DISTRICT COURT CONVENES.

List of Cases and Their Disposition.
The O'Malley Case Will Not be Heard. Civil Cases Settled.

The annual spring term of the District Court convened at the court house Tuesday with Judge F. M. Crosby, of Hastings, presiding. A large attendance has been present at the Court each day and the interest shown has not diminished up to the present time. All of the jury cases in the Civil Calendar have been settled, while others not yet acted upon will be settled by the Court. The criminal cases will be tried today after which the jury will be dismissed.

The State vs. Chas. O'Malley promised to be the most interesting case to be tried at this session of the Court but demurrers have been interposed to the three indictments against O'Malley and the case will not be heard. The demurrers will probably be heard today. Mr. O'Malley was indicted by the grand jury on charge of substituting ballots at the village election in Hinckley this spring.

The cases against Ed. Smith and Clarence Dickensson are for forgery. They are charged with raising and passing checks at Sandstone last winter and 3 indictments were returned against them by the grand jury for forgery in the first degree. They are both young fellows and it is expected, they will both receive reformatory sentences.

The civil cases, together with their names and findings, are as follows:

CROWD FOR THE OUTING.

Northwestern Shoe and Leather Association Expects More of a Turnout for the Summer Meet.

PINE CITY FAIR A SUCCESS.

The Auction Sale Proved a Bargain Sale. The Day was Beautiful and a Large Crowd Attended.

The Northwestern Shoe and Leather Association is making early preparations for the summer outing and is preparing to have more of a crowd attend than usual. A low rate is to be secured from the railroad company, and it is expected to have a crowd of at least one hundred take the trip. The crowd will leave Saturday night, June 24, on a late train for Pine City, Minn., located about sixty-five miles north of the Twin Cities and about fifty-five miles south from Duluth and Superior. This is a fine place for a summer outing, affording every facility for amusement and sport in the way of fishing, boating, and similar summer amusements.

A low rate at the hotel is offered, and the outing can be covered at an expense for the two days and three nights which it is proposed to spend there, of around $10. An early canvass is to be made for the sale of tickets in order that the required number to secure the low railroad rate, may be assured without delay. It is expected that there will be more retailers from the small stores and through the neighboring cities, take in this outing than has ever been the case heretofore. Inquiries may be addressed to L. L. Thomas, the secretary, care Schuhman & Evans, St. Paul.—The Boot and Shoe Recorder, Boston, Mass.

Several prominent young women of Jones, Mo., are forming themselves into a club to protect themselves from "mashers" with which the town is overrun. The club will have no name, and as the members are preparing to violate a city ordinance they are trying to keep the affair a secret. Profiting by the experiences they or their friends have had recently, they intend to carry pistols when out at night unattended.

American farm machinery is bringing about an agricultural regeneration of rural Russia that the government admits itself powerless to control; for the Russian peasants, who are poor, machinery in farming on a large scale, it is admitted even by the reactionists, is all that can save the country from disastrous famines in the future; fatal to the autocracy than even the introduction of our great labor-saving machinery.

Mme. Zola has offered her late husband's property at Melun to the Assistance Publique, to be used as a convalescent home for the female employees of the Post Office Department. In making the offer to M. Meunier, director of the Assistance Publique, Mme. Zola first proposed that the home should be for needy men of letters and artists, but she was informed that in that case the gift could only be accepted if a sum sufficient for its up-keep formed part of the donation.

The Kashagur, or Tibetan Bible, consists of 108 volumes of 1,000 pages each, containing 1,083 separate books. Each of the volumes weighs 26 pounds, and are packed in boxes 26 inches long, 8 inches broad and 3 inches deep. This Bible requires a dozen yaks for its transport and the carved wooden blocks from which it is printed need rows of houses, like a city, for their storage. A single volume of this pair, 7,000 even for a copy of this Bible. In addition to the Bible there are 225 volumes of commentaries.

With the advent of the new canceling machines, which are now in use in all the large post offices of the country, cancellation of postage stamps is torn and mutilated. An order has gone forward notifying post offices that letters containing an enclosure of a bulky or flexible nature must not be run through the canceling machine, but shall be kept separate and carefully packed. Out of the 100,000 stamps sent from the Livermore stamp postmasters at first class offices are allowed care fare for the messengers who carry them.

Fire drills have become an established feature in many of the public schools of the country, especially so. And why not an occasional drill of the same kind in homes, especially in city homes and those where there are large families of children and servants? Occasional practice of this kind, a little instruction in medical care, and such as may be done at any time in any household, would render less frequent those all too frequent instances where babies are thrown out of windows and cats are carelessly carried down stairs.

There are two forms of criminal activity in which the United States enjoys an enviable distinction. One of them is lynching and the other is train-robbing. Both are equally odious and equally abhorrent to the good name of the nation. Lynching is an offense against civilization which can be committed by any individual state, but train-robbing is a crime which the federal government is compelled to commit as the most authoritative, and both acting together should be able to make them much less frequent than formerly.

MUST RESPECT NEUTRALITY.

Russian Government Sends Instructions to Rojestvensky—Reply to Japan's Protest.

Paris, April 25.—As a result of communication between the governments at Paris and St. Petersburg the Russian government has forwarded urgent orders to Admiral Rojestvensky to rigorously respect the neutrality of French waters. This is a precautionary measure. In addition special instructions were given to the French minister at Tokio to give the Japanese minister of foreign affairs assurances that it is France's purpose to preserve strict neutrality, these being similar to the assurances given to Dr. Moton, the Japanese minister at Paris.

A telegram received here from St. Petersburg has ordered to be of official origin, says:

"The Russian admiralty has notified Admiral Rojestvensky of the grave danger to peace which will be entailed if the stay of his squadron off the coast of Annam is prolonged contrary to the laws of neutrality. No doubt is entertained that the admiral will carry out the formal instructions sent to him."

that from a slight indiscretion in his eating there, he suffered an attack of indigestion. Since his return to his home his condition grew steadily worse, with slight rallies, until the end.

Dean of the Profession.

Joseph Jefferson was born in Philadelphia February 20, 1829, and was looked upon as the dean of the dramatic profession in this country. He first studied law, but gave it up, and during his career has played in a number of foreign countries. His great reputation was made in Rip Van Winkle, which he played in almost every city in the United States. Up to 1857 Mr. Jefferson is said to have merely been a member of a company of specie stage actors, but in that year he became associated with Laura Keene's theater, in New York city. Mr. Jefferson here became prominent in the role of Am. Trenchard in "Our American Cousin." This play ran for 350 nights. Other characters portrayed were "W. W. Fenton" in "Nero," "Nickelby," Caleb Plummer in "The Cricket on the Hearth," Dr. Pangloss in "The Heir-at-Law," Bob Acres in "The Rivals," and Dr. Ollapod in the "Poor Gentleman."

ORVILLE H. PLATT.

United States Senator from Connecticut Victim of Pneumonia.

Washington, Conn., April 22.—United States Senator Orville Hitchcock Platt, of Connecticut, died at his summer home in this his native town, at 4:33 Friday night from pneumonia.

SENATOR O. H. PLATT.

The end came almost unexpectedly, the immediate cause being the breaking of a blood vessel which had formed in the right lung and which produced strangulation.

The Dead Statesman.

Senator Platt was first elected to the Senate in 1879 to succeed Senator W. F. Gannett, who had been elected to fill the vacancy caused by the death of Senator Orvis S. Ferry, a republican. His last reelection was in 1892. Senator Platt's last public utterance was at the state capital on March 25, when, before the general assembly, he paid a tribute to Senator Gen. Hawley, whose body lay in state in the corridor below. He spoke as if from a heart that was overflowing with grief and words that touched deeply all who heard him.

During his long service of 16 years the senator had taken an active part in the proceedings of the upper branch of congress, has filled many important committee assignments and demonstrated his capacity in handling and conducting investigations of national interest. He was chairman of the committee on foreign relations, and, in addition, a member of the committee on Indian affairs, and took an active part in arranging the admission of the state of Montana to the Union. Senator Platt frequently was called to the Senate to advise temporally over the sessions of the senate, and during the Seward impeachment trials at the last session sat throughout the trial as the presiding officer or judge of the court.

PINE COUNTY PIONEER.

ED. C. GOTTRY, Editor and Prop.

Entered in the Post Office at Pine City as Second Class Matter.

PINE CITY, MINN. April 28, 1905.

That Name "Clover."

Its dollars to doughnuts that the name "Pine" will stick to this country through thick and thin and that "Clover" will not even get a "look-in," unless fifty-five percent of the vote cast last fall is represented upon a petition signed and presented to the honorable board of county commissioners praying that such change shall be made. The prayer of the petition need not necessarily be for the name "Clover." Any name, that is adaptable and suitable to this little section of Mamma Earth, could be chosen.

Many are in favor of changing the name—even to naming it Clover as the land companies dictated—and give as their reason the great unattractiveness of its present appellation. Land seekers, they claim, do not wish to locate upon land that is studded with pine as the name would tend to indicate.

The land lords now have the land that once was the property of the lumber barons and they wish to gain a suggestive name and therefore took the initial step by having a general law passed making it possible to change the name of their property or any other in the state.

Tis true, clover is grown in great abundance in this county, which goes to show that we are in the land of wonderful fertility.

The anti-changeites' wish for naught in the line of christening. They are satisfied with its present name, have been satisfied with the name in the past and claim they always will be. Nowsetters are coming into this country fast and therefore land is being taken up rapidly. Could "Clover" do quicker work? We hardly think so and therefore feel safe in saying that if land agents, in representing these lands, can induce farm hopefuls and old stagers to buy Pine county property, then why necessitate the expense of casting off the old for the purpose of giving way to a new name, which will in all probability take years and years to become accustomed to.

If this county was literally named to death, as one of our worthy contemporaries asserts, let us have a resurrection; but on the other hand, if we find that the country can sustain its present prosperity and growth under its present title, let us continue to bear up under the burden."

One or two land companies wish to dictate what name should be appropriated for this county, they wished to rechristen this county "Clover" through an act of the legislature which, it was learned, could not have been legal without a change in the statutes. Then the only clear way was to make the law a general one. This has been done. It is now up to those land lords and their followers to see who's who and to learn why some people cannot undergo the "pleasure" of corporate influence and "Tammamy" dictation.

Eye the Capitol.

Do you know how the Representative from your district conducts himself in Washington? Do you know how your State Assemblymen and State Senators conduct themselves at your State Capital? Yet you have delegated to these three the most important duties and responsibilities that you are charged with. Upon their conduct depends to a great extent the personal welfare of yourself and family.

More than to any other cause the present conditions, political and individual, are due to this failure of the legislative constituents to keep track of their representative's doings and so to bring him to account when he presents himself for reelection. And the chief reason why the politicians so strenuously insist upon "party responsibility" is lost, in the absence of "party responsibility," the people would begin to educate themselves to follow the doings of their delegates.

It is not easy to devise a way to make a member responsible to his constituents. If the reader of every newspaper would insist that it publish in each issue the latest voting and failures to vote of their Congressmen and their State Senators and Assemblymen, a glaring might be made in the right direction.—Saturday Evening Post.

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT, who has accepted an invitation to visit Chicago in May, will find it rather tame in comparison to the rough, shod, informal, hunting trip he is enjoying at the present time in the "wilds" of Colorado.

Some people seem never to tire of being defeated in any project. And those are the ones who always win out in the end or are removed from the shelf never to be replaced.

A GREAT deal of courting is transpiring at the county house this week.

COMMERCIAL CLUB.

Nothing of great importance was transacted at the Commercial club meeting at the Claggett bank last Monday evening.

The Committee on by-laws presented a report and their drawings but they were not adopted and suggestions were made to change them somewhat.

It was decided to hold meetings on the first and third Mondays of each month.

The next meeting will be held next Monday evening when all those present who sign the roll will be admitted as charter members. Every business man in Pine City is respectfully urged to be present and lend a helping hand.

Tuxedo Housekeeper Arrives.

Thursday's morning train brought a lady of rather distinguished appearance, but gracious bearing, who brought the following letter:

To Col. Jno. F. Stone, treasurer; Mrs. Cooley; or to whom these presents, may come.

Greeting:
This will introduce to your favorable regard and confidence Mrs. Agnes W. Case, late housekeeper of Hotel Crookston, Crookston, Minn. A lady of sterling character and tried ability. We trust she will fill the intricate and manifold duties of hotel work, and who will, I think, prove an active and vigorous element in the working force of the Tuxedo Club.

Truly yours,

John Penhiter went to work in Pine City Monday.

Work has begun on the road near the Hustleton school house.

Clarence and Alice Daley spent Sunday evening at Mr. Lahart's.

Mrs. Lois Fuhrman returned to her school Monday, after a two weeks vacation.

A large number attended the Easter program at the school house Sunday evening.

Miss Anna Penhiter went to Sandstone Friday to spend Easter with her sister, Miss Kate.

Presiding Elder Clemens preached in the school house Friday evening to a good sized audience.

Geo. Goedel bid his friends farewell Saturday, and on Monday returned to his home at Barcum.

The sociable held Monday evening was a decided success both financially and socially, and those having it in charge wish to thank all those who so kindly donated toward it.

There has been a number of big fires raging through here this week doing much damage to the green timber. Parties starting these fires had better read the fire notices and see if they live up to the law.

School Notes.

Tillie Petzke is now a member of the 8th grade.

Extensive preparations are being made in the grades to observe Arbor day.

The higher algebra class has just completed the review of the elementary work.

The Juniors and Seniors are hustling these days for commencement money. A supper at the G. A. R. hall was the attraction this week.

The Vergil class are nearly through the advance work of the year which has included one more book than is read by the Virgil class of one of best high schools of the Twin cities. They are doing excellent work.

The work of the school goes merrily on. Some of the classes have already begun to review preparatory to the final tests of the year. If diligent work is done during the next few weeks, there are few who will not deserve promotion; but the standard of excellence required in the schools of this state is so high that there are just a few who can be assured of promotion without putting forth their best efforts.

Night Fighting Thieves.

Croup and Whooping Cough come like a thief in the night, stealing in to fasten the fangs of mortal disease upon the children as they peacefully sleep in their little beds. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar, the new discovery for Coughs and Colds, will drive out these death-dealing demons before the doctor can arrive. It protects the lives and health of the little ones. About Rheumatism.

There are few diseases that inflict more torture than rheumatism, and there is probably no disease for which such a varied and useless host of remedies have been concocted. To say that such can be cured is therefore a bold statement to make, but Chamberlain's Pain Balm, which enjoys an extensive sale, has won with great success in the treatment of this disease. One application of Pain Balm will relieve the pain, and hundreds of sufferers have testified to permanent cures by its use. Why suffer when Pain Balm affords such quick relief and costs but a piffee? For sale by L. E. Breckenridge.
