Hinckley Lad of Seven Years Stole Ride to St. Paul and Then Headed West

Harold Linn, the little seven-year old nephew of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Linn, ran away from home Monday and made a sensational trip before being caught.

The boy was accused of taking a little express wagon belonging to the children of H. M. Dempsey and when he came home from school his aunt asked him about it. He denied taking the wagon but said a neighbor boy had taken it and he knew where it was. His aunt told him he must get the wagon and take it home.

Harold left the house, got the wagon and brought it up to Mrs. Henry Coffin and asked her to take care of it, saying he was going to Minneapolis. Mrs. Coffin refused the responsibility and the boy then took the wagon and placed it in the shed in the rear.

As he did not come home at night his uncle began a search for him. No trace of him could be found in Hinckley, and, because of a former escapade, Mr. Linn suspected he had stolen a ride on some train and telegraphed descriptions of the boy. These telegrams brought no response until Tuesday morning when word was received from St. Cloud that the boy was there.

It seems that the boy had climbed on the noon train on the Northern Pacific and by hiding under the seats made his trip to Minneapolis all right. That night he took the 11:30 fast coast train in the same manner and headed west. On this train he did not remain hidden and was made much of by the passengers, but was placed in the hands of the police at St. Cloud, where he arrived at 1:30. He remained in charge of the wife of a police officer and was placed on the Great Northern train Tuesday afternoon and sent home. Hinckley Enterprise, Oct. 29.

A Bunch of Hallowe'eners

Hallowe'en came and went, much the same as other e'ens, except more so. Most people are thankful it is past, and many wish it had been the only thing that went over on Sunday night for the witches were out and up to all their old time pranks.

On Friday and Saturday evenings there were several parties, some of which we are able to learn of and some of which we may not know about.

About 40 young folks enjoyed themselves at the Bode home on the north side, Friday evening. The house was decorated with black and white "fisks" appropriate to the occasion. Supper was served and dancing was enjoyed in the annex.

Miss Portia Huber's class of the Presbyterian Sunday school were hostesses at a party at the Wiseman home, last Friday evening, which was attended by 24 young folks of that age. The house was prettily decorated for the occasion. Lunch was served and games played.

The young folks society of the German Lutheran church enjoyed a very pleasant party in the parish school house last Friday evening, at which Hallowe'en games were played and a fine time enjoyed.

Braham's Harvest Fair.

The weather man was in a general mood last Wednesday and an unusually rainy day helped to make Braham's 1915 harvest fair one of the best ever. A good natured crowd of business folk and pleasure through crowded walks and places through exhibition purposes was filed to suffocation.

There were more exhibits this year than at any previous fair, and the quality of farm products, with the exception of corn, was as good if not better. The ladies' department, long neglected, proved the center of attraction. More items should be added to this list another year.—Braham Journal, Oct. 29.

Sandstone Has Hopes

The croqueting plant finished its season's run last Friday evening and closed down for the season. Only a small amount of croqueted blocks were turned out there this summer, but it is hoped that the plant will be worked to its fullest capacity next summer.—Sandstone Courier, Oct. 28.

Cunningham Visits Cloquet

George Cunningham of Sturgeon Lake, Cloquet's former baseball star, came up from his home Monday afternoon and spent a few days visiting friends and renewing old acquaintances. George recently returned from Chattanooga, Tenn., where he was farmed out by the Detroit Tigers. He has been making good down south, and will leave the latter part of February for Detroit to spend his time in training until the arrival of the coming baseball season.—Cloquet Pine Knot, Oct. 29.

Burglary at Sandstone

Some miscreants entered the Co-operative store last Thursday evening and made away with about $5.75 which had been left in the cash register, and about one dollar in stamps. An entrance was gained by crawling through the hole where potatoes are shoveled into the cellar. Somebody took some long chances to get a few dollars, and it would only serve them right if they had been apprehended and sent over the road.—Sandstone Courier, Oct. 28.

Judge Lambert Is Dead

End Came Suddenly, Monday Evening—Was Widely Known and Liked

Our people were astounded Tuesday morning to learn of the sudden death of Judge Alfred H. Lambert at 8 o'clock the evening before in St. Joseph's hospital at St. Paul, where he was operated on a little over two weeks ago for appendicitis.

It was known that the operation had been delayed too long and that the appendix had broken before the operation, after which the Judge was a very sick man for several days, but most of his old friends looked confidently forward to his recovery because of his equable disposition and sturdy health. It seemed to the folks that he must live to be a hundred years old.

He was recovering nicely from the effects of the operation and the surgeon assured the folks that all danger was past. His daughter, Miss Lillian, who was visiting him that afternoon, left him feeling fine at 6 o'clock and returned two hours later to find life extinct. A blood clot in the heart had brought death a few minutes before.

The body was brought here on the limited Tuesday afternoon and was buried from the Catholic church at 10 o'clock this morning. The casket was covered with the floral offerings of his family and friends and the church was filled with those who wished to pay a last tribute to his memory.

Mr. Lambert was born June 18, 1845 at Galenborough, Can., and came to St. Paul in 1867, and soon thereafter to Chippewa Falls, where he was engaged in the lumbering and mercantile business and later in real estate. He has served as county treasurer and held many local offices of honor and trust. He was an eminent Mason and Workman and Knight of Pythias.

He was married on April 12, 1871 to Miss Mary Greene, and to the union were born six children who grew to adult age, besides several who died in infancy. Five of them, Win. A. of St. Paul, John of Two Harbors, Bernard of Ely and Miss Lillian and Elizabeth of this place—besides his widow, survive him.

"Alf" Lambert was known throughout this region. He was of a quiet, forbearing and kindly disposition and had hosts of warm friends who join with those of his family in mourning his loss.

G. A. R. Ladies Enjoy Themselves

A special meeting of Emily J. Stone Circle, L. of G. A. R., was held in their hall Monday afternoon. Past Dept. Pres. Elizabeth Slater, of Minneapolis, was present for the annual inspection. Sisters Anna Eddy and Marilla Stone were taken into membership by transfer from the Circle at Rush City and Mrs. Ellen Schmecher of this place by invitation. The Circle is the largest, as well as the city, between St. Paul and Duluth, having 40 members in good standing, among whom are two past grand officers—Past Dept. Pres. Marilla Stone and Past Dept. Sec. Susan Shearer. After the business of the day was concluded a social hour was enjoyed with a delightful lunch, all of those present having a most enjoyable time. The Poker feels like adding that the G. A. R. ladies never fail to have the best kind of a time whenever they get together.

Clark Buys Swain Horses

Emmet Mark of the Willow River Horse & Cattle Co. was here yesterday, making arrangements for the big sale he will hold at the Pine City stock yards next Thursday. Mr. Mark is well known throughout this part of the state and has doubtless sold more horses in the counties of this region than all other dealers together. He has traded his Lindstrom store for the Chas Swain herd of young mares and geldings from Hinckley, and says he is in a position to sell them dirt cheap. At the same time he will trade for or buy war horses and if you have anything to sell or trade you should visit Mark's auction.

Milburn and Pine Grove

Gust Nelson, on the Govt road, is just putting the finishing touches on his fine new house and they will be able to get in soon. It is about 27x44 and has, besides the two full stories, a fine big attic and a full basement. It is probably the best house in the locality and the Nelsons' friends all wish them much happiness in it.

The Ladies Aid of the Swedish Mission church met at the Rudolph Sunilgaard home yesterday afternoon. There were fully 75 men and women present and a delightful afternoon was spent. A sumptuous lunch was served.

The Milburn grange will give a box social in the Pine town hall this evening. A program will be given and a general good time had. Everybody is invited.

The class of 1915 will be confirmed in the Pine Grove church at 10 o'clock a. m. by Rev. Hedlin of Rush City.

The Louis Pangerl well digging machine is at Louis Martinson's where they are drilling a new well.

Mrs. Ed Adler met with quite a painful accident Tuesday when a coffee pot which was boiling blew up and the hot coffee was thrown over her, burning her quite badly about the chest and arms.

John MacAdam finished the road work near Pine City last week and is now hauling gravel to build a concrete culvert on the St. Croix road, though he probably will not put it in before spring.

Mrs. Madam Von Busch, MacAdam and Steve Smith and the Misses Mabel MacAdam and Verneida Von Busch spent Tuesday in Pine City, shopping and having some dental work attended to.

Chas. Dile is building a new shop on his farm which will be a great improvement when finished. W. H. Cut or Chas. Franklin are doing the carpenter work.

The Purdy boys have finished threshing for the neighbors in this vicinity, though they still have some work near Beroun.

Mr. Haddeman has rented the M. T. Lahart farm for the coming year, though the Lahart will continue to occupy the house.

Mr. and Mrs. Lahart drove to Dunbar town yesterday to visit the home of their daughter, Margaret, with Susan.

Nettie Purdy returned home Sunday from Minneapolis where she has been visiting the past three weeks.

Mr. Campbell and family are making preparations to move to Wisconsin in the near future.

The Ladies Sewing Circle will meet at Mrs. Anna Madson's this afternoon.

A dance will be given in the town hall, Saturday evening, by Ed Adler.

Art Nichols returned home from the southern part of the state Monday. The telephone line has been out of order much of the past week.

Alice Gredskopp spent Saturday and Sunday at Pine City.

Game Poachers Killed At Work

Some Arrests Will Doubtless Follow Close on Close of "Season"

The "sooners" are at work in the woods, getting deer and moose in advance of the opening of the season. Eastern Pine county is pretty fairly peppered with them and doubtless many arrests will follow the close of the season when time can be found to prosecute, where now it is needed to detect.

There is a report that one farmer in town 43, Pine county, has killed a moose. There have been several deer killed in towns 41-42 and one plump yearling doe was found by a party alongside of a road in this town on Sunday last while the entrails of another lie in a thicket on the banks of Crooked creek and several others are known to the authorities.

A moose was shot this week, narrowly missed being shot by the authorities, but its owner appeared in the nick of time and proved he was not hunting with it.

Settlers owe it to themselves to aid the authorities in detecting and prosecuting the "sooners" who come out from the cities and villages as well as the pot hunters among their own numbers.

SWEDEN.

Although nothing so drastic as the prohibition measures of Russia has been attempted in Sweden, there has been, since the beginning of the war, a steady and systematic curtailment in the sale of liquor, which is approximately 50 per cent. The government advocates as a decided step toward absolute prohibition. The "Stockholm system" of allowing each citizen only a fixed quantity of alcoholic drink, which was inaugurated just after the war started, has been extended to 31 of the 100 districts in Sweden, and according to a government order recently issued, will after the first of January 1918, apply to the whole of Sweden. The "Stockholm system" which allows every citizen in good standing in the city to become a moderate drinker, while effectively preventing him from becoming a drunkard, was indignantly decried by Dr. Ivan Bratt, present director of the system, after all other expedients had failed. Doctor Bratt has been lauded, commended, fêted and ridiculed, and his work has become the theme of a long discussion in the newspapers of Sweden, some of which criticize him for being too moderate, others too extreme in his reforms. But on one point all are agreed. The system works. In the first place, the liquor traffic has been reduced to private individuals, were practically made government concerns, for all profits were to go to the government. This removed any incentive on the part of the directors to overproduction. It was followed by a careful supervision of the supply of liquor, not only to hotels, restaurants and public bars. These places still had a right to as much liquor as they required, but they were only allowed profit on a reasonable amount of trade. If they did business in excess of that amount fixed by the government, they had to purchase this additional supply at retail price, and were forced to sell at the same prices. This, it is claimed, would have removed the zealous effort of hotel proprietors to make their liquor trade as large as possible.

NORWAY.

A report dated Drammen, September 30, says: Also, the government has issued a decree regarding the quantity of alcohol to be sold, which was inaugurated just after the war started, has been extended to 31 of the 100 districts in Sweden, and according to a government order recently issued, will after the first of January 1918, apply to the whole of Sweden. # THE PINE POKE, PINE CITY, MINN.

The possibilities of good or common storage for the apple crop and the method of storing it are of great importance. A good storage room would enable the grower to secure a market for a large part of the apple crop. Many small towns in orchard districts are poorly supplied with apples during the winter months. The cause of the grove's dependence upon the commercial storage houses, which are located only at the larger towns, is the cost of handling and shipping to and from storage may be saved in many cases by providing storage rooms that are clean and well ventilated, and in which the temperature may be well controlled.

The first requisite for successful storage is clean, sound fruit, picked before it begins to soften, carefully handled, and placed in storage with as little handling and delay as is possible. The grower should take every precaution to keep the fruit cool and the temperature of his room as low as possible, closing all openings when the temperature outside is higher, and opening when the outside temperature is lower than it is inside.

At the Kansas experiment station a cave was made for storing apples, 24 feet long, 8 feet 6 inches wide, and 7 feet high, inside measurement. The side walls were eight inches in thickness of concrete made of one part cement, three parts sand, and five parts crushed stone. The inside of the walls received a finish coat of one-half inch thick of one part cement and one part screened sand, and the floor was a concrete floor.

The slab forming the top of the cave was made eight and one-half inches in thickness, of concrete made of one part cement, three parts sand, and four parts of crushed stone, reinforced with five-eighths-inch square steel bars, spaced four feet apart, and embedded three-fourths of an inch above the bottom of the slab. The floor was made three and one-half inches in thickness, as follows: Base, three inches in thickness, made of one part cement to four parts of sand, and the top coat one-half inch in thickness, made of one part cement and one part of screened sand, and troweled smooth with a steel trowel.

The top contained the three ventilators and the bottom four ventilators—as illustrated—and the front contained a door 4 by 6 feet. This door was made in two sections, having a double space of four inches between each section. Each section was made of two thicknesses of boarding laid together at an oblique angle, after the manner of an ice-house door.

This cave was constructed by contract, and cost, complete, not including excavation, approximately $300. Where sand and stone could be easily obtained a fruit grower could probably construct a similar cave for a less price.

From the experiments conducted with such caves, under favorable conditions, and under adverse conditions, it seems possible to carry a good grade of hand-picked apples until the first of March on the average.

If the storage cave is located near the house so that it may receive constant attention, a temperature of 32 degrees F. or lower can be secured by the first of December and frequently maintained until the first of March. To secure this temperature the cave door must be opened each night that the temperature drops low, and closed again at night when the temperature is above 40 degrees F.

Good drainage around the cave is of great importance, both for the surface and subsoil. The surface water should be run off by means of shallow ditches on either side of the cave.

Fruit kept in a cave usually remains more firm than when stored in a dry place (too much moisture, however, is to be avoided). By constructing the walls in such a manner that they will control a definite amount of moisture, the fruit will retain its texture and color for a longer period.

Second quality apples should be packed in the same way, in boxes by themselves and the culls can either be made into cider or worked up for family use, or sold in the market for just what they are. If the second grade apples and the culls are packed in along with the best, you will get nothing more than the price for culls, and you will destroy the market for the poorest quality of fruit.

If the fruit is stored in the cellar it must be well ventilated and packed in boxes, and all impurities should be removed. The fruit should be sorted out, and the sound fruit elevated two or three feet above the floor.

Green Food for Poultry. Poultry need green food in winter months. A mixture of cabbage, green food, alfalfa or clover cut early and cured green and lawn clippings are excellent for this purpose. It should be fed every day. Now is the time to prepare for a supply of such food for the coming winter.

FASTENER PREVENTS COW FROM CROWDING

When a cow is crowded, the fastener is used to prevent the cow from crowding too far forward. The main feature of the cow fastener shown in the illustration is the bar I, which prevents the cow from crowding too far forward.

The material like the dress are smart, sleeve links are made of loose links and short connections.

For a Damp Room. When a room is damp, the following hint will be useful: Take half a pint of alum and half a pint of water. Dissolve the alum in the half of boiling water, take off the heat and wash the wall once or twice with the solution; when dry it can be papered. No damp will ever show through the solution.

Excellent Method for Fastening Cow. The main feature of the cow fastener shown in the illustration is the bar I, which prevents the cow from crowding too far forward.

Jewelry Fancies. Brooches are again very fashionable. Rings in rings are cut in designs ranging from the simple to the elaborate.

Prices prices will be regulated for the winter by the market. Many prices will be set for winter. Many prices will be set for winter. Many prices will be set for winter.

Startling Discovery. The history of our reform proves that it is well-nigh impossible to take prohibition from a state constitution when once placed there by the voters of a commonwealth. Constitutional law is not the mere will of a majority party policy. Unlike a statutory law it is not subject to the whims of a legislature. The liquor traffic constantly defies the laws of the prohibition. Nothing short of a nationwide prohibition will effectively enforce their prohibition laws.

Increased Deposits. Kansas has recently given to the world the most important condition promising the financial prosperity of a state. When the state and national banks were asked in time to make a statement of their condition, the vaults of the Kansas banks were fairly bulging with money. Their books showed combined deposits of $226,066,137, an increase of $46,281,205.21, in the deposits reported on Nov. 30, 1914.

SALMON WITH BOILED EGG

Delicious Trefle for Hostess to Serve to Guests at Formal or Informal Luncheon.

A salmon sandwich is a tempting article of food, and should be half made with chopped boiled egg and very thin slices of olives and pickles. The whole hostess will make two different kinds of sandwiches, some with the mixture moistened with vinegar or lemon juice, others without. Practically all fresh sandwiches are extremely rich, and strong condiments are used in the filling, especially mustard and catsup.

White meat makes a delicate sandwich, darker meats mixed with mayonnaise and other relishes are more appetizing in every way. When sandwiches are served at a noon-day luncheon at home, the contents of the sandwich should be placed between the bread loaf and covered with a cooked meat filling, then covered with hot buttered toast and served hot.

PROHIBITION VICTORIES. (Continued from the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union.)

Annals of the National Woman's Christian Temperance Union. Before the first annual convention of that organization, held in St. Louis, October 23rd, 1915.

Several months and forward to the year 1916 one might suppose that the movement in retrospect and in prospect would be a movement of victory tomorrow. The number of prohibition victories, the temperance transformation of Russia; German, French and English victories; the complete abolition of alcohol in the United States Navy and Colorado; the total prohibition in the Panama Canal zone; the outlawing of the liquor traffic in Virginia, Arizona, Arkansas, Idaho, Iowa, Missouri and South Carolina; the majority vote of the prohibition prohibition in both New York and New Jersey; the triumph of the enemies of the prohibition in a large number of counties and cities, the upholding by the United States Supreme court of the constitution of the Indian treaty-making power; the prohibition in the District of Columbia; the total prohibition enforced by many industrial corporations; the decrease of alcohol consumption to the extent of $120,000,000 a month of the internal revenue collected from the distillation of spirits.

A good stationary wringer, or one which is so made as to be clamped to the tub in a permanent position, when used with the wringer, loosens the screws to relieve the pressure of the rubber rollers; wash clothes, wipe dry and put away where it will keep clean until needed.

Unique Salad and Dessert. In a half lemon pour a little mayonnaise of the pulp and add a slice cut from the end so it stands upright. It may be covered with a fluted paper cap.

The value of hard-cooked eggs may be increased by the addition of a dash of Worcestershire sauce added to them and mixed to a paste, then formed into small balls, rolled in powdered nuts and drop them into the salad, using the rings of white for the garnish.

WHAT WILL THE HARVEST BE?

Congressman Thos. D. Schall is reported to be about ready to file for re-election next year as a Republican. If he does, the whole matter ought to be settled in the primaries instead of having a close contest at the general election, as the district is strongly Republican, and voters are still hanging pretty well to their party in national affairs, where there is no striking difference in the qualifications of the candidates.

It is generally understood that Hon. Lowell E. Jepson of Minneapolis, who was in the run a year ago, will also be a candidate, and reports are that Mayor Nye and Hon. W. S. Duffell, of Minneapolis and Hon. Victor L. Johnson of Center City will also be candidates.

The Minneapolis Journal claims that national prohibition will be the main issue in the district when the fight gets on. Every county in the district, except Hennepin, has gone dry under county option, but a summary of the votes shows that the "wets" have a comfortable majority. This is the way Hennepin's portion of the district went on Oct. 4:

	Dry	Wet
Third ward	1,876	5,248
Fourth ward	2,398	4,189
Tenth ward	1,457	2,292
Country towns	8,165	3,818
Total	8,891	15,572

The other seven counties voted as follows in this year's county option elections:

	Dry	Wet
Anoka	1,630	794
Chisago	1,758	648
Isanti	1,254	450
Kanabec	853	375
Mill Lake	1,286	837
Pine	2,154	1,283
Wright	3,077	2,661
Total	11,422	7,930

It will be noted that while the "drys" have a majority of 4,032 in the outlying counties, the "wets" carried the portion of Hennepin lying in the tenth district by 6,631, leaving them with 2,640 in the county total that could only possibly be overcome by an increased dry vote in such counties as Chisago and Isanti where there was more or less apathy in the election and the votes were correspondingly small. But what would the "wets" be doing, while the "drys" were gathering up these stray votes?

F. E. Church Notes

The reception tendered Rev. and Mrs. H. H. Parish Wednesday night at the First Methodist church was an enjoyable event attended by representative delegations from various churches in the city. The decorations were attractive, the program interesting and the refreshments excellent. In addition to musical numbers given by Miss Mildred Deane and Miss Ella Cox, Rev. J. G. Ward gave a brief address welcoming Rev. Parish on behalf of the members of the city and Albert Cox spoke on behalf of the Methodist congregation. Rev. Parish responded appropriately.—Cloquet Pine Knot, Oct. 29.

The "piper" social at the Hustletown church last Friday evening was a great success, both socially and financially. There was a good crowd, a large number from Pine City and Brown being in attendance. The money was given up to the high standard of pastry cooking previously established by the good cooks of that locality and were much enjoyed. The Star class of the Hustletown Sunday school, which gave the act, earned enough money to complete a subscription of $20 made to the church building fund.

There were 31 out to the Bible class study at the J. D. Boyle home Monday evening and a fine meeting was held. Next Monday evening the meeting will be held in the Pennington home and a general invitation is extended to all who wish to study the bible to attend. We will meet anywhere and all are welcome.

Children are especially wanted at the Sunday morning service, the women being particularly addressed to them upon the subject "God's Telephone," beginning at 9 o'clock. "A Secret Servant's Learn" will be the subject and Rev. Hare will also sing a gospel solo.

CHIROPRACTIC

This is the Newest Science of the Day, and the Only One Whereby We Can Locate (Not the Disease) But the Cause.

Why do you have stomach trouble while I do not? Why does your father have paralysis while your grandfather who was much older did not? Why did Henry, age seven, have measles while Helen, age five, did not?

You and I have eaten practically the same food. Father and grandfather lived on the same farm, had the same work to do. Henry and Helen always played together and slept in the same room.

There Must Be Some Cause for These Diseases Taking Hold of One and Not the Other, and There Is

The brain is the dynamo which has the life current of the body. The spinal cord and nerves carry this current to all parts of the body, keeping every muscle in perfect condition, every organ working properly and allowing no germs (harmful germs) to creep in and eat up the tissues of our body, causing fevers and contagious diseases.

Just suppose this current was shut off, that is, some pressure interfered with the full flow, only 70 per cent of life went to the stomach, what is the result? Your poor stomach is only able to do 70 per cent of its work. When you eat 70 per cent of a meal tonight, but eat a full meal and you have pain or "that" stomach trouble. But you say how can this interference with life current take place? By a slight blow, fall or even sleeping crooked, you can rotate or subluxate one of the small segments of the spine out of place, and as the spinal nerves all pass between these vertebrae, before going to the organs, etc. they (the vertebrae) will press on the nerves, shutting off this life nerve power.

When the vertebrae is adjusted (put in place) by a competent Chiropractor, the nerve flow becomes proper (100 per cent) and the pain will leave. If you suffer any pain, numbness, disease of any kind, growths or abnormalities see the CHIROPRACTOR.

The postal authorities at Washington recognizing the ability of getting letters in the wrong boxes, have fixed a penalty of $200 on taking mail out of an office other than their own, and not returning it immediately. This law also includes newspapers. The excuse that it is not the postmaster's fault cuts no ice.

CHAPTER XXVI.

He converted a skeptic with the suave eloquence of his lips. . . . Head upon his shoulder, the girl thought passionately to him again that you love me! he said. "From now on you'll never let anything come between us. Promise me, Alan—promise me you'll be kind to me all ways, dear."

"You don't! It will be kind!" she murmured reproachfully. "I can almost count on you," she whispered. "How could I be anything else, loving you as I do?"

"Why should I be unkind to you?" "I don't want to be unkind to you," she said. "I'm just afraid."

"Of what?" "Of losing you." "But that can never be!" "You can't be sure. What if you were to find you were mistaken?" "I don't think so. I'm sure."

"I can be sure. Nothing in life is permanent. What is love? Illusion of the senses? What is happiness? A will-o-the-wisp? What is life? A make-believe!"

"Oh, that's ridiculous!" "I mean, I can be sure. Nothing in life is permanent. What is love? Illusion of the senses? What is happiness? A will-o-the-wisp? What is life? A make-believe!"

"Oh, that's ridiculous!" "I mean, I can be sure. Nothing in life is permanent. What is love? Illusion of the senses? What is happiness? A will-o-the-wisp? What is life? A make-believe!"

His tearing car was within fifty yards when the first was aware of the car. Marplot, standing on the running-board, was shouting inarticulately and flourishing his arms with his hands; while the distance between them was momentarily growing less.

As Marplot's car drew abreast Alan nodded and said quietly: "Don't be alarmed; I can control this gentleman single-handed."

And this he proceeded to demonstrate with admirable ease, even though called upon to do so far more than he had thought to be—thanks to Marplot's half-brained conceit. For, falling to influence the taxi driver by shouted demands or threats, or gain the least attention from Alan, Trine's first lieutenant abruptly and surprisingly took his life in his hands and in one wild lung bridged the distance between the two flying cars and landed on the taxi's running-board.

"Stop!" he screamed madly. "Stop!" "You don't know what you're doing! Let me tell you—"

"He got that far no farther. In the same breath Alan had swung wide the door and was at the fellow's throat. There was a struggle of negligible duration; Marplot was in a twinkling his antagonist's neck; within three seconds he threw out both hands, clutched helplessly at the framework of the cab, and fell heavily to the street.

"That rascal upon whom I trusted, he drove deaf to the halls of innocent if indulgent bystanders. Alan pulled himself together and looked about in time to catch a glimpse of a man's face looking at him from the sidewalk. The cab took a corner on two wheels."

"Not seriously injured, I fancy," he took the first response by her eager look. "Worse."

"It is assumed that he was to have gone through the door of the car, as well as figuratively, for each side."

"That woman is Judith Trine, you idiot—Not Rose!"

Three blocks further on a tire blew out, and the taxi lurched precariously, and the taxi lurched precariously, and the taxi lurched precariously.

"Go to it," Alan advised him tersely. "I'll stand the cost of the tire, if you understand this is a matter of life and death, and I'll have no time to argue with you."
