AN OPEN MEETING

Members of Woman's Reading Club and Gentlemen Royalty Entertained at Greely Residence.

Monday evening an open meeting of the Woman's Reading Club was held at the spacious residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. Greeley. The guests consisted of the Club members and their gentlemen. The rooms, neatly decorated with the Club colors, green and gold, presented a very tasteful appearance.

The affair was pronounced one of the most delightful ever given and the committee of hostesses, Mrs. James D. Greeley, J. Adam Bede, J. LaPage and Miss Ida Dosey, were highly complimented on their brilliant success.

The ladies had selected a rather unique method of entertainment and one that made a decided hit with all present. Each member was attired as a sweet thirteen-year-old school girl, and all took part in the program, thus showing their talents as orators, readers and vocalists. For instance, among the girls, present who took part were wistful Winnie Frockel and wistful Katie Vaughan together with their dolls.

As a starter, Johnny Vaughan and Jimmie LaPage were appointed by their teacher to select the two opposing classes for an old-fashioned spelling match, and after the preliminaries and the consequent smoke had cleared away it was found that Mrs. John Hegwood and Miss Susan Shearer were the particularly radiant stars of the class, tying for first prize. In the draw, which followed, Miss Shearer won. Prof. Matthews and her class of kindergarten babies delighted the spectators by their sprightly recital, telling the "tales of the patient cow." A game which attracted particular attention was that of pinning the tail onto the donkey. Henry Harte excelled in this test and was accorded a present. The little Greely boy too into the parlor just after a raid on the jam jars and remained long enough to speak a piece, and Henry Harte told a funny story. Dick Wheaten was to reiterate his courage dropped when he saw all the nice little girls making eyes at him and his number was postponed.

Several of the boys arrived late and, as they came without written excuses, they were penalized for their tardiness.

Entertainments were served, after which the guests repaired to their homes.

GREAT POSSIBILITIES

Mining Expert is Preparing to Locate
Diamond Drills in Mineral Portions of Pine County.

Wm. Kibbee, a mining engineer with offices at Minneapolis, has been here during the greater part of the past two months with a view to locating seventeen diamond drills in the mineral portions of the county. He already has leased different tracts of land throughout the county and expects to begin operations soon. Whichever pay ore is discovered, digging crews will be located.

Mr. Kibbee has secured some land near the J. Bennett Smith Co.'s field of operations where some exceptionally fine copper ore has just been unearthed at a depth of only 200 feet. In fact, the latest vein discovered is the richest ever struck in that locality.

The industry of prospecting with the diamond drills will afford employment for a large number of men and, should any dirt be found, this portion of Pine County will enjoy a greater era of activity and consequent prosperity than it had ever before experienced. It is to be hoped that the dream of riches will become a radiant reality.

Bede Talks to Senates.

St. Paul Pioneer Press—Congressman J. Adam Bede of Pine City delivered a short address in the senate chamber yesterday just prior to the adjournment. He complimented the state on the new capital which he said compared very favorably with any other capital in the country. He urged the addition and improvement of the capital grounds.

He said he had been criticized for not being in his own district as much as he should, and explained that as the measures which came up for action in congress affected some 80,000,000 people he thought it well to be in touch with more than the people of his own district, as it enabled him to vote more intelligently on important matters.

"I see that your tax commission will provide that not more than two of the members shall be of the same political party. I do not know how you can tell. Last night I saw four democrats sitting in a row at the auditorium. It was the largest number that I have seen together Friday and thereby share in the glories of time that has been prepared for the dancing public. Tickets 50 cents surper extra."

We Don't Keep Paint,
—We Sell it.

Paint is physical insurance. It prevents decay. Property that isn't painted soon runs down, the wood decays and its value shrinks. The wise man uses paint and keeps the wood pores closed and his property increases in value.

There is nothing that makes a house look well kept as does the use of good paint. It is economy to paint if you use the right kind, but as it costs as much for labor to put on poor paint as it does to put on good paint, you should investigate the paint you buy and know that it is pure, honest paint. You won't have any trouble if you use FORMAN, FORD & COMPANY'S PAINT, for it is 100 PER CENT PURE, and won't fade, peel or chalk off.

It is made of pure white lead, pure oxide of zinc, pure turpentine dryer and pure Old French linseed oil. The lead covers the surface, fills the pores, and since hardens the combination, makes the paint stay on and holds the color fast. The linseed oil is a preservative of the wood, while the turpentine dryer takes out the moisture and leaves a hard, glossy surface that the sun, rain or snow does not affect any more than it does glass.

Let us tell you more about this pure paint before you buy.

The Little Worries of LIFE

The Grip.

"Before he has been suspended for the sun, P. W. McAllan went to his sugar bush one day this week and prevented further bleeding of the trees. He was successful in getting enough sap to make four gallons of pure maple syrup, and Jas. Boyle can vouch for its being the best, because he had some on his pancakes the other morning. Mac hasn't sent any authentic report as to how these new tangled spigots worked but they must be the chief stuff for the heavy yield in the sugar bushes of Pine county."

Suspensions Operations.

The maple sugar industry about here has been suspended for the sun. P. W. McAllan went to his sugar bush one day this week and prevented further bleeding of the trees. He was successful in getting enough sap to make four gallons of pure maple syrup, and Jas. Boyle can vouch for its being the best, because he had some on his pancakes the other morning. Mac hasn't sent any authentic report as to how these new tangled spigots worked but they must be the chief stuff for the heavy yield in the sugar bushes of Pine county."

The Grip.

"Before we can sympathize with others, we must have suffered ourselves." Not one can realize the suffering attendant upon an attack of the grip, unless he has had the actual experience. There is probably no disease that causes so much physical and mental agony, or which so successfully defies medical aid. All danger from the grip, however, may be avoided by the prompt use of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It costs but a few thousand dollars to have used this remedy, and not one case has ever been reported that has resulted in pneumonia or that has not recovered. For sale by E. F. Breckenridge.

What Londoners Lack.

London is described as one of the gayest cities in the world. We have practically everything that makes for gaiety, and yet it cannot be said with any degree of honesty that we are as lively as we might be in the circumstances. Among a few folk high spirits prevail, says London Lady's Pictorial: It is certainly not fashionable to be serious, but, speaking generally, we stand sorely in need of more liveliness. If one would take the measurement of liveliness of the average person, it is only necessary to spend a few days in any of our winter resorts and make a study of the conversation of inmates of the hotel and boarding-house. Health will be found to be the chief topic of conversation at one, bridge at another, stocks at another, and the menu at yet another. A joke is rare; it is rarer still that one hears any remark worth remembering, and no one ever appears to be thoroughly determined to have a good time. High spirits are certainly at a discount; the joy of living does not appear to be understood. And yet in good hotels and boarding houses visitors are represented by all classes of society that count. What shall we do to be gay?

One reason why stamps in the future will bear the names of the cities whence they are issued is the difficulty thus put in the way of stamp thieves. At present stamps are probably one of the most readily obtainable forms of property obtainable owing, of course, to the universal use of postage stamps and the consequent difficulty of tracing ownership. Even when nearly $100,000 worth of stamps were stolen from the Chicago post office it was impossible to get clews for detecting the criminal. The United States is not the first country to place the names of the cities of issue on the stamps. Mexico has done it for years. Liberia has the names of five principal towns on the stamps designed for their respective use. But no nation hitherto has entered upon the plan to the extent proposed at Washington. Fully 6,000 cities will be provided with distinctive stamps. In the case of 26 of the largest cities the name of the respective city and state will be engraved as a part of the basic design of the stamp, whereas in the case of the thousands of smaller cities the name will in each instance be printed across the faces of the stamps after they have been impressed in the regular color.

The Kaiser's imperial garage is now pretty finished, recently having added to it in a most sumptuous manner, says a Berlin correspondent. The new motors are all electric and fitted in the most luxurious manner possible, besides being models of practical equipment. Pale turquoise is the color of the rich upholstery in silk brocade, the walls and four seats of each car being covered with this material. Small jeweled tables, wall cupboards, clock and book rests in natural wood and ivory complete the fittings of the imperial carriages. His electromobiles are painted ivory white on the inside, with touches of blue and gold, and doors and back panels of the vehicles bear the motto, a particularly appropriate one for motorists, "God mit uns," above the imperial crown. The chauffeur's seat is in pale blue leather.

It is interesting to note how rapidly the members of the English royal family are increasing in the number of European. An English princess is on the throne of Norway; another, Princess Margaret of Connaught, will some day wear the Swedish crown. The daughter of the late Prince Alice, King George's sister, is now the Czarina, the son of the Duke of Albany is Duke of Saxe-Coburg-Gotha, the eldest daughter of the Duke of Edinburgh is Crown Princess of Romania; the Crown Princess of Greece is a daughter of King Edward's eldest sister, while a daughter of Princess Henry of Hesse-Hessen is on the Spanish throne.

LOOK FOR LUNACY REPORT THURSDAY

JUST DE FITZGERALD ADJOURNS THAW TRIAL FOR THREE MORE DAYS.

Evelyn Thaw is Subpoenaed to Appear Before the Commission, Much to Her Dismay—Allegians for Defense May Be Heard.

New York, April 2.—It is probable that the Thaw lunacy commission will report Thursday morning. The case was adjourned last week until Monday morning, and when the jury was called before the court Justice Fitzgerald adjourned again the trial until Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock. The lunacy commission will meet Tuesday and it is expected that they will be ready to report Thursday.

In case the commission finds that Thaw is today insane within the meaning of the law the trial will be stopped, but if they find he is capable of going on the trial will be rescheduled. It is doubtful if the defense will call witnesses, although it has been said that Evelyn Thaw would be recalled to repeat her story of the Hummel affidavit. As soon as the defense rests the summing up will begin and will, under the agreement made between the attorney general and two defense lawyers.

Subpoena for Mrs. Thaw.

When Mrs. Evelyn Thaw made her daily visit to her husband in the Tomba Monday she was met by a process server who handed her a subpoena directing her to appear before the lunacy commission. Mrs. Thaw apparently had no objection to this more than she had to the paper which was made known to her. "Do they expect me to testify against my husband?" she asked. She was told that her presence probably was desired to give her a chance to say this did not seem to assure her. District Attorney Jerome declined to make known his purpose in calling Mrs. Thaw before the commission.

The members of the Thaw jury have drawn up a petition to Justice Fitzgerald asking him to allow them five hours to consider the jury's verdict of not guilty of the charge of two dollars a day. Their action was based on an instance in which the court made a similar increase in the jury's allowance after the case had been extended to an unusual length.

Jerome May Call Mrs. Thaw Alitent. It was reported Monday evening when the lunacy commission resumes its hearing Mr. Jerome will call as his witnesses Drs. Pilgrim and Gregory, of this city, two of the alienists engaged by the defense, and will endeavor to prove by them that Thaw is now insane.

Dr. Pilgrim is head of the New York State Hospital for the Insane. Dr. Gregory is in charge of the psychiatric ward of Bellevue Hospital. Both of them are said to have had on several occasions conversations with the defendant during the trial.

CHAPLAIN IS BELLIGERENT.

Peculiar Prayer in the Texas House of Representatives.

Austin, Tex., April 2.—Chaplain Joyce of the house of representatives, Monday morning in his regular morning prayer at the opening of the session said:

"Hundreds of men in the state are to-day cursing the laws recently enacted by the legislature, and cursing the lawmakers! Perhaps they have a wholesome fear that their teeth will be knocked down their throats by the fists of the smart lawmakers. Hundreds of thousands are blessing those laws; why not bless the men that passed them?"

The recent enactment of certain revenue legislation has caused the members of the legislature to be the subjects of considerable criticism.

FOUR KILLED BY A TRAIN.

Two Kansas City Men and Their Wives Victims.

Kansas City, Mo., April 1.—Four persons in the same family, three women, were instantly killed late Sunday afternoon at the Fifteenth street crossing of the Chicago & Alton railroad, two miles east of this city, by the Alton's Red Flyer, west-bound, from St. Louis.

They were George Henry, aged 22, and his wife, aged 20, and D. H. Morris, aged 30, and his wife, aged 40. The men were salesmen for local mercantile houses.

REVENGE ON A TORTURER.

Brutal Russian Killed in Jail by Peasant Prisoners.

Kursk, Russia, April 1.—Drusinianikoff, a peasant who was sentenced February 21 to a year's imprisonment for torturing peasants during a punitive expedition, has been killed by peasant prisoners in the jail here. They captured Drusinianikoff and held a regular court and executed him by dashing out his brains against the wall.

A number of peasants have been killed or wounded by troops at Lange and Patulei. At Galicino, in the center of the district, the peasants have ringed the town and armed conflict in Wallachia.

The communists of Hureanu and Poreni are still revolt and troops have been dispatched there. All is quiet in Viasca, Covurl and Roman.

No More Gambling in Montana. Helena, Mont., April 1.—The Girl Scouts of America, which prohibits all games of chance, went into effect Monday and for the first time since the discovery of gold, in 1862, faro, roulette, poker, dice, card games of all kinds and even slot machines were tabooed in Montana.

GALUSHA A. GROW DEAD

PENNSYLVANIA STATESMAN SUCUMBS TO OLD AGE.

Has Record-Breaking Service in Congress—Was the Father of the Homestead Act.

Blithen, N. Y., April 1.—Former Congressman Galusha, George died at his home in Glenwood, Pa., Sunday afternoon as a result of a general breakdown attributed to old age. Mr. Grow was elected to congress from the Willistown district of Pennsylvania in the youngest member of that body. In 1883 he left after retirement from public life for nearly 40 years to re-enter the house of representatives as congressman at large from Pennsylvania 14 years ago. When he retired four years ago, his public service in the house extended over the longest period, although not continuous, of any man ever who sat in that body.

During the antebellum days he was one of the best known men in the United States and in 1864 he came within one vote of being nominated for vice president in place of Andrew Johnson, who became president on the death of Abraham Lincoln.

Mr. Grow was elected speaker of the house of representatives in 1861 and occupied that position during the first two years of the war, until his retirement in 1863.

Mr. Grow's greatest public service was as the father of the homestead act, through which measure many million acres of western farm lands were opened up to settlement by homesteaders, an act which has been copied with doing more than any other measure for the development of the great west. He was the last surviving member of a family of six children. He was never married.

KILLED IN AUTO ACCIDENT.

Niece of Collis P. Huntington Victim of Her New Motor Car.

Oneonta, N. Y., April 1.—Mrs. E. S. Loveland, a niece of the late Collis P. Huntington, was killed Saturday afternoon in a motor accident.

Mrs. Loveland was driving a new automobile which had been delivered to her Saturday.

In attempting to turn around on Chestnut street Mrs. Loveland unintentionally turned on full power and the car skidded sideways and plowed over a stone wall at the foot of a 29-foot embankment. Mrs. Loveland was thrown from the car as it dropped to the ground and her neck was broken.

BLAZE IN GRISCOM'S HOUSE.

American Ambassador to Rome Is Scroched By Flames.

Rome, April 1.—While L. C. Griscom, the American ambassador, and Mrs. Griscom were returning from the Easter services at the American church Sunday, they saw smoke rising from the roof of their home, the Palazzo del Drago. Mr. Griscom immediately entered the building and found the servants were unaware that the place was on fire.

The ambassador led the way to the adjacent Flame burst forth as he opened the door and burned his hand and singed his eyebrows. When the fire spread to the roof the entire building in place centuries ago, was burning brightly. The roof over the attic collapsed, causing the center portion of the ceiling of the magnificent hall to fall. The furniture and paintings were quickly removed, but not before several of the later, nobly born, president Roosevelt, however, were damaged.

After working two hours the firemen succeeded in checking the blaze. The loss is estimated at $10,000 and was covered by insurance.

SPRINGTIME THOUGHTS!

TONIC FOR MOTHERS

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills Are Safe and Reliable—A Favorite Household Remedy.

Motherhood is the crowning blessing of a woman's life on earth, bring glad and sorrow. Mrs. M. J. Wilson, of 170 Seventh Street, Auburn, Maine, relates her experience after the birth of her daughter in 1901, as follows: "I was all run down at the time the baby came and did not improve in health rapidly after. I was pale, thin and bloated. My stomach distressed me and I was full of gas all the time and my heart fluttered so fast I could scarcely breathe."

"Finally I remembered that a friend had recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to me and commenced using them. I took six a day and were well within a week. The baby thrived also. When I expected my next child I started taking the pills again, a tonic and strengthener and had no such difficulty as before. I got up earlier and my energy came back much sooner."

"A year ago last winter I had an attack of rheumatism in the hands which went from one hand to the other. The joints swelled and were stiff. I could not move them. The pain extended up through my arms and shoulders. I felt sick enough to go to bed but did not do so. This attack lasted for several weeks. I tried various remedies but finally came back to using the pills which had done me so much good before and found that they benefited me almost at once. I have not been troubled since."

All prescriptions for Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, or they will be sent by mail postpaid, on receipt of price 50 cents per box six boxes for $2.50 by the Dr. Williams' Medicine Company, Schenectady, N. Y. Send for book of cures.

Best Violin Strings.

The best strings for violins are of Italian make and are from the intestines of spring lambs. The process of drying and bleaching of the woods and strings by the hot Italian sun, rather than by the artificial method used in other countries, accounts in a great measure for the superior quality of both materials. This intense heat was also the reason for the short duration of the oils used in the Italian makers, which always remained at a high temperature, and the varnish, slowly soaking into the woods of the violins beneath the heat of those Italian suns, produces a mellowness of tone that gives to a Cremona instrument its value, after a lapse of 200 or more years.—March Circle.

Home of the Icebergs.

Almost all the icebergs seen in the north Atlantic during June are products of the coast of Labrador, from four to six ice fields which fill the inlets of that coast the previous winter. July's icebergs come from further north in the vicinity of Baffin Land, those of August come from still further north, and though fewer in number than those of the earlier summer, are larger in size. In October, the icebergs of Labrador may be seen an endless procession of these ice mountains coming out of the north and taking their way majestically southward until they lose their being in the warmer waters and climate of the south Atlantic.—Mable Journal.

Tantalizing Man.

"I see by the paper," said Mrs. Blanks at the breakfast table, "that a delegation of women suffragettes is coming to this country."

Mr. Blanks said nothing.

"And they're going to invade Washington and make a speech to the president, and all."

Blanks still silent.

"I declare," snapped the lady, "you're the most tantalizing man in existence. There you sit like a statue, never saying a word to that you don't know what you're talking about."

Keep your fears to yourself, but share your courage with others—Stevens.

A FRIENDLY GROCER.

Dropped a Valuable Hint About Coffee.

"For about eight years," writes a Mrs. Williams, "I suffered from nervous prostration—part of the time down in bed with nervous prostration."

"Sometimes I would get numb and it would be almost impossible for me to speak for a spell. At others, I would have severe bilious attacks, and my head would throb terribly, especially when I would walk fast or exert myself."

"I have taken enough medicine to start a small drug store, without any benefit. One evening our grocer was asking his husband how I was and he urged that I quit coffee and use Postum. His husband had a pig and I made it according to directions and we were both delighted with it."

"So we quit coffee altogether and used only Postum. I began to get better in a month's time and look like another person, the color came back to my face. I began to sleep well, my appetite was good and I commenced to take on flesh and become interested in everything about the house."

"Finally I was able to do all my own work without the least sign of my old trouble, so thankful for the little book, 'The Road to Wellville.' It has done me so much good. I haven't taken medicine of any kind for six months and don't need any."

"A friend of ours who did not like Postum as she made it, liked mine, so I gave her mine. She said it was good, horse meat taste. I believe it is good as mince. It's easy if you follow directions." Name given by Postum Company, Battle Creek, Mich. Read the little book "The Road to Wellville," in page 77.

PINE CITY MINN. April 5, 1907

The safety of our institutions lies in the respect of the people for our courts of justice.

The News-Tribune predicts that in 25 years Duluth will have a population of more than two millions.

The Aitkin Age has adopted the 6-column quarto size, and is printed upon a new press. It presents a much improved appearance.

The man or woman who would knowingly throw temptation in the way of a man who is trying to do better and lead the life he should lead, is too mean to live in this world. It is easy enough for the best of us to do wrong, and the man who helps another along in his downward course is too low and contemptible to live.

A good resolution to start out with this spring would be to make our little city the prettiest spot in Minnesota this summer. Keep your premises cleaned up all the summer through. A little paint here and a new board there will not only add to the appearance of your place, but will add greatly to the looks of the entire village.

Tax celebration of Easter like the celebration of the Fourth of July and other days is failing into a mere observance of some established form. Of the many thousands all over the world who observed Easter last Sunday it is safe to say that many never gave a thought to the great event the day commemorates. Are we drifting into a formal observance of days, while losing the spirit of the occasion?

DELUTU has been selected as the location for a new iron and steel plant, and the press is already terming the fortunite the "Pittsburgh of the Northwest." The United States Steel corporation will locate the new plant in that city at an estimated expenditure of $6,000,000. We, as neighbors, feel highly honored in congratulating the Zenith City upon its good fortune, and feel that every part of the already rapidly growing northwest will be directly or indirectly benefited by the proposed new industry.

It is indeed strange to know that a crowd of Southern democrats would approve of a republican president or anything he did, but still that is what really happened a few days ago down at Atlanta, Georgia, at a meeting of the Farmer's National Union. During the meeting Thomas E. Watson said: "All of you who believe we should stand by Theodore Roosevelt stand up." Every blessed delegate arose to his feet and "signified his approval of the president by long, and continued cheers." In the convention were delegates from most of the southern states, among them many ex-confederates and rock-ribbed democrats to whom republicanism in any form is rank poison. The subject was the president's Brownsville order, and although the occasion was in no sense a political one, the spirit of it was clearly indicated in the action taken—a broad nationalism as opposed to narrow sectionalism. Perhaps such an incident would have only been possible under the administration of a Theodore Roosevelt. He is a remarkable man, and the act of an assemblage of fiery southern democrats standing up to approve anything a republican president should do was a remarkable performance. We are certainly moving forward and at a more rapid rate than a few years ago we had reason to expect.

It is to be hoped that the legislature will take some action this year prohibiting the holding of contests and the playing of games on Memorial Day. It is a disgrace to the state and the nation that at this day set apart for the observance of the beautiful custom of decorating the graves of our deceased soldiers, there should be permitted games of all sorts, converting the day from one of solemn commemoration of the brave deeds of the boys in blue, into a day of games and carousing. Are we as a nation losing the patriotic pride we once took in this day?

Keep it up, gentlemen, keep it up!

Keep right on howling for reform!

Legislate against railroads and every other industry in the great state of Minnesota, and then stand back with your hands in your pockets and watch the grass grow. It is only a short time ago that we had the "grange" movement; then came the farmer's alliance, and now we have the same variety of cranks in the guise of "reformers." Business is business and it takes money to make the mare go. You can't pass laws that will correct all of the evils in this great body politic, and when you attempt to select out one industry and aim all of your corrective legislation against it, there is a pretty safe bet that the recoil is going to hit somebody.

To those who have watched the proceedings of the Thaw trial in New York closely for some time, it is quite apparent that District Attorney Jerome has taken a fall from the pedestal of fame on which he had previously been placed, and that for some weeks past it has been a battle on his part for the retention of the position he once occupied in the public's estimation. At this great distance it is apparent that Mr. Jerome has proven himself to be a prime among petitfoggers. If there is any position in the world which demands a man free from the imputation or even suspicion of petitfoggery it is the position of prosecuting officer before our courts. A man who is not big enough to sink himself in the duties of the office is too small for the position.

The discussion of the race question and the attitude of the southern men toward the negro and other questions of a sectional nature, which has been a leading feature in many of the magazines of late calls to mind the fact that during the month of February the Atlanta News, published at Atlanta, Georgia, suspended publication and that the cause of its suspension was attributed by even southern papers to its open condonation in not open advocacy of lynching negroes. Said the Chattanooga, Tenn., Times, at the time: The News during the latter part of its existence was only an apologist for mob violence and the lynching of negroes, but was a violent advocate of that method of punishing negroes guilty of the crime against women. It was charged with having had much to do with promoting the riot in Atlanta when innocent negroes were mercilessly murdered, and the "outside" is saying that the people of Atlanta refused to give it support and sustenance, compelling it for lack of readers advertising contracts—all because of the attitude toward the lynch question—to quit business. There is no doubt that the attitude the News assumed toward lynching affected its standing, for however much a community may indulge that sort of thing it doesn't like to be paraded before the world as justifying it. We are quite aware that there are a number of really good citizens who condone a lynching for the "nameless" crime but who would refuse to appear in the public prints as advocating it. The News was brutally frank in its attitude toward the mob and even the mob could not stand for that.

Which CREAM SEPARATOR is Cheapest?

Clean Skimming Easy Running Long Wearing U.S.

Several catalogues houses are offering "as good" cream separators for sale at a lower price than the U.S. Cream Separator sells for. But before the user makes any purchase, let me tell you that these "cheaper" separators get through paying the repair bills he finds that first cost isn't the only difference. They are built out of cast iron because they are built of cheap material and loosed put together. The cost of repairs alone in the first year or two would pay the difference in price between one of them and a U.S. U.S. Cream Separator will still they do not skin clean, they waste cream at every skimming.

U. S. CREAM SEPARATORS

have stood the test of time. Many of them have been in use for ten years or more, and have cost their owners next to nothing for repairs. They are easy running, skin cleaner than any others, have a simple, easy-to-wash bowl, enclosed, safety gearing and a convenient, low milk tank. See a U. S. Separator for yourself—that's the best way.

The following progressive farmers have bought U. S. Separators, and are using them to-day. Ask any of them how they work.

Commodore Pierpontius Engel and Chief Engineer Abisko Swanson are the early birds of the season, as they were the first to launch their boat. They got real busy on election day and after a few hours and a turn or two had their launch cutting circles around the icebergs in Snake river. The current in the river was very strong, but, nothing daunting, they used their boat to tow their boat house from the bank near the railroad bridge to a position a few hundred yards upstream. The gentlemen are early birds and are bound to have their share of sport on the waters about here this season.

Charles Edward Sells an Invention

By Harrison Rhodes

(Copyright, by Joseph H. Bowles.)

When the Austins are in a mood to invite confidences most men tell their troubles at once. It was only the shortest time after Turner, the inventor, had been lunching with Charles Edward Austin and his wife, Lady Angela, that he was in a room, in a somewhat long account of his experiments in artificial refrigeration.

Turner had perfected what one may describe briefly as an ice-making machine of great simplicity. Turner's invention enabled him with a trifling expenditure of money and trouble to carry the inimitable comforts of cool drinks and of healthful and fresh food everywhere.

"This is no longer experimental?" inquired Charles Edward. "You can read all about it."

"Yes," said Turner.

"But what I don't understand," continued Charles Edward, "is why I find you saying you're down on your luck. You ought to be within fifteen or twenty minutes, the richest man living."

"Oh, I don't know," murmured Turner. "I don't understand anything about business. And I thought my invention would be so splendid for the army."

"Wonderful for field hospitals," said Lady Angela.

"Yes," asserted Turner, brightening, "and so I've been trying to sell the whole thing to the government. But it's no good. I thought I had better not sell my patent altogether, so I've sold it to the government for five years the right to make my machine for the use of the army—for—and he hesitated—for fifteen hundred dollars."

Charles Edward turned to the invento-

"Your machine is worth fifteen thousand, well worth it, isn't it?"

"Then, why?" pursued Charles Edward, "when you only ask fifteen hundred do you expect the war department will ever think it worth more?"

"You may take it from me—that if you offer a thing for less than twice as much as it is worth, nothing. No one will trust it; no one will believe it is genuine. Why, I dare say I might go up to the capitol and offer to every one who came along—"

Charles Edward stopped with extraordinary abruptness and his eye gleamed forward.

"Well," said Charles Edward at length with the utmost calm, "tomorrow upon the steps of the capitol I will publicly prove all that I have just been saying, and I trust end in selling your invention to the war department for fifteen thousand."

At about 11 the next morning a western member, hurrying to an appointment for which he was already late, descended the steps of the capitol two at a time. Half way down he was stopped by a young gentleman who had been standing contemplatively in the sun.

"I am a student," began the stranger, in a tone at once confidential and confident, putting his hand upon the legislator's arm.

"I'm sorry," broke in the congressman, "but I can't give you a moment. If you want an interview come to the Ebbitt house to-night about nine and ask for me."

"That would be delightful," said the young man. "But I don't know who you are."

"Don't know who I am? Then why the dickens have you stopped me?"

"I wished to propose to you," was the response, "that you should buy this twenty blue gold piece for five dollars. Will you buy?"

"Do you take me for a fool?"

"No, naturally you wouldn't buy it at this price. You don't believe it's good. Neither do the people in the war department."

"Have you been trying to sell twenty dollar gold pieces to them for five dollars?"

"Not exactly," said Charles Edward, "but a friend of mine has been doing what amounts to the same thing."

"Is your friend as mad as you are?" he asked at last, surprised at himself for putting the question so seriously.

"There is a method in my madness. You stay and talk with me if you like. No one will buy from me now."

"Hi, there, Joe!" shouted the western member as if in response to this. A fat man with a red tuft on his chin turned and came towards them. "Here's a good thing for you, Joe," continued his friend. "Twenty dollars for the machine."

The newcomer's comment was in almost too pictoresque and extravagant language, yet the would-be salesman did not seem downcast.

"This story," remarked the representative of a Metropolitan Journal who had just joined the crowd, "with care, could make a world-wide noise. Would you as soon as not?" he asked Charles Edward, "try it once again, just to let me see the game?"

"I might, I suppose," was the response, not too enthusiastically given.

"Well, here comes somebody, and she's a 'worker,' too," exulted the Journal man, eying Lady Angela.

"Madame, I offer you a most unparalleled opportunity of behaving dia-

Black and Brown Only Colors for Thin Face Veil

There is something particularly becoming in a bewitching veil. It is the finishing touch to the street costume. Very few women can get along without a veil because of the perishable qualities of the present-day costumes. To the tailor-made, spick-and-span type of woman it is an absolute necessity.

There are only two colors desirable for the thin face veil—black and brown. White veils are so cobries when worn against the face and give such a sense of paleness that they should be carefully avoided. A white veil with a single black thread and plenty of black dots will do nicely for the girl who has ruddy red cheeks. Brown is unusually good for slender, tall, or brown-haired girls. It is a sort of grayish brown now in vogue that is very pretty, but it comes only in the very expensive French qualities.

Purple, green, and red veils are most trying. They are loud and striking, and not many women can wear any one of these colors and look well. So far as chiffon veils are concerned—that is a different matter. The loose automobile or driving veils are worn away from the face, and almost any color is possible. However, a light-colored, soft, and satisfactory veil is a black or brown one, with an edge of velvet to match the mesh itself being a heavy embroidered dot, quite dainty for the comfort of the wearer's eyes, but a great joy to the boulder. Such a light-colored veil all the brightness of a light-colored woman face giving her youth and loveliness, softening every facial line and increasing every quality of beauty.

Few women realize that veils, like every other article of clothing, become soiled and that they need constant attention from the cleaner.

Lace veils may be dipped in gasoline and then pressed with an iron only fairly warm. They will come out nicely. Face veils bought by the yard must be cleaned with alcohol. Soak the lace pulled gently into straight lines while it is drying. The alcohol gives the proper body and stiffness to the veil.

For the last two years the costumers of New York have been complaining bitterly of "bad times," etc., they have found their hands more or less idle since artificial undulations began to go out of fashion and—coiffures are quite human.

Many things can be done at home to keep the hair looking well, except with henna, is not one of the greatest care, for it quickly gives a glistening, unpleasant tone of color which is rarely attractive.

Applying the hair on the head of a pretty woman—the fashion in the matter of hair-dressing is slowly but surely changing—the low natural looking headress is coming in again. For some little time back been wearing in this style, but now the hair and dress have demanded picture headresses, and more and more it has ceased to be correct to dress the hair stiffly and in artificial undulations, and every effort is made to produce a natural effect.

The Greek coiffure is very fashionably adopted, and though confined in a somewhat modified form it is quite charming. It is not considered necessary to adopt the severely plain flat bands in front, and at the back the hair may be caught up in series of loose curls or in careless looking coils confined by silver ribbons or by art nouveau bandeau.

TO MASSAGE THE FACE.

Operation Any Woman Can Successfully Do At Home.

It is not difficult to massage one's own face. To do it use the whole hand, for the pads around the fingers are the best part of the fingers. This has its particular motion. For the small wrinkles around the corners of the mouth work from the nose and corners of the mouth out to the cheeks. Place the first finger at the corner of the mouth, then the middle finger on the first finger. Around the eyes where there are those little lines that are so distressing massage out from the corner of the eye to the temple and then from the corner under the eye to the nose and back again. Always have all the motions with an upward tendency. With both palms at the temples, draw the hands toward the eyes to take away the possible sagging of the flesh of the brows, and with the backs of both hands and with the chin tilted back smooth the under part of the chin to do away with the possible double layer of fat there. That part of the tissue is very delicate, and the first indication of middle age, so if taken in time one may easily ward off that stage a few years longer. A massage is not only good for the skin but very restful.

The misses' dress is of blue linen with a collar of Irish lace tied with a black velvet ribbon. The bias band on the skirt is held loose at the waist which gives a slight fullness at the hem.

Period gowns will characterize many of the spring and summer models for evening wear. One will see costumes on the lines of those worn by the day of Louis XIV. and Louis XVI. There will be empire and semi-empire, and even the classical princess robe.

"Let me tell you, then," cried Charles Edward enthusiastically—and did so. An enunciation of a great moral truth, such a description of Turner's machine as in the over heated atmosphere of the courtroom moved everyone.

At first, it must be confessed, the incongruity and humor of the whole thing were what chiefly struck the people. Then the representatives of the press regained headway, as it were.

Turner, being at hand, was interviewed again. Then they descended upon the scene of action. Somewhat confused, that gentleman admitted that he had heard nothing of the Turner machine, that it was doubtless being investigated, that he would himself personally see that it was so investigated.

"It had better," was succinctly put, the editorial comment everywhere next day.

Charles Edward's photograph appeared in sixteen weeklies and in two hundred and fifteen dailies. A leading man in New York put on sale "Lady Angela Dust Clock." And on the fourth day the department of war offered Turner twenty thousand dollars for his invention.

Pure Gold Brown Now Fashionable Color for Hair

The fashionable color of hair this coming season is to be the pure gold brown, beloved of youthful poets, writes the lady correspondent in Paris of the London Tribune.

Ir back to the actual personage who starts a new fashion: fashions very often seem to start themselves. In the affair of gold brown hair it is possible that we have to thank two famous beauties—one a true Parisienne and the other a Parisian from New York city. Both these lovely women have been colorfully styled either a white veil with a single black thread and plenty of black dots will do nicely for the girl who has ruddy red cheeks. Brown is unusually good for slender, tall, or brown-haired girls. It is a sort of grayish brown now in vogue that is very pretty, but it comes only in the very expensive French qualities.

OLD CANNON CAN'T BE BROKEN, Armament of Old Craft Was Made to Last.

A good story is being told at the Mare Island navy yard concerning a old fashioned cannon which was sold at the local yard some time ago. The cannon were all of the smooth bore kind, and in order that they might be easily handled for shipment to the city, some schemes were tried to endeavor to break them with granite and blasting powder, but they were unsuccessful.

An electric drill machine was even set up at the yards and the cannon were drilled full of holes in order to weaken them, breaking open with wedges but the gun was also broken. The cannon were all of the smooth bore kind, and in order that they might be easily handled for shipment to the city, some schemes were tried to endeavor to break them with granite and blasting powder, but they were unsuccessful.

The cannons which proved to be strong were among the armament of the war craft which sailed the seas in 1812.

"Bill, old boy," said the prisoner to the justice. "I want you to pay particular attention while I'm making of this here statement."

"Don't address the court as 'Bill,'" said the justice, "or I'll fine you for contempt."

"That's all right, William," replied the prisoner. "We was growed up together an' I reckon you feel as dignified as a alligator on a log in a mill pond up there, but of you decide this case agin me, Lord help you when I go on with your middle o' the road. Go on with your proceedings."

GHOSTS PLAY MANY PRANKS.

Grab Rope from Bellringer and Cut Down Trees.

Ghostly happenings have disturbed the town of Kirkwall, the capital of the county of Orkney. On Wednesday night, says the London Daily Mail, the wife of the bellringer went to St. Magnus cathedral to see the service.

The bell had tolled for less than a minute, when, it is alleged, a figure suddenly appeared at the woman's side, snatched her hands from the roof and as mysteriously disappeared.

Another ghostly visitation at Kirkwall a few years ago was planted in front of the cathedral were found to have been cut down.

The night was a calm one with brilliant moonlight, and the trees were standing at one end of the town.

Home owners have an eye on the spot, and many people who were still asleep at three o'clock in the morning did not hear the slightest sound outside. Yet an hour later every tree had been destroyed. The police are baffled.

It avail little to the unfortunate to be brave—from the Spanish.

Charles Edward's photograph appeared in sixteen weeklies and in two hundred and fifteen dailies. A leading man in New York put on sale "Lady Angela Dust Clock." And on the fourth day the department of war offered Turner twenty thousand dollars for his invention.

At first, it must be confessed, the incongruity and humor of the whole thing were what chiefly struck the people. Then the representatives of the press regained headway, as it were.

Turner, being at hand, was interviewed again. Then they descended upon the scene of action. Somewhat confused, that gentleman admitted that he had heard nothing of the Turner machine, that it was doubtless being investigated, that he would himself personally see that it was so investigated.

"It had better," was succinctly put, the editorial comment everywhere next day.

To Commemorate Lincoln

J. E. Netzer, commander of the local Post of the G. A. R., has received a communication from the Hon. J. Collier, chairman of the executive committee of the Lincoln Farm Association, concerning the appointment of a cooperative committee to assist in the work of the association.

Every Post of the Grand Army of the Republic has met with a similar request, that organization being naturally turned to as the one to most fitly lead in the procession. Other organizations are pledged to follow.

The aim of the association is to convert the birthplace farm of Abraham Lincoln into a Lincoln Memorial Park, and to this end every man, woman and child will be given an opportunity to contribute. Amounts from 25 cents to $25 will be accepted and the offering will entitle the donor to a membership in the association, without further dues or assessments. To every contributor will be issued a beautifully engraved certificate regardless of the amount contributed.

There is no doubt but what the movement to thus perpetuate the name and deeds of the martyred president will meet with hearty cooperation, and Commander Netzer should meet with aught but encouragement in assuming his share of responsibility.
