DIES VERY SUDENLY

After an Illness of Less Than a Week
Albert M. Stephens, After Intense Suffering Passes Away.

Albert Monroe Stephens was born at Laporte, Indiana, the 2nd day of February, 1867, and was therefore in his 41st year.

He came to Pine City in April '88, and has made this his home ever since. He was employed in the saw mill and in the woods until the winter of 1892, when he entered into partnership with Hugh Cox and logged on Mission Creek. Three years afterward he was joined in marriage to Miss Mary Ann Cox, the eldest daughter of his logging partner, on the 30th day of April. As a result of this union, three children were born to them, viz: Gladys, Forest and Elbert.

Besides his widow and three small fatherless children he leaves to mourn his loss an aged mother, who was at Elsworth, Wisconsin, at the time of his death, but who came up in time for the funeral, accompanied by her niece, Miss Mary Freese of Elsworth, and Miss Ada Cox, a sister of Mrs. Stephens, who is employed at the Orphans' Home at St. Paul; Henry, a brother, who resides in this place, and a sister, Mrs. Adura Call, of Grey Eagle, who was unable to attend the funeral.

Bert, as he was familiarly called, at the time of his death was millwright for the Pine City Lumber company, and was at work up to a week ago yesterday. About two weeks ago, while at work in the mill he was struck in the side with a board, but paid no attention to it, beyond the fact that it was sore. But a week ago last Monday he was taken worse, but continued working until Wednesday. Thursday morning he was confined to his bed, and medical aid called, but he continued to get worse, and at about 6:15 Monday evening June 15th, he passed peacefully away. During Monday he suffered intense agony, but toward evening his pain left him and he sank into his last long sleep.

Mr. Stephens was a kind and loving husband and father, a good neighbor and a firm friend. In his demise Pine City loses one of her best citizens, and his "last good day" will be missed by all his acquaintances.

He was a member of the A. O. U. W. order of this place, who followed the remains to the body, and took charge of the services at the grave. He was also a member of the Modern Brotherhood of America, which order he joined while working at Frazee last winter, and he also had a policy in the American Casualty Company.

The funeral services were held from his late residence Wednesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, Rev. J. A. Endicott, of the Presbyterian church officiating, and interment was made in Birchwood cemetery.

The pall bearers were taken from the members of the A. O. U. W. order, and were all gentlemen that were boys with him. They were Frank Madden, James Connor, Hobart Wilcox, Jim H. Waudel, Arnold Cranston and Henry Burge.

The floral offerings were the most beautiful that have ever been seen in this place.

The Pioneer joins with the many friends of the bereaved ones in expressing its sympathy.

ANOTHER FORWARD STEP

Pine City Decides to Re-Incorporate the Decisive Vote of 96 to 22 at Tuesday's Special Election.

On Tuesday, as advertised, a special election was held in this village for the purpose of deciding as to whether it would be re-incorporated under the general laws of the state, or remain as it has been for the past twenty-seven years, existing under a charter granted by a special act of the legislature, which was granted when the village was first incorporated.

The old charter was out of date and so defective that it was thought advisable to vote to see how the citizens felt about the matter. The Commercial club brought the matter to the attention of the council, and they ordered the special election which was held Tuesday.

Some of the citizens voted against the proposed change, but enough of them voted in favor of it so that hereafter the laws that are enacted by the state legislature will be the laws that govern the village of Pine City.

The polls were opened at 9 o'clock in the morning and closed at 5 in the evening, and after the smoke of the battle of votes blew over and the votes were counted it was found that the re-incorporation proposition carried by a vote of 96 to 22.

Pine City Again Victorious.

The game of ball played on the diamond on the north side of the river on Sunday afternoon between the local team and the Harris aggregation of ball tossers, resulted in a victory for the home team by a score of 17 to 2. The locals found the Harris twirlers for a total of 17 safe hits, and Stoutenberry, the Pine City slab artist had 13 strike outs to his credit. The Harris boys got rattled several times, showing a lack of team work on the diamond. The work of the home team was gall-edged, each player doing well both at bat and in the field. The attendance was fair, and those who saw the game got the full worth of their money.

The following is the tabulated score, score by innings and the sum-

"THE CITY BEAUTIFUL"

Students of the Pine City High School Give Their Views on "How to Make Pine City Most Attractive."

How Should We Make Pine City
Attractive to New Settlers?

BY MAMIE ANDERSON.

Pine City, the most charming place midway between the Twin Cities and the great lakes, has a more than usual variety of scenery, such as lakes, hills and woods. Still, in its vicinity there is much undeveloped land, and in order to make Pine City and vicinity more attractive to new settlers, I believe that the first thing to be done in that line is for the hustling business men of the town to create a strong and vigorous commercial club, which should be alive to everything which would raise the standing of the place, intellectual, moral, religious, as well as material. Secondly, the business men of Pine City should see to it that market and bargain days should be held at least twice a month, summer or winter.

Thirdly, the owners of domestic animals should make it their constant effort to raise better blooded stock, for several known reasons. First, it is more profitable, and the country as a whole is pretty well suited for the raising of domestic animals.

More reliable roads should also be built through the more unsettled parts, so that the farmer may reach town without setting his life and property in peril, as has often happened in this vicinity.

MEADOW LAWN.

W. L. Cummings was on the sick Saturday.

Mr. Stella Scofield visited at D. W. Scofield's last Saturday.

John Holler and daughter, Gertrude, of Sandstone, were visitors in the lawn last week.

The two grooms are well known to the citizens of this place, having visited here quite frequently, and each of them has occupied the pulpit in the M. E. church several times.

THE PIONEER joins with the many friends of the young couples, in wishing them joy.

A Warning Sounded.

From the County News.

City and country merchants who have been in the habit of putting paraffin green and other poisons, saltpetre, borax and other drugs, or patent medicines, should look up on the law on these subjects and arrange with some drug store to talk such articles as are not lawfully handled by either other registered pharmacists off their hands, as the state board is figuring on making a raid on all such in the near future. We understand that the minimum fine is $50 for each sale and if sales are followed up as expected, the fines would bankrupt every dealer who fails to observe the law. Up to the present time the state board of pharmacists has been stalking around blindfold like the goddess of justice, and allowed nearly everybody to do the drug business, but it is time for a square deal, which the law is supposed to mete out to all. Sealed packages under label are no protection if containing poison. They must be handled out to the consumer by some one licensed by the state board.

A Skidoo Problem.

A young lady of this city with a good head for figures has worked out the following plan of giving a hint to any young gentleman who calls upon her evenings and promises the visit until she thinks he ought to go. She says the young man to think of any number from 1 to 9, add 1, multiply by 9, cross out the last figure, add 14, add 1, let's hand figure, add 14, add 1, the number started with, and then she says it is a great pleasure to watch the young man's countenance.

Man and Machine.

Believers in progress are often disheartened to find that the many modern inventions to make life better have not fundamentally changed mankind. The human being is the same creature that the very oldest writings portray, and yet men go on contriving systems and "new" devices and "advanced" methods. The last hundred years have been ripe in discoveries and inventions. A cure has been found for every conceivable ill, and a method has been found for doing everything. Yet many ill remain unredeemed, many things undone. The trouble is we have learned to trust too much to system, too little to human nature. The true lesson to be drawn from a century of system-mongering is not one of discouragement, but one of renewed confidence in human beings, of renewed willingness to throw the burden not on the machine but on man. When there is a railroad accident we read much about block signals and automatic switches and other devices. A contributor to the Atlantic Monthly has shown in a series of articles that it is the man that counts, it is not the machine, but, the employee, that wrecks the train or sends it safely through. One of the hardest lessons that America has had, to learn, remarks Youth's Companion, is that the substitution of democracy for kingship did not eliminate the evils of government. This does not mean that democracy is a failure, but that democracy is good or bad according to the members of the democracy are good or bad, wise or foolish. For the American who realizes this, the idea of democracy becomes sacred, impressive, a glorious burden. The American who does not realize it, fears that the royal form of government was saved only not to vote. It is more, no, courses of study, that make universities; good men, not "Dog Mountain ideas" or "Galveston ideas," that make good city governments; honest people, and not methods of election, that choose honest senators; men and not systems or machines that make the world.

America's Art Possibilities.

With such a broad basis to work on, it is not important that the artists in America are going to keep us pretty well interested in their future work. No other hand of men has worked so hard to overcome obstacles. The artist feels his triumphs when he is young; when a mere boy, in fact—just as Funk felt them when he drew little sketches on his mother's tablecloths. This burning desire to every day swing some mighty thought on canvas cannot be kept down. It becomes the embryo painter's master, and in its power is a strength to do not include heresies written in successive volumes, the vast army of dabbers who persist in calling them self artists and who ought to be suppressed by a kindly but firm law. It is men of ideas and ideals and originality that I speak. Funk is one of that new American school that is exemplifying this individuality. He shows it in the force and originality of his work.

Mouth an Index of Character.

A large, shapely mouth signifies breadth of mind and toleration of others' peculiarities. Thin lips denote covetousness, greed, selfishness, and unless strongly contradicted by some other feature, intense love of power. The more curved and flexible the lips the more yielding the nature, says the New York Times. The more straight and thin the lips the more severe the nature. Lips that close as if they had been pressed into a straight line show self-repression, nervousness and obstinacy. A mouth to be perfect should be large and shapely, the corners straight or very slight. If inclined to drop, lips best closed and thin, and firmly but easily closed.

NO PROHIBITION

The Louisiana Legislature Defeats Measure.

Baton Rouge, La., June 17.—Louisiana will not become a prohibition state during the term of the present assembly. The house of representatives, by a vote of 98 to 47, indefinitely postponed consideration of the禁酒 bill providing for a referendum on statewide prohibition.

The Shattuck high-license bill making the minimum local license $500, and the maximum $1,000, which was passed by the house, 92 to 26.

The effect will be to increase the state revenues from $25,000 and $300,000 annually.

Fouls Are Drowned.

New York, June 17.—Four persons were drowned when an automobile carrying a pleasure party of six became unmanageable, shot at a speed limit sign on a city street and bounded from an open pier into the North river. The machine turned over in its plunge, holding the four victims fast in its grip.

The increase in population throughout Canada is slow at best—the Dominion had only 573,315 people in 1901, or many less than the total number of those who live in Greater New York and in what is known as the "metropolitan district" combined.

Beaumy is the most densely populated of the German states, having had at the time of the last census (1905) a population of 269.7 a square kilometer. The average for the whole empire is 12.2 a square kilometer.

KELLOGG BOOM LOOMS LARGE

NO GREAT CHANGE IN SITUATION BUT MINNESOTA'S CHANCE GROWS BRIGHTER.

Cummins Not a Strong Man. Conditions Militate Against His Selection. The West Will Demand Selection.

Chicago, June 17.—Each day only adds to Franklin Kellogg's chances for the vice presidency, and although there has been no great change in the situation, what changes there has been for the better. It is now generally conceded that Senator Oliver of Iowa will not be the choice, and that the Republicans have been contemplating that he would be nominated in place of the Iowa situation now admitted that he is out of the race.

The talk centers on Fairbanks today, with a good share of the talkers favoring James Sherman of New York. The Eastern people, especially the New Englanders, are anxious to nominate one of these men. Western delegates talked to-day of Gov. Cummins of Iowa, but the situation in his state would hardly commend his selection any more than Oliver's would. He was as strong a candidate as any.

The West is going to demand the second place on the ticket and there is no stronger man or more available man than Kellogg. His Minnesota friends here think it is coming. They will get no word from Washington until after Taft's nomination, but what time comes they expect something that will surprise the convention.

It is certain that the vice presidential situation will be up in the air until after the nomination of the presidential candidate. Then, if George F. Edmunds of Vermont will demand recognition of the solid West behind him, the man of the progressive element of the party, approved by the administration, Minnesota hopes to win out.

Reason for stronger hope is found by the talkers from Washington saying that statement had been given out at the White House that "there will be no developments, so far as the administration is concerned, in the matter of the selection of a vice president." The president will, after the platform shall have been disposed of and a nominee for the presidency shall have been made."

The vice presidency was discussed informally again last evening at a meeting of the Minnesota delegation. No new developments were reported, but the members agreed that Kellogg's chances were as bright as they had ever been.

FOUND DEAD IN LONE CABIN

Englishman's Body and House Ordered Burned by Coroner.

Dickinson, N. D., June 17.—The decomposed body of William Laird, an Englishman about sixty years old, was found in a claim house ten miles south of this city. Investigation by the coroner indicated that the man was young when a mere boy, in fact—just as Funk felt them when he drew little sketches on his mother's tablecloths. This burning desire to every day swing some mighty thought on canvas cannot be kept down. It becomes the embryo painter's master, and in its power is a strength to do not include heresies written in successive volumes, the vast army of dabbers who persist in calling them self artists and who ought to be suppressed by a kindly but firm law. DEATH OF A CONGRESSMAN.

John Vines Wright Passes Away at Washington.

Washington, June 13.—John Vines Wright, who was the oldest living ex-member of congress, died Friday in his home in this city. Although nearly 80 years old, he had been regularly at his desk in the general land office until two months ago, when he had a stroke of paralysis. He held the unique distinction of making more treaties with the Indians than any other member.

Mr. Wright had been a confederate soldier, a judge of the supreme court of Tennessee, and chairman of the northwest Indian commission.

THEFT RETURNED FOUR-FOLD.

Man Sends $800 to National Treasury Consience Fund.

Washington, June 13.—Secretary Cortelyou has, in an envelope postmarked Jersey City, a conscience contribution of $800, which has been turned into the conscience fund of the national treasury. He explained how the sender says that many years ago he and another man took a considerable sum of money belonging to the government and that this $800 makes a total of $40,000, or four-fold the amount originally taken by himself, who has returned to the treasury from time to time.

John Bauer, the chauffeur, was carried into the river with the machine but managed to free himself and swim to safety. John Nolan, one of the party, jumped from the runaway machine as it neared the end of the dock. The car was taken into custody by the police.

Des Moines, Ia., June 16.—The Hull-Prouty contest in the Seventh congressional district of Iowa, between the prospects that the ultimate decision will have to be made in the courts. As a result of the recount by the board of county supervisors of the ballots cast in the recent primary election, the standstill at a tie for the two candidates.

A sensation was sprung Monday when the supervisors of Dallas county were restrained from proceeding with the count of the ballots in that county. This action throws the battle into the courts.

PACKING HOUSE IN KANSAS CITY SUFFERS IN BLAZE.

Conflagration Follows an Explosion Which is Felt Over Both the Neighboring Cities.

Kansas City, Mo., June 13.—Two laborers lost their lives, two others were seriously injured and property loss estimated at between $250,000 and $350,000 was caused by two explosions which followed by a fire in the packing house of Morris & Co., at the riverside in Kansas City, Kansas, Friday. The force of the explosions, which was felt all over both Kansas Cities, ruined the cold storage building and the fire that followed destroyed the smoke house with its seven miles of territory Sunday by the most severe wind and rain storm that has visited that section for years.

Gale Sweeps Away Piles of Paper Money Prepared for Payment of Regulars—Mimic Attack on New York City is Planned.

New York, June 16.—Pine Plains, the summer camp of the federal cavalry and national guardmen, was torn up from one end to the other of its seven miles of territory Sunday by the most severe wind and rain storm that has visited that section for years.

Three thousand tents were blown down, mess halls leveled and more than 100 houses smashed and destroyed from their corrals.

It was the soldiers' first drill of the field maneuvers, which take place this week under Gen. Fred. G. Grant, commander of the department of the east, but it was not of the kind anticipated.

Money Supply.

Washington, June 16.—The United States will be the first United States infantry when the storm descended. He had arranged the money in heaps of bills, preparatory to halting them among the men. Maj. Mallory and his assistants made an attempt to get the money back into the strongroom but were unable to do so in a moment the air was full of currency.

Bills of many denominations were scattered over a territory of a mile or more, and probably the greater part of the money will be recovered.

Mimic Attack on New York.

The troops will be training here with day and night maneuvers, solving various problems of defense and attack, outpost duty and other activities of troops in the field at war.

While the regulars, a brigade of Massachusetts militia and a regiment of New York National Guard are marching with the rules and rigors of mimic war at Pine Plains, ships classed as foreign fleet will endeavor to capture New York city, which will be defended by regulars and New York National Guard regiments of the coast artillery.

Under the direction of the regulars the state troops will essay the task of operating the big defense guns in the four forts guarding the harbor approaches.

MOTOR CAR RUNS INTO RIVER.

Four Persons Drowned at New York.

New York, June 16.—Four persons were drowned Monday night when an automobile carrying a pleasure party of six became unmanageable, shot at wild speed down West Fifty-sixth street and bounded from an open pier into the Hudson River. The party consisted of men, women and children, all in their teens, and the accident occurred in the vicinity of the Fourteenth street pier.

The return of the troops, the driver, holding the four passengers fast in their seats. The dead are: Mr. John Cole, aged 19 years; Mrs. Ross Coleman, aged 23 years; John Cole, aged 27 years, and Virginia Kell, aged 16 years.

John Bauer, the chauffeur, was carried into the river with the machine but managed to free himself and swim to safety. John Nolan, one of the party, jumped from the runaway machine as it neared the end of the dock. The car was taken into custody by the police.

THREE THOUSAND TENTS AT PINE PLAINS, N. Y., ARE BLOWN DOWN.

Gale Sweeps Away Piles of Paper Money Prepared for Payment of Regulars—Mimic Attack on New York City is Planned.

New York, June 16.—Pine Plains, the summer camp of the federal cavalry and national guardmen, was torn up from one end to the other of its seven miles of territory Sunday by the most severe wind and rain storm that has visited that section for years.

Three thousand tents were blown down, mess halls leveled and more than 100 houses smashed and destroyed from their corrals.

It was the soldiers' first drill of the field maneuvers, which take place this week under Gen. Fred. G. Grant, commander of the department of the east, but it was not of the kind anticipated.

Money Supply.

Washington, June 16.—The United States will be the first United States infantry when the storm descended. He had arranged the money in heaps of bills, preparatory to halting them among the men. Maj. Mallory and his assistants made an attempt to get the money back into the strongroom but were unable to do so in a moment the air was full of currency.

Bills of many denominations were scattered over a territory of a mile or more, and probably the greater part of the money will be recovered.

Mimic Attack on New York.

The troops will be training here with day and night maneuvers, solving various problems of defense and attack, outpost duty and other activities of troops in the field at war.

MOTOR CAR RUNS INTO RIVER.

Four Persons Drowned at New York.

New York, June 16.—Four persons were drowned Monday night when an automobile carrying a pleasure party of six became unmanageable, shot at wild speed down West Fifty-sixth street and bounded from an open pier into the Hudson River. The party consisted of men, women and children, all in their teens, and the accident occurred in the vicinity of the Fourteenth street pier.

The return of the troops, the driver, holding the four passengers fast in their seats. The dead are: Mr. John Cole, aged 19 years; Mrs. Ross Coleman, aged 23 years; John Cole, aged 27 years, and Virginia Kell, aged 16 years.

John Bauer, the chauffeur, was carried into the river with the machine but managed to free himself and swim to safety. John Nolan, one of the party, jumped from the runaway machine as it neared the end of the dock. The car was taken into custody by the police.

HON. WILLIAM H. TAFT.

WILLIAM HOWARD TAFT PLACED IN NOMINATION

Representative Theodore Burton's Utterances on This Occasion Call Forth Veritable Pandemonium of Cheers at Republican National Convention.

Chicago—Wild cheers from thousands of thronged spectators, and Bourbonism sprung from the nation's heart, raised its first triumphant voice when Abraham Lincoln and Taft of Ohio for the presidency by Representative Theodore E. Burton at the Republican national convention at the Coliseum. More than 700 of the 280 delegates to the convention, who had come from all over the country, roared and yelled themselves hoarse when Mr. Burton had concluded his speech introducing the name of Roosevelt's right hand man to the body of delegates gathered to pick a party representative as a standard-bearer in the fight at the polls this fall.

Senator Lodge of Massachusetts was made permanent chairman of the convention when the organization was completed, taking the gavel from Senator George F. Edmunds of Vermont, who was temporary chairman provisional to Senator Lodge's occupation of the chair.

Flags, banners, bunting; in fact everything portable which happened to be at hand was torn into the air, and an enthusiastic woman advocate of Taft's candidacy used a Knox banner for the purpose of expressing her election. Outbursts of cheers at times during Mr. Burton's speech interrupted him, but after a few moments' pause he continued. It was at the end of his address that the real pandemonium broke loose. Hundreds of delegates participated in the demonstration, but Mr. Burton had not heard a word of the speech because of the monstrous proportions of the building, but Mr. Burton's resounding his seat on the speaker's platform was enough to give the idea that Taft's name had been placed in nomination, and then the demonstration broke loose.

Burton Starts on Lincoln.

Mr. Burton said:

"This convention enters upon the grave responsibility of selecting a presidential candidate with the public assurance that the Republican party will continue to represent the people, especially appropriate that this gathering should be held in this marvelously righteous city of Chicago. Here it was that the righteous uprising against slavery began, a formidable array easily surpassing in numbers the world-conquering legions of imperial Caesar."

Welcome Friendly Rivalry.

"We welcome the friendly rivalry of candidates from other states—from the great Empire state, the Keystone state, Indiana, Illinois, and Wisconsin, for whom we have heard so much—ranging in unbroken sweep from old ocean to the uppermost bound of the greatest of inland seas. Each of these presents a leader among leaders whose achievements and renown are not confined to the narrow limits of a single commonwealth. The earnestness with which the candidates are contending for the tray and quickened by a common fiery zeal, the champions of all the candidates will go forth with mounting enthusiasm to vanquish the foe.

"The most perplexing questions of to-day arise from the rapid development of our material wealth. Such a condition of things can not occur without the creation of inequalities and dangers to the social fabric. I most strenuously deny that the American business man or the American citizen cherishes lower standards than the citizens of any other country. The American people have always prided themselves on the reason of their buoyant absorption in varied pursuits and of the glamour which attends success in great undertakings. Questionable methods have been able to engraft themselves upon the business of the country. Rich rewards have too frequently been gained by those who have not scruples. Monopoly, dishonesty, and fraud have assumed a prominence which calls for the earnest attention and condemnation of every man who truly loves the republic.

Pays Tribute to Roosevelt.

"Against all these abuses and in the work for restoring old ideals of honesty and enterprise, as well as for high standards of civic duty, one man has stood preeminent, and that man is Theodore Roosevelt. Against corruption in every form he has set his face with grim determination, prompt and fearless in action and with an intelligent leadership which has assisted in the establishment of a better era in which the strong and the weak alike must submit themselves to the impartial execution of the law. The story of his achievements will make up one of the brightest pages in the history of this or any age and will prove to posterity, as in my critical opinion of social unrest or danger, the man will appear who can grapple with the emergency.

"Who so fit to take up the tasks which this wondrous generation demands, who should be wiser and more impartially performed as day when, in Benjamin Harrison's administration, these two first met—the one as solicitor general, the other as a member of the civil service commission—they have been bound together by like ideals and aims, by close ties of personal and mutual esteem, of mutual control, each with his own individuality and characteristics keeping constantly in view the emboldening vision of a better and a greater America. Since the day when, less than 10 years ago, and in accordance with human words, a member of his profession who had been guilty of flagrantly vicious practices and had demoralized the community, he has ever been associated with the cause of reform, and this with such results that he will not content himself with academic dissertation or hollow words. He has been imbued with the spirit of action. His advocacy of sounder conditions has never arisen from a desire for the exploitation of himself.

Great Preparation, Says Burton.

"Again he has perfectly assumed the presidential chair who had received a more ideal preparation for the duties of that great office. As judge in state and federal courts, as solicitor general, as governor of Colorado, as secretary of war, which has included the post of colonial secretary and director of national public works, he has received his training and has always shown himself master of his art and contented to make more honorable and honored the American name.

"In our domestic affairs, in whatever position he has held, he has displayed the rare union of a judicial temperament with an unassisted gift for administration and management. Although of an aggressive personality, he possesses an infinite good nature, a charm of manner and a poise which have made him a model for exalted station. In the final analysis, the highest office which can be judged of in this country, and under this criterion Secretary Taft is now and will ever be known for his broad sympathies with every grade of humanity and as one invariably actuated by the democratic spirit which should characterize a progressive American. And yet no one can for a moment hesitate to recognize his severity in dealing with wrongdoing. No one honest and upright soul could hope to hide his face from the light or to escape punishment hee.

Dealt with Dependencies.

"The foreign policy of our public men he has had to do with our continuing dependencies, the mightiest, in work of the republic in every common wealth—made up of America's free yeomen, ever ready to repel invasion, to hold off alien in days of peril or emergency, whenever it may arise for menacing head. From this citizenship Ohio, in the supreme emergency of the civil war, sent forth more than 200,000 soldiers for our country's and tribes, degraded by centuries of strife and oppression, and those who did not understand the rule of law and local control in place of central and bloody strife, but showed the way to self-government, and a new recognition of the rights of man.

Knows Conditions of Orient.

"Secretary Taft has exceptional familiarity with conditions in the Orient and particularly in China. We may rest assured that our traditional friendship with Japan will continue.

"Moreover, the future promises that the slumbering millions of China will awake from the lethargy of ages, and she will then realize that the morning dawn of fresher life and wider outlook comes to her as to the other Orientals. The Orient, America's friend and helper. We covet no portion of her territory. We desire from her, as from all nations, increased good will and that mutual respect which knows neither bluster nor cringing on either side. Thus in this new era of larger relations, Secretary Taft, with his comprehension of native conditions, will furnish a certainty of peace and sustained prosperity. Under him at home and everywhere this mighty people would have an assured confidence in the secure development and progress of the country and would rest safe in the reliance that a chief executive was at the helm who, in the course of his work, would not let down the destinies of the nation with a strong hand and with a gentle, patriotic heart.

"And so to-day in the presence of more than ten thousand, and with the inspiring thought of the well-nigh ten thousand times ten thousand, dwelt within our borders, I nominate him for president, that perfect type of American manhood, that peerless representative of the noblest ideals in our national life, William H. Taft, of Ohio."

PROCEEDINGS OF CONVENTION.

New Issues Call to Order—Burrows Is Made Temporary Chairman.

Promptly at noon Tuesday Chairman Harry New of the Republican national committee rapped smartly with his gavel on the presiding officer's desk in the Coliseum, and the Republican national convention of 1908 came to order.

The great building presented a magnificent sight. Every seat was occupied and the hundreds of flags and beautiful costumes of many women served to give brilliant color to the scene. For an hour the brass bands at either end of the building, bands of all kinds, were playing patriotic airs, while the debonair and spectators were gathering. When Mr. New arose the roar of conversation and the cheering of noted persons as they entered ceased. Mr. New spoke briefly and then introduced Bishop P. J. Muldoon of Chicago, who delivered the invoca-

Indians at State Fair.

Hamline—Through Commissioners of Indian Affairs F. E. Leupp at Washington permission has been granted the board of managers of the State Fair to bring 200 Indians to the State Fair from the Sioux City reservation in South Dakota to the coming fair.

Under the direction of Maj. C. B. Jackson, Indian agent at Sisseton, an Indian village of 100 tepees will be accommodated in a large hall directly north of Machinery hall. Here the Indians will live for one week exactly as they live at home on the reservation. Maj. Jackson will for the week transfer his office and entire force to the Indian village, and an opportunity will be given fair visitors to see just how Uncle Sam handles the red man.

No. 2 Wheats.

Minneapolis—Lester Jr. by 12 votes the opposition to the amendment making No. 2 northern wheats deliverable on contract in Minneapolis met defeat. As a two-thirds vote was necessary to carry it, and 335 votes were polled, 132 were cast for the amendment and 207 against it.

No such interest has been shown on "change since the memorable division seven years ago, on the proposal to locate the new chamber where it now stands as against a plan to build further up town.

Man Killed.

Duluth—One man was killed and another seriously injured in an explosion in the west end of the Wisconsin Avenue bridge tunnel. Tom Maki, who was killed, was cooped up in a narrow shaft and the force of the explosion crushed him to a pulp. John Harp, who was injured, was pulled violently against the rock wall. He was severely bruised and burned about the head and body and probably will lose his eyesight.

NEWS NOTES.

Minneapolis—The body taken from the river has been positively identified as that of Dr. William S. Glynd, the dentist who disappeared from his home on the night of Oct. 28.

Le Sueur—Robert J. Henderson by express from Omaha Train No. 7 was standing on the track holding his bicycle, but paid no attention to the warning whistle. He was 25 years of age and unmarried. The body was found near Le Sueur and taken care of by relatives.

Hamline—Dr. Fred Burgess, former end on the University of Minnesota football team and for high school team of Minneapolis, has been engaged to coach the university team next fall.

Haizel Park—a man whose identity is unknown was run down and killed by an Omaha east-bound passenger train. There was nothing on the body to establish his identity.

Milwaukee—The cornerstone of the Fifth Avenue Congregational church was laid with impressive ceremony.

NEWS OF MINNESOTA.

HER DESTINATION IN DOUBT.

Little Girl's Remark Not Complimentary to Grandma.

Charity in Jail.

Minneapolis—Two hungry children and the grieving wife of a prisoner in the Hennepin county jail have brought out the best side of every prisoner in the cells. When the three called to tell the jailer of their destination every man available trial who had money to give them helped to relieve the destitute family.

The father of the children is in the jail awaiting trial. His arrest left the family without food or money, and the mother went to the jail, where she told jailer Nels Clausen her story. The younger daughter looked up at the jailer: "I'm hungry," she said. And she had nothing to eat for two whole days.

A prisoner in his cell overheard the remark, called a trusty, and the relief fund was started.

"Here's my last quarter," he said. "I'll give it to the other prisoners and make them share."

From cell to cell passed the trusty, repeating the story over and over again. Pickpockets, thieves, shoplifters, men convicted of or awaiting trial for all manner of crimes—every one brought out his contribution. When the trusty finished his rounds he had collected $4.60, which he passed over to the wife. Marion Woodburn took charge of the mother and children a little later and furnished them with the first real solid meal they had eaten in ten days.

Cultivation of Pearls.

Duluth—There is one enterprise in Northern Minnesota that may some day attract attention, and possibly bring wealth to the promoter. If it brings him wealth it surely will bring him fame, for the enterprise is certain original in character. It is nothing less than the cultivation of pearls by scientific treatment of fresh water clams. As is well known, many valuable pearls are found in the clams that inhabit the fresh waters of the Northwest, and former Alderman E. B. Jefferson of Duluth has been engaged for treatment of the mollusks so that each clam may prove a possible pearl bearing. He is not a drayman by any means. He is one of the survivors of the First Minnesota, and a hard headed business man. Mr. Jefferson made a study of the pearl business and applied to biology. He ascertained the scientific theory of the origin of the pearl in the shell fish, and then he figured that the cultivation of the gems was possibly a practical venture.

Internal Revenue Collections.

The term "internal revenue" has been restricted in its meaning to such revenues only as are collected under the internal revenue bureau, consisting of the treasury department, and does not include all revenues that are, properly speaking, from internal sources, that is, from sources other than duties levied at the frontiers upon foreign commodities. Thus, monies arising from the sale of public lands, from patent fees, and the revenues of the postal service, are not generally known as "internal revenues."

Severe Reproach.

"Charley, dear," said young Mrs. Torkins, "I had a dream about a race horse that won three times in succession."

"Great Scott," answered her husband, who has a touch of superstition: "what was its name, what did it look like?"

"I've done my best to remember, but I can't."

"Well, here's the way! There never was a woman who could be relied on to keep her head in business matters!"

PINE COUNTY PIONEER.

ED. C. GOTTRY, Editor and Prop.

Entered in the Post Office at Pine City as Second Class Matter.

PINE CITY, MINN., June 19, 1908

Press the "button"—the Commercial Club will do the rest.

The annual re-adjustment of postmasters' salaries has been announced by the first assistant postmaster general. Over 100 Minnesota postmasters are affected, in 85 of which the postmaster's salary is increased $100 per year. Among the offices receiving the increase are Pine City and Rush City.

The result of Tuesday's special election marks another step in Pine City's march of progress. The old charter was good enough in its day, but times have changed since then and exigencies for which it could not possibly provide have arisen. By the new charter Pine City's capacity for expansion and progress is enhanced in many ways. Forward march!

BILLY SUNDAY, who calls himself an evangelist and is raking in thousands of dollars yearly, in an address at Pittsburgh last week entitled, "Why Ministers Fail," said that many are "judge-eating mollycoddles who are continually springing bum bullion on their congregations." He also referred to them as "stiffs, salary quacks and candidates for the funny house." Such billingsgate as this—the verminular of hoboes—can hardly be expected to advance the cause of religion and is an infamous libel on the ministers of the gospel. Instead of being encouraged, men of the Sunday stripe of "evangelists" should be chased out of town. Their dithypharies are perfidious.—Princeton Union.

Toast to Laughter.

Here's to laughter, the sunshine of the soul, the happiness of the heart, the leaven of youth, the privilege of purity, the echo of innocence, the treasure of the humble, the wealth of the poor, the beat of the cup of pleasure. It dispels depression, banishes blues and manages melancholy, for it's the foe of woe, the destroyer of depression, the enemy of grief. It is why kings envy the peasant, plutocrats envy the poor, the guilty envy the innocent. It's the sheen on the silver of smiles, the ripple on the water's delight, the glint of the gold of gladness. Without it humor would be dumb, wit would wither, dimples would disappear and smiles would shrivel, for its the glow of a clean conscience, the voice of a pure soul, the birthright of mirth, the swan-song of sadness.—Life.

A Lively Run-away

Quite a little excitement was caused on Wednesday morning by a team belonging to C. G. Dippy running away. They started from the depot, and ran by the Mercantile company's store, turned the corner at the park and narrowly escaped running into John Resch's buggy, which was standing in the middle of the road in front of the drug store. After passing Resch's team Will McKeck ran and jumped into the buck end of the wagon hitched to the running horses, and getting hold of the lines, stopped the flying steeds in front of Fred Wiley's store.

Pine City's Celebration

Don't forget that two weeks from tomorrow is the Fourth of July. Pine City is going to celebrate the glorious birthday in a manner never before attempted in this part of the state. From the firing of the first gun at midnight until "Home Sweet Home" is played by the orchestra at the Firemen's hall, the day will be one continuous round of pleasure. Make your arrangements to spend the 4th of July, 1908, in Pine City.

FROM CITY TO FARM

"He who listens with credulity to the whisperings of fancy, who pursues with eagerness the paths of hope, who expects that age and wisdom will provide the answer to all his questions, who believes that the past is the key to the future;—attend to the history of Easella, Prince of Abyssinia."

By ERNEST McGAFFEY

Author of "Poems of Gun and Rose," "Outdoors," "Poems of the Town," Etc.

(Copyright, by Joseph B. Bowles.)

Pulling Up Stakes

We had been in the country close to ten years. Strayed from the heart of a city by the seduction of a farm. There could be no more vivid contrast; no more radical change. We had gone from the clang of gongs, the tolling of bells, the shriek of locomotives, the blare of brass bands, the doleful piping of corals birds, the cries of the automobile to the piping of crikets and the matins of thrush and robin, the warbling of bluebirds and other songsters.

We had been thoroughly forgotten by our friends in the city, and had stepped tacitly to an unrecognition place in the human procession; where there was no possibility of our being missed with those who were disposed to look at "the strenuous life." Society, so-called, was merely an abstraction; we were like those who have been lodged on some secure spot on a cliff, and who, seeing the flames by which they watched and waited. Two years before we had been of that clamorous and unrefined mob. We had never lived for the days as they came, always ready to leap from the bedrock to-morrow. We had yearned for speech, but the everyday grime of trivialities had burned up our time and eaten away our vitality.

Inensibly, in the city, we had learned the lesson of imitation. For however men and women hold fast to their individuality, a constant attrition of numbers of their kind will wear them to a certain extreme alike, as all peoples are worn smooth by interminable friction. We had learned how that artful tyrant cows even the boldest. How many a jeans-clad congressman succumbs at last to the slimy contour of the dress suit! The days are very much alike in a city; always the same white, the identical grays and blacks, the hard, bald finish of metropolitanism.

The happiest nature takes their pleasures sadly there. The Mephistopheles of cynicism mocks them with the old refrain: "Eat, drink, and be merry; for tomorrow you die." The young grow old too fast; and the old grow hardened rapidly. As in certain chemicals all things harden to perfection, so the steady immersion of a man or a woman in a city leads to the desecration of the sensible. Awareness of life becomes ever and ever more artificial? Apartment life is more than ordinarily similar in the preventatives and the modern flats.

But to live on a farm? How can you live on a farm and not vegetate or go crazy? Not from want of intent! What a shoulder to the right! And yet remote as we were from the city, there was a sadness in the eyes of the friends who at rare intervals came to see us. How quickly the crew's feet seemed to creep about the eyes of men whom I had expected to see again in a week or two, not in days. What was that tiresome refrain I had preached to me so often? "We're getting old." Who's getting old? "Speak for yourself John?" Yes, they do grow old in cities, and the fountain of Fonda de Leon will never spray from the public square.

In winter, man wants to grow old. I doubt it! Rarely, in a city even, you will find a man who has steadily refused to give in to the years; but I believe you will always find, on investigation, that this man has renewed his youth from the fields and woods. Age is a child of the land, not a wanderer of the trees.

"Never my heart with thou grow old, My hair is white, my blood turns cold, And my youth is dimming in my heart." But the spirit of youth is just as apparent in the mind as in the body, and you can't preserve it by carefulness nor by commanding with the beats of the field, nor by turning hermit; nor even by having those near you who are dearest to you. Unless one is serenely ox-like in one's disposition, the stage music, literature, sculpture, war, peace, strife, in a word, will always hold him in a trammel which keeps him blind to the changes which are going on, and which, by giving the brain its needed exercise, keeps elastic and vibrant the tissues of the mind.

A plunge in a river invigorates the body, dust and dirt from foot and hand, waste of body, mind and soul, and never, after resting for a short space in a crowd, a sight at the theater, an afternoon at a concert, even a gay supper at some brilliantly lighted and music-stirred cafe will send the dull blood spinning through the veins, and drive away perplexing thoughts of time and mortality.

But the country wide fields, surrounded by hills and forests, there was the touch of peace, and there was also the lethargic menace of Nirvana. The march of the seasons was one lingering panorama of green and gold, or dusty scarlet and harborage splendor. Each dawn was a vision, each sunrise a revelation. The silent winter nights were more beautiful in their quiet splendor than any of the poems of mythology, and yet, and yet!

For between the cloistered serenity of the farms, and the choking maelstroms of the cities there is a golden medium attainable by all who will care to step outside. It is a medium to be near as near to a city as one need be; and to be as far away as will give one the "comfort" of wide fields unto tired eyes. This is the answer to the problem of living: that is the secret of the happiness.

Our life on the farm had proved this to us beyond all cavil. And we had looked about us and selected our abiding place with care. We had not yet, when we came to go, "put all in"; something like roofing out over our very heartstrings, for we had come to know the farm as a scholar knows the written page.

There is nothing in the mode of living in the country that is not a pleasure. You must do so and so, you cannot do as you like, of course. You are hedged about by modes of life which, while largely artificial, are strikingly objective. You cannot do as you please, but you can find a practical half way point where both rest for the body and rest for the mind may be easily combined.

There is nothing in the mode of living in the country that is not a pleasure.
