CROSSED THE GREAT DIVIDE.

J. P. Johnson, Prosperous Farmer,
Passed Away At Home On Friday Last.

Last Friday morning at about 8:15 J. P. Johnson, who resided on the west shore of Cross Lake about two and one-half miles northeast of this place, passed away, after an illness of some length with consumption.

Mr. Johnson was born in Sweden 82 years ago last August. He came to this country about 28 years ago and settled in Duluth, where he remained until 14 years ago when he came to Pine City and settled on the farm on which he has lived ever since and where he died.

He leaves a loving wife, four children, two sons and two daughters, and numerous friends to mourn his loss. The sons are Emil, of Coeur d'Alene, Idaho, Carl of Spooner, Wis., the daughter Mrs. Herman Teich and Ed. Nelson both of this place.

The funeral was held Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, and the body laid to rest in Birchwood cemetery, Rev. Gray officiating.

ROCK CREEK

Thanksgiving Day was generally observed by all as a day to give thanks unto the Lord. Everyone had plenty of good things to eat and the latter part of the day was spent in rest.

The Saturday evening dance was opened off at the Rock Creek Hall and right and the large crowd enjoyed itself to the utmost, the dance breaking up in the early hours of morning.

The ladies gave a Thanksgiving dinner at the church Thanksgiving eve, which was a grand success. The tables were loaded with turkeys and cranberry sauce and all kinds of cakes and pies. The ladies made a nice sum of money and are well satisfied with the result.

We understand that the stockholders of the Farmer's Co-operative Store will hold another meeting next month to settle with the Board in regard to the Challen store house and also to attend to other important business.

It looks as if they want to change the whole board—president, manager and all. Well, they must have reason to complain, as their theory is, that everything should be for their own interest.

SATURDAY OR SUNDAY?

Another Correspondent Answers
Questions Asked Nov. 19.

In answer to the question asked by some unknown person, presumably a sabbatarian, through the columns of the Pioneer, why the so called christians violate the holy law of God?

Will say, that we as christians do not lay any claim to being transgressors of the holy law, for where there is no law, there is no transgression and we do not claim to be under the law. The scripture teaches us that whosoever is under the law shall be judged by the law. So by way of advice I will endeavor to give some scripture for your benefit.

Before faith came we were kept under the law, shut up unto the faith which should afterward be revealed. Wherefore the law was schoolmaster to bring us to Christ that we might be justified by faith, but after that faith is come, we are no more under a schoolmaster. For we are all the children of God, by faith in Christ Jesus. Gal. 3: 23-26.

As for those who are continually wrangling about the law and the Sabbath, which the Lord says are unprofitable, I bear them record that they have the zeal of God, but not according to knowledge. For they being ignorant of God's righteousness, and going about to establish their own righteousness have not submitted themselves unto the righteousness of God, for Christ is the end of the law to all them that believe. Rom. 10: 24. The law having accomplished its mission became dead, and by the works of the law we cannot please God, hence Paul says: Do not wrangle about the law and vain genealogies for they are unprofitable.

We deny the Sabbath command being any part of the moral law, because first it was made for man, hence it could not be a moral law, moral law is eternal; second it was given to man 2,500 years after creation. It was given by Moses to be kept in remembrance of his bringing the children of Israel out of Egypt, where he said, Remember that thou wast a servant in the land of Egypt, and that the Lord thy God brought the theme through a mighty hand and by an out-stretched arm, therefore the Lord thy God commanded thee to keep the Sabbath day.

The Sabbath was made for man, not for the Sabbath, therefore the Son of Man is the Lord of the Sabbath, Mark 2:27-28. Hence it is not moral and ceases at the cross. We are not under bondage that we must keep any of the sacred days, or seasons of the old law. Col. 2:14-17. Gal. 4:10-11-12.

By reading the holy scriptures we find that the Sabbath was given to the Jews only, and limited to their generations. Please read, Neh. 9:11-14, Exodus 31:13-18, Ezra 20:10-12, Exodus 16:22-30, Deut. 5:15, Exodus 28:43.

This plainly proves to the mind of any intelligent person that the Sabbath was given to the Jews only, and should be classed with the ceremonial laws which were a type or shadow of Christ, which laws were nailed to the cross, where he says in Col. 2:14, Blotting out the hand writing of ordinances that were against us, which was contrary to us, and took it out of the way nailing it to the cross.

Let no man therefore judge you in meats or in drink, or in respect of an holy day, or of the new moon, or of the sabbath days, which are a shadow of things to come, but the body is of Christ. Col. 2:16-18.

We know that Sabatarians will object to the sabbath being classed with the ceremonial laws, but if not, where will it be classed?

The mere fact that God rested on the seventh day, did not make that a holy day, (proof) it had to be blessed and sanctified after he had rested on it. Gen. 2:3. So his rest did not sanctify it. God sanctified it and made it holy, because in it he had rested, Gen. 2:3 so his rest day did not sanctify it. The mere fact that God rested on that day imposed an obligation on man to rest that day, also the seventh day was not holy in and of itself, it had to be made holy Mark 2:27. Then it can also be made common.

Adam did not keep the day on which God rested, for if he did he kept it without any command and before it was sanctified. Gen. 2:3 does not tell when God sanctified the seventh day, it was done after he had rested but how long after? One week, one month one year or one thousand years, the records does not state, so it does not say the seventh day was made holy in Eden. The bible does not say that Adam ever kept the sabbath at all.

The bible does not say that Abraham or any of the patriarchs kept the sabbath, if it does, where? Find one text for it.

The record when the sabbath was first commanded to be kept is plainly given in Exodus 16:22-30, please read it all. This is the first time that the word sabbath occurs in the bible, 2,500 years after the creation. Here it is given to the Jews and to them only, hence Jewish, it was never anywhere commanded to the Gentiles, if so where? In all the bible Gentiles are never once reprimanded for breaking the sabbath, though none of them kept it. How is this?

In six days the Lord made the heavens and earth, Exodus 20:11 gives a reason why God selected the seventh day, but does not say when it was made holy, Ex. 16:22-30 tells when. Deut. 5:15 gives another reason why God commanded them to keep the sabbath, yea, because he brought them out of Egypt, read it, Ex. 20:10-12 says that God brought them out of Egypt, and then there gave the Sabbath, this locates the time when the sabbath was given after they came out of Egypt. It tells to whom given, the Jews. This should make it clear that the sabbath command is not a part of the moral law, hence ceased at the cross.

They were not to build fires of the sabbath day, Ex. 35:3; they must do no cooking on the sabbath, Ex. 16:23; their cattle must do no work on the day; two lambs must be offered each sabbath; whoever does any work that day must be stoned to death, Ex. 31:13-15, Num. 15:32-37. Adventists do not keep the sabbath, for they build fires, cook their meals and drive their teams on the sabbath, they offer no lambs on the sabbath, nor stone their people who break it.

There is no command of Christ to keep the sabbath, if so, where? The other nine commandments either in the exact words or in substance are often given in the New Testament, (see) Acts 14:15, 1 John 5:21, James 5:21, Eph. 6:1, Rom. 13:9, 1 Cor. 6:19-20, Eph. 4:22 1 Col. 3:9 and Eph. 5:3. Why was the sabbath always omitted? The Sabbath is not always omitted? The why Christians go by the New Testament, not by the old; hence if the Sabbath is binding on christians the requirements must be found in the New Testament, but it is not there, even once. If christians must go to the Old Testament for the law to keep the Sabbath, then it is the one and the only time they must go there for a law in Christian duty, (mark this) in all the New Testament there is no blessing pronounced on the seventh day, nor is there any curse pronounced on the Sabbath. There are there any directions or regulations as to how to keep it, nor is there any penalty for breaking it, no one is ever reproved for not keeping it; in the Old Testament there are plenty of threatenings for deserting the sabbath, plenty of promises for keeping it, but not even one in all the New. How is this?

Cornelius, the uncircumcised Jew, who did not keep the Jewish law, was converted, received the Holy Ghost and was baptized without keeping the Jewish sabbath, Acts 10:25-28 14:8 and 11:1-3.

Most of Paul's converts were from the Gentiles, who never kept the Sabbath, yet in all his letters to them he never instructed them to observe it,

PUNISH LAND FRAUD

SECRETARY BALLINGER IN ANNUAL REPORT SAYS PROSECUTION MUST CONTINUE.

TELLS OF THE YEAR'S WORK

Development of Public Lands Through Private Enterprise Under National Supervision and Control Desired—Reclamation Service Discussed.

Washington, Nov. 29.—The annual report to the President of Edward A. Ballinger, secretary of war, has been made public to-day, and is an interesting reading. The report covers a portion of the time under the administration of James R. Garfield, and Mr. Ballinger gives him credit for his earnest and efficient services.

Secretary Ballinger comments on the old public land statutes, and continues:

"The liberal and rapid disposition of the public lands under these statutes and the lax methods of administration which for a long time prevailed naturally provoked the feeling that the public domain was legitimate prey for speculators. It is to be regretted that we, as a nation, were so tardy to realize the importance of preventing so large a measure of our national resources passing into the hands of land pirates and speculators, with no view to development looking to the national welfare."

Must Continue Prosecutions.

"It may be safely said that millions of acres of timber and other lands have been unlawfully obtained, and it is also true actions to recover such lands have in most instances long been barred by the statute of limitations. The principles underlying the predecessor's administration, the bold and vigorous proceedings of land frauds through Secretaries Hitchcock and Garfield, have restored salutary respect for the law, and the public lands have rapidly grasped the importance of utilizing utmost vigor, through available resources, the securing of information of violations of public land laws and to follow such violations with rigid prosecutions.

Use Private Enterprise.

"On this present policy of conserving the natural resources of the public domain, while development is the objective, the use of private enterprise is not that development shall be by national agencies, but that wise utilization shall be secured through private enterprise under national supervision and control. Therefore, in securing the best use of the public lands, the public lands congress must be called upon to enact remedial legislation."

Mr. Ballinger then gives in detail his recommendations for the classification of public lands, and the features of a measure which he advises for the regulation of the disposal of water-power sites.

The Reclamation Service.

Concerning the reclamation service, the report says in part:

"In view of the organization of a special reclamation project and their proper extension, and of the necessity in 1912 of an adjustment between the states by which the major portion of the funds arising from the sale of public lands within each state were used, it has been expedited as far as practicable to secure the services of the reclamation service of all the states concerned, and has been committed to the head of each state or territory, and in view of the importance of making a beneficial use of waters already appropriated or capable of appropriation to which rights may be lost through the action of the reclamation service, it has been recommended that a special agent be made to come to the reclamation fund, to an aggregate of not exceeding $30,000,000, or so much thereof as may be needed."

Mr. Ballinger then gives in detail his recommendations for the classification of public lands, and the features of a measure which he advises for the regulation of the disposal of water-power sites.

New Building at University of Illinois Is Dedicated in the Presence of Many Notable Educators.

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 26.—In the presence of numerous well-known educators and other notables, the new laboratory of physics of the University of Illinois was formally opened yesterday. The dedication took place in the lecture room, President James presiding.

First Gov. Deneen on behalf of the state presented the building to the university, and in the speech of acceptance was present Dr. J. L. Root of Chicago, president of the board of trustees. Dr. James then delivered the charge to the department of physics, to which response was made by Prof. W. C. Casper. The dedication was delivered by Professor Pritchett of the Carnegie Foundation for the Advancement of University Teaching, closing the afternoon's program.

TO REORGANIZE ENTIRE NAVY OF UNITED STATES

Department Is Urged to Have Ships Built Under Direction of Fighting Men.

Washington, Nov. 26.—The United States navy is to be reorganized from the new Leviathan of the "Dreadnaught" type to the armored cruisers and auxiliaries.

Midships, such as the Connecticut, the armament of which is said to be almost entirely below the water line, will henceforth be impossible.

The fleets of the world power of the western hemisphere are to become actually the chief asset of pride on the seas instead of the thin prints of bureaucratic experts, many of whom have never had the sting of salt winds in their nostrils.

In short, politics is to be removed from the management of the naval bureaus and shipyards and fighting ships are to be built under the supervision of the men who fight them instead of along the plans of civilians and politicians.

The Swift board, named months ago to go to the bottom of the naval situation in the United States and bring out every fault, is about to make its report. The navy department has not yet learned that it is due for reorganization.

Not since the Spanish war revealed the weakness of the American military establishment and the subsequent drastic reorganization which Elton Root, then secretary of war, succeeded in bringing about, has there appeared a more general upheaval of the military machine. The creation of a world power is as forthcoming as in the Swift board report. The board has reached its verdict that the navy department must be reconstructed, after studying the systems of control in the admiralties of all the great nations.

MAN, WIFE AND BABY SLAIN

Of Murderer Believed to Have Been Attack on Woman—Blood-hounds on Trail.

Frontenac, Kan., Nov. 29.—Three men were killed in an attack on a woman who were committed in the town near here. The dead are William Bork and his wife of Frontenac, and their son, who was 24 years old.

An attack on Mrs. Bork is the supposed motive of the crime. The husband, it is believed, was killed while trying to defend his wife.

Mr. and Mrs. Bork and the baby were last seen alive when they started to drive to Frontenac from the home of Mrs. Bork's mother, at a point two miles in the country. Their horse and buggy were found by miners driving in the roadway at a deserted spot.

In the bottom of the buggy was the body of the child, with a bullet wound in his head.

Bork's body was in the middle of the road some distance away. He had been shot in the head and twice in the body.

A trail through the dust led the searchers to a cornfield a hundred feet farther away. There they found the body of the woman. An attack had been committed and she had been shot through the heart.

U. S. OFFICER REPORTS EFFECTIVE BLOCKADE OF GREYTOWN, NICARAGUA.

AWAIT DETAILS OF EXECUTION

State Department Receives Wireless Message from Commander of Cruiser Des Moines—American Interests Are Protected.

Washington, Nov. 28.—The latest developments in the Nicaraguan situation are: Declaration from the under-secretary of state of the Nicaraguan government that the two Americans mentioned by Zelaya were part of the outposts of the revolution ary army approaching Managua.

The revolutionary army has possessed the town of Greytown, including the town of Roma, when fighting is imminent.

An effective blockade of Greytown by the revolutionaries is being maintained and the town is occasionally bombarded but without effect.

Only one American citizen is to be found in Greytown, where American and foreign interests are large.

Greytown Is Bombed.

The attitude of the revolutionaries has been great encouragement, it is felt by the state department with its satisfactory results because of the receipt of a message from the commander of the cruiser Des Moines in the harbor of Greytown. He reports American friends there are protected; says that the insurgent blockade is effectively maintained and notes that the insurgent army is rapidly growing and becoming more aggressive. According to this information the administration will continue to negotiate with the revolutionaries.

The attitude of the president was particularly objectionable to the Zayatas because the important post of reorganization was given to the revolutionaries. He sent an officer ashore to Greytown who found only one American citizen. If there were others imprisoned the state department did not make the fact public.

Gov. Estrada is pushing his plan to reorganize the army of all the states and has occupied Roma. He sent an officer ashore to Greytown who found only one American citizen.

Another distinct feature of the situation is the removal of agitation for the formation of a negro party.

Steps preliminary to organization were taken at a meeting of colored men in the province of Oriente.

Another distinct feature of the negro party is the removal of negroes from the army.

Gov. Estrada has been removed from the post of reorganization and has been replaced by Dr. Jose M. Diaz.

LOST REGISTERED LETTERS FOUND IN QUEER PLACE

Missed From a Mangled Mail Bag, They are Recovered From Car Trucks.

It does not appear likely that the disappearance of registered packages indicate a robbery of the mail. This was demonstrated on The Overland Limited train No. 2 Friday, November 6th, when a package of five registered letters from Schuyler disappeared between that point and Omaha.

The mystery of the lost package was as strange as its disappearance. The Schuyler pouch is picked up from a crane by means of a pouch catcher as the train passes. This pouch catcher is attached to the mail car and hooks onto the pouch suspended from the crane as the train passes. In this particular instance the pouch was picked up from a good catch and the pouch fell under the wheels of the train and was cut in two. The mail was scattered along the track for a considerable distance, but the five registered letters, which were in a packet, could not be found when the other mail was picked up. The impression of odds prevailed that the missing package had been found and kept by some one and it was reported as lost.

Postoffice Inspector L. A. Thompson was started out to investigate. His first visit was to Council Bluffs to make inquiries of the postal clerks on the car, and scarcely had he reached there when he received word that the package had been found. It was found by the car cleaner resting snugly on the truck under the dining car, where it had been blown or thrown when the mail pouch was flung under the wheels at Schuyler.

That the package was not injured in the slightest, nor jarred from its position on the truck, seems to indicate another tribute to the Union Pacific's unsurpassed roadbed and perfect track.

COUNTRY NEGLECTING THE CHILDREN.
The number of children in the United States recently ascertained by an investigation in Stockholm, Sweden (1.61 per cent) were applied to the schools of the United States there would be 273,700 children between the ages of eight and sixteen years, and the number affected with tuberculosis according to a statement of the National Association for the study and prevention of tuberculosis. As contrasted with this figure, there are only 11 open-air tuberculosis schools in operation in the entire country, and not under consideration, at the lowest estimate, even with all the schools now in operation and those proposed, accommodations will not be provided for four-tenths of one per cent of the children who need this special treatment.

Boy's Essay on Clothing.
Here is an extract from an essay, written by a boy in a London school: "I am a boy, and as such I am not obliged to wear a coat, but I am not a savage or native, which is a piece of cloth or a few leaves or feathers round the waist. In cold countries, same as Eskimos, the people wear clothes thicker than ours, do not have the icy cold air. They can skate all the year round, except about one month in summer. If they walked about like natives they would catch cold directly and die of bronchitis. We put clothes on when we are nearly as cold as bodies, some have capes coats and trousers, but women and girls wear hats and frocks to tell who they are."

The Fox a Necessity.
All through the markets of every Turkish city and village are little shops where the fox can be pressed and dried for a fox's fur. A man carries a skin and a stick and uses a stick with a brim, as his head must press the prayer rug a certain number of times during each prayer. As the head must be covered at all times, a fox or some other brimless covering must be used.

SECRET WORKERS
The Plan Upon Which Coffee Operates.

Coffee is such a secret worker that it is not suspected as the cause of sickness or disease, but there is a very sure way to find out the truth.

A lady in Memphis gives an interesting experience her husband had with coffee. It seems that he had been using it for some time and was invalid.

The physician in charge shrewdly suspected that coffee was the cause of the trouble, and ordered him to give up coffee. The doctor came to the hotel Continental, as the general was entering the hotel to attend a banquet. The man was arrested.

Later it was learned that he had married Verandah for Gen. Brun, minister of war.

The attempted assassination created a sensation. It occurred a few moments after President Fallières left the Hotel Bristol, near by, where he was calling on King Edward VII. The police and the public in the streets first thought that it was an attempt against the life of the president of the republic or King of Portugal.

Hundreds ran to the scene of the affray, and the officers sprang upon Gen. Verandah's assailant, who proved to be an Algerian.

Mrs. Taft's Secretary to Wed.

Pedro and the Prince

By ISABEL MOORE

(Copyright by Short Stories Co., Ltd.)

There was once a mighty King who had an only son; and opposite the palace lived a poor man named Pedro and his wife. The son of the King and the son of the poor man were of identically the same age and the name of each was Pedro.

One day the Prince told his father, the King, that he very much desired to travel, but that he would not be content to do so unless Pedro his neighbor could go with him.

Whereupon the King ordered two of the best and finest horses in the army to be prepared, one for the Prince and one for Pedro.

Then they started, the two boys into many beautiful and distant lands; and one day a great adventure happened to them.

They had dismounted for a rest in the shade of a large tree when the Prince told Pedro to mind the horses while he should go to search for a spring from which they could drink.

Pedro waited and waited, but the Prince did not return. Very much distressed, Pedro ran everywhere, seeking him, but, unluckily, he found Pedro at last, maimed, in the nearest city and, as he was passing by a pond where there were many water-women, he heard much laughter among them and they were saying:

"How foolish he is; he thought he was the King's son, and that he would in time be recognized by the King for his services!"

Presently, in his despair, as he sat on the bank of the stream watching them slip and rinse the clothes in the running water, Pedro said to himself: "If they have anything, all must the Prince, but where he might be hidden."

Again they laughed at him, but one of them, taking compassion on his trouble, bade him go to an old palace that was close by.

This he did immediately, feeling very grateful to the old woman, and entered the garden of the palace and looked about him. Nothing could be seen, however, except orange and lemon trees; and he did not meet with anyone.

Very quickly then did his feeling of gratitude give way, and he began to pluck the oranges and lemons and to throw them wastefully on the ground.

Imagine his surprise, if you can! The majestic fruit touched the ground, each orange and lemon was instantly changed into prince or princess who, until then, had been under the spell of the witches' enchantment.

And—what joy!—among that distinguished company was Pedro's Prince, Prince Pedro, or you may say it the other way around, for he, Prince Pedro, Pedro's Prince! At any rate, there he was as handsome and brave as ever, before whom Pedro prostrated himself on the lawn, completely overcome with joy and loyalty.

The Prince was no less pleased to find his faithful friend and subject, and raised Pedro from the ground. Then most tenderly did they express each other's love, and Pedro made up his mind to return to his own country.

The Prince said that he would gladly do so, but that he would take him one of the Princesses whom Pedro had disenchanted. So saying, he led the beautiful Princess by the hand, and, telling Pedro that she was his own chosen lady for wife and home, the Prince immediately knelt and kissed her hand with all royal courtesy, and yielded her home.

Then they proceeded on their homeward journey the next day.

After a long time the Princess became very greatly fatigued, and as there was no place to stop and where they could stop and rest, Pedro told them that they could take shelter and pass the night in a shed that stood in a garden that he had discovered nearby.

In the middle of the night he heard the witches in fits of laughter on the top of the shed, and one of them said: "What a foolish man he is! He thought he was going to accompany the Prince and Princess home! But the first thing that will happen to the Princess will be that she will find a handsome little mule, and she will have a great family to ride upon. On the morrow it will be turned into the ground; and whoever shall hear this and repeat it shall be turned into marble."

Although Pedro was angry and very much alarmed on hearing this, he kept silent.

Presently another witch said:

"From this mishap the Princess shall be delivered; but she will see a pear tree with very good pears on it, that she will desire to eat. As she eats them she will be poisoned; but whoever hears this and repeats it shall inevitably be turned into marble."

To this yet a third witch said:

"From this danger, the Princess shall be delivered; but she will see her marriage to the Prince, and shall take the disguise of a phantom and shall enter into their room through the window, and shall behold her as well as the Prince. But whoever hears this and repeats it shall inevitably be turned into marble."

As she finished speaking, the witches all flew off the roof of the shed and vanished into the darkness of the night.

The next day the three travellers resumed their journey, the Prince and Princess keeping very cheerful and refreshed by the delicious fruits.

And by-and-by they saw a dear little donkey standing at the gate in a field near the side of the road.

Of course, as was to be expected, the Princess instantly desired to ride upon it. But Pedro quickly—and, it seemed, without any effort—had Prince's most brutal wrench struck the donkey on the temple with a club that he was carrying for the purpose, and killed the donkey.

The Prince rebuked Pedro for this deed, and the Princess was very troubled. But Pedro said nothing by way of explanation.

And presently farther on they saw a wonderful pear tree loaded heavily with fruit. The Princess immediately expressed a wish to taste the pears. No sooner had she done so, however, than Pedro rushed on ahead, and, clutching the pears to the ground with his club, trampled them underfoot till there was not one left that was fit to eat.

They proceeded on till finally they reached the palace.

The marriage of the Prince and Princess was solemnized with great splendor, and an almost immediate after-dinner after the wedding dinner, that he must sleep on that first night in the room of the bride and groom.

The Prince protested that this was impossible—but that Pedro had in very truth lost his wits!

Pedro remained firm in the master, and said that it must be as he said. And finally, when it was, that he was permitted to sleep in the same sentinel, standing by the window.

Far into the night he saw the witch, like a phantom, sword in hand, come in to behold the Prince and Princess. Immediately Pedro drew his own sword, and a frightful struggle took place between Pedro and the witch. She never uttered a sound, however, without the least thought of so doing. Pedro struck the cheek of the Princess and drew blood. She awoke instantly with a cry of fright and pain, and began saying that Pedro was a traitor who wanted to kill her.

The Prince was wild with anger that one whom he so loved and cherished should be so bold, and announced that Pedro must die.

"O mighty and beloved Prince," said Pedro, "death is no terror to the wise; but unjust suspicion from those whom we love is not to be endured. Therefore, O Prince, before I lay my hand in Pedro's face, guidance to an outcast Pedro, I beseech thee, in the faith to one whom thou hast honored with thy affection in times gone by, that the King, thy father, will give a banquet to all his court. And at that banquet I will tell all there assembled of me, my seeming strange deeds."

So the Prince granted this last request of Pedro, and the King gave a great feast; and when Pedro was seated at the royal table,

When all had eaten and drunk their fill, Pedro arose in their midst and related to them all that he had heard the witches say the night when the Prince and Princess and he had sheltered under the shed.

As he began to recount what the first witch had said he felt his legs begin to give into stone.

As he told them what the second witch had said he was turned to stone up to his waist.

Not till then did the noble Prince realize the fate that was falling his favorite—the horrible catastrophe that was taking place.

He now implored Pedro to end his recital, saying that the whole misadventure must be forgotten. Pedro was more than enough badgered to remove every suspicion of Pedro's loyalty and love! With tears streaming down their cheeks both the Prince and the Princess begged him to cease.

Pedro, believing that he had better tell all, finished.

As his voice died away he stood silent before the court, a wonderful statue with beaming eyes.

PROBLEM OF FEEDING PIGS

Iowa Farmer Contrives Four Troughs That Are Filled with Equal Rapidity—Cut Explains.

The problem of feeding pigs is solved by an Iowa farmer, who writes the Homestead as follows:

"I have been using a device with which to stop pigs for a number of years now, and it has saved me time in filling troughs, and it does it faster than any way I have seen.

The illustration explains itself, but I will add a few pointers. By this means four troughs is 15 feet apart. A 22 foot trough is attached to the fence a couple of feet above the floor of the troughs, and stop placed into the four troughs by pipes. By this plan all troughs are filled with equal rapidity, and if the outlet of each pipe is bent it will shoot the stop half the

If it is possible, wait to select sows for breeding purposes until they have made considerable growth and exhibit the outstanding characteristics which they will have.

Get rid of your deadhead cattle for the market animals set in. It does not pay to carry them over, the producers should be permitted to stay on the farm.

The hog destined for the market has a short existence, and the profit upon him is in ratio to the amount of healthy feeding he is given. The young, growing hog should be pushed along, and the old sow fed well.

You keep your hogs in a pen all the time, don't expect to make any world astonishing profits. The hog is a natural grazer and fattens best and grows best when allowed plenty of exercise and opportunity to forage.

HOW TO TAKE HORSE'S PLUSE

Very Good Place is at Underside Jaw and Rolling Pinches Around Till Artery Is Found.

BY W. G. GILDERSON

The procedure is to make an automatic expansion and relaxation in the wall of an elastic tube—the artery—caused by the jets of blood pumped into those vessels by means of a force pump.

Each stroke of the heart is equal to one pulsation—viz., a rising and falling of the arterial wall. In health the average number of pulse beats per minute is about 36 to 40. The larger the horse, the slower and fewer the number of beats per minute.

A very good place to take the pulse is at the underside of the jaw. By rolling the tips of the fingers about a little they can bring it on the wall.

Don't press too firmly, nor yet too lightly. The animal must be kept still and quiet. In point of importance the "character" of the pulse must be the best guide. That is to say, the blood vessels impress us as feeling hard, soft, full, quick, small, wavy, regular or irregular.

These are niceties which require practice before they can be fully appreciated. In disease, pleurisy—the pulse can be found beating about 90 times per minute (depending upon the stage of the disease) hard, wavy and irregular.

In pulmonary apoplexy it may be beating 120 times per minute.

When properly taken it forms a valuable means of assistance in ascertaining the nature and progress of disease.

Small Piece of String Would Have Rendered Prospector's Long Journey Unnecessary.

There are situations worse than Gail Hamilton's famous "Twelve miles from a house." The man in this New York Telegram item, however, have found one of them. A party was washed up on the Bear river in eastern Utah, when a prospector came along one morning on a mule. He had his law book up, and the first seemed inclined to pass on without a word, but said and thought, however, he halted and gruffly quered:

"How far to Salt Lake?"

"About 100 miles."

"Traveled far?"

"About 200 miles."

"Get your law hurt?"

"No; it's just an infernal toothache, and I'm riding 500 miles to get it pulled."

We invited him down and one of the crowd got a piece of string round the tooth and jerked it out as slick as you please. The man was so grateful that he had caused dancing about I quenched.

"Why didn't you try the string before starting on such a long ride?"

"Best kind of reason, sir. I hadn't any string."—Youth's Companion.

FREED AT LAST

From the Awful Tortures of Kidney Disease.

Mrs. Rachel E. Heston, Texas, says: "I would be ungrateful if I did not tell what Doan's Kidney Pills have done for me. Fifteen years kidney trouble clung to me, my excretions being full of misery and foul, while whole days I was unable to go out of the house. My back ached all the time and I was utterly weak unable at times to walk without assistance. The kidney secretions were so bad that Doan's Pill restored me to good health, and I am able to do as much work as the average woman, though nearly eighty years old."

A young gentleman of our acquaintance, who had just reached the age of 21, was engaged to his mother for a train at a railway station, when he noticed a penny-slot weighing machine. He asked his mother a great many questions about it, and at last received permission to drop his bag and be weighed. Having obtained that important information, he said: "How much would I have weighed, mamma, if I had dropped in a dollar?"

Dr. S. F. Spohn, President of the Spohn Medical Co., proprietors of the Spohn's Distemper Cure, was recently elected mayor of Goshen, Ind., by a good majority. Mr. Spohn was for a number of years County Supt. of Schools, making such a record that his neighbors and friends, regardless of political lines, insisted on his accepting the nomination.

LUMBER OUTPUT

STATE FURNISHED ONE-THIRD OF COUNTRY'S WHITE PINE DURING 1909.

ONE OF "BIG FIVE" STATES

Wisconsin Is Second, With About 15 Per Cent—Valuation of the Output Falls Behind That of Last Year.

Washington, D. C.—Washington, Louisiana, Mississippi, Arkansas and Wisconsin, in the order named, constitute the "big five" in producing the country's lumber supply, whose valuation for last year runs far above that of the billion dollar mark.

Texas, Michigan, Minnesota and Indiana follow after the five states and others follow in decreasing amounts down to Utah, the lowest on the list, with Nevada and North Dakota, having little timbered areas not included.

While the total valuation of the production of lumber, lath and shingles production reached $541,545,640, this is a decrease of 23 per cent under the previous year's output. The mills reported manufactured $32,224,629,000 board feet of lumber, valued at $50,975,822, and 2,898,684,000 lath, valued at $5,791,328. Shingle makers turned out 12,196,483,000 shingles, valued at $24,178,450.

Yellow Pine From South.

The average value of lumber at the point of manufacture was $15.37 a thousand feet, $2.27 a thousand for lath and $2 a thousand for shingles.

Yellow pine of the south, which has been far behind in the lumber production for more than a decade, maintained its supremacy last year, contributing slightly more than 83 per cent of the total cut from all kinds. Douglas fir of the northwest ranked second and white pine third.

Oak and hickory maintained their relative ranks, but showed decreases of 25 per cent each, and spruce dropped 18 per cent.

Louisiana was the heaviest producer of yellow pine lumber; Texas, Mississippi, Arkansas and Alabama followed. The state of Washington supplied more than three-fifths of the Douglas fir cut, while the bulk of the remainder came from Oregon.

Minnesota produced about a third or the white pine, followed by Wisconsin with about 15 per cent and New Hampshire with 10 per cent.

Oak lumber now centers in Kentucky.

SIX STEERS SEEK HONORS.

Pride of Minnesota State Herds Sent To Chicago Show.

St. Paul.—Confortably placed in a special car with a private attendant, six head of blooded steers selected from the Minnesota Agricultural college to go on exhibition at the International Live Stock show which opens in Chicago today. The animals are the pride of the University stock farm, and most of them have won records of prizes and places when in similar exhibitions. They are in charge of H. C. Campbell, who will see that they are properly fed and handled up to the minute they go on the platform.

Chief of the herd is Grand Champion, a giant Angus bull, 2,000 pounds, which stood second at the national show last year, and which is fully expected by his backers to take away the blue ribbon this time. Disclosure, a Hereford, goes in the same class as the Hereford breed, and is a most attractive animal with winning points.

The other six animals, a Simmental and Prince Royal, are to be entered in the younger class from Minnesota, with Undulata, an Angus yearling who stood first in his class last year. Harry Hammon, F. W. M. Cutchen, Cande Hamlin and A. B. Steckley, vice presidents.

CANNON HITS BACK

SPEAKER MAKES VIGOROUS PLY TO CUMMING AT KANSAS CITY.

"INSURGENTS" ARE PRODDED

Uncle Joe Asserts That They Are Unlikely in Their Fight Against the Passage of the Payne Tariff Bill—Scores Champ Clark.

Kansas City Mo., Nov. 27.—Speaker Cannon last night stood up before the members of the Knife and Fork club and their guests and delivered his reply to the speech of Senator Clark on the tariff bill, and his methods made record in Chicago by Senator Cummins of Iowa.

After reviewing the wonderful material progress of the country since the adoption of the Dingley tariff law and the progressive legislation of the last ten years, Mr. Cannon insisted on the necessity for greatly increased revenues to meet the expenditures required by the great policies upon which the government has entered. The new tariff law, he said, would protect our industries and provide this to the dinner.

"Insurgents" as Agitators. Coming on to the "insurgents," the speaker continued:

"Now, gentlemen, there is only one thing we can do in the country and that is to forward to the country the era of prosperity such as we had from 1897 to 1907, and that is agitation for the mere purpose of agitation, without any well-conceived healthy purpose in view."

The senators and representatives who call themselves "insurgents" and who voted against the enactment of the Payne bill, voted to increase or maintain the duties on the industries and products of their own states and were protectionists for their own people, but they were opposed to protection for other people in other sections.

Majority Accepted Compromises.

"There was not one member of the Republican majority who secured in the bill as passed what he wanted and contended for President Taft. Senator Aldrich and myself all accepted more compromises than the so-called "insurgents" were asked to accept. Inasmuch as we wanted free lumber, and the others wanted protection on petroleum because they are the greatest independent oil producing district in the world. We were beaten, but we did not make our own interests the only interpretation of the Republican pledge to revise the tariff."

Revolts Themselves Out of Party. "Senators Cummins and Clark, I have read their out of the Republican party. Other sensitive gentlemen made the same complaint against President Taft. The senator does me too much honor. I have not the authority to say to whom I do not, but have I the disposition? I think I am the same of the president. I have been a member of the Republican party since it was organized, and I have never known of any man or group of men being cast out of any party except by themselves."

Payne Law Will Justify Itself. Speaker Cannon next took up the defense of the rights of the house, incidentally saying something scathing things about Champ Clark, and concluded as follows:

"The country waited from March until August for the enactment of the tariff bill. During that period, on account of the uncertainty, it has been conservatively estimated that the loss due to the halting of business and production amounted to ten million dollars ($10,000,000) a day. Since the bill is now passed, we are again in our country and imports from foreign countries have greatly increased, and day by day conditions are improving. The farmers, who comprise one-third of our population are stepping high and some of them are riding in automobiles. In mine and factory as well as in transportation and commerce, the opportunities for employment are daily growing better. The revenues of the government are constantly increasing. The Payne tariff law is not perfect—perfection resides in Deity alone—but I agree most heartily with Representative Payne of New York, who with the president of the United States, in his speech that the new tariff law is the best one ever passed under Republican leadership."

Neither Bryan, Cummings, LaFollette, Bristow or their followers claim that it can be changed during the coming session of Congress. They do not agree in one thing, namely, that they all agitate—and they are agitating—for additional tariff legislation, and as the car of prosperity drawn by 90,000,000 people moves on, they are seeking to hinder its progress by criticism and ridicule, and this too within three months of its passage."

"The demagogue we have always with us, and, as ours is a government of the people, the only way to dispose of him is to move on. The proof of the pudding is the eating of it; and I am perfectly willing to trust the verdict of a prosperous and happy people in the elections of November, 1910, after the new tariff law has been in operation for over a year."

Norwegians at Barnesville. Barnesville—The city of Barnesville, a city witnessed one of the largest Norwegian gatherings ever held in this part of the state, it being the meeting place of the Young People's Association of the Norwegian church. Fully 400 delegates were here. Prominent speakers of the day were O. E. Brandt, St. Paul; Revs. Vilhelm Ristad, Ferguson Falls; Jacobson, Fargo; Steinmann, Detroit; and N. B. Hanson, Barnesville. A concert was held in the evening and was the big event of the meeting.

YOUNG OSBY IS ACQUITTED. Duluth Boy Pronounced Insane, and Ordered to Asylum.

Duluth—"Not guilty of the ground of insanity" was the verdict returned by the jury in the case of Bjorn Ostby, charged with killing his father. The jury found that the young man was insane with homicidal tendencies. On motion of County Attorney Norton, Judge Cant ordered that Ostby be committed to the state hospital for the insane.

Minneapolis, Mich., Nov. 28.—Mrs. Harriet Hill, 21 years of age, was killed in a roadside 12 miles east of here. Her head was crushed. Frank Flitzpatrick stated that some one outside the house shot through the window and killed the woman.

THE TEST OF MERIT

Pine City People Are Given Convincing
Proof

No better test of any article can be made than the test of time and this is particularly true of a kidney medicine. Doan's Kidney Pills have stood this test and stood it well. What better proof of the merits of this remedy could you demand, than the statement of a Pine City resident who has been cured and stayed cured?

Read the following:

Mrs. Albert Glasow, 3rd St. west of Main St., Pine City, Minnesota, says: "For ten years I suffered from kidney troubles and was unable to find relief until I began using Doan's Kidney Pills. My back was weak and lame and when I stooped or did any hard work, I was caused a great deal of suffering. I was unable to rest and I arose in the morning feeling tired and languid. I was subjected to headaches and dizzy spells and any quick movement hurt on severe pain in my back. My husband finally received a supply of Doan's Kidney Pills at Breckinridge's Pharmacy and in a short time after I began their use, I was completely cured." (Statement given August 20, 1907.)

CONFIRMED PROOF.

On October 30, 1908, Mrs. Glasow said, "I gladly confirm the public statement which I gave in favor of Doan's Kidney Pills in 1907. They came here to visit their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Heineman. Their coming was somewhat of a surprise to Deer Valley people and the marriage was also secret."

Mr. and Mrs. John Neison, of Lisbon, N.D., arrived here Thursday, after being married at that place on Wednesday last. They came here to visit their uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Chas. Heineman. Their coming was somewhat of a surprise to Deer Valley people and the marriage was also secret."

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Gilling gave a Thanksgiving dinner to their relatives and friends and it was quite a large gathering, too. The long table was just loaded with everything that a good, old fashioned Thanksgiving dinner could call for and everyone done full justice to the meal. Mrs. Gilling is an excellent cook.

Alva Stevens lost a fine specimen of deer last Thanksgiving day.

He was on his way to the Gilling home to partake of a Thanksgiving dinner, when he seen a fine deer which he shot at and missed. This is something that does not happen very often when Mr. Stevens is on the trail. Better look sharp next time.

We are sorry to report that Dick Carson had a very bad accident.

He and his son were out after a load of stove wood and when coming home with the load he drove a double bitted ax into one of the logs. While driving on the rough road, the log containing the ax turned over and cut a deep gash in Mr. Carson's leg. A lady doctor from Pine City was sent
