CANDIDACY OF HON. J. ADAM BEDE

The Interests of the Eighth Congressional District Have Been Well Guarded During His Incumbency and He Should be Returned to Washington by a Rousing Majority.

J. Adam Bede, member of Congress from the Eighth Congressional District, of which Pine County is a part, is a candidate for renomination at the coming primary election, September 18th, 1906. Mr. Bede is a bright, witty, hard-working, earnest, capable man, neglecting no part of his district nor the greatest or humblest duty of citizen in it. Being a man of national reputation who stands well at Washington and having a thorough acquaintance with the needs of his district he is now more than ever able to care for its vast and varied interests. He is a friend of the old soldier, doing what he can for them in their fast declining years. Some time before being elected to Congress he settled in Pine county, and at that time and ever since he advocated and has been advocating its development; the establishment of creameries and other industries, and has a good word for the whole district everywhere he goes in his extensive travels. He is fully alive to its needs, has been able to care for the vast interests at Duluth and the Iron Range, public buildings, harbor improvements and other matters. Pine county especially, being his home county, should rally to his support at the primaries on September 18th, 1906.

The Review Views.

Col J. F. Stone, of Rush City, candidate for state senator from this district, was in town Tuesday. He says he finds things looking very nicely wherever he has looked over the field. Coming from the northern part of the county he will, undoubtedly, receive a large number of votes here. His home town, in the natural course of things, ought to go for him solid, and Pine county will probably handsomely remember an old resident. The colonel is an old soldier, and expects that to count some.

The colonel will certainly compare favorably with past senators from this district—North Branch Review.

Death of Mrs. Hannah Greeley.

Mrs. Hannah Greeley, the widow of Elam Greeley, died at midnight of ailments incident to her advanced years. She would have been 87 years old to-morrow and came here in 1850. Deceased was an estimable lady and was held in high esteem. She is survived by four children, namely, Douglas Greeley, of Pine City; John Greeley, Indianapolis, Ind.; Mrs. Kate Marsh and Miss Phoebe Greeley, of Stillwater.—Stillwater Journal, Aug. 24.

Vacation Days Soon Over.

With the exception of a teacher for the 5th grade all the teachers have been engaged for the Pine City schools, and the vacancy will be filled before school starts on the 10th of September. There will be four new teachers this year, three of whom have already been engaged. They are, Peter Olesen, superintendent, Miss Maud M. Mullen, principal, Miss Clara Clausen, 7th and 8th grades, Miss Mullen is a resident of Minneapolis, and during the past two years has been principal of the Park Rapids schools, teaching the same studies that she will have here. Miss Clausen hails from Albert Lea and comes highly recommended as an instructor. Owing to the crowded conditions of last year it was found necessary to add another teacher to the faculty, which makes a corps of ten teachers for our schools.

Mother Dies at Merriam Park.

Mrs. D. R. Davis, mother of Mrs. R. L. Wiseman, died at her home at Merriam Park last Sunday. She was one of the pioneers of St. Paul, having settled there fifty-three years ago. Having been a frequent visitor in this place, she was well known here, and gained the esteem of all who knew her. She is survived by a sister, husband and daughter, Mrs. Wiseman.

Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Sloumb and children arrived this week and Mr. Sloumb has assumed charge of the Hotel Agnes. Their former home was at Corning, Iowa.

BIGGEST AND BEST

The Pine County Fair of 1906 Promises to be a Huge Affair—Management Plans as Never Before.

Nothing but inclement weather can now make the Pine county fair of 1906 anything but a huge success. One of the enthusiastic members of the Pine County Agricultural Society has given it out that a sentimental breeding success is being made manifest on all sides and that a hearty co-operation from all parts of the county is expected.

The fair dates are fixed for Sept. 20-21-22 and there will be a constant whirl of activity on each and every day. The dates fall during a time for an ideal display of agricultural results, and should be satisfactory to all.

A premium list has just been completed in booklet form, and they will be scattered broadcast next week. Although we have not seen a copy, it is expected that the premiums will be in keeping with the growth of the enterprise.

The management has made plans to procure an excellent list of attractions and the sports will be of a varied order. Horse racing and the like will take place and promise to be the best ever held between St. Paul and Duluth. The race course has undergone a complete change for the better and is comparatively fast.

Every department of the fair will receive expert attention, and this means that the guests at the fair will not lack for instructive nor pleasant pastime. Plan ahead so as to be able to attend the biggest and best fair in the history of Pine county—Sept. 20-21-22, 1906.

A Good Score.

In the Minnesota butter scoring contest for August the Pine City creamery stands well up in the scoring with a figure of 94. The contests are conducted monthly by the Minnesota Dairy and Food department and are considered educational contests. In the August contest there were 193 entries, and the highest score was 98. Buttermaker E. L. Colin, of the local creamery, is to be congratulated for his excellent showing.

Elbert Bede, wife and child, of North Branch, spent the Sabbath with the family of Congressman J. Adam Bede.

ALL HAVE FILED.

Applicants for Public Favor Have Taken Their First Step in the Campaign for Votes on September 18th.

They're off!

The first step of the candidate has been taken. And the result will be determined on September 18th, which is primary election day.

Wednesday was the last day for filing affidavits, and sixteen candidates have signified their wish to become actively identified with the control of Pine county affairs. What promises to be the hottest contest will be a four cornered bid for the office of auditor, H. A. Sandwick, of Willow River, and I. H. Claggett have filed on the republican ticket for this important office, and W. H. Hamlin and Wm. Lambert aspire for the democratic nomination.

S. C. Scott, an attorney of Sandstone, and L. H. McKusick, a veteran of many campaigns, have their eyes on the county attorneyship, and this should prove an interesting campaign.

For coroner Wm. Russell, of Hinckley, has filed against Dr. R. L. Wiseman, the present incumbent, who will make another bid for the office.

These three will be the only fights for nomination, and the following will have easy sailing unless an independent attempt to "get in" on November 6th:

Treasurer, Nickerson Perkins.
Register of Deeds, Jas. H. Wanjel.
Superintendent of Schools, R. H. Blankenship.
Sheriff, R. J. Hawley.
Judge of Probate, Robt. Wilcox.

A Sermon in Precious Stones.

In all ages of the world the measure of a nation's prosperity has been gauged by the luxuries which the people surrounded themselves. This is as true now as it was in the days of Roman conquest, and it is shown particularly in a recent official statement concerning the importation into this country of South African diamonds. Last year $35,000,000 of these precious stones found their way into the United States. When Speaker Cannon uttered his emphatic and unique declaration concerning this country's needs he only declared a fact, says the "Pittsburgh Press." The last ten years, judged by the importation of diamonds alone, has been the most prosperous and successful this country has ever known. In 1857 the imports of diamonds in rounded numbers amounted to $1,500,000, although the price per carat was not nearly as high as it has been since. This wonderful increase shows that there is a demand for them, and the demand is an indication that the people have the money wherewith to purchase them. Diamonds are an unfailing indication of prosperity. The first thing the average man does when he gets a little ahead in the world is to buy a diamond shirted or diamond earrings for his wife. The more money he makes the more diamonds he buys, and that man who is making money and that man who is unusually prosperous is indicated by these figures on diamonds.

As to Sleep and Study.

Many a youth in school is too denuded as a sleepy head because his parents neglect to see to it that he gets the proper amount of sleep. Mothers know that the new-born infant should sleep about 22 hours each day and that this need of sleep is lessened so slowly that the child demands 12 hours when it is about 12 years old. It is decided by experts that the normal amount of sleep is not reduced to ten hours until between the ages of 18 and 21 years, and that many persons require nine hours' sleep during most of life thereafter. Despite these facts that should be well known, how many boys of 12 to 14 years form the habit of staying up until ten o'clock at night and are as regularly routed out by their parents at six o'clock in the morning? This is a crime, the evil of which is to no degree lessened because it is a long-established custom. Experience and observation have proved that those who retire in time to sleep at least nine hours get far more of permanent good out of their course of study than those who dole their hours of work by robbing themselves of sleep, says the Chicago Sun. The child especially should be in bed regularly in time that it will awaken naturally at an early enough hour to be ready for school. If allowed to stay up late to be literally dragged from bed in the morning, the parent should expect the child to be in the sleepy-head class.

Women as Inventors.

In reply to the charge that women are lacking in mechanical ingenuity, it is asserted that many of the most valuable inventions patented by men in reality represent ideas conceived in the brains of their wives, their sisters and their daughters. Ell Whitely's famous cotton gin is said to have been merely the application of a device first thought out by a woman—the widow of Gen. Nathaniel Greene. The "Cosmopolitan," which is used by our life-saving service, and by mariners all over the world, for signaling at night—it burns like red fire—is a woman's invention, says the Technical World Magazine. Likewise, in the paper bag with a sachel bottom, which was the idea of Miss M. E. Knight. The machine by which "comb foundation" as it is called, for new hives, is made, was patented by Frances A. Dunham, in 1883. It saves her half the labor of honeycomb construction by turning out wax sheets, which, suspended in the hives, serves as a basis to build the combs upon. But the most wonderful point about the contrivance is that, the comb only need be in place for the bees to be at work, those of them that are utilized by the insects for nursery purposes will produce only wax, thus avoiding the propagation of Miss Aroves.

Prof. Frank A. Perret, an American who was with Prof. Matfield in the royal observatory on Mount Vesuvius during its poisoning, promises to perfect methods of predetermining outbreaks of volcanoes. American genius has accomplished a great many things that appeared more difficult than this undertaking. It would be no surprise to hear that Prof. Perret has found a means of robbing Volcanus of some of the terrors it has held for neighboring humanity since the days of the elder Pity.

CHANCE FOR OUR REBELS TO BACK UP

AMNESTY DECREE IS ISSUED BY THE SECRETARY OF ORDER OF THE PRESIDENT.

Simultaneously With its Publication Loyal Troops Defeat Insurgents, Killing Seventeen Men and Losing One Man in Fight.

Havana, Aug. 28.—At the moment Monday when the government was issuing its proclamation offering pardon to rebels who would lay down their arms its forces were dealing the most telling blow that has yet been struck against insurgents in the field. For several days it has been stated that Gen. Guzman's force of insurgents, which was variously estimated at from 300 upwards, contemplated an attack on Cienfuegos. Col. Valle with a detachment of rural guards and volunteers was dispatched to Cienfuegos for the purpose of engaging Guzman and breaking up the band. The encounter of the two forces resulted in the worst disaster which the insurgents have sustained to this time. They lost 17 men killed and many wounded, while the loss to the government force was one man killed. The government is without further particulars of the fight.

Insurrection in Decline.

That the insurrection is in a shabby condition seems to be fact, although the end may not be as near as members of the government profess to believe. The Congressman, Faustino (Pino) Guerra, the insurgent leader operating in the province of Pinar del Rio, in a signed statement telegraphed to the press Monday night declares that he is as determined as ever that the last presidential election shall be annulled before there can be peace in Cuba. He has a force of 2,000 men is well armed and supplied with ammunition and food is amply verified. His greatest drawback now is the lack of money; but he and the people of the western part of Pinar del Rio are furnishing them with all the supplies needed, taking in return therefore orders on the "Cuban government" and in many cases refusing to accept any consideration.

Regarding Amnesty.

The government offer of amnesty is variously received. It is impossible to say what its effect will be upon those to whom it is addressed. Alfredo Zaldívar, secretary of the senate and leader of the liberal party, stated that he was unable to express any opinion as to whether the insurgents would give up their arms in return of their surrendering, but said in his opinion as a lawyer, Secretary Montalvo could not legally issue such an order, for the constitution provides that only the president may make such a proclamation which must be countersigned by some member of the cabinet.

Secretary Maintains Legality.

Secretary Montalvo, on the contrary, stated that the offer of amnesty was issued by the direct order of the president. He also asserted officially. The secretary added that the document was in reality an order of the secretary of the interior, issued by direction of the president to Gen. Rodriguez, commander of the rural guards. The hundreds of elements, including many Americans, elicited the offer of amnesty as a weak and disappointing action, showing a desire for peace at any price and a willingness to sacrifice the possibility of future security to a present expediency.

ARMS BROKEN IN AUTO SMASH.

Pittsburg Hotel Man and Wife Seriously Injured in Accident.

Pittsburg, Pa., Aug. 27.—A L. Richmond, a hotel proprietor of this city and Mrs. Richmond were brought to this city to a hospital Sunday night each with a broken arm, serious contusions and other injuries received in an accident to the automobile in which they were returning from Cleveland. Mr. Richmond will recover but his wife received internal injuries which it is said will cause her death. The accident occurred at the hamlet of Hiram Schoolhouse, Ohio, when the machine was going about 40 miles an hour. The steering gear broke causing the car to plunge over an embankment, plowing Mr. and Mrs. Richmond beneath. The chauffeur, with Charles Brown, a friend of the Richmonds, were also hurt. They remained at the Ohio hamlet.

MELON PATCH RAIDS SERIOUS.

Seven Men and Boys Wounded, Three Perhaps Fatally, Near Boone, Iowa.

Boone, Ia., Aug. 28.—Seven men and boys were wounded, three perhaps fatally, Monday in fracas over raids on melon patches. Newton Phelps, William Phelps and James Moreland, prominent farmers, were set upon and badly stabbed by a gang with whom members they had conspired for smothering melons on the Phelps farm. William Phelps probably will not recover. Oliver Wright, Fred Phillips, Fred Morsy and George W. Taylor, boys, were discovered upon the farm of William Coleman. Coleman thought they intended to raid his melon patch and opened fire with his gun. All but one of the boys were wounded; two perhaps fatally.

GRAND JURY INDICTS RAILROAD AND OIL COMPANY.

One Hundred and Twenty-Three Separate Violations Charged Against Rockefeller Combine.

Janetown, N. Y., Aug. 27.—The New York Central Railroad company has been indicted by the western New York federal grand jury on a charge of giving discriminating and unlawful freight rates on shipments of oil by the Standard Oil company and of unlawfully failing to make refunds of such rates with the interstate commerce commission at Washington. The Standard Oil company was again indicted on charges of accepting unlawful and discriminating freight rates on shipments of oil over the Pennsylvania, the New York central and the Vermont Central railroad companies.

The indictments are closely related to those found by the same jury two weeks ago against the Standard Oil company and the Pennsylvania in the matter of discriminating rates for oil shipped by the Standard from Olean to Burlington, Vt. The indictment specifies that the New York Central made a special rate to the Standard from Rochester to Norwood, of nine cents per 100 weight, while other rates were not given to other shippers, nor a schedule of the same filed with the interstate commerce commission. The charges were made in one count.

In the indictment against the Standard Oil company there were 123 counts, each count relating to a separate and distinct shipment of oil over this route.

BROADER STREETS ARE PLANNED

Valparaiso Thoroughfares Are to Be Rebuilt on Modern Lines.

Valparaiso, Aug. 27.—The government has drawn up and presented a project for the reconstruction of Valparaiso. In order to prevent the flooding of streets they will have a uniform level. The minimum width of streets will be 100 feet, with a width of 120 metres. The government will pay cash for lands expropriated for this purpose and will facilitate loans to owners of lands thus taken. Custom duties will be suspended for 18 months on construction material. The houses and commercial houses are not yet doing business and because of a lack of money the banks are forced to continue limited payments.

A state of siege continues here and nobody is allowed on the streets after six o'clock in the evening. There have been a number of accidents as a result of the use of dynamite in the blowing up of damaged buildings.

TYPHOID FEVER AT THREE OAKS.

Dead Sparrows in Waterworks Standpipe Cause Epidemic in the Town.

Three Oaks, Mich., Aug. 24.—The cause of an epidemic of typhoid fever among the 1,000 inhabitants of this place was discovered Thursday when a member of the board of health climbed to the top of the waterworks standpipe and found the dead bodies of several thousand young sparrows in various stages of decomposition, coming from the top of the water. Immediately the mayor gave instructions to empty the standpipe, scrub and paint it. The hundreds of sparrows' nests have been built on a ledge that runs around the summit of the standpipe and the young birds are supposed to have fallen into the uncovered standpipe while trying to fly. The cover made for the standpipe when it was constructed was never used. There are now twenty-one cases of typhoid fever in the town.

SPRINGFIELD JURY DISAGREES

Ten Out of Twelve Talsenmen Vote for Acquittal.

Springfield, Mo., Aug. 25.—The jury in the case of Does Galbraith, the alleged leader of the mob which lynched and burned three negroes here in April last, and who was on trial charged with second degree murder, was discharged by the court Friday when it reported that its members were unable to agree. After the jury was discharged its members freely admitted that the vote stood ten for acquittal and two for conviction. It is not believed the state will try the case again.

SPELLING REFORM IS ADVANCE

George Bernard Shaw Says It Rivals Proclamation of Lunar Months.

London, Aug. 27.—Among the numerous opinions canvassed by the newspapers of President Roosevelt's order with regard to a reform in spelling, George Bernard Shaw says: "There has been nothing like it since Mahomet reforming the calendar by making the year consist of 30 lunar months. It serves us right. The thing had to be taken in hand somehow, and if we refused to attend to our own errors we must make the best of the two emergent alternatives who have forced our hands."

Oak Grove, Mo., Aug. 28.—Capt. J. Frank Greig, who for the first half of the civil war was in Gen. Joe Shelby's command, but who later was with Quantrill, the raider, and is said to have been in the famous raid at Lawrence, Kan., died at his home at Oak Grove, near here.

BACK IN THE OLD RUT.

STANDARD OIL TRUE BILLS

TEN INDICTMENTS RETURNED BY TWO GRAND JURIES.

Allege $428 Separate and Distinct Offenses of Receiving Rebates on Shipments From Railroads.

Chicago, Aug. 25.—Ten indictments, charging 428 separate offenses of receiving rebates, were returned against the Standard Oil company by two federal grand juries Monday. Each jury returned five indictments to Judge Betha.

The possible maximum fine against the Standard Oil company is $4,280,000.

The charges—the most serious and the most numerous ever brought against the oil concern—will, it is thought, end in a complete revelation of the intrigues through which the oil company secures its freight and rail car reductions.

All of the offenses charged by the grand jurors arise from rebates given at the Whiting, Ind., refinery.

It is alleged that the Standard Oil company has been receiving, contrary to law, from 27 1/2 to 33 1/2 per cent reductions on the published prices that are applicable to independent oil refiners.

The railroads accused, though not indicted, with the oil trust and the number of offenses named in the indictments are: Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, 544; Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, 1,800; Chicago & Alton, 984; Chicago & Alton, 1,053; Chicago & Eastern Illinois, Evansville & Terre Haute, Illinois Central and Southern Railroad, 103; Chicago & Eastern Illinois and Evansville & Terre Haute, 1,213; Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, 25.

In a summary of the indictments made by District Attorney Morrison, it is shown that while independent oil refiners are made to pay the published interstate commerce scale of 18 cents for shipping to East St. Louis the Standard Oil company pays only six cents.

The rate to St. Louis is 19 1/2 cents in the case of shipment of oil.

The Standard Oil company, however, pays less than 7 1/2 cents.

The indictments are expected by the federal prosecutors to prove the first effective move to stop the oil company's system of rebating and shutting off competition.

FRISCO TRAMWAYS ARE TIED UP

Employees of United Railway System Called Out by Their Union.

San Francisco, Aug. 27.—With the exception of the California and Geary street lines, street railway traffic in this city was suspended Sunday, as the result of the strike of the conductors and motormen of the United Railway system which went into effect at five o'clock Sunday morning. The United Railroads made no attempt to run cars and consequently was no disorder. Further action in the tie-up awaits the arrival of Patrick Calhoun, president of the United railroads, who is en route from the east. Automobiles and other vehicles were brought into requisition and they did a good business.

EARL GREY SERIOUSLY INJURED.

Exploding Electric Light Bulb Sends Bits of Glass into Governor's Face.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 28.—Earl Grey, governor general of Canada, had a narrow escape from serious injury here about midnight Sunday. Just before retiring an electric light bulb exploded full in his face and bits of glass were blown into his eyes. The light optic was closed and the services of a physician were required to bandage up his forehead. His excellency appeared at Portage la Prairie Monday with a covering over his right eye.

BACKACHE IS KIDNEYACHE.

Get at the Cause—Cure the Kidneys.

Don't neglect backache. It warns you of trouble in the kidneys. Avert the danger by curing the kidneys with Doan's Kidney Pills. J. A. Hayward, a well known resident of Lufkin, Tex., says: "I was nearly my back working in a sawmill, was laid up six weeks, and from that time had pain in my back whenever I stooped or lifted. The urine was badly discolored and for a long time I had attacks of gravel. After I began using Doan's Kidney Pills the gravel passed out, and my back got better. I haven't had backache or bladder trouble since."

HE MADE THE OPPORTUNITY

How Educator Succeeded in Desire to Address Students.

A distinguished educator of Boston, who once visited a western college during the summer vacation, was for some reason or other, not asked to address the students, as he had expected he would be. It chanced he was merely requested to lead in prayer, which he did in this wise: "He pleased, Father in Heaven, to guide the steps of the president of this college. THIRTY-TWO DEAD IN BOMB OUTRAGE

ATTEMPT TO KILL PREMIER OF RUSSIA RESULTS IN WHOLE- SALE SLAUGHTER.

Gen. Min Assassinated by Young Woman in Pursuance of Edict
Issued by Revolutionary Committee,
the Murderess Firing Five Shots.

St. Petersburg, Aug. 27.—The daughter of Premier Stolypin who was injured by the bomb explosion in the premier's summer home Saturday, and who was erroneously reported to have died, was still alive Sunday, having passed a quiet night under the effects of an anesthetic. The premier's son, who also was hurt, is better.

The telegram sent by Emperor Nicholas to M. Stolypin after the explosion was as follows:

"I cannot find words to express my indignation. I hope with all my heart that the health of your son and daughter will soon be restored, and likewise that of the other persons injured."

The baggage express Sunday morning made inquiries as to the condition of the premier's children.

Total Dead Thirty-Two.
Two more persons injured by the explosion died during the night, bringing the total number of deaths up to 32. Twenty-six persons were killed instantly.

The central committee of the social revolutionists has drawn up a proclamation which declares that unless the government forthwith alters its policy such acts as the attempt on the life of Premier Stolypin will be pursued to the utmost and government representatives will be killed by hundreds.

Gen. Min Assassinated.
Saturday's unsuccessful attempt on the life of Premier Stolypin with its accompanying slaughter of 22 persons, was followed Sunday night by another revolutionary outrage in which Gen. Min, commander of the Semenovskiy guard regiment and who since his promotion to a general has been attached as a personal adjutant to the suite of the emperor, was killed on the station platform at Peterhof by a young woman, who fired five shots into his body from an automatic revolver and then, without resistance submitted to arrest. The capture of the girl was effected by Gen. Min's wife, who held her until the arrival of an officer.

This was the third successive attempt on the life of Gen. Min, who was condemned to death by the terrorists immediately after the revolution, on December 12 on account of stern repression practically by a battalion under his command and especially for the wholesale execution of persons condemned by drum-head court-martial for being caught with arms in their hands.

Shot in Back.
Gen. Min was returning from his summer residence at Peterhof and had just greeted his wife and daughter on the platform when a young woman, almost a girl—approached from behind and fired two shots into his back and then three more into his body as he sank to the ground. The shots were prevented by Madame Min, who seized the hand which held the pistol.

The woman did not seem to escape, but she cautioned Madame Min not to touch a hand which had placed on the platform before shooting the general, explaining that it contained a bomb.

To the police the girl acknowledged that she had done the deed, saying she had executed the act in pursuance of an organization of the social revolutionists, but she refused to give her name.

W. D. HAMLEN.

FOR AUDITOR.

I am a candidate for the office of auditor for the year 1907.

CAN'T BOAST BEDE.

The Bede-Millar congressional race promises to be a hot contest.

ON THE OUTSKIRTS.

There is a Millar biting around J. Adam's political candle that will get his wings scorched at the primaries.

A RAPE PREDICTION.

J. Adam Bede has the opposition of the Hickey Enterprise and Bob Dunn. The Review predicts his election.

ALL RIGHT IN HIS PLACE.

E. L. Millar would make a good after-dinner speaker at Washington, but he can accomplish more good as editor of the Trade News.

ADAM'S STROUGHLAND.

While Millar will gain some popularity and get better acquainted around the district it is rather improbable that he can defeat Adam.

The primary is Adam's stronghold and it will take more time than thirty days in this district for anybody to defeat him.

BEZ-SAW GETS BOMBERAGED.

If the Review is not mistaken, there is just as much fall being found with every Minnesota congressman as with other senator.

The Princeton Union quotes the above from the Review and says: "Taking Adam as a criterion this will be true."

The Review would not only mention Bez Saw and Bob Dunn that more fault was found with a certain candidate for governor two years ago than has been found with all of Minnesota's congressmen and senators combined.

AS STRONG AS EVER WILL BE.

The opposition to J. Adam Bede are showing their full strength right now and they make a sad, weak showing compared with the almost solid support that is tendered the able congressman in almost every part of the district.

Deagan in this city and a few disappointed office seekers in the county are taking a sulk at him in their way, but in the territory they yield counts for little in a territory where the people who vote Knute Bede as a hard worker in their behalf and a man who gets what he is after at the national capital.

CREDIT TO STATE.

There are very few people in the eighth district that realize the prestige attained by Congressman Bede during his term of office.

Mr. Bede is a firm believer in the efficacy of the jolly. He is a past master in the art of making people laugh.

And he well knows that once you get a man "jollied" you may ask of him what you will and it is yours.

It is precisely this method that our congressman uses to secure legislation for the district and to assist his constituents in their dealings with the federal government.

And it does the business which is the vital test of a congressman. Mr. Bede stands high today at Washington and it is largely on account of his personality.

His services are in constant demand in various states to help with the Republican majorities. He is a man that is easily approachable, attentive to the wants of his district and strictly dependable in his dealings with the people.

He stands for the best in the eighth district and is a credit to the state.

Summer Diarrhoea in Children.

During the hot weather of the summer months the first unusual looseness of a child's bowels should have immediate attention, so as to check the disease before it becomes serious.

All that is necessary is a few doses of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera, and Diarrhoea Remedy followed by a dose of castor oil to cleanse the system.

Rev. M. O. Stockland, pastor of the First M. E. Church, Little Falls, Minn., writes: "We have used Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy for several years and find it a very valuable remedy, especially for summer disorders in children."

Born yourself daily, you're not clean inside. Clean insides mean clean stomach, bowels, blood, liver, clean, healthy tissue in every organ.

L. P. Stranahan, wife and children departed for Minneapolis Tuesday and after a short visit there will depart for S. D. to reside. Mr. Stranahan conducted the Hotel Agnes at this place since last March and Monday turned the same over to the custody of L. A. Slocomb, of Cornin, Ia.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cort and family, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Plessel and baby Miss Margaret George, of St. Paul, and Albert Arnold attended the Mission Fest at Rush Lake last Sunday. The occasion was of special interest to Mr. and Mrs. Plessel on account of the christening of their little one.

During the threatening weather of Friday evening lightning struck the residence of John Nevlins, two miles south of town. The bolt was a severe one, knocking down a brick chimney and tearing the plaster and lath from one of the best rooms. Slight damage also resulted by the falling roof and ceiling. It is a miracle that none of the occupants of the home were injured.

Dr. F. C. Clements, of Duluth, addressed an audience at the M. E. church last Friday evening. His discourse was an able effort, as usual, and received intense attention. After the services the board of church trustees met with the presiding elder and Rev. Parish for the last quarterly conference of the year.

Nicholas Lehnen, Ph. D., an analytical and technical chemist from St. Paul, was here Tuesday and went down to Ladysmith copper mine to make observations. He spoke encouragingly of what he saw, and the copper mine at Chongatana will possibly eventually turn out to be of great commercial value. We sincerely hope so.

ROSA'S CONQUEST

BY LONG HAIR DAIRY

Rosa, as a Pierrette, in a full, short white skirt dotted with scarlet pom-poms, with an almost level hairdo, perched rakishly on her brown hair, ran on with her usual prodigious of smiles, and sang to an adoring audience that she was the Rosa of all the Rivings—a fact they were quite ready to believe.

It was not till she had finished her turn that Patrick awoke once more to the hopefulness of the whole thing. His was a gloomy nature. Three days ago he had been miserable, with the firm conviction that Rosa did not, and never would love him. To-day he was sure of her, but quite confident that never, never, would he get the old boy, as he called his grandfather, to approve of the engagement and allow him to marry her.

Next morning they were sitting on the sands half a mile beyond the promenade.

"What is there to be ashamed of in me?" Rosa asked shortly. "I always thought I was rather nice."

"Nice?" he said. "Yes, you are very nice, Rosa, and no one could possibly be ashamed of you. But grandfather is archaic—antiquarian. He won't go to the theater now. He talks about the dull old burlesques as if they were the latest musical comedies, and as for the Irish melodies—"

Patrick left to her imagination the passion his grandfather entertained for the Irish melodies.

"Rosa, dearest," his voice was very earnest, "will you give the things up and marry me? I've got to go back to town next week. I can't and won't go without you."

"This time it was Rosa who was silent. "I've been over the whole thing before," he said, quickly. "It's no use my telling you again how much I care."

"No," Rosa said, quietly. "But what about your grandfather?"

Patrick flushed. "If we were married," he said, hastily, "it would be all right. If we

"Good gracious!" said Patrick's grandfather. "Good gracious!"

The audience laughed, and Rosa curtsied again and kissed her hand. She was so carefully made up that it was impossible to detect it with the naked eye, and the bloom on her round young cheek might have been all her own.

"Wonderful," said the old man "wonderful," Rosa began to sing. "Still so gently over me stealing."

She was encored, of course. The pianist had his instructions, and turned over one page. Patrick saw that the girl meant to go straight through her grandpa's old song-book.

"Rita and rare were the game she wore, An bright gold ring on her hand was."

And so on, and so on, till the last verse was finished, and the singer curtsied and disappeared.

"Song," yelled someone from the back. "No other song."

"What could she sing? She had sung all the songs in her grandpa's bound volume. She had no other in the kind. She would curtsy again and go."

She took the topmost frounce of her gown between her fingers and swept her forehead a farewell.

The coronet from her hair fell at her feet. Half mechanically she picked it up, and, despite the frantic audience, turned to go. One had in the wreath the largest—came loose in her hand to inspire her at the last moment, and with a half smile she ran to the pianist and gave a hasty whisper over his shoulder.

He had no notes, but the brilliancy of his ravings was equal to his oratory. "One had in the wreath, etc.," he sang, and then "The Last Rose of Summer."

"Little which! Will indeed was she playing her part. For the old boy she had chosen the song of songs. With inextinguishable she went on, plucking and letting fall one by one the pink petals.

"No flower of her kindred, No rosebud is nigh. To reflect back her blushes, To give sigh for sigh."

Patrick glanced at his grandfather. He was blowing his nose with silent emotion, and the young man wondered whether he could see little Rosa, colored figure on the stage at all, so thick was the mist of tears in his eyes.

Triumphant indeed was her success. When she finished, the old boy stamped with his stick on the floor, and shouted till Patrick grew almost ashamed of the attention he was attracting.

"Poor little girl! Poor little Rosa! I haven't heard anything like that since I listened to the divine Jenny. What a chance that such a girl as that should be singing in such a place as this!"

"It is indeed a shame," Patrick trembled. He felt that this was the moment for him to tell his secret. "Grandfather," said he, "I love that girl."

"The old boy did not grasp his meaning. "I don't wonder," he said. "I'm in love with her myself. Charming! Charming!"

But Patrick had made his plunge. "I am not speaking lightly," he said, eagerly. "I know her. I want to take her away from the stage and marry her."

"The old man began to understand. "The blues you got," he said. "The blues you got, Rosa!"

"She is the only woman in the world for me. She is a good girl, grandfather—and a beauty."

"I am sure of that," the old man responded, heartily. "No girl could have sung those songs with such true feeling and so much expression she had not been a pearl among women—a pearl, sir."

Patrick was thunderstruck. "Will you let me introduce you to her?" he asked.

His grandfather beamed. "Nothing would give me greater pleasure," said he.

The young man vanished. Five minutes later, Rosa, to the outward eyes all shyness and pretty respect, ran down the three steps to the left of the little glittering stage and curtsied to the old man.

He bowed with old-fashioned grace. "When I came here to-night," he said, "I thought, 'I'll thought to have been dazzled and enchanted by a vision from my happy youth.'"

"I am glad you liked my songs," she said, demurely.

"The old boy lifted her hand to his lips. "I have to thank you," he said, "for the happiest and the saddest evening I have spent in many years."

He looked at Patrick and hesitated, but only for a moment. "I will, of course," that the last rose of summer will be transplanted to a more congenial soil."

He turned abruptly and walked slowly away from them down the empty room. Rosa looked up into her lover's face, took his hand, and said, "The La France rose from the lace at her breast and ran after the old boy to touch his arm with a timid little hand."

"This is the last rose of summer," she said, "will you let me give it to you?"

POULTRY AND BEES

HEN AND CHICKS.

Use Screen in Place of Boards to Close Front of Coop at Night.

It is a cruel plan which shuts off the air almost entirely from the hen with a brood of chicks, or placing a board in front of the coop at night; nor is such a plan necessary if one will take the trouble to build a coop or coops after the following plan. Build the coop after the usual plan, sloping the roof to the rear and covering the front with slats except at one lower corner, where a door should be arranged, so that the hen can be easily let out when desired. To solve the problem of plenty of fresh air and at the same time freedom from pestering small animals, say the Indianapolis News, construct a screen; make the frame large enough completely to cover the front of the coop and cover it with wire netting, at either side fasten a strap with a hole in the end, and on the sides of the coop place a screw, over which the straps are placed to hold the screen

Screen Front for Coop.

In place. To make the screen still more secure when placed here the side pieces large enough so that the long wire nail may be driven in them about one-quarter the length of the nail, at the end; then sink in the ground at either end of the coop two pieces of wood, each having a hole in the end, into which the nail in the end pieces of the screen will fit when the latter is in position. In this way it will be impossible for the screen to get loose. In the illustration, H, at dotted line, shows where the screen will come when in position; A, the side piece of the screen, with the long wire nail in position; 2, 3, the stakes in the ground to receive the nails; B, the screen complete; G, the swinging latch by which the door for the use of the hen is kept in place, and 2, the manner of attaching the small strap to the side of the screen.

POULTRY FEEDING.

Best Rule Is Common Sense—Give Fowls Food That Is Nourishing.

The best rule for feeding poultry is common sense; the health and usefulness of fowls does not depend on following recipes so much as on getting adequate supply of palatable food. Changing the food several times daily is no better than making the same changes as often each week. This may be seen from the rules practiced by successful poultrymen, says the Orange Juice Farmer. Notice the following:

Mesh of bran and middlings, bran and corn meal, bran only, various grains ground together, various grains mixed fed morning, noon or night in amounts varying from a spoonful to a cup full. Some poultrymen give no mash at all. Again some give a mash several times a day at all times, others give an ounce every second day. Some give as much green food each day as the hens will eat; others half an ounce at alternate days. Some mix grit, charcoal and cut clover with the mash, others feed them separately. It's up to you; but your neighbor may have equal success by an opposite practice. Principle is above rule.

HOW TO SELL HONEY.

Way in Which One Farmer Disposes of His Product With Profit.

Not wishing to send my honey to commission men and help to overstock the market and lower the price, I have always tried to be my own salesman. I have tried selling honey in many ways. The most pleasant and successful way is selling by sample. In the first of October and November the best months in the year to sell honey. I select a pleasant day, put in my sample some nice samples of comb and extracted honey, and a beeswax mount my bicycle and start for neighboring towns and cities, say the writer in Farm and Home. I visit the home of my grocer and show my honey. I guarantee everything to be as good as the samples shown and promise to deliver honey safe, sound and clean, free from breakage or drip, and most always effect a sale.

Blood Will Tell.

Blood will tell in the poultry yard as in in other farm stock department. The most breeds beat the mongrel and do not do the laying breeds, each in its own specialty. Never has this been better understood than now and never has the scrub been in such

CONTROL OF SWARMING.

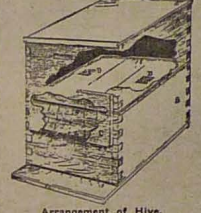

A Device Designed to Keep Down Increase While Securing Honey.

During the past three years I have made a good many experiments in trying to perfect a simple mechanical device and to evolve a system of manipulation to go with it that would enable the apiarist to control swarming effectually, secure a crop of honey, and regulate his colonies at one and the same time; and having met with good success along the lines of an experimenting I have concluded to tell the bee-keeping public the results of my work, writes J. E. Chambers, of Vico, Texas, in Gleasons in Bee Culture.

In the illustrations, A represents the top story of a hive, and B the bottom of the lower story, with the dividing board and chute in correct position on the hive, and the entire construction and method of application are so clearly shown that any extended description is unnecessary.

The dividing board is simply a board cleated on the two upper sides and rear end. The front is not cleated, and forms the opening where the bees pass. Holes are bored through and covered with zinc, as shown at D, D. The purpose of these holes is to maintain a certain degree of communication between the two hive bodies, and to guard against the possibility of the young bees in hive A deserting in too great force. In the rear end of the dividing board a small opening covered with zinc is shown at E. This serves as a flight hole, and helps to arrest and fix a certain number of bees; for by numerous experiments I found that, without these holes to act as counter-checks, the entire force will desert from hive A above, thus leaving the hive B unprotected to starve; but through the holes D D sufficient nurse bees come up from hive B to prevent this, and this trouble is prevented.

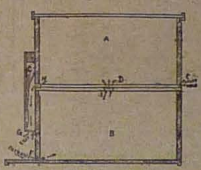

The chute is made by nailing together two pieces of timber, 1x1, six inches long, and one piece 1x1, 14 inches long, and covering one side by nailing on a thin board six inches wide and 14 long, as shown at C, and attaching a strip of zinc one inch wide and 14 long over the chute, so that the bees will not be able to get deeper than six inches, in order to bring the flight of outgoing young bees down nearer to the entrance shown at F, thereby causing them to mix up with the field force going in there; but in no case should the exit hole be larger to the entrance F than by inches; for if brought in direct contact it might induce some of the bees to go back by the route they came, thereby interfering with the work of the bees, as at an attempt.

In using this device there are three different systems of manipulating any size of a colony. For small colonies, the one I use mostly in my own apiaries is, I think, the best and easiest for extracting colonies; but for comb honey either of the others is better. Just as soon as a colony makes preparations to swarm I begin work. Selecting one comb and adhering to it I make sure that the bees have always a supply of honey. I now place the dividing board in position, as shown in the illustration, and set hive A over it. Stalling on the chute completes the operation for the present, except that a record of the stage of development in which the cells were at the time of manipulating must be kept and should be marked on the hive so as to be readily seen. With this record to go by, the hive can be opened at the proper time and all cut out, except one of the best. The hive is then closed, and requires no further attention until time to remove the dividing board and return the colony, which is as soon after the young queen begins to lay as possible.

CROCHET BONNET FOR INFANT.

Pretty and Exceedingly Comfortable for Small Wearer.

This cozy little bonnet may be worked in Shetland, Ivorian, and any wool, rather more than six ounces of wool and a medium-sized hook being required. It should be worked rather loosely throughout.

Six chain, and join into a ring; 3 chain, 20 trebles into the ring (the 3 chain coming as 1 treble); join with a slip-stitch. All the other rows are commenced and finished in the same manner. * 4 trebles on each stitch of previous row—taking both threads—working 2 trebles in every fifth, or as often as may be required, to make the work lie flat; join round and repeat from * until the work is about eight inches in diameter. Commence the next row as usual, then making the first treble, work 1 chain and an other treble into the same place as the last; * pass over one stitch, 2 trebles with one chain between in the next, and repeat from * for about four rows; last row, finish off.

Recommence at the ring in center; fasten on between two of the trebles forming the first row, * 4 chain into the top thread of the first treble; one row, 8 chain, pass one end work into the foundation chain between the next two, repeat. From * and continue working loops of 3 chain to and fro across the trebles in a slanting direction until the flat part of the work is covered with these loops. On the full part or fill the loops are worked over two rows at a time, and not set so closely together, the loops being carried across 2, 3 or 4 and continue as described. Round the outer edge work a row of loops, 7 chain into every fourth stitch, and then a second row of loops, but working these on the middle treble, passed over in making one loop to the middle treble in the next, thus forming a double row of loops all round the work.

Thread the first row of the trim with ribbon half an inch wide, arrange all the fulness across the front of the bonnet, leaving about four inches on either side of where the ribbon meets quite plain; put a stitch on each side to keep it in position. The ribbon should be tied at the back to the size required.

Strings should be attached, and a bow or rosette of ribbon stitched on the top.

A lining of soft silk will add greatly to the appearance of the bonnet, and also to the wearer's comfort.

If Ivorian wool is used, the foundation should be worked in Shetland.

Savory Dishes Can Be Devised from Small Portions.

Don't throw away left-over vegetables. If, for example, you have half a cupful of carrots, cut into slices, add an equal quantity of potato, cooked and sliced; stir into a thick cream sauce. Serve with minced parsley on top.

Half a cupful of beans. Cut into small pieces, combine with four tablespoonfuls of pecan meats broken in halves, also a little celery. Cook in French dressing and serve in lettuce cups.

Half a cupful of peas. Add dissolved gelatine to a large cupful of highly seasoned stock. Strain. When it begins to set, stir in the peas lightly. Mould in small cups. Garnish with wreath of parsley and curled lettuce. Serve with mayonnaise.

Half a cupful of tomato. To the tomato add four tablespoonfuls of shelled chopped peanuts, better the size of a walnut, one tablespoonful of bread crumbs. Cover with crumbs. Bake in shallow tin.

Half a cupful of beans. Cut into small pieces. Add half a cupful of boiled potato, sliced, a suspicion of onion and a few walnut meats, broken. Serve with French dressing on a bed of watercress.

Half a cupful of onion. Boil, press through a colander. Add to a thin cream sauce. Serve in bouillon cups with saltines.

Half a cupful of potato. Cube and prepare two hard-boiled eggs. Slice. Place in ramekins a layer of potato. Then one of egg. Repeat. Pour over a cream sauce. Grate cheese on top. Set in oven until heated through and slightly brown.

Half a cupful of asparagus. Cut in 1-inch pieces; heat and heap on small rounds of fresh-buttered toast. Surround with scrambled egg, over which has been scattered minced parsley.

Half a cupful of corn. Prepare three medium-sized tomatoes, scoop the centers out, fill with the corn, creamed. Bake in oven until tomatoes are tender. Pour over each a heaping spoonful of cream sauce.

PRETTY FOR TOILET TABLE.

Ring Box Easily Made from Odds and Ends of Material.

A very pretty and useful addition to the toilet table in the shape of a ring box may be made from odds and ends of material. Obtain a narrow cardboard box about 1 1/2 inches wide, four inches long and one inch deep; glue the lid and proceed as follows: Cut a length of silk, or whatever material is decided upon, and cover the sides of the box, turning over the edges inside the box and underneath the lid. Sew the material in place with colorless glue. Then make the bottom quite stiff, paste white paper over it, and sew a button, which has been very simple and material, to each corner to form feet. The upper portion is formed from a strip of cardboard the length of the box and 7 1/2 inches wide. Nearly an inch from each edge rule a slight incision from end to end, so as to be able to bend it to the shape of Fig. 1 in the illustration. Next paste firmly over the whole a strip of velvet and cut five incisions to hold the material. Lastly, cut out two semi-circular portions, Fig. 2, cover them with velvet and paste to the spaces caused by the curved top at each end; fix this top by slipping the edges inside box, fit with glue.

CHILDREN'S LAWN PARTY

Several Mothers May Unite and Give the Little Ones a Happy Afternoon.

Several mothers may unite and give their little ones a happy afternoon by directing the attention of an older boy or girl experienced in school athletics. The tests should be very simple and the programme changed the moment the little folks show signs of over-excitement or irritability. Let the children begin by marching singly as they go in supper to quiet them down. Serve supper in a large tent, using kindergarten tables and chairs. Have the tables flower trimmed and "fairies" waiters. These may be young girls dressed in white with wreaths of flowers and garters. For the fishing ponds have tubs of water and let them fish for floating toys. Protect the little fishers by overhead awnings. Watchmen in child's dress seems a little matter, but remember that a spotted dress may spoil the bright day for a little girl—What-to-Eat.

THE OLD BOY LIFTED HER HAND TO HIS LIPS.

were once away from here, he need never know anything about the Pavilion or that you—"

He broke off. Rosa's mouth was set hard. It was no rosebud now.

"That will do," said she. "No, no! I won't. Not unless you marry me openly here in Silverbeach, and ask the whole Pavilion crowd to the wedding."

"Rosa!"

"It is my benefit on Monday," she said, "and I get ten per cent of the profits. Bring your grandfather to the Pavilion to see me. I can wear what I like and sing what I like on Monday. I will do my best to make a good impression."

Patrick shook his head gloomily. He knew Rosa's reputation too well. "And now," said she, "I'm going down to the Pavilion to practice songs."

"It will be a new experience," suggested Patrick, mildly, "and very amusing."

"Experience I'd rather do without," grunted the grandfather. "Tomfools and mixings!"

"I shall take tickets for both of us," said his grandson, hastily. "It's—it's for a charity to-night."

"A charity? For what?"

"For the benefit of a poor girl," was the young man's shameless reply. "I'm," said his grandfather. "A charity. I suppose you will make me go whether I wish to or not."

At half-past seven precisely the big wooden doors which shut in the brilliant little stage were opened wide by the ruffled hurst, and the ladies orchestra struck up their selection from "Floridors."

"Ladies and gentlemen," the manager announced, "you have some tonight for Miss Rosa Carey's benefit. No doubt she will thank you for your generous support later on. For some reason, known only to herself, Miss Carey has chosen to sing to you to-night in the character of a lady of the year 1810. I hope you will receive her kindly."

The audience was puzzled, but it applauded vigorously. Patrick did not understand it the least.

A rose-colored rascal drifted out on the stage, not with a hop, skip and a jump, as was Rosa's habit, but with a devious blowing of a chaise and a glide, which ended in a low curtsy to the audience.

AROUND THE BASES

Pennsylvania Schoolgirl a Star Baseball Pitcher

Miss Carrie Meyer, the 17-year-old daughter of Victor Meyer, of Marcus, Pa., is a living refutation of the charge that when a woman throws a ball or a missile the one point of safety for any human being is direct-ly in line with what she aims at.

From her earliest childhood Miss Meyer, who is now winning fame twirling the spheroid across the home plate, had a deep love for baseball. When other girls were jumping the rope and tramping the hoop, Miss Meyer was playing baseball and hand ball with the boys in the neighborhood, and every juvenile captain of the diamond coveted her for the honor of having her on his team, for even at that tender age she could line them out at a rate that made every youthful batter sear in the shoulder-blades, fanning the empty and innocent atmosphere, and it is confidently predicted that if she keeps on pitching ball she will yet make Babe Waddell sit up and take notice.

While Miss Meyer has been fond of all kinds of athletic sports "since childhood's busy hour," it was not until she was a student at the Kutztown normal school, a few years ago, that her great ability as a pitcher came into observation.

She then played upon the regular school nine and helped win many a victory. While she prefers pitching as being most scientific and affording a greater opportunity for display of skill, she is able to fill worthily any position on the diamond.

Her style of pitching is a puzzling proposition. In a recent game when Bethlehem, she struck out five men. Apparently, she pitches a slow ball, but it is so very elastic that not one in three is able to find it when it reaches the plate.

"Midge" Huggins Says Keeler Is His Ideal

While Miller Huggins, the crack left-handed pitcher of the Cincinnati Reds, is the idol of the fans, yet few besides his personal friends know that "The Habit" has gained largely through following out one of the elementary teachings of the lower schools. In the words of Miller it might be explained that many occasions "They told me in school to pick out my ideal man and follow his ways and manners to the best of my ability." That is exactly what Huggins has done, and incidentally he has, in the opinion of many, equaled his ideal.

When Huggins started to play the game of baseball he had many occasions to visit League park, and while there he often saw "Woe Willie" Keeler play. Miller was a mile of a kid in those days, and because of Keeler's small stature the local boy took a liking to him, and after each exhibition in which he witnessed the great fielder, Huggins would come to the front lots and do his best to imitate him.

It has been asked many times through the papers and of the correspondents in the press box, "Why does Huggins hold his bat almost in the middle?" The one answer to this is "Keeler." This was one of the first things in the scientific point of the game that "The Habit" copied from the fielder.

He would study this, and for a long time could not realize why this should be done except that Keeler, batted that way, and Keeler was well up in the 300 ranks every season. As he grew older his batting became the feature of the amateur diamonds around this city, and finally he landed in big company.

But this was not the only thing that the crack second baseman learned from his celebrated idol. His every movement on the bases was practiced and followed out, and before he had been in the American association half a season he was removed for the number of times he landed on first base, either by his hitting or his bases on balls.

This is another thing that Keeler is noted for, and one reason why his name is seen almost invariably at the head of the batting list. Huggins' height, like that of Keeler, assists him to a great extent in getting bases on balls, but he studied the manner in which Willie worked out his pitch a season ago because I had just read a book published by a firm of ready-mixed paint manufacturers who also manufacture pure white lead. In that book the manufacturers admitted that the best and purest of paint could be made from pure white lead. In that book it was stated that their pure white lead had been selected.

Above all people, those who attempt to write on historical subjects should give the facts, even if it is only a date or a statement about wood, or brick, or paint, or other building material.

ERRORS ABOUT THE WHITE HOUSE

To the Editor: I noticed somewhere recently I would not say positively that it was in your columns an article on the White House which contained several misstatements.

In the first place it was stated the White House was first completed in 1800 and that its first occupant was President Madison. The fact is, its first occupant was President Adams, who took up his residence there in 1800.

The original mansion was begun in 1792. In 1814 it was burned by the British and rebuilt in 1825.

Another of the errors in the article referred to was the statement that ready-prepared paint is used on the White House to make it beautifully white.

I noticed this especially because I have used considerable paint myself and wondered how it could be so should be used on such an important building when all painters know that pure white lead and linseed oil make the best paint.

It so happened also that I knew white lead and linseed oil—not ready-mixed paint—were used on the White House because I had just read a book published by a firm of ready-mixed paint manufacturers who also manufacture pure white lead. In that book the manufacturers admitted that the best and purest of paint could be made from pure white lead. In that book it was stated that their pure white lead had been selected.

Above all people, those who attempt to write on historical subjects should give the facts, even if it is only a date or a statement about wood, or brick, or paint, or other building material.

DIAMONDS IN UNITED STATES

Stones to the Value of $300 Found in Single Year.

Never in the history of the United States has there been such a demand for diamonds as there was in 1905. Large quantities were imported, but the United States produced none. In 1903 it produced diamonds to the value of $60, in 1904 it had an output worth $100, in 1905 its production was valued at $120, and in 1906 the country boasted native diamonds to the value of $300.

Diamonds have been discovered in the United States in four different regions, but their actual place of origin is unknown. All have been found in loose and superficial deposits, and all accidentally.

It is not at all improbable, however, that some day the original sources of this queer kind of gem will be discovered. The high price of diamonds has made the recent search for these precious stones in the United States and Canada more than ever before—Scientific American.

YOUNG COLONEL IN DILEMMA

Ways of War Were a New Thing to His Understanding.

At the Army and Navy club in Washington a number of veteran officers were telling stories, when Gen. Chaffee told this anecdote of Gen. Carr, who died in New York some years ago.

It appears that Gen. Carr, at the outbreak of the civil war, had left Troy to take command of a regiment. The engagement in which, as colonel, he first figured was at Big Bethel. His regiment had been hallooed for rest, an refreshment in a pleasant place and had not yet experienced the excitement of a skirmish. It happened however, that confederates were in ambush in the immediate neighborhood and from a safe hiding place they opened fire on the northerners. Carr, so the story runs, instantly put spurs to his horse and dashed up to a group of officers. Excitement and bewilderment were apparent upon his young face as he approached the party.

"They are firing upon my regiment!" he shouted. "My God! Now what is to be done?"—Harpers Weekly.

His Only Concern.

A well known member of the New York bar, a man of most patronizing manner, one day met John G. Carlisle, to whom he observed bitterly.

"I see, Carlisle, that the supreme court has overruled you in the case of Mallin versus Jenkinson. But let me add, in his grand way, you, Carlisle, need feel no concern about your reputation."

Carlisle chuckled. "Quite so," he agreed. "I'm only concerned for the reputation of the supreme court."—Harpers Weekly.

Training School for Elephants.

There is a training school for elephants at Asil, in the Congo State, where 25 elephants are taking lessons. The training operations have produced encouraging results, says the Tribune Congolese.

DUBIOUS

About What Her Husband Would Say.

A Mich. woman tried Postum Food Coffee because ordinary coffee disagreed with her and her husband. She writes:

"My husband was sick for three years with catarrh of the bladder, and palpitation of the heart, caused by coffee. Was unable to work at all and in bed part of the time.

"I had stomach trouble, was weak and fretful so I could not attend to my housework—both of us using coffee all the time, and realizing it was harmful.

"One morning the grocer's wife said she believed coffee was the cause of our trouble and advised Postum. I took it home rather dubious about what my husband would say—he was fond of coffee.

"But I took coffee right off the table, and we haven't used a cup of it since. You should have seen the change in us, and now my husband never complains of heart palpitation any more. My stomach trouble went away, and my nerves are better. My children love it and it does them good, which can't be said of coffee.

"A lady visited us who was always half sick. I told her I'd make her a cup of Postum. She said it was tasteless stuff, but she stretched me a little, it boiling it thoroughly for 15 minutes, and when done she said it was splendid. Long boiling brings out the flavor and food quality." Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich.

BABY COVERED WITH SORES.

Would Scratch and Tear the Flesh Unless Hands Were Tied—"Would Have Died But for Cuticura."

"My little son, when about a year and a half old, began to have sores come out on his face. I had a physician treat him, but the sores grew worse. Then I heard of Cuticura on his arms, then on other parts of his body, and then came on his chest, worse than the others. Then I called another physician. Still he grew worse. At the end of about a year and a half of suffering he grew so bad I had to tie his hands in cloth at night to keep him from scratching the sores and tearing the flesh. He got to be a mere skeleton, and was hardly able to walk. My aunt advised me to try Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I sent to the drug store and got a cake of the Soap and a box of the Ointment, and at the end of about two months the sores were all well. He has never had any sores of any kind since. He is now strong and healthy, and I can sincerely say that only for your Cuticura Soap and Ointment, my precious child would have died from those terrible sores. Mrs. Egbert Sheldon, R. F. D. No. 1, Woodville, Conn., April 23, 1905."

Beware of Servant Bark Notes. There is danger in the Bark note industry of finance. THE WHITE RIVER COUNTRY.

In the opinion of one who has traveled much and observed closely, the most truly and rightfully contented people in the United States to-day are the small handymen in what is known as the Upper White River Country, anywhere from Newport, Ark., to Carthage, Mo. They are contented because their surroundings are ideal and, few if any, are so well satisfied with their lot as they are. They are contented because of their very rarity at this day and time more desirable than in the past, and the conditions which have ever prevailed with irremediable force to the independent-spirited Anglo-Saxon. Every man in the supreme rule of his own little principality; acknowledging no master save the law—and possibly his feminine helpmeet; arising to no employer; free to make his own way in the world, save those that his neighbors freely extend and expect as freely in return. He lives in a latitude where the extremes of heat and cold are never known, and at an altitude that insures perfect health. The richest bounty of Nature has been showered upon him with unparalyzing hand, but it is a question whether he more than dimly realizes the fact. He accepts as a matter of course the abundance of his enviable growth common to the north temperate zone, the surrounding forest of valuable woods and the underlying strata of precious minerals, the springs and streams of translucent purity on every hand, the wealth of fish and game at his very door, and the less favored mortals annually travel hundreds of miles to find. He is contented, but small credit is his for that, for how content he will be otherwise (in content)? It is said that such idealistic conditions may not continue, but it is written that the present possessors of this favored land must soon give place to others more appreciative of its incomparable features. A railroad has recently cut its way through the heart of this region, and the unaccustomed rustle of bank notes and chink of coin will eventually tempt the hill dweller to part with his birthright. So it has always been in the world's history—the good things that are ours without price invariably pass from our hands before we come to understand their value. The White River country will shortly be discovered anew by a class of immigrants better capable of judging its possibilities—the men who seek modest homes where the "lay of the land" will effectually prevent crowding, but too close neighbors, where their cattle can fatten on free range, where the wealth of forest and mine awaits development by intelligent workers, and where the game and fish offer enjoyable recreation to all who have leisure and inclination for sport.

Schools Spreading in China.

A few years ago the foreign missionary schools were practically the only institutions in Foochow offering facilities for the acquisition of western learning. There are now at least 30 native schools fashioned after the foreign model. Foochow is a city of 500,000 inhabitants, and these schools embrace about 3,000 students. Practically all over the city advertise the opening of various modern schools, which are springing up in every nook and corner of the place. Scarcely a week passes without the announcement of the opening of a new school.

French State Monopolies.

State monopolies are more than ever favored in France as a means of raising revenue to the prejudice of private enterprise. A committee of the chamber of deputies has been appointed, with a foreign minister of finance as chairman, to collect information on the possible working of monopolies on sugar and petroleum, and the rectification of alcohol, and insurance.

England Mourns Dairy Butler.

The London Times asserts that genuine dairy butter is a thing past praying for. Four-fifths of the population of London, the Times asserts, have never seen it in their lives. Those who have seen it have given up the idea of procuring it, and cannot obtain it in many cases at any price. What is called genuine butter in London, the Times says, is blended and reworked butter.

California's New Idea.

A California ostrich farmer is about to open a branch office in London, where he will have a collection of ostriches, and incredulous customers will be treated to feathers cut direct from the neck and feet of the ostriches, manufactured under the customer's eye, and sold to them across the counter "at a price they never heard of."

TUMORS CONQUERED

SERIOUS OPERATIONS AVOIDED. Unqualified Success of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound in the Case of Mrs. Fannie D. Fox.

One of the greatest triumphs of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is the conquering of woman's dread enemy—TUMORS.

The growth of a tumor is so slow that frequently its presence is not suspected until it is too advanced.

So-called "wandering pains" may come from its early stages, or the presence of danger may be made manifest by profuse monthly periods, accompanied by unusual pain, from the abdomen through the groin and thighs. If you have mysterious pains, if there are indications of inflammation or displacement, secure a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound right away and begin its use.

Mrs. Pinkham, of Lynn, Mass., will give you her advice if you will write her about yourself. She is the daughter-in-law of Lydia E. Pinkham and for twenty-five years has been advising sick women free of charge.

Dear Mrs. Pinkham:—

"I had the honor to congratulate you on the success I have had with your wonderful medicine. Eighteen months ago my periods stopped. Shortly after I felt so badly I had I submitted to a thorough examination by a physician and was told that I had a tumor and would have to undergo an operation. My own mother, through your advertisements and decided to give Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a trial. After taking five bottles she directed the tumor to be entirely gone. I have been examined by a physician and he says I have no signs of a tumor now. It has also brought my periods around and I am well and am well."—Fannie D. Fox, 7 Chestnut Street, Bradford, Pa.

HENRY RINES.

Henry Rines, candidate for Kanabec county for the Republican nomination as one of the representatives from this District, is thirty-four years of age, being born in Orsa, Sweden, June 20, 1871.

The year following his birth, his parents immigrated to the United States and settled at Hamfield, Kanabec county, in this state. A few months after coming to this country, his father died and, two years later, his mother married John Rines, from whom the subject of this sketch obtained his name. Through adoption by Mrs. Rines' stepfather and family moved to Hennepin, Kanabec county, Minnesota, and Mr. Rines has made that county his home ever since. His education was obtained in the schools of his home county.

At an early age he developed great talent for mathematics and, at school, was always far in advance of his classmates in that subject. Being mathematically inclined he adopted the vocation of book-keeper. He served as deputy postmaster at Brunswick and Mora for a number of years. In 1904, at the age of twenty-two, he was elected County Auditor of Kanabec county by an overwhelming majority, defeating his opponent by a vote of over two to one. He bears the unique distinction of being the youngest person ever elected to the office of County Auditor in the State of Minnesota. He held the office for ten years, being repeatedly re-elected by large majorities. During his incumbency in office he made a special study of all laws pertaining to county affairs and became known as being exceptionally well informed on all tax matters, county, town, school, road, ditch laws and real estate titles. His knowledge on these subjects was such that his advice was much sought after by the people of the county.

He is, at present, editor of the "Kanabec County Times," published at Mora, Minnesota, having purchased that paper upon retiring from the county auditor's office. He has always been a hard worker for the Republican party and has served two years as secretary, and eight years as chairman of the Republican County Committee. Mr. Rines has a high reputation for the strictest integrity and has always had the confidence and esteem of the citizens of his home county.

A good complexion is impossible with the stomach out of order. If attention to their stomachs and less to the skin on their faces, they would have been a hard worker for the Republican party and has served two years as secretary, and eight years as chairman of the Republican County Committee. Mr. Rines has a high reputation for the strictest integrity and has always had the confidence and esteem of the citizens of his home county.
