ARMORY IS ASSURED

The State Armory Board met in the Governor's office at St. Paul Monday of this week, and among other things voted $16,000 in cash for the Pine City Naval Militia armory.

A delegation, consisting of Judge Robert Wilcox, Dr. Karl Knapp, J. Adam Bede, and Emel Larson, of Pine City, went down to present the case to the board and see the matter closed up.

Mr. Wilcox, as the commanding officer of the local militia, turned to the board a check for $1,000 which had been raised by voluntary subscriptions, and also the deed for the three lots generously donated to the state as an armory site by Mr. and Mrs. Fred A. Hodge. The architect's fee and other items of expense will be covered by the $1,000 voted by the village council, so that the entire fund of $16,000 will be expended on the building.

The general contract was let to Mr. Larson, our local contractor, and the steam heating to Blach & Co., of Duluth.

The architect, Mr. Kelly, of Duluth, will be in town today, (Thursday) to determine the exact location of the armory building on the accepted site, and Mr. Larson will begin the excavation work at once. Probably the whole foundation will be put in this fall.

Some difficulty had been experienced in disposing of the 4 per cent. state certificates voted for armory purposes, and delay in building the armory this season was chiefly on that account. Recently, however, arrangements were made with the proper authorities for the state school fund to buy $100,000 of the certificates, and therefore Pine City gets $15,000 of this available cash.

DARK DAYS

Are Days of Suffering—They Are Becoming Brighter for Some Pine City People.

Many "dark days" from kidney ills, Backache, headache—nervous tired, Urinary trouble—make you gloomy. Doan's Kidney Pills bring relief; Have cured many kidney sufferers. They are endorsed by Pine City people.

Mrs. Otto Swanson, North Pine City, Minn., says: "Twelve years ago I began to suffer from kidney complaint, and I underwent an operation, thinking that it would cure me. I grew worse, however, and my health became all run down. The kidney secretions caused me great distress and I dared not do any work that obliged me to stoop, owing to the pains in my back. My head ached and dizzy spells occurred frequently. At such times I was unable to see plainly and everything before me became dark. One day I happened to read of Doan's Kidney Pills and I got a box at Breckenridge's Pharmacy. They did more for me than all the other medicine I had taken in years and I am now enjoying much better health." (Statement given August 31, 1907.)

AFTER THREE YEARS.

In October 1910, when Mrs. Swanson was interviewed, she said: "I can still recommend Doan's Kidney Pills heartily and my faith in their merits is shown when I say that I always keep a supply on hand. Doan's Kidney Pills are the most effective kidney medicine I know of."

GEOLOGICAL SURVEY ACTIVE IN MINNESOTA.

Investigations of Mineral Deposits and Water Resources, and Topographic Surveying being carried on by the Federal Government in Co-operation with the State Geological Survey, State Engineer, and Minnesota Drainage Commission.

The industrial development of Minnesota is so closely related to the utilization of the natural resources of the State that the work of the United States Geological Survey, in co-operation with the several State organizations, is of especial interest to all her citizens. The field service of the Federal Geological Survey is organized under three general branches—the geologic branch, the topographic branch, and the water-resources branch. The geologic investigations are being carried on this year in co-operation with the State Geological Survey, of which Prof. W. H. Emmons is director. The glacial and other Pleistocene deposits in the northern half of the state are being investigated this season by Geologist Frank Leverett, with assistance furnished by the state, the work referring especially to the glacial history of the region, and its connection with the character of the soils of this part of the state. The clays of Minnesota are being examined by Prof. F. F. Groat, of the State University who is studying their distribution, their quantity, and their adaptability to various industrial uses. The building materials, including sand, limestones, and cement rock are being investigated by Prof. Oliver Bowles and Prof. A. W. Johnson, of the state Survey, who will prepare reports on these important resources.

An investigation which it is believed will be of great value to the country at large relates to the geology and iron-ore deposits of the Cuyuna range. Pending the preparation of topographic base maps, studies of the general geology of this range will not be undertaken until next year. It is expected that two years or more will be devoted to the investigation of these iron deposits. In the meantime, all records of the results of drilling in the range will be collected and compiled by Prof. Johnston for future use in the study of the nature, extent, and structure of the ore deposits.

The geology of the area known as the Minneapolis and St. Paul quadrangles has been examined and fully mapped and described by Prof. F. W. Searles and the material submitted to the Geological Survey for publication as a geologic folio. This folio when published will, it is stated, be of the greatest value to the students and teachers interested in the geology of the region of the Twin Cities.

FOUR TOPOGRAPHIC MAPS IN PROGRESS.

The topographic branch of the Geological Survey, in co-operation with the state engineer, is making surveys for maps of four 15-minute quadrangles—the Pelican Rapids quadrangle, in Ottertail and Becker counties; and the Emily, Atkin, and Wealthwood quadrangles, in Crow Wing, Atkin and Cass counties. It is planned to take up later in the season the mapping of the Brainerd quadrangle, in Crow Wing county, besides additional areas yet to be selected. These quadrangles have an approximate area of 295 square miles each. The Pelican Rapids quadrangles is being mapped by E. L. Hain, and the Emily, Atkin, and Wealthwood quadrangles by A. M. Walker, F. B. Barrett, and L. B. Roberts. In addition to this co-operative work, a survey is being made of the Red Lake Indian Reservation, in Beltrami county, by A. P. Meade.

FINISHING TOUCHES ON THE GATUN LOCKS AT PANAMA

WORK ON PANAMA CANAL NEAR END

Waters of Gatun Lake Turned Into the Culebra Cut.

BIG DIKE IS TO BE REMOVED

This Will Mark the Practical Completion of the Big Waterway after Nine Years of Labor by an Army of Men.

Colon, Panama, Oct. 1.—The Panama canal stands today virtually complete.

The preliminary steps toward the destruction of the Gamboa dike, which until the present time, held the waters of Gatun lake out of the Culebra cut, were taken today when the valves in four great 24-inch pipes which pierce the dike were opened and the waters of the lake began flowing into the Culebra cut. Within a few days, it is expected, enough water will have flowed into the cut to form a cushion and prevent the damage that might be done if the dike were blown up and the waters allowed to rush into the empty cut.

The final destruction of the big dike is scheduled for October 10, when charges of dynamite placed in holes already drilled in the dike will be exploded. The explosion of these charges will not completely destroy the dike, but will weaken it and loosen the dirt so that the force of the waters from Gatun lake will carry it away. Steam shovels will remove the remnants of the dike, leaving an open passageway from ocean to ocean.

Canal Really Completed Now. Although the canal will not be officially declared completed for some time, and the formal opening of the waterway to the commerce of the world more than a year distant, the canal engineers look upon the destruction of the Gamboa dike as marking the real completion of the canal.

The big engineering feat has all been accomplished, the excavation work practically has been completed, and the great locks have been constructed. The work that remains to be done is largely detail, and it will play a comparatively minor part in the work which has been done. More dirt is to be removed from the channel, but this will be done with suction dredges floating upon the waters of the canal. There still remains some finishing touches to be placed upon the locks, but this work will take comparatively little time and presents no engineering difficulties such as have been encountered in the past.

The fact that the canal stands practically complete more than a year before the first originally set as the date for its completion is one of the remarkable features of the work. When Gen. G. Goethals, the great French engineer, abandoned his efforts to build the Panama canal after eight years of labor, he had scarcely made a beginning upon the Ameri- can locks. In six years, the American engineers, starting almost at the same point as de Lesseps, for the latter's work was abandoned, have actually completed the undertaking. When the work was started the world scoffed at the idea that it would be completed within the time limit set, but now it has now left to the American army engineers who have more than kept their word, despite unforeseen difficulties that have beset them at every hand.

Goethals to Make Final Test. The first vessel to pass through the canal probably will be a boat of the Colombian canal commission, Col. George W. Goethals, chairman of the commission and chief architect of the canal, and his principal assistants.

The final voyage through the canal is scheduled for some time during this month. Within another month it is expected the waters in Gatun lake will have risen high enough to bring the waters in the entire canal up to the deep water level required for the passage of the largest ships. It is said that as long as the early part of August, assurances were given Washington officials that if the emergency should arise, the entire Atlantic fleetship could be put through the canal into Pacific waters within 60 days from that date. The work has been hurried with that end in view, it is said, as no emergency has existed, but this assurance is an indication of the belief of the engineers that their work is now practically finished.

Culebra Cut Caused Trouble. The excavation of the Culebra cut, into which the water has just been turned, has been one of the engineering feats connected with the building of the canal, and has caused the engineers more trouble than any other portion of the big "ditch." The Col. D. D. Galliard, the engineer of the central division, is given the credit for carrying this portion of the work through to a successful termination.

The disastrous slides in the cut were discouraging to the engineers, but the workmen have been busy for many weeks, but Col. Galliard and his assistants have kept untiringly at their work, and at last have conquered the treacherous banks of the deep cut. The engineers believe that the danger of slides will be eliminated now that the water has been turned into the cut.

A little more than a month ago the giant steam shovels finished their work in the Culebra cut. Since that time the workmen have been busy removing the shovels, the railroad tracks and other machinery used in the excavation work. There is still some dirt to be removed from the cut before the channel is finished, but this work will be done by suction dredges floating on the waters of the canal, and will not interfere with navigation of the waterway by such boats as may be allowed to pass through.

Immense Artificial Lake Created. Gatun lake, the area of which are now flowing into the Culebra cut, is the pivotal point at which the entire canal system revolves, and the creation of this lake together with the construction of Gatun dam, constituted another great engineering feat in the construction of the canal. Gatun lake is an artificial body of water covering about 164 square miles of territory and was created by the building of the immense Gatun dam and the impounding of the wild waters of Chagres river. Beneath the building of the immense Gatun dam and the impounding of the wild waters of Chagres river, dotted with native villages and plantations. The channel of the canal passes through this lake for a distance of 54 miles with a width varying from 500 to 1,000 feet.

At the northern end of the lake is the Gatun dam, which is in reality an artificial ridge more than a mile and a half long. Figures alone give an adequate idea of the magnitude of this dam. Nearly half a mile wide at its base, about 400 feet wide at the water surface, and 105 feet wide at the top, the dike which many engineers predicted would never with- stand the rush of the Chagres waters, is admitted now to be so strong that nothing short of an earthquake such as has never been known in the Central American region can harm it. The Gatun dam, Gatun lake and the locks together, are the chief engineering works of the canal that in themselves have challenged the admiration of the world.

World Gives Goethals Credit. To Col. George Goethals, chairman of the Isthmian canal commission, chief engineer of the commission and governor of the canal zone, the world will give the credit for the successful completion of the Panama canal. Col. Goethals was born in 1832, accordingly ed his task without the assistance of such men as Col. H. F. Hodges, Lieut. Col. David B. Ballard and Lieut. Col. William L. Sibert, army engineers, who have had charge of various phases of the work, but Col. Goethals is recognized as the real builder of the canal. Under Colonel Goethals the greater part of the $375,000,000 which the canal will have cost when it is completed has been spent. It has been by far the costliest engineering project in the world. Nearly three-fifths of a billion dollars has been spent in digging a 40-mile "ditch." This means that the Panama canal has cost the United States $10,000,000 a mile.

Over $15,000,000 of the total amount spent has been used to make the canal zone habitable and sanitary. It has been suggested that this is an enormous amount of money to spend in cleaning up a place in which few people will reside permanently, but the engineers say that the sanitation of the canal zone was the chief factor in making the canal a reality. The failure of the French has been attributed to a large extent to the fact that the workmen could not survive in the fever and pest ridden country. The building of the great locks which raise a vessel to a height of 87 feet above sea level at one end of the canal had two other important features. The failure of the French was attributed to a large extent to the fact that the workmen could not survive in the fever and pest ridden country.

The building of the great locks which raise a vessel to a height of 87 feet above sea level at one end of the canal had two other important features.

Lieutenant Colonel Sibert has had charge of the building of the great dam and locks at Gatun, in addition to other duties. His active service in the Philippines, and he is known in the army as a fighter as well as an engineer.

Through the work of these men—of their members of Uncle Sam's fighting body, the United States has been able to attain what has been the dream of centuries. In nine years these men have carried through the construction of what was first thought of as a pipe dream. The United States government first took definite action looking toward the construction of an isthmian canal in 1839, when the senate voted for the building of a Nicaraguan canal. An expedition was sent to Nicaragua to make an investigation, and reported that the canal could be constructed for $25,000,000, hardly one-twentieth of the amount that the Panama canal will have cost when completed.

De Lesseps First to Dig. The matter rested until after the Civil war, when negotiations for a canal commission were entered into by the United States government. Before anything had been accomplished the concession for a Panama canal had been given to Leon Napoleon Bonaparte Wyse, a Frenchman. He organized a company, which sold out later to the financiers associated with Ferdinand de Lesseps. The company organized with de Lesseps at its head was the first one to actually begin work on the isthmus. For eight years de Lesseps struggled manfully against the greatest odds that man ever was called upon to face. Then he was forced to give up the fight, his company collapsing as a result of dishonesty and extravagance on the part of its promoters, and de Lesseps, driven insane by the scandal, ended his days in an asylum.

Such was the history of the Isthmian canal project for some 50 or 60 years, until the day in 1878 when Uncle Sam undertook the task. In nine years the dream of the centuries has been realized.

NEGROES WILL SCORE

WHITE CITIZENS OF MISSISSIPPI COUNTY HANG TWO—PLAN TO LYNCH MORE.

READY TO DEPORT BLACKS

Brothers Drink Whisky and Cocaine, Run Amuck and Shoot Everybody That Crosses Their Path—Governor Goes to Scene.

Fayette, Miss., Sept. 29.—Four white men are dead, seven more probably fatally wounded and at least sixteen negroes are dead in what threatens to become one of the worst race wars in the history of the state. Three troops of militia arrived here at night and Governor Brewer came to take personal command of them in an effort to prevent further bloodshed. Trials are being held on sidings to deport the negro population, which numbers several hundred.

Six More May Be Lynched. Six negroes arrested as participants in the fray, were rushed to Natchez and are under heavy guard in the jail there. Reports from Natchez state that a mob is forming there to lynch the men.

The affray started when two negroes, Willis Jones and his brother Walter, eighteen and twenty years old respectively, ran amuck after getting drunk on cheap whisky and cocaine at Harrison and killed four white men. Eleven negroes before being captured by a posse of armed citizens and hanged to a telegraph pole opposite the railroad station.

While making a dash for liberty the negroes killed seven Hammet of Fayette, sheriff of Jefferson county; Frank Kinsey, constable at Harrison; Claude Freeman, a merchant, and C. P. Lee, a negro employe.

Others Fatally Wounded. They fatally wounded W. D. Dennis, O. F. Gills, clerk of the Jefferson county court; Will Bonds, Reynolds Kinley, William McComb and J. Appleby, railroad men, and Thad Ross, a farmer.

While the drink and drug crazed negroes were at the depot a train came in. They fired several shots at the cars, injuring the conductor and the flagman and throwing the passengers into confusion and consternation. J. Sentinella were placed at towns near Harrison during the day and all negroes holding railroad tickets to pass beyond the depot were arrested and trains and returned to their homes via other routes.

Shortly after midnight Sunday morning the Jones negroes went to an eating house conducted by a negro woman and when she served them an order they did not like they shot her and a waitress. The negroes then attempted to interfere and was killed. A crowd of bystanders was next attracted and out of twelve in the crowd, officers say, only three got away alive.

Fire in Natchez in Sight. The negroes ran down the main street of Harrison, firing at everything and everybody. Several passengers were killed and one was slightly wounded. Sheriff Hammet was notified and went to Harrison in automobiles, taking the negroes to a safe place. He informed this, the negroes ran to an outhouse in a cotton seed oil mill and barricaded themselves behind heavy doors.

The officers ordered their surrender and were met with a volley from automatic pistols. Three men fell dead at once and one was shot before he could get away. Three hours later the brothers were captured in a negro's house. They had been hiding in a room which was being his life if he attempted to warn officers of their whereabouts.

Intended to Kill All Whites. A man arrested in the neighborhood had told them they would kill every white person in Harrison. Willis Jones, seeing the house they were in surrounded by a mob, made a dash for it and was shot dead. His brother was captured alive. Both were taken to the telegraph pole and strung up. The rope around Walter Jones' neck broke, but the mob grabbed him and tied his head in another noose.

Their bodies were hidden with bullet holes and tied hanging to the poles all day, only being cut down after night fall by orders of Judge Truly of Fayette. MISS MAY VAN ALLEN WEDS REGINALD THOMPSON

"Most Engaged Girl in the World" Captured by Guitler Who Buys Her Ice Cream Sodas.

New York, Sept. 27.—Miss May Van Allen, granddaughter of the late William Astor, known in America and European society gatherings places as "the most engaged girl in the world," has stolen another march on her friends and married Reginald Thompson of New York. The ceremony was solemnized at Hanover square, London.

More than a half-dozen times Miss Van Allen has upset well-arranged plans of society leaders by refusing to be engaged to the men with whom rumor had connected her name. She really did announce her betrothal to Robert Reading Remington following a chance meeting on an ocean liner in 1902. Later the engagement was broken and young Remington was found dead in his Newport apartment with a bullet hole in his head.

Last summer, soon after Miss Van Allen went abroad, news came, the announcement being from no less a person than Miss Van Allen, that she was going to marry "Grizy" Thompson. She said the wedding was going to take place in Newport just a day before the first of October, 1908, when news came from London that the couple had been married, much surprise was expressed.

Other woosers of this immensely rich young woman had spent money lavishly on her, giving her dinner parties, dinner-dances, coaching and yachting parties and the like. Besides they took innumerable trips to Newport, Narragansett, London, Paris, Calabard and Berlin, but young Thompson set about winning her heart through a different program.

Where expensive bon-bons had been the chosen delicacy of her former wooers, Mr. Thompson adopted the ice cream soda, and where "Ritz" Ranellet's expensive champagne had been the nut sumptuous word nothing, the nut sumptuous word nothing, he began to have a telling effect in favor of her latest beau. Unlike her previous suitors, who had failed to win her, with the Friday papers and read the comics. And the trolley car trips of a friend-maker had proved more of a carousal than the $30,000 motor car tours arranged by the duke of Manchester.

TRIPLE VICTORY FOR GOV. SULZER

CHARGE OF CORRUPT POLITICAL BARGAIN WITH ASSEMBLY. MAN THROWN OUT.

OTHER CASES INCOMPETENT

Presiding Judge Cullen So Holds in Two Other Instances at Impeachment Trial.

Albany, N. Y., Sept. 30.—Governor Sulzer has just won a triple victory over his accusers at the trial of his impeachment.

Presiding Judge Cullen of the high court, barred the introduction of evidence intended to prove that the governor had made a corrupt political bargain with Assemblyman Parrie of Greene county and held that the testimony to show that he had made similar bargains with Assemblyman Sweet of Oswego county and Assemblyman Prime of Essex was incompetent.

Nature of Legislation. The legislation had to do in each case with highway and bridge improvements provided for in bills passed by the legislature to which the assemblymen were desirous of getting the governor's signature.

In the Parrie case, however, no charges were brought in the articles of impeachment and on this ground Judge Cullen threw the charge out. The Sweet and Prime cases were specified in articles of the impeachment charging that the governor had vetoed one and signed the other bill. One assemblyman had failed to support the governor's direct primary bill and the other did so after consulting Sulzer, the managers charged.

Testimony of Sweet. Assemblyman Sweet testified that when he urged the governor to approve his bill, he was asked whether he had voted for the direct primary bill, which had been defeated in the regular session of the legislature. "I told him I voted against it," said the witness.

The primary bill was to come up again at the extraordinary session in July and the governor wanted to know how Sweet proposed to vote at that time. Sweet said he replied, "according to the sentiment and in the interest of my district."

BRIDE SPURNS KING HUSBAND

Princess Augusta Victoria Refuses to Live With Former King Manuel of Portugal.

Munich, Sept. 30.—Reports that Princess Augusta Victoria of Hohenzollern, bride of former King Manuel of Portugal, will refuse to live with her husband were given added credence when it was announced that the princess, who is ill in a local hospital, would return to the home of her father, Prince Wilhelm, as soon as she is able to travel. An official statement was issued by the hospital physicians making this announcement.

The princess will remain in the hospital from two weeks to a month, it was stated. She is slowly improving. The hospital authorities denied the princess and her husband were estranged, and that the same time announced that she would be removed to Sigmaringen as soon as possible and that she would not go to Richmond Park, Manuel's home, near London.

Millionaire Freed of Charge

Los Angeles, Cal., Sept. 30.—George H. Ely, millionaire and owner of Long Beach, charged with having contributed to the downfall of minor young women, was found not guilty by a jury. Ely was tried on one of two indictments. William Ely had been preferred against him by Cleo Helen Barker and Marie Brown-Ley, undaged habitues of a resort.

Mother and Children Burned

Wellington, Mo., Sept. 30.—Three children were burned to death and their mother perhaps fatally burned while trying to save them during a fire that destroyed the home of Mrs. Jesse Alumbaugh, on a farm near here.

Fusion Candidate Opens Campaign

New York, Sept. 30.—John Purroy Mitchell, fusion candidate for mayor and other offices, has just been notified of his nomination. Mr. Mitchell, opening the campaign with an attack on Charles F. Murphy, in connection with the Sulzer impeachment proceedings, told the audience that packed Cooper Union that Tammany is the issue of the city. Henry L. Stimson, former secretary of war, created and Timothy L. Woodruff, Norma Harwood and others spoke.

Freed of Charge; Sues Accuser

New York, Sept. 30.—Held in a cell since Saturday charged with being a fugitive from justice, Mrs. Frances Lavy has been released, after witnesses failed to confirm the identification of Mrs. Helen P. LeMessenaer of West Philadelphia, that she was Mrs. Elizabeth Van D. Nichols living in Wilmington, N. C., for an alleged swindling transaction. On inquiry with the court room, Mrs. LeMessenaer was served with papers in a suit for $50,000 damages brought by Mrs. Lavy for false imprisonment.

MINNESOTA STATE NEWS

SERUM QUACKS ARE WORKING IN COUNTRY

PREY ON MINNESOTA FARMERS WHO FEAR HOG CHOLERA PEST.
Doesn't Prove Efficacious
Worthless Remedies Are Administered and Swindle Just the Same—Rural People Are Warned.

Appleton—Hog cholera has brought out several quacks who are preying on the farmers. Reports from Swift and Renville counties indicate that they are going about offering to vaccinate hogs. Their so-called serums are worthless. The farmers who pay for it find that their hogs die just as if they had never been treated.

Farmers Are Warned
One such man operating in Renville county claimed to administer an antitoxin that would make hogs immune or cure hogs that had already been attacked by the disease. The stuff he administered was not a serum at all. W. E. Morris, the county agent of Renville county, heard of the stranger's work and warned the farmers, and the man took flight.

In Swift county, Alfred Carstedt, county agent, says that a man took from the farmers of the county not less than $700 with concoctions just as worthless. There is no protection for farmers against such swindlers, but save their own common sense. Only licensed veterinarians are allowed to use the serum developed at the state experimental station. The same serum may be administered by anyone so that if a man comes along professing to have a serum the farmer must be his own judge. The best way for farmers would be to appeal to their county agents or to licensed veterinarians. If they cannot reach such men they should appeal to the agricultural teachers, that consolidated high schools or of agricultural high schools or to some graduate who will be informed on the subject.

Farmers Legislation Planned
There is talk of legislative measures to protect the farmers in the future, but that will do no good now.
Renville county has a good corn crop and has suffered from the cholera. So the farmers there, as in Lac Qui Parle county, are planning to ship in cattle and feed them for profit. The plan is to use a starter for such fattening is also being considered, though this has made little headway in southwestern Minnesota as yet.

NORTHWEST CORN CENTER

Minnesota Town Believes It Holds This Position and Crowns This Grain King, at Fair.

Madison, Minn., Sept. 27.—That "Corn is King" was clearly demonstrated yesterday on the opening day of the Lac Qui Parle county fair and corn carnival at Madison. Never had the fair grounds been so elaborately and handsomely decorated, and all with the country fair and corn festival. Parle county is the center of the corn belt of the Northwest, and that it has the goods to prove all claims.
The central decoration was a hexagonal corn pyramid, standing in the center of the grounds. This pyramid was 24 feet high with faces 16 feet wide. White and yellow corn was used in building this pyramid of bounty. On one section in white corn on a background of yellow was the motto, "Corn is King" and on another section, in the same lettering, were the words, "Lac Qui Parle County." This pyramid of corn was the work of Professor J. S. Jones, agricultural teacher at the Madison High school, and four of his boy pupils.

Clothes "September Morn" for U. S. Minneapolis—A couple of days ago William Barkley, more than 100 years old, was in the harvest fields of North Dakota. He had used some of his hard earned cash to buy "September Morn" in all her loveliness, tattooed on his forearm. Then he sought the marine recruiting office in St. Paul to enlist. Lieutenant Harry Schmidt, in charge, saw this and said "Nay," then Barkley disappeared. He was returned and when he had his arm, "September Morn" was garbed in hoop petticoats that had been tattooed on. He was accepted.

Anti-Spoon Order Costly.
Minneapolis—It cost the city of Minneapolis park board more than $500 this season to try to enforce its standard of moral ideas upon young people who are wont to go boating on Lake Harriet. A conservative estimate puts the falling off in receipts from the neighborhood of $500 for the season, and it is not denied that the park board order as to the smoking, which young people would sit in canoes caused canoes and boats owned by the park board to be much less popular than they were before.

ROBE GOT NELLIE

By GEORGE ELMER COBB.
"I wish you to encourage young Nellie in her ambitions, Nellie," he said to his daughter.
Nellie did not reply in words, but her face flushed and her head drooped. The word of John Andrews was law with his family circle and even his wife rarely dared to gainsay him.
Mrs. Andrews looked very solemn. She did not attempt to repress an opinion, however.
"Joel Benton dropped in to see me at the office yesterday," pursued Mrs. Andrews in his usual precise lawyer like way. "He intimated his sentiments towards you, Nellie. He was urged on to it, he explained, because a bit of rare good fortune, as he expressed it, had come his way. As you know he and his assistant at his store, Rolfe Wilson, are related to the wealthy Jared Jones of Princeton. The old millionaire has never paid any attention to them. Yesterday Benton received a letter and a draft for $5,000 from Mr. Jones. It notified him that he might consider the title of his enormous fortune."

HEWPECK HAS LITTLE JOE

For Once He Turned the Tables on His Wife, and Surely Had a Right to Laugh.

Hewpeck was in a state of delight all the evening, it was being that at last he asked whether some one had left him a fortune.
"No, but it is the joke of the age. I have been laughing all day. This morning when I went into the dining room at breakfast time there was no meal visible. I went into my wife's room and there was a package. So unlike Bertha, you know, I called her. 'Say, Bertha, it's eight o'clock; I want my breakfast. Not a morsel. I'm hungry; show the bed; brought in the frying pan and beat me over the head with it. All to no purpose. What was it? Time was passing and I didn't feel inclined to go to work hungry. Get my own breakfast.' Not on your life. What am I married for? The bright thought struck me. I took off my shoes, crept as quietly as I could along the passage, a board cracked, in a moment Bertha was awake.
"James, where have you been?"
"And you should have seen her when she realized the truth. His 'hat'!"

SAW ADVERTISING STORY

Banker Used to Advantage Situation Which Many Might Have Overlooked.

In one of the large eastern cities not long ago occurred a burglary that had more than the usual amount of human interest in it. So much so, in fact, that although the total loss was small—only about $2,000—the story got a first page position in all the dailies and excited a lot of comment. Condensed into a few words, the story was this: An Italian and his wife had been in America but a few years, yet they had managed to get into the fruit business on a small but comparatively profitable scale. With the idea of making a fortune they had been extremely frugal and laid by a large part of their profits. With a distrust of banks they had hoarded their money in a little trunk which was kept underneath the bed in their room over the shop. In some way the secret leaked out and burglars carried off the money, trunk and all.
A banker read the stories and saw at once that there was a "real life" incident that would make strong advertising copy for his savings department. Accordingly, he got out a lot of circulars, which led off with a reprint of the newspaper story and the words with the moral that the only way to safeguard your savings was to put them in a strong, reliable bank. These circulars followed close on the trail of the newspaper account itself and the result was wonderful. That stolen trunk was by no means the only example of unwisely stored hoards in the vicinity. In fact, scores of people whose senses of caution had been aroused by the clever combination of newspaper story and advertising copy began to take out their savings from the poultry shelves and the walls of the excavations in the back yard and take their contents to the advertiser's bank.

"WHAT IS THE TROUBLE?"

John inherited the business he owns. Poor Rolfe gave up every dollar of his rightful inheritance to pay the debts of his father.
"So, Nellie," concluded her father, "there is already a young business man of standing, while Wilson is simply his clerk. Between the two there is no question as to the inheritance."
"Oh, mother!" cried Nellie, rushing to the side of Mrs. Andrews and burying her face in her bosom.
The lady gently stroked the head of her darling and only child. She tried to speak soothing words and find out the cause of her grief.
"There is indeed no question of choice between Rolfe and Mr. Benton!" said Nellie fiercely. "Mr. Benton!"

A Pennington started on Monday morning in company with his brother Fred, of Stillwater, and A. J. Conger, of Mars, for a couple of weeks' goose hunting in the vicinity of Jamestown, Dakota. Mr. Pennington took a good stock of ammunition with him and has promised to ship the first car load of geese he gets to Pine City for his friends. What he will do with the others he has not yet decided, but it is quite probable he will dispose of them in our local lots.

Miss Kate Stephan, who a few weeks ago, went back to Cleveland, Ohio, to resume her duties as teacher in the public schools of that city, returned to Pine City the latter part of last week, and will remain here, her health having rendered it necessary for her to resign her position. While all will be pleased to have Miss Stephan become a permanent resident of Pine City, they hope that her health will improve speedily.

HINCKLEY.

The plasterers have commenced work on the village hall.

Geo. W. Booth spent a day in Sandstone on business this week.

Jos. Kronenberg, of Sandstone, was in town on business Thursday morning.

Theo. Van Tassel has decided to locate in Hinckley and will soon have an office open and will grind out law for our citizens in great shape.

Nels Anderson has his new boarding house near his brother Swan's store nearly completed and has already moved in and has a couple of boarders.

Miss Mary Patten, sister of Mrs. H. J. Carley, who has made this village her home for nearly a year past started for a visit with friends in Michigan on Tuesday of this week.

Jim Morrison has been at Rush City the greater part of this week looking after his horses. Jim takes great delight in horses, and although he is something of a politician, politics haven't been anywhere this week, when compared with race horses.

W. B. Grisinger returned this week from Peatonica, Winnebago county, Illinois, and intends to make Hinckley his permanent home. Mr. Grisinger is no stranger in Hinckley, having spent a number of winters here, and all who know him will be pleased to learn that he has brought his family with him and intends to stay. Such new comers are always welcome.

ZASTERA-HOLBROOK

The following taken from the columns of The Ray Pioneer, of Ray, N. D., of September 26th, will be of interest to a large number of our readers:

The parlors of the Methodist church parsonage was the scene of a pretty but quiet wedding last Tuesday afternoon at two o'clock when Frank Zastera and Miss Eva B. Holbrook were united in marriage by the ring ceremony. Rev. Halfpenny assisted by Rev. Fletcher conducted the ceremony. The bride wore a beautiful white satin gown and bridal veil.

The bride although but slightly known in this city is an estimable young lady of Pine City, Minn., and Mr. Zastera has held a position here for some time as operator for the Great Northern railway. They have started house-keeping in the Rev. Halfpenny residence and will make their future home in this city.

The Pioneer joins their many friends in extending congratulations. The above young couple are well and favorably known in Pine City and vicinity.

The bride is a daughter of Mrs. M. Hady who resides on a farm about 3 miles northwest of this place, where the bride has spent the greater portion of her life.

The groom is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Zastera who own a farm a short distance from the home of the bride. He is an honest, industrious young man, and will make his mark in the profession he has chosen. The Pioneer extends its congratulations.

ODENTHOL-DANGER

A quiet wedding ceremony took place at the residence of the Evangelical German Lutheran pastor at 2:30 p. m. when Rudolph Odenthol and Miss Minnie Danger were joined in the holy bonds of wedlock by Rev. Luebker. The bridesmaid was Miss Martha Danger, a sister of the bride, and the groomsmen Mr. Jos. Osen of St. Paul. A wedding dinner was served at the Rath restaurant to the wedding party at about four o'clock, after which they went by auto to the Odenthol farm where a dancing party was held in the evening.

Mr. Odenthol is the third eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. Martin Odenthol who reside on a farm about six miles southwest of here on the Brunswick road. He was born and raised on the farm, and is an honest, hard working young man respected by all who know him.

The bride is the third eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Danger, and is highly respected by all who know her, she was born and raised on a farm and will make the man of her choice a help mate.

The happy young couple will reside for the winter with the groom's mother on the Odenthol farm, but in the spring they will remove to Montana.

The Pioneer joins with the many friends of the young couple in wishing them joy.

Disc Your Ground Before Plowing

- The Reasons WHY!
- 1st. After the grain has been cut the soil which previously has been somewhat protected from the sun, is subjected to its direct rays, and becomes baked and hard, and the moisture in the ground is drawn up and evaporated.
 - 2nd. By discing immediately after cutting the grain, the soil is loosened and a mulch formed which retains the moisture in the ground.
 - 3rd. Discing before plowing cuts and breaks up the stubble, so that when the ground is plowed, the stubble or weeds are not thrown into the bottom of the Furrow, forming a solid mat between the sub-soil below and the furrow slice above.
 - 4th. It is just as important that no obstruction be placed between the sub-soil and water "reservoir" below and the surface plow root above, as it is that a mulch be made of the surface soil to prevent entire evaporation.
 - 5th. Plant roots derive their food and drink from the surrounding soil and sub-soil, and too much care in preparing the seed bed cannot be taken.

Deere Model "B" Disc Harrow

The Only Real Flexible Disc Harrow Made

By means of our third spring pressure lever, the gangs are held down to their work at all times, discing perfectly in the dead furrows as well as on top of ridges.

It is just as important that the ground be disc'd evenly over all the surface and at an even depth as it is to plow at a uniform depth.

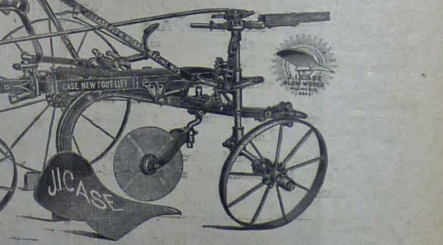

With no other Disc Harrow is it possible to disc all the ground uniformly.

Has oscillating scrapers of the most improved type, hard maple oil soaked bearings, direct line of hitch—absolutely no neck weight on the horses.

Many other important features. Ask for pamphlets or call and see us.

by the cut, this spring is strong on a 4 1/2 inch to lock the plow in the ground, to force it into a depression, and to rebound when a raised place is struck, so that one depth is always maintained. This is an exclusive feature covered by patent.

SHARER SAVES.—In plowing, conditions are often met where the best of shares will be broken unless some mechanical contrivance on the plow serves as a buffer. The rebound in the Spring Pressure Lock is the buffer on J. I. Case plows. If a rock or root is struck, the plow caught, it rebounds enough to save the share from the spring forcing the plow into the ground immediately, without leaving a rough, unplowed spot.

FEMALE MAKES THE TROUBLE

Certainly in the case of the Mosquito They Are "More Deadly Than The Male."

The attention of many of our citizens who hitherto have taken little interest in entomological investigation, has been attracted to what they believe is a new variety of mosquito, a mosquito which in the course of evolution has lost its bark, but in its place, that comes upon one unawares, without a musical accompaniment. What ever may be said against the insect it should be set down to its credit that it takes its onslaught without music, despatching to give that additional smart to one's misery. This active but diminutive specimen of the genus Culex, now at the close of summer, is beginning a work that will continue until the first sharp frost. As a matter of fact these mosquitoes that have had so much difficulty in pushing their way through the smallest meshed wire screens are the females, and for that reason we hear no song. The males are larger, perhaps cannot make their way through the screens, and remain outside, where they do not molest or join in numbers and give hallooing choruses, and encourage the suffragette sisters at their work inside. The sisters have an insatiable thirst for blood, while the mouth of the male mosquito is not equipped for biting and he does not come into our houses. While the sisters are inside drinking blood the more temperate fathers of the family are outside sipping rainwater.

Eye Alone Detects Icebergs.

There at present is no absolute method of detecting icebergs, except by the human eye, in the opinion of Captain C. E. Johnson and A. S. Gamble of the cutters Seneca and Miami, which patrolled the route of the transatlantic liners from April to May. Captain Johnson refuted the prevalent theory that a sudden drop in temperature meant the proximity of icebergs. Little or no change in temperature was noticeable, he said. Nor can icebergs, as generally supposed, be detected with any certainty by an echo from a ship's whistle or bell, as according to Captain Johnson, a perpendicular berg may give an echo from three directions, but a slanting face reflects the sound. About thirty percent of the Seneca's efforts to get echoes were futile. The presence of murre (a kind of auk) the officer declared, indicated the presence of icebergs, but he advises mariners to pay no attention to other birds.

He Was on Duty.

Herbert stood on a chair. The chair stood in the pantry. The man stood on the shelf. Herbert's mother stood on the threshold. Herbert stood his ground. "My son," said the mother, pointing at him with an admonitory "I am n-r-prised? To think that my little boy would do a thing like that." Herbert, resourceful and not at all abashed, looked at his mother straight in the eye. "Please do not interfere with the 'manuvers' of a boy scout," he said. "A boy scout?" "Yes, mother, after supplies."

Warning.

The minister was coming to dinner, and the lady of the house killed a rooster in his honor. Her little boy was very much annoyed, and thought it cruel. Some time after this the lad saw the minister coming up the road. He ran into the yard and began putting all then hens and chickens into the rooster-plant, saying all the time, "Shoo, shoo! Here comes the man that ate yer father!"

Made Him Tired.

Robert is small, but rapidly leaving behind the baby age that tolerates sentiment. Not long since he overtook a young mother and her child, and accompanied her to the house, where he noted for the first time. The grown folk present smiled, but Robert's face remained solemn. Only, as he bent over the childish task that apparently absorbed him, he was heard to murmur, scornfully: "Goodness! Loving again!"

Interested.

Husband (at the police station)—They say you have caught the fellow who robbed our house night before last. Sergeant—Yes. Do you want to see 'im? Husband—Sure! I'd like to talk to him. I want to know how he got in without waking my wife. I've been trying to do that for the last twenty years.—Judge

FEDERAL JURIST HIT

JUDGE VAN DEVANTER OF THE SUPREME COURT IS ATTACKED IN PETITION.

PLEA IS FILED IN HOUSE

Des Moines (Ia.) Man Imprisoned for Forgery, Accuses High Court Associate of Illegal Ruling—His Motive Is Attacked.

Washington, Sept. 29.—A petition in the form of a sworn statement of charges demanding that impeachment proceedings be instituted against Justice Willis Van Devanter, associate justice of the Supreme court of the United States, was filed with the house of representatives. It was referred to the committee on judiciary for investigation.

Blotgett Declares that he was twice placed in jeopardy on the same charge, having been acquitted of this charge in the county court in Polk county, Iowa, and later having been convicted in the Boone county courts. At the time of the proceedings, Blotgett says Judge Van Devanter denied him a writ of habeas corpus.

Attacks Jurist's Motive.

It is claimed that "the said Willis Van Devanter willfully, maliciously and fraudulently pretended that it was his honest opinion that D. T. Blotgett was imprisoned in accordance with the local or state laws" and "knew D. T. Blotgett was being deprived of his liberty in violation of the constitution and laws of the state of Iowa."

LIGHTNING FROM FOG BANK

Captain of Pacific Coast Schooner Tells of Strange Experience—Removal of His Vessel.

Capt. A. Sunderberg of the steam schooner Wasp, which plies between Seattle and California ports, reports a strange experience at sea on August 7. In a report made to the Hydrographic office Captain Sunderberg says that at 10 p. m., when six miles east of south of Point Conception, his vessel ran into a thick fog bank which hung close to the water.

Without the fog rising in the least, a violent electric storm broke out, and for one hour and 14 minutes the basket of heavy mist was pierced continually by discharges of atmospheric electricity and vivid flashes of angular signals and forked lightning. At 12:15 a. m., August 8, the steel foremast of the Wasp became charged with electricity from the top down to the spring rigging. Captain Sunderberg says this was not the usual display of St. Elmo fire, as the mast gave out loud reports as if from a powerful wireless apparatus.

While the vessel was bombarded by lightning which coursed down her main mast, her officers and crew did not venture on deck.

Improving Constantinople.

Constantinople electric line is well under way. It includes the formation of what is known as the Ottoman Metropolitan company, capitalized at $5,000,000 for the purpose of building and operating the line. Work is to be finished as far as Panscahl in four and a half years from October 1, 1912, according to the terms of the contract, and the rest will follow within a similar period. A new bridge over the Golden Horn will be part of the work.

DRY SCALE COVERED HEAD

2760 Tamm Ave., St. Louis, Mo.—"My little daughter's head began with a dry harsh scale covering it. First it got a white scale over the top and then it got a dirty brown scab with pus under it. Her hair came out in less than a week and her head itched and bled. She had no rest. I had her wear a scarf all the time, it looked so badly. She was so sore and had such big brown scabs on her head that the teacher would not let her attend school.

"We took and had her treated for three months with no relief. She kept getting worse until I tried Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I used the Cuticura Soap every third day and the Cuticura Ointment at night. In three weeks her head was well of scales. Two cakes of Cuticura Soap and one box of Cuticura Ointment completely cured her." (Signed) Mrs. Walter Rogers, Nov. 28, 1912.

Wagons and IHC Wagons THE farmer who, in need of a wagon, blindly makes a bee line for the first new wagon or dealer in sight may get a good wagon. If chance steers him to an IHC dealer, well and good. That is his good fortune. If not, he will probably be in the wagon market again years before he should be. But the economical farmer will study and compare different makes; find out in advance which wagon will give him best service, and consider such questions as company standing and reputation. When he has finished he will buy an IHC wagon.

Weber New Bettendorf Columbus Steel King Here are only two of the many features that contribute to the making of IHC wagon reputation. 1-Air-drying of lumber. Every stick of wood used-hickory and oak for wheels and axles, bay poplar for box sides, long leaf yellow pine for bottoms-lies drying in open sheds from two to three years, saving all its resinous saps, toughening, seasoning, gaining elasticity, as only air-dried lumber does. Kiln-drying quickly evaporates the sap, leaves the wood inelastic, brittle, and weak-runs it, in short. 2-Thorough inspections. Every IHC wagon, passes many rigid inspections by experts. Seldom does any flaw in material, or defect in shaping, ironing, and assembling get by without detection. When ready it must come up to IHC standards. Weber and Columbus wagons have wood gears; New Bettendorf and Steel King have steel gears. Look the line over at the local dealer's. GEOLOGICAL SURVEY ACTIVE IN MINNEAPOLIS Order Limiting Time to File Claims, and for Hearing Thereon. State of Minnesota, County of Pine, In Probate Court. In the Matter of the Estate of John D. Wilson, Deceased. Letters of administration filed this day having been granted to August L. Wilson.

INVESTIGATION OF WATER RESOURCES. The water resources of Minnesota, with particular reference to the flow of surface waters, are being investigated by the U. S. Geological Survey, in co-operation with the State Drainage Commission (George A. Ralph, chief engineer) and others. For this purpose 47 gaging stations are now maintained in Minnesota. Of these, 43 are maintained in co-operation with the State Drainage Commission, 1 of which is located in the Missouri river basin, 5 in the Lake Superior basin, 13 in the Hudson Bay basin, and the remaining 24 in the upper Mississippi basin. The U. S. Weather Bureau furnishes gage heights at two stations, and private persons furnish similar records at two other stations. At these gaging stations the height of stage of the rivers is determined each day by local observers, and measurements of the discharge of the streams are made at intervals by engineers of the Survey. From these data the quantity of water flowing past the station is determined.

These records in Minnesota are of use chiefly in the design, construction, and operation of power plants, in studies of problems relating to stream pollution, river regulation, flood control, and water storage, and in determining suitable water supplies for municipalities. The investigations of stream flow in Minnesota are being made by W. G. Hoyt, district engineer, and S. B. Soule. The district office is in the Old Capitol building, St. Paul.

Complete hydrographic data relating to Minnesota are contained in the report of water-resources investigations of Minnesota, 1909-1912, by the State Drainage Commission, in co-operation with the U. S. Geological Survey
