KILLED BY A FOUL BALL.

SILAS DORAN, A RESIDENT OF ROCK CREEK, DIES AT STACY FROM THE EFFECTS OF AN INJURY RECEIVED WHILE PLAYING BALL.

On Monday morning of this week the sad news reached our city that Silas Doran, the youngest son of Mrs. Wm. Doran of Rock Creek, had died that morning at Stacy, from the effects of blow from a foul ball which was batted by one of his associates. The young man was an operator on the N. P., holding the position as agent at Stacy where the accident happened, having held that position for the past five or six months, and was a favorite among his associates. The accident was a great blow to his family as well as the residents of the whole community. The story of the accident as told us is as follows: Silas was playing with the Stacy ball team and has just been retired and was standing to one side when a foul was batted which struck him a glancing blow on the forehead rendering him unconscious. He was carried to a nearby house and aid summoned. He remained unconscious until about twelve o'clock when he came to, but the dread demon, death, had too firm a hold on the young man and he passed into the presence of his maker at about two o'clock on Monday morning. Word was sent to his relatives, his brother Wm. started by team but did not arrive until two hours after he died.

Silas Doran was born in Canada 25 years ago the 15th of last December. He came here with his parents when but two years of age and has made his home here until the death of his father, three years ago last March. He started out to learn operating, working at several different stations along the line, and finally worked his way up until this spring when he was given the station at Stacy, and was holding that position at the time of his death. Besides his widow mother he leaves five brothers Jim of Oregon, John of Wyoming, William, Dan and Robert of Rock Creek, and one sister Mrs. Minnie Gloucy of Duluth, all but the two first named brothers were present at the funeral which was held from the M. E. church at 9 o'clock on Wednesday afternoon, and was attended by a large number from Pine City, Rush City, Harris and Stacy, together with a large number from the surrounding country. There were ten members of Division 54 O. R. T., present and took charge of the funeral six acting as bearers. The floral offerings were beautiful and abundant. Mrs. Doran was not able to attend the funeral, being overcome with grief. There is nothing to be said regarding the life of the young man that would raise him in the esteem that he was held by his associates for all knew him but to love him. The many friends of the bereaved family join with us in sympathy.

Card of Thanks.
We take this means of thanking our many kind friends for their aid and sympathy during our bereavement.

Run Up No Sale.
James Murray, a barber that was in the employ of John Jumer, sometime during Monday night pushed the button "no sale" on the cash register and relieved it of the contents amounting to between eight and ten dollars, took his belongings and left for parts unknown. Mr. Jumer had been away in the northern part of the state for a couple of days and left the above named culprit to run the shop, who had collected laundry money, and whatever he had taken in during the day, the exact amount cannot be estimated. There were no tools taken.

SUFFER DEFEAT.

HURLEY'S BARRINGTONS LOSE A CLOSELY CONTESTED GAME LAST SUNDAY! GAME REplete WITH ERRORS ON BOTH SIDES. SAFE HITS WERE SCARCE.

The game last Sunday afternoon between the Unions of Minneapolis and Hurley's Barringtons was a hard fought battle throughout, but the locals' inability to hit the ball into safe territory when the safe hits meant runs, and a lot of punk fielding caused the latter's defeat. The pitcher from Minneapolis threw a straight ball (so he said) but every time the ball was hit, and it was hit pretty often, it was sure to pop right into one of the players hands or else into territory that could be fielded very easily, and therefore only two safe hits were made off his delivery. Not such good luck was allotted to the locals for ten safe hits were pounded out off of Lambert's delivery.

The inning most disastrous to the Barringtons was in the 8th, when the Unions pounded out six safe hits, one of these for two sacks, and this coupled with an excusable and questionable error by Mike Hurley, netted them four runs. Mike more than made up for this error by working a nice double play in the same inning—bauling onto a fly over second base and throwing to first in time to stop the base runner returning from second to first base.

Up to the third inning neither side scored but in the fourth the Unions started out with a base hit, Lambert passed a man with a base on balls, and the next man up fanned the air, a long drive into left field and a muff by the fielder brought in two scores. Another man hit a pop up to the pitcher which was easily gobbled and another strikeout retired their run getting for this inning. The next inning not a Minneapolis player got to first as flies to center field and pitcher and a putout from third to first retired them in one-two-three order. In the sixth something might have been doing as a base on balls and a hit was made, but a double play neatly executed by Ben and Mike Hurley, shattered their ambition for runs that inning.

In the ninth inning Lambert complained of a sore arm and Westholm was assigned to the rubber to do the pitching stunts for the remaining inning. In this time at bat the visitors knocked out a single, and a three bagger directly afterwards, a passed ball did the rest and two tallies were credited for the visitors and the game was practically theirs. Westholm struck out three of the five men at bat this inning although he allowed two runs.

The locals failed to get any men over the home plate until the fifth inning when errors by third baseman and pitcher gave two runs to the Barringtons. In the 7th inning after two men were gone, an error was made by the short stop which allowed Jack Lambert to get to first, he stole second, and a two bagger by Matt Hurley brought him in. Another hit by Ben Hurley scored Matt. A fly by Mike Hurley into the third baseman's hands retired the side with Ben still on first. In this inning the crowd went wild as these two scores put the locals ahead, the score standing 4 to 3. But this lead was to be for a short time only, for in the Union's half of the 8th they ran in enough to put them in the clear, and Pine City was never in the running from this time on.

The score by innings follows:
1 2 3 4 5 6 7 8 9
Unions 0 0 0 3 0 0 0 4 2-9
Barringtons 0 0 0 2 0 2 0 0-4
Batteries, Barringtons—Lambert, Westholm and Paymer. Unions—Johnson and Bangon, struck out by Lambert 5, Westholm 3, Johnson 5, bases on balls off Lambert 2. Time 1:45. Umpire Chas. Nason.

The Barringtons will meet the strong K. C. team of St. Paul next Sunday, and a most interesting contest is promised. The home team is in the best of condition and will give the strong visiting team a hard tussle.

King Edward has given orders for the abandonment of his private life for the benefit of the world. In its present form it is established by Charles II. and some authorities assert that it was first originated in the days of Queen Elizabeth. It is composed of 34 muscians, under the direction of Sir Walter Parratt, "master of the music." The members are the best that can be secured in England, and this is the real cause of its dissolution.

What Turkey has already said to the world in breadstuffs is as nothing compared with what she can produce when her enormous agricultural resources have been developed. Of all agricultural states, Turkey is perhaps the only one which has able some day to compete successfully with America in England and on the continent of Europe in this respect. Especially in this case is the case of agricultural cotton, which is such an important factor in the textile industries of Germany.

Mr. Adm. Schley is back from Mexico and enthusiastic. "Why," he says, "the mineral wealth of that country has not even been scratched. I consider Mexico one of the greatest mining countries of the world." He had a nice time with President Diaz and came away admiring him more than ever. As to himself, the rear admiral reports that he sleeps nine hours a night, wakes up "as fresh as a baby," hopes the country will have 30 years of unbroken peace and hasn't a political ambition.

Three learned New York supreme court justices, sitting in appellate term, have decided that there are "no rules of etiquette that require a man, while eating in a so-called public place, to take off his overcoat and hat." The court held that he had not used proper care in hanging up his coat.

He made known his observation to other workmen, who investigated and made a trip of five or six miles along the shore of the lake.

Here! Phil, president of the German Society for the Protection of Cats, has just published the results of his investigations in regard to the fact that it is possible for these animals to talk. Wealthy Farmer in Indiana Shoots Daughter's Husband Who Had Deserted Her.

SHATTERS HIS RIGHT LEG WITH SHOTGUN

Then Follows Him to Doctor's Office and Kills Him as He Lies on Operating Table to Have the Injured Ankle Amputated—Shooter Then Surrenders and Is Placed in Jail.

Bluffton, Ind., July 13.—John Terrell, a wealthy farmer living near Bluffton, nine miles north of the city, killed his son-in-law, Melvin Wolfe, Sunday afternoon, firing both barrels of a shotgun into the chest of Wolfe, who was sitting at a dining table to have a leg amputated, operating by a wound from Terrell's gun, fired a short time before. Four years ago Wolfe married Terrell's daughter. Wolfe deserted the girl, it is said, leaving her with a child in her arms. A suit was brought against him to support his wife. It is claimed Wolfe had twice driven past the Terrell home shouting insulting remarks and shaking his fist at the farmer. At the time he drove past Terrell jumped from some bushes along the roadside and fired at his son-in-law with a double-barreled shotgun. The first shot shattered Wolfe's right leg. The second barrel missed. Wolfe was hurried to the office of Dr. Saunders, at Bluffton, and placed on an operating table. A crowd stood around watching the doctor. Terrell came up from his home in a buggy, took to the door of the doctor's office, drove out the crowd at the point of his gun, and fired both barrels into his son-in-law's head. He was terribly mutilated. At the time he fired the young man was only half-conscious. Terrell got in his buggy, loaded up his shotgun and pointed it at the mob that had gathered before he held it at bay and drove to the sheriff's residence. He is in jail.

NOTHING BUT MURDER.

Justice Brewer So Characterizes the Crime of Lynching and Says Reaction Is Coming.

Milwaukee, July 14.—"Every man who participates in the lynching of a negro is a murderer pure and simple." This opinion was given by Associate Justice David G. Brewer, of the United States supreme court, in a speech in the city on public business. "Of course," explained Justice Brewer, "there may be extenuating circumstances which would vary the degree of the crime, but the principal participants in the crime can be held by any court in the land for murder in the case of a negro. If it is committed by an individual, there is going to be a reaction against the atrocious crimes with which the papers have been filled."

The speech will be an administration speech, quite much the same as did President McKinley in the Buffalo address just before he was assassinated. President Roosevelt will give much time to the preparation of this address, which he has already outlined.

Troops Withdrawn.

Evansville, Ind., July 10.—The order of Gov. Durbin prohibiting the return of prisoner Robert Lee to this city for trial practically restored quiet in Evansville, and the troops were removed last night, there being no further need for their retention. Gov. Durbin, in refusing to allow the prisoner to be taken from the state institution at Jeffersonville, said he doubted if a fair trial could be secured there, and under the present conditions it would be too dangerous for the prisoner to be brought here.

TRADE REVIEW.

Generally Conditions Show Continued Improvement—Prospects Are Bright.

New York, July 11.—R. G. Dun & Co.'s Weekly Review of Trade says: "Business again responds to improved conditions. Retail distribution of merchandise is accelerated by more seasonable weather and lower labor controlling prices. Wholesale trade, especially at the interior, shows the encouraging effect of brighter agricultural prospects. There is the customary excessive demand for holiday goods. Reports of holiday traffic and trade in holiday goods indicates no diminution in purchasing power and semi-annual inventories show a more gratifying situation than expected. There is less than the usual midsummer lullness in manufacturing, except in the cotton industry. Commodity prices advanced slightly during June. Dun's index number on July 1 being $94.50, compared with $93.95 one month earlier. A decline of 2.4 per cent. occurred in comparison with July 1907, chiefly in articles of food. Railway earnings for June are 13.3 per cent. larger than last year, and 25.1 to excess of last year's total. The new converters and other repairs interfere with work at some prominent steel mills, which explain in part the quiet condition of the market.

"Failures this week numbered 194 in the United States, against 193 last year, and 24 in Canada, compared with 19 a year ago."

OFFICERS AT LONDON.

Commanders of American Squadron Make Official Visits—Others Entertained at Portsmouth.

London, July 9.—Rear Admiral Cotton, Capt. Hemphill, of the United States flagship Kearsarge, and a detachment of officers arrived in London Wednesday, accompanied by Rear Admiral Milne, the representative of King Edward, and took up quarters at various hotels as guests of the nation. The 3,000 American officers and men remaining at Portsmouth were entertained in various ways, including a luncheon at the Volunteer rifle hall, at which the mayor presided. Altogether 80 Americans were guests at the luncheon.

The procession to and from the hall was headed by the King and the Queen, and the Americans were welcomed with immense enthusiasm by the assembled crowds.

King Edward signally honored the officers of the American squadron Wednesday night at the state ball given at Buckingham palace—the climax of the visit of President Lobet. His guests were warmly received. Admiral Cotton, the captain of the American ship, and 25 of the junior American officers, and Queen Alexandra later gave them the same distinction. The ball—the first since the accession of King Edward—was a brilliant function, 2,000 guests being present.

BUSY DAYS IN WASHINGTON

Army and Post Office Changes Keep Things on the Move.

Detachment by District of Columbia Official—Maj. Gen. Heywood to Retire from Marine Corps—Postal Scandal Gossip.

Washington.—The District of Columbia has had a shock from which it will not recover for a long time. Thieving has been discovered in the offices of the District of Columbia and the circumstances are so extraordinary that the worthy citizens who have been congratulating themselves for years on the improvement of the municipal government are rubbing their eyes to find whether they are awake.

A young man named Watson, just barely of age, has been in charge of a fund in the auditor's office which resulted from payments made by citizens obliged to pay one-half cent of their taxes in the form of a gift of their money. This sum is pretty large, but it seems to have been allowed into a drawer and into the bank and out again with hardly any record except what young Watson chose to keep.

A few days ago it was discovered that he was supposed to have made away with $75,000 of the fund, and now he is in jail. The disquieting feature of the case, however, is the fact that this young man, when appointed to office, had to have already had a criminal record. It is said that as a boy of 17 he was convicted of forgery and sentenced to two years in the reform school. This seems to have been known to the District officials, and yet he was intrusted with the care of the funds, and no check whatever was put on him. He had a salary of $1,400 a year, and on this salary he supported a wife, played the races, and out a dash with a red devil. He was known as one of the liveliest and most extravagant sporting characters in Washington; and yet though the superiors knew he was doing all this on $1,400 a year, and that he had a shady record to boot, they never suspected anything wrong until the $70,000 had disappeared.

Gen. Heywood to Retire.

About the United States marine corps is about to lose as its commandant an officer whose commission dates farther back than the commission of any other officer of the military or naval service.

Maj. Gen. Heywood entered the service before the civil war and has served continuously ever since with a record for gallantry not surpassed in the corps. Gen. Heywood has been the marine corps grow from a small body of men regarded by the other branches of the service into a body of nearly 10,000 men, standing on a level in the public regard with the army and the navy. The greater part of this growth has come since he was promoted to the head of the corps, ten years ago.

The corps is therefore an unusually person, has had more to do with the advancement of the corps from its small estate than any other man. He has commanded the respect of congress and successive administrations, and he has been regarded as a soldier not involved in any schemes and plots for personal advancement.

The marine corps takes pride in its fighting record. It has seen service in every war entered into by the United States, and in proportion to its numbers it has acquired itself with extraordinary credit. Its enlisted men have the reputation of being better drilled and of preserving better discipline than the enlisted men of any other service. In Col. Walter the corps has one of the few really distinguished fighting heroes of the United States, and it is due to Gen. Heywood and the esprit de corps which he has cherished that much of the recent laurels have been won.

Gen. Carter on the Staff.

Brig. Gen. William H. Carter has been named one of the three general officers of the general staff of the army. That is fitting, if there is any merit in the general staff, for with the exception of Secretary Root, Carter is not an officer whose name has figured much in the newspapers. He never seems to have had the faculty of getting into the shelter of a fact, and yet he is regarded by the war department as a man who has accomplished the most distinguished soldier in the service. During and after the war with Spain he was Gen. Carter's assistant in the office of the adjutant general.

A colonel and assistant adjutant Gen. Carter made himself indispensable to Secretary Root. Whenever Root wanted to do anything Carter was the fellow who told him just how it could be done. That sort of assistant always endears himself to his superior. When the idea of a general staff came up—nobody knows exactly whether Root had the idea first or Carter—the assistant adjutant general worked out all the details with great industry and splendid skill. He was sent to the capital by the secretary to explain the bill to senators and representatives, and it is due largely to his clear, cold intelligence that the measure finally became a law.

It is not by any means an "office soldier." He had years of the hardest kind of service against the Indians on the frontier, and he is looked to go to the Philippines very soon. Of course, he is not altogether popular among his military associates. Men of his characteristics who have been noticeably successful seldom meet with the entire approval of former comrades whom they have passed in the race, and there are insignificant majors of the line who graduated from West Point in the same class with Brig. Gen. Carter.

Troubles of the Postmaster General. Just at the present moment Postmaster General Payne is the object of more concentrated attention than almost any other man ever seen on a Western race track. He is conducting one of the most searching and effective investigations that have ever been conducted by a public officer, and the result of which will be to purify and establish on a more businesslike footing the most extensive business department of the government. It is the theory of fate that the man upon whose shoulders this being done should meet with widespread criticism because he doesn't happen to be doing it in exactly the way some of the critics would like. To read some of it one would imagine that the postmaster general were the principal culprit instead of the prosecuting officer. Henry C. Payne calls Payne "Harry" and Payne calls him "Mark," and the two are as fond of each other as if they were brothers.

The Post Office Sleuth. There is another man in the post office investigation who is of quite a different type from Payne. That is the fourth assistant postmaster general, who happens to be at the head of the corps of inspectors so typical a hunter-down of wrong. It is quite probable that if the present inquiry had not been started Briarwood would have retained his position in the department long for he had lost his political backing at home, and there were scores of members of congress who were demanding his removal or transfer. But it would be a rash politician who would venture to suggest to the president now that he dispense with the services of his fourth assistant postmaster general.

MINNESOTA NEWS.

All Records Broken.

Sec. E. W. Randall, of the Minnesota State Fair, has announced the official entry list for the State Fair of 1903, and is again able to say that all records have been broken, as the list surpasses that of last year by more than 30 horses.

Over 800 horses have been entered for the fair of 1903 as against 330 in 1902. When last year's entry list was announced, it was regarded as about the biggest that could ever be expected at the state fair meet, but it is now shown that the popularity of the Minnesota State Fair is such that an even greater list is forthcoming upon the announcement of the race program for 1903. Horsemen know that the management of the Minnesota race meet is absolutely fair in every particular, that purses are paid promptly and that the horses will be exhibited before enormous crowds of people. They also know that the track is a splendid one on which many records have been broken.

In detail the race entry list which appears below, is a remarkable one. Not a race in all the list of thousand-dollar purses has less than ten entries, while the numbers range up to twenty-eight. The great 2 1/2 class trotting race, for a purse of $5,000 has twenty-eight entries, while the 2 1/2 class pacing $5,000 race has an astounding number of forty-one entries. It is believed that no race in the West has ever had this many entries, and this will be the greatest event ever seen on a Western race track. Horses are entered for this contest from Manitoba to Texas, and from California to Georgia.

The completion of the entry list assures a great racing meet at the next Minnesota State Fair, and as the races are the center and chief attraction of the annual stand entertainment, it may now be said that there is no doubt of a most successful amusement program at the fair of 1903. The fair opens Aug. 31 and closes Sept. 15.

James Mackie, proprietor of the Mackie barber shop, was probably fatally stabbed in the right breast by which was operated at Lyverne during the celebration of the Fourth.

Mackie had watched the game for some time, and after seeing a grand fight why he did not give the man a chance for his money. Hot words followed, and one of the men was pushed through the crowd to Mackie and, drawing a dagger, deliberately plunged it into his breast. He then attempted to escape in the crowd, but was grabbed by bystanders and arrested by Officer Bert Benson. The knife entered the right breast, penetrating the lung and inflicting a serious wound.

Going to the serious condition of the injured man, his assailant will not be given a hearing until a decided change in his condition. The prisoner gave his name as G. Wright, and stated that he lived in Minneapolis. Further than that he refused to talk. When he was searched, something over $2,000 in bills were found upon him.

For the elaborate Summer Carnival in process of preparation in St. Paul, $15,000,000 is being expended by the committee on substantial booths and buildings alone. A brilliantly illuminated arch and Court of Honor mark the approach to the Carnival, and will follow several hundred elaborate mercantile and manufacturing displays. The location is central and beautiful, just fronting the new city center. About midway the street opens into St. Paul's new baseball park, where the delectable Juggo shows and special attractions are held. Fireworks on a magnificent scale will illumine the entire street every evening. Excursion rates will be granted by all the railroads on July 25 and 30, Aug. 3 and 5.

At South Stillwater lightning struck the William Kaiser box factory, but the flames were subdued by the village fire department and the crew at the Tower & Nolan mill before much damage was done.

Minnesota will receive 1,616 Krag-Jorgensen rifles from the United States government for reserve troops. It is the first time in the twenty-seven companies of infantry and the company of engineers. The number has been increased from the reports of an inspection of the Minnesota guard this spring. Counting the artillery, they furnished 1,616 and 1,346 men in the state guard.

Red wing can boast of coming among its manufactured products. It is a beauty, and of mechanical workmanship and finish that will stand comparison with any factory in existence.

The bureau of forestry has sent eight men to study white pine of the Minnesota State, and they will devote three months to the work in the neighborhood of the Cloquet river. The main object of the trip is whether a second growth of the trees can be successful.

Is Tennessee the mob shoots the sheriff and in Delaware the sheriff shoots at the mob, but in neither State is Mr. Outrage benefited. It is highly desirable that lynchings should be done away with, but the negroes themselves more than any others can help to do away with these burnings and hangings by becoming law-abiding. It is not because they are negroes that they are lynched, but because they are fence.

If a negro was to commit such an outrage, accompanied by the wanton cruelty which is usually an accompaniment of this crime, on a female of his own race, then members of his own race would build his funeral pile, and they would execute vengeance on him impelled by the same reasons that impel the white mob; not because he is black, but because he is a hind.—Houston (Tex.) The young man is very fond of the daughter of a minister, but his devotion to her is comparatively new. The text was: "My daughter is grievously tormented with a devil."

It is pleasing to note the prosperity of brother newspaper men, and it adds to that pleasure when they consider the beautiful as well as useful in building.

A Washington Dispatch is authority for the statement that Attorney General Knox has submitted to the President an opinion to the effect that the purchase of the French company's franchise to construct a canal by the Panama route "carries with it all rights for the United States to perform this work, and that, therefore, the United States, by paying the Panama company $40,000,000, will have the full right to go ahead with the construction of the canal without any treaty with Colombia."

That might be a business view to take of it, but it is doubtful if public sentiment would sustain the President and Congress in such a view of the case. There are too many men, like Senator Morgan of Alabama, who believe it a grave mistake to attempt to dig the canal through the Panama route—that it should run through Nicaragua.

St. Paul Summer Carnival.

St. Paul is to have an elaborate summer carnival, July 27th to Aug. 8th' the proceeds from which are to go to the improvement of the Public Baths, the most popular institution in that city. The city officials have undertaken the management of the affair with the assistance of some prominent business men. Mr. Geo. E. Lemon, the well known base ball enthusiast and clothing merchant, is acting as general manager and has donated the use of his new ball park for the show grounds. Leading up to this is to be an Industrial street four blocks long lined on either side by mercantile and manufacturing exhibits approached by a brilliant illuminated court of honor and arch.

All roads leading to St. Paul have granted excursion rates for July 28th and 30th, August 2nd and 5th. There is to be a parade each day of the lot and a fireworks display at night. The Big Jubour Shows and Spectacles which have furnished attractions for the Minneapolis fairs the past two years have been engaged with the understanding that there are to be many new features. Among the notable parades announced is an electric pageant in which floats fitted upon street car trucks are introduced, an automobile flower parade, a demonstration by organized labor and a Mardi Gras costume procession.

A voting contest to select a queen of the carnival is now in progress that is attracting more attention than the last municipal election.

I love to wander in the woodland ways Where ferns and lilies strew their byways of green...

A Daughter of the Sioux

"Well done, sergeant! I knew I could count on you," answered Webb, in hearty commendation.

"I will, sir," said the sergeant, and saluting, turned away while Webb went back to set a dismounted pantry in partial order.

"Come with me, Kennedy," was all he said, and Kennedy snatched his battered felt headgear down over his eyes and laced wearily after his swift-striding master, without ever another word.

It was but a few minutes after seven when Maj. Webb, having previously dispatched a messenger to the post trader, was to say he had need to see Mr. Hay as soon as possible.

It was not long before the major had returned, and he was seen to be in a state of some excitement, and he was seen to be in a state of some excitement.

"Come over to the stables," said the commanding officer, and, wondering why he was called, he followed.

They found the two hostlers busily at work grooming. In his box stall, Webb as they passed him, with such a word of mingled question and reproach in her soft blue eyes that his heart for the moment smote him.

CHAPTER V.

Only an hour was the major away from his post. He came back in time for general mounting and the reports of the officers-of-the-day.

"What else could it be?" demanded Hay, in no little excitement. "Well, I thought possibly Miss Flower might have been moved to take a moonlight ride.

"Oh! You've seen her then this morning?" I thought perhaps she wasn't up," hazarded Webb.

"No, Webb had not seen her, and together the two started in search of the flagstaff, and there at the first of bluff beyond the Hay's—

To try to get your cash to bank!

"To-morrow, or next day afternoon, I'll have to go just as well with the state myself. When do you want this money?" said Hay, tapping the envelope Webb had given him.

"Why out on their left, major!" cried the sergeant, and he pointed with his right hand toward the soldier who was standing at attention.

"I am not sure of being able to dispatch my letter. The Stephanie, whose captain is one of our friends, will be here to-day, and will take our letters, if you wish we can arrive in time.

The storm came from the southwest. At Thos. Hendersons it killed a cow and uprooted large trees, blew down a barn 28x16 at Thomas Kuera's, upset a wagon with a hay-rack on, demolishing the rack and breaking the wagon at Joe Korde's. Striking this village it over turned out buildings and tore down Joe Chalupsky's lumber shed 30x40, at John Warkas it unroofed his barn 40x18 blew the chimney of his house, and sped on its way to Will Gupit's where it reduced his buggy to kindling wood, a wagon at Joe. Carny's was overturned pulverizing a hay and wood rack, Mr. Vecek had a building 10x16 moved from its foundation and lumber piles scattered. Trees two feet through were twisted off and hay that was cut was blown into the trees. Rain fell to the depth of about four inches.
