PINE CITY TEAM DEFEATS GRANTSBURG

A week ago today the Grantsburg aggregation of ball tossers met the Hurley Barringtons on the Rush City ball grounds and received a sound drubbing. The Grantsburg bunch were flushed with the victory of a few weeks previous and that they would have easy work in repeating the process.

But it was not so to be. The Barringtons were determined to show up the Wisconsin bunch and they sure did. Everything was lovely until the 3rd when the locals swatted Sommers for 4 runs. In this frame Grantsburg got 2 runs (can't see how it happened). For the remainder of the game they didn't have a look in. The Pine City team made another killing in the 7th and scored six times. Bing! Below is given the box score and the summary:

Reception at Pokegama Sanitarium.

Thursday evening at the Pokegama Sanitarium, a reception was held, which, without a doubt, was one of the nicest social affairs ever held at the lake.

The party was given by Mr. M. F. Dunphy, of Duluth, in the advent of his departure from the institution.

The party hall was decorated with autumn leaves and foliage and presented a beautiful appearance.

The speaker of the evening was Mr. Edward O'Neil, who referred to Mr. Dunphy, and in a few remarks the latter gave an account of his stay at the institution. He also dwelt on the splendid treatment received at the hands of the doctors and nurses in charge.

Refreshments were served in the large dining hall. The place cards were of autumn leaves and were very unique.

Reception for Teachers

On Monday evening at the H. H. Parish home, a reception was given the teachers of the local school, by the members of the M. E. church and Epworth League.

The various rooms of the parsonage were decorated with autumn leaves and presented a nice appearance.

A literary and musical program was rendered and in this some of the teachers found a place.

Following the program a light luncheon consisting of frappe and wafers was served. This part of the program was in the hands of the ladies of the church and they acquitted themselves in their usual manner.

About 11:00 o'clock the guests departed for their various places of abode.

OLD SOUTHLAND SEXTETTE COMING.

The Southland Sextette, a band of colored singers, will be in this place on Thursday evening, Oct. 17th., and will entertain the music lovers of our city. The company is composed of the following: Mme. Ruth Holmes, soprano soloist; Mme. Mayme Cephas, 2nd soprano and soloist; Miss Burnedene Henson, alto soloist; James H. Worsham, tenor soloist; J. C. Anderson, baritone soloist; R. S. Overstreet, basso, and Mme. May Ruf Johnson, accompanist.

This band of songsters comes very highly recommended, and without a doubt will entertain royally. Rev. McKean, of the local Presbyterian church, heard them last year at Jasper, Minn. and he says they are simply great. The following from the Winona Daily Republican-Herald, Oct. 7th, 1911, speaks for itself: "One of the best organizations of colored singers heard in Winona in many a day was the Old Southland Sextette, which appeared in concert in Central Methodist church last evening. A greatly varied and lengthy program was given and was made still longer by reason of the numerous encores, the audience being highly appreciative."

This from C. M. Bond, Pastor Grace Methodist church, Spencer, Ia., dated Nov. 27th, 1911:

"This is to certify that on Friday evening, Nov. 24th, 1911, we had with us "The Old Southland Sextette". After some years of experience in the Chautauqua work, and hearing a number of Jubilee Singers, I can frankly say that in my judgement "The Old Southland Sextette" is the best company on the road."

Don't miss this number! It will be a good one!

OLD PIONEER PASSES AWAY

On Tuesday, October 1st at 2:30 p. m. occurred the death of one of the pioneers of this section, Henry Brandes, aged 84 years. Death resulted from an attack of pneumonia.

Henry Brandes was born Sept. 20, 1820 at Hornburg, Germany. Before coming to America, Mr. Brandes served three years in the German army. At the age of 23 he left the Fatherland and upon reaching America came to St. Paul. At the time of the War of Emancipation Mr. Brandes proffered his services and was sent to the front. In 1867 he moved to Pine City and since then has made this his home. Mr. Brandes was a furrier by trade. He was a member of the local A. O. U. W. and G. A. R. organizations.

He leaves a widow and ten children: Mrs. John Bartlett, Emil Brandes, Alvin Brandes, Mrs. Will Staples, Mrs. Will Nason, Arthur Brandes, Mrs. Walter Kirch, Carl Brandes, Oscar Brandes, Fred Brandes.

Since making Pine City his home Mr. Brandes has made a vast host of friends who deeply mourn his loss. He was a kind and loving husband and father, ever willing and ready to help those about him. His home life was ideal. He was a general favorite among people of the Village and surrounding country.

The funeral was held today (Friday) from the home at 1:30 p. m. and from the church at 2:00 p. m. Rev. Lusk, member of the local German Lutheran church officiating. Interment was made in Birchwood cemetery.

"Home is not home,
 When father's not here;
 Angels have taken him
 Out of our care.

Dark is his room,
 Empty his chair;
 He has gone to that home
 In the sweet over there."

LINCOLN MISQUOTED

SON OF MARTYRED PRESIDENT SHOWS ROOSEVELT ALTERED HIS LANGUAGE.

WRITES EMPHATIC LETTER

Robert T. Lincoln Makes It Plain That the Colonel Has Nothing in Common With the Patriotic Executive of War Time.

Theodore Roosevelt is fond of asserting his own resemblance to Abraham Lincoln and of quoting from the words of the martyred president in support of the radical Rooseveltian theories.

But Robert T. Lincoln, in a letter to Chairman Hill of the Republican national committee, points out that Mr. Roosevelt has "deliberately altered" the words of Lincoln and has found "arguments upon the misquotation."

The letter is a complete exposure of Mr. Roosevelt's method of seeking roots. It shows that Abraham Lincoln had nothing in common with Roosevelt, and that the latter, in attempting to juggle with the name of the martyred president, is imposing upon the American people.

Mr. Roosevelt has never yet explained why he deliberately altered the words of President Lincoln to suit his own purposes, nor has he apologized for his misrepresentation.

On the contrary, he has ignored the grave charges contained in Mr. Lincoln's letter, which is as follows: "Manchester Vermont, April 27, 1912. My Dear Mr. Hill: You ask what I think of the repeated assertions by Mr. Roosevelt, that his attitude on certain radical doctrines is supported by the recorded views of my father...

"I understand it, the essence of Mr. Roosevelt's proposal is that we shall adopt the latter form of government in place of the existing form. This, in simple words, is a proposed revolution, peace or otherwise."

JUDGE LOREN W. COLLINS.

JUDGE COLLINS PASSES AWAY

WAS ON THE MINNESOTA SUPREME BENCH FOR SEVENTEEN YEARS.

PROMINENT IN WAR TIME

Man of National Note in G. A. R. Circles—Stricken Returning From Meet at Los Angeles.

Minneapolis—Judge Loren W. Collins, who had resigned as a justice of the Minnesota state supreme court in 1904 after seventeen years' service and who was one of the best-known members of the Minnesota bar and a man of national note in G. A. R. circles, is dead at his home here, following an attack of heart trouble with which he was seized at San Francisco, Sept. 15, while returning home from the national encampment of the G. A. R. at Los Angeles.

Judge Collins was 74 years of age and had been a leading figure in Minnesota public life for many years. He was a candidate for the republican nomination for governor in 1904. He declined an appointment to the United States senate to succeed the late C. E. Davis. Before his appointment to the supreme bench he served as district judge in the seventh district. He was mayor of St. Cloud, Minn., for four years and was a member of the legislature thirty years ago. He had a notable record in the civil war. He enlisted as a private in the Seventh Minnesota volunteers and came out of the army a brevet captain at the close of the war. He served as military chief-of-police of St. Louis during the troublous times when the Missouri metropolis was under military rule.

G. A. R. Leader Many Years.

Judge Collins had been for many years active in the affairs of the Loyal Legion and G. A. R. From June, 1908, to June, 1909, he was commander of the state G. A. R. and at the time of his death he was a member of the national executive committee of the G. A. R., a body of seven men that guides the commander-in-chief in his duties, and had served on the committee under six commanders-in-chief.

In this capacity he took an important part in the work of the recent national encampment at Los Angeles. He left Minneapolis for the coast city Sept. 2 with former Commander-in-chief Eli Torrance and other leading Grand Army men of Minnesota. On his way home he visited San Francisco, and it was there that he was stricken on Sept. 15 with the heart attack which ultimately proved fatal.

Judge Collins had a similar attack of illness in January, 1911. At that time his life was despaired of, but a rugged constitution, iron will and good care enabled him to resume his business as apparently good health.

Judge Collins married Ella M. Stewart at Berlin, Wis., Sept. 4, 1878. His wife died in 1894.

Was 74 Years Old. Judge Collins was born Aug. 7, 1838, at Lowell, Mass., and was able to trace his ancestry back to the beginnings of New England. In 1854 his father moved with his family to Eden Prairie, Minn. The young man for a time was a school teacher. He began to study law in 1859, and in 1867 enlisted in Company F, Seventh Minnesota volunteers. Until the fall of 1868 the regiment campaigned and then was ordered to be in the battles of Nashville, Spanish Fort, Tupelo and others.

SEEKS RECONCILIATION.

Hagen Would Return to Wife and Children.

St. Louis, Sept. 27.—Ole Hagen, a lumber clerk who disappeared from Wells, Minn., 11 years ago, after insuring his life for $11,000, has returned to his wife and three children, the youngest of whom was born after Hagen's disappearance. Hagen and Postmaster Styles and Hagen are old friends, having been fellow members of the Odd Fellows lodge at Wells. Hagen wants to go back to Wells and rejoin his wife and three children, the youngest of whom was born after Hagen's disappearance. Hagen and Postmaster Styles and Hagen are old friends, having been fellow members of the Odd Fellows lodge at Wells. He told Hagen that Mrs. Hagen could be induced in time to consent to a reconciliation.

Hagen announced his hope that the postmaster was right. He has left the Wells, presumably for Kansas City, where he will await letters from the postmaster.

ACCUSED OF ROBBERY.

Representative of Montenegro Held in Duluth.

Duluth.—Charged by the police with taking four thousand dollars from four estates left in his care, V. D. Nikolic, royal Montenegrin consul representative for the United States and Canada, was arrested here.

The consular agent taken to jail declared that international law protects him from arrest by civil authority and threatens, it is said by the police, to invoke international law in his defense.

The charge against Nikolic is equivalent to grand larceny in the first degree. Nikolic waived examination and was bound over to the grand jury. In default of $1,500 bail he went to the county jail. Bonding companies caused his arrest. Chief of Police Troyer of Duluth swore to the complaint.

The prisoner claims that he has already written to Montenegro for 30,000 francs, equivalent to about $6,000, and that he will soon square up everything.

AGED WOMAN IN COURT.

Mrs. C. Weidman of Wisconsin Accused of Killing Husband.

Winona.—A special jury has just been selected to hear the case of Mrs. Charles Weidman, the aged widow, charged with the murder of her 70-year-old husband in the cellar at their home at Independence, Wis., last April. The trial is being held before Judge Higbee at Cretchet in the district court at Whitehall, county seat of Trempealeau county.

The state, outlined the case for the prosecution. He said the state would show that the woman had her husband by the collar by the neck, there beaten to death and dragged to the bottom of the stairway. After the execution of the deed, he said the state would show that the woman had her husband by the collar by the neck, there beaten to death and dragged to the bottom of the stairway.

Suit to Annul Started. Winona.—There has been a new development in connection with the construction of the three state highways in Winona county, the contracts for which were let to the Carlson & Prins company. An application has been made to the district court for an annulment of the contract on the ground that in entering its bond the company furnished a bidder's bond, whereas the advertisement for bids called for a certified check.

Appeal for Wilson

Brings Reply For Taft

College Men's League Gets Answer It May

Not Relish. Rome G. Brown Believes Harvard Men Should

Unite on Taft.

The efforts of the "Woodrow Wilson College Men's League" to line up the college men of the country for their candidate have met at least one surprise. The league has sent out widely a request for contributions from college men, or for "suggestions."

One such letter sent through the "Harvard department" was delivered to Rome G. Brown of Minneapolis. Mr. Brown has replied. His answer has special interest because of the writer's extended Harvard record:

A graduate in the class of 1884, with the degree of A. B. magna cum laude; a member of the Harvard Phi Beta Kappa, member of the council of the Harvard Graduates' Magazine 1906-12, president of the Minnesota Harvard clubs 1905-7, president of the Associated Harvard clubs 1906-7.

The letter devotes particular attention to Theodore Roosevelt as a Harvard graduate, and is as follows:

"Minneapolis, Minn., Sept. 20, 1912.

"Mr. John A. deSaulles, Treasurer Woodrow Wilson College Men's League.

"Dear Sir—The communication from your 'Harvard department' asking for contribution to the Woodrow Wilson campaign fund or, in lieu thereof, suggestions, is received.

"My failure to contribute is not at all from any lack of esteem for Governor Wilson. He is an eminent representative of the scholar in politics, of whom Princeton men are justly proud.

"But, as a Harvard man, I feel constrained to give all the support within my power to that son of Yale, whose sturdy, judicial and statesmanlike qualities, as demonstrated by his record in public office, have made him, beyond all other presidential candidates, the exponent of that spirit of Harvard which is signified in its motto, 'Veritas.'

"Because of his unflinching adherence to truth President Taft deserves the support of every Harvard man. He has steadfastly refused to compromise with error. He has kept in the straight course dictated only by wise and deliberate judgment, uninfluenced by any selfish interests or by any mere policies of parties or persons. He has been true to his friends and true to his noble principles and high sense of duty.

"Mr. Taft has fought and is still fighting for the cause of good government, for the cause of progress and reform under our constitution. He stands today, in a greater measure than does any other living person, as the bulwark of our constitutional government against impracticable and vicious innovations, heedlessly and capriciously advocated by those who blindly plunge down the path leading inevitably to a tyranny, either of monarchy or of democracy for the nation.

"CALLS ROOSEVELT 'APOSTATE.' "In the existing political turmoil there has emerged from the ranks of Harvard graduates an apostate, one who is a pervert from his own ownership of tenet and of conduct, one who is recalcitrant to the spirit and teachings of his alma mater, a betrayer of his former friends and supporters and a traitor to his country. Sprung all safeguards, written and unwritten, established not confirmed for the success and stability of our constitutional government, he has projected himself into the present campaign as a presidential candidate.

"His unrestrained opinion and his unlimited ambition for self have blinded him to the pretension that, as president, he, and he alone, can dissipate all social, economic and industrial evils, and that, therefore, he, one great and, to which all people should now first attend, is to place him at the head of our government. "This single end he presumptuously assumes to be of such paramount importance that all other considerations should, if necessary, be sacrificed to bring it about. Once the greatest exponent of the established rule against the third term he afterwards smashes a virtually safeguarding precedent by announcing his own third term candidacy with his frivolous cup-of-coffee jest.

"For that effrontery alone he deserves to be condemned. And, if that were not sufficient, then his demagogic platform of being whatever any portion of the people want, regardless of in defiance of constitutional considerations, is enough to fill intelligent voters with distrust and fear. Then, again, his high-handed, deliberate attempt by trickery to steal a nomination, and, when failing in that, his charge of theft against his intended victims themselves, are characteristic examples of his "greatest feat" of truth.

"GREATEST MENACE" IN OUR HISTORY "The Roosevelt of today is the greatest menace to good government and to the welfare of this nation that has ever, in the history of this country, been embodied in any single cause or person. Compared with him Benedict Arnold was a patriot. The dangers to the welfare and stability of our government from either open or secret aid to enemies who attack our country by force of arms are not comparable with the disastrous results arising from the subtle injection into the minds of our citizens of a spirit of disregard for constitutional government.

"The person who assaults me, from in front or behind, and causes tangible physical injury, is a trivial offense when compared with him who, to serve his selfish purpose and under pretense of administering to my health, inoculates my system with the germs of an insidious and possibly mortal disease.

"He who has been to a greater extent than any other person, the undeserved object of vilification, disloyalty and misrepresentation from such an apostate deserves the sympathy and support of every loyal Harvard man and of every college man in the country. He deserves it all the more because circumstances have compelled him to stand almost alone, not only in a defense, forced upon him, from personal attacks and misrepresentation, but also in a defense of constitutional government against the artifices of a demagogue, or even anarchy, for this country, if it might better serve his itching for notoriety." Tribune, Sept. 20.

attempting to add 131 precinct men to the old committee was, of course, beyond his power. The resolution authorizing him to fill vacancies, of course, applied only to those places which became vacant after they had been filled and clearly did not apply to 131 new precincts. It could not in the nature of things apply to a change from the old system to a complete new system of precincts created by the city council, because if they were to be filled the entire number of 131 new precincts different from the old must be filled. One system could not be made into the other by a mere additional appointment of 131 committee men. No lawyer will say that such action by the committee thus constituted was legal. Therefore the action which the lawful committee of 250 took in electing Taft delegates who made a majority in the state convention was the only one which could be recognized as valid.

CONTESTED DISTRICT DELEGATES.

ALABAMA, Ninth District.

The Ninth Alabama contest turns on the question whether the chairman of a district committee had power to fill vacancies, whether a committee man who had sent his resignation to take effect only in case he was not present, being present, should be prevented from acting as a committeeman and, third, on the identity of another committeeman. The written resolution under which the right of the chairman to appoint to vacancies was claimed showed on its face that the specific authority was written in different writing and different colored pencil between the lines. A number of affidavits were filed by committeemen who were present when the resolution was passed to show that the resolution contained no such authority. This gave rise to a question of fact upon which a very large majority of both the national committee and the committee on credentials held that the lead pencil insertion was a forgery, that the chairman did not have the authority therefore to appoint to the vacancies, and therefore the action of his committee was not valid. This made it necessary to reject the contestants. The committee decided the two other issues of fact before them in the favor of the Taft contention, although the first decision was conclusive.

ARKANSAS, Fifth District.

In the Fifth Arkansas the question was one of the identity of one faction or the other as the Republican party. This convention followed the example of the convention of 1908 in holding that what was known as the Redding faction was not the Republican party, that it was a defunct organization and had only acquired life at the end of each four years for the purpose of using it in the national convention. The contestants were therefore rejected. It was shown that the other or Taft had been in active existence as the Republican party, had nominated a local ticket and had run a congressman.

CALIFORNIA, Fourth District.

The Fourth California presented this question: Under the state law the delegation, two from each district, was elected on a general ticket, in a group of twenty-six. Each delegate might either express his presidential preference or agree to vote for the presidential candidate receiving the highest number in the state. In the Fourth district the two candidates from that district on the Taft ticket expressed a preference for Taft, but did not agree to vote for the candidates having the highest state vote. These Taft delegates in the Fourth district received a majority of 200 more than the Roosevelt delegates in that district. The national call forbade, any law or the acceptance of any law which prevented the election of delegates by districts. In other words, the call of the national convention was at variance with the state law. The state law sought to enforce the state rule and required the whole twenty-six delegates to be voted for all over the state, assigning two to each district on the ticket to abide the state wide election, while the Republican national convention has insisted upon the unit of the district since 1880. That has been the party law. This convention recognized the party law and held it to be more binding than that of the state law and allowed the two delegates who had received in the Fourth district a vote larger than their two opponents assigned to that district, to become delegates in the convention. This was clearly lawful, for a state has no power to limit or control the basis of representation of a voluntary national party in a national convention. The fact that President Taft by telegram approved all the twenty-six delegates as representing him is said to be an estoppel against his claiming the election of two of those delegates in their Fourth district. What is there inconsistent in his approving the candidacy of all his delegates and the election of two of them? Why should he be thus estopped to claim that part of the law was imperative because in conflict with the call of the convention?

INDIANA, Thirteenth District.

In the Thirteenth Indiana there was no question about the victory of the Taft men because the temporary chairman representing the Taft side was conceded to have been elected by one-half a vote more than the Roosevelt side. This one-half vote extended through the riotous proceedings, and although it was not as wide as a barn door, the Taft men were not to miss the question as to electing the Taft delegates, and after continuous objection lasting three hours declined the

PFISTER IS COMING.

He is the eye specialist from St. Paul who has been so successful with his many patients here. The relief from headaches and nervousness found in his glasses is too well known to require comment.

His lectures before various institutions have frequently appeared in the Associated Press therefore his name is familiar to many throughout the country. He is particularly successful with children as one would imagine after his long experience with the children of the St. Paul schools. He will be at the Agnes Hotel, Wednesday Oct. 9th. As formerly, examinations will be free.

The feminist movement in Japan attained its main successes since restoration and the fall of the Meiji era. Many Japanese women visited foreign countries, received a foreign education and returned to their own country to play the part of propagandists. The population of girls has made great progress, and even the extension of suffrage to women finds its advocates not only among women themselves but among politicians and statesmen of thought. But progress in Japan is likely to be slow. A reaction that has lately emerged from the East is that is accustomed to fixed duties to its various classes. It is not usually tolerant of innovations or efforts to enlarge the sphere of particular classes. But, moreover, it is likely to play some part in retarding the political advance of women, and in confining her activities.

ALL TIRED OUT.

Hundreds More in Pine City in the Same Plight.

Tired out all the time; weary and worn out night and day; back aches; head aches, all on account of the kidneys, you must help them at their work. A Pine City citizen shows you how. Mrs. Albert Glasgow, Pine City, Minn., says: "For ten years my kidneys were badly disordered and nothing brought relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills, which were procured at Breckenridge's Pharmacy. I was unable to do any sleeping or hard work, owing to a severe backache and I always felt weak and worn out. The least quick movement caused sharp twinges through me and I had headaches and dizzy spells. The contents of one box of Doan's Kidney Pills completely rid me of those troubles and I consider it a pleasure to tell of my experience." (Statement given August 30, 1907.)

A WILLING CORROBORATION.

Mrs. Glasgow was interviewed on October 20, 1910 and she said: "I am still recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to my acquaintances at every opportunity, knowing them to be a most efficient kidney medicine. My former testimonial still holds good." For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.
