For The Pine County Fair
The Largest and Best Fair Ever
Held in Pine County.

The large new building was filled with displays by the merchants and others. Those deserving of special mention were: The Pine City Mercantile Co., A. W. Piper, Pine City Saw Mill Co., Eastern Minnesota Power Co., W. A. Sauser, Inter-State Lumber Co., Smith Hardware Co., and the Fruit display from Hinckley, Breckenridge's Pharmacy, The display of Fancy Work, Fruit and Culinary by the Ladies. Last but by no means least was the Curiosities from all parts of the world by F. C. Ingelston, this display was the center of attraction and the booth was crowded with people the most of the time.

The vegetable and poultry buildings were filled to overflowing with exceedingly fine exhibits. We heard more than one stranger say that in quality we had the State Fair beat a mile in these departments.

The stock and horses on exhibition was by far the best ever seen in this part of the state. Max Hoffman received the handsome silver cup given by the State Dairyman's Association to the farmer having the best Dairy herd. The Herd that Max exhibited were Guernsey's. The displays of hogs and sheep were also very good and shows conclusively that our farmers know how raise these animals.

Next week we give a complete account of this, the best Fair ever held in Pine county.

Build with wood To suit your needs

Today and enlarge as your demands require. That's one of the big advantages offered in frame construction over all others. Future additions can be provided for right in your original plans and the money saved by building only for present needs can go on working for you until the enlargements are desired. There are a lot of other advantages too that wood construction offers, and before you decide on your material, is the time to investigate as thoroughly as you can. Our experience covers nearly every phase of the building question, and if you think our advice is worth having, it is your's for the asking.

Come in and get right on this lumber question. It is surely worth while to you and it will be a pleasure to us.

EBERHART AND NELSON, SEEMS

EARLY RETURNS SHOW LEE IS SECOND; YOUNG, THIRD; GORDON, FOURTH.

NELSONS MARGIN CLOSED

Surrogate Indicated as Choice for Lieutenant Governor — Results Seen From Scattering Returns.

Minnesota. — It seems Governor Eberhart and Knute Nelson are winners in the state primary held Tuesday. This was indicated by the early returns. They counted slowly and only scattering results were obtained at midnight, but those received indicated the result named.

The vote for Governor Eberhart showed the executive about even and possibly ahead of all the opposition. The early returns also indicated that Lee would run second, Young third and Gordon fourth. Spooner and Falk seemed to be running close at last place.

In Minneapolis the returns on governor are not all in. The early count is being devoted to the count on majority election. Some slight indication of the possible results was given by the vote in Wazata, Hennepin county, which gives Eberhart 18; Falk, 2; Gordon, 1; Lee, 9; Spooner, 7; Young, 12.

In St. Paul early indications pointed to the fact that Eberhart had swept the city.

Nelson carries Ramsey.

Knute Nelson seems to have carried Ramsey county by a close margin over Peterson for United States senator. In the Ninth precinct of the county, including the city of Roseau, which gives Eberhart 18; Falk, 2; Gordon, 1; Lee, 9; Spooner, 7; Young, 12.

For lieutenant governor J. A. Burnquist appears to have won a clear majority over D. M. Neill.

For congressman-at-large Manhattan appears to be in the lead with Eddy next and Smith third. In one St. Paul precinct Dehnel had more votes than all the others. For attorney general Lyndon Smith appears to have a clear majority over Thomas T. Fraser. For railroad and warehouse commissioner Ira B. Mills appears to be nominated over E. H. Canfield and C. E. Finnigan is nominated over J. T. Rosswald.

Schmahl in Lead.

For secretary of state Julius Schmahl appears to have wide margin over G. S. Mattson. Mr. Mattson had thrown his influence for Lee for governor, yet two precincts in Roseau county, including the city of Roseau, gave Eberhart 72 and the field 6.

In all the early returns it was clear that few voters availed themselves of the second choice feature of the primary. The second choice vote will be less than 10 per cent of the entire vote, hardly large enough to alter the result even if Eberhart should fail to have a clear majority of the votes cast.

The reports on governor in all over the state were typical. In parts where Eberhart was supposed to be weakest, as in Fairbault county, he maintained his lead.

In the Seventh congressional district where A. J. Volstead is supported by J. Dowling, Volstead appears to be the clear winner.

E. Young, one of the Republican candidates for governor, was among the early seekers for election returns. He was among the first to read the bulletins at the state capital and he evidently convinced him.

It looks pretty much like Eberhart, says Mr. Young, after reading the news from St. Paul and several bulletins from outside counties.

Stevens County — Including city of Morris. For governor: Eberhart, 21; second choice, Falk, 1; oration, 1; Lee, 2; Spooner, 4; Young, 1.

Léon (Le Sueur county) — For governor: Eberhart, 61 first choice and 2 on second choice; Young, 39 first choice and 8 second choice; Lee, 12 first choice and 14 second choice; Spooner, 2 first choice and 2 second choice; Gordon, 12 first choice; Falk, 3 first choice.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 18 — Returns from the primary election were not available last night. The count was accordingly slow and few figures were in on which to base a prediction.

According to the few reports, Eberhart was running far ahead of the other candidates for governor. Ramsay county — 128 out of 140 precincts.

Republican — Eberhart, 910; Falk, 38; Gordon, 194; Lee, 160; Spooner, 123; Young, 264.

Democratic — Rindald, 583; Andriest, 380.

HONOR DEFEND IN RITES

ANCIENT RELIGIOUS RITES MARK FUNERAL OF LATE EMPEROR OF JAPAN.

FUNERAL CAR DRAWN BY OXEN

Hundred Thousand Subjects Gather at Tokio to Pay Respect to Memory of the Late Emperor.

Tokyo, Sept. 13. — In the presence of representatives of all the powers of the world the funeral ceremonies for the late Emperor Meiji began today. The ancient rites prescribed by the Shinto religion will continue for three days, or until the body of the emperor is buried in the imperial cemetery near Kioto on Sunday.

The United States is represented by Secretary of State Knox, Brig. Gen. J. J. King, and Colonel A. A. Balfour, Ambassador O'Brien and Hansford Miller, chief of the division of far eastern affairs.

Of the morning eulogy of fifty million of the subjects, more than 100,000 gathered here in Tokyo and expressed by the depth of their emotion the sincerity of their patriotic feelings.

The funeral services were a gorgeous ceremonial partaking of the quality of state events as well as religious pagentry, and made up the three days of public and private services. Although $700,000 was appropriated for the diet for the expense of the funeral, the actual cost will go far above that figure.

Today's program was as follows: Prayers by the foreign representatives in the presence of the emperor, followed by the tribute of their various governments to the memory of the dead ruler. A grand parade of the army, navy and police will follow, with the funeral cortege to Aoyama come held by the imperial service.

At approximately four o'clock this morning the first ceremonies of the funeral began. The representatives of the foreign governments, including Mr. King, his aides, assembled in the principal audience chamber of the imperial palace. There they were met by the elder statesmen, the mental officials of the Japanese government.

White the condolences were being extended preparations for the removal of the body to the Aoyama cemetery for the public ritual were going on. Mr. King (Chicago county) — For governor: A. O. Eberhart, 41; Martin F. Falk, 10; Sam Y. Gordon, 0; Wm. E. Lee, 16; Lewis C. Spooner, 0; Edward T. Young, 8; Nelson, 20; Peterson, 25. No second choice given.

Following a Japanese custom inaugurated more than a thousand years ago, the imperial coffin was borne through a lane the sides of which were flanked by troops from the regular army.

The procession was headed by the imperial body guards. They were followed by vehicles bearing thousands of soldiers of various kinds of forces. Some were arranged in the form of cones ten feet high, carried by men in the dress of ancient mourners. They wore long kimono of white linen and each wore a tall black cap with a long peak.

Next came the mounted police, and then what looked like the modern forest. This part of the procession was made up of men carrying trees with the roots intact, to be planted in the cemetery.

The decorated trees were relieved by streamers of variously colored silk ribbon. Each bore a pious inscription. Standard bearers, priests and musicians were next.

Princes March on Foot.

Imperial princes, disdaining wheeled and station upon such occasion and in the form of the time of the and the high upon a common ground, marched along on foot behind the musicians. They wore white kimono and in the front of each was a shod in common straw sandals and carried a staff of bamboo. Indeed, the duty of the princes is not an enviable one, for they are kept constantly upon their feet for nearly the three days through the entire procession.

Following the princes came the breaking of a large number of wooden apples. Around the cart marched Shinto priests, dressed in the robes of office.

Close by followed high officers of state, and behind them were led the favored horses of the defunct emperor. Each horse was fitted out with a pair of blinkers and each was veiled with white. In Japan horses are supposed to have souls, which accounted for the especial pains taken with the favorites from the imperial stables of the late mikado.

After the horses came the princesses and ladies of the court in closure. They were dressed in yellow and partly veiled in black, although women of lesser rank were attired in red. The diplomatic corps and the representatives of foreign governments had a place in line directly behind the officers of the Japanese court.

After the carriage of the late emperor was the parade ground outside the cemetery at Aoyama was driven. Emperor Yoshihito did not accompany the cortege, but was in the Aoyama in the coach.

At least 100,000 persons were gathered the great cemetery when the cortege arrived. Presently were heard the wild wail notes of the Shinto burial hymn. Within the sanctuary stood a number of priests. From among them they chanted prayers while they knelt with their foreheads on the ground; others among them were musicians and their instruments and played upon them. They wore white suriples and mitres upon their heads. The effect of their chanting was most devout.

Presently the chief priest advanced to the coffin, and, standing before the altar, bowed his head in prayer. The great concourse hereabouts were being brought forward upon white platters. As the priest received each he called upon the spirit of the departed to accept it. After a second prayer the emperor came forward and read a long eulogy from a scroll. Then the great concourse began slowly to disperse while the coffin containing the body was carried to a special train which was to convey it to Kioto.

CHESTER-LIVERPOOL EXPRESS CRASHES INTO STATION PLATFORM AT DITTON JUNCTION.

RUNNING DOWN INCLINE.

Engine Jumps Tracks and Nine Cars Run Wild Down Track. — Harrowing Scenes Are Evident.

Liverpool, England. — Sixteen persons were killed and 49 injured by the derailing of the express from Chester to Liverpool at Ditton Junction, eight miles from Liverpool. The train had passed over the long bridge spanning the Mersey river and was running down the incline leading to the junction when, at the cross-over points, the engine jumped the rails and crashed into the buttress of a bridge supporting the line.

The coupling of the car next to the engine parted and the train of nine cars sped on to the station. The leading cars crashed into the platform with terrific force and in were wrecked. One car was overturned and caught fire and was soon consumed. Several bodies in the cars were cremated. Some of the injured were rescued from the windows.

The engine driver was crushed to death and the fireman had both legs broken. He was pinned under the locomotive for two hours.

The work of extricating the dead and injured by the light of lanterns was continued until a late hour. The fourth car became a blazing furnace and the terrible cries of the injured and appeals for help, together with the howling of the wind, were a fearful scene.

The known death toll numbered 16. Several of the bodies still are unidentified.

BIG ORE SHIPMENTS

MOVEMENT FROM LAKE SUPERIOR COUNTRY WILL AGGREGATE 50,000,000 TONS.

GREATEST YEAR OF ALL

Mesaaba Mines, Few of Which is Owned by State, Will Set a New Record for the Season.

Duluth.—Shipments of iron ore from the Lake Superior region are being maintained at a volume that gives every indication of an improvement for the season of better than 45,000,000 gross tons—the greatest output in the history of the mines.

With approximately 20,000,000 tons forwarded to the first of September, and with three months remaining of the period of inter-lake navigation, some observers are of opinion that a record falling but little under 50,000,000 tons. However, while some ore carriers doubtless will continue in commission until early in December, the fact that the open-pit mines will begin suspending operations in November will make for a steady waning production a few weeks prior to the actual close of the season and will scale down the present monthly average materially.

The bulk of the shipments, of course, is being forwarded from the Mesaba district. The output from the older ranges is, however, running close to the high-water mark established in 1910—most of it, indeed, having been sent from Marquette in August than in any month in the history of the port—and in general stock piles will have been removed almost to the point of disappearance by the time that wintry conditions make further lake forwardings impossible.

Mesaaba Mines Making Record.

Already far ahead of the production a year ago and considerably in advance of that of 1910, the shipments from the Mesaba mines, the few of which is owned by the state of Minnesota, will set a new record this season. One of the mines, that of the Sargent property at Hibbing, operated by Pickands, Mather & Co. of Cleveland, The Sargent has been shipping from about mid-June to the rate of eighty cars daily. This ore is going out over the United States Steel corporation's Duluth, Missabe & Northern railroad, whereas early in the season the Great Northern had the business. The product is a non-Bessemer hematite.

At the Buffalo mine at Hibbing four shovels are at work in the pit. As much as 300 carloads of ore daily are being sent from the Sienago Furnace company's Sienago property at Hibbing district, the output having recently been doubled owing to the decision to operate at night as well as at day. Additional trucks are being drawn have been put on duty on the Mesaba road.

As busy as this is, however, the Great Northern is working on its assembling yards at Kelly lake, the Great Northern is moving to the docks at Superior 2,300 cars daily. More than 500 steel cars, newly turned out at the shops, have been added to the rolling stock lately, notwithstanding which the road is hard pressed to meet all the demands of mine traffic. Complaints are unavoidable, but arise, not so much from the car situation as from delay at the water front.

Thirty-sixth Convention to Convene in St. Paul Friday.

At St. Paul.—Sessions of the thirty-sixth annual convention of the Minnesota Women's Christian Temperance union will be held at the First Methodist Episcopal church in St. Paul Sept. 20 to 24. The convention will open with a reception and banquet at the church Friday evening. Miss Rozette Hendrix, state president, will preside as toast mistress and Rev. Charles N. Pace, Mrs. E. W. Randall, Miss Mary Cleland, Hugh Mendenhall, Benjamin Beckler, Miss Eva Jones and Mrs. Edith Smith Davis, will give short addresses.

Monday afternoon will be the last day of the convention and will be devoted to a discussion of the work of local departments and the district jubilee.

Lee Chickens, Form Possessors. Manakato.—Armed with shotguns and constituting a posse, twenty-five men surrounded and captured a man, who they allege, has been stealing poultry. They losses aggregate several hundred dollars, they say. They trailed the man to a huckleberry lake north of Lake Carley, where he was surrounded and at the point of the weapon, then Friday morning. The man is said to go under the name of H. C. Brown and H. G. Palmer. He has no friends in his possession. When captured, he was carrying a long rifle.

FOR DELINQUENT ONES.

Minnesota Club Women to Work for Reformatory.

Minneapolis.—If Minnesota club women have their way, Minnesota will have a state reformatory for Minnesota delinquent women. Minnesota club women years ago started a move to that effect, but the efforts were sidetracked, owing to the work for the girls' training school at Sank Center, but Mrs. H. A. Tomlinson, the president of the state of St. Peter will take the matter before the annual convention of the M. F. W. C. in Dodge Center this week.

The Minnesota federation is honor bound to give this project its support, because at the time the vote was for united efforts in behalf of a school for delinquent girls, it was done with the distinct understanding that at the suitable time the federation would pledge itself body and soul to work for a reformatory for women.

The late Mrs. J. C. Peters was president of the federation a reformatory committee was organized of which Mrs. G. O. Welch, Mrs. A. C. Rogers and Mrs. T. T. S. were members and a bill was ready to be presented before the legislature for the establishment of such a reformatory, the committee of the state reformatory and the board of control fully approved, and the work will now be resumed where it was dropped in 1904.

The bill will not have the reformatory known under this name, but suggests that it be known as a "social hospital for delinquent women."

Many of the club women left today for Dodge Center, for the morning sessions of the executive board and the board of directors on the 25th and 26th inst. It is expected that about six hundred delegates will be at the convention, which begins tomorrow morning and concludes Friday at noon.

330 ENROLL AT CARLETON

Record Attendance at the Congressional College at Northfield.

Northfield.—The attendance at Carleton college is the largest ever known and regular work has been started in all departments. At the University of Aberdeen, Scotland, Prof. Nell S. Dunlap has been made a year's leave of absence. The work in the German department will be directed by Dr. Axel E. Vesting of Yale. This is the department of the University of Heidelberg. Dr. C. H. Gieringer has returned after a year's absence, to take up his work as associate professor of mathematics and astronomy.

YOUNG MEN DROWNED

Sivright and Lyon, Sons of Officials, Lose Lives.

Hutchinson.—Guy Sivright, son of W. W. Sivright, one of the managers of the Minnesota State Agricultural society, and Myron Lyon, son of Dr. H. C. Lyon, a member of the state livestock sanitary board, were drowned in Lake Marion, eight miles south of here.

Sivright was 27 and a member of the firm of W. W. Sivright & Son, implement dealers. He was president of the University of Hutchinson. Lyon was 25 years old and a bookkeeper in the Citizens' bank. Both were Masons.

They had been camping with young people on the shores of Lake Marion. About 8 a. m. they set out in a canoe, saying they were going bathing. That was the last seen of them alive.

Several members of the party rowing on the lake saw Lyon's hat floating on the water. They thought it was a buoy and a search for the young men. Soon their canoe was found. The searchers returned to shore and notified others. The bodies of the two boys were recovered. How the drownings happened is only a matter of conjecture. Sivright was an excellent swimmer. Both young men were single.

PLUNGE OF AUTO INJURES FOUR

Manakato, Minnesota.—Four persons were injured when a big touring car slid over an embankment and went rolling to the bottom, 75 feet, on the road near West Tenth street, St. Paul, and Mrs. W. A. Herrick, all well known Delaure farmers, composed the party.

St. Paul Woman Loses Life. Center City.—Mrs. Ambrose Groat, widow daughter of Mrs. Adelaide Groat, died today in St. Paul. She was 71 years old. The mother and daughter were spending the weekend at their cottage on the shore of Lake Superior. Mrs. Groat began to pull up the anchor preparatory to returning to shore, when the boat tipped into the water. The women began to bail, but the boat overturned and sank in seven feet of water.

MILITARY MEN READY

FOUR COMPANIES ON ARMS AWAITING ORDERS FROM GOV. EBERHART.

SHERIFF TO CONTROL

City Council Starts Action in Court Against Tractation Co.—Maha V. Traction Co. Inlet Throughout Day.

Duluth, Minn., Sept. 14.—With a message from Governor Eberhart's office, calling on Sheriff Meining either to assume control of the strike material, or to disband the military units at the state authorities, rumors that the four companies of the State Guard here were held held under sealed orders ready to do military duty. The order was firm basis for their circulation.

The four companies were called together and held in their rendezvous awaiting the orders to take control of the situation. Major H. V. Eva, in charge of the companies, is ready to march his men into the downtown district at a moment's notice. The order to Sheriff Meining was received the troops made ready to deploy at the mayor's orders.

While the troops are waiting, the strike has been thrown into the courts by an order issued by Judge Hibbel ordered the City Attorney Carmichael to apply for a writ of mandamus against the Street Car Company. Judge Hibbel made the writ returnable at the City Court. The City Council is ordered by the judge to show why its cars are not being operated regularly. They stopped at 5 o'clock Friday afternoon after they had been run in a desultory way most of the day.

Mob violence flung itself up the main street and through the city yesterday, coming from the West End, where most of the week an unprovoked mass of men has dazed the police and wrecked cars.

In the West End the 5,000 men, boys and women stood around a brick in each hand, a snarl on their faces and daring the police to shoot or to interfere. The police apparently stood pat and watched the mob.

Business organizations are appealing by wire and telephone to state troops to quell the trouble. Governor Eberhart has ordered back to St. Paul to look into the Duluth situation. He may order troops here.

Five arrests were made so far as can be ascertained. Six car men were hurt. The police claim they are unable to enter the crowd and pick out the stone throwers. The car companies are providing all cars with heavy screen windows. Rumors that dynamite is being secured by the strikers are denied.

Trouble occurred when a strike-breaking mob bumped off the track an ice wagon which contained a strike sympathizer. Immediately the mob formed and the glass was knocked from the street car and the crew of the car was routed. Another crew boarded the car, turned on all power and dashed through the crowd.

$2,741,936 ADDED.

State Auditor's Advance Report Shows Large Increase.

St. Paul.—An increase of nearly $5,000,000 in the permanent trust funds of the state for the biennial period ending July 31, 1912, is reported by Samuel O. Iverson, state auditor, in the advance statement of his biennial report. This is by far the largest increase in these funds since they were created.

The entire amount derived from the sale of timber, minerals and land sales in the last two years is summarized as follows:

Permanent university funds	$7,337.16
Internal improvement land funds	12,404.12
Swamp land fund	1,900,473.92
Total	$2,741,936.15

After 20 Years.

Manakato.—After an absence of twenty years, Chris Hansen returned unexpectedly, and had difficulty in identifying himself to the authorities. He had left his brother and other relatives. Hansen left the family home at Winona when he was 25 and went west. His served in the army during the last two years of the war and later roughed it on the plains. He married and now resides at Rock Valley, Wyo. He did not learn of the death last spring of his father until he returned yesterday. A brother and sister have also died.

Crazed Man Hums Amupk.

Manakato.—After being tormented for nearly three hours by a crowd of men, who stood over them with a loaded shotgun and repeatedly announced his intention to "wipe them out," the family of August Ziegler and Henry Schultz, Delaure farmers, were nearly panicked. Financial worry is what led Ziegler to threaten the great military system of the country. Banks closed their doors. Business houses assigned. The balance of trade was against us. Cap-

WOODROW WILSON'S IDEA

GRADUALLY REDUCE THE AMOUNT YOU FEED HER AND AFTER WHILE SHE WON'T NEED ANY!

FOR FIRST VOTERS

WHY THEY SHOULD JOIN THE REPUBLICAN PARTY, WHICH HAS GREAT RECORD.

HAS SURVIVED MANY STORMS

Nothing Can Be Accomplished by Joining Third Party Which is Doomed to Political Oblivion. When Republican Party Will Live to Accomplish More Results.

Does any first voter realize the full meaning of American citizenship? To be a full-fledged citizen is to possess the duties of the highest young manhood, is one of the greatest privileges in all the tide of time. No citizen of ancient Babylon, or Greece, or Rome, could claim anything resembling such a heritage, in enlightened freedom, unlimited opportunity, useful development and the capacity for real happiness. The young American citizen is the heir of all the ages.

But his precious heritage carries with it an equal measure of responsibility. His duties are of the highest order ever known to man. To perform them properly should be his chief concern at all times. By this test of efficiency will his usefulness be recorded for this and future generations.

There must needs be two political parties in our Republican form of government. The duties of the highest order ever known to man. To perform them properly should be his chief concern at all times. By this test of efficiency will his usefulness be recorded for this and future generations.

There must needs be two political parties in our Republican form of government. The duties of the highest order ever known to man. To perform them properly should be his chief concern at all times. By this test of efficiency will his usefulness be recorded for this and future generations.

Record of Republican Party.

And so in choosing his political ally upon the platform, principles and records of the great political parties, before allying himself with either. He will find that the Republican party is a great constructive, patriotic league, whose upper register of fame contains the names of most of the great men of the world who wrought during the last fifty-eight years. He will be reminded that from Lincoln to Taft, with one single exception, every president of the United States has accepted the inspiring Republican doctrine. He will learn that it was under the leadership of the Republican party that our Union was preserved and the stain of slavery washed forever from the Stars and Stripes, that our was freed and started free on her way to destiny, that the Philippines and Porto Rico were rescued from three centuries of Spanish tyranny, and are being prepared for self-government, that the Panama Canal is being built—making the old-world dream of centuries come true, and readjusting the world's highways of commerce.

He will learn that the Republican party has made our country a world power and American citizenship to be respected around the globe; that it has secured the open door of trade in China, has taken the lead in the movement for world peace and has developed trade and commerce to a point beyond the dream of the founders of the republic. In a word, he will find that the nation has flourished under Republican banner as no nation ever flourished before on the face of the earth.

Democratic History.

On the other hand, what will first voter find in the history of the Democratic party? He will learn that it was founded by Jefferson as a protest to the policy of Washington whom he disliked. Founded on the idea of resentment, resistance, negation, subversion and an academic false conception of personal privilege the party has quite naturally been against all sane measures directed toward the healthy progress of the country and the real advancement of its people, being a party of opposition and of obstruction. Its policy has been to preach calumny and foster discord; to promise everything and actually do nothing.

Let not the first voter be deceived by the noise and red fire of a third party. It is nothing new, this violent outcry against Republican leaders and Republican measures on the part of erstwhile Republicans, smarting under the sting of political disappointment or the whip of failed ambition. It does not take a very long memory to recall the Liberal Republican back to 1853, and the fact of the party during the early 90's which resulted in the Farmers Alliance, Greenback and Populist parties. It is nothing new, this violent outcry against Republican leaders and Republican measures on the part of erstwhile Republicans, smarting under the sting of political disappointment or the whip of failed ambition. It does not take a very long memory to recall the Liberal Republican back to 1853, and the fact of the party during the early 90's which resulted in the Farmers Alliance, Greenback and Populist parties.

The life of the Republican party is not threatened by the blind ambition of the folly and madness of men whom it has once honored. Their loud cry only emphasize their sense of loss in the political oblivion into which they have been hurled. History repeats itself, and just as surely as it does, just so surely will the Republican party continue on its progressive course. It will be guarding the liberties of the people, administering justice, and keeping wide the door of hope to all American citizens, when its present traducers are buried in oblivion.

Appeals to First Voters.

And as it is thus destined to live because the great work to which it is dedicated has not been accomplished the welfare of the first voter and the splendid record of its past, but the glorious promise of its future. To ignore its claim upon patriotism and its judgment is to cast the fruit of the Dead Sea. The young man who surrounds him. Identifies himself with an organization inspired only by selfishness and defeated ambition, simply wastes his time, his energy, and his talents. He starts upon a road which leads nowhere but to defeat. By following its indefinite course he cannot hope to be a factor in national government or contribute to the improvement of the welfare of his fellow-men. He will simply repeat the experience of those misguided ones who have gone down with empty hands into the political oblivion into which countless parties they once espoused.

These are the reasons why the first voters should support President Taft and the Republican party. By so doing they will assist in maintaining constitutional government and will assure the permanence of prosperity. Any other course means the frittering away of magnificent opportunity.

Democracy and Disaster.

During the Democratic party's one term of office in more than half a century, our national debt increased more than a million dollars a day. Each day we lost a half million dollars in foreign trade. The value of farm products decreased more than five hundred million dollars. District and pauper paralyzation of the great industrial system of the country. Banks closed their doors. Business houses assigned. The balance of trade was against us. Cap-

YOUNG WIFE SAVED FROM HOSPITAL

Tells How Sick She Was And What Saved Her From An Operation.

Upper Sandusky, Ohio.—"Three years ago I was married and went to New York for my honeymoon. I was not feeling well and could hardly drag myself along. I had such first feelings, my back ached, my sides ached, I had bladder trouble, and I could not eat, and I could not get to sleep. I had headaches, too, and became almost nervous. My doctor told me to go to a hospital. I did not like the idea very well, so when I saw your advertisement in a paper, I wrote you for advice, and here you told me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and Liver Pills, and now I have my health. If sick and illing women would only know enough to get this medicine, they would get relief."—Mrs. BESS H. STANBY, Route 6, Box 18, Upper Sandusky, Ohio.

Malal Hafid, the ex-sultan of Morocco, while staying at Vichy, in France, made an excursion to the Ardennes. He says the "Math", where Napoleon III, used often to go for rest. Three young girls, sisters, timidly approached the sultan and asked him to sign a card. Malal Hafid consented on condition that they would each sing a song to him. Two of the girls at once complied, and the delighted Malal Hafid wrote on their cards words which, translated, mean: "Like Napoleon III, I have visited the Ardennes, where I have enjoyed, together with the calm and freshness of nature, the grace and charm of the voices of Misses Paulette and Clotilde." The third girl did not know how to sing, but her sisters having sung for her the sultan added the name of Gabrielle.

Compensation.

A fairly prominent local pugilist was injured several months ago in an automobile accident. He was not killed. When he recovered, he was discussing the incident recently with friends.

"I got $100 out of the auto owner," he said. "He gave the lawyer half and it cost $56 for doctor's bills, but I made them pay $100 for the thing, anyhow."

American Tools Preferred.

A favorite sport in New Zealand, as also in Australia and Tasmania, is competition in wood chopping and sawing; and in these contests, which attract a great deal of interest, the championships are always won through the use of American tools. One of the expert woodmen working for a prize would never think of using any other kind of tools.

The Status.

"I see this prospect of a strapless street car is still hanging on." "So are the passengers."

Some men work over time to earn a dishonest living.

Doctor Recommends Postum for Personal Test.

No one is better able to realize the injurious action of caffeine—the drug in coffee—on the heart, than the doctor. Tea is just as harmful as coffee because it, too, contains the drug caffeine.

When the doctor himself has been relieved by simply leaving off coffee and using Postum, he can refer with full confidence to his own case.

A Mo. physician prescribes Postum for many of his patients because he was benefited by it. He says: "I wish to add my testimony in regard to that excellent preparation Postum. I have had functional nervous heart trouble for over 15 years, and a part of the time was unable to attend to my business. I was a moderate user of coffee and did not think drinking it hurt me. But on stopping it and using Postum instead, my heart has got right, and I attribute it to the change from coffee to Postum."

"I am prescribing it now in cases of sickness, especially when coffee does not agree or affects the heart, nerves or stomach."

"When made right it has a much better flavor than coffee, and is a vital sustainer of the system. I should like to recommend it to our people, and I have my own case to refer to."—Dr. J. W. Postum, Co., Belle Creek, Mich. Read case in "The Road to Wellville," in Postum.

"There's a reason."

"I've seen a good many letters. A large one appears from St. Louis. A lady writes: 'I was a moderate user of coffee and did not think drinking it hurt me. But on stopping it and using Postum instead, my heart has got right, and I attribute it to the change from coffee to Postum.'"

PINE COUNTY PIONEER

ED. C. GOTTBY, Editor and Prop'

Entered in the Postoffice at Pine City as Second-Class Matter

Pine City, Minnesota, Sept. 20, '12

GENERAL WM. BOOTH, founder and commander-in-chief of the Salvation Army, who died in London August 21, was one of God's Noblemen. The work to which he devoted his life was the grandest work that man ever engaged in. His zeal in pursuing that work, the deep sincerity of his efforts, his liberal sympathies and his high courage in confronting and conquering the many and great obstacles in his path, gaining for him that success which it is permitted few men to attain in this life; and so firmly did he establish himself in the hearts of the great mass of common people, that his memory will forever be held in sacred reverence by them.

General Booth battled for the Lord. All his life he waged a ceaseless war against the powers of evil. His policy was ever to strike at the root, the foundation of the forces which drag humanity into the depths of vice and iniquity. He sought always to help those who needed help most and in doing so he recognized no social dead lines, no class distinctions, no prejudices. And through his efforts has been initiated one of the mightiest religious-social organizations in the history of the world.—The Salvation Army. Alas! that this great mind so industriously employed in the service of God and humanity should be idle now—that this kindly voice, whose gentle tones were always full of sympathy should be heard no more forever! (Prison Mirror)

MRS. PETER BERKEY ANSWERS THE CALL.

Although aware of the fact that Mrs. Lydia Berkey, the wife of Mr. Peter Berkey, who resides east of here, was in very poor health, the news of her death came to us as a great shock. Mrs. Berkey had been better than usual on the morning of the day of her death, but her strength was fast falling and when the thin cord of life had been drawn to the limit, it finally broke, and about 4 p. m. on Tuesday, Sept. 10th, she passed on to meet her Maker.

Mrs. Berkey whose maiden name was Miss Lydia Stutzman, was born in Goshen Indiana, November 8th 1844, and was married to Peter Berkey, March 11th, 1866. After spending the first few years of their married life in Goshen, they moved to Texas and then to Minnesota in 1888 and made their home near Farmington, from which place they moved to their present residence about eight miles east of this city, nearly eleven years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Berkey became the proud parents of ten children, all of which are living, and remain to mourn the loss of a devoted mother. The children are, Prof. Chas. Berkey of the Columbia University, of New York, Mrs. Norton, of Farmington, Mrs. Stiver, of Kansas City, Oscar Berkey, of Omaha, Mrs. McCluskey, of Farmington, Mrs. Witta, of Northfield, Mrs. Gibson, of St. Paul, Mrs. Carrier, Mrs. Hamlin, and Mrs. Piper of this place.

The children were all at the funeral with the exception of Mrs. Stiver who was so overcome by the shock that she was unable to leave her home.

The following other near relatives were present at the funeral, a sister Mrs. Hannah Parrot, and a brother L. J. Stutzman, Ed Parrott, a nephew and seven grandchildren.

The funeral services were held from the residence last Friday morning at ten o'clock with interment in the Huletown cemetery. The services were conducted by Rev. H. H. Parish who has been a close friend of the family for years and has been the pastor of the deceased for several years.

Mrs. Berkey has been a faithful church worker for a number of years and has been greatly loved by all who knew her. She is dead, but lives in the great eternity where death and sorrow can not come in. Her body is gone from us but her spirit still remains and continually calls us to service for our Master.

The many friends of the family join them in this their hour of great sorrow, and wish them the true presence of the only Friend who can comfort in the hour of distress.

THE ELECTION IN PINE COUNTY

The primaries of last Tuesday passed off with nothing of import occurring. Much interest was centered on the race for the nomination for Co. Supt. of Schools. There were seven contestants in the field and each contestant was striving hard to win. The last report we were able to receive before going to press was to the effect that Miss Robinson and R. H. Blankenship were the nominees and that Miss Robinson had a slight lead.

Wm. Lamson, of Hinckley, and S. G. L. Roberts, of this place, had received the highest number of votes for the nomination for County Attorney and Mr. Lamson had the lead.

For County Auditor, Jas. Mullins, of Hinckley, led F. P. McKusick by a strong majority.

Wm. Hurley had a real comfortable lead over Johnson his opponent and we have no doubt that he will hold his lead.

With Oswald in the field against him Wandel had easy going and had him beaten nearly three to one.

Needless to say Robt. Wilcox polled a much larger vote for the office of Judge of Probate than his competitor, Mider.

Next week we will endeavor to give our readers a more complete account of the election.

AT THE GRAND

Paul Perkins Has Exterior and Interior of Popular Theatre Painted and Improved

Paul Perkins has had the exterior of the Grand repainted and improved. The front has been painted white. Within a few days new signs will arrive for the front and also additions to the exterior lighting system.

In the interior the ceiling has been painted light blue, the walls have been changed from brown to cream color and the lower section has been tinted light brown. The woodwork has been repainted.

One of the additional improvements is a new aluminum curtain set in a frame of black velvet. This always assures the moving picture of being properly framed in its presentation on the canvas. Within a few days an air purifying machine sending the atmosphere a dainty lavender odor will be placed in operation. These machines are used in many of the theatres, cafes and halls of Minneapolis. By a chemical process the air is purified. Patrons of the Grand will appreciate the many changes made and an increased attendance has resulted.—Brainerd News.

Indian Lands Opened.

The president and secretary of the Interior have ordered about one and one-half million acres of Indian lands, in the former Shoshone (in Wyoming), Uintah (in Utah), and Crow (in Montana), Indian Reservations, to be sold at public auction by James W. Witten, Superintendent of Opening and Sale of Indian Lands, at minimum prices ranging from $.50 to $1.50 per acre. The sales will begin at Lander, Wyoming, on September 19; at Provo, Utah, on October 8, and at Billings, Montana, on October 21, 1912.

Not more than six hundred and forty acres will be sold to any one purchaser on bids made in person or through agents, and no residence or cultivation will be required. Patents will be issued as soon as the purchase price is paid.

—Mrs. Jas. Christie left Wednesday for Stillwater where she will spend a few days with relatives and friends. Her mother, Mrs. Jamington will take the two boys, Jack and Fred, to St. Paul today where they will meet Mrs. Christie. From St. Paul Mrs. Christie and two boys will go to their home in Denver.

THE TRUTH ABOUT THOSE DELEGATES

Roosevelt Contests Instigated to Deceive the Public.

ALL BUT 74 WERE ABANDONED

An Examination of the Facts Shows That the Tribunals Which Decided These Contests in Favor of Mr. Taft Were Right in Every Instance.—The Remaining 164 Contests Were Frivolous, and Their Prompt Abandonment Reflects Upon the Genuineness and Validity of the Remainder.

Washington, July 28.—Here are the facts in relation to the contested seats in the Republican national convention. It is a summary of a detailed statement going carefully into all of the cases, a statement so thorough that it takes up 100 pages of printed matter. This statement is signed by Mr. Victor Rosewater, chairman of the former Republican national committee; by Mr. J. H. Devine of Colorado, chairman of the committee on credentials of the Republican national convention, and by Mr. Charles D. Hilles, chairman of the present Republican national committee.

The total number of delegates summoned to the convention under its call was 1,078, with 640 necessary to a choice. Mr. Taft had 561 votes on the first and only ballot and was declared the nominee. There were instituted against 238 of the delegates regularly elected for Taft contests on behalf of Roosevelt. These contests were avowedly instigated not for the purpose of really securing seats in the convention, not for the purpose of adding evidence which would lead any respectable court to entertain the contests, but for the purpose of deceiving the public into the belief that Mr. Roosevelt had more votes than he really had, as the conventions and primaries were in progress for the selection of delegates. This is not only a necessary inference from the character of the contests, but it was boldly avowed by the chief editor of the newspapers owned by Mr. Munsey, who has been Mr. Roosevelt's chief financial and newspaper supporter. The 238 contests were reduced by abandonment to seventy-four.

The very fact of these 164 frivolous contests itself reflects upon the genuineness and validity of the remainder. The seventy-four delegates include six at large from Arizona, four at large from Kentucky, four at large from Indiana, six at large from Michigan, eight at large from Texas and eight at large from Washington, and also two district delegates each from the Ninth Alabama, the Fifth Arkansas, the Thirteenth Indiana, the Seventh, Eighth and Eleventh Kentucky, the Third Oklahoma, the Second Tennessee and from each of the districts of the First, Second, Fourth, Fifth, Seventh, Eighth, Ninth, Tenth and Fourteenth of Texas.

CONTESTED DELEGATES AT LARGE, ARIZONA.

In the Arizona convention there were ninety-three votes. All the delegates—six in number—were to be selected at large. The counties were entitled to select their delegates through their county committee or by primary. In one county, Maricopa, a majority of the committee decided to select its delegates and a minority to have a primary. In other counties there were some contests, and the state committee, following the usage of the national committee, gave a hearing to all contestants in order to make up the temporary roll. There was a clear majority of the Taft delegates among the uncontested delegates. The committee made up the temporary roll and then there was a bolt, sixty-four remaining in the hall and twenty-five withdrawing therefrom. The case of the Taft majority was so clear that it is difficult to understand why a contest was made in Arizona.

In Indiana the four Taft delegates at large were elected in a state convention to which Marion county, in which Indianapolis is situated, was entitled to 28 votes. A primary was held in Indianapolis at which Taft polled 6,000 and Roosevelt 1,400 votes. This gave Taft 106 delegates in the state convention from Marion county, and if they were properly seated the control of the convention by a large majority was conceded to Taft. Attempt was made to impeach the returns from Marion county by charges of fraud and repeat- ing therefrom. The case of the Taft majority was so clear that it is difficult to understand why a contest was made in Indiana.

Not more than six hundred and forty acres will be sold to any one purchaser on bids made in person or through agents, and no residence or cultivation will be required. Patents will be issued as soon as the purchase price is paid.

Of tongue or pen are "STUNG AGAIN."

That's what Champ Clark said when Willyum slipped one over that time.

The Quakers say "The mayest be deceived one and not be deemed a fool, but if thou art fooled twice, thou becomest a fool indeed." Well, there is no chance of your being fooled or Stung or anything of that kind in this lumber garage. The boss totes fair with every one and that's why our business is growing by leaps and bounds. Please leap in and make a noise like success. And leave some kind of an order for fuel or lumber, so we can be of some use in the community. Don't let the boys go stale. —Yesterday afternoon while making a trip from his dock to the fair grounds Fred Ingleson was struck by a bullet from the shooting gallery, which was located on the grounds, near the bank of the river. The bullet evidently struck a piece of metal and glancing off was carried off over the water. Mr. Ingleson says that he saw it strike the water and that the next instant it struck him. The bullet had lost much of its momentum and the only result was that Fred received a slight wound directly between the eyes and was knocked off a stool he was sitting on. He may indeed be glad that nothing more serious resulted and that the shot fired came from a small arm.

—Miss Susan Shearer announces that she is at home again and ready to take orders for holiday goods in Art Needlework materials or ready made work and hopes to meet you at the Pine County Fair next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday.

—On the first two nights of the fair the management of the moving picture shows featured "The Seventh son," the finest Civil War picture ever shown. Those who saw it certainly had a treat but have you noticed that their shows are always good. You never "lose out" on them.

TAMING the HEAD HUNTERS of LUZON

AS EARLY AS

THE head hunters of the Philippines are being taught to go shopping. It is an important means of civilization in the mountain province of Luzon—region of lofty peaks, deep gorges and primeval forests, inhabited by a quarter of a million people who eat their meat raw, drink warm blood, and indulge or have done so until recently an appetite for wholesale homicide.

As a means of civilization (under the direction of our war department), trade is being developed among these wild folk. In the past it has been necessary for them to make long journeys to the coast towns, to buy their other necessities. But within the last few months government stores, called "exchanges," have been started at various points, and are kept supplied with everything likely to be required by the natives—the prices for goods being those current in Manila, plus 20 per cent and cost of transportation. The stores not only sell, but also buy. They purchase baskets, wood-carvings, native weapons, and articles of savage dress such as can be sold in Manila as curios, paying liberally for them in cash.

One of the seven sub-provinces composing the Mountain Province is Benguet, the capital of which, Baguio, is a mile above sea level, and 175 miles due north of Manila—is the terminus of one of the most wonderful roads in the world, built by the natives with the help of American engineering skill. Extending all the way from Baguio to the sea, it is carried to a large extent out of solid rock, skirting the sides of steep mountains and crossing deep canyons in many places by suspension bridges. For most of its length it is wide enough for narrow-gauge cars, and at intervals of eighteen miles comfortable five-room rest houses have been erected for the benefit of travelers. Running at an elevation of 5,000 to 7,000 feet, it passes through tropical scenery of unsurpassed beauty, commands magnificent views, and should in the near future become a route much patronized by tourists.

The last of the Benguet Igorots to come under the jurisdiction and control of the United States government were the people of Aloc, who occupied a remarkable natural stronghold—a bold peak 6,500 feet high, which juts out from the surrounding mountains, its precipitous sides defying attacking forces, and offering a refuge to the tribe, small in numbers, but warlike, working the rice paddies in the valleys below by day and seeking refuge in their eyrie at night. They preferred independence to submission. Nevertheless, being overthrown by force of arms, they are now entirely docile. Generally speaking, the Igorots are peaceably inclined. They are notably contented and cheerful, and the women have a voice in their councils, often exercising a controlling influence. Strongest in numbers of all the savage peoples and among the most inveterate head hunters were the Ifugaos. There are about 125,000 of them. Bitterly hostile to begin with, they have become warm friends and admirers of the Americans, and their services, voluntarily given, have been utilized on an extensive scale in the building of roads and trails. By their own suggestion, they submitted to a labor tax which demands ten days' work per annum from each able-bodied man. Several companies of Ifugaos constabulary have been organized, and do admirable service, keeping order among the tribesmen.

Equally fierce and as yet untamed to any great extent are the Kalingas. They were inveterate head hunters until recently, but have almost given up the practice. Some like Christians, and to cut their hair and dress like Christians, and to quite a number of the children are learning to read and write. One small group of their settlements adopted an attitude of defiance toward the Americans, and two years ago Walter F. Hale, lieutenant-governor of that province, paid the rebels a visit. When they threw spears at him he picked them up and handed them back with an intimation that such actions were unbecomingly. He told them that he wanted to be friends with them, and that they intended to take his head at the first convenient opportunity.

Such was the situation of affairs up to a short time ago, when four settlements "broke the peace" and went on the warpath. Lieut. Gov. Hale, with and went on the warpath. Lieut. Gov. Hale, with a strong detachment of Ifugaos constabulary, accompanied by a force of friendly Kalingas, thereupon attacked a punitive expedition, attacked the rebel villages, and wiped them out, burning the houses and killing the pigs.

The situation in Apayao is especially difficult because head-hunting among the tribesmen of that sub-province is intimately connected with their religious faith. Nevertheless, the practice is being gradually stamped out and, with the help of the Igorot and Ifugaos constabulary, a number of murders have been arrested and punished. There is still a considerable area over which government control has not yet been established, and which has not even been opened up by trails to any great extent, owing to the inaccessible character of the region. One should realize, of course, that head-hunting among these people is not regarded as murder in the ordinary sense of the word. It is a field sport and a manly occupation, established by the custom of centuries as being of warlike.

Most troublesome and untrustworthy of all the tribes of northern Luzon are the Hongsos, of the sub-province of Nueva Vizcaya. There are not more than 5,000 or 6,000 of them, but they inhabit a vast region, most of it very mountainous and almost wholly covered by virgin forest. Their settlements are merely temporary, and they are hard to get at. Enormous distances separate their villages, which in the more remote regions continue to fight among themselves. These were the people who not long ago murdered Dr. William Jones while he was engaged in making ethnological notes among them. Nevertheless, trails are being pushed into the heart of their country; two or three government "exchanges" have been established; industrial schools are being started for their benefit, and efforts are being made to induce them to extend their agricultural operations—partly for the sake of rendering their communities more stationary.

One should realize that the continual warfare that has been going on for centuries among the tribes in the wild man's territory of Northern Luzon has been due mainly to lack of acquaintance among the people. Every stranger being regarded as an enemy, it was a matter of course that each village should be at war with the neighboring villages, and head-hunting was an important part of the regular business of every able-bodied male citizen. The killing of the rice paddies and sweet potato fields could be carried on with safety only under armed guard—heads of women and children being not less desirable as trophies than those of men. For going away with this situation of affairs, the most effective means has been the building of roads and trails by which the tribes have been brought into communication with each other, thus having an opportunity to become friends. Ifugaos, Kalingas and Bontoc Igorots now work side by side with pick and shovel, instead of hunting each other with head-axes.

It is, in fact, a veritable social revolution that is being accomplished. All of the Mountain Province is being literally gridironed with trails and roads, the most inaccessible districts being opened up. A through route for horseback travel has been nearly completed all the way from Southern Benguet to the extreme northern end of Luzon. Telegraph and telephone lines are being extended over hundreds of miles of territory, and the watch towers on lofty peaks, hitherto occupied by native sentries on the alert for raiding bands of head-hunting foes, are deserted.

At Bontoc (capital of the sub-province of the same name), wonderful improvements are being made. Here, where half a dozen years ago no white man could have ventured without an armed escort, the men and boys are being taught brick-making and lime burning. A deposit of magnificent clay for the purpose was found near the river, with unlimited quantities of sharp sand suitable for building near by; also limestone. Today the people of the entire village of Milao, in that neighborhood, are burning lime and furnishing it to the government of Bontoc Province. They are becoming independently rich in the business. These facilities, with unlimited labor obtainable for nothing under the system of the ten-day tax, make building work exceedingly cheap. A large brick school house and a brick club house, as well as a building for the offices of the provincial government, of stone and brick, have been put up at Bontoc; also a prison for wild folk who misbehave themselves, and a small, but thoroughly up-to-date, hospital. A canal has been constructed recently to furnish the town of Bontoc with an abundant supply of pure mountain water.

It is expected that the hospital will be of incalculable usefulness. Most of the wild people seem heartily willing to give up their ancient custom of curing physical ailments by human and animal sacrifices, and come to the doctor for a touching confidence in the ability of the white man to give them help. Packages of simple remedies, with small pamphlet of directions in English and the more important native dialects, are distributed among the villages; likewise large quantities of quinine and other safe and useful drugs.

A recently discovered drug has been found to be a specific for the very unpleasant tropical disease called "yaws," which afflicts children of the Igorot, afflicted with it, was unwilling to go to the hospital, but was compelled to do so, receiving the one injection requisite. Then he began to complain bitterly that no medicine was being put on his sore. But the effect of the drug soon manifested itself, and he went about town excitedly demonstrating his improved condition to all who would look. Some days later he disappeared, sending his children to be pointed, because he wanted him for an object lesson to convince others of the efficiency of the treatment. To the great surprise of the hospital staff, he turned up again soon afterwards with this same other sufferer, "yaws," whom he had brought a distance of fifty miles from his native village, in order that they might be cured.

In Benguet the wild people are building school houses and sending their children to them. The boys are taught to construct looms, and the girls to use them for making cloth. Each, on completing her course of education, takes her loom and returns to her own village, thus extending her newly-acquired knowledge of weaving to her family and friends. At Bus is an Igorot girls' school in which the pupils not only make cloth, but manufacture articles of clothing for sale. Baguio, the capital of Benguet, is growing by rapid strides, and new and substantial buildings are springing up on every side.

Useful plants and particularly vegetables, including the Irish potato, are being placed in the hands of the wild people. Their agricultural methods at present entail great labor with limited results. They patiently clear a forest tract with bolos and turn over the soil with primitive implements, and then, after a short time, the growth of weeds drives them to fresh areas, where the performance has to be repeated. What the Americans propose to do is to provide them with modern tools and machinery, and with carbide lamps, and new and substantial buildings are springing up on every side.

A point by no means to be lost sight of is the fact that these wild people of Luzon are not savages of an ordinary type, but that they are of a different order, probably surpassing that of any other race of human beings in the world, but they are highly intelligent and even clever. Given the advantage of two or three generations of such educational opportunities as are now being afforded them by the Americans, and they will far exceed in intellectual qualifications the Filipinos of Manila and other coast towns. Indeed, it does not seem at all unlikely that in the future they, rather than the Filipinos, will become the dominant race in Luzon, controlling the affairs of the island and over those of the whole archipelago. In case we should value our supremacy so highly that we mean to keep them in the scale of civilization, the government of the United States is making every effort to protect them against civilization's evil. It does not seem at all unlikely that in the future they have undermined the moral and physique of so many primitive peoples on coming into contact with the corrupting Caucasians.

Ten-Year-Old Julia Gets in Bad Graces of Mother by Giving Tramp a Half-Dollar.

"Be not forgetful to entertain strangers; for thereby some have entertained angels unawares." The foregoing quotation is from chapter 13, verse 3, Book of Hebrews, and it is introduced solely because it constitutes a vital part of this story. Julia is ten years old and she goes to Sunday school. On a recent occasion the Sunday school teacher had considerable to say about this matter of "entertaining angels unawares." Anyway, it made a deep impression with Julia. A few days after the lesson Julia's mother left her in charge of the house for a few hours. When the mother returned she went to a particular cup in the cupboard to extract therefrom one-half dollar. In this cup is kept the family pig money, and Julia's mother knew that she had put fifty cents there before she had gone out. But the half dollar was gone. There was an expression of anxiety on Julia's face and mother scented mischief.

"Did you take that money?" asked the mother, quite severely. Julia broke into tears. "I gave it to a man that came to the back door," sobbed the little girl. "Gave it to a man!" exclaimed the mother. "What for?"

"I thought he might be God," tearfully replied Julia.—Kansas City Star.

BURNED AND ITCHED BADLY

539 Lincoln Park Blvd., Chicago, Ill.

"A year ago I received a very severe burn on my left arm. I caught cold in it and it was all sore and ulcerated. The sore was as large as a silver dollar. It was all red and inflamed and itched so badly. I suffered terribly from burning pain; could not sleep for two weeks. I burned and itched so badly. I applied—Salve. It did the trick. I bought the salve my druggist recommended as his own, but got no relief. I then commenced using the Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I bathed the burn with Cuticura Soap and applied the Cuticura Ointment on a linen bandage. I got relief from the first, and my arm healed nicely. I was soon able to be at work again. Had I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment at first I would have avoided lots of suffering." (Signed) Harry Junke, Mar. 9, 1912.

Old Roman Wall Unearthed. A part of the wall which once enclosed old St. Paul's, London, has been discovered in excavations at the corner of Paternoster Row and St. Paul's alley in London. The wall, which is about 50 feet long, is made of chalk and rubble, and was built in the twelfth century. On the same site pieces of a Roman amphora, Roman vases and some Samian ware have also been found. Other finds include a camel's skull unearthed in High Holborn and a large quantity of pipes of the eighteenth century. Under some old stables in Bartholomew Close—one of the oldest parts of London—three Norman arches have been found. They are close to one another, and are believed to have formed part of the cloisters of the priory which once stood on this site.

English Honors Cost Money. The letter patent granted for the dignity of a baron cost £150, and for that of a baronet £200, payable to the board of inland revenue. Other expenses to be incurred by the newly-honored include crests or new coats of arms, while some wish to have their "genealogical trees" properly made out. Consequently the Heraldic college is busy after the issue of a list of honors, while some wish to have a baron are not far short of £400, and those of a baronet exceed £200.

Move for Change in Time. The French ministry of public works is endeavoring to have the government adopt the system of reckoning time on railways by the use of the hours from 1 to 24, instead of 12 noon to 12 midnight. This system has already been adopted by many continental railways and has been in operation for years on the Canadian Pacific railway.

British Metropolis Leads in Mud. According to L.
