

NIGHT RIDER'S CONFESSION

TED BURTON, TENNESSEE, PRISONER, IMPLICATES ABOUT 50 MEN.

Alleged Hinge of Lynchers is Said to Have Been Promised Immunity For Revealing Facts. Big Sensation is Sprung.

Tiptonville, Tenn., Oct. 28.—Far more important than any court proceedings, arrests or other happenings that surrounded the inquiry into the night-ride outrages in the Redfoot lake section was the confession yesterday of Ted Burton, looked on as a ringleader in the secret clan of desperate men who lynched Capt. Rankin a week ago, and who has been accused of all sort of crimes in this community since the contention was started between capitalists, farmers and various squatters over the disputed lands of the Redfoot lake section.

Burton made his statement in the presence of Judge Harris, Sheriff Hains of Lake county and Mayor Donaldson of Tiptonville. Burton implies nearly fifty men, all residents of the Redfoot district. Over twenty men accused by Burton are under military arrest.

Burton denied that he was with the party when they stormed the hotel at Walnut Log, where Capt. Rankin was lynched and Taylor escaped. He furnished information to the night riders and charges that Tom and Garrett Johnson, brothers, who are under guard, and Will Watson, led the masked men to the place in morning.

He was released some time ago under bond after being arrested charged with horsewhipping Magistrate Winn for ridding the district of the night riders' interests. Burton was detained at Saunberg several days ago and was brought to Tiptonville for safe keeping.

Burton incriminates James F. Carpenter, the attorney under arrest, accused of assisting in deceiving Taylor and Hains at Walnut Log under pretense of buying land in that district. He confesses to having arranged for this deal with Carpenter.

BANKER KIDNAPPED.

Washington Banker is Made Prisoner, but Escapes.

Mount Vernon, Wash., Oct. 27.—While driving to Mount Vernon last night from his lumber camp, about fifteen miles from here, Edward English, a wealthy lumberman of Mount Vernon, was held up and kidnaped by a lone robber about three miles from town. The robber forced English to make a note payable at a Mount Vernon bank for $2,000 and write the following letter to his wife:

"Mrs. English: Dear Wife—I am held up and kidnaped for $5,000 and I am threatened with having my head cut off if the money is not forthcoming by tomorrow noon. For God's sake make all haste. Show this to Mr. Harnley and solicit this sum.—Ed English."

Harnley is connected with a Mount Vernon bank.

The robber, within two miles of town, handed the note and letter to a passing traveler, telling him that English had been injured in a runaway and to take the messages to Mrs. English. This he did at 10 o'clock.

Meanwhile the bandit left his victim tied to a tree, evidently intending to return to him in the morning to see if the ransom was forthcoming. English, however, managed to break loose from the ropes which bound him and made his way to the home of Henry Day, about two miles from Mount Vernon, where he telephoned his wife and Sheriff Harmon of Slaght county.

Will Protect Farmers.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 27.—I will furnish soldiers for the protection of any farmer anywhere in Kentucky who wants to raise tobacco next year. If he fears night riders, and I will see that the law is upheld, and that murder and night riding is stopped. If I have to borrow $1,000,000 to do it.—Governor August E. Wilson.

Typhoon Kills 800.

Manilla, Oct. 28.—Official dispatches received from the sections visited by the typhoon and resultant floods that devastated Cebu provinces recently placed the death toll at 1,000,000 in damage to property. There were no reports of damage in Iloilo province.

Wiped Out by Flames.

Sallyport Beach, Mass., Oct. 28.—The fire which swept the summer resort here early today was controlled about 10 o'clock. More than 100 cottages had been destroyed. The total damage is estimated at about $100,000. There were no lives lost.

REJECTED SUITOR KILLS BRIDEGROOM

LOUISIANA TEACHER MURDERED IN COLD BLOOD BY HIS YOUNG WIFE'S SIDE.

Grim Tragedy on Train—Bride's Life Saved by Her Uncle—Persons Concerned All Members of Prominent Families.

New Orleans, Oct. 24.—On her bridal tour which had begun scarcely one hour before, and seated in a railroad coach almost between her husband and a suitor for her hand, Mrs. Fred Van Ingen, Thursday night was the flash of the suitor's revolver, fell the sudden grip of her husband's hand as the bullet killed him, and then turned and fought for her life. When the girl appeared about to become the victim of the second bullet from the revolver, her uncle, a man with gray hair, but strong and cool under the excitement, rushed up and thrust his thumb beneath the mechanism of the revolver, jamming the mechanism and rendering the weapon harmless.

Story Told by Passengers.

This was the story which the other passengers on the Texas & Pacific "cannonball" told when they reached this city Friday, but the principal actors in the tragedy, most of whom are connected with Louisiana's leading families, have so far refused to discuss the matter.

The former suitor is F. S. Beave of Plaquemine, La., at which place he was taken from the train and arrested. The bride is the daughter of James M. Rhorer, one of the leading officials of Iberville parish, residing at Baton Rouge. Beave is 24 years old, and Rhorer is 23.

Accompanies Bridal Couple.

The wedding took place Thursday at Alexandria. Beave was in town, having arrived there at 11 o'clock, on the same day as Miss Rhorer. When the bridal couple left for New Orleans, he boarded the train also and after a time sat in a seat where he was frequently seen by the bride and her husband. Other passengers say Beave talked with the bride couple just before the wedding, and that his manner appeared cordial. It was at first reported that he congratulated them but this was later denied. The young woman's hand was in her husband's when Beave suddenly drew his revolver and fired. After being disarmed, the young man quietly submitted to arrest.

ADMITS PART IN MURDER.

Kansas City Prisoner Confesses to Helping Kill a Shoemaker.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 27.—Thaddeus Diner, arrested with Edward Cassidy on suspicion of being one of the assassins of Nathan Bassin, a shoemaker, who was killed in his shop Saturday night, Monday confessed he and Cassidy had planned to seize Bassin out of his shop and then steal some shoes, and that he was frequently talking with him when they entered the shop.

Big Fire at St. Johns, N. F.

St. Johns, N. F., Oct. 27.—Blair, Gordon & Co's block, a wharf and two vessels were destroyed by fire Monday. The block was occupied by the firm and by a number of other mercantile houses. The total loss is estimated at $50,000.

Fatal Duel in Tennessee Town.

Middleboro, Tenn., Oct. 27.—A quarrel over a woman Monday culminated in a duel between John Murphy and Thomas Brown, near Harrogate, Tenn., in which Murphy was killed. Lawson made his escape.

WHIRLWIND FINISH FOR THE CAMPAIGN

ALL THE SPELLBINDERS ARE OUT AFTER THE VOTERS THIS WEEK.

Hot Fight for New York—Taft and Bryan Lead Their Forces in Supreme Effort to Capture the Empire State.

New York, Oct. 26.—The political campaign, which entering upon its last week, is to have a real whirlwind finish. From the highest to the lowest, all the spellbinders of all the parties will be out in force during the next six days and warring voters will be urged by eloquent advocates of the several causes to cast their ballots "right."

In practically every state of the union rallies and mass meetings almost without number have been arranged, but in New York, with its large number of electoral votes at stake, that the real battle will be waged. There practically all the leading candidates will concentrate their efforts, ably assisted by a large number of the country's most forceful and successful campaigners.

Cabinet Members in Ohio. Ohio and Indiana also will be given considerable attention, particularly by the two leading parties. Among the speakers who will urge the voters to support Mr. Taft will be several members of President Roosevelt's cabinet—Secretary of War William D. Taft, Postmaster General Meyer—and the Republican candidate for president himself. Delivers two formal addresses at Cleveland and Youngstown on Monday. Vice-President Fairbanks will head the Republican forces in Indiana, which will include Senators Beveridge and Hays, and Governor H. H. Hays, congressional general of the United States at Chattanooga; John L. Griffen, United States consul at Liverpool, and Representative Gardner of Michigan.

JURY BRIBING IS CHARGED

SEQUEL TO AN ALIENATION SUIT AT LAPORTE, IND.

Brothers of Gypsy Wife and Two Other Men Arrested in an Interesting Case.

Laporte, Ind., Oct. 27.—As a sequel to the disagreement of a jury in a suit for $5,000 damages for a curious case of alienation of affections, brought by Stephen Janovitch against the parents and the brothers and a sister of his wife, and tried last week in the Laporte circuit court, Gustave and George Stevens, brothers of Mrs. Janovitch, were arrested Monday for alleged jury bribing, and William Bell, bartender, and William Haskam, former city policeman, were arrested on a charge of accepting bribes. All were placed under $5,000 bonds. Bell and Haskam were released at night on bonds of $1,000 each.

Gustave Stevens made a written confession to Judge Richter, stating that he had paid $10 to Haskam, who was a juror, to prevent a verdict in favor of the plaintiff and the awarding of damages, and that he had paid two dollars to Bell, who he said acted as messenger in the alleged bribery dealings.

Stephen Janovitch was married to Dona Stevens last year, and, according to the census of American eyes, paid her father $500 for her. After a few weeks she left him, and he was forced to pay another $500 for her return. Then an attempt was made, it is said, to procure a third $500, but Janovitch refused and sued for the return of his money and for damages for alienation of his wife's affections.

FINE GIFT TO SOUTH BEND.

Y. M. C. A. Building, Presented by Studebaker Bros., is Dedicated.

South Bend, Ind., Oct. 26.—The Y. M. C. A. building erected by Studebaker Brothers Manufacturing Company at a cost of $250,000, was dedicated and formally given over to the trustees of the association, before a large attendance. Col. George M. Studebaker made the presentation address, giving the property into the keeping of the association with absolutely no restrictions.

Vice-President Charles W. Fairbanks made the principal address, praising the Studebaker brothers and their sons and thanking them not only for the city, but also for the state and nation, for their magnanimous gift. Mr. Studebaker, Sr., head of the firm, and the last of the five brothers to whose memory the building has been erected, made a few remarks appropriate to the occasion. Ten thousand persons inspected the building.

Accused of Buying Votes.

Kansas City, Mo., Oct. 26.—Albert V. Wesner, foreman in charge of pipe fitters at the Standard Oil plant in Sugar Creek near this city, was indicted on a charge of buying votes at the August primaries. He was indicted by the grand jury last week. Cassidy on a charge of being a man of honorable consequence in the oil company's service.

Asks Clemency For Magness.

Washington, Oct. 27.—Assistant Secretary Newberry of the navy Monday received a letter from Mrs. Magness asking for clemency for her husband, Mr. Magness, who was sentenced to life imprisonment for the kind that is constantly being referred to by him, that it will be repented to in the courts and the usual course will be taken in relation to the Magness case.

Derail Mayflower Sighted.

New York, Oct. 27.—For several weeks after she was abandoned, at least the old ship defender Mayflower continued to roll over the waves. The freight steamer M. Giorgio, which arrived from Jamaica Monday, reported having sighted her on October 15, about 150 miles southeast of Hatteras.

TOO MUCH.

Arabella—Ah, John, there was a time when you couldn't see enough of me.

John—Well, I can see plenty of you now, can't I?

What the Rod Was For.

Mose Fowler was observed by his pastor with a long fishing rod in his hand.

"My goodness, Mose Fowler!" exclaimed the minister, "is yo' goin' fishin'?"

"No, I ain't goin' fishin', suh," protested Fowler. "I know it ain't seemly, suh, but yo' sermon last Sunday on 'spartan' de rod made such an impression on me, suh, dat I done brose dat rod of Dick Berkins, an 'I goin' to stan' mah whole thirdeen chillen to a row, suh, 'fer make em good job, 'cause it says they won't spill; an' den I kin return de rod wit a clear conscience, suh."

Mike and the Motorist.

An Irishman one day was told to put up a signboard on which were the words: "No Motorists—this hill is dangerous."

Away went Mike with the signboard to the bottom of a very steep hill. A few days later his employer went to see how the board was put up, and, finding it at the bottom of the hill, sought and found Mike.

"You better be careful, 'er hee, 'er didn't you put that sign in the right place?"

"Shure and ain't it?" asked Mike. "The accident's happen at the bottom!"—Harpers' Weekly.

Naming the Culprit.

A member of the flock was nodding with closed eyes during the sermon.

The preacher said: "I tell the seconds maneb has been up too late durin' the evelin' previous." He better set up or I'll name him.

Falling to accomplish the desired result the preacher soon stopped his sermon again. Shaking his finger at the culprit, he shouted:

"The second's maneb has been up too late durin' the evelin' previous. I'll expose yo' to be aame to de whole congregashun!"

ASTONISHED THE DOCTOR

Old Lady Got Well with Change of Food.

A great scientist has said we can put off 'old age' if we can only nourish the body properly.

To do this the right kind of food of course is necessary. The body manufactures poisons in the stomach and intestines from certain kinds of food stuffs and unless sufficient of the right kind of food is taken, these poisons overcome the food.

"My grandmother, 71 years old," writes a N. Y. lady, "had been in a hospital for 18 years from what was called consumption of the stomach and bowels. The doctor had given her up to die."

"I saw so much about Grape-Nuts that I persuaded Grandmother to try it. She could not keep anything on her stomach for more than a few minutes. She began to gain weight and was so thankful. As that did not distress her and as she could retain it, she took a little more until she could take all of a teaspoonful at a meal.

"Then she began to gain and grow strong and her trouble in the stomach was gone entirely. She got to enjoy good health. In one so old and we know Grape-Nuts saved her life."

"The doctor was astonished that instead of dying she got well, and wild of medicine after she began to eat Grape-Nuts. 'There's a Reason.' Name given by Postum Co., Battle Creek, Mich. Read 'The Road to Well-Ville,' in this paper.

Interesting Items Gathered in the Gopher State

Grand Stand Burns.
St. Paul.—The grand stand at Lexington Park was entirely destroyed by fire which started from an unknown origin early in the evening. An alarm was given at 8:15 o'clock, and before the engine companies arrived on the scene the entire stand was consumed and part of it had collapsed.

It was only by the fast work of the companies under the charge of Assistant Chief Redeker that the bleachers on the first and third base side of the field were saved. The fire had evidently started in the middle of the stand, probably in the dressing rooms in the clubhouse, for the fire had eaten its way about an equal distance from that portion of the structure when the firemen arrived. Both bleachers had begun to burn, but two streams of water from the companies working from the hydrants on University avenue and from Lexington stopped these fires before any great amount of damage was done.

Beats the Farmers.
St. Cloud.—By making a pipette buyers for central creamery houses have been paying the farmers less for cream than they should.

The pipette is a measuring instrument in connection with testing the quality of milk. When used for cream it produces a result which shows that the cream is lower in butter fat than it really is. The price paid depends on the quality. These facts are shown in the bulletin of the state dairy and food department. In four towns buyers used the pipette in July, when the inspection was made, and in two of these towns, Holloway and Gopher, they used the local creamery to make the buyers give a fair price for the quality of the cream. An attempt was made in the last legislature to prohibit the use of the pipette for cream, but the bill was lost.

State Buys Pheasants.
St. Paul.—Sixty China pheasants are to be purchased by the state, and fish commission to be placed over the state for breeding purposes. They can be purchased for $1 each, which is cheaper than the state can raise them. The commission has been engaged for several years in the attempt to stock the state with these pheasants and they are protected by law for several years.

The commission also decided to buy additional land near the wood hatchery if the engineers find it necessary. The land will amount to two and one-quarter acres, with drainage rights over an additional forty acres.

Blow Open Safe in Despot.
Tacoma, Minn.—A Despot blew open the safe in the Messaba depot here about 1 o'clock in the morning, but were frightened away before they secured any of the money inside. Two suspects had been arrested at Holman and will be given a hearing. The night watchman employed by the railroad company was calling his lunch in a nearby restaurant when he heard the explosion and ran toward the depot. He saw a man fleeing and took a shot at him from his rifle. Examination of the safe showed that the door had been blown from the safe, but nothing inside had been tampered with.

After Pulp Wood.
International Falls.—Chairman Mann and the select committee on the pulp industry have been in the woods tributary to this place for 240 days in consumption of their efforts to ascertain the actual pulp wood supply of northern Minnesota. For seven hours the party under the guidance of Eric Franzen of International Falls tramped in the rain through the timber to inspect tracts containing high land spruce and to search for a virgin forest where, as a congressman once unappreciatedly declared it, "the hand of man had never set foot."

County Division.
Croskone.—A large mass meeting to consider the proposed dividing of public county into two parts, the eastern and western, was held at Croskone, Minn., on Monday night. The meeting was held at the home of Mrs. J. W. Johnson, who acted as a decided victory for those who believe that it will be easy to get the 300 Croskone voters met.

News Notes.
Minnesota.—State board of equalization makes a decision of about $1,000,000 in equity of state from last year.
Montevideo.—News of the death of Hungarian socialist hero while attempting to board a switch engine in the yards here today, had his right foot smashed. He was taken to a hospital in Minneapolis.

Washington.—Glen A. Gould has been appointed as mail carrier on the rural free delivery out of Morrison, and William A. Gould has been selected as his substitute.

Wis. The golden jubilee celebration of the Methodist church of Berlin, Wis., and the town of Lafayette was celebrated in this city today.

Hibbing.—Gen. Andrews says he requires immediate burning of slabs which would have prevented Chisholm fire.

Minneapolis.—Mayor Anderson has issued orders to the police force to stop dog bites. The order is being obeyed.

St. Paul.—Increase of $26,000,000 in valuation of state property is shown by figures of state board of equalization.

St. Paul.—Reports read at semi-annual meeting of Presbyterian synod show a shortage of candidates for the ministry.

Crookston.—Gov. Johnson was given a banquet by the Johnson club at the Hotel Crookston. At the table were seated 165 people.

Morris.—Peter Hanson, an unmarried man aged about forty-five years, was shot by a man in a room over the Mickschack restaurant by shooting himself through the head with a revolver.

East Grand Forks.—Ole Wagen of Peterburg, N. D., dropped dead in a saloon here. He had been drinking.

Duluth.—Reports of the state have inspected about sixty new manufacturing industries have been started during the first seven months of this year. These five employments to 639 operatives.

St. Paul.—Gov. John A. Johnson and State Oil Inspector William E. McEwen were thrown from an automobile, and narrowly escaped serious injury. Both suffered slight bruises but were not otherwise hurt.

Austin.—The state game and fish commission will ship 50,000 bass and crappies for planting in the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul. The fry are gathered from ponds along the Mississippi, where they were left stranded after the high water.

Moorhead.—In the district court the jury which had in hand the case of Lena Dahiby vs. W. B. Anger, arising out of a dispute over the defendant's laundry, brought in a verdict for the plaintiff for $1500.

Minneapolis.—The body of a well developed infant was found near the mouth of the Broadway street by Mabel Boucher, 209 Water street, who was gathering drift wood. The body came from the sewer and drifted to the shore.

Fairbault.—Burglars entered the home of Mrs. Elmer Walker, living in town, for the ostensible purpose of robbing the aged woman, who lived alone. Frightened by her screams they fled and later entered the home of J. Harling, where they were also frightened away.

Chief River Falls.—Farmers of Red Lake county are already laying plans for attending the annual convention of the Red River Valley Farmers' association that will be held in this county on Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 11 and 12.

Duluth.—The intention of the part of the 800 road to get into the Cuyuna Range district early and be on hand to secure a portion of the ore business, which is the development of this district, is made evident by articles of incorporation of the Cuyuna Range Railroad company.

St. Paul.—The board of control opened and rejected bids for an addition to the school for feebleminded at Fairbault, a working boys' building. The sum appropriated by the state for the new wing is $25,000, the entire amount. New bids will be asked, or changes made in the plan, by the late of the 15th. Clarence H. Johnson is St. Paul.

"Hi Montana," the play which will be the attraction at the Bijou Opera House, Minneapolis, will be given in this city. He on the plains is shown in all its phases. There is the typical big-hearted rascalsman, the typical puncher and the ranch hands. The piece has been compared by many who have seen it as the equal of "Ain't She a Beauty?" and it is some respect, it is said to surpass them.

St. Paul.—Hale Lundblad, 41 years old, a well-known stonemason in the St. Paul Union station yards, was badly crushed between two freight cars at the Wiley street crossing.

St. Paul.—Two boxes belonging to the American Express company were instantly killed in a hand-on collision with a Hamilton Union depot car at the Wiley street crossing.

English.—John McCullough, aged twenty-three years, a woman who was injured at Glasgow, was killed in a hospital at Glasgow.

For Little Folks

WHEN the school clothes are provided, the next question on hand is: "What shall the little folks wear for best?"

The models shown in this offer good suggestions for frocks that are simple yet follow artistic lines. The little boy's suit is one of the new winter models for dress wear. It is a Russian blouse suit of fine twilled cloth with a wide band of Danish embroidery on the collar.

The first sketch on the left is of pink challie for a girl of five or seven years. The dainty little hand embroidery is done in the same shade of color. The yoke is of tuck pink mull with a row of hand-embroidered dots on the collar.

The next dress is for a girl of from 15 to 18 years. It is of cream color cashmere with plainness on the waist, the circle skirt and on the skirt of old rose mesaline. There is a little round collar of real baby Irish lace. The gumpie is of cream color net.

There is nothing so quaint for a wee tot as a Mother Hubbard dress. The one in the sketch is made entirely by hand, of French mull. If possible, the little insertions should be of real Valenciennes lace, but if not, a dainty little ribbon is run through the beading at the waist.

The last model is for a ten-year-old girl. It is a very dainty little gown of light blue Pyralis silk. The fitted neckpiece and shoulder capes are braided with the same tone silk soutache. At each side of the skirt in front is a sash end, finished with a fine silk tassel. The gumpie is of fine white mull, with hand run tucks and trimmings of Valenciennes lace.

NOVELTIES FOR DAINTY LUNCH.

Welcome Refreshment at the End of Card Games.

In these days of a table or two of bridge as a form of entertainment, the hostesses are interested in inexpensive novelties for refreshments. What to serve depends largely on the customs of the city and the time of the party. During the hot weather the morning has been the favorite hour. Play lasts from ten o'clock until 12:30, when a cold lunch is served on the card tables or in the shaded dining room.

This might consist of halves of canteloup, with a few blackberries in each piece, jellied gumbo in cups; broiled chicken or Virginia ham, carrots and peas in aspic, tiny French soups, iced coffee, whole cranberry sauce, sliced apples, green peppers, and olives covered with mayonnaise. Such a menu can easily be prepared the day before at the cost of but a few dollars.

If a lunch seems too much trouble, little these light refreshments dainties should make up for variety. Invest in a set of card cake cutters, which consist of four pieces of copper, steel, the axes of apples, clubs, hearts and diamonds. These can be used to shape both the sandwiches and cakes. Take a rich cup cake in thick layers and cut along plain to save waste in cutting. Ice the clubs and spades in a fudge jelly and the other two shapes in a boiled white icing colored red with carmine sugar or a few drops of cochineal and Thursday, Nov. 11.

Serve the food coffee. In tall, thin glasses half filled with cracked ice and with whipped cream on the top, and with a Russian tea or singer also may be substituted for the coffee.

Instead of the sandwiches, crack olives, buttered, covered with Parmesan cheese and red pepper and toasted in the oven may be used. The candies can be made at home, either fudge or white grapes, seeded and covered with a cream fondant.

Soutache Braids. Soutache braid enters into the composition of the new hats as a decoration. Many of the latest models show a tan crown braided in rows, completed by bands in black and colors.

An odd use of the braid was on the hat with a trim of white and black combined. The white and black combined gowns here are arranged in the front, going in opposite directions, and were held down with large crystals (Gollar) made from the braid and loops of the material, with knitted loops of the braid.

Silk Bands Out. One of the kinds of trimming that seems to be entirely out of style is the silk bands. The wide folds are used, and the wide pieces that have been employed to cover seams and to carry out designs on yokes and collars. It is used instead of All widths of it are put on skirt and coat.

New Silk for Scarfs. A new kind of silk for scarfs has appeared in the market. It is a trifle heavier than chiffon and similar to the silk of the chiffon. It is printed with designs in various colors and is very lovely. It ranges from 22 to 32 inches wide, and costs two dollars a yard.

DEVOL HAS RECORD

NEW CHIEF QUARTERMASTER ON PANAMA CANAL.

Is Known as Expert in Organization and Supply Work by What He Did in Philippines, San Francisco and Elsewhere.

Washington.—Maj. C. A. Devol, who succeeds Jackson Smith as chief quartermaster for the canal commission on the Panama canal, has made a record furnishing supplies to the United States army in the tropics equal to that of Jackson Smith in providing men and means to build railroads and manufacturing concerns in Mexico and South America.

Maj. Devol entered the army in 1877 as a second lieutenant of infantry. Appointed a captain and quartermaster in August, 1895, he built the roads of Fort Yellowstone, Wyo., and Fort Hancock. He joined Gen. Oils in May, 1898, and assisted in organizing the expedition to the Philippines, with which he left for Manila in August, 1898. On arrival the major immediately assumed charge of the transport service and the Manila-Dagupan railroad. The military necessities for which Maj. Devol was called upon to provide, required an expenditure of over $7,000,000 Mexican currency, within 18 months. He had about 50 transports in commission supplying the 65,000 troops in the field.

In July, 1900, he was ordered to the United States and assigned as general superintendent of the army transport service between New York, Cuba and Porto Rico. He remained in charge until the service was discontinued in 1901. After he had taken charge of and reorganized the largest army clothing depot in the United States, Maj. Devol was ordered to San Francisco in entire charge of the transport service on the Pacific. His stock

LARGE HATS STILL WORN.

Tendency Now Is to Have the Trimming Rather Flat.

Despite predictions to the contrary, the large hat is a very large hat—it still fashionable, but the tendency this season is to have the trimming rather flat, except in the case of the dressy plumed hats designed for afternoon and evening wear. Some of the smartest hats shown by the importers are quite severe in trimming, but the lines of these hats are so good that they are generally most becoming. One particularly smart shape which would be excellent for street wear with a tailor gown, is shown in this season. The brim of this hat is very large, rolled slightly at the left and down a little at the right side of the crown. The crown is low, but very large, and is wider at the base than at the top, which is rounded in mound shape. Corded silk with rather a heavy rib, in any desired color, is used for the top of the hat, the underbrim being faced with black moire silk. The shape was shown especially smart for young girls having only a twist of wide black moire ribbon around the crown, with a large bow at the left side of the back, the pointed ends of which were allowed to fall a little over the edge of the brim. The inner style of trimming consisted of a large gaurah feather in quill shape with a stiff rib in the center, fastened at the left side of the front with a small flat bow of black satin ribbon.

Nearly all winter coats show a short waist effect. This is one of the principal features of the year.

The fur felt hat is coming again to its own for winter wear. Crape de chine is worn not only for things but in dresses.

Pietrusque effects prevail among evening and even day trappings. Street skirts are but a trifle longer than the summer dresses have been.

Panels of Buttons. It looks as though the shops would have demand for the millions of buttons they offer this season. The millions of buttons when in doubt use buttons. They are put up the back of sleeves in panels from wrist to shoulder in groups of the new velvet or the material of the skirt in about five rows, and they are covered with the frock material or with satin in match or harmonious.

Panama Canal Feat. The new clothing made up of different colored wools that look like an Indian head dress, has been named the Panamocanits. It is a yard long and has stretched to the length of the hat, and sell from 75 cents to six dollars, and come in all colors.

WIFE OF JAPANESE AMBASSADOR

Baroness Takahira Is Woman of Wide Culture.

Washington.—Baroness Kogora Takahira, wife of the Japanese ambassador to this country, arrived in Washington recently to begin her second social experience in the land her own country has taken as its prototype. Like her immediate predecessor, Baroness Aoki, who was also her successor in the embassy in Washington, Baroness Takahira is a woman of wide international social experience and one whose early education was mainly received from European schools. Like her, too, she has adopted the English style of dressing for all occasions except those when official etiquette makes the wearing of the native costume de rigueur. These occasions are every year becoming fewer and farther between and so, to prevent the graceful part of the Japanese from being entirely forgotten by the official world, Baron Takahira, at the close of his last term of office here, presented Mrs. Roosevelt with 12 miniature Japanese women, each one adorned in a perfect specimen of what a high-class native lady would wear for this, that, or the other occasion in the Island of Nippon.

These figures have since occupied a cabinet in the state parlor Mrs. Roosevelt reserved for her personal use at the White House. Officially, it is known as the red room and few are the callers admitted for the first time who do not want to know the history of their "doll majesties."

FRANCE'S PERPETUAL MOURNING.

Strasbourg Monument Always Draped for a Lost Province.

Paris.—Eight stone figures, each representing an important town now or at some previous time in France, rise upon lofty pedestals around the Place de la Concorde, in Paris, one of the largest and most beautiful squares in the world. One of these figures is the Strasbourg monument and the figure expresses the grief of the French people over the loss of Alsace-Lorraine, of which Strasbourg is the capital.

Louis XIV. annexed Alsace-Lorraine to France in 1681, but in the war of 1870-71 the district was regained by Germany. Strasbourg, whose garrison against the Germans for six weeks, but the city finally was surrendered September 27, 1870.

The Strasbourg monument, like that of Lille, one of the seven others, was inaugurated by Pardin. An organization designed by Pardin, and the Patriotic society keeps it draped.

Where's the Good Time?
"That's it," said the colonel, "that if you want to go out for a good time without feeling the effects of the drink, you must have a teaspoonful of the yank stimulant and keep the hiker from going to yank him."

"I don't think much of that, though way it is," said the first place, "it ain't neither yank stimulant right, it don't think it, that and in the second place, how you can't know, if the hiker don't go to yank him."

India's Increased Coal Output. Mining in India has increased largely, according to the annual report of the chief manager of mines part of the India. Last year the coal output in India, based on the coal output in 1,400,000 tons over 1906. Production in 1907 was 1,400,000 tons, an increase of 1,400,000 tons over 1906, and 1,400,000 tons over 1905, and 1,400,000 people are employed.

PINE COUNTY PIONEER.

B. C. GORTRY, Editor and Prop.
Entered in the Post Office at Pine City as Second Class Matter.

PINE CITY, MINN., Oct. 30, 1908.

STUDY the constitutional amendments, and vote intelligently thereon.

THE three-cornered fight for the office of clerk of the district court is a pretty race, and is bound to be a close one.

ONE of the most promising omens of Jacobson's success in his race for governor is the active part taken in his behalf by R. C. Dunn.

THE Hinckley Enterprise is opposed to McKusick's candidacy for the county attorneyship. Score one more point in McKusick's favor.

A COMPANY with $7,000,000 capital has been formed to develop the water power at International Falls. The company will build big paper mills, and try to bust the trust.

F. E. WEYERHAEUSER, who is probably responsible for the destruction of more timber than any man living, expresses himself as in favor of the preservation of our forests.

AS THE candidates come rushing down the home stretch, the campaign becomes strenuous indeed. Only a few days left before election, and every candidate is putting in his best legs.

A MINOR employe of the Standard Oil company has been pinched for vote buying, and will doubtless receive the full penalty. The high officials, however continue to violate laws whenever it pleases them to do so, but seem to be beyond the reach of justice.

AFTER years of experiment the chemists of the U. S. department of agriculture have discovered a method of making paper of a good grade out of corn stalks, at a cost almost as cheap as the wood pulp paper can be made, and in the course of time, as new machinery can be made, the paper can be manufactured at a still lower rate. Now for busting the paper trust.

THE man who yet entertains any idea that Bryan can win over Taft next Tuesday must have a very poor opinion of American intelligence and common sense. That must be a feeble intellect indeed, which would discard a man of Taft's all-round capacity—tested by actual service and success in more spheres than were ever before filled by one American statesman—in favor of one whose only distinction is that of being the oratoriest orator in the country.—St. Paul Pioneer Press.

LEAVITT CORNING, says the Pioneer Press, has just issued a card with a map of his ward on one side and on the other side is J. F. Jacobson's picture, under which he gives the following commendation of Jacobson's candidacy: "A vote for J. F. Jacobson for governor is a vote in commendation of a public record as a member of the Minnesota state house of representatives extending over six regular sessions and one special session, during all of which time he has stood fearlessly and aggressively for the rights of the people. J. F. Jacobson stands on his record. Look it up. Base your vote on your opinion of his ability, industry and absolute integrity, after you have looked his record over thoroughly."

FROM all parts of Minnesota cooperation and substantial encouragement is being shown the Minnesota Federation of Commercial Clubs, of which D. M. Neil of Red Wing, is president, in the campaign just announced for advertising appropriation to $100,000 each year, and an active and energetic movement to interest the world in Minnesota's vacant farm lands, undeveloped resources and wonderful tourist and summer attractions. Immediately after election the campaign will be pressed and the Federation will make a strong show of facts before the next legislature to support of its contention that until Minnesota does what the Canadian government has done to attract settlers, it will continue to be a state of magnificent resources, but with 34 per cent of its farm land settled.

By the time another number of THE PIONEER is issued, the elections of 1908 will have become a matter of history. The campaign just closing, while it has been an exceedingly warm one, both in the national and state campaigns, has been remarkably free from the mud-slinging and personal abuse which have characterized previous campaigns. THE PIONEER, while believing that the interests of the state and nation will be best conserved by the election of the republican ticket, has not taken a very active part in the campaign, as we know the average Minnesotan voter has intelligence enough to draw his own conclusions and vote right, without the intervention of the press.

A. W. PIFER,
Prohibition Candidate for Representative, Thirty-second District

For Commissioner, 2nd District. Douglas Greeley, candidate for commissioner from the Second District of Pine county, has been well and favorably known throughout Pine county during all the twenty years of his residence among us. He has lived in Pine City for over fourteen years, and has served the county as auditor during the greater part of that period, administering that important office with skill and care.

At the end of that period he was chosen to safeguard the interests of the Pine City State Bank, in which vocation he has abundantly demonstrated those qualities of honesty, carefulness and generally which have won him so many friends throughout the county. He is well fitted to perceive the needs, not only of his own district, but of the entire county, and on account of his wide acquaintance, abundant experience and general popularity should carry a large vote with him.

To the Voters of Pine County. I am the regularly nominated Republican candidate for Clerk of the District Court. If elected, I promise to faithfully and efficiently perform the duties of the office, and ask the support of all voters on Tuesday, Nov. 3.

Respectfully,
A. W. GUNN.
Announcement. I am the Republican candidate for the office of County Commissioner for the second district, at the ensuing November election. If elected I will strive to attend to the duties of the office, and work for the best interests of my constituents.
HERMAN JOHNSON,
Pine Town.

Announcement. I hereby announce myself a candidate for re-election to the office of Clerk of the District Court.

Prohibition Platform.
The following is the platform of the Prohibition Party, adopted at Columbus, Mo., July 12-14, 1888, expressing gratitude to Almighty God for the victories of our principles in the past, for encouragement at present, and for confidence in early and triumphant success in the future, makes the following declaration of principles, and pledges their enactment into law when placed in power:
1. The prohibition by congress to the several states, of an amendment to the federal constitution prohibiting the manufacture, sale, importation, exportation or transportation of alcoholic liquors, for beverage purposes.
2. The immediate prohibition of the liquor traffic for beverage purposes in the District of Columbia, in the territories and in those over which the national government has jurisdiction, the repeal of the internal revenue tax on alcoholic liquors, and the prohibition of interstate traffic therein.
3. The election of United States senators by direct vote of the people.
4. Equitable graduated income and inheritance taxes.
5. The establishment of postal savings banks and the guaranty of deposits at banks.
6. The regulation of all corporations doing an interstate commerce business.
7. The creation of a permanent tariff commission.
8. The strict enforcement of law instead of official tolerance and practical license of the social evil which prevails in many of our cities, with its unspeakable traffic in girls.
9. Uniform marriage and divorce laws.
10. An equitable and constitutional employer liability act.
11. Court review of postoffice department decisions.
12. The prohibition of child labor in mines, workshops and factories.
13. Legislation basing suffrage only upon intelligence and ability to read and write the English language.
14. The preservation of the mineral and forest resources of the country, and the improvement of the highways and waterways.
Believing in the righteousness of our cause and the final triumph of our principles, and convinced of the unwillingness of the republican and democratic parties to deal with these issues, we invite to full party fellowship all citizens who are with us agreed.
A. W. PIFER.

That is a tremendous fact for users of heaters, ever put behind a heater, and put up in the lead of all stove dealers.

Your fire is never out.
A hat full of coal in a Cole's Hot Blast burns all night, and in the morning instead of building the fire, shivering in a chilled room and waiting for the fire to heat up, you open a draft only nicely.

And there is fuel enough left to warm up.

We not only say this. We guarantee it, and our word is backed by the largest manufacturer of soft coal heaters in America.

We Guarantee a Saving in Fuel of a Third. Any Heater, size for size, at This is a conservative guarantee. You really save one-half to 60 per cent of your winter's fuel bill by using this stove.

In fact, our guarantee on Cole's Hot Blast is on the feed door.

The most sweeping statement ever put behind a heater, and it puts us in the lead of all stove dealers.

Let us show you this remarkable heater—this clean stove—this continuous fire holder—this expense cutter—this beauty.

Mr. Jansa has been reading the Pioneer for the past year, and on Thursday afternoon before departing for home he came in and deposited a dollar and a half for another year's subscription.

One of our democratic friends in displaying, with great glee a little booklet, containing a life-like portrait of our first president, George Washington. On turning the page, however, it proves to be but a low mockery, for the front page contains only the wig of the illustrious father of his country, while on the following page appear the smug features of W. J. Bryan which show up through an opening in the front page as Washington's head. Out, James—another page will be turned on November 3d, and the successor will not be William Jennings Bryan.

ROOSEVELT SAWS GOLDEN TROUT SPECIES

WILLARD W. GARRISON ILLUSTRATIONS BY A. WEILS

PRESIDENT ROOSEVELT

Copyright 1910 by Willard W. Garrison

RESIDENT THEODORE ROOSEVELT, exterminator of nature fakers, enemy of predatory wealth, world-famed hunter, conqueror of San Juan hill and present occupant of the white executive mansion in Washington, has added a new title to his long list.

It is that of savior of the Salmo Roosevelti Evermann, which in cosmopolitan lingo implies Golden Trout. He has saved the Roosevelt Golden Trout, a product of the west, from extinction. This rare fish is known as the most toothsome morsel which the finny realm holds forth as the trophy of the rod and reel.

The Roosevelt Golden Trout is the gamiest and showiest species of trout in the United States and it promises of the United States fish commission are to be believed, this species will be angled for in hundreds of streams in the country within a few years.

Some time ago President Roosevelt stirred the fish commission into action when he told its members that the Roosevelt Golden Trout was threatened with extinction.

The tall mounds of that august body at once set about to find out what the Roosevelt Golden Trout was. A ponderous probe developed it was a fish and that there was only one place in the United States where it was to be found—in Volcano creek on the slopes of Mount Whitney, Cal.

Several of the fish were captured alive and put in great tanks in Hornum, Mont., and Leadville, Col., to hatch eggs. This they did as prescribed by the fish cultural stations.

Just the other day word came from those stations that a sufficient quantity of eggs had been secured to stock streams in which trout are to be found, in every part of the United States. Upwards of a million eggs were propagated and soon these will be planted throughout the United States.

Only recently President Roosevelt learned that the Golden Trout which has been given his name was in danger of extermination because it was such a toothsome bite, and the president at once took steps which resulted in measures of preservation by the bureau of fisheries. President Roosevelt has many friends in California and it was about two years ago that his acquaintance there, knowing his interest in game, appealed to him to save this finny creature, the most beautiful and delicious member of the fish tribe. Presidential proclamation made Mount Whitney a government forest reserve, which saved it from the roads of fishermen. At that time Volcano creek was far removed from human habitation and declared to be almost inaccessible to all but the knowing ones.

Despite this fact the friends of those versed in the forest lore visited Volcano creek and aided in depleting the stock of Roosevelt Golden Trout, until the hue and cry was raised by Californians.

The president's response to the plea in behalf of the fish which was subsequently named after the chief executive brought the matter to the attention of the United States fish commission with the result that soon we may drop a hook and line into almost any stream of the country and pull up a Roosevelt Golden Trout, the ancestors of which years before thought themselves to be inviolate forever in Volcano creek.

It was not an easy job for the fish commission to gather many of the Roosevelt Golden Trout, for the fish possess that voraciousness which is common among the members of the finny world in mountain streams. However, a highly developed idea in the way of a trap, well baited, drew a sufficient number of the trout into its inner recesses. The first step of the work having been taken the rest was easy. The fish were transported to Hornum and Leadville, where they were allowed to propagate until great numbers of eggs were in the hands of the fish commission.

The Roosevelt Golden Trout is essentially a trout but instead of the conventional gray and white of the average trout in fresh streams and lakes, his sides are streaked with a beautiful golden tint, which imparts a color to the surrounding water and makes the fish visible to the fisherman's eye from a distance of several rods in clear water.

A member of the United States fish commission in speaking of the efforts to save this rare species from extermination spoke as follows:

A member of the United States fish commission in speaking of the efforts to save this rare species from extermination spoke as follows:

TANKS CONTAINING GOLDEN TROUT AT LEADVILLE, CO.

"At first it was almost impossible to gather any of these fish in order to install them in the cultural stations at Leadville, Col., and Hornum, Mont., but finally we delegated several guides of the Mount Whitney region to go out and use their utmost energies towards capturing the fish. Upon the promise of substantial sums they did this and we were able to secure several beautiful specimens. These we immediately hustled away in large tanks in order that the fish might not die and they were then placed in larger tanks with water containing chemical preparations and allowed to propagate. Soon our efforts began to de-ice fruit and now we have probably the finest outlay of eggs which we ever secured in an effort of this kind. We may be pardoned for the special pride which we take in this work because it has been accomplished with success. I may say that the residents of California who were the first to make application for the saving of this species are gratified at the means taken and they have in many instances personally thanked President Roosevelt for his efforts in pushing the crusade."

Ruth Tate Brady of Oklahoma is the richest girl in the far west. She is 12 years old and has in her own right an income of $400 a day. Her mother was a half-breed Cherokee Indian. Miss Brady received 200 acres of public land on the allotment, and on this tract all wells have been developed producing daily 2,000 barrels of oil.

TRAFFIC IN WINE PROVES BIG INDUSTRY ON DARK CONTINENT.

To give an idea of the comparative and the potential values of the kaffir trade in the districts of Inhambane, Gaza and Lourenco Marques, Maj. Haldwin, the British representative at the port of Lourenco Marques, instances the consumption of wine.

He calculates that last year the total disbursements for wine by the natives in the districts in question amounted to almost $2,500,000. The selling price of the other imports for the kaffir market during 1909 is, at a moderate estimate, $1,750,000, and the amount received in native taxes was, for approximately the same period, $725,000 in hut taxes and about $25,000 in immigration fees. The total disbursements amount, therefore, to more than $5,000,000 a year.

There are no accurate statistics of the native population, but it is reasonable to suppose that it is increasing and to infer that the annual sum available for the purchase of cloth, cutlery, clothing, foreign foodstuffs and other articles of the kaffir trade will not diminish. It must, however, be remembered that the annual exodus and return of natives to and from the Transvaal is having considerable effect upon their tastes generally and a steady decrease in the demand for beads, blankets and other articles manufactured solely for that market may be expected; on the other hand, however, Maj. Baldwin thinks a corresponding increase may be looked for in the demand for improved substitutes for these articles, especially in the way of ready-made clothing, jerseys, caps, boots and cheap jewelry generally.

Refrigerative Justice. A case of refrigative justice, as far as it goes, is reported from Paris. An attendant at the Antral hospital, where physiological investigations are being made, discovered that a dozen rabbits had been stolen from his hutch. The loss of the rabbits themselves was not a source of trouble to the authorities, but the fact that they had been inoculated with various germs has had a disturbing effect. It is known that the rabbits had all been inoculated and several of them were tuberculous or typhoid subjects. The police lost no time in warning the thieves of the dangerous nature of their "swag," but none were returned.

PERUNA A TONIC OF GREAT USEFULNESS.

HON. R. S. THARIN, Attorney at Law and counsel for Anti-Trust League, writes from Pennsylvania Ave., N. W., Washington, D. C., as follows: "Having used Peruna for catarrhal disorders, I am able to testify to its great remedial excellence and do not hesitate to give it my enthusiastic endorsement and earnest recommendation to all persons affected by that disease. It is also a tonic of great usefulness."

Mr. T. Barnett, West Ayinger, Ontario, Can., writes: "Last winter I was ill with pneumonia after having had grippe. I took Peruna for two months, when I became quite well. I also treated a young lady, who was all run down and confined to the house, to take Peruna, and after taking Peruna for three months she is able to follow her trade of tailoring. I can recommend Peruna for all such who are ill and require a tonic."

I could not get anything that would help him. Then I began to use Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment, and after using them three times, the sores commenced to heal. He is now well, and not a scar is left on his body. They have never returned nor left him with bad blood, as one would think. Cuticura Remedies are the best I have ever tried, and I shall highly recommend them to any one who is suffering likewise. Mrs. William Gedding, 102 Washington St., Attica, Ind., July 22, 1907."

The Obsèques of Ole Miss Jug

By Jean Ross Irvine

(Copyright, by Illustrative Pub. Co.)

"This sort of day always reminds me of Indians," said Mrs. Albright, taking a long look around over the hills. It was an afternoon in the August, a fine day, the smoke of distant forest fires lay upon the land, leaning to the old familiar hills an air of mystery and remoteness. The hills were all faces. Down in the valleys and upon the long hillside the blue faded softly into the gray of the sage brush and the gray into the vague green of the creek bottom.

Mrs. Albright, the wife of the manager, and I, the governor of the Big Red ranch, were sitting on the porch. "I don't know why," she continued, "perhaps because it's such a very lazy day."

Ten minutes later we discovered some convincing reasons for the tenor of her thoughts, in the weekly paper, brought by a mounted messenger from the post office over fifty miles away. The population of the Big Red comprised three women, four men and five children; the cowboys, of whom there were about fifty, being camped upon the rounding white Mr. Albright was away on a trip to New York. We were 65 miles from the railroad and from the nearest town, ten miles from any star ranch, and quite far from any one whom we could call neighbor. And now, as though aware of our unprotected position, the Indians had taken occasion to go on the war-path!

"Willfully and maliciously!" exclaimed Mrs. Albright, as she sat reading blood-chilling accounts of massacres that had taken place or were about to take place—accounts which were further supplemented by the messenger's report of the killing the very morning of a ranch only 40 miles away.

At the other end of the porch sat the five little Albrights, in a circle, holding a solemn consultation. There was Tony, the eldest, the 12-year-old, the twins, and then Billy, seven years old, and Elbert, Van Twiller, Albert, and Fred. They were all looking very sober, and each child was decorated with a generous piece of black silk, torn off the bottom of an old skirt. In the center of the circle stood an empty box, over which were draped the remains of the skirt, and which probably represented to Tony's cultivated mind a hieroglyphic. The twins shared between them a very crumpled handkerchief, with which they occasionally rubbed their eyes.

"What is the matter, children?" I exclaimed, as I took in the details of the scene.

Tony was silent until he had marshaled his features into a state of the solemnity; then, in a voice carefully modulated to fit the occasion, he replied: "At the break of day Miss Jug departed this life."

"She has come over the big divide," added the twins, who never let pass an opportunity of using a cowboy phrase.

"Ole Miss Jug" as the children called her, was a portly god of great age and immovable dignity. In the opinion of the Big Red cowboys she was "as old as the oldest tree." Certainly she was as old as the oldest moosemen. And now, as Tony would have said, she had "crossed the divide" she had gone whence no dog returneth.

"She was a mighty fine girl," said one of the twins, sorrowfully.

"And," said Tony, visibly brightening, "we are going to give her the very finest funeral we ever had."

Had Tony lived ten hundred years ago, he would have become pope, or certainly a cardinal, so great was his love of ritual. The burial of a hen under his direction became a most imposing ceremony. Theatricals were his passion. Robed in a scarlet taboret, and armed with a broad knife, he would recite Hamlet's soliloquy in such a melancholy voice, and with such expressive motions of his weapon, that the twins would be thrown into quite an ecstasy of horror, while the younger part of the audience cowered in terror under the bedclothes, the exhibition taking place generally at bedtime, being more impressive by candle light.

Late that evening Mrs. Albright and I sat upon the cool piazza, rocking, thinking, waiting. As long as daylight had lasted and the little Albrights had borne us company, we had kept up a pretense of cheerful conversation. But now that the small folks were tucked away in bed, and the sun had forestalled the barn, we had relapsed into a silence whose gloom was accentuated by the deep minor chords of night, the croaking of frogs, the distant low of the mill, the waiting for the rains, and now and then the hurray howls of the coyotes, holding their furrow down the creek. By this time it was quite dark.

Even the long, narrow sea of smoky green that had gleamed so long over the western hills, had faded. About the top of a nearer peak, that of a rocky hill, a quarter of a mile or so to the east of us, which Tony had christened Golphga, shone a faint red radiance, the first rays of the rising moon.

Suddenly with a faint scream, my companion shrieked my name. "Look!" she whispered, "the Indians!"

Even as she spoke, from the crown of Golphga there rose up a tenuous gleaming in the darkness. Straightway, in spite of those who would have restrained me, I plunged after her, following down the path, across the creek, and up the steep ascent in the wake of that fluttering white signal. We could not see the fire now, but the smoke streamed blood red over our heads, and we could hear the cries of the victim and smell the burning flesh. As we neared the top of the hill the hideous shrieks subsided, ceased, the drum was silenced, all was quiet save the fierce crackling of the flames.

In a Flash the Truth Burst Upon Us.

"They have seen us," I thought, and gripping Mrs. Albright's arm behind, stood for a moment motionless and panted hard.

Just then the black rocks of the hill top gleamed the full moon, like a great bloody sun. Suddenly there appeared a smoke that drifted right above us, full against the broad, copper orb of the moon, a dusky avenger. For an instant he stood motionless, a great knife gleaming in his uplifted hand, his blanket blowing against his bare legs.

"Then down to us poor women trembling below floated these words: 'To be or not to be, that is the question!'"

It was Tony's voice!

In a flash the truth burst upon us. We had been witnessing one of Tony's dramas.

What a sight met our gaze as we rushed up onto the top of the hill! There in the midst of the fire lay all that was mortal of Miss Jug, faint and lifeless. Seated upon the rocks were the four little Albrights, each robed in a white sheet and armed with a great tin can. And upon the highest rock of the hill, garbed in the red taboret and carrying the broad knife.

"O children!" cried their mother, who stood upon the rocks. "Why didn't you tell us what you were going to do? You have frightened us nearly to death!"

"We've just been burning ole Miss Jug," exclaimed the twins.

"It's a exclamation," corrected Tony with dignity.

"This is the plot of the sheeted Albright," she the heavenly choir. "I'm the priest of the moon, and—" pausing dramatically, he drew the taboret closer about his neck, indicating the moon, the fire, the heavenly choir and himself with one sweep of the hand. "The high priest con- sidered in a deep, solemn voice, 'These are the obsèques of Ole Miss Jug. Let her R—J—P—'

HORTICULTURE

FALL CULTIVATION OF ORCHARD.
Care Must Be Taken Least It Prove Injurious to Trees.

Fall cultivation of orchards is sometimes injurious and sometimes not. The effects depend on several conditions. Fall cultivation in orchards has been objected to because it is supposed to start a fall growth of wood that does not have time to harden before the time of the final stoppage of growth. That leaves a lot of soft wood to go into winter in a shape unfit to stand the cold.

It is only the cultivation of early fall that injures trees in this way, says Farmers' Review. If the leaves are cut off and ready to fall, cultivation cannot start a new growth. This effect can only take place if the cultivation is early enough to furnish an abundant food supply at the time the leaves are very active in elaborating food for the development of wood. We do not believe that fall cultivation is desirable in most of our northern latitudes, even when the cultivation is given so late that it cannot possibly start a new growth of wood. This cultivation acts up the soil and penetrates the frost to go deeper than it otherwise would. If the winter chance to be a cold one, with little snow, frost will strike so deep that the roots will be frozen, and this may result in the destruction of the trees. The harder and firmer the ground, the less is the depth that the frost will be able to penetrate.

PLAN FOR ROSE GARDEN.

The simple design shown in our illustration is the suggested plan for a rose garden 10 feet square. It contains one large oval in the center, four beds of triangular outline, and one long narrow bed at the rear of the plot. The large oval in the center should be devoted to Hybrid Remontant or time roses, and of these the following varieties are all excellent: Anna de Diesbach, dark pink; Frau Karl Druschki, one of the very finest white; Gen. Jacquemont, well known to almost everyone; Magna Charta, Mrs. John Laing, both good pink; Paul Neyron, one of the largest roses; Ulrich Brunner, Fisher's Hologes, light and dark red. This list may be greatly increased as desired. In the triangular beds it would be well to plant largely of the Hybrid Tea class, and also those known as ever-blooming roses. Of the Hybrid Tea the following are all fine: Killarney, Captain Christy, Caroline Testa, Grus and Spitz, Kaiserin Augusta, Victoria, La France and Souvenir du President Carnot. The ever-blooming roses include a large number of varieties, from which it is difficult to select a brief list, but the following are good: Etiole de Lyon, Marie Van Houite, Madame Cochet, Franz Desgen, Papa Gontier, Hermosa, Clothilde Souper and Souvenir de la Malmaison. At the back of the long bed, suggests the Rural New Yorker, at the rear of the garden, a wire trellis could be placed, and on this some roses of the Rambler type could be trained, some of the best of this type being Philadelphia, Rambler, Ruby Queen, Dorothy Perkins and Lady Gay. In front of the Ramblers the Hybrid China rose, Madame Planter, and also some of the lovely Moss roses could find a place. This list could be extended almost indefinitely, but all varieties do not grow with the same freedom, and the few mentioned may be considered among the standard sorts. The number of plants to be used in such a garden would be from 600 to 750, according to the dimensions of the beds and the closeness with which they were planted. If the surroundings permit it, the fences or boundaries of the rose garden could be covered with the various Rambler roses, and the long bed used for other varieties.

THE ORCHARD.

Orchardists should pay more attention to their blackcap raspberry crops. This berry is growing very scarce of late, probably from neglect. Such a plantation will steadily increase in fruit.

Every apple grower should be prepared for extensive spraying in 1909. Burn all trash around the orchard. The soil has been unusually protracted throughout the country and the spores and seeds will have to be burned in 1909.

The apple growers of Oregon and Washington often ship their produce several thousand miles and apparently make good profits. In view of this fact it is astonishing why the average western farmer cannot make his orchard pay. Perhaps it is the thought and care put into each package of fruit that tells the tale.

It is generally the case where orchards have been left to go to seed the seeds will soon sprout up freely on the ground. Very often they are in a manner and so thick that they are a weed pest and may be killed by stirring the ground with cultivator, wheel hoe or common hand hoe. When the seeds come from seed in the field they are generally worse directly over the old rows and are a serious menace to the production of the best orchards as the crop.

Stack for Young Orchard.

George R. Murray of Holt county, Mo., believes well selected stock is of the utmost importance in soil, or an apple orchard. He says: "It is worth contemplating setting out an apple orchard. I would either grow my own trees from such setons as I would cut from certain trees—which would mark, during the growing season, for their important merits, or I would contract with some good, reliable nurseryman to grow the trees for me, using my direct order, from such setons as I would furnish, and select as above stated. I would plant such trees, at a cost of $150 or even $200 per thousand in preference to the best grade grown in the regular way, even though they were offered to me as a gift."

TROUBLE AHEAD.

He—I fear the worst. She—What's happened, George? He—Your father has paid back that $35 he borrowed.

BREAKS A COLD PROMPTLY.

The following formula is a novel falling remedy for colds: One ounce of Compound Syrup of Sarsaparilla, one ounce Toris Compound, and one-half pint of good whiskey, mix and shake thoroughly each time and use in doses of a tablespoonful every four hours.

This if followed up will cure an acute cold in 24 hours. The ingredients can be gotten at any drug store.

Fujiyama Modernized.

The beautiful mountain peak of Fujiyama, which is regarded by the Japanese as little short of sacred, is to be modernized by electricity. For the benefit of tourists the mountain top and the trail to it will be illuminated by electric lights. Hotels and refreshment houses will be erected on the mountain slope, as well as telephone and telegraph stations.

SAVING ORCHARDS FROM SCALE.

Old Orchards Can Be Preserved from Attack of Pest.

Investigations carried on at the New York experiment station at Geneva convince the authorities that scale can be preserved from attacks of the San Jose scale. In bulletin 296 the investigators assert:

Of the various scales that have been tested on old trees, and the home-made oil emulsions have, on the basis of efficiency, economy and safety to the trees, proven the most satisfactory remedy. Of the two old oil emulsions have generally been some more efficient than the sulphur wash in the treatment of old apple trees, and excellent results have been obtained with a light treatment of the emulsion on trees previously sprayed with the lime-sulphur wash, to reach the scales on the young wood. Either of these, or the old oil emulsion supplementing an application of the sulphur wash, if thoroughly applied, can be depended on to control the scale.

A HANDY FRUIT LADDER.

Made by Splitting a Basswood Pole and Putting in Rungs.

Here is a fruit ladder that is more convenient than the ordinary style. A round stick of basswood about 20 feet long is saved in two equal parts, one of one foot of the small end, where an iron ring, a is welded on. The other end is inserted on the side and nailed solid. Leave a foot of the small end of pole not sawed, explains Farm and Home, and the ladder can be put in any position in a tree without the top end becoming entangled in the limbs and twigs.

BOURDEAU MIXTURE AS A DUST.

Has Not Given as Good Results as the Liquid Spray.

The application of Bourdeau mixture in the form of dust or powder in an experiment conducted at the Kentucky experiment station by H. Garman has not proven itself particularly useful. In bulletin 133 Mr. Garman says: "Bourdeau dust has been recommended for several manufacturing purposes, and has been offered for sale. Tested side by side with liquid Bourdeau mixture, they have failed to give as good results, and in some cases have failed absolutely, the results recorded showing that the benefit obtained was not sufficient to justify the expense for materials and labor. The cost for the two is nearly the same—about two cents per tree for a single application—some work- ers claiming a slight advantage. The cost in favor of the liquid spray in Oregon recently a large number of trees dusted for scale gave only 13 per cent clean-cut fruit, while trees sprayed with liquid Bourdeau gave six per cent. Unsprayed trees gave six per cent."

Pruning Trees.

The right time to commence the pruning of a tree and the making of an orchard is when it is young. When the trees are young the discreet orchardist can train them into almost any desired shape. He must keep his eye on them in his mind and work toward that end. There are many horticulturists who claim that the young tree with many strong limbs is the better tree when fully developed of a forked sapling with only about two main stems. The apples should have a wide spread, and should be pruned so as to keep the tree open at all times. There are on the other hand many growers who aim to destroy the tree by pruning the top open at all times. Either form of tree is equally apt, but the average orchardist is not a hobbyist and works towards what he thinks to be the best, despite custom or recommendation.

PROOF IS INEXHAUSTIBLE THAT LYDIA E. PINKHAM'S VEGETABLE COMPOUND CARRIES WOMEN SAFELY THROUGH THE CHANGE OF LIFE.

Read the letter Mrs. E. Hanson, 304 E. Long St., Columbus, Ohio, writes to Mrs. Pinkham:

"I was passing through the Change of Life, and have been suffering from nervousness, headache, and other annoying symptoms. My doctor told me that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound was good for me, and after taking it I feel so much better, and I can again do my own work. I never forget to tell my friends what Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound did for me during this trying period."

FACTS FOR SICK WOMEN.

For thirty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has been the standard remedy for female ailments and has positively cured thousands of women who have been troubled with displacements, inflammation, ulceration, fibroid tumors, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, that bearing-down feeling, flatulency, indigestion, dizziness or nervous prostration. Why don't you try it?

Mrs. Pinkham invites all sick women to write her for advice. She has guided thousands to health. Address, Lynn, Mass.
