BEDÉ AT WEST ROCK

Pine County's Honorable Congressman
Addresses a Church Fall of Intelligent Auditors.

Monday evening, as scheduled, Hon. J. Adam Bedé met a representative body of the voters in the M. E. church at West Rock.

So far as we infer by a representative body of voters, we mean that the hall was well filled by those who had come from near and far to hear our honorable Congressman discourse the different questions which confront the entire populace of this district during the present day.

A few of the many stalwart republican affiliates were present from Pine City and those of them who occupied seats on the platform were J. Y. Breckenridge, H. W. Harle and H. J. Rath. Congressman Bedé naturally occupied a seat as the central figure. Hans A. Sandwick, of Willow River, was one of the prominent men present and thereby filled one of the chairs on the platform. Besides these were Gust Peterson, a staunch and worthy republican worker of West Rock, and Curtis M. Johnson, one of the strongest of the republican yeomen of Chicago county.

J. Y. Breckenridge was introduced by Gust Peterson. After a few opening "feelers" by our reliable "Breck" the audience were more than entertained by his fitful utterances on subjects which vitally concerned the candidates who were nominated for county offices by the voters of this county at the primaries.

He particularly dealt with those who were the republican candidates but did not let slip the opportunity to say a good word here and there for those officers who had already competently filled office under a democratic affiliation. Our worthy sheriff, R. J. Hawley and our judicious Robt. Wilcox were given a journey through the needle's eye by this exponent which they could not well forget. Under the circumstances they were well commended.

They are men of integrity and well worthy the support of their constituency. Curtis M. Johnson, a promising young politician from Rush City, was given the stand and during a twenty-minute speech adhered almost entirely to the gubernatorial question during which he very materially strengthened Cole's support in that particular locality.

The chairman of the evening, Gust Peterson, had the honor of introducing the speaker of the evening, Congressman Bedé immediately warned to his subject and at once captured the undivided attention of his auditors. He talked rapidly and covered a great deal of ground. Naturally his efforts were of a political nature and were largely directed toward a resume of the real duties and work of a congressman while at Washington. He clearly demonstrated that those who had gone so far as to attempt to besmirch his political character were nothing but an aggregation of mud slinging liars. In order to acquire much prestige and to gain a great deal of attention for his district a congressman must be returned to Washington for a number of terms, and the longer he is in Congress the greater will be his influence and the better will his constituency be represented. Mr. Bedé gave convincing proof of this fact. Any poison that had been injected by Mr. Bedé's defamers before the primaries was ejected by the liberal use of the antidote which he so skillfully administered. None present could overlook the intense earnestness of the man and when he had finished he was greeted in such a manner as to prove conclusively that his convincing words had taken root, that another constituency of honest soil tillers in this district had resolved to stand as one man for their worthy Congressman.

A pleasing feature of the meeting was the rendition of a couple songs by the pupils of Mr. Rydell. The

DIVERSIFIED FARMING

Joseph Spindler, of Rock Creek Town,
Makes Good on Land That was Wild
Nine Years Ago.

Now-a-days we are getting more examples of Pine county's productivity worth than we have space to cover! It is no longer a hidden truth that the soil in this particular section is nothing if not the best, or its equal, in the country. There would be no need of eulogizing the varied advantages which abound here from an agricultural standpoint, but for the fact that it is a shame to allow the rest of the world to remain in ignorance of our advantages. Here we have the best of productive soil for the farmer who wishes to diversify. And those who are sought for diversified farming have an equal advantage to gain worthy riches by specializing. This week our attention has been directed to one particular farmer whose trading point is Pine City, Joseph Spindler is the man upon whom we have the limelight directed.

Nine years ago Mr. Spindler moved onto a wild and unquaint piece of property five miles southeast of here. He was found to get all he could out of his investment, and straightway began operations. It is sufficient to know that he combined his physical and mental facilities in his efforts to develop his holdings, but we've got a hold on some statistics that are too good to keep, and, therefore, are going to deliver them as an example of what thrift and industry will do. However, it is necessary to bear in mind that Mr. Spindler has not been idle from 1897 up to the present time.

Besides a fine residence he has a number of excellent farm buildings, which are worth considerable. He is already independent, but this independence did not come about by shiftless tactics, but by hard labor, and his case should be one to emulate by some of the tillers who may chance to read this article.

In closing we would call special attention to the pickle raising result which is contained in the list and summation below. On less than two acres he derived $173.00 on cucumbers, which have such a ready market at the pickling plant here.

The following is the result of Mr. Spindler's diversified farming during this year, which amply proves that Pine county is a haven for those who recognize farming on a business basis:

Product	Estimated Worth
Oats, bu. 650	$201.50
Wheat, bu. 475	337.25
Timothy hay, tons. 109	800.00
Cream, bu. 750	750.00
Potatoes, bu. 550	165.00
Pickles, 173.00	173.00
Beets, bu. 190	57.00
Corn, bu. 900	90.00
Pigs, 100	100.00
Cattle, 100.00	100.00

THE BALANCE OF TRADE

The Only Good Way to Sustain Prosperity at Home is to Retain Our Working Capital.

When the original thirteen colonies banded themselves together in a political institution known as the United States, its statesmen realized that a hard struggle was before them, as in every department of commerce the balance of trade was against them—in other words, they were sending more money abroad for what they needed than they were receiving from abroad. This condition has been of vital interest to every new country, and even to some of those who count their ages by the century. When anyone or any community arrives at that period in its experience where more money is coming in than going out, they are certainly building a strong foundation for the future. That is what is making the United States wealthy today—we are keeping our money at home. Then when we need it it is not necessary for us to look to foreign powers for a loan—we have it among our own people.

There is little in the experience of the lives of nations that may not apply with just as much force to the lives and undertakings of the individual communities. In fact it applies with almost equal force to the lives of the individuals themselves. So closely is this principle allied to the welfare of communities that it is worthy of consideration by the persons who are inclined to send their money to foreign markets for what they need. A better way is to keep their money at home. Really this applies with greater force to an agricultural community than to almost any other. Let us illustrate for the purpose of making ourselves more clearly understood. There was in active everyday circulation among the people of the sum of $50,000 in the month of January. The sum in circulation because it is needed to conduct the business of the community. If all of it was not needed a part of it would retire and if more was needed it probably would be forthcoming from some source. We have now seen that in the month of January the people of the county have $50,000 to do business with. Suppose that during the month it circulated $25,000 to large cities for man-

At the close of the Northern Minnesota conference of the Methodist Episcopal church at Minneapolis Monday evening, the assignments of the clergyman were announced.

Rev. F. H. Feetham will go to Rush City. He expected to be appointed to the Brooklyn Center charge, but that will be in the circuit of another clergyman, so Mr. Feetham was transferred to this district.

Rev. Gen. Parish, who formerly preached at Carlton, has been transferred to the West Wisconsin conference, and will have charge of the 50th street church at Superior. Rev. John Parish goes from Wyoming to Eden Prairie, and Rev. Herbert Parish, who is now attending Hamline, will have charge of the work at Wyoming and Steady.

Doctors Hold Business Session.

The Medical Association, composed of physicians from Chicago and Pine counties, met in regular session at Dr. Froelich's office Tuesday. The attendance was not as large as desired, but nevertheless a very good meeting resulted. No papers were read or discussed, and the meeting was of a purely business nature. It was decided that meetings should be held at only Pine City and Rush City hereafter, on account of the convenient train service. The next session of the Association will be held on the second Tuesday of January, 1907. Eight members were present at Tuesday's session, as follows: Dr. C. A. Anderson, Rush City; Dr. O. J. Werner, Lindstrom; Drs. H. P. Dredge, D. W. Cowan and W. A. McEachern, Sandstone; Drs. E. K. Barnum, R. L. Wiseman and H. W. Froelich, Pine City.

Secret of the Pyramids. A Brooklyn engineer of note, who spent several years in Egyptian exploration, is of opinion that the mystery of the pyramids has been solved. The most extraordinary discovery showing 2,000,000 men handling on a rope to raise a 2,000,000 pound stone into its proper niche near the pinnacle of old Cheops is familiar to all of us. Theories as to the mode of construction are legion. But all the engineering logic and experience of to-day and for the last 100 years has failed to cast more than a shadow over the mystery. Plazzi Smith thought he knew all about it, but nothing of a practical nature came of his research. It is a study that our wise men did not think of examining with critical eye the tools found in the pyramids. An old saw—a workman's tool—found in the ship—is no better than a workman known by his tools. Our Brooklynite says that the tools are not those of rock masons, nor mere plasterers implements. They are the cracks between the stones, but are plain in the crude Egyptian plan of operative engaged in mining and laying their cement. Cement is the cement their cement. Cement is the coming building material, says New York Press. Builders are renewing their steel, from and stone piers, abutments, culverts, etc., with it, and it is expected to last forever. No great skill is required in manipulating it. There is no chiseling, hammering, no hewing, no lifting, with derricks, no mounds. The industry already has grown to enormous proportions. Drop a sack of dry cement to the bottom of a river and in a few minutes you have a solid stone. It never will wear away. Drop 1,000 sacks on top of it and round it and presently you will have a foundation that will sustain for all time a million ton bridge.

Use of Denatured Alcohol. Not alone among automobilists, engineers and men of commercial prudence generally is there a deep current of interest apparent in the problem of the adaptability of denatured alcohol to their several needs, but among all classes in all walks of life, and homewards in particular, one finds an excessive eagerness as to how and when cheap alcohol is to be afforded to the public. The United States commissioner of internal revenue has just returned from a tour of Europe, made to study the free alcohol problem as it appears there, and he brings some enlightening information. He says that nothing has been settled yet as to the kind of denaturant to be used in this country. In Great Britain and France he found that wood alcohol was generally used, and that the denaturant was made up of wood alcohol, rendered the spirits unfit for drinking. In Germany a composition of wood alcohol with bone oil was employed, but which if either or any of these will be used as a denaturant here the commissioner was unable to state. He further declared that denatured alcohol has by no means supplanted gasoline in Europe, and said that the only automobiles propelled by spirits, so far as his observations went, were in Germany. Nevertheless, says the Troy Times, he appears to be confident that in time this country will be enabled to teach the world much about the possible use of alcohol. The free alcohol act, so called, will go into effect here January 1.

What is Realism? Probably the simplest definition explains realism as the attempt to see and depict the world as it is. Unfortunately, this is meaningless. Every man sees his own world, and if he depicts it as it is there is little likelihood of its being the same as the world of anybody else. We shall be as safe, though, if we say that realism is the attempt to depict the world as the ordinary man sees it, the average, commonplace man. Although not a novelist, says General Brandford, Jr. in The Boston Herald, the typical realist of literature is the realist of the commonplace, he expresses the emotions and experiences of the average man with a naturalness, a flexibility possible only to one who is an average man himself—and not a poet. But the artist, by definition, not the average, commonplace man, and when he tries to be a thoroughgoing realist, his artist's genius is perpetually getting between his legs and tripping him up.

OIL SUIT IN OHIO SETS PRECEDENT

INFORMATION REPLACES WORK OF GRAND JURY IN ANTI-TRUST CASE.

Standard and its Alleged Constituent Concerns in Buckeye State Placed on Trial in the Probate Court at Findlay. Friday, Oct. 9.—Charged with "conspiracy against trade" in violation of the antitrust laws of the state, the Standard Oil company of Ohio and its alleged constituent companies, the Buckeye Pipe Line and the Manhattan Oil company were placed on trial here Tuesday before Judge Gordon C. Baker and a jury in the probate court of Hancock county.

Both the manner of bringing the suit and the jurisdiction of the probate court have been questioned by the attorneys for the defense. Judge Baker has decided against them on all points, and no appeal can be taken on these preliminary questions until after the case has been tried. Judge Baker ruled that a violation of the Valentine law constitutes a misdemeanor and that the last session concurrent jurisdiction with common pleas courts over all misdemeanors.

The Valentine law, under which the action is brought, was passed July 1, 1907. It defines in detail, and as a combination of capital, skill or acts by two or more persons, firm, etc., to create or carry out, or to attempt to create or carry out, in violation of the law, a conspiracy against trade, and punishes by a fine of from $50 to $5,000, or imprisonment for not more than 12 months, as to the evidence required to convict, the statute says: "It shall be sufficient to prove that a trust or combination as defined aforesaid, or acted for or in connection with it, or any of the members belonging to it, or proving or producing any article of agreement or written instrument, at all points of the conspiracy or trust or combination alleged may be established by proof of its general reputation as such."

TO BUILD CANAL BY CONTRACT Chinese to Be Employed by the Successful Bidders.

Washington, Oct. 9.—It has been finally decided that the Panama canal will be completed by contract. In a few days the commission will make public a statement setting forth the reasons for favoring the contract system and at that time a form of contract will also probably be published showing exactly the sort of documents to be delivered by the commissioners to be necessary for safeguarding the work. President Roosevelt is known to support the commission in its position that the work can be done more satisfactorily by contractors than by the government.

REPORT ON COURT-MARTIAL

FIFTY OFFICERS TRIED DURING FISCAL YEAR.

Unlawful Selling of Clothing and Acquaintances by Soldiers Source of Loss to Government.

Washington, Oct. 8.—During the last fiscal year, according to the annual report of Gen. George H. Davis, judge-advocate general of the army, 4,394 trials in general court-martial were held.

Fifty of these trials were of commissioned officers, 43 of whom were convicted and eight acquitted. Fourteen officers were dismissed by sentence. In four cases the sentences were commuted to loss of rank; in two cases resignation "for the good of the service" was accepted in lieu of confirming the sentences, and in one case the sentence was disapproved.

About 50 per cent. of the enlisted men convicted by general court-martial received sentences involving dishonorable discharge and about five per cent. of these sentences were awarded in view of previous convictions.

The trials by general court-martial during the year showed a decrease of 204 as compared with the previous year. Many of the men tried were charged with unlawfully selling or acquaintances to the government by the government of selling clothing issued to enlisted men, in spite of all efforts looked to its suppression.

MYSTERY IN DEATH OF WOMAN Shelbyville Church Wrecker Found in Bed with Bullets in Brain.

Shelbyville, Ind., Oct. 8.—Mystery surrounds the death of Mrs. Laura Ayres, 56 years old, a well-known and active church worker of this place, who was found dead in bed Sunday with a bullet in her brain. The coroner and prosecuting attorney are making a rigid investigation, but would make no statement as to what conclusions they had reached.

AMERICAN TROOPS CAMPED IN HAVANA

CRUISER BROOKLYN AND OTHER SHIPS LAND MEN IN THE CUBAN CAPITAL.

Disarmament of Former Rebels Goes On with More or Less Friction. Some of the Insurgents Entering Objections to the Order.

Havana, Oct. 8.—The first landing of American soldiers in the present occupation of Cuba was accomplished Sunday with marvelous promptness, and 400 men of the Fifth United States Infantry and 350 men of the Second battalion of engineers are set on land by the cruiser Brooklyn. The cruiser Brooklyn arrived here in the afternoon with 400 men on board, who were sent out to the camp early Monday morning.

Gen. Frederick Funston established his headquarters at Mariano, convenient to his command. Col. L. T. Walker, commanding the marines, has been ordered to report to Gen. Funston, and the entire force of regulars and marines will be under Funston's command until the arrival here of Gen. J. Franklin Bell, who will direct the distribution of the forces throughout the island.

Men Go to Camp. Within an hour from the time that the transport Sumner came alongside the railroad wharf the disembarking was completed and the 850 men had been transported on street cars direct to the camp. Their equipment and supplies were taken on freight cars by another route. The movement was so skillfully handled that the men prepared their midday meal from their own rations. The men are in good condition and are pleased with their camp and its pleasant surroundings.

May Force Men to Disarm. The disarming of former insurgents went on much better Sunday. Reports from members of the disarmament commission in various provinces indicate that the trouble which was threatened Saturday may be avoided, although ex-rebels and volunteers in a few towns in Santa Clara province are still disinclined to be the first to disarm. The movement was so skillfully handled that the men prepared their midday meal from their own rations. The men are in good condition and are pleased with their camp and its pleasant surroundings.

ROOSEVELT MAY BE SENATOR

PRESIDENT IS SAID TO COVET PLACE HELD BY PLATT.

Ambitious to Enter Upper House of Congress and Stamp His Personal Influence on National Legislation.

Washington, Oct. 9.—Reports that President Roosevelt wants to be senator from New York to succeed Senator Thomas C. Platt, are revived here. The president on the authority of men intimate with him, not only desires to be senator from New York after he ends his present term, but frankly admits that ambition. Moreover, he considers the trend of things in New York politics at this time distinctly favorable to his ambition and so do his friends. He is being looked upon and more as the leader of New York Republican politics and is being consulted by State Chairman Woodruff and other leaders almost daily.

That he brought about the nomination of Charles E. Hughes while avoiding appearance of doing so is declared by his closest friends. Mr. Roosevelt's warmest supporters say a New York legislature will be elected pledged to him for the senate and that the president is determined to keep his word not to take a third term, but to get into the senate if possible and there stamp himself on national legislation.

DENATURED ALCOHOL WILL SUPPLANT OIL

REMOVAL OF REVENUE FROM NEW PRODUCT MAKE IT FACTOR IN COMMERCE.

Rendered Unfit for Use as Beverage or for Medicinal Purposes, It Will Be Utilized in Arts and Industries and for Fuel and Light.

Washington, Oct. 8.—Mr. Yerkes, commissioner of internal revenue, with the approval of the secretary of the treasury, has issued the departmental regulations controlling the making of denatured alcohol, the handling of the same and its use. These regulations follow and render effective a law enacted by the congress at its last session, and which provides for the production of denatured alcohol from bond, tax free, of domestic alcohol when the same is rendered unfit for beverage or liquid medicinal uses by the addition of suitable denaturating materials, and for the use of the denatured article in the arts and industries, and for fuel, light and power.

The law becomes effective January 1, 1907. Objects to Be Attained. In discussing the new regulations Mr. Yerkes said: "The prime object to be attained by this type of legislation is to furnish, for purely domestic uses, and also for the heavy industrial and domestic purposes, heat, light and power, cheap alcohol with the hope thereby there will be a reduction of excess in the distilleries."

"This denatured alcohol will be a competitor with illuminating oil, gasoline and coal. Free of Revenue Tax. "It will also furnish to manufacturers who use alcohol in the products of their factories, and also for the heavy industrial and domestic purposes, heat, light and power, cheap alcohol with the hope thereby there will be a reduction of excess in the distilleries."

Guard Against Fraud. "In preparing the regulations it was essential to adopt a plan that would prohibit, as far as possible, the perpetration of any and all frauds against the revenue of the government by the claimant and re-purification of denatured alcohol through redistillation or other processes through the removal of the denatured ingredients, and the re-addition of the alcohol to its original condition for beverage and potable purposes."

SHERIFF PREVENTS A LYNCHING

Takes Negro Prisoner from Blooming-ton, Ind., to Escape Mob.

Bloomington, Ind., Oct. 8.—The negro Edward Jones, who Saturday night shot and killed Alfred Stephens, a lunch wagon man, was safely taken to the Marion county jail early Sunday.

The crowd, which for a time threatened to take Jones from the officers and lynch him, was again in evidence early Sunday morning, and it was only by the determined efforts of the sheriff and his deputies that the excited men surrounding the jail were kept from battering the doors down and entering the place.

PINE COUNTY PIONEER.

ED. C. GOTTRY, Editor and Prop.

Entered in the Post Office at Pine City as Second Class Matter.

PINE CITY, MINN., Oct. 12, 1906

"The advocates of early marriages will find food for thought in the recent Sussman Murder in Minneapolis," avers the Anoka Herald.

Stove's Rush City Post says: "These whirlwind campaigns are made up mostly of wind that doesn't whirl much after the primaries."

Wonder if either Hamlin or Sandwick have kept track of the number of babies they have kissed during their campaign for the auditorship. Very often the best kisser wins out in politics.

We shall surely have a two cent passenger rate on our railroads. Both gubernatorial candidates are advocating legislation to that effect. Cole could secure it more readily, however, for he would have the support of the legislature which will be largely republican.

The primary election laws are receiving considerable comment. If they are effective in the ousting of corruption in county affairs surely they are so much more greatly needed in state affairs. If the laws cannot be extended they should be repealed.

The two million or more estate of David Tozier, appears to avoid taxation at Stillwater or elsewhere. Before he died he covered the property up by unknown transfers so the probate of the estate did not show where or to whom it went, or the amount of it. The tax collector is hunting for it.—Journal, Taylors Falls.

There is very little enthusiasm being used in the campaign against Gov. Johnson. Candidate Cole cannot step into office without the support of his party and there must either be a great deal of pre-election enthusiasm or else defeat. It is right that a democratic executive should continue to hold the highest office in a state that is so largely republican?

There is but one way to solve the murder problem at Minneapolis, and that is to try the vicious criminals at once with very little publicity and if found guilty to give them absolutely no clemency. "Billy" Dowell, a well-known and promising newspaper reporter, was the last victim. He was laid away to Mother Earth Wednesday, and his murderer is languishing in jail, "awaiting trial."

"The law, forbidding minors liquor, was not carried out very fully Saturday night, for a number of young men showed signs of intoxication," says the Willow River correspondent in the Hinckley Enterprise. That's one way of giving the matter publicity, but the fact that the men were drunk does not prove that the saloons were open, or that they personally secured the stuff from the saloons. They could salt enough liquor to carry them into several stupors by laying in a supply Saturday night. Evidence is what counts in order to make a complaint held good—not allegations.

Minnesota Convicts.
The biennial report of the state prison authorities furnishes some interesting figures regarding the 690 prisoners who were incarcerated within the dull gray walls at Stillwater July 31, 1906, at the conclusion of the period covered by the report. For instance, if anybody thinks that the majority of the prisoners are of foreign birth, they are very much mistaken. Only 244 of them were born in other lands, while 446 of them first saw the light of day on American soil. However, of the 690 prisoners only 165 were of American parentage. One parent was American and the other foreign in 105 cases, and in the remaining 417 cases both parents were of foreign birth. The states in which most of the native-born prisoners were born were as follows: Minnesota, 169; Wisconsin, 45; Iowa, 36; New York, 26; Illinois, 26; Ohio, 21; Michigan, 20; Pennsylvania, 25; Massachusetts, 20; Missouri, 13; Indiana, 12; Kentucky, 10. The principal nationalities of those of foreign birth were as follows: Canadian, 46; Swedish, 34; Norwegian, 30; Irish, 17; Austrian, 10; Finnish, 10.

Hennepin county furnished more of these prisoners than any other county—128; St. Louis was second with 68 and Ramsey was third with 60.
The other principal counties were as follows: Itasca, 23; Beltrami, 21; Clay, 19; Blue Earth, 15; Wright and Mower, 12 each; Cass and Nobles, 11 each; Dakota, 10.
The principal occupations of the prisoners were as follows: Laborers, 196; farmers, 68; cooks, 30; railroad men and painters, 23 each; barbers, 17; carpenters 17; shoemakers, bookkeepers and engineers, 14 each; clerks, 13; teamsters, 12; miners, no "occupation," and salesmen, 11 each.
There were three actors, 1 author, 7 bankers, 1 clergyman, 1 dentist, 1 journalist, 2 policemen, 3 physicians, 4 sailors, 1 speculator, 1 school teacher, 1 undertaker and 1 veterinarian. No lawyers, however.
Only 31 of the prisoners were positively illiterate, though 18 could read only, and 192 could read and write only. Of the others, 365 had had common school education only, 29 were high school graduates, and 12 were college graduates.
As to habits, strangely enough 25 of these convicts are total abstainers, while 370 confessed to the "moderate" use of intoxicants, and 295 were classed as intemperate.
Statistics as to the social relations of the prisoners make a pretty good showing for matrimony, for only 201 of the 690 are married men or women. One was "separated," 14 divorced, 40 widowed, and 434 were single.—Duluth Herald.

Chas. Lindner has finished a very successful fall's threshing.

Chas. Dindner was a county seat visitor the latter part of last week.

John Lindgren is contemplating building an addition to his store building.

Wedding bells will be ringing shortly in this vicinity, the contracting parties being Fred Lieman and Mrs. Peter Heffert.

Herman Lueh, who has been in the western part of Minnesota and the Dakotas during the past summer, returned home the fore part of the week.

Republican candidate for county auditor, H. A. Sandwick, of Willow River, was campaigning in these parts Monday afternoon. He was accompanied by Liverman Walt Gottry, of Pine City.

Mrs. Hans Parson was a Pine City visitor the latter part of last week, and purchased furniture at A. W. Piper's store, with which she will furnish the M. E. parsonage at West Rock, so as to board the teachers.

Quite a number from this place attended the Bede speech in the M. E. church at West Rock Monday evening. Those who had the pleasure of attending the meeting were well repaid, as it was one of the best ever held in this vicinity. Aug. Peterson acted as chairman, and introduced the speakers in his most pleasing manner. The preliminary speakers were J. V. Breckenridge, who spoke on the county ticket to be voted for on the sixth of next month. He was followed by Curtis Johnson, of Rush City, who spoke for about twenty minutes on the state ticket. He said that the reason the people of this state should elect Cole governor was he belonged to the same political party as the balance of the state ticket and the legislature, and pointed out that no matter how good a man Governor Johnson is he has a handicap that Cole would not have. Congressman Bede then held the audience spell bound for about an hour and a half. Time will not permit us to go into detail in regard to Mr. Bede's remarks, suffice it to say that those who stayed away missed a rare treat. At the close of Mr. Bede's speech the school children, led by Abbie Rydell, sang America.

No danger of consumption if you use Foley's Honey and Tar to cure that stubborn cough. Sold at Breckenridge's Pharmacy.

When a horse is so overworked it lies down and in other ways declares its inability to go further, you would consider it criminal to use force. Many a man of humane impulses, who would not willingly harm a kitten, is guilty of cruelty where his own stomach is concerned. Overdriven, overworked, show what it needs in something that will digest the food eaten and help the stomach to recuperate. Something like Kodo for Dyspepsia, that is sold at Breckenridge's Pharmacy.

Can you win? You realize that to win in anything these days requires strength, with mind and body in tune. A man or woman with disordered digestive organs is not in shape for a day's work or a day's play. How can they expect to win? Kodo for dyspepsia contains the digestive juices of a healthy stomach, and will put your stomach in shape to perform its important function of supplying the body and brain with strength building food. Digests what you eat, relieves indigestion, dyspepsia, sour stomach, flatulation of the heart and constipation. Sold at Breckenridge's Pharmacy.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedy. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the eustachian tube. When the tube is inflamed you have a running discharge from the ear, and when it is entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and the tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Druggists for circulars free. Sold by Deacons, 70c.

In the cellar a furnace has been installed, which will convene the heating of the building. We understand that an effort will be made to secure a bell for the bell.

At the meeting of the medical practitioners of this and Chicago counties, held at this place Tuesday the doctors of this county decided to meet at Hinckley on the 12th of next month for the purpose of discussing a new method for the treatment of the county's poor. As it now stands the poor receive professional treatment from physicians appointed by the county commissioners, and paid at the rate of 50 cents per diem and mileage. The question to be raised will be whether to continue the present method or to allow any county physician to practice among the alleged paupers, the physicians in turn to be reimbursed by the county for the services rendered.

A deal was closed last Friday whereby Messrs. Jas. Hurley and Wm. O'Brien will receive a royalty of $5.00 on every ton of ore shipped from 80 acres of their land on the Kettle River, east of Hinckley. Wednesday evening Nickerson Perkins held open house to his many friends. Yes, our county controller more than did things up brown at his bachelor's roost. The affair was not a strictly invitation affair, for he was desirous of meeting all his friends in order to show them that he was no two-thirder in the role of Miss Hot. The party was not over on the order of a linen shower, a tin bath or a clothes pin bee, for Nick doesn't court the idea of leaving the bachelors' ranks any more than he courts losing his heart to tiny Cupid. It was just such a party as one would care to get lost in after a day of business struggle. Chief Chicken bouillon prepared by Chief Vaughan, served to satisfy any cravings of hunger, and those who were not hankering for a hand-out very readily developed wondrous appetites after a whiff of the soup reminded them that the inner man was being neglected. After a few hundred—more or less—of stew had been served, some of the guests departed, while others remained for a social session. K. of P. cigars were freely distributed and a social smoke was participated in to the health and success of the host. The occasion was a delight from beginning to end, and no one who was present can testify otherwise.

A tax of $1,000 has been levied upon the taxable property of Pine City. This is somewhat new in the history of our village for not since 1881, when this village was incorporated, had a tax been levied. There are reasons for all things, it seems, and the tax was an imperative necessity. The city dads might have made the rate a great deal steeper if they had seen fit but they are not guiding the affairs of this village with an aim to spending money without some substantial showing, and as tax payers surely are vitally interested in public improvements, it would not have been surprising had the rate been made higher. The assessed valuation of Pine City in round numbers is $100,000 which shows the levy of taxation to be 10 mills or 1 per cent. A tax is a necessity at this time in order to prevent any further indebtedness; and if the expenses—as reported monthly in the Pine City papers—are exorbitant the tax payers can exercise the privilege of appearing in person and appealing to those who have seen fit to cause the levying of a tax.

THE SQUIRES VISITOR

By L. A. HARKER.

"The squire is a terrible old man!" said the new parson, shaking his head. "I pointed out to him that his wife causes a scandal in the village, and implored him to restrain."

"And what did he say?" asked Aunt Susan.

"Oh, he smiled politely, and begged to point out that he had interfered between a man and his wife more than once in his life, and that trouble had always come of it; therefore he intends to interfere no more. It seems the man Jeth is kind enough to his wife when he's sober."

The new parson looked inquiringly at Aunt Susan. She, too, shook her head, remarking:

"The squire is incorrigible. This very coachman got drunk last election day. So the squire pulled him off the box, and put him inside the carriage. Then, mounting the box himself, he called out to the crowd—there's always a crowd outside the King's Arms on election day—He's driven me home more times when I've been drunk, so now I'll drive him home! And so he did."

"That was kind!" answered a new voice, a clear, young voice.

Aunt Susan started. "Why, Melory, child, I did not know you were here. Run away, dear, I don't want you just now."

But Melory ignored her aunt, and standing in front of the new parson, old gentleman, Melory, feeling sure it was the squire, walked slowly across the grass towards him. Her sun-bonnet had fallen back, masses of brown curls clustered round the hot pink cheeks, and her brown eyes were shining. A big deer bound, lying at the squire's feet, rose as she approached, and walked to her. Laying a little brown hand confidently on its collar, she and the dog faced the squire together.

"What is your name?" abruptly demanded the squire.

"Oh, my name is Melory. You don't look very wicked!" she added, quickly.

The squire sat up in his chair.

"What made a good little girl come to see such a wicked old man, eh?"

"Oh, yes; because you are, you know!"

"Who told you I am wicked?"

"Well, people seem to think so, and so do I if you approve of beating a wife."

"What!" almost shouted the squire; but Melory was not in the least hurried. "I'm not angry myself upon your coachman to beat his wife. I wish you wouldn't; it isn't his real life."

"So that's what they say, is it?" laughed the squire, and his voice was not quite so pleasant this time. He put his arm round Melory, asking, "Do you believe it?"

Melory looked into his face, and then she said decidedly, "No, I don't. You are more like a child than a squire—a right worshipful knight," she added softly.

The squire shook his head, and his face grew sad as he said, "A child? No, I'm not that. I might have been once! What made you come to see such a wicked old man, eh?"

"I'm not good here. I am at home; but Aunt Susan's goodness is different somehow, and I can't do it. Perhaps you can't be good here either?" she suggested.

The squire muttered something and then stopped. There was silence for a minute, and Melory asked, "Do you love your coachman very much?"

"Well, no, I can't say I love him. He's been a good servant to me."

"That's the coachman's best life. He would pay attention to you."

"Do you always pay attention to what you are told?"

"Well, no," said Melory, rather slowly; "but I don't beat people."

"Neither do I," said the squire, "though I should often like to." "That the coachman then?" exclaimed Melory, triumphantly, "then he'd know what it's like."

"Egad!" said the squire, slapping his unoccupied knee. "It's an excellent idea. I will."

Melory put up her face, and the compact was ratified by kisses on both cheeks. "Then she got off his knee, saying, 'I'm glad I came; I don't believe you are a bit wicked, really!'"

"I'm glad I came, we shall always be friends!"

"I wonder," mused the squire.

He called with her in her aunt's gate, and as he waved his hat on leaving her, she called after him, "You look a right worshipful knight, anyhow."

He stood in the middle of the road to wave his hat once more, and to look back at the little figure standing in his own great gates, where the drive lay all in shade, like his heart.

(Copyright, 1906, by Joseph H. Bowles.)

But Melory ignored her aunt, and standing in front of the new parson,

"Beat the Coachman, Then!" Exclaimed Melory, triumphantly, demanded, "Is the beaten wife much hurt? And who beats her, the squire or the coachman?"

"The coachman, my dear, since you've heard so much, but it's not a pleasant subject for little girls."

Melory looked at the parson with some scorn, then slowly and with dignity left the room.

Aunt Susan gave a sigh of relief as the door closed. "She is my nephew's only child, and lost her mother two years ago. She is always with him, and terribly spoilt."

Then they changed the subject, and both Melory and the squire were forgotten.

Melory, however, didn't forget. Fully conscious of her influence in her own sphere, where she ruled Dad and the friends who frequented the big studio, with a rod of iron, she decided to go herself to remonstrate with the squire. "I'll teach him it's horrid to beat wives—anybody's wife!" she said to herself, and she trotted down the road. The squire's big gates stood open, and she turned down the drive, which seemed very long. But presently she came in full view of the great square house. On the lawn, under the shade of an immense tulip tree, sat an

DURABLE HOG YARD FENCE.

Method of Construction of One Out of Woven Wire.

The question of cheap, durable and serviceable fencing for the small yards adjacent to the piggery is an important problem, in view of R. S. Shaw, of Michigan, in Prairie Farmer. During the past, lumber in various forms has been converted into fences of different styles for this purpose, but now its scarcity and high price render its use almost prohibitive.

A tight board fence probably makes the most perfect one for turning hogs. It was attempted to make a suitable substitute, in large part, for the lumber except in the case of the divisions between the board pens. The fences forming our small pens are constructed of woven wire with 2x8 inch material at bottom and top. The plan is shown in the accompanying sketch. Corner posts are placed in this case, a little less than eight feet apart. (They should not be more than this distance for pen fences.) The posts were notched out at the bottom and top one inch deep and the width of the 2x8. This was done by firmly spiked in place, instead of being flush, projected an inch out from the surface of the post.

The 25-inch woven wire was placed on the posts with top and bottom wires just touching the 2x8's. The woven wire was not stapled to the end posts but each strand brought around the post and wrapped on itself. The wire fencing was also stapled to the intermediate cedar post and the top and bottom wires to the 2x8's, against which they rested.

The woven wire used was special hog fence with seven lateral wires, top and bottom wires No. 9 and intermediate No. 12. There are 25 No. 11 cross wires to the rod. The woven wire and 2x8 make the fence 38 inches high. This has furnished a cheap fence and after three seasons' use we are perfectly satisfied with it. But one repair has been made and that at a point where wall occurred in the 2x8's. The openings of these pens consist of doors which slide up and down in grooves at the sides, dropping into slots at the bottom to prevent pigs from opening them.

THE STOCK.

The trusty bull is always the one that does the mischief with his horns. No bull is so gentle that he can be trusted to have horns.

Behorn the calves when only a few days old by means of caustic potash. If you need a ram, get a good one.

Buttermilk alone is not an ideal ration for swine, but should be used with other feeds. It will sharpen their appetites if fed along with a good corn ration and some clover pasture.

The packers and bacon curers want a long hog that will weigh 175 to 200 pounds, with not more than 12 inches of fat evenly distributed over the back. Such hogs are best furnished by the medium Yorkshires, Tamworths and Cheshires and their crosses or grades.

Hay for sheep.

The best hay for sheep consists of clover and the tame grasses. Timothy hay is itself is not so profitably fed as the same hay when mixed with clover. The timothy hay is composed of too large quantities of maturing elements and has a too small proportion of protein. This latter gives great vigor to the sheep and goes to make muscles and the more substantial portions of the carcass. Substantially only a minority of the owners of sheep have as yet found out that the clovers make a more profitable hay for sheep than the more commonly used grasses.

Gain of the Calf.

An expert feeder says that a calf from beef breed parents should gain three pounds in weight per day for the first month, 2 1/2 pounds per day for the second month, and two pounds per day for all subsequent months. Professor Hunt found that it required eight to nine pounds of milk to make one pound of gain in the calf, but that the average gain should be at least 1 3/4 pounds per day if the calf was properly fed.

Fiber of Cotton Stalks.

It has been demonstrated that fiber from cotton stalks is nearly as strong as that from flax. A process has been worked out for making paper and bagging from cotton stalk fiber which it is estimated, will add $50,000,000 annually to the value of the crop. Factories are now being established.

KEEP THE OLD SOW OVER.

Some Wise Advice in Reference to the Management of the Piggery.

There will be a strong temptation to market the old sow this fall or at the end of the high price of pork. Many are of the opinion that their net business is more profitable when the sows are turned off after raising a litter of two and the breeding stock chosen from the youngsters, says the Swine Breeder's Journal. In this way one gets rid of the expense of feeding the old sows during the late fall and winter months. The young ones must be fed fairly well in any event, whether they be intended for breeding purposes or for the meat market, and generally is the most economical from the feed standpoint to let the old sows go and fill the breeding pens with young ones.

We do not favor this practice, however, even under present conditions. Of course there will be plenty of sows in the corn belt at this time, and it is well to have a reserve force of breeding sows. A reserve force of two, three or four, and where 15 or 20 old sows are kept it is true that some capital is tied up in them. Nevertheless, we would advise a fixed policy of keeping over the best old sows. Select those that bring through a good litter of uniform pigs. There is no question that young stock, raised from young sows, will raise better, than a young one. Furthermore, by continuing the practice of materially contributing to keeping up stamina and constitutional vigor.

There is a growing belief among many swine men that the redifier in the stamina of certain breeds is not so much due to the practice of inbreeding as it is to the mistake of continually breeding from young stock; that is, from young sows and from young males. Some of our best breeders have found by using mature stock always, and by inbreeding smartly they can get desirable characteristics only in this way. If anyone would take the time to examine any good pure-bred swine herd he would find that the owners or believers in the plan of breeding from mature animals. While the man who raises hogs for the meat market is a radically different object in view, yet we believe that the same principles apply and that the profits in the end will be longer when the plan of keeping the old sows as long as they are able to raise large and uniform litters is enforced.

A SMALL CARRIAGE HOUSE.

Description of Way to Build a Most Convenient Structure.

Floor Plan of Carriage House.

21 feet on centers. First floor joists are 2x10, placed 18 inches on centers, unless cement or earth floor is used. The box stall may be 9 feet square, with a 6x8 inch door, 6x12 inch light sash, hinged at the bottom and arranged to swing in at the top. A sash of the same size is set in the outside sliding door, the stable. The door between stable and carriage room is also a sliding door. One winnow in each side of the carriage room or in the light 6x12 inch window should be placed in the door, if desired, in place of one window.

A harness closet is built in one corner, says Farm and Home, which will provide room for harness, blankets, wagon Jack, etc. A cupboard, built in the stable for brushes and curry comb, while a few hooks will take care of the broom, shovel, fork, etc. access to the second floor is by a ladder built against the partition back of the cows. The hole through the floor is covered with a door to admit the cold weather. A door 5 feet wide is left in one end of the barn, through which to take hay, straw and grain. Two rails are built across light to the first floor through posts. Such a building can be built very cheaply and will prove ample for a village place.

Corn does not contain enough lime to give the eggs that can be produced from the other elements in the food. Be sure and supply lime in abundance.

Hard-Working Chinese Official. Everybody in China works hard, even those who have reached the highest positions. It is related of a member of the Chinese cabinet that he was left home every morning at two o'clock, and he was on duty at the palace from three to six. In addition he frequently served on special boards or commissions.

Not What He Was Used To. Ever since John D. Rockefeller became an honorary member of the American Free Humorists' association stories more or less apocryphal have been afloat regarding him. It is beginning to be suspected that some of them have been invented by his fellow humorists. One of the latest refers to an occasion last summer when he entertained a lot of stum children at his stock farm near Cleveland. Mr. Rockefeller saw each of them, among other things, some milk to drink, part of it at least being the product of a $2,000 prize cow. "How do you like it?" he asked when they had finished. "Go, it's fine!" responded one little fellow, who added after a thoughtful pause; "I wish our milkman kept a cow!"

NERVOUS DEBILITY

A Scranton Woman Tells How Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Made Her Well and Strong.

Nervous debility is the common name for what the doctors term neurasthenia. It is characterized by mental depression, fits of the "blues," or melancholy, loss of energy and spirits. The patient's eyes become dull, the pink fades from the cheeks, the memory becomes defective so that it is difficult to recall dates and names at will. None of these symptoms only may be present or all of them. The remedy lies in toning up the nervous system by means of a restorative better adapted for this purpose than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

Mrs. J. J. Taylor of No. 214 Western street, Scranton, Pa., says: "Some years ago I became greatly reduced in health and strength and my nervous system became so debilitated that I felt wretched. I could not rest or sleep well at night and woke up so weary and nervous that the morning as I was a pain in my right side which was worse when I went to bed. My head ached in the morning and often there was a pain in my stomach. My nerves were on edge all the time, every little thing bothered me and I was generally irritable. Then I decided to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People, as my husband had thought with good results, and they did wonders for me. Now I have no more pain in my side, no more headaches, I sleep well and feel strong and able to do my work."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured Mrs. Taylor's case. You can get just as much for other ailments, pale, ailing men or women who are slipping into a hopeless decline. The remedy is available at the root of all common diseases caused by poor and impoverished blood.

chinery, sewing machines, clothing, groceries, hardware, barb wire, lumber or whatever they need. In sending a catalogue houses for these supplies we are not overburdening the conditions as they exist, for as strange as it may seem, people have so far forgotten the interests of their home communities as to do nothing about this very thing. When this $25,000 reaches Chicago, New York or Boston, and other large cities, our imaginative country has only $25,000 left as an active circulating medium. They have cut their active capital in two in the middle.

As we said, this condition applies more minutely to an agricultural community, for such a neighborhood has only two ways of bringing money into it. One of these is marketing of farm produce of its crops. The other way we will speak of later. Our illustration as we have expressed it applies to the month of January, and as we have said, one of the means a farm community has of getting that $25,000 back is in selling crops, which they would not be in a position to do again for almost a year. They have depleted their actual capital by one-half, and will have nothing to sell to get it back for nearly a year. We have said there was another way of getting this $25,000 back, and that way is to borrow it—hire some one to bring it back into the community that we may have it in use. What have we done—split our capital in two in the middle and sent it to distant cities where we know there is no hope of its returning for nearly a year unless we hire it brought back. On the other hand, suppose we had bought what we needed of merchants in our immediate vicinity. This $25,000 would still be circulating among us, and we would still have our $50,000 active working capital.

In the first place there is nothing saved by buying away from home. It may seem so at the time, but if we understand all the tricks in the trades and the deception used in the manufacture of goods, we would readily be converted to the home trading idea. Secondly, we know that such a condition depletes the working capital of our communities and makes us depend upon the very people of eastern cities whom we have patronized. We give them the profits on returning the money to us that we may borrow.

If we are not mistaken the country at present is on the eve of the discussion of this most vital of questions.

New $450 Pianos for $50 and a little energy.

We do not believe in sounding high salaried men to your vicinity to sell pianos, but we are aware of the fact that we must offer some great inducements to people who live in out-of-the-way towns, so as to place a few simple pianos. We want to place two pianos in every town in this state, and to do it quickly, we offer the above.

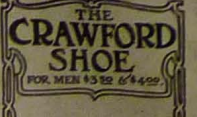

Great Sacrifice
This is a genuine offer.

So as to prove we mean every word we say, we will also offer to pay your railroad fare to Minneapolis and return, that is we will deduct your railroad fare from the $50.00. We will also pay the freight on the piano to your city. Write at once and obtain one of these simple pianos, which will come to your city. Remember only two pianos for any one town, at this remarkable offer. Address, Sales Dept., Segerstrom Piano Co., Minneapolis.

Wounds, Bruises and Burns. By applying an antiseptic dressing to wounds, bruises, burns and the injuries before inflammation sets in, they may be healed without maturation and in about one-third of the time required by the old treatment. This is the greatest discovery and triumph of modern surgery. Chamberlain's Pain Balm acts on this same principle. It is an antiseptic, and when applied to such injuries, causes them to heal very quickly. It also allays the pain and soreness, and prevents the danger of blood poisoning. Keep a bottle of Pain Balm in your home and it will save you time and money, not to mention the inconvenience and suffering such injuries entail. For sale at Breckenridge's Pharmacy.
