Chicago's newest theatrical enterprise, the new Jewish theater, formerly Irwin's, in Desplaines near West Madison street, bids fair to become a permanent institution. It is more than probable that the theater will run forty-two weeks in the year with Yiddish plays.

A new range-finder has just been invented which, it is said, is a great improvement on all range-finders now in use. The distance of any object can be ascertained by a single glance through the instrument, it being shown on a little dial the moment the object is focused.

The telescope, so far from being, as is generally averred, the outcome of the famous experiment of Galileo, was known at least 400 years before his time, while the microscope certainly dates from the early part of the ninth century, although greatly improved in the sixteenth by Jansen and others.

The Hambleton cricket legend, which makes England's national game take its rise in the little Surrey village, has long since been exploded. The game was played by the Vikings, and is certainly identical also with the "club ball" of the fourteenth century.

The annual production of cheese in the United States is estimated to be valued at 300,000,000 pounds, made at 3,000 factories. New York and Wisconsin each have 1,000 factories and produce three-fourths of the total output. Other cheese-producing states in their order are Ohio, Michigan and Pennsylvania.

The people of Oregon wanted to buy Governor Geer an executive mansion, but he does not approve the idea. "I am a poor man," says the governor, "too poor to accept such a favor. I am living comfortably in a house which I rent, and to buy a fine house for me to furnish and keep would simply lay on my shoulders a burden I could ill afford to carry."

The best collection of Chinese coins to be found outside of China has been given the archeological museum of the University of Pennsylvania by Rev. E. W. Tising, a Honolulu missionary. The collection goes back to a time over 2,500 years ago, and includes those odd, early Chinese coins which were made in the form of spades, razors, keys, shirts and tools.

In a wood near Polara, on the edge of the Nevada Carpathians, a woman went to gather sticks, leaving her baby in a secluded spot. Upon her return she saw two great eagles bearing away her child, whom they had dismembered. Upon a hunt being made by the inhabitants the bones of the baby were found in the eagles' nest on the rocks amid the snow.

Vice President-elect and Mrs. Roosevelt, with their children, will be the guests of Commander and Mrs. Cowles in Washington from March 2 to March 5. They will then go to their Oyster Bay home and return about October to Washington, where they will occupy the house of Heleny Storer, at Rhode Island avenue and seventeenth street, which Mrs. Roosevelt has leased.

Kentucky's Natural Bridge, in Powell County, is perhaps the most unique freak of nature that the state possesses in its line. It is a bridge of rock connecting two immense cliffs, rising some 1,200 feet above the valley below, in the middle of which there is an opening about 150 feet wide. The approach of this opening on either side is almost impossible.

The widow of the late Henri Say, the well-known refiner of Paris, whose will is now being contested in the Paris court of appeals, was an American woman. She was a Miss Davis and is Frederick Gebhard's aunt. She was the divorced wife of Count D'Harvey when she married Mr. Say. The widow received the entire estate of 50,000,000 francs, and Mr. Say's sister, the viscountess de Frederon is trying to have the will broken.

Kansas has a capital punishment law on her statute books at present, but it provides that when a man is convicted of murder in the first degree he shall be taken to the state penitentiary and confined for one year, after which he shall be hanged upon the governor's signing his death warrant. Every Kansas governor has delayed the signing of the death warrants, putting off the unpleasant duty upon his successor, and there has never been a man hanged under that law.

Mrs. Mary Goodnight of Goodnight, Tex., enjoys the distinction of being the only woman in the world who owns a herd of buffaloes. There are 100 in the herd, more than half of which are pure bred, the remainder being "outlaws," as a cross between a buffalo and a Galloway cow is called. The woman has the herd on a little farm near the town of Goodnight. She has a black, but she varies from jet black to light brown, and they are most readily distinguished from the pure bred by their horns, which are longer.

LEAD FOR A RAIDER.

Bloodshed Follows Attack on a Topeka Liquor House.

CLASH BETWEEN MOB AND POLICE.

Shots Are Fired and One Man is Badly Wounded—A Minister Under Arrest—Men, Nation Out of Jail.

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 25.—J. W. Adams lies at the hospital, having been hit in the head and death. He was shot during a raid on a North Topeka wholesale liquor house.

At midnight Sunday night a crowd of from 30 to 50 citizens, armed with revolvers, slugs, hammer and crowbars and a battering ram, broke into the wholesale liquor house of "Cash" Curtis, on West Curtis street, between Kansas avenue and Jackson street, and smashed the beer found there. Three policemen drove the crowd back. Both the policemen and the citizens fired their revolvers, and J. W. Adams, a carpenter living at West Grant street, was shot twice in the breast. He was taken in a hack to Riverside hospital, where he lies in a precarious condition.

Preacher Arrested.
Dr. M. R. Mitchell and Rev. F. W. Emerson were both arrested by the police. Rev. Mitchell was taken to the police station, where he was booked under the charge of resisting an officer. He was allowed to go upon his own recognizance. Dr. Mitchell took the injured man to the hospital in a hack and was allowed to stay and administer to him without giving bond.

Claims of Policemen.
The three officers, Patrolmen Downey, Boyles and Private Watchman Conroy, claim that Adams was shot by the crowd while he was retreating from the place where the liquors were smashed, and Adams says that he was shot by a policeman, but does not know who.

Rev. M. R. Mitchell says that he was knocked from his hand. Officer Downey says he did not arrive at the scene of the trouble until it was about 12:45. He claims that he was shot by Adams, who carried a Colt's 45-caliber revolver, and that the two shots he fired were in the air and that he did not know who shot him. Dr. Mitchell and Dr. Charles W. Hammond, who cared for Adams at the hospital, say that he was shot with a 32 or 38-caliber revolver. The shots took effect in the center of his chest and the other in the right shoulder. The bullets did not come out.

Gathering of the Crowd.
The crowd which did the smashing job on West Curtis street about two blocks from the joint. The estimates of the number vary from 30 to 50. At a few moments past 11 o'clock the crowd moved east on Curtis street to Jackson street. The wholesale liquor house is a small frame building on the corner of Curtis street, which faces on Curtis street. The crowd turned south on Jackson street and crossed the rear of the lot between the street and the liquor house.

Log Used for Battering Ram.
In one of the yards by a woodpile was a log a foot thick at the large end and about ten feet long. A half dozen men seized the log and used it as a battering ram. The men with the log rushed at the door and at the first blow the lock was broken, the door gave way and the crowd rushed in. At the first rush the lantern which the crowd carried was extinguished and work was done in the dark.

The Liquor Destroyed.
Three men stood inside and passed the cases and kegs of beer to the men in the doorway, who threw them into the yard to be smashed. The crowd used heavy sledges, sledge hammers and crowbars. Patrolmen Boyles and Watchman Conroy were called from the Union Pacific depot, two miles east, where were the first officers there. They entered the yard from Curtis street and drove the crowd back. Before the officers arrived Adams and two kegs of beer had been smashed and the debris was scattered over the yard.

Halt Their Forces.
When the officers arrived the crowd fell back to a ditch near Jackson street where the leaders succeeded in rallying the forces. While the crowd was being driven back 20 or 30 shots were fired. When the crowd retreated to Jackson street the officers were near the officers and the crowd. When he was shot he fell by a pile of wood. Officer Boyles claims that he was shot in the chest and running toward the crowd when he was shot.

When Adams fell the crowd thought he had tripped and he came the crowd did not rise and several ran to his assistance. He was carried to Jackson street. When the crowd found Adams was being taken to a hospital the members quickly dispersed.

One Officer's Story.
Chief Stahl was summoned from his home and went directly to the scene of the trouble, but did not arrive until the crowd had left. When the crowd had left the broken cases and the smashed beer bottles were carried into the building and a man stood guard near the building.

W. Emerson. They seemed to be the leaders. When I got there they stopped carrying out the beer. Dr. Mitchell was giving first aid to Adams. He said that the crowd did not over his face, but Dr. Mitchell and Dr. Emerson were carrying him out. I went to where they were throwing out the stuff, and told them to stop. The crowd fell back toward Jackson street and the shouting commenced. I shot twice, aiming toward the crowd when he was shot. He had a sledge and a steel bar in his hands. He did not say a word when he fell.

MRS. NATION OUT OF JAIL.

Leaves Topeka at Once for Peoria Where She Will Edit Paper.

Topeka, Kan., Feb. 25.—Mrs. Nation was released from the county jail at 11 o'clock Sunday night and at five o'clock Monday morning left for Peoria to act as editor of the Peoria Journal for one day, for which she is to be paid $150. J. B. McCafee, of this city, is Mrs. Nation's bondsman.

Rev. Dr. McFarland, pastor of the First M. E. church, also signed her bond. Mrs. Nation has received several urgent telegrams requesting her to come to Peoria, and her determination not to give bond until she holds out against the requests and so the last of the crusaders is out of jail.

Mrs. Nation went to the Santa Fe depot to leave at midnight, but the train was nine hours late and she left at five o'clock in the morning. Before she went she heard a rumor of the joint smashing just after her comment was "Praise God!"

Mrs. Nation was accompanied by Rev. Mr. Russell, a temperance orator from Ohio.

Investment on Mrs. Hudson.
Leavenworth, Kan., Feb. 25.—The inquest over the killing of Mrs. Rosa Hudson, in the joint raid at Millwood last Monday, was held at Leavenworth. The coroner's jury returned a verdict to the effect that she came to her death from a gunshot wound at the hands of persons unknown to the jury. An attempt was made to investigate those who comprised the raiding mob, or who did any of the shooting in the joint. John Hudson, the husband, Michael Lockner, the brother of the murdered woman; Matthew Goens and Dr. W. E. Adams were the only witnesses put on the stand, and they were asked only a few questions. It was shown that Mrs. Hudson is dead, and that she was killed by a gunshot. The jury was out only a few minutes in reaching a verdict. The preliminary trial will come up Friday, when a full examination will be made.

Car on Which Three Boys Were Riding Goes Down a Mine Shaft—All Killed.

Bivabik, Minn., Feb. 25.—A terrible accident, resulting in the loss of three lives, occurred here on Sunday afternoon at the Bivabik mine, six miles from here. Five boys were riding a car which is used in the shaft. One of the boys turned the switch the wrong way, and the car descended rapidly from the top of the shaft house toward the shaft opening. One of the boys realized the danger and pulled his brother off the car in time to save him. The car crashed down the shaft opening, hurling the three boys to the bottom of the shaft, killing them instantly. The boys were two sons of John Pelt, aged ten and twelve respectively, and Andrew Skoldski's son, aged about eight years.

Senate Committee Presents Scheme for Cuban Independence.

WHAT UNCLE SAM WILL INSIST UPON

No Foreign Alliances Must Be Made—Naval Stations in the Island Must Be Granted to United States Demands.

Washington, Feb. 25.—At 12:15 p. m. Monday Senator Platt, of Connecticut, chairman of the committee on relations with Cuba, reported the amendment agreed upon by the committee on Cuban relations to be attached to the army appropriation bill.

Text of the Amendment.
The entire committee is in agreement and there was no minority report, and no opposition is expected from the democrats in the senate. It is the general impression that the agreement Monday makes an extra session of congress unnecessary.

Text of the Amendment as follows:
That in fulfillment of the declaration contained in the joint resolution approved April 23, 1898, entitled "For the recognition of the independence of the people of Cuba, demanding that the government of Spain relinquish its authority and government in the island of Cuba and to withdraw its land and naval forces from Cuba and Cuban waters, and directing the president of the United States to use the land and naval forces of the United States to carry these resolutions into effect," the president is hereby authorized to leave the government and control of the island of Cuba to the people of Cuba as a government shall have been established in said island under a constitution which either as a part thereof or in addition ap-proposed here, shall define the future relations of the United States with Cuba, substantially as follows:

No Foreign Alliances.
1. That the government of Cuba shall never enter into any treaty or other compact with any foreign power, which will impair or tend to impair the independence of Cuba, nor in any manner authorize or permit any foreign power or powers to obtain by any means, or for military, naval or other purposes or otherwise, any jurisdiction in or control over any portion of the island.

Limit on Public Debt.

2. That said government shall not pay any sum or contract any public debt, to pay the interest upon which and to make redemption of the same, any provision for the ultimate discharge of which the ordinary revenues of Cuba, nor in any manner the resources of government, shall be inadequate.

Right to Intervene.

3. That the government of Cuba consent that the United States may, in order to intervene for the preservation of life, property and individual liberty, and for discharging the obligations with respect to Cuba imposed by the treaty of Paris on the United States, now to be assumed and undertaken by the government of Cuba.

CONGRER STEPS OUT.

Turns Over Legislation in Peking to Mr. Rockhill.

IS COMING HOME ON A VACATION.

His Action Taken to Mean That He Is Satisfied That the Negotiations Will Now Satisfactorily.

Peking, Feb. 25.—Monday morning Mr. Conger turned over the affairs of the United States legation to Mr. W. W. Rockhill, particularly the conduct of the negotiations with the Chinese plenipotentiaries, and he will shortly return to the United States for a six-months vacation. An American official of the legation reports that everything is practically settled, for Mr. Conger felt it his duty to finish the negotiations upon next week, and then the exodus of diplomats, correspondents and others will begin.

Expects No Further Difficulty.

Li Hung Chang says he expects that the imperial court will return to Peking as soon as notification is given that the troops of the allies are evacuating the capital. He also asserts that no further difficulty in the negotiations is possible. Some old residents here think there may be difficulty in connection with the ceremonial of receiving the ministers of the powers who do not anticipate any.

May Mean His Recall.

Berlin, Feb. 25.—Commenting upon Mr. Conger's transfer of the affairs of the United States legation in Peking to Mr. Rockhill, the Berliner Tageblatt says: "It is probable that Mr. Conger's leave of absence means the recall of Li Hung Chang's government. It is perfectly possible to accommodate himself to the 'lukewarm policy' of Washington." Most of the papers believe Mr. Rockhill will set more in harmony with the other powers.

Two to Be Hanged.

Peking, Feb. 25.—The execution of Chih Siu, former grand secretary, and Han Chien, Fu, son of the notorious Wang Tung-to-day by the hangman will occur upon the same place where last summer two pro-revolution mandarins were beheaded. The spot is within the German zone. All the other officials whose lives are demanded by the powers will be beheaded in Sun-Fu. The opinion largely prevails in Peking that Prince Tuan's punishment will necessitate the choosing of another heir to the throne than his son.

PRESIDENT OF PRESIDENTS.
A Distinguished Lady Indeed, is Mrs. Mary E. Peole, of White-ing, Ind.

Whiting, Ind. Feb. 25, 1901 (Special)—The Presidents of the Ladies of the Grand Army of the Republic have an association composed exclusively of the Presidents of different State Associations. This Presidents' Association chooses a President, and to this very high and distinguished position Mrs. Mary E. Peole, of this place, has been elected. Mrs. Peole is thoroughly deserving of this great honor. Her devotion to the interests of the Association is every man and his countryman will order and use the famous use of Dodd's Kidney Pills. I gladly endorse them as being particularly effective to cure that dreaded disease of so many of our old soldiers, Bright's Disease and Kidney Disorders of different kinds. Kidney Disease soon pollutes the entire system, and as a result the vital organs are attacked, and I have found that no remedy so surely, completely and quickly finds the weak spot and heals it as Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"I have used them myself in slight attacks of biliousness and indigestion, and usually find that from three to four pills do the work."

Such evidence from a lady of so much distinction and experience should convince any sufferer from Kidney Trouble that Dodd's Kidney Pills is the remedy that never fails. 50c a box, six boxes for $2.50. Buy them from your local druggist if you can. If he can't supply you, send to the Dodds Medical Co., Buffalo, N. Y.

HORVOLUTION

IRRIGATING A GARDEN.

A System Which is Extremely Simple and Positively Prevents Sealing-up on Hot Days.

When I first began gardening three years ago, particular attention was paid to the laying out of the garden for the purpose of irrigation. The ground originally sloped from A to D and B to C and D being about 18 inches lower than A and B. From A to D it was practically level, while at the other end it sloped from D to C. In laying out the garden I marked and moved the soil so as to reverse the slope at each end. The result was if water is let in at A and directed south in a row in the garden it will flow to B, then to C, and so along the east path to D. If I want to irrigate the plants of any row, I put a dam in the west path opposite a point between this row and the next, and cut open the east path of the dam, thus row after row. The water will then run down the path to the dam, and so down the row and out of the garden at the outlet as indicated. One advantage of this plan is that I can irrigate on a hot day without sealing. If I want to water a row of radishes, for instance, I would get in the garden, set it down two holes, and strike a furrow along the north side of the row, throwing the soil away from the plants, thus turning on a gentle stream that will just nicely soak around the plants. After it is well wet in, run the plow the reverse way, throwing the soil back against the plants. If the soil becomes too wet, it is thrown back as soon as dry enough. The main point is to have a gentle stream. A fast one will overflow the furrow and run too fast, and simply set the surface. This leaves the roots to grow near the surface and the plants show the effect of a hot sun. A slow stream soaks down, and I have often saturated the ground under the plant while the surface is still dry.

Another advantage of this system of irrigation is the ease with which it is done. I can start the water on one side of the garden and go to work on the other, only stopping occasionally to change the water from one row to another. I watered the roses in this way, and had them earlier, and had them mature and out of the way in time for a crop of celery, while the last heads in the adjoining rows were not matured until a month after the celery was set out. The greatest advantage of irrigation is that you can get the water when it is needed, and not have to wait for a rain. Moles caused a great deal of annoyance, for many times I have found the water running down a mole and instead of following along a row of plants. By using a blunt stick about 1/2 inches in diameter to punch down the earth the hole will come to a blocked up—Orange Judd's water.

Fraud in Selling Trees.
Something should be done by reputable nurserymen to prevent the sale of orchard trees not true to name. One man mentions, in an exchange, that he ordered a large number of winter varieties of apple trees, and among them only ten summer varieties. When the trees came into bearing he found that he had 225 trees of summer varieties. This is very old and the planter of orchards, and it reacts on the nurseries. If the farmers were sure always of getting the trees they buy, they would plant far more extensively than they do at the present time.—Farmers' Review.

Impure Spraying Mixtures.
Complaints have been received at the department of agriculture concerning the sale of impure Parisgreen and other arsenical preparations for spraying mixtures. In several farm sections last year, owing to the use of weak, non-poisonous arsenic, the codlin moth caused great damage, as arsenic is ineffective. The department is inspecting Paris green and other arsenics which are imported, but the government has no authority to regulate the manufacture and sale within this country, more than it has to regulate food or compel pure food.—Farmers' Review.

Plant Some Shade Trees.
Trees add much to the comfort and beauty of the home, whether it be located in the city or in the country. They should be set out in large holes that have been trenched to the proper depth with good, rich soil. Elm, soft maple, black locust, catalpa, box elder, ash, in the order named, are desirable trees. Every planting should include some elms, because they are long-lived and more permanent than the others mentioned. Continuous, shallow cultivation is necessary for success, and if this is neglected failure is almost certain.—National Rural.

GROW EARLY TOMATOES.

They are More Profitable Than the Later Varieties and Require No More Labor.

The one important point in growing early tomatoes is to have the plants strong and as far advanced as possible before transplanting into the open ground. Alas, too many gardeners place the seed in a shallow box about seven weeks before transplanting out of doors. Place a layer of pebbles or fine sand in the bottom of the box for drainage, then fill with good garden soil well pulverized. If the soil is too rich the plants will grow rank and the seeds in a shallow box about seven weeks before transplanting out of doors. LAYERING GRAPE VINES.
Proper Time to Do It is in the Spring Just After the Growth has Started a Little.

The best time to layer grape-vines for propagation purposes is in the early spring, just after the growth has started a little, and if the work is done properly you should be able to get one good plant for every bud on the cane that is layered. To do this successfully, a good, strong, well-ripened shoot of last season's growth should be selected, and in the spring of the year to be planted in the trench with the center a little higher than either end. This will cause the buds along the center of the cane to start fully.

GRAPEVINE LAYER.

as soon as at the end. When the buds have started about six inches, which will be some time about the 10th of June, dig a little trench perhaps four inches deep and into it carefully place the cane in such a way as will not injure the growing shoots, and then cover in rich soil to the depth of about two inches, just enough, in fact, to hold the canes in place. In about a week's time the shoots will make six inches or more of growth, when the trench may be filled full. Proceed in this way it will be found that each joint will have produced a bunch of roots by autumn; then the canes should be separated from the old plant and the cane divided into as many plants as there are shoots growing from it. By this treatment one is very certain to get the plants well started the first year, and it is perhaps the most practicable and simple way for the beginner or the amateur grower of grapes. Of course, any cans of the grape that is laid down and covered six inches deep in the spring of the year will produce roots by autumn, but where it is laid down before the buds start it is almost certain that one will succeed in getting more than two plants from the cane, no matter how long it may be.—Farm and Fireside.

Advantages of Low Trees.
Some six years ago we raised an old apple orchard and started in to cut out low trees. Trees one year old were set and at the end of the first year the year's growth was cut back to about five buds from the point of origin. The result is that the trees are now headed so low that our neighbors call them "dwarf" trees. The growth is every bit as strong as with the tall trees, and the fruiting and spraying is to be done we don't have to use a fire hose to reach the top of the trees, then, too, in the coming years of heavy fruiting no difficulty will be experienced in picking the apples from the tallest branches, instead of shaking them down, which is generally done when the trees are tall.—National Stockman.

Too much glass in a henhouse causes frosted combs during cold nights.

The Frost Problem.
To a thoughtful mind, the frost problem is one of serious import. It must be fruitfully met for a severe frost season, before you are aware of its existence, in this respect much resembling such a condition as the influenza epidemic, which is so common in winter. It is a disease which attacks the stomach, such as constipation, indigestion, dyspepsia and biliousness. However a physician's orders will cure all such ailments, and prevent a griping, painful fever and ague. It is worth giving a trial.
