Vegetables and Small Fruits as Grown at the Northeast Experiment Station.

Nearly all the garden vegetables have been grown on the Experiment Farm for a number of years and invariably do exceptional well. Tomatoes, cucumbers and beans do not generally ripen before frost. Sweet corn matures sufficiently for table use and canning. Cabbage, onions, carrots, parsnips, peas and string beans give very large yields. Asparagus and celery can also be grown.

At the present time the local market for vegetables in season is very limited. If there were a good market for vegetables it would be of great advantage to the small farm. Here is where co-operation among the farmers will be helpful as well as in dairying and poultry raising. The farmers of northeastern Minnesota ought to largely supply the northeastern markets. This can be done by the farmers co-operating and having their own representative in every large market.

SMALL FRUITS.

While apples have not as yet been grown successfully at the Experiment Farm nearly all the smaller fruits have been. Plums do very well. Raspberries, blackberries, currants and strawberries are successful in both yield and quality. Some years the plums do not ripen before frost. Last year only a few late varieties fully ripened. The Atkin plum was ripe Sept 1st, two weeks before the plums were injured by the frost. The next earliest variety was the Cheney which was ripe Sept. 9.

Both these varieties were of good quality, the Cheney however being the better of the two being a large plum and the Cheney being smaller. The Wolf variety was also very good but not fully ripe before frost.

Among the varieties of raspberries tried the Lambert was found most satisfactory. The Turner and Marlboro gave large yield but the quality of the berry is not as good as the Lambert. The latter berries grown most successfully are the Bedewood, Clyde, Splendid, Lovett and Brand wine.

While traveling about among the farmers last summer I noticed that a great many had set out apple trees, some to the experience in fruit growing, it should be remembered that this is rather far north for the apple, and that it is much better to begin fruit growing with the small fruits that are specially adapted for this section of the state. Some apples are being grown here at the present time. There is no doubt but what they will be generally successful later. The Experiment Station will set out a new orchard in the spring and give special attention to the growing of the apple.

When the tree agent calls at your house, welcome him. He has been a public benefactor. But instead of ordering high priced apple trees buy 100 strawberry plants, about 25 raspberry plants and the same of currants and gooseberries and a few plum trees. These properly cared for will yield abundantly and will not only prove a luxury for the home but may also be a source of profit.

A Clippier.

Don't let me weary to read the rot of those rattle-brained idiots of the Chicago press who are repeatedly publishing the country papers on their localities. Those ten-to-four inch booster bluffs think it awfully funny when some newspaper publishes "Hears' Slocum has sold his beetroot cow to Ed. Childers." Mrs. Franklin Oliver Lowden has just returned from the States. Lowden says "Old that's great! That bull pup would bring about 90 cents in the day, and I have this morning a cow would sell for $50 in the dark." Because Jessie Davis was over Sam's? Why, because he has his feet get their throes a now, but if William Henry Harrison Poole, the surely leader, was in Milwaukee last Saturday to see the circus, Little Babst, they would shudder over half a cent and have three pictures of George and William Henry on the front page.—Gallatin, Ill.

Adieu to Worldly Affairs.

Ernest Weser, one of the old settlers of this county, died at the home of his son, Alexander, five miles west of Hinckley, Monday morning at seven o'clock. He was 77 years of age at the time of his death which was caused by a complication of diseases.

Four sons, Edwin, Richard, Bruno and Alexander, and two daughters, Mrs. Selma Butow and Clara Weser, are left to mourn his demise. His wife died several years ago in St. Paul.

The funeral services were held at the old homestead, Wednesday morning, and the remains were shipped to St. Paul and laid to rest in Union cemetery. Rev. Hiebener, pastor of the German Lutheran church of this place, conducted the services.

Two Boys and a Knife.

What might have easily been a fatal stabbing affray occurred in the usually peaceful hamlet of Rock Creek last Tuesday afternoon. Elmer Doran, a 10 year old school boy, was the offender and Jesse Greenly, his school mate of about the same age, the victim. The two lads had been quarreling for several days and Tuesday afternoon the quarrel broke after the usual wrothy party, deliberately drew a jack knife and stabbed the Greenly boy, inflicting a wound behind the ear directly above the jugular vein. Had the blade struck a half an inch lower there would have been a Greenly funeral. Dr. Greenly was called from Rush City and dressed the wound. It is reported that the Doran boy borrowed the knife during the last week of school for the purpose of using it as he did. Such premeditated crimes do not generally pass unheeded and the state school at Red Wing contains many youths who are less guilty of crime than the perpetrator of this Rock Creek stabbing affray.

An Inhuman Act.

On Monday Julius A. Hoyt, state agent of the Minnesota Humane Society, came up to this place to investigate a charge of cruelty which had been sent from Beron to the Humane society. In the afternoon he secured a rig and rove up to the scene of the perpetration of the crime and collected the evidence.

Tuesday Sheriff Hayley went in charge of Jacob Nevel, who, it was alleged, had beaten his horse over the head with a sick stave, until he was unable to proceed any further and then left him by the side of the road until the next morning, the night of the 13th day of February. In the morning he together with young man by the name of Stephen Ribes, went to where he left the horse, and Nevel took an axe and mutilated the animal in a horrid manner and at last, killed it. On arriving at the Nevel home it was found that he had left Saturday and his wife and family did not know of his whereabouts. After arriving home the sheriff found that his man was in Rush City, with relatives, and took the limited where he secured the criminal and hired a rig, had him safely in the village lockup by seven o'clock.

The hearing was set for Thursday morning at 11 o'clock, at which time John Zbovitzky and Stephen Ribes, two of the witnesses, appeared, the other witnesses Chas. Tingley and son Eugene failing to put in an appearance. The two witnesses and the testimony of Mr. Nevel himself was heard by Judge Pofert, who sentenced the prisoner to a fine of $50 and 60 days or ninety days in jail. He took the latter and will be housed in the Washington county jail during the ensuing three months.

School Notes.

The teachers had a pleasant as well as a profitable time at Rush City on Friday. Some of the work done there was most excellent and well worthy of imitation. Supt. Hay is invited to bring his teachers up to return the call and see their work.

Saturday Misses Barnum, McKusick and Brackett and Supt. Hayley attended the Teachers' Association at Hinckley. Among other things it was decided to organize several clubs for the promotion of the professional advancement of teachers.

The 1st, 2nd, 3rd, 4th and 5th grades gave Washington Day programs Wednesday. Among the visitors were Messrs. Rath and Greeley of the board of education, Mrs. Saunders, Mrs. Miller and Miss Henderson.

Thursday morning Mr. Hoyt of the Minnesota Humane Society talked to the schools upon the subject of birds and animals. Mr. Hoyt represents a good cause and we have no doubt that his appeal in behalf of our humble friends of the animal world found a responsive chord in the hearts of the children.

Friday afternoon the 6th and 7th grades and High School will have literary exercises.

Pine County Teachers Meet at Hinckley.

The Pine County Teachers' Association meeting, held at Hinckley Saturday afternoon, was an enjoyable and instructive affair. About seventy teachers were present from all parts of the county. Dr. W. A. Shoemaker, president of the St. Cloud state normal school, delivered an address during the evening session and also was called on and responded with a few remarks during the afternoon's proceedings. The minutes of the meeting as taken from the secretary's book, follow:

Meeting called to order at 1:30 p. m. G. W. Gates chairman.

Officers elected for ensuing year: G. W. Gates, president; Hiram S. Goff, vice president; R. H. Blankenship, secretary and treasurer. The vice president was instructed to appoint four others to act with him as a program committee.

A county reading circle was then organized consisting of four sections, and officers elected as follows: 1st Sec. to Miss Willow River, vice president; 2nd Sec. to include Sandstone and vicinity. Officers: Roscoe Bowman, president; Miss Rachel P. Webb, Secy. Time of meeting, second Saturday of each month. 3rd Section to include Pine City and vicinity. Officers: Benjamin Polzin, president; Miss Anna Anderson, Secy. Time of meeting, 4th Section to include Pine City and vicinity. Officers: A. D. Robinson, president; Miss Edythe Robinson, secretary.

Sandstone was designated as the next meeting place and May 6th, 1905, fixed as the time.

The program committee was given full power to act in arranging the next program.

A pleasing instrumental duet was then rendered by Miss Nebuda and Master Nebuda.

Dr. W. A. Shoemaker of St. Cloud gave an instructive talk on the teachers on discipline and school management.

The remainder of the time was taken up in the discussion of questions submitted by members of the Association. The meeting adjourned until 8:30 p. m.

The evening session was held in Old Fell to state that the musical program, an address by Dr. Shoemaker, and remarks by Mayor H. Coplovich who presided as chairman of the meeting and Co. Secy. R. H. Blankenship. The address by Dr. Shoemaker was a mastery effort, pointing out the different stages of learning for boys and girls up to manhood and womanhood. His statements were well sprinkled with witcisms which kept the large audience in constant good humor. Just before the rendition of the last number of the program, given below, Mr. Blankenship moved that resolutions of thanks be tendered by the Association to those who assisted in entertaining while in Hinckley. The motion was seconded and carried by a unanimous and generous vote. All of the following numbers were choice selections, well rendered and several encores compelled the entertainer to respond.

Miss Nebuda and Master Nebuda.
Baritone Solo..... Mr. Olsen.
Soprano Solo..... Miss McMasters.
Vocal Duett.....
..... Misses McMurdy and Osborn.
Address..... W. A. Shoemaker.
Bass Solo..... Mr. Olsen.
Accompanist..... Mr. Vittum.
Misses Barnum and Halvorson.

After the entertainment a large number of the tutors joined with the school at Hinckley in dancing the light fantastic in the Town Hall. Arnold's orchestra furnished the music in a highly pleasing manner. The hop continued into the wee small hours of morning and every one present had a perfectly lovely time.

Most of the visiting teachers returned to their homes on the early morning trains, tired but happy and satisfied that they had enjoyed their afternoon and evening, most profitably.

Gloria Krawick arrived here from Duluth, Wednesday, to visit with his brother Otto and family.

Rock Creek News.

The gripe is claiming many victims these days.

Twenty Rock Creek people took in the lecture on "Heads," given by Dr. Montgomery at Rush City Monday night.

Miss Louise Barsch, of Otusville, visited with Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Lindberg a few days last week.

Mr. Caroon is busy sawing wood around town.

What is the proper time for a good time to travel between Rock Creek and Rush City?

The entertainment the 24th, they say is to be a winner.

On the 23rd of Feb. at a special meeting of the stockholders of the Creamery Co., a manager will be elected.

From another correspondent.

A. M. Challen has taken charge of the store bought of A. P. Erickson and is repairing it making it up to date and will have a very large stock.

Mr. J. E. Lindberg will leave for Stark Saturday where he has accepted a position as buttermaker and manager and he will be succeeded by Mr. Gustafson from Nicollet, Minn., who comes well recommended.

Mr. Chas. Anderson, of Chicago filed his notes, C. R. and Julius Anderson of this place this week and returned Wednesday.

The farmers have commenced talking starch factory and it is no doubt a very good thing.

Miss Annie Wescott came down from Pine City Wednesday.

A. P. Erickson has moved his family to the old store building near the school house which he has repaired and arranged very comfortably.

At the rate the hay is moving from this town it would indicate that this place was at the height of prosperity, at least with the quantity.

IT'S FROM EVERGREEN.

A thriving New Location in the Eastern Part of Pine County. An Introduction.

We wish to introduce the readers of the Pioneer to Evergreen, which is located 24 miles east of Sandstone near Hay creek. The place is newly settled, three years ago there being no signs of settlement, but now settlers are fast coming in and Evergreen is a very promising place. One thing is lacking to give the new locality the proper impetus, and that is the presence of railway facilities. With the exception of about six miles, which will be completed this coming summer, we have a good graded road from Evergreen to Sandstone. And as the Soo and Milwaukee railroads have made surveys through this section of the country and have had estimates made on wood ties and other products to their satisfaction, we are confident that we will be without a railroad but a very short time.

We do state that this locality is principally heavy hard wood land and there are quantities of very valuable lumber, and we are not afraid to say that we have as good soil as any state of Minnesota affords. There is some good homestead land to be taken up, and now is the time to get land that will make fine homes.

Chas. Lantheut set his foot quite severely last Wednesday while splitting wood at his home. He will be laid up for some time.

A dance was given at the home of Chas. Lantheut Saturday night which was well attended by the young people of Evergreen. Music was furnished by Messrs. Levi Lagoo and N. A. Guyman. Most enjoyable evening was spent.

Adolph Olson is doing a big logging business this winter. He has 240,000 feet banked on Hay creek and two or three weeks more of hauling.

Mrs. Mark Andrews and friends were visitors at the home of Lizzie Olson Sunday.

N. A. Guyman departed for Pine City where his family resides at present. He expects to move to this place soon.

Ernest Hall returned from Meadow Lawm last week. He intends to put some new buildings on his farm as he had the misfortune to lose his house by fire while he was away from home. He carried no insurance and reports a total loss.

The crew at Barber's Camp were entertained by N. A. Guyman the other night with piano playing and songs. The dark passed like lightning and collected $137.17 from the men.

J. P. Hollar and son Clarence, of Meadow Lawm, are logging here this winter. They have done the most of Miss Lizzie Olson this week.

St. Paul, Feb. 17.—What is probably the most drastic and important measure ever introduced in the Minnesota legislature is that offered by Messrs. Horton and Hockes as collaborators. The bill is intended as an act to suppress trusts and monopolies and consist in prohibiting the laws of the state from being applied to the law of the state in relation to the bill. The bill is said to be modeled after the law in force in the state of New York. The bill is said to be modeled after the law in force in the state of New York. COLOR ENVELOPES ARE BAD

Cause Much Trouble to Post Office Clerks Who Work in Dimly Lighted Apartments.

Colored envelopes used by some business houses in the dispatch of mail are causing the post office and the railway mail clerks considerable annoyance and trouble.
 Addresses on them, unless written with a typewriter, are almost unrecognizable. When the fact is considered that most of the work in handling letters is done under gaslight and on swaying mail cars, it will not seem strange that clerks regard colored envelopes as a device designed for their particular discomfort.
 Red is the worst color in the spectrum for envelope use. Blue is next. These colors when used on the back of the envelope of ink it appears as nothing under the artificial light. Colors are more endurable as they approach white.

Many postmasters have had occasion to make special suggestions to firms that they print their envelopes and wrappers on white paper.
 The business houses which have adapted one color and used it so long that it is a familiar trade mark dislike to make the change, but they recognize the justice of the request, in view of the fact that it will lighten the burden of the clerks and assist in the rapid and correct delivery of mail.

APPREHENSION.

A Story That Is Now Going the Rounds in Army and Navy Circles in Manila.

A veteran of the Mindanao campaign, says the Manila Volcano, was telling the other evening at the Army and Navy club to a lieutenant recently from the states, young in years and young in commission, of the curious animals to be found in that island.
 "One of the strangest creatures I saw there," said he, "was what we called the 'red devil.' It was the identical part of the red devil pictured on a well-known brand of deviled ham, only it had no fork to its tail. It was in color a brilliant red in the head, hands, feet and horns, and stood erect, walking with a military bearing, which, it possessed by an officer on regimental parade, would attract great attention. We caught one, but it couldn't stand captivity and died."
 "What was the matter?" asked the young lieutenant, solicitously, after a painful pause.
 "Apprehension," laconically answered the veteran in sorrowing voice.
 "Apprehension! Pray, for what?"
 "Apprehension that it might receive civil promotion." And the veteran fished for the slice of orange in the bottom of his glass.

TAKEN FOR A DEAD MAN.

Fredrickson of a Tired Reporter Who Overleaps—Then He Becomes Very Much Alive.

A newspaper man of this town who tells all day Saturday and until late Sunday morning, and who lives a considerable distance from town, fell too tired Sunday morning to take the long journey home and went to a prominent hotel, says the Wheeling Intelligence. Having a clear conscience and good health he slept the deep, sound, sweet sleep that was coming to him. Along about 3 o'clock he awoke hazy and heard a conversation at his door which startled him.
 "I tell you," said an agitated voice, "I tried four times to awaken him and he never answered. I tell you I believe the man's dead and we had better break in the door."
 Then came the noise of forcing a lock, and the newspaper man realized the situation and yelled:
 "If you come in here disturbing my sleep—you'll find the blankets live dead men you ever saw."
 He was allowed to sleep.

Americans Buy Gems.

Proof of American prosperity is illustrated by the activity of American gem buyers. In every diamond market in Europe they are seeking to secure precious stones for the American market. At the sales at Paris, St. Petersburg and Amsterdam the American buyers are securing the most costly gems offered. A climax was reached in London when a New York buyer secured the Prince Edward of York diamond, regarded as one of the most perfect diamonds which have ever appeared in London. This pear-shaped stone, of "catchlight" color and purity, weighs 69½ carats. The stone has never been exhibited in public, and has never left the hands of the rough-diamond syndicate until recently. An English syndicate paid $1,500 for a three months' option on the stone, but the American paid $100,000 cash for it.

STATISTICS OF TELEGRAPHS

Figures Compiled by the Census Department on This Great Industry.

Washington—The census department has prepared the following figures on the telegraph system:
 The commercial telegraph systems numbered 25 in 1902, as compared with 77 in 1880. This striking decrease is due, however, to the number of consolidations which have taken place, the magnitude of the equipment and business showing a great increase. At the present time the telegraph business is practically controlled by two companies, yet the number of miles in operation in 1902 was more than four times, the number of messages almost three times, and the receipts from messages more than twice as great as in 1880. The average rate per message in 1902, after deducting the number of cable messages and the receipts therefrom, was 31 cents, as compared with 43 cents in 1880.
 The commercial telegraph companies reported 1,318,250 miles of wire in operation in 1902, but also made a report of 1,577,246 miles as owned or leased. Of the latter mileage 62.5 per cent was operated by the single or Morse system, 14.1 per cent by the duplex system, 23.6 per cent by the quadruplex system, and the remaining eight-tenths of one per cent by machine or automatic systems.
 The commercial telegraph message sent during 1902 numbered 81,657,287, of which 820,495 were cable messages. There were 684 railway companies that reported the operation of telegraph or telephone lines in connection with the transportation business. Along their rights of way these companies had 1,127,486 miles of single telegraph and telephone wire, of which they owned 21.5 per cent.

TELLS YOUNG TO MARRY.

Bishop Delaney Urges Early Unions and Advises Men Not to Delay Until 35.
 Manchester, N. H.—In talking to his people at St. Joseph's cathedral, recently, Bishop Delaney said there were but 50 marriages at the cathedral during last year, ten of which were mixed. "Too many of the latter," he said, "and not enough of the former. Mixed marriages, he continued, are not to be encouraged, as the church is against them. They are performed, not because the girls are so willing, but because, in a majority of instances, the contracting parties would go to the city clerk or a justice of the peace to have their union legalized."
 The bishop urged the young people to get married and to do so soon. Some men, he said, think it well enough to wait until they are 35 before getting married, but at this age a man has lived the best part of his life. He is an old bachelor and the wife he chooses is generally a girl in the old maid line. Her childhoods are not advisable, said the bishop. He advised the fathers and mothers of daughters to give the young man as much money as they can afford to get married, as they cannot save money enough to warrant it, said Bishop Delaney, but if they do not spend much money on each other presents and in going about, they could save sufficient money to furnish a nice home and to live comfortably.

MAYOR ASKS CUT IN PAY.

Ex-Stoker, Elected City Executive, Decides He Is Not Worth $3,000 to Bridgeport, Conn.
 Bridgeport, Conn.—Denis Mulvihill, Bridgeport's mayor, who was raised from the position of a stoker in a sewing machine factory, which he had held for 23 years, to be chief executive of a city of 28,000 inhabitants, has prepared a bill to be presented to the Connecticut legislature, which will cut down his salary by one-third. He now receives $3,000 a year.
 "I am not worth that much money," said the mayor, "but I have been thinking it over, and have decided the pay is too great. The job of conducting the city government is easy. No man is worth $5,000 as mayor of Bridgeport."
 Mayor Mulvihill, whose slogan when he was first elected a little over three years ago, was "frugal honesty," served over a quarter of a century as stoker at $14 a week. During those years he raised a family of five children and at the same time accumulated a savings in the bank account that he invested in real estate which has increased in value so he is now worth about $20,000.

A Roosevelt a Machinist.

Nicholas Roosevelt, a kinsman of President Roosevelt, and a last year's graduate of Princeton college, is one of the 15,000 employees on the payroll of the Baldwin locomotive works, at the machine shops. His facial resemblance to the occupant of the white house is quite marked. He is 22 years old, and intends to become identified with some manufacturing business in the future, for which his two years' course in the big industrial establishment will be a preparation.

THE STORY TELLER

CURING THE "HICCUPS"

By HOLMAN F. DAY.

WHEN Perley Ward came down from his wister's work in the wood he brought as gifts to his young wife seven fish-catch skins, two copper rivet pits, four huge, hatched mussel-rod growths, on which wood's scenes could be painted, and nearly two pounds of spruce gum, tied into the corner of a meal bag. No more admirable specimens of spruce gum were ever seen in Palermo village. Perley had spent his eyes on the letters scribbling the globules. Each was as big as the end of one's thumb and glowed with ruddy fire as though it had absorbed the glories of summer, retaining the mellowness of bland autumn and the harbingers of the hutsman's campfire, waving with steam from the venison steaks. It was gum to start moisture in the mouth corners if it were rolled before greedy eyes from pain to palm. It was gum that melted into a acid of succulent spiciness, and one was prompted to jam it hard between the molar, slip it to the tongue, squelch it against the front teeth, draw out its yielding plinkness across the lips into a long, elastic ribbon and then thrust it back feebly and rumbling with the tongue, like chewing generally called "gum-yanking."

Mrs. Perley Ward succumbed to all this temptation. She chewed gum all day long. At meal times she stuck the little pink goblet under the edge of her plate, when she went to bed her gum decorated with a blue stain that it might be handy the next morning. She chewed steadily, with those little crackling snappings of the gum that the experienced ruminant is enabled to produce. Her husband consulted her to be more moderate. He said that pretty soon she would have cheek muscles as big asiceps and would look like a squirrel lugging nuts.

But she prolonged her gum de-bauch. Then one day she began to hiccup. At first it was only a little easy, surging hiccup. Then she faint sounds like subdued snickers, scarcely more than catches, hiccup breath, with lip nippings and pinks, and laughs and laughter when a hiccup frowned a word in two.

"Can't you take a little hiccup for that?" demanded Mr. Ward, at the dinner table. "You sound like a chicken eaten but peppered brim-shank."

"It'll stop in a mitch-lick—minut, all it'll—chock," said Mrs. Ward, cheerily, and she ate a little dry sugar. They were snickering away cheerfully at supper time. Mr. Ward informed her that she sounded like a setting hen clucking.

"For dece-nation's sake," he protested, "choke it off, or—cre-tre-fully!" he quavered, and then began to cry weakly, her sobs alternating with hiccupping that seemed fairly to lift her off the bed. The big man looked at her aghast, passed his hairy hand across his sweaty and corrugated brow and ejaculated, "Well, I'll be—" he walked from the room, clumped down stairs and went out of the house.

He came back at supper time and said with sheepish demerol, "I still insist that you get 'em out in the right way to huddle hiccup friends, but ain't fitted to doctor folks, I reckon. To make up for what I did to-day I'll be the watcher to-night. All the rest of you go to the barn."

The suspicious husband protested, but in the end the dictatorial brother prevailed. He pushed all of them into the room, clumped out at nine o'clock, his hairy hands against his shoulders. He locked the door behind them. Then he went and sat by the open window, gazing impatiently out into night. His feet never wavered in his hand. The woman lay croaking hiccupping and moaning softly. Her eyes were closed. At nine o'clock there was a "clink" in the darkness outside. "Get that ladder 'side o' the barn," whispered the big man.

"Nortin' to do but wait," he murmured. The minutes passed slowly. The next attendant on the sick woman sat hunched in the chair in the position she would take in the room. She was in a while he shut his mouth with a moist "woode" and then relaxed the jaw muscles again.

The big man shifted from foot to foot and grunted softly. "This is gettin' mighty tedious," he growled, discontentedly. "Ain't there somethin' that'll jounce him along a bit?"

"Wal, no one on the poor farm has ever practiced on pokin' him up to have one. He has enough of 'em with-out bein' encouraged. Howsever, a sudden little stick might set him off, sose he's well keyed up for one of 'em."

"There's a carriage spoke down in the horse trough," said the big man. "Sop it full o' water and bring it up to me."

When it was delivered to the brother he balanced it in his hairy hand and threw it as Jove would launch a thunderbolt, full at the rectangular face. Spook!

With a maniacal yell the fellow leaped up like a flaming torch and fell back into the chair. The sick woman opened her eyes and stared. As she gazed on the unknown he straightened out, his body stiff, the depth of the big chair, his limbs rigid, his fingers hooked and stiff. There was a slow grinding yell on his whole body. Froth appeared on his snarling lips and his stertorous breathing blew out little bubbles of it. Then all at once he began to hiccup and flop. He fell on the floor, bounced around, stood up on one foot, whirled like a teetotum and fell again. The woman, horrified, sat up, clutched her bed-clothes and screamed hideously.

In the rooms below sounded a succession of heavy feet as the household leaped out of bed. The rectangular-faced man now ran round and round the room. He butted his head against the wall once or twice. He rolled across the floor, taking up-ended chairs with him. Hands and feet were pointing at the door and voices were clamoring for admittance. The woman in bed had the ghastly look of one death-struck. The creature tore from side to side of the room, fairly running up the walls, dropping on all fours and gathering himself for another scramble. All at once he leaped high, went along the wall in a sprawling half-circle, knocked over the lamp stand and his lamp and when the blaze spirited over the carpet he made a wild plunge for the open window.

He ever both men down the ladder with him and they all were piled in a struggling heap at the bottom. The next moment the door of Mrs. Ward's room was burst in with a crash. The fire was already licking at the bed. The draught of the open window and door carried the flames roaring through the upper part of the little house, and it was with difficulty that the woman, wrapped in her bed-clothes, was borne out. In half an hour the roof fell in and the chimney crashed down into the swirling flames.

The relatives sat under the orchard trees, listening once more to Mrs. Ward's recital of the treat scene in her chamber. She did not understand. The relatives did not understand. The big man was not there to explain. His little white head was bustling up. To the food of questions and the complaints that he had abandoned his charge, he put up a protesting palm.

"I was there—I was there," he insisted, "I have just to help carry him back to the poor farm. He got scorched a little."

YOU'RE NEEDED

The section traversed by the Missouri, Kansas & Texas Ry. is very comprehensive. From St. Louis, Hannibal or Kansas City to Oklahoma or San Antonio is a stretch of over one thousand miles of territory, capable of sustaining a population of over one thousand people in a different way than the rest of the country. Many times that of the present. Good land, timber, oil, gas and minerals are to be found. People by eager, pushing, wide-awake enterprise of every description and of getting more and better facilities. The opportunity is here.

The Southwest is really in need of nothing save people. More men are needed—more men who are willing to take a chance on a better life in the future of the West. New lines of business are adequately represented. Good land, timber, oil, gas and minerals are to be found. People by eager, pushing, wide-awake enterprise of every description and of getting more and better facilities. The opportunity is here.

The M. K. & T. has no lands for sale, we are simply interested in the upbuilding of the country. We believe in the southwest, and know that with its present needs and opportunities the prospects are bright and the future more hopeful than in any other and more densely populated States. We want you to investigate conditions and satisfy yourself of the truth of these statements.

On February 1st and 2nd and March 1st and 2nd, the M. K. & T. Ry. will sell excursion tickets from St. Louis, Hannibal and Kansas City to Indian Territory, Oklahoma and Central and Eastern Texas.

TORTURING PAIN. Half This Man's Sufferings Would Have Killed Many a Person, But Doan's Kidney Pills Cured Him.

A. C. Sprague, stock dealer, of Normal, Ill., writes: "For two whole years I was doing nothing but buying medicines to cure my kidneys. I do not think that any man ever suffered as I did until I took Doan's Kidney Pills. The pain in my back was so bad that I could not sleep at night. I could not ride a horse, and sometimes I was unable even to walk. My condition was critical when I sent for Doan's Kidney Pills. I used three boxes and they cured me. Now I can go anywhere and do as much as anybody. I sleep well and feel no pain in my back."

NEW ORLEANS WINE CELLAR

Fine After Dinner Tails That Lacked the Element of Geographical Experience.

A lady newly arrived in Washington, of great wealth, was one day in a low nightgown and amiable, every body by telling the brand and vintage of the wine without seeing the bottle or label, says a Washington correspondent of the New York World.

"How can you do it?" she was asked. "Oh," she replied, "I was born in New Orleans, you know, and was raised there. When I was a slip of a girl, my father took me down into his great wine cellar under the house and show me the dusty bottles. He taught me all about wines and in those gloomy caves."

"After the dinner the hostess said to her husband: "Wasn't it interesting to hear Mrs. South So tell about her father's wine cellars?" "Great!" cried the bristly husband. "Absolutely great!" It was simply fine. You know, there isn't a cellar in New Orleans."

His Favorite Instrument.
"The tout ensemble of the orchestra is remarkably good," remarked Mr. Newcomb's host the box party. "Don't you think so?"

"You bet it is," responded Mr. Newcomb enthusiastically. "I am simply fine that's play it," slide it back and forth—looks as if he was swelling it."—Cleveland Leader.

Homebuilder Yellow Dent Corn grows like a weed and yields from 100 to 200 bushels and more per acre! It's the biggest yielder on earth!

BEAUTIFUL WOMEN

HOW THEY MAINTAIN THE CHARM OF THEIR SEX.
The Importance that Attaches to the Care of the Blood if One Wants Bright Eyes and a Clear Complexion.

Every sensible woman naturally wishes to appear attractive. She knows the value of bright eyes, delicate complexion and lively spirits. She knows also that good health is at the basis of her charms, and that good blood is the source of good health.

Miss Mammie Conway has a complexion which is the admiration of all who know her. Asked if she could make any suggestions that would be helpful to others less fortunate, she said:

"My complexion would not have pleased you, if you had seen it two years ago. It was then about as bad as it could be, and I gave me a great deal of dissatisfaction. If you want a good complexion you must take care of your health, especially of the condition of your blood. My health was at that time completely broken down. I was nervous, had frequent headaches, a torpid liver, and a great deal of pain in that region. I suffered also from indigestion. It was clear that my blood was in bad condition for pimples broke out all over my face."

"It is hard to realize that, for there isn't the slightest trace of such blemishes now."

"It was unfortunately quite otherwise then, and a long time passed before I found anything that gave me any relief. I became very weak and listless. The doctor's medicine did me no good, and I took a number of highly recommended tonics with no better result. As soon, however, as I began to use Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People my complexion cleared up, and after I had taken two boxes there was not a sign of a pimple left on my face. My cheeks became rosy, I gained flesh and had perfect health ever since."

Boy cheeks and sparkling eyes are merely signs of healthy blood. They have come not only in the case of Miss Conway, whose home is at 1241 East Eighth street, Canton, Ohio, but in the case of hundreds of women for whom Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have made new blood. There is no surer way for you to obtain them, than to try a box of these pills on any drug store and try them for yourself. They correct irregularities and banish weakness.

IMPROVED COW STALL
An Arrangement Devised by Geo. E. Scott Which is Most Convenient and Safe.

In response to several requests we again present illustrations and description of George E. Scott's cow stall. Fig. 1 shows the stall looking down. Fig. 2 is a cross-section or side view. Length of platform from ditch to feed alley, 61 1/2 feet for a 1,000-pound cow. Manger, 7 1/2 inches wide. The bottom lifted from platform on two 3x3 standing running full length of stable. In range board facing the cow, 21 inches wide, seven inches above platform. Top edge ten inches above platform. Posts are 2x4, and five feet high. Bottom of manger and sides up 3 1/2 feet long, back to 2x4.

THE IMPROVED COW STALL

standing that reach to the ceiling above. Side partitions four feet high from platform. Sills, three feet three inches wide for 1,000-pound cow. Two of manger (to be 18 inches wide. All the feet is put in here, and it slides down the incline to the bottom of manger. The feet is set in front on 2x4 inch five-foot adding, prevents roughage from getting into the manger or stall. The horizontal bars are put on side next to manger, on 2x4 inch wood, and on the side next to the cow on an 850-pound cow. For young cattle, put on another 2x4 and put the fence on next to the animal, thus forcing her to stand at edge of ditch. Ditch is nine inches deep and sixteen inches wide, made water-tight. Platform can be made of plank or cement. The mangers above feed trough are made open the whole length so that corn stover, etc., can be distributed without interfering with the cow. The platform high from bottom of feed trough, so that grain or cut feed cannot get into the next cow's trough.

MODERN MILK BUSINESS.

Conducted on an Entirely Different Plan from That of a Few Years Ago.

In a talk to farmers, Ira O. Johnson, of Michigan, said. The modern milk business is becoming a very different business than the ancient. Since the teachings of our bacteriologists have come to be recognized as who milk is a dirty job and can be produced, and the relation of the keep-keep qualities and healthfulness of milk to cleanliness can be measured by bacteriological tests, the standard of the milk for city consumption has been materially raised. While there is a great chance for improvement in general, in nearly every city of any size there will be found some one catering to the best class of customers.

The demand for a better grade of milk is constantly increasing, as the people are becoming more and more aware of the fact that there is a liability to contract disease of the use of filthy milk. In the past, our dairy schools have made a great effort to turn out men who could select a good cow, and feed balanced rations that would make a good record for the cow or herd by getting a large flow of milk. While such conditions are desirable and necessary, I am of the opinion that instructions along the lines of cleanliness in milk production should be given more prominence. The man who can produce milk which will sell from 50 to 100 per cent. more than the ordinary product on the market is doing humanely more good, getting just as well paid for his labor, besides having the satisfaction of knowing that he is helping to raise the standard of the dairy business, and make it what it should be, a profession, instead of what it is generally considered, something that anyone can do if they are not qualified for anything else.

Poor Milk Pails.
An occasional creamery patron is found who uses galvanized iron milk pails. In this case of ware should never be used in connection with the milk and cream. The surface is difficult to keep clean, and under the most careful methods will become covered with a coating of dirt, and so on, which is highly injurious to the milk. There is nothing better than tin for milk utensils.—Midland Farmer.

Water Best to Leave Alone.
Creeps, ponds, springs and ordinary wells are all affected more or less by washing and seepage from the adjacent soil, which is nearly always permeated by decaying vegetable matter. Water from such is not suitable for use in butter making.

The Young Cow.
The young cow seldom shows what is in her, especially during lactation. It follows the lead of her first calf. If it follows the lead of her first calf for two or three years after that it readily demonstrates the value of the common cow, though here and there a cow may develop earlier.

MILK FEVER.

Sure Safe Treatment of This Disease Makes It No Longer Dreaded.

For many years nearly every dairyman has occasionally felt a "blue spell" when suddenly confronted with the sight of his best cow with milk fever. No many farmers have had cows with this dread disease that the majority have usually given up each individual case as practically hopeless from the time the cow is first attacked. This is not nearly everywhere, they have no need to dread these attacks any longer.

The disease is really "parturient paralysis" or apoplexy, following parturition. It usually attacks the largest and richest milkers in the herd. Our own extensive livestock experience in various portions of the country we have seen several valuable cows die in a few hours after an attack.

Several farmers have directed the Rural Advocate to give specific directions for applying the new air treatment to a cow that is found flat and helpless with this disease. Our plan is as follows: Get some straw or other convenient material and prop up the cow in the most comfortable position possible. It is better if she can rest more or less naturally on her breast bone.

Next milk the udder and wash both sides and the teat with a five percent solution of carbolic hot water. This will disinfect everything that is in contact with the teat, including the cow's hands, pump, milk tube, etc.

Carefully insert the milk tube into one teat, having previously smeared the end of the tube with carbolic vaseline. Pump carefully and steadily until the quarter is well distended. Then connect the teat and the test with one hand and work the gas up into the milk gland tissue by massaging upward with the other hand. Do not be afraid. The moderate dose of the udder does not seem to injure the cow in any way, as it causes no inflammation or suppurative of the milk flow. Repeat this operation with each teat and quarter.

If the cow does not improve, or if it her head, within six or eight hours, repeat this air injection. Usually one treatment is sufficient. Do not give any laxative or tonic, by way of the mouth, while the cow is in this helpless condition, as there is danger of strangulation from the liquid getting into the lungs.

After the cow gets up, a moderate dose of epsom salts may be given, if there is a tendency to constipation. A moderate dose for a cow weighing 1,000 pounds, or a little less, is about two pounds of epsom salts, to which may be added from one to two ounces of beef Jamaica ginger. Give gradually as you go, at a temperature of about 100 degrees or over.

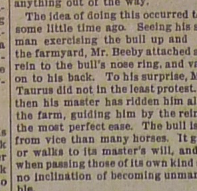

Some farmers have used an ordinary bicycle pump without any milking tube attached, but it is much better, easier and safer to use the special tube.

A RIDABLE BULL.

Remarkable Animal Which Is Owned by a Stockman of Kingstone, Derby, England.

Not everyone would care to ride on a bull's back. In fact, there are few people who ride within six feet of a bull. One exception is that of a boy, except from the opposite side of a gate or fence.

Yet Mr. Walter Beaby, of Kingstone, Derby, treats his bull as if it were a horse.

THE BULL AND HIS RIDER.

The idea of doing this occurred to him some little time ago. Seeing his stockman exercising the bull up and down the farmyard, Mr. Beaby attached a light rein to the bull's nose ring, and vaulted on to his back. To his surprise, Master Taurus did not in the least protest. Since then his master has ridden him all over the farm, guiding him by the rein with the most perfect ease. The bull is free from the reins, and man and horse, or walks to its master's will, and even when passing those of its own kind shows no inclination of becoming unmanageable.

FACTS FOR DAIRYMEN.

English imports of butter have doubled in 13 years, and are now valued at about $100,000,000 a year.

When the cows are allowed to have their calves run with them, they should be stripped twice a day to keep up their milking qualities.

In order to secure all of the cream, milk must be kept sweet for 12 hours with the temperature as low as 50 degrees unless a separator is used.—American Dairymen.

POINTS ON APPENDICITIS.

Jersey School Superintendent Turns Loose on Vermifern Mis-information.

Many a layman has been "stumped" in trying to master the intricacies of the vermifern appendix. But let every body take heart, says the New York Sun.

The appendix is a vermifern, naturally, recently the superintendent of public schools was visiting a grade while a wasp physiology was being demonstrated. The teacher was explaining the construction of the vermifern, and he compared it to a string of beads in order to show its connection with the appendix for further illumination.

When the lesson was finished, the superintendent suggested that a most important feature of the spinal column had not been explained.

"It is this curious pointed section at the end of the spine," he said, "ending at the vertebral column, which is called the vermifern appendix. You see, all heads of appendicitis 'very good. Well, that is the name given to a disease which is caused by an inflammation of the appendix. An operation for appendicitis means an operation of the useless appendix."

When the superintendent of public schools in that suburban New Jersey town.

Help for Women Passing Through Change of Life

Providence has allotted us each at least seventy years in which to fulfill our mission in life, and it is generally our own fault if we die prematurely.

Mrs. Mary Koehne

Nervous exhaustion invites disease. This statement is the positive truth. When everything becomes a burden and you cannot walk a few blocks without excessive fatigue, and your face goes into perspiration easily, and your face flushes, and you grow excited and shaky at the least provocation, and all this, you are in danger; your nerves have given out; you need building up at once! To build up woman's nervous system and during the period of change of life, you need no better medicine than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Here is an illustration. Mrs. Mary L. Koehne, 371 Garfield Avenue, Chicago, Ill., writes:

I have used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for years in my family, and it never disappoints, so when I felt that I was suffering from nervous exhaustion, I bought a bottle of it. I took in all about six bottles, and it did me a great deal of good. I stopped my dizzy spells, pains in my back and the headaches with which I had suffered for months before taking the Compound. I feel that if it had not been for this great remedy for women that I should not have been able to-day. It is splendid for women, old or young, and will surely cure all female disorders.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., invites all sick and ailing women to write her for advice. Her great experience is at their service, free of cost.

Good intentions are often too good to be true.—N. Y. Times.

Truths that Strike Home

Your grocer is honest and—if he cares to do so—can tell you that he knows very little about the bulk coffee he sells you. How can he know, where it originally came from, how it was blended—or with what—or when roasted? If you buy your coffee loose by the pound, you expect purity and uniform quality?

LION COFFEE, the LEADER OF ALL PACKAGE COFFEES, is of necessity uniform in quality, strength and flavor. For OVER A QUARTER OF A CENTURY, LION COFFEE has been the standard coffee in millions of homes.

LION COFFEE is carefully packed at our factories, and until opened by your home, has no chance of being adulterated, or of coming in contact with dust, dirt, germs, or unclean hands.

In each package of LION COFFEE you get one full pound of Pure Coffee. Insist upon getting the genuine. (Lion head on every package.) (Save the Lion-heads for valuable premiums.)
