TRAVEL FAR TO WED

Well Known Pine City Couple Are Married
 in North Dakota, and N. D. Couple
 Come to Pine City to Wed.

MARRIED—On Sunday, Aug. 11, 1907, at 12 o'clock noon, at the home of the bride's parents at Brainerd, N. D., Miss Daisy Hathaway to Walter Stephen of Pine City. Miss Mary Hathaway, sister of the bride, acted as bridesmaid, and Mr. Floyd Williams acted for the groom. The ceremony was performed by Hon. Judge C. H. Cooper, of Brainerd. Immediately after the ceremony Mr. and Mrs. Hathaway invited the newly wedded couple and guests to a fine banquet, there being only a few invited guests outside the family. All of the Brainerd people, and friends from far and near join in their well wishes to this worthy young couple. Mr. and Mrs. Stephan will make their future home in Pine City, where Mr. Stephan is one of Uncle Sam's popular R. F. D. carriers. The bride was until recently a resident of Pine county, where she has a large circle of friends.

Wednesday morning at St. Mary's Catholic church, Rev. Father Koerner, at 9 o'clock, conducted the ceremony that joined Agnes Smith and Mike Breath in the holy bonds of wedlock. Mr. and Mrs. Daniel McDonald, of this place, supported the bridegroom and bride, the bride being a sister of Mrs. McDonald.

The bride and groom arrived from North Dakota the latter part of last week, the bride from Garrison, where she has just proved up on a claim, and the groom comes from Minnewaukon in about two weeks.

The happy young couple departed on Wednesday's limited for Jamestown, N. D. They will also visit Mrs. Breath's claim at Garrison, and will arrive at their future home at Minnewaukon in about two weeks.

THE PIONEER joins with the friends they have made during their short visit in this place, in wishing them a pleasant life's journey.

The snake in the grass does not show his head, but I know him by his rattle. Your benevolent minister is at hand, and I would say, not in answer, for there is nothing to answer. If there is anything in it, that by stretch of imagination could be called a statement, it is wholly based upon bare-faced falsehood. There is nothing that could be called argument. It is simply the venomous spleen of a disgruntled wren, dead or the wall of a soul being consumed by the fires of pride, jealousy and revenge, kindled and kept burning by your own evil imagination.

With regard to the institution mentioned in your first issue, I have this to say: That you headed the institution yourself for five years, to the everlasting detriment of the institution and the utter disgust of nearly all its members, don't care about your revealing your name. I know it already, and you would rather stay in the brush, so we will leave it that way. With regard to your impoverishment, morally and spiritually, those are qualities that you never possessed to any marked degree, so you could not be greatly damaged on that line. As to the financial part, some of your dollars went into the institution in question. Your great scramble was to get dollars out of it at Lakeville.

State Game and Fish Commission Issue Information For Hunters—Convictions For Violations of Law.

The law relative to licensing hunters remains the same in effect as it was previous to the recent session of the legislature though somewhat different in wording. No license is required for a hunter to shoot small game in the county in which he resides but if he desires to hunt outside his own county he must procure a license costing $1.00 from his county auditor. The license permits a hunter to shoot all kinds of game in season, and confers shipping privileges.

The funds derived from the sale of licenses go into the game and fish commission's general fund to be used for protection and propagation of game and fish. The funds available for protection of game are limited and all who enjoy hunting should realize that when they purchase a license they are contributing their mite to the work of game protection for their own benefit and the benefit of their children.

It is reasonable that the man who hunts should contribute in some measure to this work and every man who realizes this will buy his license cheerfully and gladly.

Game wardens are of course instructed to enforce the license provision of the law strictly, the same as all other provisions.

Hunting licenses for residents of the state are obtained of the several county auditors and will be in their hands about August 15th.

The shooting season commences on certain classes of game, Sept. 1st and the license is good for the entire season and all classes of game, anywhere in the state.

Only one license can be issued to any one person and it is not transferable. It is also the duty of every hunter to exhibit his license to any person, on request. The license is of the coupon variety and has tags attached to be used in shipment of game by the hunter to his place of residence.

Enclosed is a folder which contains in concise form information as to open and closed seasons for various classes of game, as to the bag limits and other information which every man who hunts should perfectly familiar with. This folder will be furnished on request to all applicants.

Comments In Lighter Vein on Passing Local Events—"Roasts" Rich and Rare, But Yet Well Done.

Senator Clapp got back from some where Saturday and, as was plainly evident he was in a great hurry to get back to the farm. The steamer started off all right and kicked up her heel's handsomely until per force she stuck her nose into the bank of Taylor's Sanatorium and refused to budge an inch. The boat had a seen like unto a pure bred pointer dog, and stuck to it with such aggravating persistency that all the other passengers on the "Fritz" appeared willing to share the Senator's impatience.

It was rare sport however to note the bitter high dudgeon and sarcastic diatribe which the senatorial visage portrayed when he saw the writer step off the steamer into a chartered launch and shoot away toward his destination with all the pomp and style of Neptune—fabled god of the seas. But such is the power of money over fame. Rash ungrateful

Doctor Carlos Knapp, Art Olson, Bob Harte, Ernest Dosey and a few others, think they belong to the "400" just because they play a little tennis. Pooh!

The farmers of this or any other state, for that matter, need no more despair as to droughts. It has remained for an expert in the Agricultural Department at the Capitol by the Potomac, to discover that onions planted between rows of potatoes, bring tears to the eyes of the Murphy's in such volume, that the roots of the vines are kept moist and a big crop is raised in spite of the drought.

We are fortunate today," said Mr. Wilkie "in having among us Mr. Olsen, who will sing his favorite and pathetic ballad, 'Oh Mother! Place the Washboard Near my Grave.' The soft, sweet strains of the old song coming from the buccle breath of Mr. Olsen, filled the room and thrilled the guests with such untellable woe, that the very ceiling began weeping to such an extent that a committee of three were delegated to either request Mr. Olsen to desist, or to go up stairs into the room above and inform the fellow there that it was against the rules of the house to bathe in the washbowls when a lake-full of water was there for the asking.

Justice and Sanity.

There has been a great deal said about the unwritten law, and it is held by many thinking people to justify murder which is indefensible. True, Man may be taken in self-protection, violating divine or human law, but for a deliberate homicide there is no excuse whatever. It is, of course, exemplifying almost beyond endurance to have the home despised by a consciousness monster who bears the guise of man, but courts should deal with him in a civilized community and give him his deserved punishment. When a man takes the law into his own hands and puts an end, with malice aforethought, to one of his fellow beings, he is simply a harbinger, no matter what cause he has for his bloody deed. The young man who slew the supposed wronger of his sister in this city, says the Boston Budget, received a just sentence, though there is sorrow that he should have thrown away his young manhood to become a perpetual prisoner; but his punishment, though severe, was deserved, and it will act as a deterrent to other individuals, young men of farm, school, and field, who might be tempted to follow in his unfortunate footsteps. The case of Judge Loving of Virginia, who was acquitted by a jury of the crime of murder partially, apparently, on the ground of sudden insanity, and partly, no doubt, through a reverence or regard for the unwritten law, is one in which it is widely believed strict justice was not meted out. In all probability, the young man who was shot to death by an irate father did not commit the deed of which he was at first suspected, but even if he did, his slayer, it seems to us, should have paid some penalty for his offence, and not have gone entirely unwhipt of justice. Then we have the story of a mother and son who confessed that they killed a young man because he refused to wed the daughter of one and the sister of the other, thereby breaking a solemn promise that had been made. This was, no doubt, manslaughter, but the prosecution would not bring in a criminal act or a good moral reason for their acquittal. When brutes walk on two legs the law of the land, as has been well said, does not allow us to butcher them, and the sooner this is realized by those who claim the unwritten law as a defense the sooner shall we have a return to sanity in the treatment of assassins.

No department of government, certainly none represented in the president's cabinet, is less open to partisan political criticism than the department of agriculture. Sometimes there is a hubub about free seeds, for which congress and not the department is responsible. Beyond that, the complaints are few and the blessings are many. Secretary Wilson says that during the fiscal year just ended the department has made discoveries which will benefit the American people to the extent of millions of dollars—a sum too vast to calculate. Some of these discoveries are patentable, and if the patent rights could be had by the discoverer, he would make them rich. But all such patents, after being taken out in the name of the inventor, are dedicated to the United States for the common good.

Congress having provided for an increase in the artillery force of the army, 27 new companies of coast artillery are to be formed. These will be stationed at various points along the Atlantic, the gulf and the Pacific. Experience has shown that more men were needed to care properly for the big guns in our forts. The additional companies, with the national guard organizations, which have had very successful tours of duty at the forts, will serve to obviate danger in case of an emergency. The country will have both the guns and the men needed.

Electricity continues to extend its usefulness. New Jersey has found it the most expeditious and humane means of putting an end to stray and useless dogs. Hitherto the dogs have been asphyxiated in a big gas tank. But the society which looks after such things finds this is cruel and by no means infallible. So Plainfield leads off by substituting the electric kennel for the gas receptacle. By this means the canines are sent painlessly and swiftly to death and the bow-wows cease from spreading fear of rabies.

A Methodist minister has protested against the use of the Sunday service as a practice hour for students in shorthand, who go to church merely to take down the sermon. It does seem a double offense to break the Sabbath in church.

The present session of the Legion of Honor is the second session of "Honors," the opera which shocked New York, will emphasize an impression that the legion is getting to be a somewhat mixed company.

MOORS ATTACK THE CASABLANCA CAMP

TWICE REPULSED BY FRENCH SHIPS AND TROOPS WITH HEAVY LOSSES.

Warships Fire On Them—Reported Bombardment of Maragan Not Confirmed—Muley Amin Approves Action of Europeans.

Casablanca, Aug. 10.—The Moors Thursday night renewed their attempt to invade Casablanca, but were repulsed with heavy losses by the fire from the warships. All the consulates here are now guarded by machine guns.

The total of the Moorish losses here is estimated at 2,000.

Attacks Twice Repulsed.

Tangier, Aug. 10.—News has been received here that Arab tribesmen, who had gathered from the surrounding country to the number of five or six hundred, swept down upon Gen. Driant's camp outside Casablanca yesterday afternoon.

They were driven off with considerable loss. Later they renewed the attack and again were repulsed. The French forces are in splendid condition and spirits, and the tribesmen supported them during this time by holding up a steady shell fire on the horizon.

When the French forces from Casablanca arrived here Friday they received a letter from Muley Amin, the military governor of Casablanca, officially approving the action of the French forces and asking the aid of France in inflicting punishment upon agitators.

The latest advices received here do not confirm the reported bombardment of Maragan. Advices from Mogador, August 7, say everything was quiet there then and that no trouble was apprehended unless European complications resulted from the bombardment of Casablanca. Morocco's city is quiet.

More About Bombardment.

Further particulars of the bombardment of Casablanca show that when Admiral Phillibert's squadron arrived on the 2nd the armored cruisers Conde and Givoye bombarded the outposts. On the 3rd the battleship D'Arcy shelled the Arab quarter. So soon as the foreign legions landed the gates were battered down, the soldiers took possession of the ramparts and the streets were cleared by the infantry, with the use of rapid fire guns.

For a while the Conquistador, Galilee, and Alphonse and the Dauphinie were at Maragan. Admiral Phillibert has issued a proclamation at both places warning the natives that the least act of hostility against Europeans will result in the towns being completely destroyed.

The sack of Casablanca occurred Saturday.

Preaching a Holy War.

Paris, Aug. 3.—Special dispatches received here from Tangier represent the situation as being more alarming on the coast and in the interior. Said Sale, the administrator of customs at Rabat, is said to be openly preaching a holy war among the Moors, as a result of which the French consul has distributed arms to the Europeans.

In addition a fanatic priest named Macianin, at the head of a horde of followers, is traveling through the Little Atlas infaming the anti-foreign sentiment.

Reports from Fez say that the adherents of the sultan are terrified and have not yet informed him of the gravity of the situation.

Up to six o'clock Thursday evening the foreign forces here had no confirmation of the reported bombardment of Maragan.

TORNADO HITS LA CROSSE.

Great Damage Is Done in the Wisconsin Town.

La Crosse, Wis., Aug. 12.—The second tornado ever experienced in La Crosse swept through the city at eight o'clock Sunday morning, and in 15 minutes had done an enormous amount of damage. The storm was sudden and widespread, that no accurate estimate of its extent can be made, but it will run into the tens of thousands of dollars in the city of La Crosse alone.

The storm worked great havoc to factories, residences, churches and electric companies. Striking to earth several of the most beautiful shade trees, making the streets and walks in places impassable.

The day was fair and warm, with no prospect of weather disturbances, and hundreds of people were already upon the river for the day, or had gone into the country on picnics.

The greatest alarm was caused when the savage, twisting wind struck the water and the frail pleasure craft on it. In many cases the boats were swamped, the inmates being thrown into the water and obliged to swim to shore. In other cases the operators of the boats, unable to get ashore with them because of the wind, abandoned them and, leaping into the water, swam ashore.

Crop Condition Good.

Washington, Aug. 10.—The crop report of the agricultural department shows the condition of corn August 1 as 82%, winter wheat production for 1907, about 400,000 bushels; an average of 14.6 per cent; spring wheat condition 79%.

STOREHOUSE OF DYNAMITE EXPLODES AT BOULDER, COLO.

Property Damage $250,000—Two Men Killed When Nitroglycerin Blows Up in Essex, Ont.

Boulder, Colo., Aug. 12.—Fire that started in an oil clock Saturday morning at the Colorado Fuel & Iron freight depot here destroyed the depot with a vast quantity of freight and spreading a distance of 190 feet enveloped a powder house containing 1,000 pounds of dynamite, which exploded with tremendous shock, injuring perhaps 100 persons and breaking the windows of houses in the city as well as that in hundreds of residences. It is believed that two of the injured will die. The property loss is estimated at $250,000. The fire originated from some unknown cause and was believed to be incendiary. It was placed under control at 8:30 a.m.

Detroit, Aug. 12.—Five men were killed, three were probably fatally injured and scores of people were slightly hurt by the explosion of half a car of nitro-glycerine at the Michigan Central railroad station at Essex, Ont., 14 miles inland from the Detroit river Saturday. Practically every building in the little town of 1,500 people was injured, many of them being blown to pieces.

Ridgway, Pa., Aug. 12.—Five trainmen were injured here by the explosion of a car of dynamite which had been nitro-glycerine dropped on it by a man who was put off a Pennsylvania railroad freight train. The injured are in a hospital here. The man who had the explosive was injured and is in jail here. He was discovered riding on the freight train before it reached Ridgway and was, according to the crew, apparently under the influence of liquor.

RAILROAD WAR IS ENDED.

Southern Road Makes Its Peace with State of Alabama.

Montgomery, Ala., Aug. 9.—Governor and the officials of the Southern railroad reached an agreement late Thursday afternoon and the license of the railroad in Alabama was issued.

Beginning September 1, 1907, the railroad and its allied lines will put into effect the two and a half cent passenger fare act and the measure reducing the freight rates on 110 commodities commonly shipped in Alabama.

The consideration of the agreement of the railroad representatives to permit the operation of these two laws, the one affecting the passenger traffic, and the other the freight, it was agreed by Gov. Conner that the revocation of the license of the Southern railroad by the state of Alabama and the company permitted to do business without hindrance by the state.

The compromise affects only the one railroad system, the Southern. The other railroads of the state were not parties to the conference.

UNCLE SAM CONSIDERS THE SHOW BUSINESS.

A TERRIBLE EXPERIENCE.

How a Veteran Was Saved the Amputation of a Limb.

B. Frank Doremus, veteran of Roosevelt Ave., Indianapolis, Ind., says: "I had been showing symptoms of kidney trouble from the time I was mustered out of my company in 1898. I never suffered as in 1897. Headaches, dizziness, insomnia, first, and then droopy. I was weak and helpless, having run down from 150 to 125 pounds. I was in the 3d regt., and the scrotum passed almost insensitively. My left leg swelled until it was 34 inches around, and the doctor tapped it night and morning until I could no longer stand it, and then he advised amputation. I used, and began using Dr. Riddle's pills. The swelling subsided gradually, and all my pains and aches disappeared. I have been well now for nine years since using Don's Kidney Pills."

AS THE BOY UNDERSTOOD.

Probably to His Mind Conflict of Authority was Vital.

In case of the Atlanta Sunday schools recently the lesson for the day had to do with Mammon and the corrupting influences of great riches.

Toward the close of the exercises, says Harper's Magazine, the superintendent called upon the talent class to repeat the golden rule which had special reference to man's leadership over God and creation and the money god at one and the same time. The class failed to respond as it should, when the superintendent, noticing his own young hopeful in the ranks, who had that very morning been drilled thoroughly on the text, called to him. The response was excellent, but the boy's voice was a slight departure from the original, for a voice that was distinctly heard in all parts of the room there came the following modification:

"Ye cannot serve God and mammon!"

Fell Into Bad Company.

A canny Scot was brought before a London magistrate on the charge of being drunk and disorderly. "What have you to say for yourself, sir?" demanded the magistrate. "You look like a sensible man and ought to be ashamed to stand here."

"I am very sorry, sir, but I can't get away in bad company fra Glasgow," humbly replied the prisoner.

What sort of company?"

"A lot of teetotalers!" was the startling response.

"I am bound to say teetotalers are bad company!" thundered the magistrate. "I think they are the best of company for such an idiot."

"Beggin' yer pardon, sir," answered the prisoner, "ye're wrong; for I had a bottle of whisky an' I had to drink it all myself!"

Depends on the Dogs.

Asa Goddard, of the American Automobile association, was recounting in Worcester some of his touring adventures.

"One summer morning," he said, "the approach of a great flock of sheep obliged me to pull off the narrow country road. I halted my car, and watched with interest the passage of the sheep, too intelligent dogs and the shepherd."

"I had a short talk with the shepherd about his odd and difficult trade."

"Look here," I said, "what do you do, driving sheep like this on a narrow road, when you meet another flock coming from the opposite direction?"

"Well," said the shepherd, "ye just drive straight on, both of ye, and the one that has the best dogs gets the most sheep."

MINNESOTA NEWS

Interesting Items Gathered in the Gopher State

County Exhibits.

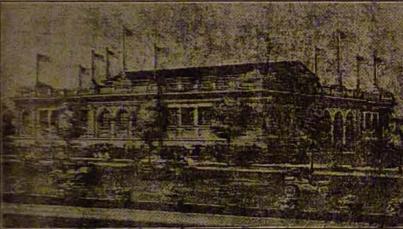

Hamline—Fourteen county exhibits are to be made at the coming Minnesota state fair. This is the largest number ever made at any Minnesota fair—a fact which shows the continual growth of the fair and the interest felt among the various counties of the state. The large exhibit was reported to the board of managers of the fair yesterday by J. M. Underwood, superintendent of the fair, and the heretical divisions of the fair.

The new lighting system will give abundant light; this, as well as all other parts of the grounds will be well illuminated at night. It is in this part of the grounds that the great display will have its stopping place, and here which it will rise in its daily flights.

The board has authorized the purchase of wheeled chairs for use during the fair. These will be for rent and men to push them will doubtless prove a popular way of seeing the fair.

Another innovation will be named "strange and singular," consisting of leading the visitor to this and that building in the vicinity. The board decided to again have a bureau of information, and made plans for the postoffice, which has been maintained at the fair during the past year. Last year the postoffice handled over 15,000 pieces of mail and issued nearly $5,000 worth of money orders.

New Dairy Hall, Minnesota State Fair.

The magnificent new dairy hall which is just being completed at the Minnesota State Fair grounds is the finest dairy exhibition building in the world. Its cost is $35,000. It is equipped with a mammoth refrigerator, ninety feet long, in which will be displayed a tub of butter from every creamery in the state. The dairy building will be a center of interest during the fair week—Sept. 2 to 7.

Narrow Escape.

Dresbach—Elmer Lamp and William O'Neill, two lads employed here to deliver city papers, saved three people from almost certain death when two passenger trains going in opposite directions were passing the Dresbach station at the same time.

The northbound train had stopped and the station had unloaded and loaded passengers and express, and was pulling out, when a southbound passenger train came bounding in on an adjoining track. Mrs. Ida Maynard, Peter Wacter and M. R. Gilbert, who had alighted from the first train, were on the station platform, the track toward the station and depot and did not notice the engine bearing down upon them.

The two boys, who had their arms filled with bundles of papers, saw the danger simultaneously and dropped the papers, rushed to the headless passenger train and pushed them from the tracks just in time to save them from being hit by the locomotive. Neither of the nimble young fellows was injured.

Will Move the Town.

Sports—If the plans of the steel corporation meet with the co-operation of citizens, the novel spectacle of moving a town in order to extract the iron underlying it will be presented here.

Representatives of the corporation have asked Town Clerk D. M. Monson to call a meeting of citizens for the consideration of the important question of moving the town to a point about a mile or half a mile away, where the iron is more easily worked.

At present there is no underlying body to necessitate a further move of the village in case it is located there.

The matter has caused considerable excitement among the citizens and opinions of all sorts are being expressed.

BRIEF NOTES.

TRYING TO MAKE HARRIMAN ANSWER

GOVERNMENT BEGINS PROCEEDINGS TO FORCE REPLIES TO QUESTIONS.

Kahn Also Is Involved—Facts Relating to Control of the Chicago & Alton Sought From the Magnate and Banker.

New York, Aug. 15.—United States District Attorney Stimson Monday filed in the United States circuit court in this city a petition that E. H. Harriman and Otto H. Kahn, the latter of the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., be summoned into court to show cause why they should not answer certain questions relating to control of the Chicago & Alton railroad.

Drowned.

International Falls—Word has been received here that Bert Wesley and Maude Wheeler were drowned at Rainy Lake City on Sunday.

They were among a party of pleasure seekers who were spending the day at that place. A boy who witnessed the drowning says the two people were engaged in a scuffle on the dock and fell in. The bodies were recovered and both were buried together.

The boat, the drug carrying the caskets was en route to the burial place when it became mired in a swamp, and it was necessary to hitch on an extra team to get it out.

He Swindled.

Le Sueur—John B. Sturtzert of Minneapolis was held to the grand jury here yesterday on a charge of having swindled Melvin P. Curtis, manager of the Park hotel, of $100,000 by inducing Curtis to sign a promissory note for that amount under the impression that it was a receipt for some Cuban land company stock. The stock was fixed at $300 and Sturtzert, being unable to find bondsmen, was taken to jail. The defendant introduced no testimony on the examination.

These questions were asked during the Interstate commerce commission's investigation of the Chicago & Alton several months ago. Mr. Stimson acted for Attorney General Bonaparte in filing the petition.

Harriman Wouldn't Answer.

In 1904 the Union Pacific purchased 100,000 shares of the Alton, through Kuhn, Loeb & Co. at $64. The stock was deposited with the bankers with the understanding that it was to be sold to the Union Pacific at a price to be made by a committee composed of Mr. Harriman, John A. Stewart and Otto H. Kahn. At the hearing Mr. Harriman was asked if he had sold the stock so disposed of by himself. This question he refused to answer.

Mr. Harriman also refused to answer questions as to the amount of his holding of Union Pacific preferred, and whether he still holds the stock. H. B. Rogers, C. F. Adams, W. H. Atchison, Topka & Santa Fe. Other questions which Mr. Harriman declined to answer had to do with his interest in the purchase of 105,000 shares of Illinois Central, the famous ten per cent dividend of the Southern Pacific road and his own profits occasioned by the sudden rise in this stock following the declaration of this dividend.

What Kahn Wouldn't Tell.

The questions which Mr. Kahn refused to answer had to do with the connection of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. with the purchase of stock in the Chicago & Alton and the Illinois Central and the portion of the stock so purchased was for the directors of the Union Pacific.

Neither Mr. Harriman nor Mr. Kahn could be found by the deputy marshal who was given the order to serve but service was accepted by their attorneys. The order issued on the petition is returnable before Judge LaCava October 21.

FATAL RIOTS IN BELFAST.

One Killed and Many Wounded by the Soldiers.

Belfast, Aug. 12.—Sardous and fatal disorders occurred here again Monday evening. The troops fired into the crowd and a woman and a man were shot dead and a number of others were seriously wounded.

The conflict between the soldiers and the crowd took place in the vicinity of the constabulary barracks on the Carrickfergus road. The trouble became acute about six o'clock when a mob of men and women attacked a police inspector. Soldiers were at once summoned to the scene, but they were met by a hall of paving stones which resulted in emptying some of the rifles.

The riot was read, but the madened mob refused to disperse and kept up a terrific fusillade of stones, broken bottles and brickbats against the police and the military. Bayonet and baton charges failed to rout the frenzied mob, and ultimately the order to fire was given.

The number wounded from the rifle fire and the bayonet charges, and otherwise injured, is very great, and the hospitals are overcrowded.

EXPLOSION OF BOILER IN OMAHA CAUSES GREAT DAMAGE.

Omaha, Neb., Aug. 13.—The east end of the ten-story elevator of Morrison Building, First and Nicholas streets was blown out by the explosion of a boiler in the basement of the building late Monday afternoon. The elevator was full of grain, which probably will be a total loss.

No person was in the wrecked portion of the building when the explosion occurred and no one was injured. The damage will be heavy.

PINE COUNTY PIONEER.

ED. C. GOTTRY, Editor and Prop-

Entered in the Post Office at Pine City as Second Class Matter.

PINE CITY MINN. Aug. 16, 1907

G. B. WOLLAN, who was editor of the Glenwood Gopher, which was absorbed by the Glenwood Press, a year or so ago, has accepted a position as Northwest editor of the Duluth News-Tribune. Mr. Wollan is an able writer, and the News-Tribune will be benefited by the acquisition.

The new regulations in regard to quarantining for smallpox were approved by the state board of health at a late meeting. Under these regulations it is merely required that a placard be placed on a house where smallpox exists, that the public may be warned of danger. These regulations do not affect present conditions in cities where quarantine hospitals are maintained.

The last Glenwood Gopher Press contains several engravings purporting to represent a monster "sea-serpent" lying in the waters of beautiful Lake Minnewaska. The illustrations, while fine ones, are suggestive of trickery on the part of some photographic juggler, and possible collusion by the Editor of the Gopher Press. Lake Minnewaska is too fine a sheet of water to harbor such a monster as that pictured in the Gopher Press.

In order that St. Paul's splendid Auditorium, built at a cost of $50,000, may be kept open for the inspection of visitors during the week of Sept. 2, St. Paul musicians have arranged a series of fall festival concerts in which Innes Orchestra Band, a trained chorus of 600 voices, a supplementary children's chorus of 1,000 voices, and a dozen soloists of national reputation will appear. Innes' band is considered one of the finest organizations of its kind in the United States and is now rehearsing special music for the St. Paul appearance. The chorus of 600 and the children's chorus are also rehearsing. The former will be the finest organization of its kind which has ever sung in the Twin Cities. Splendid programs, embracing both popular and classical music, and giving a wide range of band, solo, chorus and children's parts have been arranged for the festival. There will be six evening programs, and three matinees, one of which will be a children's matinee. The weeks evening concerts in brief will be as follows: Monday night, special band; chorus and solo program; Tuesday night, "German Night" in charge of the United German Singing Societies of St. Paul; Wednesday night,

"Americana" the brilliant musical spectacle and allegory; Thursday night, "Scandinavian Night"; Friday night, "Wagnerfest"; Saturday night, "Grand Opera Night."

Function at the Lake.

Wednesday evening a surprise party, to celebrate the wooden wedding of Mr. and Mrs. C. V. Keirstead, of St. Paul, was given them by the guests of The Island Hotel at Pokegama lake, where the couple are spending their vacation. In the evening when Mr. and Mrs. Keirstead returned from a boat ride they were received in the parlors by the entire party. Lohengrin's Wedding March was rendered, on the piano, by Mrs. W. L. Dicks, who was matron of honor for the party. The flower girl, Catherine, the young daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Dicks of St. Louis, conducted the couple to their places where they were received by Mr. Ledy of St. Paul, who made the presentation speech. Nice presents were given, amongst which was a block of hand-drawn parchment inscribed with the names of all the guests present. The parlors had beautiful floral decorations, and before long dancing was in full swing. Refreshments were served throughout the entire evening, and songs, recitations and addresses were interspersed to shorten the evening so that when it departed for their respective quarters, everybody agreed it was the best time they ever had. Mr. and Mrs. Keirstead have the best wishes and congratulations of the entire company.

Waiting doesn't pay.
If you neglect aching back,
Urinary troubles, diabetes, surely follow.
Doan's Kidney Pills relieve back-ache.

Cure every kidney ill.

Philip Jacob, wood carver, of 747 Water Street, Milwaukee, Wis., says: "I have had to use to change my good opinion of Doan's Kidney Pills that I formed in 1890 when they gave me of kidney complaint. That cure has remained permanent. While I was confined to my bed from the trouble I was not very far from it, and for a while I did not know what was the cause, but finally I concluded that it was kidney and bladder trouble. There was a soreness in the small of my back and considerable pain. I let it run for a time, thinking that it would get better, but found that I had to do something. I procured a box of Doan's Kidney Pills at a drug store and I noticed in a few days that there was a great change for the better, and in a short time I was thoroughly cured. I have not felt any pain or soreness since that time. I am glad to recommend Doan's Kidney Pills."

How Richard Was Saved

By Nellie Cravey Gilmore

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles)

Mrs. Rassdale contemplated herself severely in the mirror. She had danced restlessly upstairs for the past two hours. An embryo pucker flickered for a moment between two blackish-brown eyes that all but met above a pair of wide-set, Irish-blue eyes—just now a trifle shadowed.

From time to time she cast意义 glance up at the door, where the car starting expectantly every time a door opened and closed. The porter came through at last, flourishing a premises ticket-book, and Miss Rassdale assailed him eagerly.

"How much farther is it to Johnstown?" she asked. "I am perfectly sure I can make safe connection with that through train to Cincinnati! I mustn't, by any means, get there later than noon."

"We'll be in Johnstown now in ten minutes, Miss. The train you will take is scheduled to reach Cincinnati in the early morning."

"Thank you. Yes, you may dust me." Miss Rassdale rose with a palpable sigh of relief, and submitted gratefully to the drift strokes of the broom, slipping a piece of money quietly into the pocket of the maid.

When she stepped out on the platform, a fine mist of snow had set in, that whipped her face like thousands of tiny lashes. She pulled down her thick coat and, turning a huge storm-collar close up about her neck, hurried into the waiting room.

The usual crowd of motley-faced lunch-eating, fagoted-out travelers was there, and the air was thick and sultry.

"Mr. Henderson!" She Exclaimed.

facting from a mammoth heating stove in the center of the room. Miss Rassdale found a seat in a deserted corner and endured it for exactly five minutes, during which time she lost her watch, and found that two whole hours must elapse before she could get her train. She started up impatiently, and out into the fine white drizzle, to walk away the time, and incidentally, some of that surplus energy that was well up in her nerves with the passing need.

Somewhat, the whole journey and everything connected with it was intolerable to her—had been so from the beginning. And had it not been for the faithful promise she had made to act as maid-of-honor at the wedding of her best friend?—she had waited when they two were at school together, and remained at each recurring visit between them—she never would have consented to the lamination.

On the biting air, she quickened her footsteps and walked rapidly for several squares till she could feel the blood move warmly and free in her body. Some time later, a man came to her then, and with the tinge of it racing through her veins, she hastened on and on, totally unblushing of the passage of time.

When Miss Rassdale came to herself, she was standing at the end of a street, a few feet from the lake, looking over its water. She looked again at her watch, noting with pain that that only 15 minutes remained in which to get back to the depot and catch her train! A sudden pain seized her; what should she do? She turned to look across the narrow mouth of conveyance—a car, anything—where her eyes fell on the strangely familiar figure of a very good-to-look-at young man coming directly toward her, and entirely unconscious of her identity.

"Mr. Henderson!" she exclaimed, as he was on the point of brushing past her.

"You!" He lifted his hat in swift recognition. "Well, this is certainly no end of surprises," he smiled, extending a cordial hand.

Miss Rassdale had been staring at him incredulously for the half of a minute. "It seems we are both in somewhat of a dilemma," she managed to falter out with him his wide eyes.

"How so?"

"Why, the wedding, of course! But I simply must catch that train. Isn't there a car or something?"

"Oh, yes, there's a car all right; the red one, opposite mine. You can get straight to the depot, but I'm very much afraid—" He shook his head dismally.

Miss Rassdale gave him a helpless glance. "Oh, dear!" she cried. "Don't try to tell me that I shall—"

FINALLY ROUSED UP UNCLE.

How a Crowd of Villagers Stirred the Sage of the Cracker Barrel.

There was the usual crowd of villagers sitting on the postoffice steps waiting for the mail to be distributed, and among them was Uncle John. He had joined the others without saying a word, and at the end of fifteen minutes one of the men winked at the crowd and said:

"Well, Uncle John, have you heard about the auto race you heard about the car that engaged her suicidally for all instant? The wedding will doubtless proceed anyway," he suggested haughtily.

"But—but you?"

"Unfortunately, I am unable to attend. I had expected doing so up to a point, but I have other business exigencies you know."

Miss Rassdale looked at him with wide, questioning eyes. "What—the bridegroom?" she exclaimed, as they stepped aboard the car. "Dear me, what are we coming to?"

"The bridegroom's all right, I guess," he said, with a forced smile. "I really don't understand."

Uncle John looked at him in a weary way and shook his head.

And the cyclone in Connecticut yesterday and 500 houses blown down?" continued the man.

"Unhappily, I am afraid and was not the heat intense."

"The Ohio river rose 200 feet of a sudden the other day and carried the city of Cincinnati down stream. Tens of thousands of people lost their lives. Any of your relatives down there, Uncle John?"

Uncle John shook his head and reached down to pick up a silver and pick his teeth with it.

"And the whole state of Pennsylvania is caving in," said the joker, "and by to-morrow there will be a great hole in the earth 5,000,000 or 6,000,000 people have lived."

Uncle John took the news without a word. In fact, he yawned and stretched over it.

"By thunder, but there goes a rat under that pile of lumber across the street," said the joker, as he rose up. "Say, you fellows—"

But he got no further. Uncle John was across the street and had a club in his hand, and within the next ten minutes he had done a half day's work tearing down the piles to get at the rat. He had been aroused at last—Kansas City Journal.

TWO WAYS OF LOOKING AT IT.

Wife's Snoring Comment Met with Sharp Answer.

Galett Burgess at the recent dinner of the American Booksellers' association of New York said: "I once knew a San Franciscan who married a girl for her money. She was not a pretty girl, and at time passed and love came she developed a rather tart tongue."

"One day her husband bought with his quarter's allowance a 50-horse power automobile. He took the car home gayly and brought his wife out to the front door to look at it. She gave one snoring glance, and then said:

"It's very fine, but if it hadn't been for my money, it wouldn't be here!"

"Well, Mamie," said the husband, quickly, "if it hadn't been for your money you wouldn't be here, your self!"

USED BY THE DOCTORS.

Ninety Per Cent of the Drugs Prescribed Are Patent Medicines.

Despite the opposition of physicians, especially of those whose experience has been neither far-reaching nor decided, it is now generally admitted that 90 per cent of all drugs that physicians are put up and compounded by manufacturing concerns—are, in fact, "patent" medicines just as truly as if they were advertised in the newspapers.

The average doctor knows little or nothing of the "patent" or "proprietary" medicines he shows in his office, but the quiet fact is, the flushed back revealed something in the gray black eyes she could not mistake, and broke down the pretense between them all at once.

"Viola," he said, laying his hand for a moment over hers, "after months of misery and silence and doubt—almost despair—I see a smile in your eyes, I trust you accept my path. It isn't a day of miracles, and surely this must mean something. I want you to tell me, here and now, the reason for your sudden coldness—the abrupt cessation of your letters—the return of mine, unanswered—"

She had been silent, but now broke into a quiet laugh that bore a swift expression of tears in its transience.

"It's too ridiculous," she jerked out, coloring furiously, "but—but when Mavis wrote me that she was to marry Mr. Weller, I knew—"

Henderson burst out exultant. "Acca! the under dog!" He bent toward her suddenly—and so close that his warm breath lifted the fine hair from her temples. "Viola," he began pleadingly, "after what has happened, we're entitled to take a second risk."

"There is but one thing to do, isn't there, dear? We can no longer wait to see this unhappy old year pass out of existence, and go back home on our wedding trip. Dick might by some unoward chance, succeed in getting annihilated in a railroad wreck, whereupon I should certainly be called upon to husband his widow."

Miss Rassdale had been staring out of the carriage window at the rows of whirling trees and cottages. She smiled swiftly as she turned and met his impudent glances fixed upon her. A wave of quick color ran from brow to breast.

"I think, perhaps, I would better try to save you," she said softly. "And we will begin the New Year on a surer basis, at least."

Always the Politician.

A Germanwoman, who had not long ago watching a workman as he put up new window fixtures in her house. "Don't you think that you have placed those fixtures too high?" asked she, having referred to the curtain rolls that had got in the way. The workman, a stoic German, made no reply, but continued to adjust the fixture. " Didn't you hear my question?" demanded the lady of the house. "How dare you be so rude?" Whereupon she turned and went compositely, and then replied in a low murmur of voices: " If but my mouth full of cinders, and I could not speak till I swallow some!"—Harper's Weekly.

SETTING THE BRIDE AT EASE.

"Widder's" Sympathy Went Out to Fellow Passenger.

A couple recently married had just entered the train that was to bear them to the mountains on their honeymoon, when they discovered among the class of passengers another passenger, who had evidently a bride and groom. The young wife, on opening her handbag, let fall some roses on the floor, and the woman smiled. The other passengers regarded the couple with interest. Seeing that the bride was every moment becoming more flushed and uncomfortable by reason of their scrutiny, the woman in the goodness of her heart, leaned across the carriage.

"Never mind, my dears!" she said. "I'm a widow now, but by this time next week I'll be in the same fix myself!"

NO RELIEF FROM ECZEMA

For Over Two Years—Patent Medicines, Quack Cures and Doctors Fall—Corticura Succeds.

"I was very badly afflicted with eczema for more than two years. The irritation was severe, and it was always followed by the loss of sleep. I tried all the physicians in the town and some in the surrounding towns, and I also tried all the patent remedies that I heard of, besides all the cures advised by old women and quacks, and found no relief whatever in any of them. I was using the Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Oil, and Cuticura Resolvent. In the Cuticura Remedies I found immediate relief, and was soon sound and well. C. V. Belz, Tippecanoe, Ind., Nov. 5."

EASEL STAND FOR FERN-POD.

Or Design Can Be Used for Many Other Purposes.

This is made of wood, with twigs fastened together by thin shanks' nail. The twigs may be left in their natural state, or may be varnished, dusting a little bromizing powder over before the varnish is quite dry. It is made in the form of a miniature easel.

Clever women are frequently getting much the effect of silk by wearing heavy linens, often in the natural color. Linen suits consisting of coat and skirt are extremely popular and we shall be making them until the very last of the season. Muslins, gauzes and dimities also are made into all sorts of daytime dresses.

For those who prefer silks, however, we are designing some wonderfully pretty things, among which is a dress that I will describe for you. The material is the richest of messaline and may be woven. The bodice is of wavy plain, has an irregular flounce around the bottom and up the side almost to the waist. In the little emroidered bolero coat, sleeves and with huge armholes, I have originated a development of the bretelle idea, which is a development of the Bretelle fastened under the arms.

But in spite of occasional silks in all departments of the wardrobe, for dress occasions lingerie gowns are completely in the ascendent. Clever women like to have them in all sorts of designs, and we shall be making them until the very last of the season.

This last weather, because it is hard for food, even in small quantities, to be digested when the blood is at high temperature, we have to eat sparingly and properly. We should also help the stomach as much as possible by the use of a little Kodol.
