ANENT PINE CITY.

Pointers Concerning the County Seat--Resources, Business Enterprises, Etc.

For the benefit of those who in doubt, or are thinking of coming to this place to locate, we will endeavor to give a general idea of what we have in the way of a village.

Pine City is well represented by churches, having a German Lutheran, Presbyterian, Methodist Episcopal, Catholic and Seventh-Day Adventist. We have a large brick high school containing four rooms, and a frame school house of two rooms. We have four general stores, one bank, two hardware stores, one harness shop, one shoe store, with a shop in connection, one creamery, the largest and best equipped drug store between the Twin Cities and Lake Superior; two butcher shops, a cigar factory, two weekly news papers and a monthly, two millinery stores, five saloons and a brewery. We also have two hotels, a first-class livery, two sawmills, and a grist mill that for its size can not be beat in the state.

The village will be lighted by electricity as soon as the weather moderates so that the poles can be set, as the power house is about completed, and every thing is in readiness for the wires to be strung. For fire protection we have a Waterous engine, capable of throwing 400 gallons per minute.

Pine City is situated 63 miles north of St. Paul, on the St. Paul & Duluth Railroad, on the south bank of the Snake River. It is almost surrounded by water, and in the summer time three steamboats ply between this place and the head of navigation. It is one of the prettiest places in the state, and is fast becoming one of the favorite summer resorts of the state on account of its excellent fishing. The health of the community is looked after by two first-class physicians and surgeons, and the law is expounded by two lawyers.

We are sadly in need of some kind of an enterprise to give employment to the young men of this place as well as a first-class clothing store.

Pine City is one of the healthiest places in this part of the country, and with her natural facilities, she should become the largest place between the Twin Cities and Duluth.

WASHINGTON LETTER.

From Our Regular Correspondent.
WASHINGTON, D. C., April 7, '99.
President McKinley is much pleased with the successful manner in which Gen. Otis has prosecuted his Philippine campaign. The organized rebellion is considered practically at an end. Aguinaldo is a fugitive, his capital is in our possession and his army is reduced to bands of scattered bushwhackers, with little probability of being able to get together in sufficient numbers to put up another battle against our troops. When the circumstances under which this campaign was victoriously fought, are considered, it reflects as much glory upon the officers and men who participated therein as any in which Americans have been engaged.

Fighting in Samoa, which was at first thought to seriously endanger the friendly relations between Germany and the United States, turns out to have been a blessing in disguise. At no time since the joint treaty for the government of the Samoan islands was entered into, by Great Britain, Germany, and the United States, have affairs been entirely satisfactory to anybody concerned. The fighting has brought things to a focus, and the three governments have agreed to appoint a Joint High Commission with authority to settle once for all the permanent control of the islands.

There is a solemn reminder of the Cuban campaign in the 150 caskets, hermetically sealed, now lying in tents temporarily erected in beautiful Arlington cemetery. These caskets contain the bodies of American soldiers who lost their lives in Cuba, and more are expected by tomorrow afternoon. Later in the week, a military funeral will be held in honor of the brave dead, in which President McKinley and all of the troops nearby will participate, and in order to give all government employes an opportunity to join in this last tribute of honor and respect to those who gave their lives for Old Glory; all of the departments and public offices will be closed at noon on the day of the funeral. There are about three hundred bodies in all, to be interred in Arlington, where so many of their brave comrades rest.

It has been decided by the War Department that the volunteers now in the Philippines shall not be mustered out as long as they are needed. This refers to organizations. Gen. Otis has discretion as to mustering out of individuals who have good and special orders, may be recommended to send all sick and wounded men home, also to mark the caskets as well as the graves of all dead soldiers, so that there will be no trouble about recognition when it becomes feasible to bring the remains home. The decision to keep the volunteers in service in the Philippines, although in accordance with the provision in the Army act of the last Congress, would probably not have been made, if the men had not, through Gen. Otis, asked to be allowed to remain in service as long as there was fighting to do. This decision makes it certain that the thirty-five thousand volunteers, authorized by the Army Act, will not be entitled, unless something unexpected within time shall make their services necessary.

Not another cent, and no consent to the issuing of a single bond, was the short and conclusive answer given by Secretary Hay to the two Cubans sent to Washington by the Cuban Assembly with a resolution asking that this government either increase the $2,000,000 it has sent to Cuba to be advanced to the Cuban soldiers as fast as they give up their arms, or give its consent to an issue of bonds by the Assembly, to raise more money. President McKinley endorsed the answer and said that it must be accepted as the end of the matter. These Cubans are not to blame for going to Washington on such a fool's errand; they had been led to believe that the American Syndicate, which had offered to take all the bonds—at about half their face value—that President McKinley would consent to be issued by the Assembly, had "pulled" enough to get that consent. They will return home with the knowledge of a wide difference between the purchasable Spanish officials, Cubans had been accustomed to deal with and American officials. Things will not begin to move smoothly in any of the late Spanish possessions, until the same knowledge had been acquired by the natives.

Mr. H. G. McIntire, of Helena, Mont., who is visiting Washington, said of politics in his state: "Although the democratic candidate for Congress was successful in Montana last year, that does not signify that the state is anti-republican. As soon as the free silver craze is dead, Montana will take its place in the list of sure republican states. The sentiment in favor of silver, which was so overwhelmingly manifest in the elections of '96, is not nearly so strong among our people now. They are prosperous and contented, and are beginning to realize that the free coinage of the white metal is not absolutely essential to their welfare."

The Military Court of Inquiry has not finished hearing evidence, but it hopes to do so this week, and to make its report inside of two or three weeks.

Speaker Reed is in Washington, en route from the South to his home. He says he greatly enjoyed his trip, and he never looked in better health. As usual, he succeeded in bluffing off all attempts to interview him for publication.

Easter Monday Ball.

As advertised in these columns for the past three or four weeks, the A. O. U. W. and the Degree of Honor gave their Easter dance and supper on Monday evening. This was one of the largest dancing parties held in Pine City since the memorable county seat dance held some two years ago. The music furnished by the North Branch orchestra was very fine, being far ahead of anything ever rendered in this village, and the supper furnished by the Degree of Honor was one of the best ever given in this place. The only drawback was the lack of room for dancing, the floor being too crowded to walk around, much less dance.

The Workmen and the Degree of Honor took in something over a hundred dollars, and cleared a little over seventy-six dollars, which will be used for the purchase of an organ.

It is becoming more and more evident that Pine City has outgrown the dancing halls that we now have, and a good large opera house is something that is very badly needed here at the present time. If we had a good opera house with a large stage we would catch all of the large shows traveling between the Twin Cities and the head of the lakes, and besides this, whenever we would have a dance like the one Monday evening, some of our moneyed men should look into this matter, and see if it would not be a good investment for their money. "A word to the wise is sufficient."

How to Make Money.

An agent can do more business working for The Mutual Life Insurance Company of New York, than he can for any other institution. It has a world-wide reputation, and the new policy, issued January 1, 1889, offers greater guaranteed advantages to the insured than any other policy issued by any other company in the world. Prospective policy holders who desire information, regarding forms of insurance, prospective agents, men and women, who desire profitable contracts with the greatest insurance company in the world, will please address E. W. Deaf & Son, Managers, St. Paul, Minn.

BRECKENRIDGE'S PHARMACY.

Main Street, Pine City, Minn.

CHAMBERLAIN'S COUGH REMEDY.

$1,000 Premium.

This remedy is intended, especially for coughs, colds, croup, whooping cough, and influenza. It has become famous for its cures of these diseases, over a large part of the civilized world. The most flattering testimonials have been received, giving accounts of its good works, of the aggravating and persistent coughs it has cured, of severe colds that have yielded promptly to its soothing effects, and of the dangerous attacks of croup it has cured, often saving the life of the child. The extensive use of it for whooping cough has shown that it robs that disease of all dangerous consequences. It is especially prized by mothers for their children, as it never fails to effect a speedy cure, and because they have found that there is not the least danger in giving it, even to babies, as it contains nothing injurious. Sold by J. Y. Breckenridge, druggist.

The above premium is offered by the Minnesota State Horticultural Society for the production of a seedling apple tree as hardy and prolific as the Duchess, with fruit equal to the Wealthy in size, quality and appearance, and that will keep as well as the Malinda. This offer is open to all.
Quite likely the seed to produce this tree may not yet have been planted even. Select a corner of your garden or orchard for a seedling nursery, and plant seed of the hardiest varieties of apples. You will find the work of growing and testing seedlings an interesting one, and it promises much for the future of pomology in the northwest.

Sources of Food for Fish.—Forest Insects.

From the Minnesota State Forestry Association—Geo. W. St. Paul, Secretary, Duluth, Minn.

One of the sources for food for fish in the beautiful lakes and streams of Minnesota are the crustacea, or small shellfish which are so abundant on the sandy and pebbly bottoms of lake and river beds...

Have any of you gentlemen ever waded a trout brook in a region where the trees have mostly been destroyed, as the once famous Kinnikinnick, whence so many trout were taken twenty years ago...

Compare such a stream as this with its monotonously even depth of water with the few streams of northern Minnesota and Wisconsin, where the streamer has not yet felt the timber and nature the difference in the depth of the water bed...

It is a conceded fact that a treeless country, whenever it has rains, has freshets and inundations. With out forests to hold back the water, it at once runs off in torrents, filling the streams more than bank high...

The diminution of the volume of water in our lakes consequent upon forest destruction also militates against the fish in two other very serious ways. First, as the water becomes shallower, often freezing nearly to the bottom, the fish have less freedom and air space beneath the ice in winter...

large fish in large bodies of water—the reason being that the limited shore line of small bodies of water does not yield the relative quantity of food contained in lakes having a large shore line, and consequently relatively larger feeding grounds.

Again, forests and the trees and shrubs on the shores of streams and lakes are the favorite homes of numberless insect life, and these with each breeze fall into the water and supply that insect food which fish most enjoy.

In the spring they may feed along the shore line of the water and on the bottom, but later in the season, when flies and insects appear, they want them. It is this love of fish for flies and insects which is the secret of fly fishing, the acme of the anglers' art.

—I have been afflicted with rheumatism for fourteen years, and nothing seemed to give any relief. I was tried to be around all the time, but constantly suffering. I had tried everything I could hear of, and at last was told to try Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which I did, and was immediately relieved and in a short time cured. I am happy to say that it has not returned.—JOSH. EDGAR, Germantown, Cal. Foreale by J. Brockneidge, druggist, Pine City, Minn.

Mora Times: Pine City gives the least support to its newspapers of any town we know of, and it has two live newspapers. One Rush City merchant absorbs more space in the Pine City papers than all of its local advertisers put together. A town is generally judged by the support it gives its paper.

The St. Paul Dispatch this morning contained an account of the familiar jump of Jos. O'Brien at the Arcade hotel in St. Paul yesterday. Jos is well known in this place, he being one of the well known firm of O'Brien Bros.

Then Henderson explains how he was defeated by John Sexton for street commissioner last Tuesday as follows: "I went to all the Irish in town and told them if they would support me I would keep the potato-bugs off their vines, and to the Germans, that I would keep all the worms from their cabbage, and they promised me their support. But Sexton told them the morning of election if they would vote for him, he would set Old Ireland free. And that was enough, he was elected."

I was reading an advertisement of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy in the Worcester Enterprise recently, which leads me to write this. I can truthfully say I never used any remedy equal to it for colic and diarrhoea. I have never had to use more than one or two doses to cure the worst case with myself or children. W. A. STRAUD, Poponoke City, Md. For sale by J. Y. Breckenridge, Pine City.

Quite a large number of our residents are waiting anxiously for the frost to get out the ground, so they can commence to build. There will be no doubt, be more building done here this summer, than was ever done here in one season before. This we take it is a sure sign that our enterprising town is coming to the front, and the farmers who have been in the habit of going to Rush City to do their trading have come to the conclusion that they can do better at home, and that is what makes a town.

We are in receipt of a school text book from the American Book Concern, entitled the "Child's History of the United States," which gives the history of the country from the time of its discovery by Columbus, to the destruction of Cervera's fleet at Santiago last July. It is a fine, comprehensive work, and written in such simple language that the smallest child can comprehend it. This is one of the best text book concerns in the country, and our school boards should correspond with them before placing orders for school books.

"A word to the wise is sufficient," and a word from the wise should be sufficient, but you ask—where is the wise? Those who know the oft repeated experience of trust-worthy persons may be taken for knowledge. Mr. W. M. Terry says Chamberlain's Cough Remedy gives better satisfaction than any other in the market. He has been in the drug business at Elkton, Ky., for twelve years, has sold hundreds of bottles of this remedy, and nearly all other cough remedies manufactured, which shows conclusively that Chamberlain's is the most satisfactory to the people, and is the best. For sale by J. Y. Breckenridge, Pine City, Minn.

The marriage of Miss Josie Kothra to John W. Chapsky, was called from the pulpit in St. Mary's church on Sunday last, and the wedding will take place next Tuesday. The bride to be is a bright, estimatable young lady and has since coming to this place taught school in several districts, where she was beloved by all of her pupils. The groom is a resident of Beroun, but is about as well known here as he is there, having been interested with his father in the mercantile business in the above named town, and all that are acquainted with him speak of him as a fine young man, worthy of his prize he has won, and wish them both a long and happy life.

Mora Times: Through conversation with A. J. Mulvey, of Stillwater, who was in the village this week, we learn that the logs cut and banked along the Snake and tributary streams above this place this season is exceedingly large, probably more than any previous season. Mr. Mulvey informs us that about 60,000,000 feet of logs will be driven down the Snake by this place this spring. The O'Neal landing at Knife Lake is the largest they have yet had, and is reported to be a vast sight to the ordinary observer. It is probably a fact that in seasons to come the cut will be a great deal less, and gradually the lumbermen will depart, as the amount of pine in the county is limited.

On Saturday evening, as advertised last week, our citizens met in caucus at Hurley's hall, to put a ticket in the field for the village election held on Tuesday last. The ballots for the several officers were as follows: For president, Rath, 26; Dosey, 24. The following councilmen were nominated unanimously: H. Kenia, Alfred Rice, August Larson, Henry Spahr, and Ed Madden. Robert Wilcox was the choice of the caucus for recorder, as was Geo. Kick for assessor, C. I. Heywood for justice of the peace. For street commissioner, Thos. Henderson received 35 votes, John Sexton 16 and James Hurley, 1. On motion of J. Y. Breckenridge, J. Adam Bede, T. W. Ling the president and secretary elected by the caucus, were appointed a committee to call a caucus text spring for the village election. No further business appearing, the caucus adjourned sine die.

The village election on Tuesday passed off very quietly. It was one of the closest elections ever held in this place, the caucus ticket being defeated by but one or two exceptions, as will be seen by the following: For president Julius Dosey received 81 votes and Henry J. Rath, 79; for councilmen H. Kenia received 81, Alfred Rice 82, August Larson 74, Ed Madden, 159, Henry Spahr Jr., 79, Jos. Veverka, 89, E. A. Hough, 76; George Payne, 83, and C. B. Burger 85. For recorder Robert Wilcox received 121 and Lawrence Pofar 36; for treasurer George Kick received 161 votes, being the total number of votes cast, and C. I. Heywood, for assessor, received 160 votes. For street commissioner John Sexton received 83 and Thos. Henderson 76. For Justice of the peace J. W. Axtell got 106 votes, and T. W. Ling 52. As will be seen by the above the president, Dosey, was elected by just two votes, and at no time during the counting of the ballots was either candidate more than five votes in the lead of the other. We have a good set of village officers for the ensuing year, and under their management the village should do well.

Old Virginia Jubilee Singers.

On last night the Old Virginia Jubilee Singers gave one of their fine concerts in Pioneer house hall to a very large and appreciative audience. The hall was packed to its utmost capacity there being hardly standing room.

The concert consisted of Old Plantation melodies, Negro Camp Meeting Songs and some of the latest popular airs. The Old Plantation Songs brought down the house, and every one of them was encored. Mr. Butcher, the bass singer, was very fine, as was the soprano Miss Mabel Martin. The tenor solo by Mr. Pittman—She was Dead in Old Kentucky—was also very good. The stump speech by Prof. J. E. Dixon brought down the house, but would have been much better if he had had more room on the stage. The chorus "Heavenly Bells," by the troupe was one of the best choruses ever heard in Pine City, Miss A. Middleton, the accompanist on the piano, was good. The Prosen recommends the troupe as being good, and assures them a crowded house if they ever visit this place again.

HUSTLETOWA.
Mr. Kruse has got his summer supply of firewood all cut and split. F. N. Husted has a lame horse. It heard the animal will lose its hoof.
Mr. Gibson is suffering from sore eyes. He is not able to get round.
There was a dance at Mr. Gibson's last Friday night. They danced until nearly 1 o'clock in the morning. The Minneapolis boys think they are getting pretty funny up here to go and cut out the Hustletown boys.
Paul Dusbabok, accompanied by two of Hustletown's handsome young lads, drove to town last Saturday morning.

A FRANK JAMES STORY.

Exciting Encounter of the "Wanted" Man with an Unwitting Policeman.
When Frank James, the former outlaw and train robber, was in Kansas City, Mo., recently, the Sheriff, who says he told the famous story to the judges of a district court.
"Before my brother Jesse was killed and before I surrendered I and my wife were staying in Baltimore, living very quietly and under an assumed name, because there was a reward of $20,000 on my capture. I was walking leisurely along the street one day when some one caught me by the arm. I turned and saw it was a policeman. The policeman said rather sharply: 'I want you, come with me.' The thought flashed into my mind at once that I was recognized and arrested. I was nervously armed and, of course, I did not intend to be taken alive under any circumstances. I remember now very distinctly that a feeling of pity for the policeman came over me, for my mind was made up instantly to kill him and try to escape. But I did not lose my presence of mind. I asked him:
"What do you want me for?"
"There's been a murder down the street," he said.
"Well, I didn't do it," I told him.
"I know that, but I want you to sit on the corner's jury."
"I felt so much relieved and so good over it that I had to laugh in his face. I told him I was not a resident of Baltimore, but was a stranger there visiting some friends. The policeman apologized and walked away. I went and told my wife about it, and it made her so uneasy that she insisted that we must not stay in Baltimore another day, and we did not. We went from there to New York."

THE SOLDIER'S CHECK.

It Speedily Finds Its Way Into the Possession of the Cautious Man.
When the soldiers get their discharge from the army they receive from their local paymaster's office new, crisp checks. These checks, calling for privates, grow very warm in the pockets of some of their owners and the first desire is to get rid of them. In fact, many of the boys hardly wait until the ink is dry before some friendly caustic man has it in his tuck. Many of the soldiers, being unacquainted in the city, have no one to identify them at the banks, and are forced to have them cashed where they trade, says the Detroit Free Press.
It is no uncommon occurrence in the paymaster's office nowadays to see people coming in with checks in their hands that have been refused at the banks. This is due to a technicality, and in most cases is straightened out by the paymaster. One woman went to the office one day last week, and said she had cashed a check for $20 for a soldier. She had sent the check, with several others, to one of the city banks, on deposit. The check had been forwarded to a Chicago bank for collection, and the Chicago bank refused to cash it, for the reason that in endorsing it, the soldier had failed to add his position, company letter and regiment number to his signature. This is the case in many instances. The checks are all sent back here and paymaster Pickett certifies to the missing identifications in most cases.
