Peter Knudson Dies. The remains of Peter Knudson were laid to rest in Brookpark cemetery Wednesday afternoon. The funeral services were conducted by Mr. Haugen.

The first movement toward a creamery should be to increase the number of cows and get the land cleared to grow feed for them. It will hardly pay to build a creamery unless it can be operated the year around, and to do this the cows must be fed in winter...

GUARD your health by using Pure Flour Only. The most healthful cereal preparation is flour, and the most healthful flour is that MADE IN PINE CITY. It is milled by the finest machinery in the world, which is a guarantee of its purity and excellence.

Sugari Sugar! 25 pound of Granulated Sugar for $1.00 with Cash order for $5.00 or more of other goods at one time. At the Big Store.

Mr. Knudson had been sick last January and suffered from a complication of diseases. He was born in Denmark and was 78 years old at the time of his death. His wife died several years ago and no children are left to mourn his demise.

We can reach the creamery only through progressive steps in our farming as it is. Get the land cleared—raise the cows—in the meantime the tractor must be disposed of to the best possible advantage. We must see a little profit in dairying as it is to make greater effort. In the next bulletin I will take up the subject of making butter on the farm.

SUMMARY OF A WEEK'S EVENTS

MOST IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS AT HOME AND ABROAD IN CONDENSED FORM

THE WAR IN THE FAR EAST

Progress of Hostilities Between Russia and Japan—Doings at Washington—Items of Interest From All Over the World.

RUSSO-JAPANESE WAR.

M. Nelidoff, Russian ambassador to Paris, has been definitely appointed one of the Russian plenipotentiaries to Russia. It is learned, and no objection to August 1, as suggested by Japan, for the date of the meeting of the plenipotentiaries, and negotiations will be sent to Ambassador Cassini to accept it.

President Roosevelt has learned through diplomatic "leak" here and at St. Petersburg that Russia will not ask an armistice. Russia's disinclination to take the first step renders it impossible that an armistice will be concluded before the peace envoys meet in Washington.

Reports to St. Petersburg from the seat of war say the Russian army, threatened with a flanking movement, is retreating hurriedly. A German war expert says the percentage of losses of the Russians has been unusually high, due to heavy artillery used by the Japanese.

THE CHICAGO STRIKE.

Bernard F. Weber told the Chicago grand jury of a $50,000 bribe paid by the Illinois Brick company for the purpose of settling labor troubles during 1904.

NEWS OF MINNESOTA.

New Towns in North Dakota. North Dakota is having somewhat of a boom in railroad building. There is now building from the main line of the Great Northern railway, four extensions, which will give an additional area of splendid agricultural land.

We refer to the Sables, of the Edmore branch, running from Minnehah to Sables. The Sables extension, which will run from York through Benson, Pierce and Bolete counties. The Maxbass extension which will run from Tower northwest through MeHenry and Hennepin counties, and a further extension of the Westlope line to Antler. The building of this branch will bring into view a number of small towns.

On the Sables extension, the new towns will be known as Clyde, Cairn and Sables, and opportunities for almost every form of business will exist. The prediction that these three new towns will become important points in the near future.

On the Thorne extension the new towns will be known as Thorne, McComber and Thorne, which will also afford opportunity for the investment of capital.

The Maxbass extension new towns are Henry, Upham, Deep, Newburg and Maxbass.

These towns will also offer an opportunity for investment of capital, and the establishment of business enterprises in almost every direction.

Mr. D. N. Tallman, president of the Dakota Development company of Wilmar, Minn., says that the demand for lines in these new towns has been very good and predicts a bright future for every one of them.

Ditches. St. Paul.—Contracts for the construction of three new ditches, which when completed will drain several thousand acres of state lands, were let by the state drainage board.

A meeting was held in Governor Johnson's office and several bidders from the northern part of the state were present.

The work, as outlined by the granting of these bids, will take practically all of the funds now available for such work.

The contract for the construction of the Wing River ditch in Otter Tail county, for the contract price is 1140 cents per cubic foot.

The Standard Ditch Company of Windom offered the contract to construct the Wadena ditch. The contract price is 1150 cents per cubic foot.

The contract for the construction of the Klamath ditch in Adams county was awarded to John Kohler at 1440 cents per cubic foot.

Full Base Ball. Minneapolis.—Earl Dagnault, 30 years of age, reading with his father, brothers and sister, at 2201 Twenty-first avenue SE, was almost instantly killed by being hit in the region of the heart with a pitched ball while playing a game of baseball on the university campus.

The pitcher who sent young Dagnault to almost instant death was Martin H. Schroeder, 2201 Twenty-first avenue SE, playing upon the Harrison & Smith Printing company's team.

The teams opposed to each other were those of the American Bridge company and Harrison & Smith, and the accident happened at the close of the third inning.

Best Sugar Factory. Faribault.—A proposition has been made to reorganize the Faribault Commercial club by twin city capitalists, which will probably result in the establishment here of a large best-sugar factory. It is estimated that it is necessary for the Commercial club to do so secure from farmers within a radius of fifty miles from Faribault contracts for 1,000,000 acres of beets at a price which would prove profitable.

News Notes. St. Paul.—An attempt by burglars to blow a safe on Robert street is frustrated.

BOY MILLIONAIRE TO SEARCH FOR POLE

Aim in Life of William Ziegler, Jr., Is to Realize Ambition of His Foster Father.

YOUTH UNSPOILED BY FABULOUS WEALTH

Inherits $30,000,000 Through Death of His Uncle—Will Go Through College and Then Take Up Arctic Exploration—Slowly Recovering from a Serious Injury.

New York.—Through the will of his uncle a 14-year-old boy has come into a fortune of $30,000,000. The uncle is William Ziegler, the millionaire manufacturer of Noroton, Conn., making powder, king and projector of arctic expeditions, who died a short time ago. The fortunate youth is William Ziegler, Jr., his adopted son. Although but a child in years, young Ziegler has been unspooled by the sudden inheritance of the fabulous wealth. By the time he becomes of age the estate will have grown to more than $40,000,000. His income now is $1,000,000 a year. He is the richest boy in his years in the world and he will be among the world's richest men.

The boy has been brought up to understand that he is the son of the man who fitted out polar expeditions. His books are volumes dealing with adventure in the far north seas. He has been made to understand that it was always his father's wish to have one of his expeditions locate the north pole.

Wealth No Handicap.
To some 14-year-old boys a fortune of $30,000,000 would be a terrible handicap. To young Ziegler the money promises to be anything but a drawback, for the boy, few in years though he is, seems thoroughly to appreciate his unique position, to understand the responsibilities connected with the possession of so much wealth and what is infinitely better, to have formed a definite object in life, toward the gaining of which he proposes to devote the millions left to him.

He is a many little fellow, ambitious to achieve heroic adventures. This is an ambition which the cherished dream of his foster father makes it possible for him to realize. He begins his now with millions and a mission, for he is the boy who must discover the north pole.

The task is not imposed upon him in the will, nor is it even specified that he must prosecute the search for the Fiala expedition lost in the frozen north. But the boy is thoroughly imbued with the spirit of the elder Ziegler.

On March 21 Ziegler came home with two schoolmates in the Browning school. The boys anticipated the coming of All Pools' day. Several jokes had been planned for the benefit of Mr. Ziegler's valet. The valet slept in the room with the boys, on a cot between the brass beds. The day had hardly begun when Ziegler awoke his companions. The valet was asleep, but he awoke quickly, a victim of the youthful jokers.

Ziegler grabbed a pillow and the fight began. The instigator of the sham battle was soon exhausted and sat on the edge of the cot to rest. One of his friends jumped on him. Ziegler was severely torn by a long iron hook on the cot and fell wounded. From that moment he has been ill.

But health is gradually returning. Mrs. Ziegler, the widow of the millionaire, and as loving a mother as a small boy could wish for, was afraid that he would not like to talk.

When the boys began to talk of Mr. Ziegler's death that I believe it possible for a boy of his age to be," she said. "He was very fond of my husband; in fact, the two were always more like chums than father and son. During the early part of Willie's illness, before Mr. Ziegler suffered the accident that resulted in his death, Mr. Ziegler spent a great deal of time talking to him, their conversation having a lot to do with Arctic exploration, in which Willie took as great an interest as he did. I do not know whether I entirely like the idea of his making that his life aim, but that is his long time between now and the day that he shall attain his majority, and, perhaps, she spoke as though in the hope that time would change the little fellow's determination; but the hope seemed to vanish as quickly as it came, for Mrs. Ziegler added:

"No, I don't believe he will change. He is a deep little fellow, and when he once gets an idea he is steadfast in carrying it out. Especially true do I think that will be in this case, for his love of Mr. Ziegler, if nothing else, would be incentive enough to keep the matter constantly in his mind. But you may talk to him yourself for a little while."

The room occupied by Willie Ziegler faces Long Island sound. The house is a long distance from the shore, on a high point of land which stretches away to the beach. From the windows a clear view of the water is given, and on this stormy, dark day the sea was foaming and ugly. Yet the little boy, propped up in his bed near the window, was looking out on the waves as his visitor entered, and there was no sign that the bleakness of the sea had affected his youthful spirits in any way.

"So you are the fortunate young man with a fortune of millions of dollars?" said the reporter, as the boy turned toward him. Willie only smiled, as though the matter of vast possessions was of no consequence to him.

Does North When Twenty-One.
"I don't know anything much about that," he said. "I only know that I wish it was a pleasant day, so that I could go out for a drive. I've been laid up here for two months and over, and now that it's vacation I'd like to go out. The doctor was going to let me out to-day if it was not raining. In a few days I'll be able to walk."

"But it will be some time before you start on your Arctic expedition, won't it?"
"Not so long, perhaps, though I sailing away, and pictures himself as on one of them, some day, with her prow pointed to the north.

"There is something pathetic behind all this. Yet pathos and romance have governed the whole career of this little boy, who was not the child of the man whom he knew as his father, except by adoption. The baby was born William Brandt, his father being a half-brother of Mr. Ziegler. At an early age it became necessary for relatives to assume the support of one or more of the children, and Mr. Ziegler took the little boy. He and his wife were childless, and the little child at once filled the vacant crevices in their hearts as fully as their own could have done. He returned the affection and between him and his foster father grew a love that was noticeable to the merest stranger.

Shared Father's Confidences.
They were inseparable, the millionaire and the schoolboy, and when, a few years ago, William Ziegler began to crave the distinction of being the founder of an expedition that should find the north pole, the lad was one of the few who shared his confidences, who listened to his ambitions and sympathized with him in his desires.

To a reporter, who saw him at the Ziegler home at Noroton point one day recently, the boy was as communicative as could be expected of one weakened by more than two months of suffering.

Sure Pole Will Be Found.
"Mr. Fiala's expedition may have succeeded for all that is known," replied the boy. "But I don't think so. My father's plans would not be called failures if it did not reach the pole, or, in fact, if several expeditions failed to do this. Finally, though after several expeditions have got further and further toward the pole, one will reach it. I would like to be the one to do it."

The pale, wax face lit up with a worthy ambition, and the little boy, which needs only the sunshine and the healing time to become as stanch and sturdy as before the accident, seemed to take in renewed vigor as he spoke. It was plain to see how firmly the idea of reaching the north pole has taken possession of this youth.

"Did you and your father arrange any definite plans for reaching the north pole?" he was asked.

"We talked over it many times and in many ways. But there is nothing absolutely certain about it, for people do not know much about the geography up there. By the time I am ready to go, though, there will be improvements in ships and more will be known, so that conditions will be different. I shall study all about it and follow everything connected with Arctic discovery."

"You have already read much about the north?"
"I have read a great deal, all that has been given to me; but most of what I know I have learned from my father who had studied the matter thoroughly."

"What good do you think the discovery of the pole would be for humanity?"
"Lots of good. It might show us a new passage in the northern seas, or anything that is good for science is good for everybody everywhere. There would be the glory of doing what so many others have tried to do and failed."

Will Go Through College.
"In the meantime, before you become all that are you going to do?"
"Go to college. I am advanced enough already, they say, to take the preliminary examinations for Columbia, but I shall not be allowed to sit next year. Then, when I am 16, I hope to enter and take a thorough course."

Your fortune—have you thought what you will do with that?"
"It doesn't seem like anything real to me, for I couldn't use much money, anyway, could I? I suppose when I grow up I'll find I am very rich, and then I shall try to do as much good as I can. How in every way I can think of."

Where Matter Wins.
"Lion Tamer—There's only one kind of an animal that can't be tamed by the power of mind over matter."
"Public Enquirer—What that?"
"Lion Tamer—A mule.—Detroit Free Press."

Always Mentioned.
Little Girl—Did the newspaper reporters notice your papa was at the great banquet last night?
Little Boy—Yes.
"Mamma said she couldn't find your papa's name in the list."
"No, but the list ends up with 'and others.' That means papa. They always mention him that way."—N. Y.

Explained.
"What have you to say to this hair I found on your coat?"
"It's a horse hair."
"But it's a fine hair."
"Yes, it was a fine horse."—Chicago Journal.

Same Sensation.
Gunner—I thought Reifer liked the water. I hear he is going to buy a racing automobile instead of a yacht?
Gayer—Yes; he found the shaking of the automobile would make him seasick just as quick as if he were on a yacht.—Chicago News.

Punishment.
Friend—Was that African potentate you met very severe upon the criminals in his jurisdiction?
Explorer—Oh, yes; sometimes he would cut off a hand, sometimes a head, and in particularly aggravated cases, he would make them wear the clothes the missionary societies send them.—Life.

Compared.
"Most marriages," said the bachelor, "reminde me of jug handles."
"How is that," asked the widow, with not a little curiosity.
"They are one-sided affairs," was the grim reply.—Castell's.

Happy Schooldays.
The Parson—Will, my boy, you seem in a great hurry to get to your school today.
Boy—Yes, sir. Bill Jones is going to get a bird of a kicking this morning for playing hooky, and I don't want to miss it.—Pack.

Long Idleness.
"My poor fellow," said the sympathetic pedestrian to a beggar, "how long have you been out of work?"
"I was born in '65, sir," responded the hearer, respectfully.—Life.

Fitted the Case.
"So the congregation didn't like the preacher and asked him to resign, Uncle Jason?"
"Yes, sah; he wuz what de white folks calls a persona non grata to de church."
"Not persona non grata; that means a person not free, if it means anything. You are a little off on your Latin."
"Not at all, boss. Dat wuz jest de objection t'od at preacher. We didn't pay our las' preacher nothin' an dis one wuz alius insistin' on bein' paid some sort ob salary!"—N. O. Times-Democrat.

A Call-Down.
Should Be Patented.
Dinah—Mandy, wuz' foh you give dat baby a big piece of polk ter chaw on? Don't you-all know the polk chile 'il choke on it?
Mandy—Dinah, don't you see de string tied to dat piece of fat polk? Deudder end's tied to de chile's toe. Ef he chokes he'll kick, an' if he kicks he'll terk de polk out. Ah reckon you-all can't learn me nothin' 'bout bringin' up chillin'!—Cleveland Leader.

A Nice Little Mission for Pa.
"Pa, what's an iconoclast?"
"One who smashes idols."
"I'm one."
"Fahar! No, you're not. You don't understand what I mean."
"Yes, I do. I just busted dat little idol ma paid $150 for and had so much trouble smugglin' through de custom house. You ter her, will you? I've got to go out and see a boy."—Chicago Record-Herald.

Always Mentioned.
Little Girl—Did the newspaper reporters notice your papa was at the great banquet last night?
Little Boy—Yes.
"Mamma said she couldn't find your papa's name in the list."
"No, but the list ends up with 'and others.' That means papa. They always mention him that way."—N. Y.

Diagnosed His Case.
"I suffer horribly from insomnia, doctor," said the patient, "and I frequently have a rummy feeling in the region of my solar plexus."
"Um," said the doctor, "may I ask what is your business?"
"I am a bank cashier."
"Ah, I see. If you can manage to get away I think you would be greatly benefited by an extended trip to New Mexico or Central America."—Brooklyn Life.

Bound to Be Kept.
City Friend—I should like to know how you manage to keep all your books. If I lend a fellow a book, I never see it back again.
Bookworm—When I lend a book I make an entry with the date in the book itself, and another entry in a small ledger that I keep on purpose and—
City Friend—Oh, I see, you keep your books by double entry.—Ally Sloper.

His Tackle.

Won't fish for her with hook and bait, But with a core-net.—Philadelphia Press.

Quite Truagh.
A susceptible chappy is Hugh. Any girl that makes optics gush-gush him with 'em, just Or his marblehearted heart. He aches that he loves eighty-tugh.—Philadelphia Press.

A Thing of Beauty.
Keats had just written "A thing of beauty is a joy forever."
"You're off," said Shelley. "Werent most fat women slight and beautiful ones?"
However, they thought the poor boy might as well be immortalized so let it stand.—Chicago Record-Herald.

Long Idleness.
"My poor fellow," said the sympathetic pedestrian to a beggar, "how long have you been out of work?"
"I was born in '65, sir," responded the hearer, respectfully.—Life.

Happy Schooldays.
The Parson—Will, my boy, you seem in a great hurry to get to your school today.
Boy—Yes, sir. Bill Jones is going to get a bird of a kicking this morning for playing hooky, and I don't want to miss it.—Pack.

Where Matter Wins.

Explained.
"What have you to say to this hair I found on your coat?"
"It's a horse hair."
"But it's a fine hair."
"Yes, it was a fine horse."—Chicago Journal.

Same Sensation.
Gunner—I thought Reifer liked the water. I hear he is going to buy a racing automobile instead of a yacht?
Gayer—Yes; he found the shaking of the automobile would make him seasick just as quick as if he were on a yacht.—Chicago News.

Punishment.
Friend—Was that African potentate you met very severe upon the criminals in his jurisdiction?
Explorer—Oh, yes; sometimes he would cut off a hand, sometimes a head, and in particularly aggravated cases, he would make them wear the clothes the missionary societies send them.—Life.

WILLIAM ZIEGLER

ler, and even now regards the search for the pole as his life work.

Thought Father His Uncle.
His father, George Brandt, whom he has been taught all his life to believe was his uncle, resides in Chicago. Brandt is half-brother to the elder Ziegler. When the boy was a baby his father gave him up to the millionaire, then childless. The baby was legally adopted, and called William Ziegler, and did not know until the death of his foster father that he was other than William Ziegler's son.

The greatest care was taken with the preliminary education, designed to fit him for Columbia university. He will be given a careful business as well as a scientific education, so that he may not only prosecute the biographical research instituted by the elder William Ziegler, but may also be fitted to succeed after the vast business interests intrusted to him.

His home, until he is of age, will be the cheeks thinned by suffering are still the same. The "boy" is forcing the "invalid" into the background. When he is well again he will be the same "Willie" Ziegler, with one difference—when his injury kept him to bed and under the surgeon's knife, he was just a 14-year-old lad, with boyish thoughts and nothing to do but enjoy himself; now he is William Ziegler, the possessor of a colossal fortune and with a definite aim in life.

Definite Aim in Life.
That aim is the discovery of the north pole, the quest that has cost so many valuable lives from the time of Sir John Franklin down to the days of the Jeannette. # News of the Week.

Chips Picked up Around Town and Vicinity.

Carl Brandes was a Brahm visit or last Sunday.

Pine City's population is about 1185 which shows an increase of 102 in five years.

Miss Elizabeth Brackett visited at Grassburg, Wis., last Friday, returning home Saturday.

D. L. Rankin, Sandstone's assessor, returned his books to county auditor Grealey Wednesday.

Mat Erickson, an aged resident of Rock Creek, died yesterday (Thursday) morning. He was 83 years of age at the time of his death.

Leslie Irvine, of Tacoma, Wash., who has been spending a week at the Fritzen home at Pokegama, returned to his home in the West Saturday.

S. M. Witmer, of Minneapolis, traveling representative for the Oliver Typewriter Co., stopped over here Sunday to enjoy an outing at Pokegama.

Capt. E. L. Seavey received a bird dog from S. M. Green of Brook park Wednesday afternoon. The dog is intelligent looking and appears to be a "bird-eye" of a canine.

Oscar Brandes departed for St. Paul yesterday to consult a specialist in regard to his stomach, which has been troubling him of late. We sincerely hope that it is nothing serious.

A. E. Lybolt, representing the Columbian Lyceum Bureau of St. Paul, is in town this week for the purpose of interesting a number of our business men in his Co.'s line of entertainments.

Miss H. Kahler Bigler arrived home last Saturday afternoon from Detroit, Mich., where she went to attend the wedding of a sister and to visit with relatives and old time friends. She reports a very pleasant trip and visit.

The ladies of the M. E. church will serve lunches on the Fourth of July in Smith's new ware house, south of Pennington's store. They will also conduct a booth in the Park where lemonade, ice cream, peanuts and Cracker-Jack will be sold.

Capt. E. H. Holbert and wife arrived Wednesday from Hinckley to review the work on their cottage at St. Elmo. They expect to move there in a week to enjoy the refreshing and invigorating climate of Pokegama lake and surroundings.

Mrs. E. Madison, of Royalton, won the 100-piece set of dishes offered by the Pine City Milling & Elect. Co. A large number of people took part in the contest which opened last March and was closed last Saturday. The set is a very pretty and useful one, and retails at over $15.

A very pleasant surprise party was tendered Mrs. J. F. Holm at her Lake Pokegama cottage last Sunday morning when about fifty of her friends swooped down upon her to spend the day with her. Outdoor sports were indulged in and "a good time in general" was reported.

Miss Clara Gustafson suffered a painful injury at Pokegama lake last Sunday afternoon. While playing with several of her companions she happened to step upon a protruding root and twisted her ankle, and the result is she will be denied the privilege of walking for some time to come. She has the sympathy of her friends who love for her speedy recovery.

Fred Skog, the young man who was taken from Fritzen's sanatorium to Minneapolis last Saturday afternoon, died at his home the following afternoon. Sunday forenoon he dictated a letter which he wished sent to Pine City and asked to have it remain open until he could think of more to write about. He went to sleep and passed peacefully to the great beyond, never awaking to finish his epistle.

Jos. McAnear and Jim McCormick left for their home at St. Paul Tuesday, the latter to be employed on a big job of plumbing at Fort Snelling. They have been assisting with the steam fitting gang at the Hurley hotel during the past five weeks. Messrs. Jas. Healey, the foreman, and Jas. O'Hara will remain for a few days longer after which they expect to leave for Montana, where Healey Bros. have a big contract for plumbing. Their work is practically completed here, and a couple of men from St. Paul will be here to set up the radiators, etc.

Peter Overton, of Sturgeon Lake, was a county seat visitor Monday.

Miss Maggie Henderson visited with friends at Brahm Sunday.

John Jelinek was in Beroun Tuesday to see his brother-in-law who was seriously injured Monday.

Miss Minnie Robie was up from Rush City a few days of this week visiting at the Harle residence.

Messrs. O'Hara, F. M. Smith and John Stoch, jr., spent Sunday at Camp "Beau Not," Pokegama lake.

Misses Julia Nelson and Emma Behring, of Rush City, visited with friends in this place over Sunday.

The members of the Pine City Fire Department are requested to meet at their hall Monday evening at 8 o'clock. D. A. Payne, Chief.

Misses Anna Voss and Laura Cole, who have been teaching in West and East Sturgeon Lake respectively, returned home Saturday last.

Kinney & Pemberton, contractors and builders from Willow River, arrived here last Friday to erect a barn for Max Hoffman, two miles south of this place. The barn will be 32x50 feet and will be strictly modern.

Miss Marie Nelson and G. Rungquist, two of the more prominent young people of Grassburg, were united in the holy bonds of matrimony, last Thursday afternoon. Rev. A. B. Calder performed the ceremony in the M. E. church parsonage at Grassburg.

The roads everywhere around here are very fine—mud, due to the unusual liberality of Jupiter Pluvius. But as it's no fair casting bricks at us, we quote, "what is so rare as a day in June?" The water is fine up here. We've had some "hot air weather" since the above was composed.

Miss Mayme Harnum closed a very successful three months term of school in District No. 27, Sturgeon Lake, last Friday and returned to her home in this city Saturday. Three of pupils received diplomas for perfect attendance, and a very enjoyable picnic marked the close of the term.

We take pleasure in announcing the approaching nuptials of Miss Amelia Cort, the eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cort, of Royalton, and Fred G. Plessel, of this place. Both of the young people are well and favorably known in this community. The marriage will occur at the home of the bride's parents tomorrow evening at 6:30 o'clock.

Bob Cox returned to his home in this place Monday after serving Uncle Sam on the Battleship Illinois for a number of years. He is looking tip-top, "dod-gast my gallant top sails" and has many very interesting "yarns" cooped up in his cupola to relate about his varied experiences while on and off board the man-o'-war. He has visited all of the European and African ports and numerous isles in the Atlantic ocean. The Illinois was the flag ship of the U. S. fleet at the coronation of the King and Queen of England of which his narrative is exceedingly interesting and instructive. Bob expects to remain here about two weeks.

Hurley's Barrington will don their battling armor next Sunday afternoon in an effort to give the Hinckley crows a bad cold. The Hinckley ball team will come loaded for bear and will put up a stiff article of ball. The home boys have not played this year, but have practiced considerable and should hold their own with the best of 'em. Peter Edin, "the terrible Swede," or John Axtel, the South paw wonder, will make the up-country batters sing or at least think "twinkle little star," etc. An admission of 25 cts. will be charged to defray the expenses. Go and loosen up those cob webs.

"Beau Knot" camp has been revived and the campers are now nicely settled at St. Elmo on the east bank of Pokegama lake. The members of this jolly outing party are: Messrs. Bertha and Nannie Caesar, Stillwater; Clyde and Hazel Pennington, St. Paul; Josephine Ehrlich, Howna and Elizabeth Harding, Minneapolis; Mayme, Battie and Sadie Pennington, Kate Grealey, Luciel Wiseman and Jessamine Allen. They expect to "suffer" the endure ance of outdoor life, do their own cooking, smudge mosquitoes and have a general good time for at least two weeks after which "Bow Knot" will be tied up lighter than a boom for safe keeping until another good old summer time.

If you tuck your little tooter and then lay aside your horn, there is not a soul in ten short days will know that you are born. The man who gathers pumpkins is the man who plows all day, and the man who keeps a humping is the man who makes it pay. The man who advertises with short and sudden jerks is the man who blames the editor because it never works. The man who gets the business has a long and steady pull, and keeps his trade and paper from year to year quite full. He plans his advertisements in thoughtful, honest way, and keeps forever at it until he makes it pay. He has faith in all the future, can withstand a bankrupt shock, and like a man of Scripture, has his business on a rock.—Ex.

Death to Cabbage Maggots.
The State Entomologist at the Experiment Station has conquered the cabbage maggot, which has so affected radishes, turnips, cabbages and cauliflower as not only to disgust those of us who try to raise them on a small scale, but has in the last two years caused a loss of many thousands of dollars to market gardeners, some having lost their entire crop of cabbages and cauliflowers.

The Entomologist finds that carbolic acid emulsion, made from crude carbolic acid and soap is very effective in time and at the proper intervals. The emulsion is made by dissolving 10 lbs. of lard soap in 10 gallons of boiling water, and adding 10 pints of crude carbolic acid, churning it up with a force pump so that the acid is thoroughly mixed with the soap. He uses one part of this to thirty parts of water, by actual measure, and pours half a pint around the roots of each plant, three or four times, beginning six or seven days after the plants are set out. On radishes he uses one part of emulsion to thirty-five parts of water. Care must be taken with radishes that it is not too strong, or they will be injured, nor should this emulsion be used on radishes just before they are gathered for the table.

Was Wasting Away.
The following letter from Robert R. Watts, of Salem, Mo., is instructive. "I have been troubled with kidney disease for the last five years. I lost flesh and never felt well and dined with leading physicians and tried all remedies suggested without relief. Finally I tried Foley's Kidney Cure and less than two bottles completely cured me and I am now sound and well." Sold by J. Y. Breckenridge.

No good health unless the kidneys are sound. Foley's Kidney Cure makes the kidneys right.

Ten Times Easier.
It is ten times easier to cure coughs, croup, whooping-cough and all lung and bronchial affections when the bowels are open. Kennedy's Laxative Honey and Tar is the original Laxative Cough Syrup. Gently moves from the system. Best for Coughs, Croup, Whooping Cough, etc. Remember the name, "Kennedy's," and see that the red clover blossom and the honey bee is on the bottle. Sold by J. Y. Breckenridge.

Quality vs. Quantity.
Hard muscles and strong body do not depend on the quantity of food you eat but on its perfect digestion and assimilation. When you take Kodol Dyspepsia Cure your system gets all the nourishment out of all the food you eat. It digests what you eat regardless of the condition of the stomach and converts the nutrient properties to the blood and tissues. This builds up and strengthens the entire system. Kodol cures Indigestion, Dyspepsia, Belching, Sour Stomach, Weak Heart, etc. Sold by J. Y. Breckenridge.

NEW DELICACY FOR TABLE.

Hybrid Buffalo the Latest Thing in England—Compromise Between Bison and Beef.

London.—The latest delicacy to tempt the appetites of British epicures is a compromise between buffalo meat and beef.

A couple of two-year-old bullocks, the result of cross breeding between a North American bison and Highland cattle, were sold at Newcastle cattle market the other day. They had been bred by Mr. Leyland, of Haggerston castle, Northumberland, who has been engaged for several years in experimenting in this direction.

The animals were exactly like their North American cousins in appearance, except that they were stronger and thicker in the hind-quarters. They had been reared and fed as wild cattle, so great difficulty was experienced in conveying them to market.

Although they were accommodated in special boxes their fury was so great that one broke its neck on the journey, and the other had to be shot in the market.

The beef, it is said, will be found of a richer quality than that obtained from a buffalo, and if kept for a month or so, more palatable than that of an ordinary bullock.

River Steamer a Store.

A German tradesman has converted a Rhine steamer into a department store, and is visiting towns along the river with a diverse stock of goods. The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being the only constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.
