Splendid Opportunity Offered Farm Boys.

The following, which was handed us by the County Auditor, Mr. Hamlin, should deeply interest every boy living on a farm in Pine County. It follows: "A letter has been received at this office, stating that the officers of the State Agricultural Society have adopted a plan whereby one boy from each county may attend the State Fair next September, and have all his expenses paid for the week.

In order to prevent favoritism or charges of favoritism in the choice of the particular boy to represent this county, it has been decided to put the selection into the hands of a committee of three, consisting of the County Superintendent of Schools, the Chairman of the County Commissioners, and one other, to be named by the State Fair Board.

The plan involves the following provisions:

1 One boy will be selected from each county through the submission of a competitive essay.

2 Railroad fare, board and lodging for the week will be paid by the State Agricultural Society.

3 The boys will be carefully supervised and guarded throughout the entire week.

4 Boys who are bona fide residents upon a farm and between the ages of sixteen and nineteen only will be accepted.

5 Special lectures on corn, seed grains, live stock and farm machinery will be a part of each day's program.

6 Opportunity to inspect the splendid educational features offered by the fair will be a part of the work.

7 As a partial remuneration for the expense of the undertaking to the fair, each boy will be required to take his turn in ushering in the grand stand and live stock pavilion. This will give him an opportunity to witness all of the special features before the grand stand and to be in close touch with the judging work among the stock.

The work will be under the personal direction of Mr. E. C. Higbie, Supt. State Fair Farm Boy's Encampment, and he will be assisted by men selected from the agricultural institutions of the state and the State Young Men's Christian Association Association."

PIONEER DIES.

The following account of the death of L. W. Folsom is a clipping from the Hinckley Herald.

"L. W. Folsom, formerly of Taylor Falls, died in Hinckley last Saturday at the advanced age of 90 years, 6 months and 29 days. He had lived at Taylor Falls since 1852, was born in New Hampshire, Sept. 25, 1821, was a lawyer, banker and lumberman in business, and was one of the pioneers of the state in its early affairs.

He was married to Miss Abigail Thaw, in St. Paul, April 18, 1859, and is survived by his widow and four sons; Jacob J. Folsom, of Hinckley, Walter, of Little Falls, Howard, of Sandstone, and Morris D., of Minneapolis.

Services by the Masonic Order were held at the residence in Hinckley, Monday afternoon, and the remains were shipped on the N. P. Limited the same afternoon to Taylor Falls where interment took place Tuesday. The past two years of Mr. Folsom's life were spent in Hinckley and up to within a short time of his death he was active and robust for one who had reached such a ripe old age. In the passing of Mr. Folsom, 50 years of the early history of Minnesota is vividly brought before us.

—FOR SALE—60 acres in sec. 30, and 40 acres in sec. 24. Inquire of V. Linbert.

SANDSTONE HONORS LATE WAR VETERAN

Sandstone, Minn., April 23—The last rites were paid here this afternoon to August Parish, late president of the village council and veteran of the Civil war. The funeral was held from his residence and was largely attended by soldiers and Masons from different parts of the state. All stores and business places and even the schools were closed during the hours of the funeral.

Mr. Parish was 64 years of age and had been a resident of Sandstone since the fire. At his death he was serving his second year as president of the village council. He was a member of Company C of the Eighth Minnesota in the Civil war and several of his comrades from Stillwater were present at the funeral. He is survived by his aged parents who live at St. Cloud, his wife, two sons and three daughters. —Duluth Herald 4-24—

DEER VALLEY

Mrs. Bruce and young son were in Rock Creek Saturday, driving in with Steve Gillig's son, as the Bruce horses are too heavy for the road.

Mrs. Hendrickson and daughter were out to the Creek Friday and brought home with them a number of young apple trees which Mr. Hendrickson will plant in his orchard giving him 150 trees some of which will bear fruit next year.

A. E. Stevens, E. J. Heineman, Luther Harvey and Gen. Stevens with three team and two trucks went down to Rush City a week ago Wednesday after a large 25 horse power boiler that A. E. purchased from the Johnson Hardware Co. With this boiler A. E. can do more work as he can now add a plow to his machinery. They left the boiler on the trucks at Rush City to remain until the roads get better.

A SIGN OF THE TIMES

One of the best indications of the feeling existing among the masses is the large genuine and honest sentiment that exists for the return of Roosevelt to the Presidential chair.

It is a sign of the desire to keep things stirred up to attempt to frighten big business with a big noise.

The slogan of Roosevelt's henchmen is that he would turn things upside down in Wall street.

It can not be claimed that he would be more progressive than Taft, for he did not get half the progressive legislation that Taft has secured.

It can not be claimed that the trusts would be any more afraid of him than of Taft, for more convictions have been secured and more prosecutions commenced than under Taft, and big business is unfriendly to the President.

It cannot be claimed that he would be more likely to reduce the tariff than Taft, for he always steered away from it during his term, while Taft has just started on what promises to be the greatest era of tariff reduction that has ever occurred under a republican administration.

It cannot be claimed that he would keep his pledges better than Taft.

It certainly can't be claimed that he would dignify the office more than Taft, for under Taft the words "bully" and "liar" have become obsolete.

Roosevelt would be there with the big stick and the big noise. That would be certain, but that's what a lot of people want. It is the unrest that is in the blood—a desire to pull everything down before starting to build up. —Cottage Grove Sentinel—

The idleness of boys when they leave school—an idleness which is not necessarily willful, but often compulsory because unable to find some position to their own or their parents' liking—is one of the most fruitful sources of vice in this country. In our large cities especially, hundreds of boys and young men are wasting energies which they are anxious to devote to the conquest of a respectable position in society, and therefore to the public good; but they know not what to do. It would be a blessing to this country were such boys and young men compelled to serve in the army or navy, as is the custom in several European countries, for it would remove them from their families and the degrading influences of the street for a term of years, and teach them habits of obedience, cleanliness and order. —Prison Mirror—

RESOLUTIONS

The Pine County Teachers' Association in Convention at Hinckley, Minn. April 23, 1912, offer the following resolutions: Resolved:

1 That we tender the sincere thanks of this organization to the School Board, Superintendent, Faculty and Domestic Science Department of the Hinckley Public Schools for their generous entertainment.

2 That we thank those who have contributed time and effort to make this meeting a success; especially Dr. Colgrove and Prof. Mayne for their addresses.

3 Feeling that our school system should not be mixed with politics and that the office of County Superintendent of Schools should be raised to a higher standard, we recommend that the office be made appointive rather than elective.

4 That a copy of these resolutions be sent to the various papers of the county, and also that a copy of resolution 3 be sent to the secretaries of the various sectional associations of the state.

Respectfully submitted,

THE SPANISH BULL FIGHT

By Fred C. Ingleston.

The Matador, cloak in hand, leaps back again, advances from the barrier, and calls to the toro with a quick little cry, Hoi! Hoi! he darts around angrily, pulls up dead, and surveys his enemy, some twenty feet away, who holds his capotes in both hands, directly in front of his body. To snort and charge at the cloak and the man is the work of a swifter second than was ever told by clock. Where is the bold torero? In pieces! Not he. Without moving his feet the breadth of a hair, he swings his cloak out to the right with both arms, and the deadly weapon that would transfix a three inch oak board has grazed the golden ribbons on his jacket, and the danger is thirty feet away. The bull, as soon as the violence of his onrush allows him, turns and repeats the charge, to pass again beneath the enemy's arm, and again and again, till the eye turns giddy at the lightning-like movements; and at every turn of the valiant fighter makes that indescribable, graceful bend of his lithe body, and swings out his capa with unerring art. The masterpiece is yet to come.

On the bull's charging for the seventh time, the torero gives an abrupt half turn, trails his cloak over his shoulder, and walks deliberately away, the toro starting stupidly after him without attempting to follow. The victory of man over brute intelligence is triumphantly declared. Amid a tempest of applause, just like the rattle of shingle on a stormy beach. The hero of the ovation, with a modest wave of his hand, presses his montera to his head and seeks new worlds to conquer. The ice is broken, the toro snorting and pawing the sand, is spoiling for another duel. Nor does he have long to wait. The picadores, while the previous incident was in progress, have cantered around the arena, and pull up almost facing him. One of them is ordered to picar; (charge) and the man arranging a bandage over the right-eye of his nag, half frightened beast and resolutely advances, followed by the impatient exhortations of the multitude, who gibe and jeer without stint, if they suspect him to be flanking. Sacas mas vara up anchaderecho! (lengthen your lance and at him) they yell.

The bull, three yards or so away, sniffs, drops his head, and half a yard of horn is in the horses chest; both animal and rider rolling over and over, the man, as safety obviously demands, keeping to the side nearest the barrier, the horse bleeding profusely from the ghastly hole and struggling desperately to rise to his feet, between him and the bull. The bandage has fallen off, and the pence's eyes are wild and terror-stricken. But there is life and vitality in him yet, and while an espada performs the quite, which consists of drawing of the toro with a graceful turn of his capa, the wise monkeys rush valiantly out of the barriers, and flog him, trembling in every limb to his feet. The rider curses him, prods him angrily with the garrocha, and remounts. Again the bull is ready, as are the horse and rider. At the second pic the heart is touched, the horses I mean, not the spectators; The victim, as soon as the shock is over, and the bull is again drawn off, does not fall, but the picador, who ought to know what has taken place, dismounts. He has felt the death stroke of the beast, and sure enough from close behind the fore leg the bright arterial blood begins to issue, at first in little jets, then spouting with the volume of a hose. The stricken animal rocks dully to and fro, and falls to the ground, twitching his ears and moving his lip convulsively. A mono sabio relieves him of saddle and bridle, plants his foot upon his head, and taking out a small puntilla from his shirt, drives it into the base of the braid and shakes it, a desperate kick or two, the eyes grow dim, the lip drops showing the teeth and all is over. The mono sabio extracts the puntilla wipes it on the poor jumeligo's hide, and attaching the halter to his neck prepares him for the mule team.

The first of the moritri has fallen, and the populace, intoxicated with carnage, are roaring for more bloodshed. (Continued next week.)

Pine City vs Lindstrom.

The first game of base ball played here this season was played by the high school team with the Lindstrom high school team, on the diamond on the north side of the river, last Saturday afternoon.

The locals had decidedly the best team and after the first inning the only thing to speculate on was how big a score they would get during the nine innings.

When the smoke cleared away after the last Lindstrom player was out at at the end of the first half of the ninth inning, the score stood 18 to two. The two scores that the visitors secured were gotten on errors, one by Clark Pennington, a wild throw to first, and the other a wild throw to 3rd by Babcock.

The names of the players of each team, and the batting order is as follows: Pine City, Babcock, s. s.; Yost, 3rd; Clark Pennington, c.; Cunningham, p.; Wm. Pennington, 1st; Stekl, 2nd; Gordon, c. f.; Fitzgerald, l. f.; Cherrier, r. f.; Lindstrom, Alvin, c.; Peterson, 3rd; Ole, p.; D. Swanson, s. s.; G. Swanson, l. f.; Victor, 2nd; Strand, 1st; Abrahamson, c. f.; Plyan, r. f. Cunningham the pitcher for the home team had the visitors at his mercy allowing but four hits and striking out 13 of the boys from down the line. The locals bunched their hits and made hits when they counted.

The game was too one-sided to be interesting, as each of the home boys made safe hits, and each one scored some of them two and three times. This game, the first one of the season, showed that Pine City high school has a much better team this year than they had last, and if any high school team in the association defeats them this spring they will surely have to play first class ball.

Tomorrow afternoon, if the weather permits, the boys go to Rush City to play the high school of that place.

Good Oil Makes Good Paint.

THE most important part of any paint is the linseed oil. Without pure linseed oil, paint will in a short time dry up, scale off, and leave the lumber exposed to the action of the weather. The only way for the manufacturer to be sure of the quality and age of the linseed oil is to make it himself. Minnesota Paints are made from our own Minnesota Linseed Oil. This is what makes it better, as the linseed oil is never out of our control until it is sealed up in the can and shipped as Minnesota Paints. In Minnesota Linseed Oil we grind pure White Lead and XX New Jersey Zinc, the two best paint pigments known. The grinding and mixing is done with the latest improved heavy machinery by expert workmen, supervised by practical paint men whose experience has extended over forty years. Do you wonder that have been known for forty years as "The Best Paints Made." We make "A Special Paint for Every Paintable Surface." The cost per can has nothing to do with the cost of paint. Figure how much surface a gallon will cover and protect satisfactorily. Minnesota Paints, on this basis, are the cheapest paints on the market.

DARK DAYS.
Are Days of Suffering—They are Becoming Brighter for Some Pine City People.

Many "dark days" from kidney ills. Backache, headaches—nervous tired, urinary trouble—makes you gloomy. Doan's Kidney Pills bring relief, have cured many kidney sufferers. They are endorsed by Pine City people.

Mrs. Otto Swanson, North Pine City, Minn., says: "Twelve years ago I began to suffer from kidney complaint and I underwent an operation, thinking that it would cure me. I grew worse, however, and my health became all run down. The kidney secretions caused me great distress and I dared not do any work that obliged me to stoop, owing to the pains in my back. My head ached and dizzy spells occurred frequently. At such times I was unable to see plainly and everything before me became dark. One day I happened to read of Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box at Breckenridge's Pharmacy. They did more for me than all the other medicine I had taken in years and am now enjoying much better health." (Statement given August 31, 1907.)

AFTER THREE YEARS.
In October 1910, when Mrs. Swanson was interviewed, she said: "I can still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills heartily and my faith in their merits is shown when I say that I always keep a supply on hand. Doan's Kidney Pills are the most effective kidney medicine I know of."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

SYNOPSIS.

Garrett Coast, a young man of New York City, meets Kathleen Blackstock, who invites him to a card party. He accepts, although he dislikes Blackstock, the reason being that he is in love with Katherine Thraxter, Coast's former sweetheart. Blackstock is the university of her friends. At the party she meets two named Dundas and Van Tyl. They quarrel and kill each other. Van Tyl dies. Coast struggles to wrest a weapon from him. He succeeds, but he is convicted, but he is innocent. He is released. Dundas names Blackstock as his murderer. Coast goes to see Katherine. She tells him that she has been waiting for him. Coast goes to see Katherine. She tells him that she has been waiting for him. Coast goes to see Katherine. She tells him that she has been waiting for him.

"Not entirely," he was saying, still with his evil secret smile. "I don't mind telling you, since you're curious, Mr. Coast. I did have the devil's own time with my eye for a while, and believed I'd lose my sight entirely; I honestly went abroad on my account alone. One of the few honest actions I took, by the way, if you don't find the interpolation obnoxious."

His laugh rang bitterly in Coast's hearing.

"My friends the German specialists, however," he resumed, "worked wonders; I found my strength of vision returning, but was temporarily amused to continue the make-believe; it was immensely diverting for a time. I received consideration that I wouldn't have otherwise, and I saw a lot of good things to see. And then, slowly, as I began to see more and more clearly, I realized the immense advantage it would give me to keep on pretending. You can figure it out yourself."

A slow, dark flush colored Coast's face. "Then," he said, "I saw a lot of good things to see. And then, slowly, as I began to see more and more clearly, I realized the immense advantage it would give me to keep on pretending. You can figure it out yourself."

"You mean you're going to try to escape in that boat?" Coast nodded toward the craft in question without removing his regard from Blackstock.

away, apparently infuriated by the man's harsh and scornful accents, and mechanically Coast had been restraining him.

Instinctively in the falling light he made out the tall, gaunt figure of the chairman poised with lifted arms on the gulf of the boat, preparing to give the signal for the launch to start. And he received a vague impression that the boat itself was rising slow in the water. At first he failed to make the connection between the two. Then, as he watched, Coast's mind and entered the water as neatly as an arrow, with barely a perceptible splash.

"You see," commented Blackstock with a note of impatience, "I thought I'd remove at least one burden from your already overstrained brain, to laugh at me."

"Partly, Mr. Coast, partly. There were other reasons. One was I don't leave you any choice, which you'll allow is pretty decent of me, considering the rotten way I've treated you. I don't kill in cold blood without a pretty good reason. Van Tyl's mouth had to be shut, you know—or rather, you don't know why, and I was threatening to split on the game here, so he had to be taken care of. But you—"

"Thank you!" he cried despite himself.

Blackstock laughed again, by all means enjoying himself immensely. "You're not taking a simple measure toward self-preservation—obeying Nature's first law, and all that sort of thing? I want you to stick here until tomorrow morning, at the earliest, that gives me a chance to make a clean getaway. Why should I leave you the means to gum up my plans? Thanks, I'm many thanks to you, I know, but not that bad!"

"You'll never leave this island free," Coast muttered.

"Oh, what's that? Oh, you think not—so? Believe me, my gay gallant, I'm wise to all your banking on it. It's true you had me guessing for a time—I wasn't sure about you at first, that immature beard you've been growing recently is quite some disguise, and besides you'd changed your way of talking; his lordship's languid drawl was missing, and you look like any other ordinary nut, out of your pretty clothes—but I got your number in due course of time. That break you made about the gun when I was pulling my bluff about knowing people by the feel of their faces—you forgot yourself then, and I hadn't any more doubts. I did some last night before I got completely top, but a little work with wireless rounded the story out. You see, you had the yam of the Corsair's trouble down pat and still for it to be without a grain of truth, you gave me the means to go on."

"Then why—"

"See for yourself," Blackstock nodded.

Coast turned to look—retaining with some difficulty his grasp upon the dog collar. Intermittently while Blackstock talked the blind colle had been making vicious attempts to break

"What the devil is your putting at me?" he demanded hotly.

"You," returned Blackstock, unmoved. "I had an idea you were making a move at my little boat, I decided to deliver you from temptation, and sent Chang out to scuttle that now—just a strong twist of the wrist and out comes our big jug and in comes the water and—down she goes!"

Coast, choking with despair and rage, in silence saw the prediction verified to its bitterest letter. Then he swung back to his tormentor, quivering with indignation even as the dog he had gulvered and strained against restraint.

"Thank you!" he cried despite himself.

"Considering what I've been up to, when was the likeliest guess? I wasn't sure until you gave it away. Just now—merely satisfied such was the case. Well, as I was saying, I worked the wireless pretty steadily—was happy enough to pick up a message to the girls—a revenue cutter. I take it—ordering her here to bust up a neat of smugglers, and spiced that gun with another message, a couple of hours later, revoking the order as being based on false information. And, finally, I got my friends on the mainland to make up a little party to fetch me off, so all things being pleasant, as afternoon tea, I came down to float over you a little. Hope you don't mind."

"Why," said Coast—"since you'd made up your mind about me—why did you hold off this long? To laugh at me?"

"Partly, Mr. Coast, partly. There were other reasons. One was I don't leave you any choice, which you'll allow is pretty decent of me, considering the rotten way I've treated you. I don't kill in cold blood without a pretty good reason. GOPHER NEWS NOTES.

Minnesota Events of the Week in Condensed Form.

Cedar Falls, Iowa—Miss Sainson has returned from the state teachers college here, where she was in the normal training department of the normal at Winona.

St. Paul—Eight thousand and five hundred acres were sold by Theodore Nelson, in charge of the land sales office of the state auditor's department at the auction, ranging from 10 to 34. The average price was $8.

Hastings—Henry Zinn, an old resident of Hastings, aged seventy years, while presumably in an unbalanced state of mind, created a sensation by making a high dive from the steel bridge over the Mississippi river, a distance of about 75 feet. He was unhurt.

Washington—A delegation of Cass Lake Indians was given a hearing on Representative Lindbergh's bill providing for additional allotments of land to each, to members of this tribe, to place them on the same footing as the Indians on the White Earth reservation in Sweden in a northern part of the state. He inquired about the soil near Bruno, Pine county. Mr. Maxwell said he would tell Mr. Lindbergh to send his copy papers, for had been tested, and that Sweden grows abundantly in Pine county as in other parts of the state.

Duluth—More than 3,000 acres of state land were sold at the state sale here. The sale was the first of the year in St. Louis county and was conducted by Theodore Nelson, manager of the land sales department of the state auditor's office. While a majority of the tracts disposed of were sold at about $5 an acre, some of the parcels were sold for $25. About 150 bidders were present.

Hinckley—Col. T. W. Folsom of Taylor's Falls, Minn., died at his home here of a sudden, following a short illness from pneumonia. He was nearly 91 years and had lived at Taylor's Falls since 1832. Colonel Folsom was one of the earliest bankers of the state, an intimate of the state builders of a generation ago and for years a leader in business affairs of this region in lumbering and otherwise. He was married to Miss Abigail Shaw in St. Paul, April 18, 1859.

Bekman—Potato and alfalfa experts, who have been looking over the country in the vicinity of Lake, have informed the farmers of this vicinity that the soil around here is admirably suited for the growing of prime potatoes and an abundance of alfalfa. It is possible to get the very best kind of potatoes without blemish, and the richness of the water to the surface is ample proof that alfalfa will grow here as well as any place in the great northwest. A large potato warehouse, with a capacity of 25,000 bushels, is promised for this coming fall.

POINTER HERE FOR FARMER

One Good Thing, at Least, That He May Place to the Credit of The Auto.

The farmer may not appreciate the automobile, but he must admit that although the automobile touches only one side of the farmer's life, it has taught him a very valuable lesson in economy. Especially where he has a great deal of stock, he can save a great deal of money by using the auto.

The automobile, in a word, has taught the farmer that, just as plants from plant life and other parts just as completely as the most expensive power can.

WOMEN AND HEALTH.

Women are beginning to realize more fully that good health is not to be found in the use of cosmetics and face powders. The appearance of health may follow facial treatment, but health itself lies much deeper than the surface.

Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin is a tonic laxative, mild in its action, pleasant to the taste and positive in its effect, strengthening the muscles of the stomach and bowel so that a short time these organs retain the power to perform their natural functions without assistance.

What Happened?

"Yes, I am going to kiss you when I go!"

"Leave the house at once, sir!"

Health is the fashion. Take Gardell's Tonic. It builds up the blood and brings good health.

HAPPY THO' MARRIED?

There are unhappy married lives, but a large percentage of these unhappy homes are due to the illness of the wife, mother or daughter. The feelings of nervousness, the befogged mind, the ill-temper, the pale and wrinkled face, hollow and tired eyes, these are the most common of these disorders peculiar to women. For Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription restores weak and sick women to sound health by regulating and correcting the local disorders which are generally responsible for the above distressing symptoms.

STRAUS AND WIFE DROWN TOGETHER AS VESSEL SINKS

Wife Refuses to Leave Husband and Couple Die in Each Other's Arms.

ASTOR IS ONE OF HEROES

New York Millionaire Puts Bride in Boat, Then Aids Other Women—Gets Down in Ship With Other Men Without Murmur or Complaint of Treatment.

New York, April 13.—A picture of Mr. and Mrs. Isidor Straus clinging to each other after the last boat was gone was revealed by Mrs. Schabert of Derby, Conn., who, with her brother, was rescued. Mrs. Schabert had stateroom 23 on the starboard side.

"It was a crash, but not a great one, it seemed to me that awakened me," she said. "When I went on deck I said to a steward: 'Are we going down?' He answered calmly, 'Madam, I guess we are.'"

"An officer on the bridge or near it was shouting out, as the lifeboats were being got ready. 'Women and children first!'"

Saves Her Brother's Life.
"They tried to get me away from my brother and put me in a boat. I refused to go without him. Finally my brother and I stood alone in our part of the ship. A boat was just leaving that had room for two more passengers. The officers in charge said to me:

"Well, if you won't leave your brother, he may come too."

"We got into the boat and, by hesitating, I saved my brother's life. Mrs. Straus had a chance to be saved, but she refused to leave her husband. As our boat moved away from the ship—it was the last boat of all—we could plainly see Mr. and Mrs. Straus near the rail with their arms around each other.

"The lights of the Titanic were all burning and the band was playing. To me the most affecting episode of the whole disaster was that final glimpse of this elderly couple awaiting the end together.

Three sailors of the Titanic, who were standing near Mrs. Schabert, spoke up at this moment to say: "You know the Titanic just crawled up on that iceberg and broke in two."

Astor is One of Heroes.

"The conduct of Col. John Jacob Astor was deserving of the highest praise," said Colonel Gracie of the regular army, who narrowly escaped drowning. "The millionaire New Yorker," he said, "devoted all his energies to saving his young bride, who was in delicate health."

"Colonel Astor helped us in our efforts to get her in the boat," said Colonel Gracie. "I lifted her into the boat, and as she took her place Colonel Astor requested that the second officer go with her for her own protection."

"No, sir," replied the officer; not a man shall go on a boat until the women are all off."

Goes to Aid of Other Women.

Colonel Astor then inquired the number of the boat which was being lowered away and turned to the work of clearing the other boats and in reassuring the frightened and nervous women.

"By this time the ship began to list frightfully to port. This became so dangerous that the second officer ordered every one to rush to starboard. This we did and found the crew trying to get a boat off in that quarter. Here I saw the last of John B. Thayer and George B. Widener of Philadelphia."

Mrs. Astor Not in Danger.

While utterly exhausted from her experiences, Mrs. John Jacob Astor was declared tonight by Nicholas Biddle, a trustee of the Astor estate, to be in no danger whatever. Her physical, however, had given orders that neither Mrs. Astor nor her maid, who was saved with her, be permitted to talk about the disaster.

On landing from the Carpathia, the young bride, widowed by the Titanic's sinking, told members of her family what she could recall of the straits of the disaster.

Thought Husband by Her Side.
Of how Colonel Astor met his death, she had no definite recollection. She recalled, she thought, that in the confusion as she was about to be put into one of the boats, the colonel was standing by her side.

After that, as Mr. Biddle recounted her narrative, she had no clear recollection of the happenings until the boats were well clear of the sinking steamer.

Mrs. Astor, it appears, left in one of the last boats which got away from the ship. It was her belief that all the women who wished to go had then been taken off. Her impression was that the boat she left in had room for at least fifteen more persons.

Clear and Startle.

Mrs. Edgar J. Meyer of New York said: "It was a clear and startling night. When the ship struck we were in our cabin. My husband went out on the deck to see what was the trouble. He came back and said we had hit an iceberg, but that it did not amount to much. I said I was nervous. We went on deck for a walk. More people said the accident was of no importance. It would only delay our arrival."

"I was afraid and made my husband promise if there was trouble he would not leave me. We walked around the deck a while. An officer came up and cried: 'All women into the lifeboats!'"

"My husband and I discussed it and the officer said: 'You must obey orders.'"

Decided to Separate.
"We went down into the cabin and we decided, on account of our baby, to part. He helped me put on warm things. I got into a boat, but there were no sailors aboard. We called to the ship that there were no men in the boat. They sent a sailor down to us."

"An English boy and I rowed four hours and a half. Then we were picked up at six o'clock in the morning. We got into a boat, but there was no man aboard. We heard the screams of the people left on the boat."

"There were about seventy widows on the Carpathia and the passengers did all they could for us. Mrs. Harris says my husband and Mr. Harris and Mr. Douglas lowered the last lifeboat full of women. All three were perfectly calm."

Fights to Save Wife.

Mrs. Daniel W. Marvin of this city, who was on a honeymoon trip with her husband, was almost prostrated when she reached the dock and learned her husband had not been picked up by some other boat.

"My God, don't ask me too much," she said; "tell me, have you any news from Dan? He grabbed me in his arms and knocked down men to get me into the boat. As I was put in the boat, he cried:

"It's all right, little girl, you go and I will stay a while. I'll put on a life preserver and jump off and follow your boat."

"As our boat shoved off he threw a kiss at me, and that is the last I saw of him." Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Allison of Montreal and their daughter were drowned, their ten-month-old baby, a boy, and his nurse were saved. Mrs. Allison was just about to jump into a lifeboat when the nurse and baby were when she discovered her husband was not with her. She went back to look for him and did not return.

Green Lantern Saves Many.

Henry Stengel of New York said it was only the foresight of a member of the boat crew who was quick-witted enough to match up three green lights that saved a number of the lives of those adrift in the life boats.

"These green lights," he said, "shining through the darkness enabled the other boats' crews to keep close together in the ice filled waters."

Stengel put his wife in a boat and then followed. He said that early the next morning, shortly after they had been picked up, they saw floating far away a signal of danger; with two peaks shining in the morning sun. This was the berg that sent the Titanic to the bottom, he thought.

Jumped Into Sea; Picked Up.

E. Z. Taylor of Philadelphia, one of the survivors, jumped into the sea just three minutes before the boat sank. He told a graphic story as he came from the Carpathia.

"I was eating when the boat struck the iceberg," he said. "There was an awful shock that made the boat tremble from stem to stern. I did not realize for some time what had happened. No one seemed to know the extent of the accident. We were told that an iceberg had been struck by the ship."

"I felt the boat rise and it seemed to me that it was riding over the ice. I ran out on deck and then I could see the ice. It was a veritable sea of ice and the boat was rocking over it. I should say that parts of the iceberg were eighty feet high, but it had been broken into sections, probably by our ship."

"I jumped into the ocean and was picked up by one of the boats. I never expected to see land again. I waited on board the boat until the lights went out. It seemed to me that the discipline on board was wonderful."

DISORDERED DIGESTION

If Neglected May Develop into a Severe Form of Stomach Trouble.

The Best Safeguard to Keep the Stomach Tamed Up and the Treatment Should Be Begun When the First Symptom Is Noted.

"A few years ago," says Mrs. George Fall, of Philadelphia, Minn., "I began to suffer from stomach trouble. It came on me gradually and I do not know what caused it. I gave little heed to it at the time, thinking that it was merely a slight attack of indigestion. It finally developed into a severe form of stomach trouble and I suffered terribly for months."

"At the beginning of my sickness I had fainting spells and became unconscious. There was gas on my stomach, my appetite was very poor and what little I ate did not seem to be digested. I was sick at my stomach a great deal and had severe dizzy attacks. I had had meals when it would seem as though I was burning up. I could not sleep night or day during these spells unless I took something to ease the pain. I was very weak and was in this condition for six months. I could not do any work and was confined to bed for two or three days at a time."

"A doctor at Duluth said I had gastric fever. He did not give me much help so I tried Dr. Williams' Pink Pills upon my stomach. I gave the pills a thorough trial and unlike the doctor's medicine, they agreed with me. I took several boxes of the pills and was entirely cured. I think so much of the pills that I always keep them in the house."

"The tonic treatment with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills by building up the blood so that it can nourish and strengthen the weakened digestive system has made hundreds of cures in the most severe stomach disorders. This record of cures should merit a trial for the remedy which is guaranteed free from opiates."

A new edition of the booklet, "What to Eat and How to Eat," is free on request. Send a postal for it today and begin to cure yourself by following the directions it contains.

GENUINE "BULL" DURHAM SMOKING TOBACCO
Forty "rollings" in each 5c muslin sack

In quaint old Durham, North Carolina—that's where the story starts; That's where those goldenleaves first grew in the sunny fields of Greene's farm. That's where they first filled those simple muslin sacks with good, sweet, native tobacco—fifty-two years ago.

No thought then of fancy packages—nor of "processes" for improving on Nature.

Just surprisingly good tobacco! That was what they had discovered—that was what interested those critical Southern smokers who gave a rousing welcome to "Bull" Durham as the greatest tobacco they had ever tasted.

And then the soldiers came. They came—and smoked—and were captured!

Scattering to their homes all over the nation they carried the fame of this wonderful smoke.

Wasn't that Durham postmaster busy with letters from up and down the land asking how to get more of that "Bull" Durham!

And—for over half a century, just because it's so downright good—it's been earning and winning and holding new friends, both among pipe and cigarette smokers, faster than any other tobacco ever grown.

THE real wonder-story of the tobacco that smoked by more millions of men than all other high-grade tobaccos combined—

NEVADA has "Come Back" Strong

The State that gave us the "Mother Lode" some fifty years ago is going to be one of the garden spots of America. The hundreds of millions of dollars they took from inside the earth in that Mother Lode will look like a penny-bank when they spread the irrigation waters on Nevada's sagebrush plains. Get in on the ground floor, and get in now. Don't wait, don't hesitate.

will take you there. A Low Round-Trip Homeseekers' Excursion Fare will be in effect on the first and third Tuesdays of each month during 1912. Land that has been leaving at 25 cents an acre, will, under irrigation, be worth thousands of dollars to you in a few short years.

There is no argument; there's no question about it! Idaho, and Utah, and Colorado, and a dozen other states have done it—and Nevada will. You have asked for your opportunity? Here it is. You wanted your chance? You've got it. This is the start—the beginning. It is the very bull-eye of opportunity in a state that is comparatively new. It's the chance of little capital and shrewd brains. One dollar now will do the work of a thousand later on.

The lands listed below are owned by the Southern Pacific Company. They offer them to Homeseekers at from $2 to $6 per acre, on ten years' time, one-tenth cash, 6 per cent interest on deferred payments.

25,000 Acres in Elko County, near Deeth—90 per cent, dry farming lands and the balance grazing lands.
5,000 Acres in Lyon County, near Churchill, which are subject to cultivation under dry-farming methods.

Come down to the Union-Southern Pacific today and learn about them and the wonderful irrigation projects under way.

the country for hay, they expect to be away until Tuesday evening.

John Alguire has sold his stock in the Farmers' store to Mr. Soderberg.
This shows that some people believe that the store is a good safe investment.

While in the city a week ago Mr.
Morrow purchased a fine, new two seat buggy. We wish him and his family many very pleasant rides in the same.

Julius Anderson has purchased a new disc harrow from the Farmers' store. This makes a good by this firm store, not so bad for the Farmers' store?

John Nelson, wife and child have arrived from North Dakota, where they are running a hotel, and will visit for a few days with Peter Christenson and family.

Jonas Galbrison, who resided east of here, loaded a car with stock, machinery and household goods and left Friday for Elfron, Canada, where he will make his future home.

The young people around the Creek met at the Farmers' store at about 8 o'clock Saturday evening, and heid themselves to John Dahls, where a very pleasant evening was spent.

Mr. Souer the hay buyer went out Saturday and purchased 50 tons from one farmer and several tons from another. But he will have to keep on the move if he gets his 500 tons.

Klouina Erickson, who has been teaching up north, returned to her home Saturday, and will remain at home for some time, for which her many friends around here will be glad.

O. Hage, of St. Paul, and Aug. Shor-ger were looking over the former gentlemen empty store building Sunday. Mr. Hage walked to Rush City that afternoon in the storm to catch the limited.

Evan Johnson is removing the flour that was saved from the fire and stored in the Hage building, as the same has been rented with the privilege of buying to a party from S. D. if the business he intends to engage in proves a success.

Miss Nelson, who has been teaching at Willow River, returned home the fore part of last week accompanied by Mrs. Smith, the lady with whom she was boarding. Mrs. Smith returned home Friday having enjoyed her visit at the Nelson home.

John Nelson, the blacksmith, will as soon as the heavy spring work is finished, move his shop to the eastern part of his lot, level it up and build a new residence this summer. This will make five new buildings which fall. Who says that Rock isn't growing?

Asron Sherwood has rented his farm to H. E. Dane, and will if his health will permit, visit relatives and friends in Wisconsin. He and sister will remain on the place and take care of the stock, as Mr. Dane does not occupy the buildings, having just rented the land.

Mrs. Pepin a daughter of Chas. Hanson, who resides at Hinckley, has accidentally been present at the marriage of her sister Mayme to Samuel Marty, which occurred Wednesday. The German Lutheran Minister, of Pine City performed the ceremony. We have been informed that quite a large number of relatives and friends from the cities were in attendance. We wish the young lady and the man of her choice health, wealth and prosperity.

Pure Oil
Lasting
Paint
"It's in the Oil." All good paints are ground in PURE LIN-SEED OIL. No matter how good the other materials may be, the paint is useless if mixed in poor oil.
The Linseed oil used in Minnesota Paints is NOW in right they buy the finest, selected Northwestern flaxseed, press out the oil in the good old fashioned way, refine, settle and age it themselves. It never leaves their hands from the time it comes from the farmer until it is mixed in the paint. Do you know any other point made like this?
Like THE MINNESOTA LIN-SEED OIL, all other materials used in Minnesota Paints
are the very finest that can be had. The result is acknowledged to be The Best Paints Made. They've been making them just this way for 37 years
—full Government Measure, cover more surface, look better and last longer than any other paint.
