TWO GOOD GAMES.

K. C.'s Taken Into Camp by the Barringtons.

Lambert With Good Support Holds the St. Paul Team Down to Six Safe Hits in Two Games. The Visiting Twirler, Stoven, Strikes Out Fourteen Men. Third Game Taken from the K. C.'s This Season. Best Game of Season Sunday.

Looking back to the 19th of last month when they were compelled by the Barringtons to bite the dust at a 7 to 5 proposition, the K. C.'s, of the capital city, again concluded to try for a couple of wins with the Hurley & Co. combine. This they did last Saturday and Sunday afternoons when our local bunch of hoodoo chasers got busy and trimmed their visiting brethren up to a nice—but not without a hard struggle.

Brother Jonathan Lambert was in elegant form and allowed but three hits in the first game and, although his arm was very sore the following day, he pitched ball that would lead most any team to victory. Jahnke was in the pitcher's box for the visitors, Saturday, and he was touched up every time a man came up to bat but once, and this once was after W. Hurley, animal trainer and joy expostulator, had stopped with his top piece a rapidly moving sphere tossed by the pitcher. He fanned the next time up and this was the only strike out to Jahnke's credit. But Sunday they put in a whirlwind of a pitcher and his performance for the afternoon was of the sensational order, striking out fourteen of the Barringtons and allowing only seven safe hits. This man, Stoven, on his visit here with the same team before struck out ten men and allowed but six safe drives. He is undoubtedly the best they could pick up in the twin cities outside of league company.

In Saturday's game our boys had the visitors beat a mile until the last inning when a base on balls, a hit and three errors gave the visitors four runs, bringing their total up to six. In this inning Lambert struck out Stelzel and J. Volkmeier, and Hymers was put out at third base on a throw by E. Hurley.

Following is the official score for the first game.

Sunday's exhibition was far ahead of the game the day previous and in fact was the best and most fiercely contested ball game ever pulled off on the home grounds.

Through a series of errors, a dead ball and three singles the visitors succeeded in scoring a run in the first, the second, and two runs in the fifth innings. In the intervening and last four times at bat they were unable to place Lambert's mixers and draw goose eggs. It looked as though the Barringtons were up against it, and they were.

With the score standing "four and" up to the ninth inning the excitement was most intense and the crowd in the grandstand went wild while those on the side lines could hardly be restrained from running up the base lines. Batson got to first through faulty playing by Noyes but was caught while playing off at first. Jack Lambert made a safe hit and stole second. Matt Hurley hit the ball and landed on first through an error by the worthy "Yankee" then stationed on that snook; this play was also responsible for Lambert's safe arrival at third. Ben Hurley made three vicious swings at the ball but only succeeded in stirring up the hot air about him—he struck out, which made it two gone. But our barrister, Mick H., was there with the goods and sent a tickler over second base right into safe territory. This was sufficient as J. Lambert came in with the winning tally, and the Barringtons were credited with another victory.

The game was won by that one run, and here is how we won the row.

Jumped the Track.

As the bound limited was rounding the sharp curve just north of Rutledge on Tuesday afternoon, while going at a speed of about eighty miles an hour, the engine jumped the track and ran into the ditch only taking with it the front trucks of the baggage car. The passengers were surprised and frightened to see the packages and valises drop down from the brackets overhead, and the dust in the train became so thick that it was impossible to see. Fortunately no one was seriously injured, and both passengers and crew feel that providence was with them.

Important Business Change.

On Thursday of this week a deal was closed whereby D. Greeley takes possession of the Wiseman & Co. hardware and furniture business of this place and the Wisemans retire from active business. During the time the above named firm has been running this business they have had a good trade and made many friends who will miss them at the old stand.

While Mr. Greeley is by no means a new man here, he is new in the hardware business, but has scores of friends in the surrounding country and we bespeak for him a good business in his new enterprise. Douglas has held the position of county auditor and will continue to attend to those duties, while he will put some good man in to look after his interests in the store.

The Philadelphia and Reading railroad has placed in operation a type of locomotive having a single pair of driving wheels, which is commonly used in England for high speed passenger service. Two of them are in use between Philadelphia and New York.

A correspondent of the Scientific American recently passed through a peculiar experience. He tasted a small fraction of a grain of radium. It acted as a powerful stimulant, affecting both the heart and kidneys. It was several hours before his pulse became normal. It affected the mind also, producing hallucinations.

The best calculation that can be made shows that a graduated series of children to the white native family a century ago in the United States was more than six; in 1830 it had fallen to less than five; in 1850 to less than four; in 1875 to less than three; in 1900, among the "upper classes" in Boston, to less than two.

The newest theory for increasing the height, or enabling people to grow tall, has been explained to the French Academy of Sciences. The gland near the larynx is said to be the seat of vertical growth, and by developing this gland in children they can be made to attain by means of it a greater height than at present by the time they reach manhood.

Dr. Gartner has just patented an instrument which records the pulse of a patient under the influence of an anesthetic. The instrument is fastened to the forearm and a graduated disc records the increase or retardation of the pulse. The experiments in the hospitals of Vienna succeeded marvelously. It is hoped by means of it to prevent death during operations.

A Russian lady physician has proved that infection may be awarded by a bullet from the clothing to a wound. Using a Swiss military rifle shot was fired—before and after the gun had become hot—through cloth saturated with culture of various microorganisms, and in every case the sterilized bullet took up germs from the cloth. Neither high velocity nor heat was sufficient to prevent infection.

Prof. Stahly, the wireless telegraph expert, has, after exhaustive experiments, removed all doubt that the surface of the earth plays an important part as conductor of telegraphic electric waves, for which many have heretofore regarded the air as the only conductor. He constructed an artificial earth which was communicated by external influence by covering the floor of his laboratory with zinc. He then experimented with waves on the floor until his theory was proved.

When a Turk Las... well to a friend he solemnly crosses his hands on his breast and makes a profound bow. The natives of New Guinea, on the other hand, exchange chocolate, conveying an expression of confidence in each other as well as a salutation. In the Fiji Islands two cardinal colored feathers are crossed, and the Burmese gentleman naturally smokes a pipe. In Japan your friend will open one of his slippers and says, "I regard thee."

The Lincolnshire agricultural society, which has concluded its annual exhibition at Lincoln, awarded premiums to laborers who had brought up and placed out the greatest number of children. The first prize went to Thomas "Tough" of Tealby, who reared ten 19 children born, 17 brought up and 12 placed out. The second prize winner had 15 children, 12 brought up and 11 placed out, while other competitors had 16 children, 14, 13 and 12, there being ten entries for the prizes offered.

A marvelous vehicle, which is a cross between a sedan chair and a wheelbarrow, has been designed recently by an Illinois inventor to meet the purposes of the rural mail route delivery. Having a single wheel, it can be drawn through thick mud with little effort on the part of the motive force, which may be one or two horses to suit the demands, although the inventor claims that one animal is entirely sufficient for all purposes. The wheel is flat and spokeless, to preclude the carrying of excessive quantities of mud.

Dr. William Lyman Underwood, bacteriologist of the Boston board of health, announced the discovery of a new species of mosquitoes twice as large as those that so far have been termed humanitary. The new creature is a non-stinging, nonbiting member of the tribe, and not only that, but it aids in destroying mosquitoes that do sting, its larvae feasting on the larvae of the pest. The larvae of the new mosquitoes will kill as many young biting mosquitoes floating in still water as will small fish, which hitherto have partly saved us from the pest.

Reports received by the department of agriculture show that a large number of horses are annually imported into Michigan for various purposes. For the year 1902 a total of 35,281 horses imported, 17,419 were slaughtered for food. The importations for ordinary use show a decided decrease, while on the other hand horses for slaughter have increased in number, according to the Bureau of Agriculture. These animals arrive in Michigan in a distressed condition, many of them so weak that they are hardly able to stand on their feet.

SCORES PERISH IN TUNNEL DISASTER

Accident on Underground Railway in Paris Caused by a Burning Train.

Believed That Death List Will Exceed 100—Many of the Victims Are Women and Children, All of Whom Had Been Seated—Cause of the Catastrophe.

Paris, Aug. 12.—Ninety-four bodies have been recovered and the death list probably will exceed 100 in an underground railway disaster which occurred here Monday night.

The accident, which occurred on the Metropolitan electric railway, assumed the proportions of an awful catastrophe during the early hours Tuesday when more than four score bodies of the burned and suffocated victims were removed from the subterranean passage. The work, continues and indications are that the death list will, perhaps, exceed five score.

Heartrending Scenes. The scenes at the mouth of the tunnel where the victims were brought forth were of the most heartrending description—crows of weeping men, women and children struggling forward in an effort to recognize their missing relatives and friends. Most of the victims were women and children.

The total number of routes made for the entire service for the year was $12,000,000, or a little less than $3,000,000 more than necessary to maintain the service. ## BRITISH CUTLER FIRES ON VESSEL

Canadian Steamer Uses Guns in Attempt to Capture an American Fishing Boat.

The latter shows her pursuer a clean pair of heels and arrives safely at Erie, Pa.—International Trouble May Arise—Captain to File a Protest in Washington.

Erie, Pa., Aug. 18.—With its cabins and hull riddled with shot received in an encounter with the Canadian revenue cutter Petrel, the fishing steamer Silver Spray steamed into port Wednesday afternoon, having beaten the Canadian cutter in the fishing zone which have meant the confiscation of the craft had it been captured. The Silver Spray was attacked by the Canadian cutter while on a fishing cruise, which have for years been disputed waters between Canada and the United States. While there have been many contentions, the Petrel and the American craft in the past this is the first time, it is said, that the Petrel ever fired on an American craft, and Capt. Chas. Chau, the owner of the Silver Spray, is preparing a protest to the state department at Washington, which will make Wednesday's battle an international affair, and perhaps result in a serious dispute over the mooted boundary line for all time to come.

BEGINNING OF TROUBLE.

At the time the trouble started the Silver Spray was engaged in fishing near the imaginary line in the middle of Lake Erie which forms the dividing line between the United States and Canada. While all this was going on with near the Petrel came swiftly up from the Canadian side and was almost upon the steamer before its presence was discovered. As the cutter neared the Silver Spray Capt. Chau put his helm over and ordered full speed ahead, as it seemed to be the intention of the Petrel to ram the craft. Several shots from the Silver Spray were fired, but the cutter signaled the tug to leave to the demand of his pursuer.

TWO SHOTS ARE FIRED.

Bringing its riddled guns to bear, the Canadians sent shot after shot at the flying steamer. The intention of disabling it. Twenty shots altogether were fired. One passed through the smokestack into the pilot house, in which Capt. Chau stood. Another struck and two more struck the pilot house, one of which came within a few inches of him, scattering a myriad of splinters around his head. The fact that no one was killed is regarded as miraculous. Fred Culver, a sailor was hit in the leg by a glancing bullet. At length the steamer escaped.

Fourth Mississippi Institution in Duluth Suspends as Result of Alleged Embezzlement.

Duluth, Minn., Aug. 15.—The alleged embezzlement of $45,000 of the funds of the Commercial Banking company, for which E. F. Johnson, the trustee of the bank, is under arrest, has brought about the failure of the Merchants' bank of Duluth, which closed its doors after Friday's business. President Smith said that the failure was due to a run on the bank resulting from the closing of the Commercial Banking company. He said that he could not anticipate the extent of the withdrawals, and closed to protect the depositors as much as possible. This is the first bank suspending business as a result of the alleged embezzlement.

From a Red-Hot Rooter. And yet again have Harley's D's Added laurels to their crown, For without doubt, the poor K. C's When they played here, were done up brown.

The first time they showed up here, And the H. B's left them "beated"; They trotted back to their dear mamas, And for a "scareskins" had to be treated.

Ma called in the good old doctor, Who saw them safely through their fit.

But when they came to us once more, They found they weren't quite it. With their great big, lanky pitcher And his funny fancy curves— And all the other men so sore, 'Twas jarring on our nerves.

As manager Albrecht told us They had ridden "all yesterday," And with the dance the eye before, They couldn't "play today."

But they really needed some excuse, For it's "three times and out" they say; And now when they've come and got beat three times, It's a cinch, they never could play.

Comparing the work of the K. C's With that of our H. B's here, We'll all come to this conclusion— The K. C's would look best in the rear.

After taking their place some behind in the line that the ball teams are forming, We think the K. C's, if they want to beat us, Will have to get up in the morning.

A BENEFIT

For the M. E. Church at Rath's Opera Hall, Friday Evening, Aug. 28.

A Musical and Literary Entertainment Which Will Last Throughout a Whole Evening, is Being Performed. With a View to Giving the Public One of the Best Programs Ever Undertaken in Pine City.

A perusal of the numbers given below will convince everyone that a very interesting program is in store for all those who attend the entertainment to be given Friday evening, August 28th, at Rath's large opera hall. The members of the choruses have been drilling for several weeks past, and the soloists are too well known to need an introduction to a Pine City audience.

The old admirers of Charles E. Inquist, of Rush City, will appreciate an opportunity to again hear their old-time favorite. Mr. Inquist's voice, like some, improves with years, as all testify who have heard the gentleman sing recently.

The music is all new and some unique numbers have been prepared. "Muffs" is something entirely new, a character quartet, portraying the natural suspicion and jealousy of man, and the purity and fidelity of woman.

Mr. Olsen, it will be observed, takes the part of the jealous husband, and his ability as an actor has been demonstrated here several times. He will be well sustained by others in the cast. During the entertainment he will also render that beautiful burlesque solo entitled "The Miller," which was laid aside for another selection at the base ball benefit entertainment a number of weeks ago.

Another number which is laughable and attractive is "The Old Maid's Tea Party," a musical pantomime, which shows the proper manner of dancing "Ye Olde Type Minuet" by some of our typical "backdoor girls" of the city of Pine.

The choruses are made of the following persons: Soprano—Mrs. E. W. Chamberlain, Mrs. E. E. Barnum, contra. Mrs. G. J. Albrecht, Miss Wescott; tenors—Mr. Charles Elmqvist, Dr. E. E. Barnum; basses—Mr. A. W. Piper, Mr. A. R. W. Olsen.

The entertainment committee has secured Miss Blanche Tuttle, a pianist, from St. Paul, to aid on the program.

Following is the program to be rendered with all the musical numbers to be accompanied on the piano by Miss Mamie Pennington:

Instrumental Solo
Chorus Greeting Glee Reading "The Angel and the Sheep," Miss Briggs, heard from "The Ladies Quartet," heard from "The Ladies Quartet," heard from

AN OHIO HOG HOUSE.

It is neither elaborate nor expensive and almost any farmer can build one.

I herewith submit plans of my hog house. The building is 24 by 23 by 11 feet, with a crib four feet above the one and half feet above the level of a tan-tan wagon and the two remaining ten feet cemented and divided into as many pens as are wanted. The cement should be not less than eight inches above the ground level, and, if possible, on the south side of a building, so that sunlight may be limited by window or hinged doors or lifts.

A good floor over the pens about five and one-half feet from the cement.

EXCELLENT HOG HOUSE.

makes a desirable place for surplus corn or for storage room for boxes, barrels, plows, etc. Sliding doors close the driveway at each end, and small doors lead from each pen to the runways, which should lead to the barnyard or farm lane. The pens, when used for feeding and cleaning, should be cleaned each day or two, which is easily done with a scoop shovel. The troughs should be fastened securely, and the front of the pen should be hinged to swing in over the trough, thus keeping all hogs away until soap is distributed. The floor should slope from one and one-half to two inches in ten feet.

The past year has been very hard on swine, yet out of 40 head I have lost but one small shaver, and that was injured by the sow. One lot of shoats were placed in pen on the 20th of February, 1922, and were not off the cement until May 20, when marketed. No floor to rot, no rat harbors, easy in cleaning, and good sanitary conditions, make the cement floor a most desirable one. W. W. Helwig, in Ohio Farmer.

THE TWO ESSENTIALS.

When a Horse is Ailing Examine Its Teeth and, if Possible, Change Its Diet.

When a horse begins to run down in flesh, eats daintily or not at all, there are two things that should be done, first to before resorting to medical treatment, is the teeth; the other diet, says Farm, Stock and Home.

"off feed" horse often in that condition because he can't eat, and because he has no desire to eat. He needs a dental, and not medicine. The upper end all right and the horse will not eat. It is often because he and his feed no longer harmonize. He may have been given one kind of feed so long that his system is that he has all desire for it; it has become obnoxious, in fact, and he cannot eat it. In such cases a change of diet is what the horse needs, not medicine. Oats are a good and acceptable horse feed, and bread is equally so for man, but if that is substantially the only feed man has for a long period, he will reject it to the extent of great loss of flesh; and under similar conditions the horse will not eat. Another teeth and diet are responsible for the horse's condition, then other causes must be looked for. But in an astonishingly large number of instances the causes named will be found the real ones.

How to Use a Currycomb.

If a currycomb must be used, have the smoothest one that can be found, and use it but sparingly. To best the sore use the curycomb as a barbarous instrument of torture. Applied with a long, sweeping motion, without regard to the shape of the body, or the evenness with which it is held, will make a poor animal shrink and shiver. The skin is often seriously hurt by the angles of comb when carelessly and heavily handled. A short motion, back and forth, does the work more effectively and humanely than the severe application of the comb described. The horse will learn not to dislike it if he finds he is not hurt.

When Flies Have Sore Feet.

If your pig's feet get sore, give a dose of epsom salt, and follow with ten grains of nitrate potassium two or three times daily, in food, which will cool the system and afford relief to the feet. Prouded flesh between the toes should be touched once with terebinth of antimony, using a feather. If necessary, repeat the third day. To best the sore use chloride of zinc, one dram to one pint of water. Keep the pig warm and dry. —Midland Farmer.

Cents Not Numerous Here.

The United States is almost a goddess country compared with others, and the importance of goatskins, young and old, aggregate $35,000,000 a year, which represents the slaughter of 17,000,000 goats and kids. Germany has 3,000,000 head, Spain 5,000,000, Austria 2,000,000 and France, Bulgaria and Italy about 1,500,000 each. In Turkey there are six goats for each person, the goat being the most important source of income.

A pallet that is not well kept from hatching to laying time never makes a record-breaking hen.

BEEF-PRODUCING FOODS.

Important Conclusions Reached by Prof. Mumford of the Illinois Experiment Station.

Having already referred to an important cattle feeding experiment recently conducted at the Illinois station by Prof. H. W. Mumford, we present some of the chief conclusions reached, taken from bulletin No. 82.

1. This experiment indicates that corn may be safely substituted with clover hay, a nitrogenous roughage, in such a way that its influence will be practically as beneficial as the supplementing of corn with a nitrogenous concentrate, such as gluten meal.

2. That where clover hay or some other nitrogenous roughage is not available for supplementing the corn crop in fattening steers, a nitrogenous concentrate like gluten meal is highly advantageous.

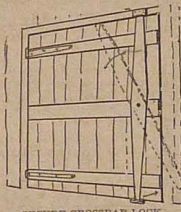

3. That neither the corn ration supplemented by the use of a nitrogenous roughage on the one hand nor of a nitrogenous concentrate on the other, proved to be an ideal ration. It is believed that some judicious combination of the two yet to be determined will be found more satisfactory and profitable than either.

4. A ration of corn, timothy hay and corn stover has little to recommend it for beef production. It is not favorable for the production of large, rapid or economical gains nor is the beef produced by such a ration desirable. It required 15 pounds more grain and 4 pounds more roughage to produce each pound of grain where timothy hay supplemented corn than where clover hay was used.

DESIRABLE DOOR LOCK.

A Convenient Way to Manage the Crossbar of Entrance Ways to Barns.

Large barn doors are often fastened to a perpendicular bar, one end of which enters a mortise in a beam or block overhead, and the other end rests on the floor. The strength of a man is usually required to take out the bar, or put it up. The illustration shows a more convenient way to manage the crossbar. A round iron bolt holds the bar to the middle rail of the door, allowing it to turn freely either way. Two long gains, one in the floor and one in the beam overhead, receive the ends of the bar when the door is closed. In place of a gain in the beam, a strip of scantling may be nailed firmly to the under side of the beam. The upper end of the crossbar, when set erect, comes on the inside of the strip.—D. H. Shepard, in Farm and Home.

NOTES ON THE MULE.

A mule will pine away and die when rheumatism attacks his hind feet. In knocking a mule don't touch its ears, unless you have a wheelbarrow scapenap handy.

A mule is a vegetarian by nature and training, and although he will kill he will not eat his prey.

A mule never discriminates between a tramp and a preacher. He is like the rain—gets the drop on bad and good alike.

A mule has one great advantage over less favored creatures; he has no descendants to leave a good name and fame—so leaves neither.

A mule standing motionless with both ears close is not dreaming sleep. Scientists say he is either thinking of the man he kicked last or the one he will kick first.—Rural World.

Bean Straw as a Ration.

Whether bean straw is a fit food for farm animals depends upon the degree of maturity reached by the plant when harvested. In this it is like all forage crops. Usually the vines are allowed to become too ripe to make good feed, in order that the beans will fall out easily if the vines are pulled before all the sap and life have left them they make forage similar to cowpea hay in character. As in other cases, the farmer wants to eat his cake and have it, too. He wants to "catch 'em comin' and gwine." With corn and oats it is possible to cut before maturity and have fairly good roughage and ripened grain also. With white beans it is not so easy, but a discriminating judgment applied at the critical moment will doubtless be rewarded by a crop of beans and roughage more or less nutritious.—Rural World.

City Boy on a Farm.

A Mule's favorite city boy to help him around the farm during the summer. One morning he told the boy to go and salt the calf. The boy took a quart of salt and rubbed it all over the calf, working it into the hair. A lot of colts scented the salt, and hunted the calf up. They licked all the hair off the calf's back. The farmer tried to catch one calf to wash, but the calf, thinking he wanted to lick it, too, ran through a hole in the fence and disappeared down the road. The boy now comes from up when he talks to him. Moral: Never be afraid to ask questions.

THE PLATEAU HAT.

Shapes That Are Trimmed as Flat as Possible to Give No Additional Height.

Only quite a young face looks well under a flat plateau or the new sailor with a very low crown and rather wide brim, but it is only necessary to raise them on a cappelaine, or to roll or fold back the brim on one or both sides, to obtain a hat more generally becoming. The shapes are trimmed as flat as possible, whether the decorations be flowers, frills, curls, or soft textured ribbons. Indeed, in no case are floral decorations, leaves, etc., arranged so as to give additional height to the shape, whatever may be the form chosen.

Among the plateau hats is one in a delightful combination of pastel shades. The fancy braids of which it is made are pale lavender. Wide ribbon, showing stripes of two shades of gray and pink striped with white, is drawn through a loop of the straw in front; the ends, after passing through the mouth of the hat, are drawn under the sides, are arranged in the back and further, consists of a small chaplet of hairpore on the left and a flat parand of tiny blue roses and green buds trailing from the right side around the back.

Another, made of fancy black braids, has several large whitish-green daisies on the left side, balanced on the right by a spray of black velvet daisies with yellow hearts and a small lace of white blue ribbon velvet. The whole of this trimming lies quite flat, but the hat is raised in front on a jet of coral, and moreover, the front portion of the brim is curiously trimmed underneath with a big, pendant jet of spangles sewn very closely together.

The best specimens of low-crowned hats include one made of cream-colored bristles. This has the edge of the brim slight ruffled and worked over with half-inch wide black velvet, first one way, then the other, so that the velvet forms a series of crosses. A wreath of beads rests on the sides and back of the brim, finished with tufts of green leaves on each side.

Another in burnt yellow straw is almost entirely wreathed around with full-blown double poppies, shaded from yellow to pink; the interval being filled up with a large flat rosette of black ribbon velvet. Two bands of ribbon, starting from this rosette, cross and are fastened underneath the brim on the left by a second flat rosette.

The hat with a high fringe just now. Here the crown is so low as to be almost non-existent, and it is covered with cherries laid closely side by side like the fruit in an open cherry tart, surrounded by a border of leaves or a band of green velvet. The brim of one of these is in burnt straw worked over in manifold cross-stitch with green velvet ribbon.

AMERICAN GIRL AND HOME.

New Ideas Acquired in Her Contact with the World Improve Domestic Atmosphere.

The American home is the most important of American institutions. It is home to the most improved by the influence of the woman's sphere of influence, then certainly the widening is of no real consequence, writes William Allen White, Woman's Home Companion. By a comparison of the average American home today with the home of a generation ago shows many new and beautiful things in it. These the American girl has brought back from her journey in the world. Among other things there are good reproductions of the old-fashioned chromes which were unobtainable; sanitary plumbing and labor-saving kitchen devices (thermo-labor-saving cooking, common-sense clothing; simple architecture, with its great impetus by beauty; good and at least grammatically written books; the new circulation library; cheap magazines carefully edited and crammed full of civilization from the first page to the very last; advertisements and all a working knowledge of the important scientific facts about the human body, and a rudimentary education in the causes of disease and the necessary precautions for preventing the same.

These things and hundreds of others the American girl has brought to her home to make it healthful, to happy, to make it beautiful, to make it happy, to make it healthy, to bring to it. But better than beauty and happiness and health is the spirit of independence which she has brought to this home. She has earned her living. She has tried the world, and she does not fear it. She goes to her home as a rest from her "loved employ" not as a place of bondage. The American girl who enters upon the duties of a wife goes not as a dependent, but as an equal.

Raspberry Tapioca.

Put three-fourths of a cup of well-washed peas (tapioca) into a farina kettle, the cover with four cups of boiling water and cook until transparent. Stir into it lightly a pint of fresh red raspberries or logan berries, adding a sugar to taste and pour into a mold. Serve cold with cream or a pudding sauce made by creaming butter and sugar, then beating into a curd of mashed berries. The berries while of egg may be added to the sauce if desired. —Washington Star.

Raspberry Ice.

Crush one quart of the black raspberries and add one pint of red currant juice with two and a half cups of sugar. Let stand over night, then strain off the juice, and turn it into the freezer. When frozen, freeze and one cup of well-washed white grapefruit, flavored with lemon.—Home Magazine.

BEGGAR GIVES CREDIT.

But He Doesn't Belief the Practice That Some People Have of Putting Him Off.

Chelkij Bey, the Turkish minister to Washington, Philadelphia, the day following the launch Chelkij Bey announced for a moment to the agents of Philadelphia for an exchange of that city. "You have here," he said, "an enterprising and intelligent collection of beggars, the larger part of the day, I am going to tell you a moving tale of misfortune; then he asked me for a little money, I put my hand in my pocket, to find that it was altogether out of change. "My man," I said, "I have nothing for you now, but in an hour I shall be passing this way again. Then he promised you shall get something from me. "All right," said the beggar; "but all the while," he added, "I wouldn't believe the amount of credit I give in this way."

A Little Or.

A legal artist of note tells an amusing story of his visit to an insane asylum in the larger part of the day, he started down one of the stairs of the train back to the city. At the foot of the stairs stood a large clock. Being out of one watch to compare the time, he found there was a difference of several minutes. Turning to the doorkeeper, a young Irishman, he inquired why the clock was so fast. "Right!" said the doorkeeper. "Do you think it will be here if it was right?" Philadelphia Record.

A German Farmer's Case.

Rich Fountain, Mo., Aug. 17th.—Rev. J. C. Pope, of this place, is widely and favorably known as a clergyman who has done and is doing much for his people. He is a very warm and generous in the faithfulness of his pastoral work.

Mr. Pope, in a recent publication, a statement made to him by a German farmer, who is a member of his congregation, and he has given Rev. Mr. Pope this very closely together.

"Last winter I suffered very much with Rheumatism, and it did me no good. Then I tried Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I was relieved. I had taken the first box, I felt already a great better; my fingers began to resolve. I had taken Dodd's Kidney Pills I feel well again and I am able to do all the work on the farm."

Misplaced Affection.

The Eskimos were very angry with the white man who had taken their dog. "What did he do?" asked the member of the relief expedition. "He petted our dogs," explained the native. "He has any harm in petting your dogs?" "Yes, their tails were frozen stiff, and when they went to wag them they broke off."—B'way Stories.

The Northern Pacific will sell a special ticket for a tour of Yellowstone Park, including railway to an open cherry tart, surrounded by a border of leaves or a band of green velvet. The brim of one of these is in burnt straw worked over in manifold cross-stitch with green velvet ribbon.

THE SALESWOMAN

Compelled to Be on Her Feet the Larger Part of the Day Finds a Tonic in Peruna.

Miss Curtin, of St. Paul, Gives Her Experience.

MISS NELLIE CURTIN.

MISS NELLIE CURTIN, 616 Pearl Street, St. Paul, Minn., had a letter from a woman in a department store writes:

"I have charge of a department in a dry goods store, and after standing the larger part of the day, I would go home with a dull ache, generally out of my head, and I used Peruna through my entire body. I used Peruna and feel so much better that I now know Peruna is the best medicine on the market for the diseases peculiar to women." —Miss Nellie Curtin.

Nothing is so weakening to the human system as the constant loss of mucus. Catarrhal inflammation of the mucous membrane produces an excessive flow of mucus. Whether the mucous membrane be located in the head or pelvic organs, the discharge of mucus is sure to occur.

This discharge of mucus constitutes a weakening drain; the system cannot long withstand the loss of mucus, hence it is that women afflicted with catarrhal affections of the pelvic organs feel tired and languid, with real nervousness and throbbing brain. A course of Peruna is sure to restore health by cutting off the weakening drain of the daily loss of mucus.

An Admirable Tonic.

Professor Mark H. Dunnell, National Hotel, Washington, D. C. writes: "Your Peruna being used by myself and many of my friends and acquaintances not only as a cure for catarrhal but also as an admirable tonic for physical reinvigoration. I gladly recommend it to all persons requiring such remedies." —Mark H. Dunnell.

If you do not derive prompt and satisfactory results from the use of Peruna, write at once to Dr. Hartman, giving a full statement of your case and he will be pleased to give you his valuable advice gratis.

Address Dr. Hartman, President of The Hartman Sanitarium, Columbus, O.

THE BULL DOG GERM

You know how a bull dog bites.

When he sets his jaw, hardly anything but death will cause him to let go his prey.

Get rid of him, or he'll get rid of you. By degrees, as he continues to live and multiply, he will so poison your blood, as to make you very sick indeed.

The only way to drive out microbes, is to take some medicine which will go right into, and sterilize, the blood.

Nothing will do this like

Ozomulsion

It contains a germicide which is directly absorbed by the blood vessels, and which, while enriching the blood with vital particles, paralyzes and destroys all germs, parasites and microorganisms.

This done, the other ingredients of this great pharmaceutical preparation, principally cod liver oil, glycine and hypophosphites of lime and soda, proceed quickly to build up the flesh and strength of the patient, and so make him well.

Literally and actually, Ozomulsion will feed you back to health.

Do not hesitate or delay. If you are out of sorts, under the weather, weak, tired, irritable, anxious, or suffer from pains, aches, stomach, liver or kidney disorder, weak heart, lungs, consumption, or have other indications of microbial poisoning, Gigantic Display of Farm Machinery at the Coming State Fair.

At the coming Minnesota State Fair will be seen perhaps the largest exhibit of implements and machinery ever brought together at any place. This building stands on the high ground east of the race course and around it will center scores of open air exhibits such as threshing outfits, stackers, corn huskers, road engines, road machinery, wind mills, etc., every foot of space in the new building was assigned to exhibitors before the structure was finished and a great many exhibits will be shown in temporary booths or tents. The building formerly used as a carriage building has been assigned this year to the woman's department of the fair and to provide a place for carriages some of the old machinery buildings have been enclosed with glass and made into a very pleasant and light carriage exhibition rooms. The farm machinery division of the fair this year is in charge of Hon. Wm. E. Lee, of Long Prairie, the most recently elected member of the State Fair Board.
