Louis Fahrenholz, Jr., cut his knee quite badly with an axe last Tuesday. The Creamery Co. are putting in new pipe in their well this week.

John Botman is reported as improving and will soon be around again.

The feed mill that was temporarily disabled on account of the engine, is now running again as usual.

Shows of spring are numerous these days. Garden seeds are displayed in the store windows, and even the girls are playing ball.

Mrs. Bodlevand and little son of Foxborough, Wis., returned home Saturday after a short visit with her brother, John Lindgren and family.

Albin Solberg had the misfortune to have three fingers cut off while sawing wood for Wm. Smiley, Tuesday. He was taken to Rush City to receive medical attendance.

Otto Grote had the misfortune to lose his home and nearly all its contents by fire Wednesday during the high wind. This was one of the best homes in this part of the country, and is a sad loss to Mr. Grote.

Well, election is over. Everything passed off quietly the only change being in the office of Supervisor, John Johnson taking the place of Mrs. Holm. The other officers are as follows: Clerk, Henry Bidd; treasurer, John Lindgren; assessor, N. P. Johnson; justice of peace, John Norvall.

GOES TO CANADA

Charles Gabel, who owns valuable mining properties in Lenois, Ontario, Canada, will leave the latter part of this week for that country, so as to be on the ground for the spring work. He will employ in all a crew of about fifteen men, taking five or six from here. The property is owned by Mr. Gabel, but a big eastern syndicate will work the same. Gabel is to be found in Lenois.

GLENWOOD

Misses Anna Johnson and Carrie Soderberg, were shopping in Pine City business callers Thursday.

Miss Ella Kalb is visiting at the home of John Tate for a few days.

Ray Simms, of Route 2, was a Pine City caller Friday.

Mrs. Jesse Hammers entertained the Ladies Aid Friday evening. The sum of eight dollars was taken in, and a very social evening spent.

Will Stevens was a Pine City caller Thursday between trains. "And then some," as he missed his train. How did that happen Bill?

Messames Geo. L. and Geo. N. Stevens spent Monday afternoon at John Tate's.

Harry Palmer and wife were Rush City business callers Monday.

Lee Rowe, of the Rush City Post, spent Sunday evening at the home of John Tate.

Joe Parent is moving into the Amullier house, as he has rented that place for the summer.

Miss Ida Stevens spent last Wednesday afternoon with Esther Christenson. "Oh, you telephoned."

Mrs. Harry Mills is on the sick list this week.

Mrs. Hammers little girl was suddenly taken quite ill Friday night and the doctor summoned. We have been unable to find out the cause up to the present writing.

HOUSE BURNS

Wednesday, during the big wind which prevailed, the house belonging to Otto Grote, of Greeley, burned to the ground. The origin of the fire is unknown. It was one of the best houses to be found in that part of the country, and the loss is severely felt. Nothing was saved from the ruins.

ELECTION GOES WET

Pine City Goes Wet By 102 Votes. 177-75

WISEMAN ELECTED MAYOR

Old Council Is Retained, With The Exception of Jelinek, Holm Taking His Place

The election in this place passed off quietly on Tuesday there being a larger vote cast here than ever before. There was 252 votes cast which is ten more than were cast last fall.

The fight was mostly confined to the offices of President and Clerk, R. L. Wiseman was a candidate for re-election and John Jelinek, who was Trustee last year, the other candidate. For the office of clerk there were two candidates, Frank Pofori the present incumbent, and John G. Heywood. The question of license or no license was voted on and the wets carried by the vote of 177 to 75.

The following is the vote cast for the several offices:

President,	R. L. Wiseman	163
	John Jelinek	87
Trustees,	W. A. Sauer	156
	Aug. Klieker	240
	Peter Holm	156
	Aug. Larson	92
	A. Biedermann	92
Clerk	John G. Heywood	91
	Frank Pofori	159
Treasurer	Jas. D. Boyle	249

J. of P.	A. H. Lambert	245
	John Atkinson	186
	Otto Becher	60
Constable	F. P. McKusick	242
	J. D. Wilcox	251

During the day it was almost a settled fact that the ones in favor of license were on the anxious seat as it was feared the town was going dry, and they done all in their power, with the result as stated in the figures above.

Election is over for another year, and the Village is in good hands. We expect to see the Village make greater advancement during the coming year than ever before.

DEER VALLEY

William Stevens visited William Olson last Sunday and had a good time. Rose Darsheff, the school teacher at this place, has begun boarding at Deer Valley.

CHAFFEE AND RULE MATCH

Earl Chaffee, our local middle-weight wrestler, went over to Mora last Saturday night and won over Joe Rule, of Minneapolis, in two straight falls. The first fall was gained by Chaffee in fifteen minutes and the second in nineteen minutes. Rule is the same man that Henriks took on a week ago last Saturday night.

Minnesota Legislature

Proceedings at the Minnesota State Capitol for the Past Week.

St. Paul, March 10.—
Senator Ellwell introduced a university appropriation bill asking a total of $2,327,200. For the university profiting old chemistry building, $123,000; new pathology building, $200,000; laboratory building, $350,000; biology building, $350,000; fireproofing old chemistry building, $102,000; alteration of medical sciences building, $25,000; change ofillard hall to college of pharmacy, $75,000; equipment of Folwell hall, $5,000; maintenance of Elliott hospital, $153,000; law library, $10,000; care of campus, $5,000.

Wednesday night was labor night before the house and senate committees on workmen's compensation bills.

T. D. O'Brien, former judge of the supreme court, prefaced his defense of his bill, drawn for the Federation of Labor, by attacking the present legal system for gaining compensation for industrial injuries as "a relic of barbarism, an economic crime, a social evil, and worse than the mercer bill," and as deserving to be labeled as "an invitation to all who wished to end their lives to come to Minnesota, get a job and end all, in the assurance that their heirs, second cousins or sweethearts would profit financially by their death."

Mr. Wilson also indulged in a free-for-all debate with labor representatives present.

But even while he was bitterly attacking the O'Brien bill, he surprised his auditors by nominating, possibly facetiously, Judge O'Brien for the next governor of Minnesota, saying: "Judge O'Brien is the best citizen I know and I should be glad to vote for him for governor."

Ten o'clock closing for session except in the cities of the first and second class, including Minneapolis, St. Paul, Duluth and Winona, is provided in a bill introduced in the house by Representative J. F. Lee and putnam. Another bill is said to be coming providing for 8 o'clock closing.

St. Paul, March 11.—
The senate committee ground out recommendations for a good deal of important legislation.

The committee on university and university lands, Senator Ellwell, of Minneapolis, chairman, recommended for passage both the general appropriations bill for the university and the girls' gymnasium bill, appropriating $150,000 for a new girls' gymnasium. The good roads bill, introduced in the Minnesota state constitution, drawn by Representative R. C. Dana, providing a one-half mill tax for roads and bridges throughout the state, passed the senate by a unanimous vote.

An amendment by Senator Sargent, taking away from the state highway commission control of the disposition of the funds was adopted. It leaves with the legislature the right to name a body to exercise the money dispensing power.

By a vote of 51 to 31 the lower house refused to investigate the state central committee of the Republicans and Democrat of this state. Several members voting against the bill said there was no evidence of any irregularities in the handling of campaign funds.

The committee on general legislation recommended for passage the John P. Nash bill, which requires a state department of weights and measures and the Fowler bill regulating automobile traffic.

A bill to define what constitutes an "intoxicating beverage" was introduced by Senator Rutland. It provides that any beverage containing one-half of one per cent alcohol by volume at a temperature of 60 degrees above zero Fahrenheit, shall be classed as an intoxicating beverage.

St. Paul, March 12.—Initiative and referendum on an ultra-conservative basis, the Democratic idea as set forth in the bill introduced by Albert Egan of New Ulm, passed the lower house of the Minnesota legislature by a vote of 62 to 20. It grants to the people the right to vote on legislation by popular ballot but without restrictions which permit to safeguard the interests of the state, subject to the apathy of the voters on questions of law, provided the vote of 11 of the 24 Democratic members of the house and three opposing it explained that they did not do so because of the people's own districts. It received the vote of all the conservative Republicans and enough of the radicals to permit its passage. Many of those who voted the radical Campbell bill explained that although they did not favor the Egan measure they believed in the principle of initiative and referendum.

HARVARD PAPER SUPPRESSED, ANOTHER POISON MYSTERY.

Caricature of Rev. Lyman Abbott and Eva Tangany Sars Trouble.

Cambridge, Mass.—A comic drawing showing Rev. Lyman Abbott, editor of the Outlook, and Eva Tangany Sars, the cyclone comediennes, linked arm in arm and labeled "Human A. Sars." Has caused the suppression of the Harvard authorities of this week's issue of the Lampoon, the famous Harvard comic weekly.

Others pronounced it worthless. G. W. Brown, in opposing the bill, said it was a disgrace to the state of Minnesota and that he did not propose to hold responsible for its passage. J. N. Johnson, P. N. Converse, R. L. Palmer and Rufus P. Morton, in opposing the measure, said it was a disgrace to the paper it was written on and that it had been so complicated by amendments that they were not sure of its content.

The Campbell bill, which was defeated Thursday, only provided petitions signed by 10 and 7 per cent of the voters about the initiative and referendum. It required only a majority of the votes cast on any measure to carry it and it allowed the people to bring a vote on constitutional amendments.

Brewery interests were said to favor a bill introduced in the senate by Senator Putnam, who indignantly denied the charge and stated his reasons for thinking his bill a good one.

Senator Putnam, a county opponent, however, who brought the charge. It was a bill to give 100 people a right to incorporate as a village. The present law requires at least 200. Senator Putnam charged the bill was framed to permit small bodies of men to incorporate and establish a saloon, against the wishes of a majority of the voters. It was developed, on the spur of the moment, one of the hottest fights of the session.

The bill was voted on and lost, 21 to 19.

An institution to reform "straps, vagrants and wife-deserters by humane and scientific course of teaching and instruction" was provided for in a bill introduced by Senator Boyle of Duluth. The cost of the institution is to be $100,000.

The second bill provides that any one who "deserts his wife in need and necessitous circumstances, or his children, shall be liable to a workhouse sentence." The second bill provides for methods of teaching them to love their own wives and to return to them and to live happily ever after.

Good Roads Bills Passed.
The Democratic good roads bills as amended by the state passed the house by a unanimous vote. They need only the signature of Governor Burdick to become law. The bills contemplate state aid and supervision for the building of good roads through Minnesota. One bill authorizes a vote to be taken on a constitutional amendment which would levy an annual tax of one mill for the building of good roads. The other bill appropriates $10,000 a year for maintenance of the state highway commission. This bill contemplates the placing of a large force of competent road engineers in the county districts to superintend all road building.

St. Paul, March 14.—George A. Ralph, state drainage engineer, who is under investigation by the state legislature, was on the witness stand before the house committee. He was called by C. E. Warner of Aitkin to explain his conduct relative to ditches No. 66 and 95 in Aitkin county.

Mr. Warner charged the witness to explain particularly the charges that there were irregularities in the location of the ditches, the letting of the contracts and the payment of the state money before any work had been completed.

Representative Pfander, chairman of the committee of public accounts and expenditures verbally recommended the passage of a bill compelling the secretary of state to submit bills for the legislature and to refer to the sub-committee a white-report which enumerated the secretary for paying 35 cents for tags on the grounds that there was no evidence submitted that the tags could be obtained more cheaply.

Congressman W. S. Hammond of the Second District was a guest of the house recommended the creation of senatorial Spooner was asked to make a brief address.

Representative Vorland introduced two bills designed to do away with a monopoly in the lumber business and in the sale of grain seeds in Minnesota. It makes it a misdemeanor for a lumber or seed company to charge more for its product in one part of the state than in another, allowing the natural difference in price caused by the distance of the market from the place of manufacture.

The Watson bill raising the salaries of the members of the state board of control from $3,000 to $4,500 was reported out without recommendation by the house committee on appropriation. Similar action was taken on the Brown and Hill appropriations bills in the state dairy and food department. The committee bill on the fringe bill appropriating $5,000 for the support of the state naval militia.

SMOKE LAW GOOD

CITY ORDINANCE PLACING LOCOMOTIVES UNDER BAN IS UPHOLDEN IN DECISION.

OF THE STATE SUPREME COURT

Prohibition of Soft Coal Inside Minneapolis Limits Defeated Binding—City Authorities Pleas—At Finding.

St. Paul.—Minneapolis has obtained from the state supreme court what it long has waited for, a decision upholding the city in its assertion of the right to regulate the use of the smoke nuisance. The decision is rendered in the case of Minneapolis vs. the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad. The company was prosecuted because of its engine burning soft coal, emitted great clouds of smoke.

The railroad held the city had no right to prevent use of coal in its engines, not to distinguish between locomotives and stationary engines. The decision, this morning gives the city the right to do both.

It means, according to City Attorney Fish, that the city now can proceed to frame and pass the new smoke ordinance, the regulations of which are more rigid than those of the present ordinance now upheld. The principal change in the new ordinance would lessen the burden of proving responsibility and will probably regulate the class of coal to be used in stationary engines.

"It is the best thing that has happened to the city in many months," said Mayor Hayes. "It gives us police power and right to regulate the coal used in both locomotives and stationary engines. It gives us the right to proceed with our new ordinance. Within a very few months the clouds of smoke that have been regularly present in Minneapolis will have disappeared for good."

Following is a syllabus of the decision:

1. The validity of a provision in a city ordinance, expressly authorized by the legislature, does not depend upon the expediency or public policy of its enactment, but upon its validity within the legislative power of the state.

2. The emission of dense smoke by yard and switch engines, being caused by the use of soft coal therein, a prohibition of such use within a populous city is substantially related to and necessary to the prevention of the nuisance—the emission of dense smoke—and is an exercise of the police power of the state within constitutional limits.

3. Where there is a substantial difference in the condition or situation of individuals or objects with reference to the subject embraced in a law, an appropriate limitation based on such difference in the application of the law does not make such legislation partial.

4. The fact that a prohibition of the use of soft coal in locomotives does not apply to stationary engines, does not make such prohibition partial legislation, there being obvious differences between the two classes of engines, as respects to the tendency of burning soft coal to cause a smoke nuisance, and other appropriate legislation having been enacted by the city to prevent the emission of dense smoke by stationary plants.

"I am glad," said Smoke Inspector Allen, "the supreme court has officially ruled for good police power in the nuisance class and given us police power of regulation. It is excellent also that the court allows us to legislate separately for locomotive and stationary engines for the same rules can not be applied to both.

"Police regulation will also give us authority, I believe, to make the railroad companies take out a license or permit for each locomotive. This is not a gain money, as the fee would be nominal, but to make it possible for us to fix responsibility by simply taking the number of the engine. In granting licenses the number and owner of license would be entered in a city record which would stand in the courts. It means that our hands no longer are tied."

"The decision," the syllabus of which I have read, seems to give the city reasonable police regulation power," said City Attorney Fish. "Smoke Inspector Allen's statement that the city council smoke committee and myself can get together on the new ordinance with a knowledge of just how far we can go."

John Crosby, chairman of the citizens' anti-smoke committee, was immensely pleased in hearing of the decision. He declared a meeting of the citizens' committee would be held very soon, and with the decision in hand, would take out a license on the engine in an endeavor to make every possible use of the authority conferred by the court.

HIBBING TREASURY DEPT. STRONG

STATE DEBT IS ONE MILLION.

Part of Cost of Capital Unpaid Is Minnesota's Only Obligation.

St. Paul.—The total state debt of Minnesota is now $1,000,000, representing the total cost of construction of the new capitol. Capitol certificates amounting to $850,000 were taken up by the state treasury, but the balance of $150,000 from the revenue fund to the permanent school fund. The money will be available at once for loans to counties and municipalities of the state.

The taking up of these certificates, was accomplished under a law passed a few days ago by the legislature. There are on hand approved applications from counties and towns to absorb practically all of the amount transferred.

The balance of the cost of the capitol, amounting to $1,000,000, is the only debt the state has and there is money in the cash box now to pay off that, but such an operation would cramp the treasury for several months.

WOULD ISSUE MORE BONDS.

Fergus Falls Seeks to Provide Funds for New Dam.

Fergus Falls.—The city council received the report of the committee that was being considering the new dam project, on Monday. The city attorney to draw up a bill to be presented to the legislature to enable this city to issue bonds to the extent of $500,000 for the construction of the dam.

The city is already authorized to issue bonds to the extent of $500,000, at its assessed valuation for the purchase of the waterworks and electric light plant and 5 per cent for other purposes, so that if the proposed bill goes through it would be authorized to issue a total of 20 per cent on its valuation.

Interesting Land Sales.

Casa Lake.—One of the most interesting land sales in this vicinity was made recently by the Canadian Pacific, Regina, Canada. Marks purchased a quarter section of land from Mr. Koll for $35,000. Great interest attaches to the sale, inasmuch as the city attorney to draw up a bill to be presented to the legislature to enable this city to issue bonds to the extent of $500,000 for the construction of the dam.

W. W. MAYO IS LAID TO REST.

Simple Services Mark Burial of Venerable Rochester Physician.

Rochester.—The funeral of the late Dr. W. W. Mayo was held from the residence of his daughter, Mrs. M. Berkman, on Monday afternoon. The services were simple and attended by the personal friends of the family and other residents of the city.

Gets $4,000 for Husband's Death.

Little Falls.—In the district court here in the case of Sophia Lendgren vs. the Northern Pacific railway, in which the plaintiff asked for $5,000 damages for the death of her husband, who was killed by a train near Little Falls, on December 18, 1910, the jury brought in a verdict in favor of the plaintiff for $4,000.

INDIANA MAN HELD.

Publisher of Northfield Daily Bulletin Accused of Embezzlement.

Northfield.—John Wood, alias J. H. Ward, was arrested here at a prominent hotel on Monday by Indianapolis authorities for alleged embezzlement and the forfeiture of a bond.

A woman said to be his wife was with him. They last saw him well and traveled in the best of circles. Wood some days ago started the Northfield Daily Bulletin, a newspaper which has taken an active part in the present municipal campaign for the west interests.

It is said by the authorities that the Indianapolis police have traced Wood from that place to California, back to Minneapolis and thence to Northfield. He posed while here as a solicitor for stock in an insurance company. His wife denied all knowledge of any crime which the authorities are holding him for, and said she had met him in Indianapolis and married him there last fall.

AUSTIN TESTS SEED CORN.

Big City Water Reservoir Nearly Completed; Will Connect Next Month.

Austin.—The Austin Commercial Club has made arrangements for the testing of seed corn free for the farmers of this locality and over 100 bushels were brought in last week. The individual ear test is made, the work being in charge of Professor W. J. Rhoades of the Lyle agricultural school, in connection with the Austin high school.

The immense reservoir for the new water supply is nearing completion and the main lines are all laid except a few blocks in the city. The supply comes from Sargent's spring, two miles from here, which has a flow of 1,500,000 gallons daily.

RAILROAD MAN WRITES

REMARKABLE LETTER

In 1903 and 1904, I was a terrible sufferer for about five months with kidney and bladder troubles. I could not sleep nights and was obliged to get up ten or fifteen times to urinate. I passed mucus and blood continually. One doctor said I was going into consumption and gave me up to die. Had two other doctors but received no help from either of them and was sure I would have been in my grave had I not seen your advertisement in the "Daily Eagle Star." After taking several bottles of Dr. Klinger's Swamp-Root I was entirely cured.

In the last two years I have been a railroad freeman and have passed two examinations for my kidneys successfully, so that I know that my kidneys are in excellent condition now as a result of your great preparation, Swamp-Root.

Yours very truly,
GEORGE KENSLER,
1001 E. 10th St.,
Marquette, Wis.

Personally appeared before me this 20th of September, 1910, George Kensler, who subscribed the above statement and made oath that the same is true in substance and in fact.

HENRY GLASS,
Notary Public,
Door County, Wis.

Prove What Swamp-Root Will Do For You

Send to Dr. Klinger, Co., Bangor, Minn., N. Y., for a sample bottle. It will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling all about the kidneys and bladder. When writing, be sure and mention this paper, and send your advertisement to the Daily Eagle Star and send-enclosed.

FAMILY PRIDE.

Work—And how are we getting on with our studies, Ernestine? Have you been promoted to the fifth grade yet? Little Miss Quacker—Oh, no, professor. Mother has decided that I shall not take that course. She says anybody can fly—but only the best families take to water naturally.

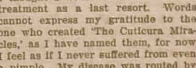

Ever since I can remember I was a terrible sufferer of eczema and other irritating skin diseases. I would lie awake all night, and my suffering was intolerable. A specialty humor settled on my back, and being but a child, I naturally scratched it. It was a burning, itching sensation, and utterly intolerable. The fact was so that I could not possibly forget about it. I did not take long before it spread to my shoulders and arms, and was almost covered with a mass of raw flesh on account of my scratching it. I was in such a condition that my hands were tied.

"A number of physicians were called, but it seemed beyond their medical power and knowledge to cure me. Having tried numerous treatments without deriving any benefit from them, I had given myself up to the mercy of my dreadful malady, but I thought I would take the Cuticura treatment as a last resort. Words cannot express my gratitude to the one who created the Cuticura Remedies as I have named them, for now I feel as if I never suffered from even a pimple. My disease was routed by Cuticura. I have not had a relapse, and I shall never cease praising the wonderful merits they contain. I will never be without them, in fact, I can almost dare any skin disease to attack me so long as I have Cuticura Remedies in the house. I hope that this letter will give other sufferers an idea of how I suffered, and also hope that they will not pass the Cuticura Life Saving Station." (Signed) C. Louis Green, 323 Chestnut St., Philadelphia, Pa., Aug. 29, 1910.

THAT WAR SCARE

There is no use in speculating. It is quite evident that the massing of the 20,000 soldiers on the Mexican frontier with four months rations is not just a matter of play war. It is a move in the great game of international politics and the nations of the world approve of the plan. Just why it was done; just why the move was so sudden; just why it came immediately after the adjournment of Congress; just why the great nations of the world have nothing to say about it all has significance. It is evident that the world powers with but one possible exception—namely Japan—expected the move and were notified that it was to be made in advance; that it was planned for some days; that it was certain; that it was necessary as just as sure and that it will in the end prove to be the wisest thing that could have been done is undoubted. The time for the move was well chosen. It came within a few days after Washington had vomited out a few of the cheap skates who have made asses of themselves by opposing the administration for the past two years. Had it been done earlier there would have been an immediate demand on the part of some of the Taft haters in the Senate for a disclosure to that august body of the reason and for the correspondence which has passed between the State Department and the foreign nations, no matter whether it might injuriously effect the interests of the nation or not. The best minds of the diplomatic world seem to concur in the belief that the move was a proper one and it is undoubted that the move just at the time it was made will forestall trouble which might have involved the powers of the world had it not been made. There are several large games being played in the diplomatic world just at present and this is one move on the checker board. Those who have predicted a war with Japan within the next two years will probably have another guess coming just now. There is absolutely no doubt in the minds of many who have been watching the trend of international affairs that there has been more to the talk that has been going on about trouble with Japan than those in official positions would be willing to admit. It is even asserted that Japan was secretly attempting to negotiate with Mexico just at this time a treaty of a secret nature giving to the Japanese government a coaling and a naval station in Mexico. There is no question but what such a scheme if in incubation will be thwarted by this move just now. Mexico has some troubles on her hands and the insurance companies have made overtures to Japan beyond all question. The United States will not only see that peace is maintained in Mexico and a stable government maintained but its government will stand as it always has stood ready to enforce the Monroe doctrine. No foreign nation will be permitted to acquire an inch of territory or establish a naval base on American soil or within our sphere of influence. The United States will never annex Mexico or any other territory which does not belong to it but on the other hand it will never allow its neighbors to endanger our property as to the Monroe doctrine means and it is not only good law but common sense. Your Uncle Sammie is not sleeping all the time, and our President has demonstrated his right to the title "On the Job Bill."

wicked attack not upon Ballinger, but upon the administration is also known but President Taft openly states in his letter that he realizes that the assault was intended for him and not for the unlucky member of his cabinet, and he openly takes the responsibility for having retained the Secretary. He throws down the gauntlet to those who have been striking him from ambush and dares them to come out into the open and show their hand. Yellow journalism and muckraking magazines have been untiring in the assaults upon Secretary Ballinger and the man personally has been crushed and ruined in health and fortune. He will now turn to the courts for his vindication as an American citizen, and it is certain that he will be vindicated. The President has by his fearless manly course endeared himself to all honest men who love a "square deal." President Taft may have his faults but cowardice is not one of them.

Now, do not lose your temper over the fact that the administration at Washington stands committed to the proposition to raise the postage on the advertising sections of the magazines to a rate which will at least pay a part of the expenses of carrying the mass of stuff which these magazines crowd into the mails. The howl that has been sent up by the cheap magazines and the trust that controls them has deceived many people. The real situation is simply this. These magazines have been receiving a subsidy in the form of cheap postal rates from the government for some years and they hate to give up the pail they have been receiving. The cry that the additional cost will come out of the reader is all booh. The reader will not pay any more for the magazine than he is paying now. The 10 cent magazine is dear at any price. The people would be better off without many of them for that matter but there is no reason why the government should be taxed and why we should pay a two-cent postage rate simply to keep these magazines in circulation and fatten the publishers of these cheap magazines. If they paid a reasonable postage rate letters could be carried in the United States for one cent. If they paid a reasonable rate the mails would not discriminate against the newspaper and in favor of the magazine. If they paid a reasonable rate they would not escape the just burden which their business should bear. Many people do not understand that on the short haul where the magazines can send their publications cheaper by express than they can by mail they use the express companies, but this is the fact. They use the mail to carry their publications where the government loses money on every mile they haul them, but where there might be a chance for the government to break even they send the magazines to distributing points by express. Why don't people look at both sides of this question? If the government must subsidize the magazine to keep them all going, then let some of them go down. The government doesn't pay any part of your expenses, why should it pay the magazines expenses? President Taft will push this matter before the next congress. He is satisfied he is right and he will defend his convictions.

It is a pretty good plan to judge a man by the enemies he has. It is also a good plan to judge the merits of a measure by the fellows who are supporting it. Just now the papers that make their living by publishing the advertisements of mail-order-houses are pushing the post bills to a nicety. What does this mean?

It has been proven that the Payne-Adair bill is responsible for the "hobble skirt." The high cost of living made a corseting of the amount of cloth used in a dress necessary. The sensible ladies and the cheap girl haven't thought of changing the brevity of their apparel to the same cause but there can be no doubt that when Eve put on her first fig-leaf dress she felt that because of this wicked Payne-Tariff bill which a wicked Republican Congress would pass in the degenerate times of the twentieth century, she couldn't afford to get too extravagant a fashion. With the priority law is extended to the entire state ticket you will be unable to tell to what party you belong from reading the platform framed up by the bunch looking for office, and it won't make much difference how you vote, you will be voting for men not principles. Politics will then be a scramble for office with more corruption to the square inch than we have ever had to the square mile heretofore. If you don't believe it look at states the have tried. If you believe in decent politics see that your representatives in the legislature vote against extending this pernicious measure.

HAVE you noticed the lack of black headlines which has been a feature of the present junketing trip of Colonel Roosevelt? It is apparent that as a star performer and as a sensation the Colonel has seen his best day. About this time he may reasonably be expected to say some unreasonable thing or do some dare-devil act for the purpose of getting back in the black letters of the press. The Colonel made the mistake of his life when he went up against the public in his last campaign. The people are not all daffy on public questions.

SO COLONEL ROOSEVELT is for the "Initiative and Referendum under proper restrictions." That is safe. A fangless rattle snake and a heel-less mule may be perfectly safe under reasonable restrictions but they have to be robbed of the vital force that make them snakes and mules. Just so with this Populistic heresy. If you rob the "Initiative and Referendum" of the things which make it dangerous and unrepugnant it would be perfectly safe but to rob it of these characteristics so perfectly emasculates the plan that there is nothing left to it but a ghost. It is the principle that is wrong. The only restriction which would render it safe would destroy the principle and leave us where we are now. The good sense of the American people will see that this is done.

Sending a Man to Coventry.
The expression "sending to Coventry" had a military origin, according to the London Chronicle. It arose, so it is said, in the days of Charles I. when the inhabitants of Coventry strongly objected to any intercourse with the military quartered in their town, and a woman known to speak to a man in a scarlet coat was at once the subject of scornful remarks. So rigid were the natives that the soldier was confined to the mess room for conversation. Thus the term "sending a man to Coventry" if you wished to shut him from society took root on the English language.

To Incline Toward Mercy.

Jim had been far from a good boy during the day and toward night had realized the fact fully. Being well acquainted with the workings of family discipline he essayed a little diplomacy.

"Shall you tell father about me?" he inquired of his mother.

"Certainly I shall tell him," responded his mother, with sorrowful firmness.

"Shall you tell him before dinner or after dinner?" asked the child.

"After dinner," was the announcement.

"Mother," and Jim gave a wriggle of anticipation, "couldn't you give a blueberry pudding for his dessert? Couldn't you do that much for me, mother?"—YOUTH'S Companion.

THE 5000 3/4-INCH ROOFING BOARDS ARE SPLIT FROM 18-INCH LOG LENGTHS

COMPLETED, THE DIMENSIONS OF THE HOUSE ARE 16 X 18 FEET

His creative genius and the constructive ability of Robinson Crusoe, as portrayed by the vivid imagination of DeFoe, have been paralleled in the real life of the pioneer, even during this final period of frontier reclamation. It is satisfactory to undertake to verify the proverbial ingenuity of our forefathers in a story that tells of what is being done in a very large way by a few industrious homesteaders in Uncle Sam's remaining wilderness. "Fifty miles off the railroad," in either direction, describes a few isolated spots that may be pointed to on a very modern map of the United States. One of these is in Arkansas, among those extremely southern rugged spurs of the Ozark mountains. It is of the very little territory yet remaining to be taken up under the homestead laws. Its boundary is Hot Springs to the east, Mona to the west, Gula to the south, and Walden to the north. In the heart of this territory, in a jumble of the Brushy range, you may still build a house and boast of your isolation, for, indeed, it is possible to reside from 16 1/2 feet and there is a second story and also a kitchen and bathroom annex. The wing is eight feet wide and extends the length of one end of the house.

The main living room is most ingeniously arranged for both convenience and comfort. It is at once convertible into either a sitting room, a dining room or a bachelor's den. In one corner of this room is a broad, turning staircase, easy to ascend, with a rustic balustrade, artistically designed—all made of young hickory. The variegated colorings of the natural bark appear as if oxidized, which lends a feeling of soft warmth and comfort. The cozy corner is diagonally opposite the staircase. Its overhanging shelves are at once a gallery of interesting photographic studies and a miniature museum of natural history. They are a repository for a collection of queer freaks of vegetation, fascinating bits of strange mineral formations, brilliant plumage of rare birds, hawk's claws, antlers and a variety of curios.

cutting one of them a pleasant reminder of a little adventure or of an exciting chase through the forest. The cozy corner is fitted with a mission seat and all its appointments are in the same style and design. Within this corner one may enjoy the all-pervading solace of knowing the reality of one's surroundings. The imagination is undisturbed by the vision of a furniture factor's process of imitating the craftsmanship of the pioneer. A mass of cushions, some filled with pine needles and others stuffed with wild-duck feathers, create a desire to tarry for a rest in good, old-fashioned comfort. A gun rack, cartridge belts, holsters and other of the articles of a hunter's paraphernalia decorate the walls on each side of this inviting nook. Tables, chairs, bookcase and writing desk are all in accord and all hand made of raw materials. A few clever articles of convertible furniture lend considerable freedom and convenience in a room that otherwise would be overcrowded. Among these is a screened dummy elevator which takes the place of cellar and refrigerator and which may be readily converted into a kitchen table, when required, in carrying meats, breads, dough and for other culinary purposes. The elevator carriage is four feet in height, with a series of shelves, and it is so constructed that it forms a square panel in the floor when the carriage is lowered out of view. The whole thing is so well balanced with weights operated by cords and pulleys that it requires but little effort, with one finger in an iron ring, to raise the top to table height above the floor.

The dining table is cleared after supper and supplied with a new cloth, all fresh and clean. Then it is rolled on its large castors to another part of the room, directly under a hanging lamp, to serve the purpose of a library table for the remainder of the evening. The lamp is suspended, through a hole in the floor, from the ceiling of the bed chamber on the second floor. When all are ready to retire the lamp is shifted to the sleeping apartment by means of the raising-and-lowering device.

The most marked display of ingenuity has been applied to the kitchen furnishings. Everything but the cook stove and pipe is home made. Lard pails and vegetable tins have been converted into cooking dishes and utensils of every description. A goodly amount of creative genius and a two-dollar soldering set produced all of the tinware used in the kitchen. On the stove is a cotchenee pall that has been converted into a teapot, complete with spout, handle, cover and inside strainer. Two deep tin covers, soldered together at their rims and supplied with spout and handle have produced a very serviceable hot-water kettle. Then there are stove lifts and shovels, frying pans and a number of other small articles made from sheet iron stove-pipe lengths—all bent, soldered and riveted by hand.

Both the kitchen and the bathroom are supplied with running water conducted to the house from a spring higher up through a system of wooden troughs. The bathtub is of wood, enameled with white paint.

Dare to Be Happy.

Let us never be afraid of innocent joy; God is good and what he does is well done; resign yourself to everything, even to happiness; ask for the spirit of sacrifice, of detachment, of renunciation, and above all, for the spirit of joy and gratitude, that genuine and religious optimism which sees in God a Father, and asks no pardon for his benefits. We must dare to be happy and dare to confess it. Remembering ourselves always as the depositaries, not as the authors of our own joy—Aniel.

WORD FOR THE FRIVOLOUS

No situation is intolerable if one is Able to See the Fun in It.

"Og being able to see it to be too early one and not too high a value upon sobriety," says Margaret E. Sangster in the Woman's Home Companion. "hold a brief for pure fun. Laughter is wholesome; mirth does more good than medicine. Not merely when we are on a holiday, but in the midst of the daily round we are the better for an interlude of amusement. The person who was born without a sense of humor is intolerable if one can see the fun in it. When I hear or see condemnation of a girl's raucy, I am forced to the conviction that the grave censor never had a girlhood worth the name or also was born under a baleful star. Immoderate giggling belongs to a transient phase and should not be reproved when children are in their early teens; rather it should be rebuked in the adult and look back in tender recollection on their own days of such thoughtless delight. Be as frivolous as you please, dear maiden and matron, in the sunnier days and be assured that in its place frivolity is the sunshine that dances on the wave. Some of the most potent persons people one meets, people solemn and severe, and given to frowning, are fools underneath their masks. Some of the most hearted, great and most winsome in their capacity for seeing fun and making it are among the great and why if one has no native sense of humor, one should endeavor by every legitimate means to acquire it. An evening spent at a play which from the first act to the last activities with least and irresistibly provokes mirth is a boon to the soul; so, too, is an hour with a novel in which the serious underlying purpose is illumined by flashes of fun on a summer day or a winter afternoon."

Platonic Marriage

Omitting sentimental platitudes, and getting right down to practical, day in and day out, three meals and military existence, marriage is not an unhealthful relationship, says Erman J. Ridgway in the Deliberator. A man may protest, and he may believe. If he is very young and ardent, that he is "making this woman" in the light and cheerful, and make happy; but he "wades down his instincts. If he troubles to look, he will find a condition that this singular woman will make a good home for him, and honor him among his fellows; that she will cater to his patriarchal aspirations in providing a family; and that in her he will continue to find through the years sweet satisfaction for his soul and body human. The conviction may be unconvincing, but it is there. If when a fair-voiced lady-lover she were to answer: "Yes, I'll marry you; if you will agree to platonic marriage, no children, no love-making; room in a hotel; and an allowance," an old dude might as well begin to look for the wheels of a wheel chair, for a woman like this would probably take to his heels. There are probably a few things which, if a woman knew she was going to make them in the marriage relationship, would send her flying from it.

English Policeman Ever the Same

The first thing one notices on going ashore for a few hours at Port Said, is an illustration of the methods of that British race, whose most notable and admirable characteristic is their ability in the governing of alien peoples. An English policeman, in the uniform of the khedive, protects men from the yelling boatmen, with the same imperturbable good humor with which I am so familiar in Piccadilly or the Strand. His countenance changes slightly under different circumstances. When he marches alongside the ten thousand stragglers early to all their shames, both physical and vocal. When he conveys thousands from the East End to Hyde Park he is more serious, but here again he looks, in his steady, patient, unshaken, an abuser, even to them. On the boat landing at Port Said he seems more bored, as if a man tired of brushing aside flies, but his behavior is ever the same.—Price Collier in Scribner's.

Righteousness of Right, It is extremely important for a German to step from his belt with the right foot. The man or woman that does not will have to look all day long. The explanation is, of course, that right is lucky.

"Hill, gentle hand and by on my right hand," says Goethe in "Faust and the Fox." The righteousness of right is a superstition as old as Rome. The Boston Asses market had the same use of the language to the end of the conversation with his wand, dividing the space in two. If the birds appeared on the left side of the stream, the ass was unlucky, and vice versa.

Smeration Dies Hard. Asked the other day why their steamer was so late in reaching Glasgow, a number of names gave it as their emphatic opinion that it was because two copies were part of the freight conveyed by their vessel. It was useless to point out that other steamers had also experienced bad weather; the sailors stuck to their opinion.
