THE LUCKY ONES

Prizes Won by Pine County People at Guessing Contest Held at County Fair.

Arnold Klieker, of Pine City, was the winner of the guessing contest held at the recent fair by the Inter-State Lumber Co. The guessing contest was based upon the total shipments of Universal Portland Cement from all plants of the Universal Portland Cement Co., of Chicago, Pittsburg and Minneapolis, during the month of September. The records produced by the Cement Co. show that the shipments in September aggregated 1,162,247 barrels. The nearest guess was made by Arnold Klieker, the winner, whose estimate was 1,166,666 barrels. The second closest guess was made by Fred Pinno, of Pine City, whose estimate was 1,167,247 barrels and the winner of the third prize was J. B. Sower, of Pine City, who placed his estimate at 1,167,883. The Inter-State Lumber Co. offered 48 sacks of cement as prizes to the successful contestants. Very wide interest in the contest and in the attractive exhibit of the Inter-State was shown.

Farmers, as well as city people, are taking an increasing interest in cement as they learn more about its uses and possibilities. Not many years ago concrete construction was rare except for sidewalks in the cities; now the farmer has found that concrete, which is made simply by combining cement, sand and gravel (or crushed stone) with water is cheap and an everlasting substitute for lumber. Lumber is becoming scarcer, higher in cost and after a few years decays. Painting is needed and expensive repairs must always be made to farm buildings made of lumber. Concrete has come to take the place of lumber admirably. The farmer has found that he can do cement work himself without the help of expert contractors and in a great many localities the farmers are doing all their building work with cement. Sidewalks, fence posts, feeding floors, silos, water troughs, tanks, barn floors, cellars, milk houses, drain tile, manure pits, wells, cisterns, and foundations are some of the uses to which the farmer is putting concrete. One of the most important uses for concrete, which has undergone wonderful development recently, is the building of concrete pavements and country roads. The satisfaction which concrete has given for concrete sidewalks has led to its use universally for the building of sidewalks. For streets and roads concrete is proving equally successful. It makes a hard, durable, dustless and cheap pavement both for the city and the country. In Wayne county, Michigan, over 75 miles of concrete pavement, seventeen feet wide, is being laid in the country. The country around Detroit will soon have the most wonderful system of country roads in the world. The cost of a concrete road is not much greater than the cost of a good clay or macadam road and in point of durability and freedom from the necessity of repairs and upkeep cost they are greatly superior.

Cement seems to have come at a time when it was most needed in the field of construction. Fifteen years ago very little cement was manufactured in the United States, most of that used being imported from foreign countries. The annual American production has increased by millions of barrels and at present the United States produces more Portland cement yearly than any other country in the world. The per capita consumption of Portland cement is approximately one barrel per year. The production and use of cement will, undoubtedly continue to increase, by leaps and bounds as its low cost durability and general adaptability become more generally known.

OLD RESIDENT GONE.

Mrs. Garrett Corrigan Passes to Great Beyond After Eight Years of Suffering.

Miss Margarette Kinnery was born in Ellington, Dodge county, in 1872, and was therefore 40 years of age. In June 1891 she was married to Garrett Corrigan at Hinckley, where they resided until the Hinckley fire in September 1894 when they removed to their farm about three miles north of this place on the west shore of Cross lake, where they lived until about seven years ago when Mr. Corrigan built a residence in the western part of the village where they have resided ever since, and where Mrs. Corrigan passed away.

Eight years ago she was taken with muscular rheumatism and for nearly that entire period has been practically a cripple, but never a burden. The immediate cause of her death was rheumatism of the heart, from which she died Friday morning Oct. 11th, 1912 at 5:30.

Saturday morning the remains were taken to the home of Mrs. Corrigan's father at West Concord. The funeral was held from there Sunday and the body laid to rest in St. Rose's cemetery at Cherry Grove, Goodhue county. The funeral services were held Monday morning Rev. Fr. Rice officiating.

Mrs. Corrigan was a kind and indulgent wife and mother, a good neighbor and kind friend, and although she had been a great sufferer for years she never complained.

She leaves a husband, five children, an aged father, three sisters, Anna of West Concord, Mrs. Gaughan of Ellington and Mrs. VonWald of St. Paul; three brothers, James of West Concord, Charles of Iowa, and Thomas of N. D., beside numerous friends and neighbors to mourn her loss.

SOUTHLAND SEXTETTE WAS A SUCCESS.

The Southland colored Sextette that was advertised to appear at Stekl's hall last evening came and have gone. The reports that preceded them praising them were too mild as they were by far the best singers that have appeared before a Pine City audience for years.

The hall was comfortably well filled, but the entertainment merited a packed house. The M. E. church is to be congratulated in furnishing our music loving people with such a treat, and if the sextette are ever billed to appear here again they will surely be greeted with a packed house.

Time will not permit us to go into detail, but this much we will say, that their old plantation melodies were exceedingly fine, as were their solos, but we enjoyed their quartette and sextette work by far the best as their voices blended perfectly and every time they appeared they were heartily cheered. Taking it all in all it was by far the best, as we said, before, that has appeared here in many a year.

ATTEND TO KILL ROOSEVELT

Man Fires 32-calibre Revolver Wounding Ex-President in Breast

Milwaukee, Oct. 15.—Colonel Theodore Roosevelt was shot and seriously wounded as he was leaving the Gilpatrick hotel for the Auditorium when a bullet from a 32-calibre revolver struck him in the breast.

The assassin was prevented from firing a second shot by Albert H. Martin, one of Colonel Roosevelt's two secretaries.

The wound was regarded as superficial and the colonel went on to the hotel and later in his speech after he had seen the assassin arrested and taken to the police station.

Henry F. Cochems seized the would-be assassin and held him until police men came up. A mob surged around the man, who apparently is a radical on the subject of Roosevelt's running for another term as president, but the police succeeded in landing him safely in the central station.

The assassin, who is small of stature, admitted firing the shot and said that he was "man looking for a third term out to be shot."

In notes found in the man's pockets at the police station, were statements that he intended to shoot and kill Roosevelt.

While he was waiting for the X-ray machine, Colonel Roosevelt sat up on the operating table and talked with the doctors and joked with the physicians.

After a long cross examination Colonel Roosevelt's assailant, John Schrank, talked more freely.

ing weak, and members of his party ran to help him. He mentioned them to sit down.

"Let me alone. I'm all right," he said.

As soon as Colonel Roosevelt had assured himself that the assassin was safe in the hands of the police, he gave orders to drive on to the Auditorium.

They had driven hardly one of the four blocks from the hotel to the Auditorium when John McGrath, another of Colonel Roosevelt's secretaries, uttered a sharp exclamation and pointed to the colonel's breast.

"Look, colonel," he said, "there is a hole in your overcoat."

Colonel Roosevelt looked down, saw the hole, then unbuttoned the big brown army coat which he was wearing and thrust his hand beneath it.

When he withdrew it his fingers were stained with blood.

Colonel Roosevelt was not at all dismayed by his discovery.

Dr. Scurry Terrell of Dallas, Texas, who is attending to him just before it started off, insisted that the colonel return to the hotel. He would not hear of it, however, and the car was driven to the Auditorium.

from Court Room.

New York, Oct. 15.—"Bald Jack" Rose's story of how former Police Lieutenant Charles Becker plotted the murder of Herman Rosenthal was corroborated on the witness stand by "Bridgie" Webber, and Harry Vallon, self-confessed accomplices in the crime.

Webber's testimony further, he swore that Becker told him that on the night of the murder he would have killed Rosenthal himself if he had seen him.

The former assassin declared, "Bridgie" said, that he had slowed down his automobile while passing the Hotel Cadillac on Broadway in case Rosenthal should be lurking there.

"If I had seen him I would have backed him up against the wall and shot him," Becker said, according to Webber.

Attorney McIntyre, Becker's chief counsel, tried vainly to get them to admit that he had a personal motive for doing away with Rosenthal, but each stuck to his story that they had taken part in the murder plot at Becker's behest.

GREAT FLEET MOBILIZED IN THE HUDSON RIVER

Two Super-Dreadnaughts Attract Most Attention—Navy Makes Big Showing.

New York, Oct. 15.—Today marks the official beginning of the mobilization of the Atlantic fleet in the Hudson river.

The Hudson river presents a spectacle for the gods of war. It is by far the most impressive scene of the kind the American people ever witnessed.

Much of the interest of the public, as far as the ships themselves are concerned, is centered in the two super-dreadnaughts, the Arkansas and the Wyoming, whose displacement is 28,000 tons each.

New York is entertaining the visiting sailors on a grand scale. Perhaps the most conspicuous mark of the city's appreciation of the visit is the illumination of Riverside drive from Seventy-second street to Grant's tomb.

New York, Oct. 14.—"Bald" Jack Rose told the jury in Supreme Court Justice Goff's court in his whole story of the plot leading up to and the events following the murder of Herman Rosenthal, the gambler.

Without hesitating, without stopping to weigh his words, without the slightest emotion, he swore that Police Lieut. Charles Becker ordered and contrived the murder to prevent exposure as a blackmailer.

For more than an hour Rose related a narrative sordid and horrid. It was a tale of grafters and thieves and bad women, of treachery and robbery and murder.

Without hesitating, without stopping to weigh his words, without the slightest emotion, he swore that Police Lieut. Charles Becker ordered and contrived the murder to prevent exposure as a blackmailer.

TO THE VOTERS OF PINE COUNTY:
I desire to thank you for your votes at the Primary Election, in which I received the democratic nomination for the office of Clerk of District Court. I respectfully solicit your vote and support at the coming election, November 5th.

The office of Clerk of Court is an office that all the people of the county are vitally interested in and which closely affects the affairs of all of us. It is necessary and very essential for the proper administration of the affairs of this very important office that a man be honest, efficient, alert to the duties of the office and willing to devote his time to the work of the office as a servant of the people who place him there.

I feel that I am qualified to fill this important place, that I fully realize its magnitude and believe that I am broad enough in my views to clearly grasp the situation and use it for the welfare of the whole county.

Before you determine your choice for this office, I ask that you make a careful investigation of my reputation, scholarship, and general business ability and if you can then give me your support I can truthfully promise you that I fully realize the importance of such, and will do my best to hold the confidence and respect of the people.

Yours very truly,
WM. F. BUSELMEIER.

To The Voters of Pine County:

I respectfully solicit your votes for re-election as Sheriff of Pine County. I stand for re-election on my record and solicit your support, unless you believe some act of mine as incumbent of this office has rendered me unfit for such re-election. On this point I rely upon my public record. No complaint for wrong or inefficiency has ever been made against me. I have neither done nor left undone anything which was not required by my oath of office to do or not to do, and any criticism against me for any act or omission must necessarily be a criticism against me for failure to violate my oath of office. That I have neither done and never will do.

In every matter which has come before me for decision or action the sole consideration which has influenced my conduct has been the requirements of law which guide and regulate the discharge of the duties of Sheriff, and which no man can disregard without committing a breach of faith towards the people he represents, and justifying himself. The efficiency and economy of my administration cannot be successfully questioned, and if I am re-elected I will faithfully and impartially do my duty to the best of my ability. I am for law and order and will protect the lives and property of the people.

Respectfully submitted,
R. J. HAWLEY.

PASSED TO GREAT BEYOND.

Gerd E. Kruse Passes Away at His Home in This Place Wednesday Morning After a Brief Illness.

Wednesday morning October 3rd, 1912, Gerd E. Kruse passed to that "bourn from which no traveler ever returns." Monday morning September 30th, he was taken with a stroke of paralysis from which he never recovered. He had known for some time that the end was near, as three or four weeks prior to his death he had gone up to the cemetery, picked out the lot where he wanted to be laid, gave instructions in regard to the funeral and made all preparations for his departure.

Gerd E. Kruse was born at Osterland, Germany, October 14th, 1854, he came to America in 1884 and settled in Illinois, was married to Miss Fanny Hansbroek at Freeport, Illinois, in 1889, and to this union eight children, all of whom are married and still survive him, were born.

Eighteen years ago the family moved from Illinois to this county, and settled on a farm on the west shore of Cross Lake, about five miles north of this place, where they resided until about seven years ago, when they sold out and purchased the Bert Stephan's farm one mile north of town, this they sold about a year ago, and came to town, purchasing the Martin Adler property in the western part of the Village near Birchwood cemetery, at which place they have resided ever since, and where he passed away.

Mr. Kruse was of a genial disposition, a kind and indulgent husband and father, a good citizen and neighbor and a man it was a pleasure to have as a friend.

The funeral was held from the German Lutheran church Saturday afternoon October 5th, at 2 o'clock and the body laid to rest in the plot of ground in Birchwood cemetery that he had selected, Rev. Luebker officiating.

Mr. Kruse leaves a sorrowing wife, eight children, an aged sister, who resides at Golden, Illinois, quite a number of grand-children and a host of friends to mourn his loss.

The Pioneer extends its heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved family.

WHY MEXICO IS AFRAID

GUADALAJARA

BECAUSE the crater of a boiling, seething volcano is directly beneath this city of 150,000 souls, in all probability Guadalajara on the northern American continent. The subterranean volcano has caused 340 earthquakes in the last three months. Twice, once in July and once in August, the shocks became so heavy that they practically depopulated the city for nearly a week on each occasion.

Seven scientists headed by Prof. Ramon Leon of the seismographic branch of the National Observatory have just finished a report on the quakes and their causes. They declare that Guadalajara, with its 150,000 inhabitants, is built in the crater of a giant volcano which was active about 1,800 years ago. Below the city, they add, is the center of this crater, in which a new crater has formed, likely to break out at any time.

They warn the residents of Guadalajara that beneath them is an enormous cauldron of molten stone and burning coal and sulphur combined with gases which come from still further down in the bowls of the earth. The report urges that the city be moved or that at least the inhabitants abandon it immediately. The center of the crater is located a trifle west of the main plaza and practically under the state palace or capitol of the state of Jalisco.

Scientific measurements, soundings with a diamond drill and experiments with the gases which have been pouring through cracks in the earth in the city are given, with detailed results of the study. Professor Leon and his associates deduce that as surely as science can forecast the city will be destroyed by this buried crater, which they say is enormous, though they admit that they cannot with accuracy foretell when the volcano will burst forth.

They infer that the destruction will come within a year, for they say that the volcano, whose cauldron is placed 800 feet below the surface of the earth, is what is known as ripe for the explosion. The report goes on to say that this is the first instance in the history of the world in which a city has been located over the crater of a volcano and that the heat from the buried bowl of fire accounts for the warm climate of Guadalajara, which, while 5,000 feet above the sea, has the temperature range of a coastal resort, with practically no change between summer and winter.

Increasing heat noticed in this part of Jalisco for the past year are recorded by the local branch of the government weather bureau first gave Professor Leon the idea that subterranean fires were responsible for the climate. Then came the earthquakes, the opening of fissures in the main streets of the capital of the state, and the escape of large volumes of sulphur laden gases from these fissures.

Fullest publicity is being given to the report here, and government officials are sedulously considering the removal of the capital to Juancatlan on the Santiago river.

The removal will follow the taking away of all the government papers, which have been transferred to Mexico City already. The state palace or capitol in Guadalajara is one of the largest and most beautiful of all the buildings of its kind in Mexico and cost approximately 7,000,000 pesos. It fronts on the main plaza or public square and occupies one entire end, being nearly three hundred yards in length.

Guadalajara is the second city in the republic ranking next to Mexico City in population and above it in wealth, being second only to Merida, Yucatan, in this respect. It is the market place of two of the richest states in Mexico, Jalisco and Michoacan, and is commonly called "the Pearl of the Occident," while the surrounding territory is known as the granary of Mexico.

For these reasons the people who live here are loath to leave the city. The Catholic church will be especially hard hit if the removal idea is carried out. The cathedral, which is one of the finest in Mexico, contains more gold and silver ornaments than any other church save the cathedral of Puebla, and has in addition the distinction of having been completed in 1518 and of having been almost destroyed by an earthquake in 1750. It was severely shaken in 1818, and cracked in three places by the first series of the 340 quakes of the past three months. In June, 1912, the towers are 200 feet high, Byzantine in construction and the structure occupies one of the most valuable pieces of land in Guadalajara.

The most precious art possession of the entire republic is contained in the sacristy of the cathedral. It is Murillo's painting of the "Assumption of the Virgin" and it hangs directly above the entrance. In part of color and freshness this painting is better than any Murillo now known to the art world of Europe or America, while the finned to an area not more than 100 miles in diameter. Neither Colima nor any other volcano in Mexico was in eruption. We had to look closer to Guadalajara for the cause. We made a trip through the surrounding country and discovered that the city lies in the center of what was once a volcano.

The walls of this ancient crater are fully 15 miles on all sides from the city. From the character of the stone composing these walls, their evidences of fire and the condition of the lava fragments which litter the bowl of the crater, I should say it was last active from 1,800 to 2,000 years ago.

"The mountain range" which surrounds the city on all sides is the remnant of this ancient crater. On the north and east, you know, the plateau of Mexico slopes downward to these ranges; on the west and south the ancient volcano wall slopes away 5,000 feet downward through some 70 or 80 miles to the Pacific ocean. This was an ideal location for a volcano, and precisely similar to the location of Colima, still active, and Orizaba, which, while still smoking, has not been active for 400 years.

"Now, in the center of the ancient crater, which must have been larger than any volcano of which we have knowledge at the present day, was the blow hole, or vent. Over this blow hole the Spaniards who conquered Mexico set up the city of Guadalajara, little thinking that they were selecting a veritable death trap for their settlement. Slowly through the eighteen or twenty centuries since was last active this central melting pot of the old volcano has been forming a new and equally powerful mass of molten material, which sooner or later will blow Guadalajara off the face of the earth.

"An earthquake, landslides, cloudbursts or other elemental disturbances filled the opening of this ancient crater with a cap 300 feet in thickness. This cap, much thicker than that which any other volcano has had to blow off, is the only thing that has saved Guadalajara from destruction years ago. How long it will protect the city now is a question no man can answer and prove a matter of months; in any event, I believe that the only way to save the capital is to move it bodily and move it while there is time to do so."

Aside from its scientific interest, and from the unique situation of a city built on a volcano, there remains the very practical problem which confronts Guadalajara—the job of moving a city of 150,000 souls to a new location. So Juana cantan is the most likely candidate for the honor of being the capital of Jalisco, but there are a number of other towns out of range of the buried crater, all of which will be considered before the change is made.

All sorts of wild propositions to tap the crater and draw off the menacing fires have been made to the authorities of Guadalajara, but the men of science say there is no way to curb the demon of fire caused by nature below and that the city must be removed or it will be destroyed. One man proposed to turn the waters of the Santiago river into a huge tunnel, driven to the heart of the crater, but the earthquake specialists quickly informed the city officials that this merely would cause an immediate and more terrible explosion than if the crater were left to itself.

Another man offered to tunnel into the crater from a point five miles outside the city, and on the slightly lower or western side, and let the contents of the crater flow out. He was disappointed when informed that his tunnel would have to be about 500 feet in diameter and that the heat would be so great a hundred feet from the inner end of the tunnel that human beings could not endure it.

Thus it appears that unless a "surgeon for earthquakes" appears, and that very shortly, Guadalajara will have to pick up her houses and move to a new location. The result to real estate owners and men who have bought or built some of the fine blocks which line the main streets of the Jalisco capital will be financial ruin.

Some of these men profess to doubt the word of the scientists and to believe that the city is safe. They will throw their influence and their votes against moving the city unless they can be convinced that there is a very real personal danger for themselves and their families.

TRUE TO HER SEX. Protected Both Ways.

Two conservative ladies of old-fashioned notions were traveling in the west and, becoming interested in a young girl on the train, finally asked why she was making so long a journey alone. They were greatly shocked at her blithe explanation:

"Well, you see, my mother and stepfather live at one end of the journey, and my father and stepmother live at the other. They send me to each other twice a year, so there isn't a bit of danger with four parents all on the lookout!"

Hopkins More in Pine City in the Basic Pill.

Tired out all the time; weary and worn out night and day; back aches, head aches, all on account of the kidneys, you must help them at their work. A Fine City citizen shows you how. Mrs. Albert Glasgow, Pine City, Minn., says: "For ten years my kidneys were badly diseased and nothing brought relief until I used Doan's Kidney Pills, which were procured at Breckenridge's, I was unable to do any stooping or hard work, owing to a severe backache and I always felt weak and worn out. The least quick movement caused sharp twinges through me and I had headaches and dizzy spells. The contents of one box of Doan's Kidney Pills completely rid me of these troubles and I consider it a pleasure to tell of my experience." (Statement given August 30, 1907.)

A WILLING CORROBORATOR. Mrs. Glasgow was interviewed on October 25, 1910 and she said: "I am still recommending Doan's Kidney Pills to my acquaintances at every opportunity, knowing them to be a most efficient kidney medicine. My former testimonial still holds good."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-McMunn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States. Remember the name—Doan's, and take no other.
