as to the fact that the hulls of ships are usually constructed of iron or steel. Rings now are more fashionable, and it is believed that fashion has a ring in the finger end, and that quite as awkward as wearing a crook of jewels on the thumb. The ring most approved at present to wear on the fingers is of white enamel and diamonds. An emerald set in this same fashion is also in vogue. Women of fashion are also wearing various rings, many of which cover three fingers, after the style of Mrs. Mackay, and cost $5,000 each.

The United States department of agriculture has, by experiments, found that the growth of a grain plant is sufficient to lift a man and one-half tons provided the weight is so placed as not to interfere with the growth or natural development of the vegetable. In London a passing woman, who weighed 500 pounds, and which was weighed on all sides by other stones, was lifted up by a mushroom. The growth of a big gum tree at Cineras, Honduras, moved the walls of a concrete church three feet in thickness, 18 inches in 17 years.

Gordon Gould will be urged to accept the colonelcy of the 7th regiment of the New Jersey national guard, according to Col. George S. Bamford, who has placed his resignation in the hands of Adj't Gen. Stryker. It is probable that Col. Bamford will be retired with the rank of brigadier general. The acceptance of the resignation of Maj. Gen. Pinne, as commander, will be followed by a reorganization of the New Jersey national guard. Gen. Steward, commander of the 2d brigade, will be promoted to the general command.

Four states are getting ready to go into competition with New Jersey in the business of incorporating corporations and trusts. For several weeks agents from New York, Pennsylvania and Maine have been here, endeavoring to get the New Jersey corporation law, with a view to adopting many of them to make the states named more attractive to corporations and trusts. The Little Falls, N. J., corporation law, and a corporation law which will be even more attractive to corporations than the existing laws.

The German emperor's private train, in which he traveled over the German railroads, is a very comfortable affair. There are fine carriages, each of which costs between $10,000 and $15,000. Outside these are painted in blue and cream colors, and the interior is carpeted for the emperor and another for the emperor's horses (kitchens, dining and luggage cars, a saloon for the empress, a drawing room, etc.). Finally, there is a carriage containing tools and workmen, to give any small repairs that may happen to be required while the imperial train is on the journey.

For several weeks agents from New York, Pennsylvania and Maine have been here, endeavoring to get the New Jersey corporation law, with a view to adopting many of them to make the states named more attractive to corporations and trusts. The Little Falls, N. J., corporation law, and a corporation law which will be even more attractive to corporations than the existing laws.

Moraines of the small children possessed to put everything in their mouths will be glad to know that matches at last are to be taken out of the category of things poisonously dangerous. The little ones, who, like the parents and relatives of manufacturers, a person would have to eat the ends of some 6,000 matches. This even an industrious child would hardly be able to do. The new mixture of phosphorus, arsenic, sulphide and chloride of potash for the poisonous yellow phosphorus has been brought about through the efforts of the French government.

New York, Feb. 25.—Gen. Maximo Gomez, the Cuban commander in chief, entered Havana Friday afternoon, escorted by Gen. Laflor and his staff and troops. He marched at the head of 2,000 armed Cuban horsemen and footmen. The population of the city was wild with enthusiasm, throwing themselves in front of the general's horse, impeding his progress, and pelting him with flowers. The general reviewed the troops at the palace.

Following the processions were many private carriages, filled with women representing the best society, some allegorically dressed and others waving flags. The Cuban people are in a great hurry to get rid of the Spanish. The Stars and Stripes forever, and popular American marches. There were many allegorical floats depicting scenes of Cuban life.

Expressions of good will toward Americans were universal. The events of the day were creditable to the Cuban people, and the Cuban government's lack of interest toward the Spanish cause.

It was decided to have a trial for the Spanish prisoners.

THE WAR CONGRESS.

Brief Resume of the Work That Has Been Accomplished in an Eventful Period.

LEGISLATIVE GOSSIP.

Our Special Correspondent Tells of the Solons' Doings.

The Work of the Legislature—The House of Representatives—Senate—What the House and Senate Have Done—What Yet Remains to Be Done.

Received Final Action.

St. Paul, Feb. 27.—An eventful period in the history of the legislature covered by the work of the Fifty-fifth congress, which is drawing to a close. It has been a period of stirring and dramatic action, with questions of vast magnitude constantly engaging attention, forming an epoch alongside those of peace. Another epoch has opened, and the treaty-making branch has participated in ratifying the treaty by which that war was terminated. It has provided a great volunteer army, has enlarged the navy, and has expanded the way to meet new emergencies and new conditions. The tariff has been revised, first by the Dingell law and then by the war revenue act; a bond issue known as the war loan, has been provided.

But far-reaching as these war measures have been, they have had time also to enact other legislation, which, under ordinary circumstances, would make its session memorable. This includes the annexation of Hawaii, the rejection by the senate of a general treaty of alliance with Great Britain, the encashment of a national bankruptcy law; provision for taking the Twelfth census; reorganization of the personnel of the navy. To this list may be added other important subjects still under consideration. The Senate, however, has not yet voted on the anti-seaing measure, the Hawaiian bill, and the proposed encouragement of American shipping. Some of the most important general measures are in the final legislative stages, and it will not be until the last hours arrive that the success or failure of these measures will be determined definitely.

The total appropriations of the present session amount to approximately $700,000,000, of which $150,000,000 is for the military and naval war, the subjects connected with the war. It is a general estimate, however, based upon totals which may undergo much change, as very few of the large appropriations have been made. Some of the items of these have not even been considered.

The Nicargua canal amendment is added to the river and harbor bill, this will make a material increase. Included in the naval war provisions are three sea-going battleships, three armored cruisers, and twenty-four destroyers, which $100,000,000 is appropriated for the first year's work. Based on estimates, the total appropriations for the congress (not including the four appropriation bills) will be approximately $1,600,000,000, of which amount approximately $600,000,000 is for war expenses incident to the army and navy.

The point of agitation in the House has been the amendment to the code of laws in which $150,000,000 is to be spent for the military and naval war, the subjects connected with the war. It is a general estimate, however, based upon totals which may undergo much change, as very few of the large appropriations have been made. Some of the items of these have not even been considered.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

Towns in the Swamp.

Three new towns have just been established for settlement in the Big Four and Piney Woods regions. The plots of these towns are now on file in the Duluth land office, having been received from the United States surveyor general at St. Paul. The towns are 154-25-5, 155-25-5 and 155-26-5. Most of the lands are swampy, heavily timbered, and bottomed out, but there is no timber headland.

They supply the fundamental requisites, and should their work stop the whole force would suffer. They are the heart of the military system, and yet these prairies are never seen by the men, and there is no camp or station to which they can go.

One of the most striking features of the whole campaign was the pack train.

The packers of the army are even more entitled to the praise than the stokers of the navy, for not only is the work of the former the very hardest, but the packers are the ones who bring up the supplies to the front line when the battle is at its height, and where the danger is greatest.

One of the most striking features of the whole campaign was the pack train.

The packers are all western men and in a measure used to dangers, as the frontier is the only part of the country where the pack trains are used regularly.

Consequently there is that picture of the army mule.

The army mule is the most remarkable animal in the world. There are several varieties, and the pack mule is, without doubt, the most unique and intelligent. There are about 60 animals in a full train, and these are led by the patient "bellmule," a steady, well-broken horse that leads the way, and among them a mule follows, no matter where it leads. They follow blindly, without any other guide except the constant urging from the packers who ride other mules along in the train. The animals wear no bridle, and the packer follows the mule by the lead.

—On account of the storm last Sunday, the services announced to take place at St. Mary's church on that date were postponed, and will take place this (Friday) evening. There will be no services Sunday morning next, but they will be held in the evening at the usual hour.

Mora Times: The Grass Lake Mercantile company have suspended business. Their career in their new business was short, about two months. This only demonstrates the theory that a dressmaker would make a poor blacksmith, or in other words, a dozen farmers would not make one good merchant.

—Chas. H. Griffith departed on Saturday last for Sesa, this state, where he is employed as assistant to S. S. Simpson, who has charge of the creamery at that place. Charlie's many friends in this place will be glad to hear that he is at work and doing well, but are sorry to know that he had to leave town in order to make a living. They all wish him success.

—John Dingee, who spent ten months here a couple of years ago, but for the past year and a half has made Lead, South Dakota, his home, arrived on Saturday last to spend a couple of weeks visiting relatives and friends. John has been troubled with the rheumatism for some time and he thought a change of climate for a couple of weeks might prove beneficial.

—Having been appointed General Agent for Pine County for the "HOUSEHOLD" SEWING MACHINE, I can offer you the lowest prices and the best of terms. There is no better Sewing Machine made than the Household. Every machine warranted for ten years. Sold on monthly payments.

F. E. SMITH,
Hardware Store.

—The mechanical artist of the Pioneer on Wednesday received from Angus Hay the plans and specifications of a horrible nightmare recently experienced by the editor of the Albert Lea Tribune. Better come up to Pine City and cooperate for awhile. Angie. After a week's sojourn here those phantoms of the pleasure, Turkish brigands, etc., would cease to disturb your slumbers.

—I have been afflicted with rheumatism for fourteen years, and nothing seemed to give any relief. I was able to around all the time, but constantly suffering. I had tried everything I could hear of and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I did, and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured. I am happy to say that it has not returned.—JOSIAH EDGAR, Germantown, Cal. For sale by J. Y. Breckenridge, the druggist, Pine City, Minn.

—Geo. B. Scord, the well known contractor of Towanda, N. Y., says: "I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy in my family for a long time, and have found it superior to any other." For sale by J. Y. Breckenridge, druggist, Pine City, Minn.

Albert Richardson Dead.

County Board Proceedings

On Saturday morning last the sad news was circulated around town that Albert Richardson, one of the oldest settlers in this place, had passed away.

Albert Richardson was in the sixty-seventh year of his age. He came from Maine about thirty-five years ago, and settled at Chengwata, where he lived until Pine City was incorporated as a village, when he moved up from Chengwata and lived in the old Richardson homestead, the first house north of the Catholic parsonage, where he lived until about seven years ago, when he built the house where he died, down in the southeastern part of the village.

Mr. Richardson was one of the best known men in Pine City, having run the dray line in this for the past ten or twelve years.

He was a kind-hearted, genial man and there is not one of our citizens but who will mourn him. He was taken sick a week ago last Tuesday, and on the same afternoon went to bed, from which he never arose. On Thursday he spoke the last time at about 7 p.m., after which he fell into an unconscious state, from which he never rallied, but passed peacefully away at a quarter of three on Saturday morning.

The funeral was held from the Presbyterian church on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. Peter Kaudsen preaching the funeral sermon, with interment in Birchwood cemetery.

The PIONEER extends its sympathy to the bereaved family.

A CARD OF THANKS.

We desire to express our heartfelt thanks to the many kind friends who lent their aid during the sickness and death of our father.

RICHARDSON FAMILY.

School Notes.

Willis Buselmeier has been absent the past two or three weeks, an account of sickness.

Miss Maggie Heywood leaves for Rock Creek Monday, to assume her duties as teacher in the McKay school.

Mr. Rankin, State High School Inspector, visited the school Monday forenoon. His report was much more flattering than on any of his previous visits. When he comes again he will notice a still greater improvement.

The Holland Society gave their first entertainment last Friday, and it proved a decided success. Followed by the

—The Cooking School in a separate hall will be a feature of the State Farmer's Institute work that the ladies of the towns will be interested in as those from the country. It is all free, and not one half hour should be lost. Remember the time and place—Pine City, Tuesday and Wednesday, March 21 and 22.

—Rev. E. Edwards, pastor of the English Baptist church at Minerva, Pa., when suffering with rheumatism was advised to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says: "A few applications of this liniment proved of great service to me. It subsided the inflammation and relieved the pain. Should any sufferer profit by giving Pain Balm a trial it will please me." For sale by J. Y. Breckenridge, the druggist, Pine City, Minn.

—For the information of those who desire to attend the Lenten sermons at St. Mary's church, we will state that services began last Sunday. Hereafter, every Sunday evening at 7:30 a sermon will be delivered. The attendance is large and the matter discussed very interesting. Subject announced for next Sunday in the "Sin of Pride." Everybody is cordially invited by the members of the parish.

DON'T BE FOOLED!

The market is being flooded with worthless imitations of CHAMBERLAIN'S PAIN BALM. To protect the public we call special attention to our trade mark, which is registered in the U. S. Patent Office, and to the guarantee, "Guaranteed to contain 100% of the original oil of camphor." For sale by all Druggists.

The board of county commissioners held a special meeting Monday afternoon with all members present.

THE GRAY FELT HAT.

What a queer thing is our soldier hat! What a queer thing is a fife like that to deck the head of a gallant hero! The battle's hero and artist's page!

Where are the feathers, buttons and brads? What are the buttons we've seen arrayed—The gay hem, the bright plumes? The fancy helmet and jingling bells?

None where the woodlark used to twine; None where the trout that broke the line—Like the sparrow, here, here, here, here, here?—Knows all the rubrics!

For the Yankee today is a peasant man, Who goes to war on a practical plan. The militiaman's plain felt hat looks well, but it doesn't cost a cent.

Do you remember a scene?—When the tide unto submission was begun? The tags that were worn? What a masterpiece on parade—

Big sou'wester breeches, gilt-tasselled boots, Silk-trimmed jackets, rainbow sash!

Silk-trimmed hats, and ribbons tied and died, And learned to put them and make a style.

There's something rather business-like In that dull gray slouch without a spike; It fits the soldier in the winter snow, It keeps the sun out, it's dry and neat;

And wet or dry, it's dry—dry—dry!

In fact, it's a rough-and-ready hat, The Yankee himself, for the matter of that, Is much the same, when it comes to style, As his hat.

He marches and fights a "stitcher's" way, And where he lights he's a-stay, Flye shooting his national game— On land or sea it's all the same.

And there's no room for Russian cap, Or French coquetry with fancy trim, Or any other foreign fable.

With a dash of the red, white and blue, That's enough to make the world take notice,

That the soldier has a hand in a fight.

Goes nicely back of a rifle-sight, And is just the size for Freedom's brat—

The Yankee had in his gray coat hat!

Shopping Is Woman's Duty

Otherwise Who Would Spend the Money Men Earn?

"YOU here!" exclaimed the sweet-faced old lady, seating herself by the counter and looking seriously at the bunch counter. "The two Mrs. Mrs. Golden Wedding and Mrs. June Brule, of Staten Island. "Why, I didn't know you were coming into town to-day, my dear," she continued, "else we should have arranged to take that ride together. I thought you'd finished shopping."

"Does a woman ever finish shopping?" asked the young woman querulously. "Mr. June Brule hints my feelings about this shopping business. Why, Mr. June Brule, my husband, is eternally about shopping! We are subjects of all sorts of newspaper jokes because we shop, and he constantly taunted for it by those who pretend to care for us. One would think that the chief aim and every living wage of my husband was to go into the stores and buy things that she doesn't need, just because they are advertised at a bargain."

All of the women at the counter in hearing distance gave the author of this outburst an encouraging sympathetic look.

"I'm right glad you brought the subject up, dearie," answered Mrs. Golden Wedding soothily. "It's one I've often wanted to speak to you about. We poor women are all very much misinformed about this shopping business."

"There always said so," exclaimed a little woman across the counter, who made no bones about listening to the conversation.

"The average man thinks the average woman enjoys shopping," edified the old lady. "She does not, but it is the business, the duty, I may say, of the average woman, and if she neglects it her household will soon go to rack and ruin."

"What's that?" asked Mrs. June Brule, eagerly.

"Simply this: It is man's business to make money and woman's business to spend it. If she spends it recklessly, she is a failure; but she does not her full duty as wife and mother unless she knows how to spend her husband's money judiciously, wisely and well."

Man twists woman about her fingers for shopping. If she didn't shop, who would buy things? Who has the most spare time, the man or the woman?

The woman, of course, and it's her business to look out for the best value for her money."

"I just hate to shop," interrupted the young woman. "I always have a headache after a morning in the stores and nothing fags me more completely."

"Young women out of town tell the same story about it," observed Mrs. Golden Wedding. "But we might say so until doomsday and no man would believe us, except my husband. I gave him a lesson years ago that he won't forget."

"Do tell me about it," urged the young woman, and the other women deliberately listened.

"Well, it was this. He twisted every morning and every afternoon about my shopping and seemed to be under the impression that I didn't know how to do anything else, didn't want to know how, and that was all I did. I told him I was a German at the time and it festered me, because I had to do so much shopping, but we were very poor then and I considered it just as much a part of my business to spend our income to the best of my ability as it was his to make it. I spent a great deal of time making that money go a long way. At last I got him to see that I was right, and I determined to quit shopping altogether. I did, and pretty soon chaos reigned in our little home. I ordered my meat and groceries from the boys who came to the door, never counting the cost or anything, and when any article needed replacing in the house, as I know I let go numerous times, I did it in the spring and, what you believe it, I didn't even get myself any clothes, but kept wearing my old last year's dress. At the end of three months my husband was gone. Oh, with you would have been a bind! He just ran out of my heart. He said his grocery bills were three times what they had been, that everything in the house was going terribly, though he had taken proper care of it, and that I myself looked too dowdy for anything, and that he was ashamed to be seen with me, for who looked conspicuously different from other women. And that's a good part for every woman to remember, dearie."

"Well?" exclaimed the young man.

"I just dung myself in his arms and explained the whole matter to him, proving to him the absolute necessity for a woman to do shopping, and a great deal of it, in order to run a house without friction. He was converted, and from that day to this he makes a hobby of shopping as a dignified profession."

"It is that thing, too," interrupted the little woman across the counter. "Fancied myself a good woman, but you can't tell me about something that touches all womanhood, and I can't resist. A few years ago my daughter married. Now, if she had not been an expert shopper, they could never have gotten along. She was a good girl, she read the advertisements in the papers and I don't believe she ever spent a dollar in her life for which she has not received 100 cents' worth of goods."

"As this seems a sort of open discussion, I suppose I may speak also," put in a stout woman, who had come to Mrs. June Brule.

"I am a widow, and I have a son,

A CUBAN CAMORRA.

Spanish Outlaws Set Free by Gen. Blanco.

The Last Piece of Troublesome Hostility Perpetrated by the Spaniards Before Leaving the Island.

As a final act of hostility to the Americans, the Spaniards have, according to the Cuban junta in New York, let loose the worst gang of thieves in Cuba.

They are expected, in gratitude for their deliverance, to become a camorra and prey upon the people.

As the day for the execution of the island's dreary task seems even to the Spaniards and their subordinates, acting under direct orders from the government at Madrid, were planning a final coup when they learned that a measure to the provisions of the treaty of peace would serve to embarrass the United States government at the interim of administration and lead to its imminent overthrow.

On the last day of his administration Gen. Blanco announced that "as evidence of the love of Spain for the people who had been taken from her he had resolved to order a general pardon of the negroes, Indians, and political prisoners—from the prisons of the penal settlements of Africa, whether they had been sent for crimes against property and persons."

"The negroes," says President Estrada Palma, "are partly Spanish thieves and murderers, who were transported from Spain for Spain's good, and partly the lowest class of West Indian negroes. They are not, however, really Negroes, but rather black-skinned and thugs. Perhaps over the whole range of the earth it would be difficult to find a worse or more dangerous combination of criminals than those who are a constant menace to good order."

The effect of the release of the Nangigos may be compared to that which would follow a general depopulation of Sing Sing. One might just as well open the doors of the state prison and turn the condemned犯人 over to the public, as sweep up the surrounding towns.

The number of the Nangigos is variously estimated at from 1,500 to 2,000. As a band it was perfectly organized. Each member joined the organization, repented of his sins upon the basis that he will not betray the secrets of the combination and to submit himself willingly to the order of the "head center." Just who the head center is no one in Havana, better known as Blanco and his side, has ever known.

The popular impression is that he might be found in the person of Juan Martez, a thug, who has barely escaped execution for murder in Madrid, and in Martez's influence, in doing spy work among the Cubans during the war is found the secret of the inability of the local Spanish government to find him.

The methods of the Nangigos do not differ greatly from those adopted by the "gypsies" that infest the green front of the streets of the extreme east side in this city. Their operations are conducted on a large scale. Burning farmhouses, ravishing women, breaking into houses, robbing men, kidnapping infants, waylaying and robbing men and women in the streets, kidnapping young girls and holding them for ransom are among their accomplishments according to the statement of the Cuban junta.

The conception and execution of every plot is left to the discretion of the individual. But in the most important work of the organization the Nangigos act on orders from headquarters.

Four or five picked men, whose daring and discretion may be trusted, are told off to sack a house, burn a plantation, steal a woman or a child or break into the residence of a wealthy citizen. The orders are drastic. Martez and his chief lieutenants will accept no excuse for failure.

Perkins of Havana, one of the advocates of the Nangigos, may be found in the murder of an old banker and his servant in a house in the center of Havana. One morning the banker was found strapped down to the ironwork of his bedstead, dead his body covered with triangle-shaped wounds; in a low room he lay dead, his head and her head almost severed from her body. Jewelry and plate to the value of $20,000 were missing.—N. Y. Journal.

Rights and Wrongs Among Thieves.

Among the red snappers from Bermuda, now in their second winter here in one of the tanks of the aquarium, there is one, the weakling of the flock, that has not grown any since it was put into the tank. It was long ago expected to give up the ghost, but it still lives, though it is the smallest of all, and grows, as the others have done, and though it is slower in its movements, yet it has a fair appetite, and it holds its own, always above the others. There are runts and weaklings among fishes, just as there are among other animals, and it may be an inference of life as their more favored brothers, but the big and vigorous are better able to provide themselves with food, and as a rule they live longer.—N. Y. Sun.

Football and the Seed Market.
An agricultural seed market report in the last issue in this paper would expect to find a discussion on the influence of football. In the last report of the London agricultural seed market, however, the connection is clearly pointed out. There has been a steady decrease in the sale of canary and canary seed, which has been traced to the fact that large numbers of people, especially in the north of England, who used formerly to keep cage birds or devote their leisure to small gardens now give all their spare time and interest to football.—Westminster Gazette.

FOR THE HOUSEWIFE.

Various Items of Interest Concerning Matters in Parlor and Pantry.

In rugs versus carpets, rugs continue to grow in favor from aspects sanitary, economical and artistic. A carpet washes easily by heavy brushing with soapsuds and so forth cannot be taken up and shaken at will and dust and microbes of various sorts find lodgment when the carpet is for half a day or two. Rugs can be frequently removed and shaken and the floor wiped clean underneath. A carpet grows shiny and loses its value. A rug of the genuine Persian or Turkish gains in value with rubbing with the hand. It is frequently difficult to find a carpet which harmonizes with the furniture already on hand, the paper and woodwork. The color of most oriental carpets is so beautiful that a single predominant note is struck, and it is always a pleasure and an education to look at it.

Oyster pie is now seen on tables and a dish much to be commended. It may be made with a pudding dish or in individual patties as desired. If in a large dish that holds three pints, line the sides of the dish with puff paste or a rich crust, and put a quarter of a pound of butter in it, season each one with a teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of pepper, and an even tablespoonful of butter cut in bits. Cover with a crust, leaving an opening in the center, and bake in a moderate oven until a good smooth white sauce is made. If using a tablespoonful of butter in a small frying pan, add to it a tablespoonful of flour cooking until it bubbles, then adding the same amount of water, and stirring until it thickens; then add a little white pepper and a cupful of cream or milk. When the pie is nearly done raise the crust from the side or insert a funnel in the center and pour in as much of the sauce as will fill the shell. Return to the oven and bake ten or fifteen minutes longer and serve.

While the California prune does not make an rich a sauce as the French, it is cleaner and cheaper. Wash carefully one by one in tepid water, then soak in cold water for two or three hours until it softens, then add a little white pepper and a cupful of cream or milk. When the pie is nearly done raise the crust from the side or insert a funnel in the center and pour in as much of the sauce as will fill the shell. Return to the oven and bake a delicate brown in a hot oven.

Potatoes à la Duchesse live up to the声誉 of their name and are much in favor. Take cold, well-seasoned mashed potatoes and form into biscuit-shaped cakes using a little flour to form them, but mixing none with the potato. Arrange the cakes on a platter, pour melted butter over them with a basting brush and take a delicate brown in a hot oven.

When space is a desideratum in a pantry, a groove should be made at the back of one of the lower shelves, so that the plates may stand upright. Spoons screwed into the bottom of the shelf above where the cups and saucers are to be will permit the hanging of all cups that have handles.

If grease is spilled upon the kitchen floor, pour hot water over it, but cover the spot with a strong solution of unslaked lime, and sal soda dissolved in cold water, and scrub vigorously with a clean scrubbing brush.

After mixing a wedding or any rich fruit cake, allow it to stand three days in the refrigerator before baking. An egg will not hold its temper, but always steams them first, then bakes.

Cocoa is frequently used in place of chocolate for icing cake. Add to the white of an egg a tablespoonful of cold water, two teaspoonsful of cocoa and as much confectioner's sugar as is needed to make it of the consistency required to spread well.—Washington Star.

An Honest Medicine For a Grippe.

George W. Waitt, of Gardner, Mass., says: "I have had the worst cough, cold, chills, grip and have taken lots of trash of no account but profit to the vendor. Chamberlain's cough remedy is the only thing that has done any good whatever. I have used one 50 cent bottle of it, and, cold and grip have all left me. I congratulate the manufacturer of an honest medicine." For sale by J. Y. Breckinridge & Co.

DANGERS OF THE GRIPPE.

The greatest danger from La Grippe is of its resulting in pneumonia if reasonable care is used; however, and Chamberlain's Cough Remedy taken, all danger will be avoided. Among the tens of thousands who have used this remedy for a grippe we have yet to learn of a single case having resulted in pneumonia, which shows conclusively that this remedy is a certain preventative of that dangerous disease. It will cure a grippe in less time than any other treatment. It is pleasant to take. For sale by J. Y. Breckinridge & Co.
