MANILA, SHOW CITY OF THE ORIENT

HERE can be no doubt that Manila is—at least for Americans—about the most interesting place in the world. The old and the new, the obsolete and the advanced, the historic and history in the making can nowhere be found in more contrast. The massive and picturesque walls of the old Spanish city are fortunately intact, though a dozen years ago many Filipinos would gladly have seen them banished with the Spanish flag. The unwholesome medieval moat, however, has been filled up and turned into the first Philippine public playground. Vast swampy malarial tracts have been reclaimed and made into parks beautiful with tropical foliage and flowers and every evening enlivened by the music of good Filipino bands.

Solid waterfront and valuable building sites have also been created. Fine bridges and the roads have come into existence as by magic and clean streets put to shame some of the boasted cities of the Occident. While the climate is a continual summer, the healthiness of Manila is now proverbial. It is called the healthiest city in the Orient, and has been made so by unrelenting care, such as sending inspectors twice a week to see after conditions, and even in many private houses to disinfect drains. In parts of the city still unswamped refuse is carried away in light receptacles and burned, receptacles and all. The utilizing of such refuse for fertilizers is impracticable as the dreaded amoeba which lurks in the soil is stimulated into activity by manures.

The "walled city" keeps its medieval character, though such of its denizens as cholera, smallpox, leprosy, plague and fever have been routed. One delight in the picturesqueness of the old, narrow, tortuous streets with their low, wide spreading buildings, shut in courtyards and blind entrances, irregular arches and gables, balconies and small barred windows, crooked outside stairs and useless terraces. A modern air is given to some of the palatial residences by walled gardens, but there are few gardens, and these have been much less prized by the Latins than they are by recent comers. In other parts of the town, most livable homes of all grades have multiplied space, open all around to air, each with its palm-shaded garden and its broad verandas draped with flowering vines and hanging ferns and orchids.

In the business streets, on the feathery shops are close neighbors to Chinese or Japanese menne tiendas looking like nothing but big packing boxes open to the sidewalk, the wares kept neatly folded on shelves along the sides, while in front stiff affords repose for the cigarette-smoking proprietor or proprietress when not molested by custom.

The city's busy traffic, its air of life and stir suggest little of the "sweet do nothing" of the tropic east. Smart automobiles and auto trucks share right of way with countless one-horse two-wheeled cabs and carts drawn by the wide-browed, small-necked, amphibious carabao or water buffalo.

These men of all classes wear white duck, but the gay, flowing costumes of the Filipino women give plenty of color, to say nothing of the pretty frocks from across the seas.

The water-tourist finds present activities and contrasts not lessening than those of the land. The harbor is often crowded with liners, war vessels, transports, cutters, cruisers, sailing ships, yachts and it, as well as the river and its canals, swarms with long, quaint scoops, called cascos, laden with rice or hemp, corn or coconuts, bananas, bread fruit, small green, ripe oranges and many other fruits and vegetables. There are fishing craft of a hundred fantastic shapes and bearing sails of amber or carmine dye.

When it comes to buildings, it is hard to credit 1901 or thereabout as the date when American architects and builders first set to work in Manila. It would seem that an Aladdin spell must have helped the work along. In no ill accord with the old Spanish churches, stands the discarded American cathedral, Bishop Brent's, and upon nor are belittled by churches of the old order.

The Manila hotel is called the completest and does not show its age. It will soon celebrate its centennial birthday.

There are in Manila five excellent hospitals of American make, including the Mary Johnson home and the Tuberculosis hospital in a high-living suburb. Strange to say there is as yet no insane asylum, a lack, as can easily be understood, that often causes peculiar hardship and suffering.

There are homelike pensions under Methodist management for girls and for boys who come as students from the provinces and who would otherwise lead but a make-shift existence. Fraternal orders and others carry on helpful church activities.

Biblical prison, as it has been evolved during unplanned windows and tiny eyryes fire are lighted under the house to cook the "unplashed" rice, with possibly a bit of cheap fish, for supper. The pot is often washed by a man and woman, who, before their time squats on their heels, each smoking the perpetual cigarette. The woman is apt to be holding, always tenderly, the spurred half a dozen nearly naked children. The man with no less care fondles a docile but spattered game cock. Fields for manly sport are slowly "valuing the cockpit with its ruinous lousiness and betting. The Filipino women have a sly, before their time squats on their heels, each smoking the perpetual cigarette. The woman is apt to be holding, always tenderly, the spurred half a dozen nearly naked children. The man with no less care fondles a docile but spattered game cock. Fields for manly sport are slowly "valuing the cockpit with its ruinous lousiness and betting. The Filipino women have a sly,

A visitor is lucky who comes upon one of the tidier cottages and espies a youth with scarlet trousers and bare bronze torso tumbling a sort of guitar like the sonnet of a nutbrown maid at the window above the stilt. She has delicate features and bright eyes and a long and strikingly graceful neck, and a mass of smooth, glossy jet black hair hangs below her waist over her sly balloon-sleeved bodice and folded panel, or kerchief. One waits, half expecting to see a chorus emerge from the flowery background and break into dances or songs. But alike such romantic illusions are rare and fleeting. The reality that stays is homely and hard and sometimes tragic.

Manila is beautiful for situation. The bay to the west is as big as the Mediterranean and the splendor of the sunset is beyond telling. Sometimes nothing is to be seen but luminous sky and water. Then of a sudden there appear as if just created the scalloped hills of the distant coast beyond the long low peninsula of Cavite, formerly, and still to some extent used as a naval station. The fortified island of Corregidor, soft black and thin, stands in reality a veritable armed Titan to guard the narrow entrance of the vast bay. Close beside it the lovely mountain of M^cBeles suggests an earthly paradise, but in fact it is the unfriendly abode of the Negro, a race resembling the giants of Africa.

Beyond on other shores and on other islands of the vast Philippine archipelago are other races unclaimed, unnamed, unchristian. Among them, most dreaded by foreigners and natives, are fanatical, treacherous, fierce Mohammedan Moros. As we look at the work in Manila and throughout the Philippines during the last ten years we find that America has made here its first mark—the finest and fairest. It is not too much to say, made by any western people in any eastern colony. But it has not done enough. Now would-be workers who are at the material benefits bestowed were immeasurably greater. Altruism has still its most potent part to play, its most unselfish demands to meet. There is need of tactful. There are such men and women already at work in the provinces—teachers, doctors, instructors in manual industry and in farming—white workers who are at the same time evangelists, and there are those who give themselves wholly to preaching and to pastoral work. Of all this service it would be a joy to tell if space allowed, but we have a far larger ministry to hold and minds, and above all to souls that consciously or unconsciously are feeling after God if helply they may find him.

PICK-UPS AROUND THE FARM

Some Excellent Suggestions That Will Beautify and Make the Home More Comfortable.

(By F. H. SWANER)
Prize downy strawberries as soon as they have finished flowering. The secret of raising strawberries in a nutshell, is to study the habit of growth of each plant and to strive to encourage it; not alter it to your views. Make a note of the yellow spots in the leaves. If the grass is sooty, the trouble is probably sand or poor soil. The best cure is to dig out the plants, and put in some good loam. To insure a thick prime crop, cut back three inches every time the plants make six inches of growth. Always keep on the lookout for possible insect-breeding places, rain barrels, up-turned cans, low places in roof gutters, and liquid manure tubs. Drain off or apply kerosene.

Make use this year to guide you in next year's planting plans. If you see a shrub or flower that you admire, find out the name and variety if possible.

Replace rotten wood floors and posts with concrete, and the work is done for all time.

Gravel roads and walks that refuse to get solid, can be greatly improved by the judicious use of clay. Pulverize the latter, and sprinkle evenly. Too much clay will make a sticky road in wet weather, which is far worse than a soft-gravel road.

Keep all the fence corners cleaned out. More vermin are harbored there than anywhere else on the place.

By ordering the various Dutch bulbs—hyacinths, tulips, crocuses, narcissus, daffodils—early, and by ordering your nurseryman to book his order, you can usually get better prices and quality.

Pluch off the seed-pods from azaleas and rhododendrons to insure good flower buds for next year.

Give Japanese iris plenty of water to insure good blooms.

Use lawn clippings as a mulch for rose bushes.

With nearly all plants it is necessary to keep the flowers cut to prolong the bearing season. This is especially true of sweet peas.

Most native wild flowers may be transplanted safely to the home garden if a square piece of soil is cut up with the plants, and the roots are disturbed as little as possible.

FAVOR INDIAN RUNNER DUCK

Among Good Qualities They Are Not Susceptible to Diseases and Yield Big Profits.

The Indian Runner duck is fast rising from obscurity into national prominence. Scarcely one person out of a hundred knows today the full value of this bird, but leading poultrymen have awakened to its merit, and the people are soon to know its wonderful possibilities.

The old idea has been that a pond of water was necessary in raising ducks; but it has been proven that Indian Runners do not need only enough water to drink and occasionally to bathe in. For drinking purposes, a tin vessel about eight inches deep, ways with fresh water three times daily, will answer, and an old dippan is large enough for them to bathe in.

Unlike hens, Indian Runners lay the full year—not so steadily, of course.

Indian Runner Duck.
During moulting season, but a flock of ten ducks and two drakes will average six to eight eggs daily the year round. Too much cannot be said in their praise by those who own them and have tested their good qualities. They are never afflicted with sorehead or roup, nor troubled by parasites. Beginning to lay at five months, they are useful for five years, often longer.

The markings of these birds are varied, some being light lavender, while some dark English, penciled, and still others pure white. Only the fawn-and-white is at present recognized in the standard of perfection. However, the pure white will be admitted within the next few months. The fawn-and-white and English birds are much more numerous than the others. At eight weeks of age Indian Runners range in price from two to five dollars a setting. The pure white Runner is a new breed, and is high priced, selling for $10 to $50 each; eggs $5 and $10 a setting. At eight weeks of age Indian Runners should weigh at least four pounds and are delicious broiled, fried, baked or roasted.

WHOSE LESSER OF TWO EVILS

Theatrical Manager, Cornered, Yielded to Passions When Threatened With a Gloriously Affliction.

A poet with a precious scrapbook of his own writings under his arm wandered by the theatre, when suddenly the idea struck him that he would like to see a play, that night, so interesting the piece and so timely the great cause. "That politician" was out, but the manager was in. He was ushered in, and the doors as he stepped required his assistance. "I would like two seats for tonight," faltered the man of verse. "An' who might you be?" asked the manager. "The poet mentioned the other," "I've heard of you, but why should I give you seats?" The bard murmured words about poetry, sometimes I have added that probably identification might be necessary, so, as in hand a scrap-book of his published poems, he said, "You may see, but the manager get out him short, and calling out to his secretary to make up a couple of names for the theatre. "My dear sir, I'd rather give you the whole house than read your poems!"

ERUPTION ON ANKLE BURNED

Kingville, Mo.—"My trouble began eighteen years ago. Nearly half of the time that I was running I would get around my ankle; sometimes it would be two years at a time before they were healed. There were many nights I did not sleep because of the great suffering. The sores were deep, running one and so sore that I could not bear for anything to touch them. They would burn all the time and sting like a lot of bees were confused around my ankle. I could not bear to scratch it. It was always so sensitive to the touch, I could not get any clothes touch it. The skin was very red. I made what I called a cap out of white felt, blotting paper and soft white cloth to hold it in shape. This I wore night and day.

I tried many remedies for most of the eighteen years with no effect. Last summer I sent for some Cuticura Soap and Ointment. The very first time I used Cuticura Soap and Ointment I gained relief. It relieved the pain right then. It was three months from the time I commenced using Cuticura Soap and Ointment until the sores were entirely healed. I have not been troubled since and my ankle seems perfectly well." (Signed) Mrs. Charles E. Brooks, Oct. 22, 1912.

Cuticura Soap and Ointment sold throughout the world. Sample of each free, with 32-p. Skin Book. Address Postcard "Cuticura, Dept. L, Boston"—Adv.

Eloquence Appreciated.

"Does that man ever say anything worth listening to?" asked the cynical statesman.

"I should say so," replied Senator Sorghum. "You ought to go out with him and hear the way he can order a dinner."

Wrong Idea.

"The magistrate wouldn't give me an interview."

"He takes the wrong view of things. A magistrate has no business to be non-committal."

HEYWOOD'S TO HAVE NEW THEATRE AT AITKIN

The following taken from the Aitkin Independent Age of Saturday, August 30th will be of considerable interest to the many friends of John G. Heywood and wife, who up until a short time ago made this their home.

John G. Heywood of the Electric Theatre returned home on Wednesday from Minneapolis, where he had gone last Monday with B. M. Hungerford, and where they made final arrangements for the erection at once by Mr. Hungerford of a new theatre building on the lot on Fourth street, adjoining E. D. Goward's shoe store and opposite the Independent Age office, to be leased when completed, by Mr. and Mrs. Heywood.

The plans drawn by Architect Van Dyke, of Minneapolis, provide for a brick, fireproof, theatre building, 25x115 feet inside dimensions, and an artistic front with lobby. A cement floor will start even with the sidewalk and slope downward with sufficient pitch to afford a good view of the stage from each successive row of seats, which will be comfortable opera chairs.

The stage at the back of the theatre will have a proscenium space of 16 feet by 16 feet deep, and a narrow stairway will lead from the right of the stage to the basement where will be located two dressing rooms and toilet, and the boiler and fuel rooms, as the building is to be heated with steam.

Five exits are provided for at the front, rear and side, and an abductor curtain will cut off the stage from the front of the house, it being Mr. Hungerford's intention to provide comfort and safety as far as it lies in his power to do so to the patrons of the house. The seating capacity will be about 400.

Mr. Hungerford remained in Minneapolis to figure with the contractors, and to hurry forward preparatory work to the end that actual construction be begun as soon as possible by Christmas occupancy of the theatre by Christmas.

To the coming of Mr. and Mrs. Heywood is due the course of events which will add another handsome structure to our main street, for they have been tireless since coming here in building up a patronage for the little theatre which has become so popular that they are unable to handle the crowds which attend every performance put on by them, a success they have achieved by the splendid, clean, wholesome entertainment which they are putting before their audiences, and by their uniform courtesy to their patrons.

And to Mr. Hungerford the thanks of the community will be due for his public-spirited action in giving the village this new improvement, this new amusement place which seems to have become a necessary factor in the social life of every community.

McDONALD-WITTRUP

The following from the Aitkin Age for Aug. 20th will be of interest to friends of the Wittrup family.

The wedding of Miss Grace Wittrup and Clarence L. McDonald took place at 7 o'clock Wednesday evening at the bride's home. Her father, Rev. C. E. Wittrup of Wabikon, tied the nuptial knot assisted by the father, the nephew took place in the living room under an arch of autumn leaves and golden glaze.

The bride was dressed in white embroidered tulle and carried roses. She was attended by her sister, Miss Gertrude, who wore pale blue silk.

The groom was attended by his brother Loren.

Mr. and Mrs. McDonald received many beautiful and useful presents from friends and relatives.

The bride is the daughter of Rev. and Mrs. J. J. Wittrup, a winsome young woman, and a general favorite among her many friends. The groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. P. T. McDonald, was born and grew to manhood in this community, and will make his way in the world.

For the present the young couple will make their home on the Foley farm south of town, and later take Fruit-Hills farm, the Innes place, now occupied by Rev. Wittrup and family.

IMPORTANT!

School will open in this place Monday, Sept. 8th according to a statement made by Supt. McAdam on Wednesday. Some of the pupils have been laboring under the impression that because of the improvements being made on the school building school would not open for some time. This however is unauthentic. School will positively start Monday the 8th.

PRESBYTERIAN NOTES.

A series of meetings have been arranged for beginning with the 29th of Sept. and continuing for several days. The speaker at these meetings will be Dr. W. W. Lawrence, pastor of Glen Avon Presbyterian church of Duluth.

Truck The truck which have nearly double the action of the pole and permits machine to be turned around at the end to come back on the next row or shorter if necessary. They also help (by their peculiar action) to follow the row more closely. The wheels are steel with removable hubs and bearings and are protected from dirt by sand bands and have proper means for oiling. Roller Bearings The bearings for the main elevator shaft is roller bearings, 2 1/2 inches long, absolutely protected from dirt and are oiled by means of six inch oil tubes properly fitted with compression grease cups. Drive Wheels The drive wheels are made of steel with staggered or reinforced spokes and are provided with removable hubs. The spurs that bolt on the rim to keep the wheels from slipping are of our own design and are made of specially rolled steel, slipping are of our own design and are made of specially rolled steel, they are formed and fitted by us to properly fit the wheels and give the best clearing qualities. They are either made straight for level land or formed with an angle for side hill work. Dogs are placed in the plate that bolts to the wheels, which engage ratchets in the large sprocket wheels for throwing in and out of gear. The draft of our machines depends on the condition of the ground and the depth necessary to go to get the potatoes. In some conditions two horses will handle them early, and in others it requires four. All machines are furnished complete with doubletrees, neckyoke and suitable tools.

Rolling Cutters The "Hoover" adjustable rolling cutters can be attached to any of our machines to cut the vines and weeds at each side of the row. They are adjustable to any width row and to any depth that it is necessary for them to run. When turning around they raise out of the way with the same lever that raises the shovels, and are protected from dirt by sand bands and have proper means for oiling. They can be attached to any "Hoover" Potato Digger with very little effort.

We give our personal guarantee with every Hoover leaving our store and if they are not all OK in every detail your money will be waiting for you, when you cannot do your work.

J. I. CASE New Foot Lift Sulky and Gang Plows

THE J. I. Case New Foot Lift Sulky and Two and Three-bottom gangs are companion plows, the principle of construction and adjustment of each being identical. The gangs are built heavier in proportion to stand the strain to which they are subjected. EVEN DEPTH OF FURROW.—One of the main things to be considered in judging a job of plowing is the evenness of the depth of the furrow. It is not only adds to the good appearance of the plow, but is important from the crop production standpoint. Shallow plowing in one place and deep in another is not conducive to even crops. With a plow being having considerable play, it is obvious that good results could not be secured in this respect. To meet this, on J. I. Case plows the Spring Pressure Lock was devised. As shown by the cut, this spring is strong enough to lock the plow in the ground, to force it into a depression, and to rebound when a raised place is struck, so that one depth is always maintained. This is an exclusive feature covered by patent. SHARES SAVED.—In plowing, conditions are often met where the best of shares will be broken unless some mechanical contrivance on the plow serves as a buffer. The rebound in the Spring Pressure Lock is the buffer on J. I. Case plows. If a rock or root is struck, the plow jumps enough to go over the obstruction or if caught, rebounds enough to save the share from breaking. In case the point passes over, then the spring forces the plow into the ground immediately, without leaving a rough, unplowed spot.

IN RICHMOND IN THE SPRING OF 1865

SYNOPSIS.
Mrs. Wilkes, wife of a Confederate general, has been arrested and confined to the prison of the Federal government. She is the daughter of a Southern gentleman. The play opens with her in the prison, where she is being guarded by a Union soldier. She is being visited by her daughter, who is also a prisoner. The daughter is being guarded by another Union soldier. The play is a story of love and sacrifice during the Civil War.

CHAPTER XI.
Mr. Arrelofsford again interposed. "Nobody had any time to devote to Miss Mitford just then, for a perfect lot of messages came and went as she slowly composed her own dispatch. Messengers constantly came in, while others went out. The lines were so busy that night. Finally here came a pause in the dispatches as evening and going, and Foray remembering her, looked over toward the head of the table where she sat. "Is that message of yours ready, Miss Mitford?" he asked. "Yes," said Caroline, rising and folding it. "Of course you have got to take it."

"Certainly," returned the operator smiling. "If it's to be sent, I have to send it."

"What here is it then," said the girl, extending the folded paper which Lieutenant Foray took and unconsciously opened.

"Oh," exclaimed Caroline, quickly unfastening the paper from his hand, "I didn't tell you you could read it!"

"Foray stared at her in amazement. "What do you want me to do with it?"

"I want you to send it,"

"Will, how am I going to send it if I don't read it?"

"Do you mean to say that?" began Caroline.

"There must be some mistake," answered Foray, "but that's what the order says."

"To whom does it say to take it back?" asked the girl, growing more and more indignant.

"To Mr. Arrelofsford."

"Do you mean to tell me that that order is for that man to take my dispatch back to Mr. Arrelofsford?"

"Yes, Miss Mitford," returned Lieutenant Foray.

It had to be done—Ah Rita left you out right now, huh?"

"But this man has come here with orders for me to—" began Foray, endeavoring to explain.

"He realized that there was some mistake somewhere. The girl's message had nothing whatever to do with military matters, and he quite understood that she would not get any communication read by Tom, Dick or Harry in the secret service department. Besides all this, as she stood before him, her face flushed with emotion, she was a sufficiently pleasing figure to make him most willing to help her. In addition, the shock of the day's events had not been fresh with the same feeling had not been black, were more than disconcerting."

"This man," said Caroline, shaking her finger at helpless Private Eddinger, who also found his position most unpleasant, "can go straight back where he came from and report to Mr. Arrelofsford that he could not carry out his orders. That's what he can do."

"Martha, now thoroughly aroused to a sense of the role she was to play, turned and confronted the abashed private.

"Let him try to tek it. Let him tek it if he wants it so powful bad!"

"Just for giving it back to me when it is my message?"

"I can't see that." "Then you will have to keep it, I suppose," said Caroline falteringly.

"Thank you, Miss Mitford," "It is understood. You don't give it back to me, and you can't give it back to him, so nobody's disobeying any orders at all. That's the way it stands. I reckon I can stay as long as he can. She stepped to a nearby chair and sat down."

"But, Miss Mitford—" began Foray. "There isn't any good talking any longer. If you have got any telegrams to do you had better do it. I won't disturb you, but don't you give it to him."

"Foray stared at her helplessly. "You might have reminded it is impossible to say, for there entered at that opportune moment Mr. Arrelofsford himself, relieving Mr. Arrelofsford of the further conduct of the intricate case. His glance took in all the occupants of the room. It was to his eyes, messenger that his first ad dressed himself."

"I expect," she said impudently, "that you think you are going to get my telegram and read it?"

"I certainly intend to do so," was the curt answer.

"Well, there's a great disappointment coming up in front of you," returned Caroline defiantly.

"What if I have, sir?"

"Just this," said Arrelofsford determinedly. "This is a case—"

"This is a case where nobody is going to read my private writing," persisted Caroline.

"The young girl confronted him with blazing eyes and a lien like a small fury. Arrelofsford looked at her with ill-concealed yet somewhat vexatious amusement."

"I expect," she said impudently, "that you think you are going to get my telegram and read it?"

"I certainly intend to do so," was the curt answer.

"Well, there's a great disappointment coming up in front of you," returned Caroline defiantly.

"You can't always tell who's it with a vacant seat beside him." "We had never met, but I recognized him at once from photographs. I was sordidly, taking my seat beside him, I launched forth in extravagant praise of him. To this he strongly demurred and forthwith poured forth that complimentary to my humble self that made me tingle with pleasure all the way down my spinal column."

"After two hours of mutual flattery, we reached one another's hotel, and I a good joke to tell him that I had known his identity all the time. "So, still keeping my own identity in the dark, I said to him: "Mr. — I knew you were as soon as I sat down by you!"

"And I said Mr. — without turning a hair, how you were Taggart the moment you came in the door!"

Secretary of War Garrison Inspects Fort Snelling

STAFF OFFICERS BELIEVE MINNESOTA'S MILITARY POST WILL BE CONTINUED.

MAY ALSO BE ENLARGED

Distinguished Visitor is Retained About Affairs—Is Entertained by Committee at Luncheon and Ball Game.

St. Paul.—Lindley M. Garrison, secretary of war, spent Friday in the Twin Cities to inspect Fort Snelling, and on his recommendations depends the future of the fort. Whether it will be abandoned Mr. Garrison would not discuss, but it was said that it would be surprising if anything detrimental to the fort were decided upon by the war department.

Moreover, it is the current gossip that the fort, instead of being abandoned, will be enlarged, absorbing the activities of some of the smaller forts in the Northwest which are due to be dismantled.

Before boarding the train for Chicago, Secretary Garrison said: "I cannot say what my observations on the fort are. I am not going to say anything until it is taken up officially at Washington. At none of the points that I have visited have I made any public statements about war department affairs."

"However, I will say this much about the Twin Cities. I like them so well that I would like to live here the rest of my life."

Mr. Garrison's mission, however, was to inspect the fort and decide on the course of action to pursue regarding its future. His stated reluctance about his impressions was extended even towards his official staff, none of whom were advised as to the secretary's findings, but it is the general impression that the outpost at Sturgis, S. D., and Bismarck, N. D., are to be abandoned with a correlative enlargement of Fort Snelling.

SUGGEST DYNAMITE FACTORY

Minnesota Farmers Seek Out Rates on Explosive Used to Clear Land.

Bemidji.—At a meeting here of farmers, called to perfect plans for the co-operative clearing of land in northern Minnesota, a scheme was launched which seeks to have the state establish at the penitentiary, or elsewhere, a factory to manufacture dynamite.

Farmers have found that the most effective means of clearing land is with dynamite, but so far the prices asked for this explosive have been such that they cannot profitably make large investments. The plan is to circulate a petition in an effort to have every farmer in this part of the state sign it, asking that the state make its own dynamite and sell it at a reduced rate to the farmers.

TEAM PLUNGES INTO RIVER

Man is Probably Fatally Injured and Team of Horses Are Drowned.

Brookston.—Tearing through the heart of the city and dashing across the Northern Pacific tracks just at the edge of Central park, a farm team hitched to a load of lumber plunged over a forty-foot ledge into Red Lake river, both horses drowning. The water was twenty-five feet deep, and after swimming nearly across the river the team swung around, and the load of lumber floating behind them, and attempting to swim back, but sank in the center of the river. Joseph Gauche, a carpenter, who was holding the team, was hurled from the wagon and probably fatally injured.

Auto Hits Buggy; Horse Killed.

Wadena, Minn., Sept. 2.—Under the glare of an electric arc light on a downtown corner, a five-passenger auto driven by Frank E. Atwood last night shattered a buggy in which were Leo Torow and a woman companion, killed the horse and carried the top of the carriage, still containing the driver, 100 yards on to the hood. None of the occupants were seriously injured, although Torow was bruised. The woman in the buggy was thrown on the pavement but escaped with slight injuries.

1912 CROP EXCEEDED IN GOOD

STATE IMMIGRATION BUREAU ESTIMATES FROM COUNTY REPORTS.

Wheat Yield Above Normal, Corn Crop Best Ever and Potato Prospect Good.

Minnesota.—The state immigration bureau basing its estimate on reports from twenty counties as to average yield, believes the 1912 crop in Minnesota will exceed that of a year ago in everything except hay. Commissioner F. D. Sherman says that it is easier crop will go way above normal this year if nothing happens from now till cutting.

Fourteen counties have reported. These reports show an average wheat crop of about 19 bushels to the acre. Oats run from 25 to 67 bushels per acre, with an average of about 40.

Corn ranges from 55 to 60 bushels to the acre.

The potato crop also is good, the estimated yield in these fourteen counties being about 170 bushels an acre. (asca county estimates 200 bushels, Dakota and Yellow Medicine report a promised yield of 200 bushels an acre.)

Rye is running about 22 bushels the acre, with barley varying from 30 to 50.

Todd county reports the best yield of wheat, and also of oats. Murray county reports the heaviest corn yield. Hay is reported lighter than last year in almost every section.

Alfalfa is doing splendidly in Yellow Medicine county.

Murray county reports a lower yield of Red Lake county report says: "This corn crop is the best in the county's history."

Mower county reports: "The best general crop for many years."

St. Peter.—Directors of Gustavus Adolphus college have appointed special collectors to complete the task of raising an endowment fund of $250,000 for the institution. The appointees are Dr. K. A. Klander, Dr. Conrad Peterson and Rev. Luther Malmer of this city, Rev. E. G. Ohlsson, Red Wing; Rev. H. Deussen, Stillwater, and Professor H. F. Kjellgren, Minneapolis. They will work under the direction of Rev. Carl Solomonson of Minneapolis, who has general supervision of the fund work.

TO SOLICIT FOR COLLEGE

Gustavus Adolphus After Endowment Started by J. J. Hill and C. A. Smith.

The announcement was made last spring that James J. Hill of St. Paul and C. A. Smith of Minneapolis had pledged contributions of $50,000 each, provided the college would raise an additional $150,000. At that time the college had $30,000 in its endowment fund, and Mr. Solomonson was given a corps of assistants to help him secure the desired amount.

They have met with great success, and in three months have practically doubled the amount in the fund, the contributions reported to the board aggregating an additional $28,500. Now the campaign is to be repeated with energy, and it is hoped to finish the fund work by Dec. 1.

POWER PLANT SOON READY

Will Supply Industries at Crookston and Will Supply Farms With Both Light and Power.

Crookston.—The work on the new power plant of the Red River Valley Farm & Improvement company is progressing rapidly, following two slides which delayed the work temporarily. The immense gate framework of solid cement, upon which the two gates will be swung to release the surplus water, have been completed, and the cement foundation for the power plant is being laid. The three turbine wheels, to develop 3,500 horsepower will soon be in position. The work has been in progress for over a year. Power will be furnished for many in districts here, and connections will be made with farms for both light and power.

Madella Elevator Burns.

Madella.—The John Madella elevator was burned. The fire is thought to have been started by sparks from a passing engine. Loss $10,000, with no insurance. This was the second elevator burned in Madella this year, the first being the C. S. Christensen building.

Prairie Chickens Abundant.

Bedwood Falls.—Bedwood county apartmenters are enthusiastic over the fact that the prairie chicken season will soon open with a bountiful supply of game. Prairie chickens were never so plentiful in this particular region of the state since the early days, says those who have been reporting for signs of game. Farmers who have been busy in the harvest fields corroborate this report. They say they never saw more coveys, quail, and young birds of all kinds and plump.

AN IMMENSE NEW INDUSTRIAL PLANT FOR CHICAGO

When completed, the new plant of the Calumet Baking Powder Company, now under course of construction at South 41st avenue and Fillmore street, will prove a fitting monument to the ability, honesty and progressiveness which have rendered possible the successful operation of one of Chicago's most prominent industrial institutions.

This immense plant, the estimated cost of which is $250,000, is a strictly modern, re-enforced concrete building, equipped with the latest and most interesting features of this, the largest and most efficiently equipped flour mill in the West. The plant will be a complete shipping platform projecting over to a switch track on level with the second floor.

The Calumet Baking Powder Company was organized a quarter of a century ago by Mr. Wm. M. Wright. The company first began the manufacture of baking powder in a comparatively small way, with limited capital. Modern methods, combined with high grade materials and an unwavering determination to produce an article of superior quality have created a demand which necessitated the erection of the Calumet plant. —made the Calumet Company a substantial factor in the industrial life of Chicago, and won for it a prestige which is a benefit and a credit to the city.—Adv.

Its State. "Don't you think the ideal of an Indian is original?" "I should call it 'aboriginal'."

Woman's Place. Woman's place may be the home, but judging from recent statistics, she seems to have deliberately ignored that fact, for there are 239,077 stenographers, 327,635 teachers and professors, 431,153 in various trades, 770,056 engaged in agricultural pursuits, 7,355 physicians and surgeons, 7,395 clerks "men," 2,183 journalists, 1,037 designers, 1,433 engineers and architects, 1,010 lawyers and 429,467 women in various professions.—Baltimore Sun.

American Business Hustle. Here is an instance of the thoroughness with which England's commercial rivals do business. A leading municipality in the far east is ordering a large quantity of electrical material, and the head of the department concerned was authorized to visit Germany, Great Britain and the United States to inspect plants. He crossed to America first and found that the American agent from the city from which he came had notified every manufacturer of his visit and his mission, with the result that when he landed he received a shower of letters of invitation from manufacturers, and of offers of hospitality. As a result, he saw everything he wanted under exceptional favorable conditions, and every courtesy was shown to him. The German representative is doing precisely the same, but nothing whatever has been done by or on behalf of the British manufacturer. If the representative wants to see anything in the way of electrical material, he must go himself, for nobody seems to care for the business and nobody knows of it.—London World.

Light Breaks In Thoughtful Farmer Learns About Coffee. Many people exist in a more or less happy condition and it often takes years before they realize that their unhappiness are often the cause of the cloudiness, and that there is a simple way to get rid of it.

A worthy farmer had such an experience and tells about it, in a letter. He says: "For about forty years, I have had indigestion and stomach trouble in various forms. During the last 25 years I would not more than get over one spell of bilious colic until another would be upon me.

"The best doctors I could get and all the medicines I could buy, only gave me temporary relief. "One day, however, I tried with night, had rheumatism and my head would palpitate at times so that seemed it would jump out of my body. "I came to the conclusion that there was no relief for me until I was about wound up, when I saw a Postum advertisement. I had always been a devotee of coffee and I had an idea from the ad, that maybe coffee was the cause of my trouble. "I Postum instead of coffee and in less than three weeks felt like a new man. The rheumatism left me, and I have never had a spell of bilious colic since. "My appetite is good, my digestion normal and I can do more work than before for 40 years. "I haven't tasted coffee since I began using Postum. My wife makes it according to directions and I feel it as well as I ever did coffee, and it is certainly a slave to coffee. "I Postum comes in two forms: Regular Postum—must be well boiled. Instant Postum is a scorable powder. A teaspoonful dissolved quickly in a cup of hot water and, with the addition of cream and sugar, makes a delicious beverage for breakfast. "There's a reason for Postum.

THE CROPS IN WESTERN CANADA

Optimism Throughout the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta.

During the present summer a number of important delegations have visited the Canadian West for the purpose of securing information as to the crop conditions and the conditions of business generally. For some months the financial stress was felt throughout the Provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan, Alberta and British Columbia as well as in other portions of the country. With a development taking place there, such as has never before been known, it was to be expected that when the money bases were tightened that this would be the result. The fact is that money could not keep pace with the development natural to demands of 400,000 new people a year. Towns and cities had to be built to take care of the country and capital had not made sufficient preparation.

The quality of Western Canada wheat is recognized everywhere.

The latest census returns show that in the Province of Manitoba, which stands out as one of great wealth and wonderful opportunity, the wheat area under wheat increased from 1,965,500 acres in 1900 to 2,760,471 acres in 1910, being an increase of 40.46 per cent in the decade. The smallest wheat area is greater than that of 1910 by 334,465 acres. There are increases in the area of production of all cereals for 1910 over 1900, excepting peas and mixed grains.

Of cereals grown in 1910 the largest gross monetary return per acre was given by peas with $20.51, followed by beans with $16.37, fall wheat with $15.67, corn for husking with $12.63, flax $11.15, buckwheat $11.06, spring wheat $10.3. The smallest returns were obtained from oats, rye and barley in the order named.

But the crop of 1913 will restore conditions to a normal state, and the natural and reasonable development will continue.

Owing to a wet fall in 1912, and a heavy snowfall during the past winter there was a large area which it was difficult to seed at the usual time of the past spring. Therefore as a general thing seeding was later than usual, and the trip through the country in the early part of August showed that this was no drawback. Wheat that had been sown in May was already ripening, and had a stand fully as good as any country had ever produced; the heads were large and the prospects were for was $1,024.71 in 1910, as against $518.05 in 1900, being an increase of 78.18 per cent in the decade. Coming back to the crops of 1913, it may safely be said that the yield of wheat in Saskatchewan will be about 115,000,000 bushels, with an average yield of over 22 bushels per acre. Oats, which are but a fair crop, will yield an average equal to that of last year. Barley is excellent, while flax, of which the average is considerably less than last year, will produce a greater average than for years. What is said of these crops will apply to all districts.

Under date of August 12th, a report comes from Regina which says: "Unless some dire calamity occurs in the next few days farmers of the Regina district will reap the greatest wheat crop ever recorded in the West. "A correspondent made an automobile trip to the north and west of the city, over twenty-seven miles being covered. Several fields were seen the brightest. It was not only in wheat but in flax, oats and barley, the same splendid conditions obtained. Rains in all parts of the country came at the right time and the best of weather throughout the season prevailed in all parts. "The hay crop was excellent. Alfalfa, clover and timothy grasses were good, and many farmers are now cultivating these splendid fodder. "The homestead shack is giving place to comfortable residences. Large barns are being erected where the hay provided for and mud stable gave shelter to the few head of cattle that the early settler may have had in his possession. Fields are fenced, roads constructed and great fields of grain and pasture land are always in evidence.

which were almost ripe enough for the binder. Others require about a week's more warm weather, but everywhere was the indication of a phenomenal yield. Oats do not average up with the wheat, but several good fields were seen. This time next week the hum of the binder should be the prevalent music around Regina. "One farm was passed on which there was one square mile of the finest wheat imaginable. It is just turning yellow and will run forty bushels to the acre. "In Alberta there will be a high yield of all grains. Wheat will be a heavier average than last year. Oats will about the same. Hay and barley about the same.—Adv.
