SUCCESSFUL YEAR

The Griggs Cooper Pickling Company Es-tablishment at this Point Makes a Fine Showing on its Output.

The Griggs Cooper & Company pickling plant at this place is one of the best owned by the above company. They commenced filling their pickle tanks that hold 800 bushels apiece, on the 10th day of August and on the 24th day of September they closed the last of the 14 tanks of pickles they received. Besides the above they put up 700 barrels of dill pickles with 5 bushels to the barrel; 100 barrels of onions and cauliflower. In the salting of the above they have used four car loads of salt.

The farmers around Pine City who brought cabbages, onions, cauliflower, and dill to the factory have made money as the price paid for cucumbers would average 40 cents per bushel, dill 18 dollars per ton, and for onions and cauliflower the market price was paid.

We were informed by the man in charge of the plant that this station paid by far the best of any station paid by the Griggs Cooper Co., of St. Paul, bad this year. The company are pleased with the success of the plant and the farmers that patronized the popular industry in Pine City are more than pleased with the result.

Next year the company should have no trouble in securing a greater acreage than ever before, as those who raised pickles this year will be sure to sow again next, and a great many others who have seen by their neighbors what a nice thing it is at the pickle time of the year to have the money roll in for a very little trouble as it does to those who plant an acre or so to cabbages. The company will have to employ a couple of men at least the greater part of the winter in order to ship the stock on hand as they have been shipping for the past month and have emptied two tanks. The last of the dill pickles was shipped the middle of last week.

The gentlemanly manager, Frank Bernier, has made friends of his numerous patrons, and they all hope to see him at the head of the business here next year.

A QUET WEDDING.

Mr. Heinie Kruse and Miss Edith Zastrow joined in the Holy Bonds of Wed-lock, Monday Afternoon,

Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock Rev. J. J. Parish performed a ceremony that bound together for life Mr. Heinie Kruse and Miss Edith Zastrow at the home of the bride's father at Chengwatawan.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. Fred Zastrow, who has had charge of the Chengwatawan dam, for his nephew, Emil Munch, and the past six years. Miss Edith is a fine young lady in every sense of the word and will make the man of her choice a good help-meet.

The groom is the eldest son of Henry and Barbara Kruse and is well and favorably known in this place, having been born and raised in this vicinity. Heinie is a hard working, industrious young man and holds a good position as foreman on the Missabon railroad at the present time.

Those present at the ceremony were Mr. Fred Zastrow, father of the bride, Mr. August and Herman Zastrow, wives and children, and Mr. and Mrs. Emil Munch, of St. Paul.

The happy young couple took Monday's limited for Proctor, where they will make their future home. The Proxers joins with the many friends of the young couple in wishing them a pleasant journey down life's fruitful strand.

Labels Must Tell the Truth.
Henceforth all food and drug labels, without exception, must meet the full requirements of the regulations.

This is declared in no uncertain terms by the board of food and drug inspection in Washington. Many business interests, particularly wholesale and retail grocers and jobbers, have tried to avoid full compliance with the regulations. They look heart somewhat from a previous ruling, by which they were allowed to use labels printed on or before Oct. 16, 1906, even if those labels did not fully comply with the regulations. The only requirement was that those labels should contain no actual misstatement about the character of the contents, and that they should not be used under any circumstances later than Oct. 1, 1907.

The grocers asked the board that this same privilege be extended to Oct. 1, 1908, but their request has been refused. The board is desirous that only originally printed labels be used, but if old labels are used at all, they must now be corrected, by stickers or erasures, to comply with the regulations. The board will not be satisfied to have a misstatement appear in one place, and a correction in another. The misstatement must be entirely obliterated.

Andrew Carnegie tells of an old Scotch lady who had no great liking for modern church music. One day she was expressing her dislike of the singing of an anthem in her own church, when a friend said:

"Why, that anthem is a very anxious one. David sang it to Saul."

"West, west!" said the old woman. "I am for the first time under-sung when Saul threw his javelin at David when the lad sang for him." October Lippincott's

HIGH SCHOOL BOYS DOWNED

The Pine City Football Team Meets With Defeat at the Hands of the White Bear Heavyweight Aggregation.

The foot ball game between the White Bear Lake high school eleven and the local high school eleven played on the gridiron on the north side of the river Saturday afternoon resulted in a victory for the White Bear boys by a score of 22 to 0. The locals put up a very good game and made some fine plays, but were completely outclassed by their husky opponents, who crushed them more by force of avorodhood than by the science and generalship displayed. Considering the cold, raw state of the atmosphere, quite a crowd witnessed the game, many ladies being present. Though defeated, our boys have nothing to feel ashamed of, as they played a good clean game, full of gungo, and that their work was appreciated by their opponents is evidenced by the following, received from the manager of the White Bear eleven:

"Editor Pine Co. Pioneer:—The White Bear's wish to thank the Pine City foot ball team and its officials for the hospitality and fine treatment extended to them last Saturday. The Pine City boys, though defeated by a score of 22 to 0, put up a dandy fight and a good clean game. The best natural team the 'Bears' ever played. It is impossible for us to praise the Pine City contingent too highly for their good sportsman-like conduct while on the gridiron."

Yours for clean sport,
WHITE BEAR.

EUGENE W. MARKER, Mgr.—
Another game is scheduled for next Saturday afternoon between the locals and Sandstone team. This will doubtless prove an exciting contest as the teams are believed to be very evenly matched.

An Economic Problem.

Long Prairie Leader: An observing farmer called our attention to a circumstance yesterday that certainly offers food for reflection.

Down at the depot was a dray team loading a car with wood to be shipped to Dakota and next to it was another team unloading a car of coal. The men were working with feverish haste, one crew trying to get fuel out of the country as fast as possible and the other crew trying just as hard to get their supply of fuel into the country. The query naturally arises what is the sense of this? Where is the economy? People here are forced to buy coal because they cannot get wood. There is a good market right at home for all the wood left in Todd county and the continued shipping of the product is developing an economic problem of no mean proportions.

The only party who is getting anything out of the process is Jim Hill, who laughs in his sleeve as he hauls our fuel away and then uses the same car to haul a foreign fuel back to us.

Work Proves Big Success.

The St. Croix Log Lifting company has ended for the season the reclaiming of sunken and "deadhead" logs on the St. Croix river. The work of the summer was very successful, and millions of feet of logs worth many a thousand dollars has been raised and turned over to local mills and owners to be sawed up. Some of them belonged to loggers who are long since dead, and these became the property of the reclaimers. The company went to big expense in having steel tubes for floaters manufactured and in acquiring a steamer and other apparatus for the business.

There yet remain a great quantity of logs to be reclaimed from the upper St. Croix besides a large quantity below this city. There are also many logs in other rivers tributary to the Mississippi, and the company will have work for years to come.

An offer has been made to the company to go to the Arkansas river to work this winter, and a crew of men with the outfit will leave for there next week.

SCIENTIFIC FORESTRY

The United States Government Forestry Service Utilizing in Its Efforts to Save Waste Wood and Material.

Less than 50 per cent of the average tree as it stands in the woods comes into the market in the form of merchantable products, according to the statistics of Government experts. The remainder is allowed to go to waste. Some trees supposed to be of little value have been habitually neglected altogether and left in the woods to fall and decay.

The seriousness of this waste question made little impression on lumbermen and the users of lumber until forests began to fail and prices reached a point where building operations were handicapped. Lumbermen have too often gone into the richest forests of the country and merely "skinned the cream," taking only choice parts of the trees, and wasting the remainder. Scarcity has now called a halt, and made it necessary to put the whole tree to its best use.

The Forest Service early realized the need of turning to account what was thrown away, and it began investigations with that end in view. Because of lack of facilities in Washington, laboratories were established in other cities, the location of which seemed to be most advantageous for the particular study concerned. The first of these was at New Haven, Connecticut, in the old chemical laboratory of the School of Scientific School of Yale University. Experimental and analytical work was carried on, such as the analyzing of preserved timbers, the determination of the quantity of tanning material and cellulose in various woods and bark, experiments to discover the quantity of material leached out by allowing logs to stand in water for varying periods, and studies to establish standards and values of commercial creosotes.

Work progressed even with a limited force, and shortly a laboratory was established in Boston to investigate the value for pulp purposes of various abundant woods, and to save the valuable spruce and popular forests for lumber. The results of this work were most encouraging. A number of wood fibers were shown to be valuable raw material for paper. Some of these were, so far as color, strength, and various other qualities are concerned, better for certain purposes than spruce.

The wood distillation industry was also given careful study with most satisfactory results. An expert made an extended tour of investigation through the South, and furnished an exhaustive report on the condition of the industry of that section. Later experimental studies resulted in a method of chemical examination which not only demonstrates the relative value of turpentine obtained from the pine tree by various methods, but also shows that it is possible by steam distillation processes to obtain from southern pine a grade of turpentine equal for all practical purposes to gum spirits, which is the product obtained by scarring the trunks of living trees. Circular settings forth the results in detail are now in preparation by the Forest Service.

The investigations of the Government to discover uses for waste material were from the first carried on under something of a disadvantage because of laboratories being in different cities. Consolidation of forces and close co-operation were almost impossible. This was remedied last July by the transfer of headquarters to Washington. A building suited to the special requirements of the work was erected, in which the apparatus previously used elsewhere has been installed. Here the field of inquiry will be extended to cover additional phases of the waste problem as it affects the timber supply.

The Rock Creek Creamery pays the highest market price for cream. Cream must be delivered at creamery.

"Mother has five daughters, and three of 'em have good homes, where you think she might content herself. But now she's paralyzed, and she boards, and is taken care of by a stranger. It seems wrong, and I suppose there's more than out to blame; but I've often noticed in this world that in sickness or in health, we have bad neighbors for our kin, and our politeness for other folks. They say blood's thicker than water, but the only sign I've ever seen of it is that blood relations make free to be hateful to one another." The little seamstress told a bitter truth which applies to thousands of families where, if the bond of affection exists, the evidence of it is sadly lacking. "To be at home" means too often to be rude and selfish and lawless. "You children must get on your company manners for Aunt Sophie's visit," said a mother to her noisy brood. "Why? I thought nauts were home folks!" said a logical boy. "No, indeed! Aunt Sophie would be shocked if you treated her like home folks." Well, I don't care if she is shocked. Company manners are all nonsense, anyhow." So seamstresses and boy put the wicked hexay in a nutshell. "Manners are all nonsense."

"Free to be hateful to one another." The home where that ugly creed is held, says Youth's Companion, is sure to produce a harvest of names, if not of heart-breaks. The one safeguard against the bickerings and misunderstandings which always lurk ready to destroy domestic happiness is the simple rule that nothing is too good for home—manners, clothes, gifts, thoughts—the best of all for the nearest of kin.

Law and Ethics.

The integrity of no profession is so often or so wrongfully attacked as is the legal. An incident illustrates the common thought. At a banquet given in honor of a leading member of the bar the toast announced was "An honest lawyer, the noblest work of God." Quick as a flash thereafter came from the lower end of the table the response, "and the scarest!" I do not stop to answer these aspersions. And yet I cannot refrain from noticing the experiences of a San Francisco publishing firm. By last year's fire its entire plant, including its letters, letter books and books of account, was destroyed. All evidences of claims in its favor were gone, and it had only its general recollection of its business. It caused circulars to be prepared stating the facts, and sent the various laws to be named in a legal directory. Out of $175,000 was paid to be the extent of outstanding claims. $150,000 has been paid. Can any profession make a better showing? asks Justice Brewer, in International Journal of Ethics. How seldom do you hear of a lawyer betraying his client. Indeed, the chief criticism is that he is too loyal to that client, and in discharging what he believes to be his duty, to him, forgets his obligations to the public. But I look forward and not backward. No man is so good that he cannot be better, and I may add, there is no profession which makes a stronger appeal to its members to come up higher.

A military band board a battleship served the purpose of a foghorn last month, and prevented the wreck of a Norwegian collier. The collier, bound for Boston, lost its reckoning in the thick weather, and the captain was steaming slowly, listening for signals that would indicate the proper course, when he was astounded to hear a zoom-zoom-zoom-zoom of a dozen ships coming off the fog. He ordered the anchors dropped, and waited for clear weather. When the fog lifted, he found himself in a narrow channel near rocky ledges, and saw the battleship not far away. If he had gone a hundred feet either way, he would have been wrecked.

A truck arrived at Desenzano, on the Lago di Garda, having brought coal from Venice. On this was a patch of corn about four inches high, which must have taken at least 20 days to grow. This may give some idea of the delays on the Italian railways, which are causing factories to close for lack of raw material and coal.

Anna Bassett says she remembers previous existences. Considering that some people would like to forge a part of their present existence the prospect of remembering far back into the dim past is not an attractive one.

BOB EVANS MAY BE A VICE ADMIRAL

CONGRESS WILL BE ASKED TO ESTABLISH THAT RANK IN THE NAVY.

FOR CRUISE TO PACIFIC—COMMANDER OF MIGHTY FLEET, IF ONLY REAR ADMIRAL, WOULD BE OUTRANCHED IN COUNTIES HE WILL VISIT.

Washington, Oct. 23.—The great battleship fleet which is making its way from the Atlantic to the Pacific will probably be commanded by a vice admiral, and that officer is now Rear Admiral Bob Evans.

Of course this is conditional upon congress giving its sanction to the proposal that will be made by the executive to establish this new rank in the navy. The idea is not a new one. In fact, the president in his last annual message to congress asked for the creation of a vice admiral in the rank of about 3,000 blue jackets in addition to the present four. The proposition was received with favor and will be included in the estimates to be submitted to congress.

Secretary Metcalf also has before him a bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Dawsen, of Colorado, to establish a vice admiral, headed by Admiral Dawsen, upon the new construction required to meet the plans of the board, and this was touched upon incident to the construction of the width of the canal locks.

It is pointed out that by reason of the fact that he last year expressed the opinion that one new ship would be all that should necessarily be authorized at this congress, the president has somewhat embarrassed himself, but as several of the battleships which were laid down during the past year have since either been completed or available have since rather unexpectedly been shown to be of obsolete type, it is not apprehended that the president will have any difficulty in explaining to congress the necessity for amending the original estimate, for it is now quite certain that no less than two and probably three battleships of the first order will be recommended in the estimates.

NAVY NEEDS MORE MONEY

CABINET CONSIDERS SECRETARY METCALF'S ESTIMATES.

INCREASE OF $30,000,000 IN STANDING APPROPRIATION FOR PAYMENT OF ENLISTED MEN IS APPROVED.

Washington, Oct. 23.—Naval matters occupied the attention of the cabinet during a considerable part of Friday's meeting. Secretary Metcalf has completed his consideration of the estimates for the maintenance of the naval establishment, and as these show a great increase as compared with the current fiscal year, thereby promising to cause much debate in congress at the approaching session, the president and the secretary of the navy have made their most earnest attempt to them.

The secretary advanced a proposition to increase by $5,000,000 the standing appropriation for the payment of enlisted men in the navy. According to his estimate the increase will be $30,000,000 in the regular service of about 3,000 blue jackets in addition to the present four. The proposition was received with favor and will be included in the estimates to be submitted to congress.

Secretary Metcalf also has before him a bill introduced in the Senate by Senator Dawsen, of Colorado, to establish a vice admiral, headed by Admiral Dawsen, upon the new construction required to meet the plans of the board, and this was touched upon incident to the construction of the width of the canal locks.

ANOTHER DREYFUS AFFAIR.

FRENCH OFFICERS ARRESTED AS TRAITORS—ONE, A JEW, CONFESES.

Paris, Oct. 25.—The arrest of Ensign Charles B. Ultimo, the Frenchman at Toulon Thurday, on the charge of being a spy and in connection with having plotted to blow up secret naval dock and a naval magazine, was followed Friday by the arrest at Vendome of an officer named Berthon, who is charged with negotiations with an agent of a foreign power for the sale of military secrets.

The arrests are creating a great stir, and as Ultimo is a Hebrew, the papers term his case a second Dreyfus affair.

It appears that Ultimo offered certain documents to the minister of the interior for $30,000, saying that unless his offer was accepted he would sell them to a foreign power. A dummy correspondence was begun, ending with Ultimo's capture.

A search of his lodgings revealed that he not only possessed the secret code signals, but was in possession of complete plans for the manufacture of the French navy, the location of harbors in time of war, photographs of the mechanism of France's famous 75-millimetre field gun, etc.

Interesting Items Gathered in the Gopher State

Mystery Cleared Up.
Duluth—The mysterious disappearance of Fred Peterson of Two Harbors a year ago has been cleared up, but just how he came to his death may never be known.

The skeleton of a man lying beside the body of a buck deer was found in the woods between the Split Rock and the Gooseberry rivers, and from some articles found in the clothing it is believed that the disappearance of Peterson has been solved. The ride to Duluth Peterson carried has also been identified. The weapon lay near the skeleton.

The mystery now is, how did Peterson get killed? Had he killed the deer and was he packing it out of the woods, and was himsele attacked for a deer? Was it that Peterson sought the deer whose skeleton lay on the ground, and did the animal attack and kill him? The theory of people who have investigated the case is that the buck, after being wounded, had attacked and slain the hunter.

A Deep Water Way.

Washington—"A navigable depth of water in the Mississippi from Minneapolis to its mouth, sufficient to carry heavy freights, is bound to come in the future, near or remote," said F. H. Newell, chief of the reclamation service.

Mr. Newell is a member of the inland waterways commission, members of which recently made an inspection of the Mississippi from St. Paul to its mouth, part of the time being with President Roosevelt.

"The time when the deep waterway project is to be approved by Congress depends upon getting the people interested," continued Mr. Newell. "Of course, the people residing in the country immediately contiguous to the great river are most anxious for the project. I mean that other people should be informed as to the value of making the river available for traffic along its entire length."

State Assets.

Minneapolis—According to the tax lists for 1907, Minnesota is the third largest state in the union in its history. Last year the state assessment of Minnesota was $753,525,000. The tax commission has added $121,900,000 in one lump, on the assessments of the iron mining properties. New assessments of real estate, which are to be used as a rule for improvements, add another three or four millions to the total, bringing the real estate valuation up to $757,000,000 in round numbers. Personal property was increased about $5,000,000 this year, and without deducting the exemption of $150,000,000, bringing the total for taxes paid in the state to $1,048,000,000. Even deducting the exemptions the figure will be at least $1,000,000,000 in excess of a billion dollars.

Lynx Came to Town.

Crookston—A big Canadian lynx was shot in the heart of the city of Crookston within half a block of Main and Robert streets, the busiest corner at the city. The animal was found cut out of a large strip of uncleared and natural forest land, and is just across the Red Lake river from the Great Northern central depot. It was seen running across the river, and in spite of the crowd which had gathered on the river bank, it leaped over the fence into the shrubs and scrambled up the bank. The crowd became panic stricken and fled in every direction, and the cat began springing after them. Frank Morrissey arrived with a gun and shot the lynx dead.

Farmers Interested.

Crookston—The farmers of the Red river valley are showing decided interest in the fitting annual meeting of the Red River Valley Dairymen's association, which will be held in the city on Nov. 5 and 6. Mr. Morley and L. Sweet, of the State Dairymen's association, will deliver addresses. J. S. Moore, of Wisconsin, formerly secretary of the State Dairymen's association, will also be in attendance.

STOP ANY ITCHING.

Dean's Ointment Cures Eczema and Itching Plaster
Pine City People Recommend It.

One application of Dean's Ointment stops itching. Short treatment cures eczema, itching piles, salt rheum, any skin eruption or skin itching. It is the cheapest remedy to use, because so little of it is required to bring relief and a cure. Here is Samuel Heath's testimony to prove it:

Samuel Heath, farmer, Royal Route No. 3, living northeast of Pine City, Minn., says: "I have been troubled with itching hemorrhoids and eruptions of the skin and face for quite a while. My trouble greatly disturbed my rest at night and I would often be obliged to get up and sit, something to do. I tried many remedies but received no relief until I commenced using Dean's Ointment which I procured at the Breckenridge Pharmacy. After a few applications of this remedy, the soreness disappeared as well as the skin eruptions. It is with pleasure that I endorse Dean's Ointment."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50cts. Postage-Milburn Co., Buffalo, N. Y., sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Dean's—and take no other.

"We never repeat of eating too little," was one of the ten rules of life of Thomas Jefferson, president of the United States, and the rule applies to everyone without exception during this hot weather, because it is hard for food, even in small quantities, to be digested when the blood is at high temperature. At this season we should eat sparingly and properly. We should also help the stomach as much as possible by the use of a little Kodol for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, which will rest the stomach by digesting the food itself. Sold by Breckenridge's Pharmacy.
