FOURTH OF JULY.

George Wandel Delivers Best Oration Ever Heard in This Place.

The Fourth of July celebration in Pine City would have been the best ever held in this part of the state if the weather had been favorable. Even stormy as it was there was the largest crowd that Pine City has ever seen.

At an early hour, although it looked like rain, the roads leading to town were lined with teams just like a funeral, and this continued until about 10 o'clock.

On account of everything being so wet, the parade that was to have started at 9:30 did not get out until about 11 o'clock, but it did not amount to much, as the merchants and business men, after promising to have floats, all backed out except Mr. Pennington, who is running E. W. Splittsoer's machine shop and automobile garage, who had an auto with a banner on each side advertising his business. The parade formed at Stekl's hall, led by the Naval Militia: they were followed by the Rush City band of 20 pieces, fire department, band filled with little girls, Clarence Gottry, with a comical fig, Mr. Pennington, and citizens in carriages and autos. The line of march was cut short on account of the muddy condition of the streets.

After the parade the exercises in the park were held. The band played a patriotic selection, after which Robt.
Wilcox, who acted as chairman, called on Rev. McKean, who offered a prayer.
Elmer Peterson was then introduced and read the Declaration of Independence in a very pleasing manner.

George Wandel, eldest son of Register of Deeds James H. Wandel, who was orator of the day, was then introduced, and spoke for about half an hour on "Patriotism." Space will not permit of us going into detail, but Mr.
Wandel did himself proud. More than one stranger as well as some of our own people wanted to know where the committee found such a talented young orator, and one and all declared it was one of the best orations they ever heard delivered. About the time Mr.
Wandel finished speaking it started to rain and rained until about 1:30, so that no sports were pulled off. After dinner the base ball teams decided to go over on the diamond and try conclusions.

The game was between North Branch and Pine City, and was a good fast game from start to finish, considering the condition of the grounds, and resulted in a victory for the local team by the score of 3 to 1. Wm. Sommers, of Rush City, did the twirling for Pine City, and succeeded in striking out 14 of the North Branch boys, while O.
and E. Alvine, who were the slab artists, only struck out 8 of the local team.

The fireworks at the dock in the evening were the best that have been seen here in a great many years, but were hurried through, as it was threatening rain. After supper the bowery was started up and was well patronized until the storm about 8:45, struck here, when all went down to Stekl's hall, where a grand ball was in progress, the hall being lighted with candles, the storm having put the electric lights on the hummer.

THE CYCLONE ON JULY 4.

The Worst Ever Experienced in This Part of the Country.

At about 8:45 just after the crowd of people had returned from viewing the fire works, one of the worst storms of lightning, wind and rain ever seen in these parts visited us.

When the storm struck the village, trees were blown down several falling across the electric light and telephone wires, putting them out of commission and plunging this and other towns in darkness.

Lanterns, lamps and candles were fished out, and as soon as possible the people that had sought shelter where-ever it could be found began to move around.

About eleven o'clock reports began coming in telling of barns being unroofed and sheds, windmills being blown down. In the morning all sorts of rumors were afloat on our streets in regard to places to the west of us being wholly or partially wiped away but later reports proved the stories false.

Up to the present there has been reported about fifty barns and sheds unroofed and blown down, about a dozen windmills demolished.

One strange thing about the storm was that so many trees were uprooted, twisted off, blown into the streets, barns and sheds unroofed and blown down and not a horse injured or a person or stock, with the exception of two calves being injured or killed.

Taking the storm as a whole and the manner in which it tore things up in town and the surrounding country, it is nothing short of a miracle that no one was killed or injured.

CAPITAL STIRRED BY LAMAR STORY

New York Broker Admits Having Pooled as Various Congressmen.

INQUIRY PLANNED BY HOUSE

Lamar Tells Amazing Story of His Activities in Lobby Work—$82,000,000 Fraud in Union Pacific is Charged.

Washington, July 5.—Extraordinary developments occurred in the lobby situation in the house of representatives and before the senate lobby committee. They were:

A broad confession by one David Lamar, who admitted this name to be an alias, and who described himself as a New York operator in stocks, that he had impersonated members of congress in behalf of the Oregon Short Line Railroad, a New York lawyer, to prevent national legislation hostile to big financial interests.

A detailed charge by Lamar that the Union Pacific company's books had been forged in 1901 on an item involving $82,000,000, one of the results of which, he alleged, was that Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and the late E. H. Harriman amassed enormous fortunes.

Demands by these congressmen and others for an immediate investigation of the "Wall Street" revelations by a special committee to be created by the house.

Reference of these several resolutions to the committee on rules, with instructions to report a comprehensive resolution on Saturday next calling for a thorough investigation of all lobbying operations directed on members of congress.

Witness Eye Own Tale.

Lamar, or whatever his real name may be (and the committee proposes to force him to reveal it before he is finally exempted to report a comprehensive resolution on Saturday next calling for a thorough investigation of all lobbying operations directed on members of congress).

At one time he said he was Congressman Palmer, at another Congressman Rindor, at another Chairman McCormack of the national Democratic committee endeavoring to make an arrangement with Chairman Hill of the Republican party for benefit through pressure on senators and congressmen the interests with which Hill was associated.

He impersonated so many congressmen that he could not remember them all.

Claims He Altered Public.

His sole motive, he claimed, was to impress the big financiers with the ability of his friend Lauterbach, New York operator, the sole beneficiary of the Republican conduct.

"For several days, persons connected with an effort was being made to secure publication of a prepared story about an alleged falsification of the accounts of the Union Pacific company involving figures of $70,000,000 or $100,000,000 of its surplus."

"Two were informed, in substance, that this story was so palpably false and fraudulent and so plainly offered for an improper purpose, that the newspapers would not publish it. Informed that the story was so palpably false and fraudulent, that the newspapers would not publish it."

ter that they would not even confer with him on any subject. "And it is perfectly true, therefore, that for the purpose of endeavoring to restore the condition of former friendship and harmony that had existed between Mr. Lauterbach and the firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and Mr. Schiff, I did, using the names of other persons, have a number of conversations with the telephone and the firm connected with the Union Pacific company."

Testimony Given by Lamar.

Lamar, when he first took the stand this morning, admitted that the man mentioned in the testimony of Robert S. Lovett as having called Wall Street financiers on the telephone and impersonated congressmen.

He then gave a history of his alleged dealings with financiers and railroad magnates. In 1897, he said, the late Russell Sage authorized him to proceed to compel the Union Pacific to buy the government $58,000,000 in bonds owing it. Lamar, with Senator Forsaker, came to Washington and conferred with President McKinley.

"We were charged with being a pair of conscienceless blackmailers," Lamar said, "but that had no effect on us."

When Sage retired from business in 1901, on Sage's recommendation, Lamar said, he became associated with Lamar B. Keene. Lamar said he warned Keene, when the latter was buying Union Pacific stock, that the railroad would ruin him to get revenge for Lamar's previous activity.

He detailed how, when Keene and his associates had $43,000,000 in Union Pacific stock at a high price, with Keene's approval he retained Lauterbach, a New York lawyer, and paid $25,000. Lauterbach and Lamar came to Washington, paid Forsaker a fee, and engaged him.

When the injunction was finally decided against Keene Union Pacific stock was sold, and his friends lost most of their fortune.

Tells of Phone Talks.

"As the result of the panic of 1907," said Lamar, "Harriman, Kuhn, Loeb & Co., the National City Bank, and Morgan & Co. became bound together as with an iron band."

"For the purpose of doing my friend Lauterbach a service," he said, "I restored him to his former friendship with Kuhn, Loeb & Co., Jacob Schiff and the Union Pacific officials."

And others, did have conversations with the national city bank, and those conversations I did use the names of other persons. But there was no suggestion of a fee to Mr. Lauterbach. On the contrary, he paid me phone messages Mr. Lovett came here and charged that Edward Lauterbach had tried to blackmail him."

"The national city bank," he added, "spoke in indignance, compared with an $82,000,000 forgery which he alleged was committed on the Union Pacific books in 1901."

"I don't know who did it," said Lamar, "the chairman of the board of the office boy, but I do know this $82,000,000 was taken from the National City Bank, and Kuhn, Loeb & Co. to gain control of these corporations."

Tells Story of "Forgery."

He described a double entry of $82,000,000 representing securities the Union Pacific assumed in taking over the Oregon Short Line and the Oregon Railway and Navigation company.

The items, he said, were carried in the "consolidated balance sheet" of the Union Pacific June 30, 1900, but he said that time June 30, 1901, he alleged, some one had erased the $82,000,000 item from one side of the ledger, leaving it as a credit balance on the other side.

"They took all the securities of the Oregon Short Line and the Oregon Railway and Navigation," he said, "and used them as security for an issue of bonds. They got that money, and used it to finance the deal for the Northern Pacific and Great Northern railways and the formation of Great Northern Ore properties, which they sold out at an enormous profit."

Later, Lamar alleged, the principals in the transaction went to Kuhn, Loeb & Co. and secretly got nearly $300,000,000, which he believed was for their own use.

Dental Made by Cravath.

Immediately after Lamar had finished this phase of the story Paul D. Cravath of counsel for the Union Pacific railroad put in this reply:

"In view of the statement regarding the account of the Union Pacific Railroad company which David Lamar has gone out of his way to make before this committee, and inasmuch as persons not familiar with David Lamar's character who may read this statement in the newspapers, may be misled thereby, I deem it my duty to make the following statement for the records of the committee:

"For several days, persons connected with an effort was being made to secure publication of a prepared story about an alleged falsification of the accounts of the Union Pacific company involving figures of $70,000,000 or $100,000,000 of its surplus."

"Two were informed, in substance, that this story was so palpably false and fraudulent and so plainly offered for an improper purpose, that the newspapers would not publish it. Informed that the story was so palpably false and fraudulent, that the newspapers would not publish it."

LAUTERBACH SAYS HE WAS A VICTIM

"VICARIOUS SACRIFICE" IN LOSS BYING FOR WALL STREET, HE ALLEGES.

CHARGE MISREPRESENTATION

Denies That He Tried to "Shake Down" the Big Interests—Report of Investigation.

Washington, July 9.—The strange tale of Wall Street operations, begun before the senate's lobby committee last week by David Lamar, had another chapter added when Edward Lauterbach, Lamar's associate in many undertakings, pleaded that he had been the innocent victim and "vicarious sacrifice" in negotiations that have involved the Morgan firm, members of congress and men of lesser prominence.

Lauterbach had already testified before the committee. But since his former appearance Lamar had told his unexpected story, involving himself and Lauterbach in the preliminaries of the steel trust investigation.

He stated that Lauterbach had restored Lauterbach to the good graces of the Morgan firm; and Lewis Cass Lodge had added his sworn statement that Lauterbach had represented himself as the emissary of Senator Clark, Senator Stone and Democratic leaders in an effort to "effect a reconciliation" with the Morgan-Steel interests and shut off investigation or opposition in congress.

All Day on Stand.

Lauterbach, long prominent in legal circles in New York, sat all day under a searching fire of questions from senators on the lobby committee. He admitted, voluntarily or under the demand of his questioners, most of the facts alleged by Lamar, but he declared that throughout the negotiations between Lamar and himself and Lauterbach, and members or representatives of the Morgan firm, he had been the innocent victim of those who had concealed facts or made misrepresentations to him.

The case admitted his long association with Lamar and said it had been an honorable connection and a profitable one for him. He told of talking over with Lamar the steel trust situation and of seeing the proposed resolution and admitted urging Lamar to withhold it until he could see the attitude of the others and urge them to authorize him to present its introduction.

Throughout the entire proceeding he denied that he had received any reward on his part. He raised him in the witness chair and shouted "I am a victim!"

Lauterbach admitted he had told Lodge he had the authority of Senator Stone and Senator Clark to make proposals for peace to the Morgan interests, but said this authority came from Lamar. He declared he had never seen Clark or Stone, but had been assured by Lamar that the latter knew Senator Stone and that he had the arrangements for the approval of Stone and the speaker.

"My only hope was for restoration to the good graces of the people who I apparently had gotten together to do my best," he said.

"I cannot say that I did not know what Lamar's motive was in including up the proposed investigation of the steel corporation. He thought I was an interest in everything that was being done in New York, and of a large number of men, but without being financially interested."

Meal Ticket Identifies Man.

Rhineland, Wis., July 8.—A meal ticket found on the body of a man struck and killed by a train at Three Lakes identified the deceased as Edward Ryan, 6822 Justice street, Chicago, aged 30 years. The meal ticket entitled the bearer to a week's meals at the mess wagon of a circus troupe.

Police Chief of Havana Shuts.

Havana, July 9.—General Armando Rios, chief of the national police, has been wounded during a shooting in the city. He was shot by a pistol shot in the chest by a man named Ernesto Asbert, governor of Havana province. Senator Vidal Morales and representative Armas were also wounded in the fighting, which was provoked by a raid made by General Rios Saturday night on the Asbert club.

Engagement of President's Daughter to New York Lawyer to Be Announced.

Lancaster, Pa., July 8.—The engagement of Miss Jessie Woodrow Wilson, youngest daughter of the president, to Francis B. Sayre of New York, will soon be announced. The bridegroom, according to the White House statement made here.

Miss Wilson and Mr. Sayre have been visiting the latter's aunt, at Miss Blanche Neve, the sister-in-law, at her summer home, Windsor Forest, at Churchtown, a few miles from here.

London, July 7.—King George and Queen Mary celebrated the twentieth anniversary of their marriage Sunday.

RENEW RAIL RIOTS

STRIKERS CONTINUE REIGN OF TERROR IN JOHANNESBURG—TROOPS CHARGE MOBS.

DEMAND GLADSTONE'S RECALL

Government's Effort to Quiet Strike Disturbance in Gold District Ineffective—To Petition King to Depose Governor.

Johannesburg, July 7.—The settlement of the strike among the gold miners in Rand district, which the government arranged with a committee of strikers on Saturday, has proved ineffective, although comparative order was preserved over night and Sunday.

The mobs reassembled late Sunday, all trains and street cars suspended service, the crowd refusing to work. No newspapers were able to issue editions. Additional troops guarded the Rand club, the scene of serious disturbances Saturday. A great mob assembled there, hooting and jeering the troops.

Up to midnight there had been no serious trouble, but armed police officers were sent guarding property.

Ask Gladstone's Recall.

The recall of the governor general of the Union of South Africa, Viscount Gladstone, is demanded by the Federated Union of South Africa. At a meeting of the federation at Eristoria attended by 1,200 delegates it was unanimously resolved to petition the imperial government to take this action because the governor general employed troops to suppress the strike.

The opinion is very general that the government has made serious blunders throughout the present trying situation. When Gen. Louis Botha, the premier of the Union of South Africa, and the Hon. Smita, minister of the interior, minute and defense arrived at Johannesburg they were amazed at the strikers' organization and the desperate spirit of the leaders.

Unions Flashed a Success.

The federated unions are flushed with success and confident that they are complete masters of the situation. The strikers are ready to be obeyed any order given them. The leaders have already commanded the newspapers to cease publication until after the next election.

They count on the government's defeat in the election of 200,000 of whom are locked in the compounds at the mines.

A great crowd of strikers wearing red badges surrounded the Carlton hotel while the terms of settlement were being arranged. When the strikers announced from the balcony that a settlement had been agreed to they were greeted with shouts of "What about the dead?" "You've been bought."

Since 1899.

Except at the time of the Jameson raid in 1896 and the outbreak of the war in 1899 this city has not experienced a day of terrorism as Saturday. The mobs in the business section caused less fear than desperadoes who were threatening to dynamite the mine.

All places of the business section were closed and guarded by troops, while bands of citizens armed with rifles patrolled the residential quarters.

The rioting began when strikers forced their way into the Rand club, whose members are mine owners. They demolished everything on the first landing, threw the gas dragons scattered floor, but it quickly reformed. The troops fired a volley then two volleys directly into their ranks. The rioters fled, leaving behind a large number of killed and wounded.

IOWA GOVERNOR IS STRICKEN

Physicians, After Removing Clarke From Executive Office to Sick-room, Say He Is Gaining.

Des Moines, Ia., July 7.—Gov. George W. Clarke was taken to a local hospital suffering from an affection of the kidneys. An immediate examination by physicians was ordered to determine whether or not his condition was serious.

Governor Clarke became ill shortly after reaching his office in the state house and said he suffered severe pains.

Dr. G. H. Sumner and W. L. Biering of the state board of health and Dr. Oliver J. Fay were summoned to the executive offices. The ordered the governor removed to the hospital.

After consultations, Drs. Fay and Biering issued a bulletin announcing the governor's condition as satisfactory. His temperature and pulse were normal and pains in his abdomen were being allayed.

Rich Man Ends Life.

Memphis, Tenn., July 7.—A. G. McDonald of Toronto, Canada, who had been committed suicide in a hotel by drinking poison. His body was found at noon. His poison, from the bottle, was left on the floor of the room. The man was a lumberman with offices in Memphis. He was wealthy.

Writer Held for Bigamy.

London, July 5.—Charles Hoehn, well-known writer, was ordered held in bigamy, following his conviction in bigamy.

George E. Gorman, who now represents a Chicago district in congress, attended Georgetown university in Washington, is a lawyer and is forty years old.

BANDITS HOLD UP TRAIN; ESCAPE WITH $10,000

Express Car on I. C. Road Looted in Mississippi by Five Robbers.

New Orleans, July 5.—Four bandits held up Illinois Central Chicago-New Orleans train No. 1 at Sards, Miss., blew open the American Express company's safe and got away with money and valuables amounting to more than $10,000.

The passengers on the train were not molested, but a fireman who did not obey orders quickly was knocked unconscious by the butt end of a pistol and the train crew threatened with drowning in the Tallahatchie river, near by, if he resisted. A few shots were fired to scare the passengers. The robbers escaped, but bloodhounds and possees from Mississippi and Tennessee are now after them.

The bandits dragged the train on the Tallahatchie river bridge and compelled Engineer Norton of Memphis to abandon his engine cab, leaving the train under guard of one bandit.

The express messengers and mail clerks were forced to leave their cars. They were ordered to uncouple the mail and express car and the engine. The fireman holding up the train through Batesville to a mile south of town, in a dense river bottom forest. Two of the bandits then dynamited the express safe.

Following the robbery, the bandits boarded the engine and ran it ten miles farther down the track, when the fire went out. Requiring the fireman was trying to trick them, the bandits threw him out of the cab. He was slightly injured. The robbers were ordered to abandon the engine a mile north of Bald, Miss., where they escaped through a dense forest.

Officers say that from the description of the men they are the same who have been holding up trains in the south for several months.

20,000 BULGARS DIE IN FIGHT

Bloodiest Fighting in All Balkan War Revealed in Report of Quarter-Master to Serbian Army.

London, July 7.—After ten days of fighting, more severe and deadly in character than any in the last Balkan war, light begins to break upon the hitherto obscure operations.

The Serbian losses were less than in the whole previous campaign, and semi-official statements issued at Belgrade have the appearance of an intention to prepare the public for news of a disaster.

A Belgrade dispatch, describing the five days' operations between Vardar and Kivovlak, says that in check the Serbian forces were obliged to retreat. Thus Kivovlak fell into the hands of the Bulgarians. It contends, however, that this Bulgarian success was insignificant compared with the Serbian victory.

Another semi-official communication says the Serovians lost 15,000 killed and wounded and the Bulgarians 20,000. The Bulgarian losses were increased by their Red Cross service and lack of communication and transports. Their wounded were left on the battlefield and the dead were buried.

There is heavy fighting also between the Serovians and Bulgarians to the south of Kotehana. About 300,000 men are engaged and the loss on both sides appear to be terrible.

Writer Held for Bigamy.

London, July 5.—Charles Hoehn, well-known writer, was ordered held in bigamy, following his conviction in bigamy.

WOMAN SURVIVOR OF BATTLE OF GETTYSBURG

That woman played a prominent part in the greatest battle of the Civil War that was fought just fifty years ago, is apt to be forgotten until a mute reminder such as is seen in the photograph is brought to our attention. Fifty years back is a long time to remember, yet here one of those who fought under the stars and bars, five decades ago, is greeting one of the women nurses and one of the few remaining ones whose husband was the comrade in arms of the grizzled old veteran.

SIDELIGHTS OF GETTYSBURG REUNION

The great reunion of the blue and the gray on the battlefield of Gettysburg has passed into history. It was in all respects the most unique gathering of the soldiers of the 60's ever held. Men who fought each other fifty years ago this year fraternized as long-separated brothers. Naturally such a gathering would be productive of many incidents, both pathetic and humorous. As many stories were floating about as there were veterans at the reunion.

The camp is full of unexpected meetings. Every day brings forth numerous meetings between men who have not seen one another for many years. Many meet commonplace, but some are extraordinary. For instance, here is one:

I. D. Munsee of Erie county, Pennsylvania, a soldier in the 11th Pennsylvania, was captured by the confederates at Peachtree Creek, Ga., when he was one of Sherman's army on the celebrated march to the sea. He was being conveyed to the rear by a confederate soldier when the union batteries opened fire upon the party among whom he was a prisoner. The man who was guarding Munsee was hit and fell, knocking Munsee down and lying on top of him.

Seeing his chance of escape, Munsee lay very still under the unconscious confederate while the battle raged around them. That night he slipped from under the body and escaped to the union lines.

"I thought that fellow was dead," said Munsee. "But I saw him today. Poor fellow, his mind's bad, and he didn't recognize me, but I was sure of him. I couldn't even get his name, but I'm going over to the Georgia camp and try to find out who he is."

Here is a story which was told by A. T. Dice, vice-president of the Reading railway.

Once upon a time there was a veteran in gray and a veteran in blue. They came to Gettysburg and in the course of events and visits to hotels they happened to meet. They looked over the sights of Gettysburg and the monuments of the field. But they found they must part.

The one in blue lived in Oregon; the one in gray in New Orleans. They went weeping together to their station and passed by train after train, deferring the parting that must come.

They fixed upon the platform as their meeting place. Just what they saw they do not know. But, however, yesterday they finally decided that the time for parting had come. The one from Oregon could not figure how to reach home via New Orleans and his gray comrade, while willing to see the west, didn't have the money for a ticket.

They fixed upon the platform as their meeting place and then before the crowd, they slowly stripped off their uniforms and exchanged them there while the curious looked to see them.

The Oregonian who came proudly to town with a coat of blue, went as proudly away with one of gray and the veteran from Louisiana who boasted the gray of the south sat with swelling chest in his new uniform of blue.

VETERANS HEAR THE PRESIDENT

Mr. Wilson Delivers Address at Gettysburg Celebration.

DRAWN LESSON FROM BATTLE

Declares Great Army of the People Must Fight Peacefully to Perfect the Nation.

Gettysburg, Pa., July 4.—National day in the semi-centennial celebration of the Battle of Gettysburg was made especially notable by an address delivered today by President Woodrow Wilson.

In his address were many thousands of the veterans who fought in the great battle, as well as a great throng of other visitors.

Friends and Fellow Citizens: I need not tell you what the battle of Gettysburg meant. These gallant men in blue and gray sit about my ears. Many of them met here upon this ground in grim and deadly struggle.

Upon these famous fields and hillsides their comrades died about them. Their presence it were an impertinence to discourse upon how the battle went, how it ended, what it signified. But 50 years have gone by since then and I crave the privilege of speaking to you for a few minutes of what those 50 years have meant.

What have they meant? They have meant peace and union and vigor, and the maturity and might of a great nation. How wholesome and healing the peace has been. We have found one another again as brothers and comrades in arms, enemies no longer, generous friends rather, our battles long past, the quarrels forgotten, except that we shall not forget the splendid valor, the manly devotion of the men there arrayed against one another, now grasping hands and smiling into each other's eyes.

How complete the union has become and how dear to all of us, how unquestioned, how benign and majestic, as state after state has been added to this great family of freemen! How handsome the vigor, the maturity, the might of the great nation we love with undivided hearts; how such things as the family quarrels that a life will be wrought out of that will crown its strength with gracious justice and a happy welfare that we have not known in our youth.

We are debtors to those 50 crowded years; they have made us heirs to a mighty heritage.

Nation Not Finished. But do we deem the nation complete and finished? These venerable men crowding here to this famous field have set us a great example of fervor and utter sacrifice. They were willing to die that the people might live. But their task is done. Their day is turned into evening. They look to us to perfect what they established. Their work is handed on to us, to be done in another way but not in another spirit. Our day is not over; it is upon us in full tide.

Have affairs paused? Does the nation stand still? Is it that the 50 years have wrought such days of battle finished, rounded out, and completed? Here is a great people, ready with every force that has ever beaten in the life blood of mankind. And it is secure. There is no one within its borders, there is no lower among the nations of earth, to make it afraid. But has it yet squared itself with its own great standards set up at its birth, when it made that first noble, naive appeal to the moral judgment of mankind to take notice that a government had now at last been established which was to serve men, not masters? It is secure in everything except the satisfaction that its life is right, adjusted to the utmost to the standards of righteousness and humanity that are the life of our nation and its people.

There was one wooden leg also lying unclaimed. It was brought in by a boy scout, who had found it under several sets of false teeth worn found.

GENEROUS AT SMALL COST

Philanthropic Right to Have His Name on List of Those Who Go About Doing Good.

At a banquet at San Francisco recently William F. McCombs told of a conversation in a club in which several philanthropic persons were mentioned and named to the effect, "The conversation continued to some length, Mr. McCombs said, when a man who was sitting in a corner across from a merry group of friends, whose features and broke into the gambol, 'Your philanthropists are all right,' he remarked, 'but I think it is only just that my next-door neighbor should be included in the kindly disposed bunch.' 'We are willing to add him to the list,' responded one of the others, 'but he is really so generously inclined.' 'Well, I should say that he is,' was the emphatic declaration of the first. 'Dozens of tramps hammer at my back door and I have never known him to send one away empty-handed.' 'You don't mean it?' returned the merry group of friends loudly. 'That's right,' rejoined the first; 'he always gives them a letter of introduction to me.'"

Chafing Hives. This troublesome skin affection is difficult to diagnose at the outset. Be on the safe side and apply a remedy whenever the skin is irritated use Tyrod's Antiseptic Powder immediately and avoid further trouble. 35c at druggists. Sample sent free. J. S. Tyrod, Chemist, Washington, D. C.—Ad.

Appearances are sometimes deceptive. A man who looks as if he has a good mouth may give you a withering smile.

Without woman man would be rough, rude, solitary, and would ignore all the graces, which are but the smiles of love.—De Chateaubriand.

Taking No Chances. "A man never looks anything but polite," said the old girl. "I know a lot of men who never intend to," added the gronch.

Doctor's Dues. "The world owes a great debt to medical science." "And it will be the last debt paid," declared the doctor somewhat bitterly.

Not Going to Waste It. Young Man (whispering to Jeweler)—"That engagement ring I bought of you yesterday—"

Jeweler—"What's the matter with it? Didn't it fit?"

Young Man (cautiously)—"Sh! it didn't have a chance. Gimme studs for it!"

Let Them Wear Them! "It is observed that one or two tasteless advocates are now writing a series of male dresses to the papers declaring that men should be allowed by custom to wear not only breeches, but earrings, and a woman's adornment, inherited from the real natives of this country—Pittsburgh Dispatch.

Recipe for Making Jokes. There is nothing any easier than writing jokes. Simply jot down your ideas for the jokes, say two or three hundred on a slip of paper; then seat yourself before a typewriter. Feed blank paper into the typewriter and inject the ideas through your fingers into the keys. Continue to do this until all the ideas on the slip are exhausted, then gather up the jokes, which have piled themselves into a heap on the opposite side of the typewriter, send an editor and receive your checks. A couple of hours a day spent in this manner should bring you in revenue enough to support a family of six children, run a six-cylinder touring car and buy bonuses for a soulmate. Try it.

CUBS' FOOD. They Thrive on Grape-Nuts. Healthy babies don't cry and the well-nourished baby that is fed on Grape-Nuts is never a crying baby. Many babies who cannot take any other food relish the perfect food, Grape-Nuts, and get well.

"My baby was given up by three doctors who said that the condensed milk on which I had fed her had ruined the child's stomach. One of his doctors told me that the only thing to do would be to try Grape-Nuts, so I got some and prepared it as follows: I soaked 1 1/2 tablespoons in one pint of cold water for half an hour, then I strained off the liquid and mixed 12 teaspoons of this strained Grape-Nuts juice with six teaspoons of rich milk, put in a pinch of salt and a little sugar, warmed it and gave it to baby every two hours.

"In this simple easy way I saved baby's life and have built her up to a strong, healthy child, rosy and laughing. The food must certainly be perfect to have such a wonderful effect as this. I can truthfully say I think it is the best food in the world to use to have a healthy baby and is also a delicious beautiful food for grown-ups.

Grape-Nuts is equally valuable to the young, healthy man or woman. It stands for the true theory of health. "There's a reason," and it is explained in the little book, "The Road to Well-Being," in plain English.

Ever read the above letter? A new one appears from time to time. They are genuine, true, and full of human interest.

The Best Bargain You Ever Made

HOW do you measure the value of a bargain? Suppose you bought an engine that did practically all of your hardest work for you, sawing, pumping, grinding, etc., and that saved so much money that it soon paid for itself. Would you call that a good bargain?

An I H C engine will do all that, and more. Having paid for itself, it works steadily year after year until, like our Clay County friend, who has used an I H C engine for six years, you will say, "My I H C engine is the best bargain I ever made."

I H C Oil and Gas Engines

are thoroughly dependable, and unusually durable. The fine-grained, grey iron cylinders and pistons are worked together to a perfect fit. Ground piston rings insure maximum power from the explosion. The fuel mixer is the most effective known. Bearings are large and carefully fitted. No part is too heavy to be efficient, yet every part is amply strong.

I H C engines are made in all styles—vertical and horizontal; portable and stationary; air and water-cooled; in sizes from 1 to 50-horse power, to operate on gas, gasoline, naphtha, distillate, kerosene or alcohol. Oil tractors, 12 to 60-horse power, for plowing, threshing, etc.; grinding, sawing, pumping and spraying outfits, complete the line.

The I H C local dealer will show you all the good points of the I H C engine. Get catalogue from him, or write
