RALLY AT ROCK CREEK

Israel Bergstrom, L. H. McKusick and F. A. Hodge to Address Voters on State Issues Saturday Evening.

A big republican rally is scheduled to occur at Rock Creek tomorrow (Saturday) evening. Good speakers have been engaged. They are, Hon. Israel Bergstrom, of Minneapolis, Hon. L. H. McKusick and Hon. F. A. Hodge, of Pine City.

After the speaking a big feed of chicken bouillon will be served. Magnus Chaleen, who is a strong factor in the republican party at Rock Creek, while in town the other day, stated that 300 pounds of chicken had been purchased and that the same would be converted in bouillon de poulet. There will be enough for all and this part of the "program" will be a feature of the "love feast."

Quite a number of Pine Cityites have signified their intentions of attending the meeting and a huge crowd is anticipated. Now don't forget the time and place, and make an effort to attend. You are invited.

HALLOWE'EN O'ER

Little Damage Recorded on Account of Pranks—Big Party Given by the Rathbone Sisters

The small boys has again come unseated out of the glory of another Halloween night. And on account of a rather strenuous campaign on the part of the police, little damage was done to property. Tick tacking, ghostly displays and the application of soap upon the windows of the business houses seem to be about all the nonsense practised.

The T. L. Sextette of the High School had an exceedingly exclusive affair at the G. A. R. hall, and it can be imagined that a rare old time was thoroughly enjoyed by the girls who comprise the Sextette.

What was probably one of the real social events of the season, however, was the Halloween party given by the Rathbone Sisters in their hall. It was a real old time Halloween in every particular. The gentlemen were invited to come at a "fashionable hour"—say, 9 o'clock, when they did. They were greeted by goblins, witches, ghosts and "pumpkin heads." The greeting was most cordial and at times a little strenuous but all shared in the sport and everything turned out lovely. Different games were indulged in after the grand goblin march in which the "horrid things" grabbed a wing apiece and led the innocent and ignorant humans round the room. A light luncheon was served.

The ladies are to be congratulated for their excellent showing and for their efforts in entertaining their brothers. The committees are to be especially commended for the splendid arrangements which they made for the entertainment of the guests, and for the manner in which they decorated the room, etc. All repaired to their homes about the midnight hour, after having enjoyed the "time of their lives."

HOW TO BEAT IT

Some Valuable Pointers on How Wide Awake Business Men Can Beat the Catalog Houses.

The competition of the mail order houses has been a pressing problem with the merchants in small communities for a long time. It has cut into their business, reduced their volume of trade, and bred bitter resentment of the action of their fellow townsmen in sending out of town for goods in the hope of saving a few cents.

Usually attempts to resist this competition have been confined to having the local newspapers write long editorials appealing to home pride. Patrons of the catalog houses were told that if they sent their money to Chicago it stayed there, and that if they spent it at home it remained in circulation and lent life to trade of all kinds. Every word of it was true, and it ought to appeal to the citizens. But it didn't long as they fancied that they were saving money by buying direct from the catalog houses. Abstract appeals to home pride and loyalty are very fine, but nearly everybody wants the others to practice such principles, while he saves money by buying in the cheapest market.

A merchant down in Red Wing, whose advertisement appears in this week's issue of the Red Wing News, has the right idea. He is fighting the catalog houses, and he is doing it in the only way it can be successfully done—by showing that he sells goods as cheaply as they can, or cheaper. His advertisement starts this way: "Get your mail order catalog and compare my prices with _____, naming a well known catalog house.

Then he gives a list of prices, comparing his own with those of the catalog. In most cases he offers better prices. In but one case is his price the same as that of the catalog house. He can compete with the catalog houses, and he is letting the people of his city know it. Most country merchants can do the same thing, only they do not think of telling their townsmen about it through the columns of the local paper.

It would be very pleasant if it were otherwise, but appeals for trade must be appeals to self-interest. Those whom the advertiser seeks to make his customers must be shown reasons why they should patronize him, and they must be concrete reasons, too, like attractive prices, not abstract ones like patriotism and loyalty to the home community. These are all right in their places, but to be effective they must be backed up by prices, as the Red Wing merchant is doing.—North Branch Review.

Killed While Hunting.

Nestor Pearson, the thirteen year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Magnus Pearson, of Andree, has been in the habit of going duck-hunting on Rice Lake alone. He went Sunday, but did not return that evening. No alarm was felt for it was thought he had spent the night with a neighbor. In the morning, however, his lifeless body was found by his brother, Albert, at the boat landing near the Rice Creek bridge. He had landed the previous evening and in drawing his shot gun from the boat, muzzle first, it had been discharged, the charge passing directly through the heart, death resulting instantly. The remains were viewed by Coroner Swenson, who decided that death was accidental. The funeral was held yesterday at 2 p. m., and the remains were interred in the Rice Lake cemetery. Rev. Johnson, of Rush Lake, conducted the services, which were largely attended.—Isham Journal.

BIG SUCCESS

Meeting of the Pine County Teachers' Association Largely Attended—A Growing Organization.

Last Saturday the teachers of Pine county convened at Hinckley as the Pine County Teachers' Association. And the meeting was the best in attendance that has ever been held in the county. Over a hundred teachers—mostly of the gentler sex—were present to entertain and be entertained, to exchange ideas and to gain anew those things which go to make for successful teaching.

The afternoon program was commenced at 1:30 and consisted largely of numbers which would tend to educate. L. P. Colgrove, of the St. Cloud Normal, delivered an interesting address. Some spirited discussions followed, the leaders in these discussions being Supt. Anderson, of Sandstone, Prof. Havorka, of Bergton, and Co. Supt. Blankenship. At the business session it was decided that the next meeting of the Association be held at Sandstone.

The evening program was rendered in the assembly room of the high school, which was taxed to its full capacity. With the exception of an address by C. G. Schultz, assistant superintendent of public instruction, and a few remarks by Supt. Blankenship, the program was devoted to instrumental and vocal music and readings. Every participant was accorded long and hearty applause and in nearly every case responded with an encore. Every number was of the highest order, and in the words of an avowed critic "every number was a gem in itself."

Supt. Schultz gave the teachers a good heart to heart talk. He has "several times" as a rural school teacher, and knows how to sympathize with that class of boy tainers. He was superintendent of schools in Nicollet county for years and therefore his experience was very broad before he assumed his present responsible position. His views, plainly given, received the stamp of approval by every auditor whose pleasure it was to hear him. Supt. Blankenship gave a short talk just after the address of the evening in which he proposed a vote of thanks to all who had taken part and to the teachers as a whole for making the meeting so thoroughly successful.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured

by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedy. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian tube. When the tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it's entirely closed, deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever. Nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give one hundred dollars for any case of deafness (caused by catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars free. Sold by Druggists. The F. J. C. Co., Toledo, O.

Among people of conservative habits—and in this class must be placed the old families both of New England and of the south—the wedding silver is still regarded as the most important of wedding presents. The object of it usually falls to the parents of the bride or of the groom, or to some other near relative, and is rightly regarded as a definite asset. For years silver salver has been very cheap. Three years ago manufacturers were able to buy it for less than 90 cents an ounce. Since then there has been a slow but steady advance, and the recent resumption of the purchase of silver salver by the United States government has been followed by the raising of the price to 97 cents. The general belief is that it will go still higher. The immediate result of this advance is an increasing tendency to revert to the old custom of making silver the principal wedding gift, a custom which has suffered somewhat of late years from the growing competition of attraction in other fields. It is a rule of human nature that what is cheap is never valued at its real worth; and out glass, furniture, pictures and rugs have won a large share of the honor that once belonged to silver alone. The reversion to the old custom is not surprising. Silver is beautiful in itself, and is durable. Neither time nor use have any deleterious effect upon it. Like every other human thing, it shows the effect of wear; but if it was well designed and has been put to no ignominious use, it serves only to give it an added charm. The good old family silver, like those who owned it, takes on new grace and dignity with the passing years. And yet, says the Young Companion, there is family silver which makes the owner wish that the donor had chosen glass or china instead, for that might have got broken. Things cheap and tawdry in design—concessions to some passing fashion—become burdens because of their very durability. Those who choose what is to become family silver for others should remember Napoleon's remark: "Ancestors? I have none, but I myself am an ancestor."

The "Weaker Sex."

Old women and young women. It makes no difference. This cry about the feminine lack of courage and strength is out of date. A few months ago Evelyn Walsh, daughter of the Colorado millionaire, was almost killed in a motor accident. Her life hung by a thread for weeks and she was taken to her old home in Colorado as a last resort. There the braising air cured her, and one day last week she stepped into her car and reeled off 15 miles in 20 minutes. No fear there. And as for strength, Mary Wheatland, aged 72, is giving exhibitions in England of fancy swimming and diving in the sea. She has been an expert swimmer for 57 years. But why go so far afield? Consider the average woman how she shops and the society woman how she dances. And what daring of mere man, demands the Cleveland Leader, matches the hardihood of woman in defying the weather lest she be false to fashion? As for the touch and stamp of the age, when did woman ever refuse risks for what she greatly desired? It's not a question for her to be venturesome. Courage is an old story—as old as her fortitude. Has she not been compelled to make the best and most of man, the most destructive and dangerous of animals?

The following is a copy of the epitaph which is written by himself, in which he is compared to a watch that has run down: "Here lies, in horizontal position, the outside case of George Ritter, whose adding place in that line was an honor to his profession. Integrity was his masterpiece, and prudence the regulator of all the actions of his life. Humane, generous, and liberal, his hand never stopped till he had relieved distress. He never went wrong, except when set a-going by those who did not know his key. From them he took his winding-up again. He had the art of dispensing of his time so well that his hours glided by in one continual round of pleasure and delight. His unlucky accident put an end to his existence. His coat, pants and molars and keys hung beneath the tree, but his good works will never die."

Some of the people of England are criticizing the London Times for making "too American" its make-up. We feel it only duty to say for the benefit of those who do not see the Times regularly that it has had no yet begun to use red ink in its headlines.

French dealers are getting American labels on their shoes to insure their sale. They are repeating us for caution and ostentation with a little our practice of branding our wines, French before raising the price.

PROBE JAP CHOO, TROUBLE AT PRISCO

SECRETARY METCALF IS SENT WEST ON IMPORTANT MISSION.

President Diagatche Cabinet Officer to Leave Condition of Affairs Regarding Exclusion of Children and Restaurant Boycott.

Washington, Oct. 27.—President Roosevelt Friday night directed Victor H. Metcalf, secretary of the department of commerce and labor, to proceed to San Francisco and make a thorough and complete inquiry into the situation affecting the exclusion of Japanese children from the schools provided for white children, and the determination to place Japanese pupils in separate schools.

The president is anxious to obtain first hand from a cabinet officer who is acquainted with local conditions in San Francisco full information affecting every phase of the subject, to the end that whatever action is taken by the government may be after an accurate understanding of the situation. The president feels that every effort within the power of the administration should be exerted to see that all the treaty rights claimed by the Japanese for its people in the United States should be respected and protected.

Demands Full Rights.

The determination to send Secretary Metcalf to San Francisco was one of the results of the request made by Viscount Aoki, the Japanese ambassador, who at a conference with Secretary Root Thursday night, on behalf of his government, that the Japanese subjects in California be accorded the same rights under the treaty of 1894, including that of the children to attend the public schools of San Francisco. This request was the subject of very long and earnest discussion at the cabinet meeting Friday, when the conclusion was reached that the best thing to do was to send Metcalf to California to secure personally all the data which could have any possible bearing on the situation.

The dispatch of a cabinet officer on such a mission, it was argued, would demonstrate to the Japanese the evident sincerity of this government in dealing with the treaty rights, and its desire to show that every effort is being made to get at the facts.

Allege Boycott on Restaurants.

Inquiry into the inquiry into the school question, Mr. Metcalf will pay some attention to the charges made by Count Aoki to Secretary Root that American restaurant keepers in San Francisco have suffered indignities. These reports, the ambassador says, come from consular officers of the Japanese government in San Francisco. At least seven or eight reports have been made, concerning a boycott inaugurated against these restaurants and these reports state that agents have been posted to prevent patrons from entering the restaurants and in several instances stores have been thrown and windows broken.

Situation is Grave.

Administration officials do not hesitate to express privately their views of the present anti-American feeling growing out of the wrongs which the Japanese declare they have suffered, and one member of the cabinet said after the meeting that the general situation was exceedingly grave and would require the most delicate treatment to prevent an open rupture.

The president is doing all in his power to show the Japanese that there is no general feeling against the race, but that the trouble is entirely local and expressed gratification which he learned through Ambassador Aoki that the Japanese press is for the most part attempting to check the feelings against Americans.

RAILROAD GANGS IN ODD FIGHT

Newly Laid Track Charged with Electricity, Laying Out Opponents.

Louisville, Ky., Oct. 25.—A pitched battle in which picks, shovels and clubs were used as weapons, and in which 400 men participated, was fought by rival track layers gangs of the Louisville & Nashville railroad and the Louisville & Eastern Electric railway Sunday.

About two scores of the combatants were badly shocked or battered up, but none was seriously wounded.

The fight took place just east of Beards, a station 20 miles east of Louisville, where a gang of 100 Louisville & Eastern men attempted to lay their track across the Louisville & Nashville line.

They had only partially finished their work when 300 Louisville & Nashville men appeared and started laying the rails up.

A general battle followed immediately, during which the Louisville & Eastern men resorted to the novel expedient of charging the rails they had just laid with electricity from a trolley wire.

When the Louisville & Nashville men applied their eyeballs to the charged rails a score of them were knocked stiff. All, however, were recovered.

No New Triples Alliance.

London, Oct. 25.—Reports published in the United States to the effect that the British and American navies arranged among Great Britain, France and Italy are officially declared to be baseless.

MADMAN JUMPS INTO OCEAN

DRIVEN INSANE BY BUFFERING HE SEEKS RELIEF IN SEA.

Six Survivors of Southern Hurricane Undergo Nerve-Wracking Experience While Clinging to Raft.

Norfolk, Va., Oct. 26.—Counting the minutes, which seemed to them to be few intervals between them and death, bruised, bleeding, hungering and thirsting, five men adrift on a bit of wreckage, off the Florida coast saw one of their companions whose sufferings had driven him mad jump himself into the sea to death and not long afterward a ship which was coming saved their lives.

The five survivors of one of the greatest tragedies which has ever occurred on this coast were landed here by the British steamer Heatherspool. Capt. John Grievs, commanding, which arrived for Hunter coast, being en route from New Orleans to Rotterdam.

They, with about 145 others, were constructing a concrete viaduct for the Florida East Coast railway through the Florida keys, and were aboard houseboat No. 4, which lay anchored off the coast on the night of October 17.

The great hurricane which swept over the coast struck the houseboat on the morning of the morning of October 18, and No. 4 broke apart. The houseboat soon afterwards foundered and all of the 150 men were thrown into the sea. The houseboat was dashed to pieces by the waves.

Many of the men were killed by the waves, which struck them as they were struggling to hold on to the raft. Six men lashed together two timbers, one 10 by 20 inches in thickness and braced with the other probably 14 inches, and built a raft long and lived on this raft until the man became mad and threw himself into the sea.

On the morning of October 19, Capt. Grievs, standing upon the bridge of his ship, heard cries for help and discovered the raft. He launched a lifeboat and soon brought the perishing men aboard where they were given food and light food and put to bed.

TAKE FIVE BODIES FROM RUINS

The body of Charles A. Lynch, a laborer, was recovered late Friday afternoon.

The bodies of Edward Winslow and his wife and two daughters were recovered earlier in the day.

Eight persons are still missing.

Fully ten minutes elapsed after the robbers touched off the first charge of dynamite before they secured the booty.

THREE ARE KILLED IN GAS EXPLOSION

FIVE BUILDINGS ARE LEVELED TO THE GROUND AT COFFEYVILLE, KAN.

Fluid From Leaking Main is Ignited and Whole Block of Buildings is Destroyed by the Blow Up That Follows in Quick Order.

Topeka, Kan., Oct. 29.—Three persons were killed, one is missing, three were seriously injured and 20 more were more or less injured in a terrific explosion of natural gas, which completely demolished five two-story brick buildings at noon Sunday. The dead and missing: Jess Ross, a negro.

Mr. J. E. McDaniel.

Young son of C. J. Glosien, a grocer.

The seriously injured: C. J. Glosien, a grocer.

Cotton Ray, a cabman.

Mr. Dea. Schuler.

Three-year-old son of Mrs. Keeler.

Caused by Leaking Main.

It is supposed that the gas escaped from a leaking main somewhere in the block, and that after a sufficient quantity had accumulated it became ignited, causing the explosion. The buildings were in a row on East Eighth street and were occupied by a real estate office, three stores and a restaurant. The second floor of all the buildings were occupied by rooming houses.

Two Die at Hospital.

Neither Ross nor Mrs. McDaniel was killed outright by the explosion, but both were tragically injured and died shortly afterwards at a hospital.

Trick and glass struck the negro cabman, and Mrs. McDaniel was crushed by falling debris.

The entire block of five buildings was leveled to the ground, and only broken bricks, scattered lumber and twisted iron remain. The buildings and stocks in them are a total loss, as none of them was insured against explosion.

Fire Follows Explosion.

A fire broke out immediately after the explosion, but was quickly extinguished and little damage was done from that source.

Several persons were buried in the debris, but Mrs. McDaniel was the only one fatally hurt. The others who were rescued were only slightly injured.

One little girl, a daughter of S. D. Frazer of the Kansas Land company, was under the timber and brick for 20 minutes, but was taken out uninjured.

SKULL OF MOST PRIMITIVE MAN

Journalist in Nebraska Has Rare Specimen in His Possession.

Omaha, Neb., Oct. 29.—Prof. Henry Fairfield Osborn, of Columbia university, came to Omaha from New York to examine a skull recently unearthed a short distance north of Omaha by Robert F. Gilder, a local journalist with a penchant for scientific research.

After a minute examination Prof. Osborn declared the skull to be that of the most primitive man yet discovered, but Dr. McDaniel was the only one who was known as the Neanderthal man found in Germany.

The difference shown by measurements of the two skulls, according to Prof. Osborn, shows that the latter was a mere animal, while the Nebraska skull is that of a thinking man, although of the lowest order.

Well-Known Madison Man Dead.

Madison, Wis., Oct. 29.—Charles E. Brown died at his home of apoplexy. He was a well-known Madison man and for several terms was chief clerk of the senate. He was for many years manager of the Wisconsin State Telegraph company, and a well-known newspaper correspondent.

DEDICATE ILLINOIS TEMPLE

WILLIAM J. CALHOUN DELIVERS ORATION OF THE DAY.

Gen. J. C. Scofield Accepts Handsome Temple on Behalf of Federal Government.

Victorville, Miss., Oct. 27.—The dedication of the magnificent Illinois Memorial temple in the Victorville National park took place Friday under the most favorable auspices. A clear and beautiful October day set the seal of its approval upon an occasion which was alike a delightful one to the men who wore the gray and those who wore the blue. Fraternalism was the keynote of the speeches and was the spirit of the greeting which was exchanged when the confederate veterans from Mississippi and Louisiana met those from Illinois.

William J. Calhoun was the orator of the day, and his address was made by Govs. Vardaman, of Mississippi, and Deane, of Illinois; C. E. Matthews, president of the Illinois Monument commission, and others. The monument was accepted on behalf of the United States government by Gen. J. C. Scofield, who represented the secretary of war on this occasion. The booming of cannon and the music of bands added much to the spirit of the dedication. The parade which preceded the dedication was one of the greatest events of its kind in the history of this section. The troops were composed of the First Illinois regiment of infantry, the infantry of the state of Mississippi and a battalion of artillery of Mississippi. Hundreds of carriages, containing men and women of national reputation were in line.

Among the invited guests of the state of Illinois who attended the exercises were: Mrs. John A. Logan and her daughter, Mrs. Tucker; Rear Admiral Bowman H. McCalla, U. S. N., who commanded the Marblehead in the Spanish war, and Maj. Gen. Eugene A. Carr, U. S. A., the only surviving Illinois division commander of the Vicksburg campaign.

EIGHT-HOUR DAY IS UPHELD

Government Wins First Case Against Contractors on Federal Work.

Cincinnati, Oct. 27.—The first test of the federal eight-hour day law ended in a victory for the government here Friday. After being out only fifteen minutes by the New York United States court found the Shuman-Kirk Contracting company guilty of violating the law in the construction of the big Ohio river dam at Fernbank, nine miles below this city. The determination of the penalty will come later. The law provides for a fine not exceeding $1,000.

TRAINMEN DEMAND MORE PAY

Cleveland, O., Oct. 27.—It was officially announced at the headquarters of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers in this city Friday that requests had been made not only to the lines of Chicago, but also to a number of the big eastern systems, for higher wages and better working conditions for all classes of trainmen. It was said that similar requests would probably be made by that brotherhood to every other railroad in the United States.

Point Won by Flattery.

Gen. French, the English officer who represented that country at the recent French maneuvers, received the following letter after his triumphant return from the floor war: "My Dear French: You are a great British general, and a great English officer, but whatever you do, don't let your secretary write it."

Needless to say, the boy got the autograph, and a great photograph of his hero to boot.

A Good Record.

Out of all the external remedies on the market we doubt if there is one that has the record of that world-renowned porocetic plaster—Alcock's. It has now been in use for sixty years, and still continues to be as popular as ever in doing its great work of relieving our pains and aches. It is the remedy we all need when suffering from any ache or pain resulting from taking cold or overstrain.

Alcock's Plasters are sold by Druggists all over the world.

Playwright's Method of Work.

Mr. W. Pinero has an unusual method of writing his plays. His work day does not begin until that of the average man is over. In the morning he goes to bed, preferably on his bicycle, returning in time for early dinner. Then he has a comfortable sleep, and on waking up, sits in the afternoon, he prepares for business. After a cup of tea he goes to his desk and remains working at his play until far into the night.

Laundry work at home would be much more satisfactory if the right starch were used. In order to get the desired stiffness, it is usually necessary to use so much starch that the heavy and tannin of the fabric is hidden behind a paste of varying thickness, which not only destroys the appearance, but also affects the wearing quality of the goods. This trouble can be entirely overcome by using Deane Starch, as it can be applied much more thinly because of its greater strength than other makes.

Prospective employer—"Why did you leave your last place?" Trade Cook—"Humph! Why did you 'quit' leave here?"

Deane Starch—Sixteen ounces for ten cents, all other brands contain only 12 ounces for same money.

She is Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and Writes Gratefully to Mrs. Pinkham.

For the wonderful help that she has found Miss Cora Goode, 205 E. Chicago Avenue, Chicago, Ill., believes it her duty to write the following letter for publication, in order that other women afflicted in the same way may be benefited as she was. Miss Goode is president of the Bryn Mawr Lawn Tennis Club in Philadelphia. She writes: Dear Mrs. Pinkham: "I tried many different remedies to help up my system, which had become run down from loss of power and was unwell and unable to do my work. I had been using your Vegetable Compound for female troubles for some time, and I had heard of it from my sister, Mrs. Lydia E. Pinkham, with great success. So I began to take it, and in a month I was able to get out of bed and on my feet. I was entirely well. Really, I have never felt so strong and well as I do now."

No other medicine has such a record of cures of female troubles as has Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Women who are troubled with painful or irregular periods, headache, bloating (or distention), disposition of nervous, influenza, and other ailments, can be restored to perfect health and vigor by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

EIGHTY ARE KILLED RAILROAD WRECK

ELECTRIC TRAIN FALLS FROM TRESTLE BRIDGE NEAR ATLANTIC CITY.

Defective Rail Throws Cars Into Stream and Occupants are Trapped, Few Succeeding in Making Their Escape Through Windows.

Atlantic City, N. J., Oct. 29.—A railroad accident that was even worse than the Meadville wreck of July 30, 1898, sent about 80 people to a sudden death Sunday afternoon, catching them like rats in a trap.

The cars of the Erie electric train of the West Jersey & Seaboard road line, late here at 2:30, jumped the track on the trestle bridge over the Thoroughfare and below the trestle could get out they were hurled to a watery grave.

The trestle is about 15 feet above the water and the drop to the water required several seconds, giving time for the passengers, men, women and children, to see and calculate their fate.

The whole car was thrown into a state of excitement as the news reached about 2:35. A few minutes after it happened. Fully 5,000 people crowded the meadows and the trestle, many relatives and friends crying out in despair, asking for the names of those who were killed.

Chief of Police Maxwell had a cordon of police swung around the death circle and Chief Black, of the fire department, called out his men on an emergency call and made them police temporarily.

Seventy are Entombed.

There were seven bodies recovered up to seven o'clock Sunday night and the wrecking train is trying to hoist the submerged cars from the water, where fully 70 dead bodies must be entombed.

The accident was due to a rail "springing in." It appears that on the right hand side coming down must have been out of plumb about an eighth of an inch. The sharp change of grade of the electric train caught this and twisted it inward. This twist threw the first car off the track, and into the water. The result was that the second and third cars were dragged with it, and while the third car was descending the rear portion struck a piece of the abutment, hung for a moment and then slid into the water. But this brief stop saved several lives.

Leap from Car Windows.

A number of men and a few women leaped out of windows and the rear door or caught hold of a post and were rescued.

It was stated that fully 80 to 100 passengers were aboard, mostly all crowded into the first and second cars. These were entombed.

Among the passengers were 20 men of the Tenth Artillery band and two men on their way here from Philadelphia. One or two bottles of champagne were recovered early in the afternoon.

John Taylor, of Camden, was among those who went overboard with the cars, but he kicked his way through a window of the rear car and swam to the piling of the bridge, where he held fast and was rescued by J. P. DeFord, a railroad man who was nearby when the accident occurred.

First to Render Aid.

Charles Kessler, of Camden, was the first on deck and displayed a cool head. He secured an ax, jumped on top of the submerged car and began to hack the roof to liberate the prisoners. The task was a difficult one, he was unable to rescue many. He managed to get some women out and save one man, P. C. Smith, of Newfield, and A. R. Kelly, of Jeffersonville, N. Y., who were passengers on the train, not off at Pleasantville for the reason that something told them to change their minds about coming to Atlantic City. They heard of the accident afterwards and came over to thank for that they had not remained on board.

About 15 people got out at Pleasantville, said they, and nearly as many more got aboard. They said fully 80 passengers were on the train, a great many being women.

John Klades, of 112 Bay street, this city, a motor car man, was on the train and escaped by crawling through a window of the rear car and swimming ashore.

MINNESOTA STATE NEWS

MAY SHIP VEAL.

Minneapolis.—A number of complaints from farmers who also deal in veal have been received by E. K. Slater, state dairy and food commissioner, stating that they could not ship their veal since the new law went into effect, as the express companies refuse to carry it unless it is inspected. Mr. Slater feared that if the law were to be enforced this way it might have the effect of stopping farmers and retail butchers from killing veal for shipment and force them to ship it alive to the express packers. The matter does not come under his duties, however, and he has referred the inquiry to the

JOHNSON AND EDDY SPEAK.

There was plenty of railing in Pine City yesterday to suit both Republican and Democrat parties. Governor Johnson was here and was received with enthusiasm by all—people of party affiliation and people who might be termed political orphans, and others. The chief executive spoke very entertainingly from 11 o'clock until 12 o'clock and he received many who wished to shake his hand—some out of pure and true friendliness, others because of the feeling of apparent satisfaction in being able to boast of having shook the "governor's hand." Personally speaking, his appearance was a sight good for sore eyes, we always did like to see him, and especially did we look with pride upon him when he was doing editorial stunts on his newspaper down in Nicollet county, and wishing that we could write just as good as he could, and write just as hard as he could. He may never return to his little desk at St. Peter, but we fear for him that he can never again triumph over the republican party in this state through democratic affiliation. In the evening Hon. Frank M. Eddy was the attraction at the big republican rally. He spoke on state issues and made many impressive statements. It must be remembered that Eddy was one of the receptive candidates for the nomination of governor at the republican convention held at Duluth. Another—Gale—was made the nominee at that convention, but Eddy, true to what he thinks and knows is right and loyal to his party, does not shrink, but goes right along adding weight and value for the one whom the republicans found worthy and sufficiently qualified to oppose the present demagogue incumbent in a battle to tide another republican defeat. It is time the republicans awakened to stem another democratic victory, and next Tuesday is the appointed time. The ex-Congressman is always interesting. His talks are entertaining and instructive; he is not, easy of manner, and his sincerity is unquestioned. Those who heard him last evening heard what was the truth, and should act accordingly. We do not try nor should we attempt to flatter him in regard to his personal appearance. He is about as handsome as a row of hedge posts; but he is an editor, a sage, a wit, a statesman and a power in intellect, so it is possible to overlook his less appearance which reminds us of Horace Greeley in caricature. His speech covered much ground and his fortunate audience was not ponder over and discuss with better sense the questions which confront the voters all over the state.

This is the year of the silent vote, and even the shrewd politician who always uses station in his political dope can do little else than guess as to the outcome. There are signs, however, of republican success.

The proposed amendment to Article I of the Constitution says: "Any person may sell or peddle the products of the farm or garden occupied or cultivated by him without obtaining a license therefor." This amendment should be favored by every friend of the farmer. The farmer is our mainstay and our greatest friend. Let us reciprocate by generous support to the amendment.

A CHORAL club should be organized at Pine City. The high school has two glee clubs, and these, joined with local talent, would make a strong bid for social favor in the light of untitled harmony. Let's get busy!

The North Branch Review says and rightfully emphasizes: "Governor Johnson helped to lower the taxes in the big cities several million and to raise them in the country accordingly. Farmers, is this right and just?"

The following patent editorial is going the rounds of the press: "A Minnesota man analyzed a campaign cigar and found it to be a cabbage leaf wrapped around a lamp Wick; but this is not the first time we have heard of smoking lamp wicks."

The rains and snow falls of the past week have left most places in this state in a state of very ordinary mudliness. This is especially gratifying on account of the very little mud-slinging material that has had to be contended with during the fall of campaign laxity.

PARTISANS, it is claimed, apparently go crazy during a certain period in October. The Herald says that there was one of the feathered beauties in Duluth the other morning and intimates that insanity was the cause of its presence in the Zenith City. We are more firmly convinced than ever that the Herald strives to tell the truth.

The legislative campaign which the prohibitionists are waging in the State of Minnesota is attracting attention not only in the state, but among reformers throughout the entire nation. There are sixty-three legislative districts in the state, and the prohibitionists have made nominations in thirty-one of these.

The New York campaign is a buggy affair, and thank goodness we are far enough away so as not to get any of it mixed in our quiet and orderly state campaign. Minneapolis is getting all the excitement in her mayoralty battle, but Minneapolis cannot blame New York for her badness. She is naturally unruly and wicked, but she may become better after the election. Let us hope for the best.

Here is a school trouble sentiment as expressed by an exchange and transferred to the think granger that we heard a father and mother say to their boys and girls recently. If carried out it would solve all difficult problems and make the life of a teacher a delight. The sentiment was this: "You may bring home poor marks in mathematics and we will forgive them; you can fall down history and we will help you up; but if you bring home low marks in my department there will be trouble. We can't insist on your being a bright pupil, but we shall insist up on your behaving yourself!"

Do not be misled by what twin city papers have to say in support of the tax amendment. Aside from permitting churches to hold all kinds of property not used for foreign purposes without paying taxes thereon the amendment also repeals the inheritance tax law, one of the best ever put on the statute books; thus, by a clever maneuver, the struggle of a decade is thrown to the winds. Why should the inheritance tax law be repealed any more than the gross earnings tax law? Vote against it and let the amendment be resubmitted with the objectionable features stricken out.—St. Peter Free Press.

"For years I starved, then I bought a fifty cent bottle of Kodol Dyspepsia Cure, and what that bottle benefited me all the gold in Georgia could not buy. I kept on taking it and in two months I went back to my work as a machinist. In three months I was as well and hearty as I ever was. I still use a little occasionally as I find it a fine blood purifier and a good tonic. May you live long and prosper.—C. H. Corwell, Koding, Ga., Aug. 27, 1906." Kodol is for sale at Breckenridge's Pharmacy.

In every state its banners are unfurled. Its fame has spread from sea to sea, no one surprised if in the other world you hear of Rocky Mountain Tea. Breckenridge's Pharmacy.

He was a promising young man and his sad and untimely ending is a source of deep regret.
The first snow of the season that has made any pretensions of staying where it was put arrived here Monday morning.
The children, upon awakening on the morn, welcomed the new white coat with every indication of happiness—clapping their tiny hands and making noises like the presence of Buster Brown would cause in a chicken coop. It sent several shivers through the ones who pay the coal and wood barrels dippy with gloom. And even the boys of 16 and over had visions of some young gallant with a two-in-hand, sleigh bells, and greased roads. Of course this young man who has a weakness for pretty girls, ice cream, sodas, etc., and other expensive luxuries, had a few dreams also; and he no doubt wondered what he did with his summer's wages as he gazed blindly at the "beautiful" and thought himself of the fact that "all is not gold that glitters." The snow on the streets, however, lasted about as long as a clasp by generally does after leaving the Xmas tree, as it was soon transformed into some very ordinary mud. Freezing has not yet become general locally, and we do not expect winter of the dead-end brand until about Thanksgiving time.

Messrs. John Faulkner, James Hurley and J. P. Davis arrived home Wednesday from St. Paul, where they have been serving as United States grand jurors. The grand jury was dismissed until next Thursday, when they will resume their work. Of course they had to come home to vote.

Hon. Frank M. Eddy, of Sauk Center, arrived here yesterday morning and spent the day renewing old acquaintances about town. The Pioneer acknowledges a pleasant informal call. He addressed a large crowd at Stekl's hall and undoubtedly strengthened the republican faith in this community.

The ladies of the M. E. church at Rock Creek will give a twenty-five cent dinner in Erickson's hall on election day, Nov. 6th. A 15 cent lunch will also be served during the morning and afternoon, and those who prefer can procure the 15 cent lunch during the dinner hours. The ladies are bound that the voters shall not go hungry at the polls while in the exercise of the political duties of every true citizen. Turn out, vote right, and get a square feed at the Methodist dinner.

THE GIRL AT THE MILLINER'S

By ISABEL HOWARD

(Copyright, 1908, by Joseph B. Dowling)

"I don't quite like this hat that you trimmed for me. Can you alter the arrangement while I wait?"

"Certainly, Miss Hilda. I am very sorry it did not give satisfaction."

"Oh, there isn't much the matter," and the young girl proceeded to instruct the milliner as to the alterations she desired.

"If you will sit down a few minutes, Miss Hilda, I will take the hat to the workroom and put it right."

Miss Hilda, however, could not sit still for long. She moved about the showroom, examining the goods with critical eye and, while thus engaged, the curtain which concealed this department from the shop opened and a lady and gentleman entered.

The former was tall and dignified, albeit young and beautiful.

Bestowing the morning glance upon Hilda, she said, in somewhat haughty tones:

"Will you please show me some sailor hats?"

"Certainly, madam. White or black?"

"Oh, of course—white!"

It was easy to select a goodly number from the pile on the table, and Hilda handed one after another, trying to make some apropos remark respecting each.

But a sudden confusion overwhelmed her on discovering that the man's eyes were fast upon her face. Could he be anyone she ought to know? Surely she had never seen him before. If so, what must he think?

Lazily at that moment the milliner returned, and Hilda made a sign to her to attend to her new customer, while she herself slipped into the background, feeling rather hot and uncomfortable.

When the two had departed, she said:

"They took me for one of your assistants, did they?"

"Oh!" the tone was quite shocked, but Hilda laughed away.

Meanwhile the other lady and her brother were riding home in a smart little dogcart.

"You know, Theo, there is nothing for you but a rich marriage," she was saying. "Where should I be now if I had not married well?"

"Exactly so!"

An irritated expression came into her eyes. "It is so different for a woman, though," he said. "And moreover, you were very badly married before the crash came."

"Yes, thank goodness! But I don't understand the other part of your remark."

"Why, a man ought to be able to fend for himself, without wanting his wife to keep him. No, I can't do it!"

"Can't do what?"

"Make a necessary marriage."

"Why, dear boy, this morning you said that you had never been in love—that one woman was the same as another to you, and that you did not care whom you married so long as she was passing and took at it."

"Yes, but I am not going to marry. I intend to have just one little fling for the next few months while my cash lasts, and then go—oh—to the Klondike, the Philippines—anywhere."

"Thee! Are you mad?"

"No—just recovering my senses and my self-respect."

"Everyone says that Miss Eversley is very pretty, and she is fabulously rich."

"Oh, hang Miss Eversley!" And mentally he continued: "But that little milliner? What glorious eyes she has, and what exquisite coloring, and what a mouth! The idea of such a divinity having to earn her living in a place like that."

"At all events, you will see her next week, and then you can judge for yourself."

"See—whom?"

"Why, Miss Eversley, of course. Were we not speaking of her?"

She would have been hugely disturbed could she have watched Theodore during the ensuing days. He haunted the little market town of Norton until he felt that he knew every pane of glass in every one of the windows, and before the draper's he planned himself for a full hour at a time every morning, reading the various tickets, examining the goods, and now and then venturing boldly inside to buy a pair of gloves or a necktie, until the proprietor began to regard him as an amiable lunatic.

"To think she is a shop girl!" he said. "Her face, her voice, her accent are all perfect! Of course her dress must be—they have to dress well to keep up the honor of the establishment. Oh, hang it all! Why is fate so unkind? I know Missie will be wild if she gets a glimmer of the state of affairs, but—either that girl shall be my wife or I will remain a bachelor."

On reaching Mrs. Bertram's house, one morning he found that lady in a great state of excitement.

"I have seen her!" were her first words.

"And who is her?"

"Miss Eversley. She is a lovely little thing, Theo, and—she is fancy free, for her own mother said so."

"To tell on first acquaintance?"

"No, indeed! I happened to over-hear a remark she was making to an old friend of hers. I went to return their call to-day, and though I only had two minutes of the girl's company, I am convinced she would satisfy even you."

"Are I am quite equally convinced that she would not!" he returned, almost sullenly.

"Why, Theo, I cannot imagine what has come over you just lately. You used to be quite agreeable to the idea of my looking out for a wife for you."

"Well, I have changed my mind and prefer to do the looking out myself. Forgive me, Missie, I did not mean to be a bear, but you must acknowledge that the fact of your having managed your own affairs so well does not prove that your direction in mine would be equally satisfactory. Money and love do not always go together."

"You used to say love did not matter," she countered.

"And you indeed that statement? Would you be happy if you disliked Jack?"

"Oh, well—I couldn't do that, you know. He is—Jack. But you will see her tomorrow night at the Smith's dinner."

A desperate resolution had come to him. He must see the girl at Parker's. Accordingly, he wrote a note, trying to express all he felt. Then he walked into Norton, marched boldly into Parker's shop and through the curtains, as if he might be intending to order military for his sister.

To his astonishment, only the elder milliner was there and, with some difficulty, he made her understand that he wished the spin's delivered to the girl he had seen on his former visit.

The good woman was fairly nonplussed at first, then after a moment thought that she would deliver the mischievous.

When her day's work was at an end she walked to the other end of town, went up a long drive leading to a fine old country house, at the door of which she asked to see Miss Hilda. The young lady received her very kindly, but blushed a good deal on hearing what she had to say.

"And who is the gentleman?" she asked.

"A Mr. Wildtag—brother-in-law to Mr. Bertram, who has just returned from Europe in the summer," answered the milliner.

"Really, Theo, I shall have to leave you here. If you are so absent-minded," remonstrated Mrs. Bertram on the following evening.

"I wish you would!" he made answer, glancing at her. "Jack is quite able to take care of you without me."

"Certainly. But you were expressly invited, and unmarried men are never welcome than Benedicts, as a rule."

They were the first arrivals at Mrs. Smith's, and in quick succession after them came sundry dowagers with heavy husbands, sporting sons and courted daughters.

"The Eversley's are late," remarked Mrs. Smith. But just then the door opened and they were announced.

Theodore looked up with an air of vexed inquiry. What would this girl be like whom his sister was trying to force down his throat?

He saw an exquisite dress, a faultless figure and—the face of his little milliner!

Though he had not the happiness of taking Missie Eversley in to dinner, he sat next to her and, under cover of other people's conversation, managed to say:

"Is it really you or is it your double?"

"Here or in Parker's shop?" was the snappy reply.

"The two are one and the same! I cannot understand!"

"I am not surprised at that. I will explain some time."

Then he summoned up courage to say:

"Did you receive my letter?"

"Her eyes dropped and she answered "Yes."

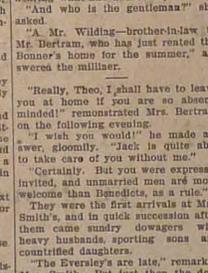

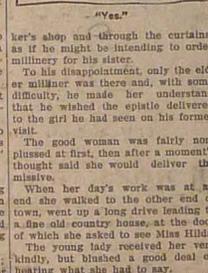

"Are you offended? I could not help it."

"Why should I be if you really could not help it?"

"And your reply?" she was emboldened to ask.

"I thought it would be better to deliver it in person."

It was an odd place for a proposal—a noisy dinner table—but two hearts were as happy as if they had had the whole universe to themselves, and it was not even strange, Theodore to remember that, after all, he would be making a wealthy marriage.

OF AID TO HOSTESS OLD FASHION BACK

SUGGESTIONS FOR NOVEL AND PLEASING ENTERTAINMENTS.

Queries in Which Every One Will Be Interested Answered—Idea for Bazaar or Party in Aid of Charity.

This budget of queries came just before the Halloween rush and in consequence was abbreviated.

It is good form to use hand printed individual salt dishes, or are salt-cellars more up-to-date?

When the individual salts are used, should there be a spoon for each one? And where should it be placed?

What is the correct use of a lunch cloth? Should it be placed over the table cloth, as I have seen it done, or over a bare table when a little lunch is being served?

I have read that it was very smart to make napkins of plain linen, hem-stitched with embroidered initials. Are these considered finer than "boughten" ones? If so, what width should the hem be?

Individual salts are much in favor at present, each with a tiny spoon of gold or silver, which is placed beside it, in front of the plate. Some very elaborate salts are shown in the illustrations. Also of colored glass in Filigree silver holders.

In a private family a lunch cloth is never put over the table cloth, at a restaurant this is sometimes done to cover spots. The proper use of such a cloth is to cover small tables when many are to be served at once, or for the dining-room table for a reception or evening refreshments. These cloths are very elaborate of lace and drawn work or of plain hem-stitched linen.

Napkins made from plain linen do make a very good; the hem is about an inch in width, with the initials or drawing in the corner. Of course new Blue Velvet Hat.

A new blue velvet hat has a low, round crown, short in front. Massed across the front are gold grapes, which curve luxuriantly at the back and sides are four large feathers in deep gold and gray.

Such a set is more valuable than those purchased at the store on account of their being hand made.

I cannot resist giving this letter in full, as it shows such a helpful spirit. Would that all the readers of this column of the same mentioned work would lend to clubs to do charitable work for the poor.

"Dear Madame Merril: We would like to get up a fair or something like it, where we can sell candy, ice cream, fruit, lemonade, etc. We are girls between 13 and 16 years of age, and our mothers will gladly aid us. We would like to help a poor family who are in need. If you will kindly help us we will be very much obliged."

"May I?"

Indeed I will be only too glad to render any assistance in my power, and would suggest a "Paper Barriers" to start with. The routine work of strips of crepe paper cut about two inches in width. Then use Japanese lanterns, umbrellas and fans. Have the booths trimmed with paper flowers, and even paper flags may be used. The girls can wear paper caps, aprons and collars. Some of the articles for sale may be drawer sachets, made from paper napkins, blotter, little pictures, passe par tout, paper dolls, candle shades, candy in pretty home-made boxes, cakes with fancy paper doilies under them, dinner cards, posters, etc., and, as I sell cards to your minds. As for the needy family, they are legion. The Salvation Army or Bureau of Charity will supply you with a name, which you can look up if you have not already someone in mind. Another lovely thing to do is to make scrap books for children's hospital.

MADAME MERRIL.

Success in the Gulf Coast Country

Here is an example of what YOU could do.

150 Bushels of Corn from One Acre in 15 Months

Mr. John Closser has a farm near Hidalgo, Texas. He has raised three crops of corn on one piece of land in the last fifteen months. Each crop yielded not less than fifty bushels to the acre.

He does not have to wait for the ground to thaw in the Spring. Almost as soon as he harvests one crop he can plant for the next. He is not afraid that the weather will be too wet or too dry or too cold. He waters his land by irrigation and has an inexhaustible supply of water.

If you will write Mr. Closser at Hidalgo, Texas, he will tell you more about this country. There have been many other instances of remarkable success in the Gulf Coast Country, of which I will be glad to tell you upon request.

Wouldn't you like to have a small farm where success does not depend on uncertain weather with irregular rainfall?

Now the land is cheap and you can get it on easy terms. Twenty acres will cost you about $500. The cost of clearing it is about $2 an acre. The cost of water for irrigation varies. You may want an artesian well of your own; you may get water from some river; or you may get it from your neighbor. But the cost is not great, and those who have tried it have netted from the first crop a sum which has paid all expenses and left a good surplus.

Take a trip down there and see for yourself—that's the best way. Every first and third Tuesday of each month, we will sell round-trip tickets to any point in the Gulf Coast Country and return at the following rates:

From Chicago,	$25.00
From St. Louis,	20.00
From Kansas City,	20.00
From Peoria,	23.00
From St. Paul,	27.50
From Minneapolis,	27.50

These tickets will be good 30 days and they will permit you to stop over at any point. Low rates for one way tickets on some days, also.

Let me send you our books describing the wonderful crops produced in this marvelous country. They do not write me today.

Wouldn't you like to have a small farm where success does not depend on uncertain weather with irregular rainfall?

Now the land is cheap and you can get it on easy terms. Twenty acres will cost you about $500. The cost of clearing it is about $2 an acre. The cost of water for irrigation varies. You may want an artesian well of your own; you may get water from some river; or you may get it from your neighbor. But the cost is not great, and those who have tried it have netted from the first crop a sum which has paid all expenses and left a good surplus.

Take a trip down there and see for yourself—that's the best way. Every first and third Tuesday of each month, we will sell round-trip tickets to any point in the Gulf Coast Country and return at the following rates:

From Chicago,	$25.00
From St. Louis,	20.00
From Kansas City,	20.00
From Peoria,	23.00
From St. Paul,	27.50
From Minneapolis,	27.50

These tickets will be good 30 days and they will permit you to stop over at any point. Low rates for one way tickets on some days, also.

Let me send you our books describing the wonderful crops produced in this marvelous country. They do not write me today.

BIRDS THAT ENJOY DANCING

More Importance Now Attached to Wearing Qualities—Tussore or Rajah Make Pretty Garments.

Time is turning backward as to petticoats, and the overbrilled articles, such as they are, are being replaced by those in which wearing qualities are looked to. English washing silks in checks and stripes and little shepherd plaids in white and colors are seen in some very imported petticoats which simply are trimmed with a flounce and a wide hem.

A city "wardrobe repairer," much of whose business runs to fixing petticoats, has decided that the deep circular flounce made with sewing one ruffle to the edge of another is the best wearing as well as the best "standing out" model for the goods that he uses. This petticoat fitted around the hips and finished with a button and button-hole as she makes it finds many admirers. It is simple, and it is comfortable, and it is in the line of the times.

Tussore and rajah make pretty and cheap silk petticoats which are both light and warm. They have the advantage of coming in silks of the prettiest colors and for the woman who likes a "wash" petticoat even in a pinch even the brightest of the colors found in alpaca will bear soap and water and a skirt of this kind can be left to almost dry before giving it the slight pressing which is all that is needed.

The popularity of colored alpaca in dress materials predicts a wider choice in bright and pale colors in this ideal petticoat material, which, owing to its shiny surface, shaken free from dust and keeps clean a surprisingly long time. One woman who has the art of staying as well as being becoming well dressed, always chooses alpaca for her numerous white gowns and sends them to the wash as long as wanted and then has them dipped for morning wear.

An Idea for Winter.

A smart-looking jacket for winter wear is black velvet, with narrow cuffs and collar of ermine, edged with Persian embroidery and a tiny plaiting of white silk. Worn with this is a muff of ermine and a large black velvet hat, the brim bound with white felt and a long, sweeping white plume trimming the crown and top.

Torpedo toques are not so dangerous as their name implies, but they are really well named and are the newest thing in hat hats.

Most of the new theater hats have a touch of tinsel. The foundation, the flowers or the ribbon—sometimes all three—are of silver tissue.

150 Bushels of Corn from One Acre in 15 Months

Mr. John Closser has a farm near Hidalgo, Texas. He has raised three crops of corn on one piece of land in the last fifteen months. Each crop yielded not less than fifty bushels to the acre.

He does not have to wait for the ground to thaw in the Spring. Almost as soon as he harvests one crop he can plant for the next. He is not afraid that the weather will be too wet or too dry or too cold. He waters his land by irrigation and has an inexhaustible supply of water.

If you will write Mr. Closser at Hidalgo, Texas, he will tell you more about this country. There have been many other instances of remarkable success in the Gulf Coast Country, of which I will be glad to tell you upon request.

Caspar Scheele Dies Suddenly.

Caspar Heinrich Scheele died very suddenly at his home at West Rock last Sunday afternoon. The cause of his death was paralysis. In a special from our Greeley reporter is found the following obituary:

Caspar Heinrich Scheele was born in Sagebury, Holstein, Germany, April 9th, 1837. He moved to this country in 1868 and settled in Clinton, Iowa, where his first wife died the same year.

In 1899 he moved to this state and located on a homestead 5 miles west of Sush City. On July 10th, 1878, Mr. Scheele married his second wife, Miss Augusta Gutzkow, shortly after her arrival from the old country. Mr. Scheele was a harness maker by trade and had traveled considerably in the old country. He was a hard working man and worked for years in the saw mills at Pine City. On account of his ponderous size and weight he had not been actively engaged in work for the past twenty years; he weighed over 300 pounds.

The Scheele home is one of the finest places on the shores of Rush lake. It is four miles from Rush City and is a convenient rendezvous for hunting parties and Mr. Scheele had often guided many hunters and fishermen to places of abundant game.

Mr. Scheele was a good husband and father. He was a good employer and Henry Studt, who was in his employ for eight years, testifies to this fact. He leaves a widow, 3 children, Paul, Henry and Robert, a daughter-in-law and little grandchild, a brother, John Scheele, a sister, Mrs. Sommer, of Rush City, and many friends to mourn his loss.

The funeral was held Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock at the family residence, and the remains were interred in the German Lutheran cemetery at Rush lake. Rev. Byersdorf, of Rush City, officiated and it was one of the largest funerals ever held in the vicinity. The pall bearers were: E. Farhenholt, Henry Dose, J. S. Johnson, L. Fahrenholt, Henry Buehring, F. Erickson, Hans Rohlf and D. A. Kendall.

Foley's Honey and Tar for coughs and colds. Reliable, tried and tested, safe and sure. Sold at Breckenridge's Pharmacy.

Bella More of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy than of all Others Put Together

Mr. Thos George, a merchant at Mt. Emlin, Ontario, says: "I have had the local agency for Chamberlain's Cough Remedy ever since it was introduced into Canada, and I tell as much of it as I do of all other lines put together. Of the many dozens sold under guarantee, I have not had one bottle returned. I can personally recommend this medicine as I have used it myself, and given it to my children and always with the best results. For sale at Breckenridge's Pharmacy.

Physicians Prescribe it. Many broad-minded physicians prescribe Foley's Honey and Tar, as they have never found so safe and reliable a remedy for throat and lung troubles as this great medicine. Sold by Breckenridge's Pharmacy.

Here is our condensed opinion of the Original Laxative Cough Syrup. "Nearly all other cough syrups are constipating, especially those containing opiates. Kennedy's Laxative (containing Honey and Tar) moves the bowels. Contains no opiates. Conforms to the National Pure Food and Drug Law. Sold at Breckenridge's Pharmacy.

Some of the most anxious hours of a mother's life are those when the little ones of the household have the croup. There is no other medicine so effective in this terrible malady as Foley's Honey and Tar. It is a household favorite for throat and lung troubles, and as it contains no opiates or other poisons, it can be safely given. For sale at Breckenridge's Pharmacy.

In Time of Peace.

In the first months of the Russo-Japan war we had a striking example of the early advantage of those who do to speak, "have shingled their roofs in dry weather." The virtue of preparation has made history and given to us our greatest men. The individual as well as the nation should be prepared for any emergency. Are you prepared to successfully combat the first cold you take? A cold can be cured much more quickly when treated as soon as it has been contracted and before it has become settled in the system. Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is famous for its cures of colds and it should be kept at hand ready for instant use. For sale at Breckenridge's Pharmacy.

He Could Hardly Get Up. P. H. Duffy, of Ashley, Ill., writes: "This is to certify that I have taken two bottles of Foley's Kidney Cure, and it is helped me more than any other medicine. I tried many advertised remedies, but none of them gave me any relief. My druggist recommended Foley's Kidney Cure and it has cured me. Before commencing its use I was in such a shape that I could hardly get up when once down." Sold at Breckenridge's Pharmacy.
