BLAV OFFENSIVE IN BUKOVINA GROWING IN INTENSITY. TEUTONS RUSH REINFORCEMENTS TO FRONT.

VIENNA REPORTS ATTACKS OF CZAR'S MEN REPULSED

Artillery Engagements and Sapping Operations Continue on French, Italian and Dardanelles Fronts—Little Change Reported at Saloniki.

Geneva, via Paris, Jan. 4.—According to the Muenchener Nachrichten, two separate Austrian and Bulgarian armies have been formed with the object of marching through Montenegro to the sea. The northern army's objective is Cetinje and Lovcen, and that of the second Antivari and San Giovanni di Mennato.

London, Jan. 4.—That the Russian offensive in Bukovina is growing in intensity is indicated by dispatches announcing that General Hackenauer has been withdrawn from Serbia to lead the Teutons in meeting this drive. It has also been reported that the Germans have about a million and a quarter men on the front and it is reported that further reinforcements are to be added.

Heavy fighting continues along the Russian front from the Friess to the Balkans. In the Balkans, except in Montenegro, where the Austrians claim to have not to rout a Montenegrin detachment which attempted an advance on the Albanian front, there is no change in the situation. There also has been no change at Salonika as concerns the Bulgarians, but they are not yet, so far as known, ready to Green's protest against their forcing the district of Macedonia by the Austro-Germans, or answered Green's representations against the arrest of the representatives of the Great powers and their allies.

GOVERNOR W. S. HAMMOND

THROUGHS AT FUNERAL FUNERAL OF LATE GOVERNOR OF STATE

THOUSANDS LOOK UP FACE OF GOVERNOR HAMMOND IN ROTUNDA OF STATE CAPITOL.

BODY TAKEN TO ST. JAMES' CITY IN FUNERAL ATTIRE

Services Take Place in Methodist Church With Larger Than Presbyterians Auditorium Where Governor Worshiped—Masonic Ritual at Grave.

St. Paul, Jan. 3.—Thousands looked Sunday upon the face of Governor Winfield Scott Hammond as he lay in the serene majesty of death in the rotunda of the capitol in St. Paul. In a magnificent setting of flowers and greenery, the body reposed in state under the great dome. High overhead flew, at half staff, the national emblem, betokening the grief of Minnesota over the passing of its chief executive.

Pay Personal Tribute. From 10 a. m. till 10 p. m. the doors of the capitol were open. During those hours any citizen might go to the bier and pay personal tribute to the dead.

The capitol was not open to the public Monday. A show service, held by relatives, officials and close friends, began at 9 o'clock. Half an hour later the funeral cortege moved to Union depot for the journey to St. James, home of the governor, where the final impressive rites took place. A new and very costly casket, made of mahogany and inlaid with silver, was used. The body was transferred from the black brocade casket in which it was brought from Louisiana, to a new one of mahogany and inlaid with silver, copper lined and sealed. When it was in readiness the friends of the governor who had gathered at the capitol assembled, and the active pallbearers chosen from the national guard bore the casket to the rotunda, where it was placed with the head to the north, surrounded by flowers.

Honorary Pallbearers. A list of honorary pallbearers who followed the body of Governor Hammond to its last resting place included three former governors, two senators and men prominent in the Democratic party from all parts of Minnesota.

Cortege Starts for Station. Services in the capitol rotunda were brief, consisting only of a prayer by Rev. W. W. Phelps, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, St. Paul. The services were private, and the capitol was opened only to the friends of the late governor.

National guard sergeants again acted as active pallbearers, taking the casket on their shoulders and bearing it outside to the artillery caisson which was used as a hearse. Drawn by eight horses and escorted by the entire Twin City complement of the national guard, a regiment of infantry and one of artillery, by the governor's staff and a division of G. A. R. veterans, the cortege started for the streets of St. Paul to the station, where it was placed aboard a special train.

St. James in Funeral Attire. In addition to the military escort that went from St. Paul under the command of General Wood, there was a detachment of the national guard, public officials of both parties to Chicago to meet the body.

The party was constituted of Samuel D. Works, Carlos N. Boynton, C. M. Andrieu, A. H. Tarrill, J. A. O. Kraus, J. A. Schmalzer, Frank E. Ford, T. J. McDermott, J. G. Aronson, J. P. Farrell, A. J. BURNQUIST MADE GOVERNOR

St. Paul, Dec. 31.—Only a few hours after Winfield Scott Hammond, Minnesota's bachelor, Democratic governor, had been stricken by death in far away Louisiana, Joseph Alfred Burnquist took the oath of office as governor of Minnesota. So late that the governorship of Minnesota passed to the hands of a Republican supporter in a somewhat conservative manner of the doctrines of temperance and reform.

It was not a gorgeous spectacle, this inauguration of the young governor. Late decreed to give Burnquist the best of his health, he lay in his home sick during the morning.

There were hardly more than a score and a half of the Justice George Burn called upon Mr. Burnquist to raise his right hand to take the oath.

Becomes Minnesota Governor. When Mr. Burnquist took that oath he became at once the fully qualified governor of Minnesota, and George H. Sullivan of Stillwater, president pro tem of the state senate, became lieutenant governor.

Governor Burnquist would not make any statement as to his future plans or possible changes in his official capacity.

Funeral services took place in the Methodist church, which has a larger auditorium than the Presbyterian church, where the governor worshiped, led by Rev. W. W. The harbor mark between Viborg and Helsingørn now contains 300 buoys. The result was accomplished at great cost. On account of the high prices of meat, about half of the animals will be butchered this winter.

The number of Icelandic fishermen who lose their lives at sea is very large. In one particular year, 1908, the percentage of the fishermen who perished at sea was larger than that suffered by the German fleet on account of the Franco-Prussian war of 1870-71.

The Danish farmers are using large quantities of artificial fertilizers every year. They buy the fertilizers almost exclusively from Sweden. Even wood-trait covering all of Denmark and making imports into Sweden and Norway by unobstructing the way to their competitors. The Danish farmers are really too bright to suffer long under this grasping monopoly. Co-operation is the remedy. The farmers are organizing themselves for starting a factory on the co-operative plan.

A number of men in Fynn are working for the establishment of a fishing commission seminar in the island. There are two such in the country, one in Sjælland and one in Sjælland.

The Danes are developing new hunting methods on account of the enormous high price of the birds. It is said that more than thirty Nimrod has killed rabbits by throwing potatoes at them. Even wood-shoes have been called into service for the same purpose. But a man at Fregssund went all of them one by one. There were some partridges close by. He had no powder. But he had some old traps, and he arranged them so best he could, and he got the birds. Some of the birds went into them and got caught!

Jens Peter Paulsen of St. Rind had a mare that was getting so old that he could not well use her any longer. A man offered him $25 for her. But in order to save her from possible suffering he sold her to the butcher for $5. Even then he did not leave her until she had been killed.

SWEDEN.

Plans are being perfected for the celebration of the tenth anniversary of the accession to the throne of Gustaf V. The event will occur in 1917. Preparations are started at such an early date on account of the intended scope of the celebration. Among other things it is proposed to publish a great historical work on the Bernadotte family. A national fund may be raised for some charitable purpose and named after the king and the queen, provided they give their consent. There are two reasons why the king's ten-year jubilee is selected for the celebration. The four hundredth anniversary of the crown and a reformation will occur in 1917, and the same year will mark the end of the first century of the royal rank of the Bernadotte family.

When the Henry Ford peace party, minus Mr. Ford, arrived in Stockholm the Swedish newspapers were full of articles lauding Ford, but denouncing correspondents attached to the party, alleging they were responsible for the dissensions. The Dagbladet seriously informed its readers that a reporter pushed his way into Ford's room at Christiania with a pistol. This, the Dagbladet added, probably frightened Ford so badly that he decided to return to America. At a meeting held several leaders explained the Ford plan to 300 Social Democrats. They registered their approval and probably will give the party support. The Swedish papers declare that Ford's expedition might have been terminated the star's end had it not been badly managed.

Mr. Lamm has made a donation of $27,000 for the establishment of a home for blind people in Stockholm. It is proposed to rent a house, and enough to accommodate from ten to fifteen blind people. The city poor board has estimated that it will cost about eighty dollars a year to support each of them.

Sweden is exporting the greatest crop in 1909 years. The temperature at some places has fallen to 82 degrees below zero.

Adolph Olsen, the Danish consul in Tromsø, has donated $2,700 to the Swedish society, Svea, in that city. The gift will be used for erecting a building fund and the aid fund of the society.

Advice from Stockholm report that in pursuance of the Swedish government's decision to hold no parcel post packages passing through the country or from England in retaliation for the removal by the British authorities from steamship packages for Sweden, 10,000 parcels from England to Russia are now being held at Goteborg. All manufactured goods, 2,500 packages are being detained.

About 850 vacant lots in the city of Goteborg were used for raising potatoes last summer. The demand for such lots is so great that the city board is prepared to offer about 1,500 lots for this purpose next year.

NORWAY.

John J. Hammer of Skaasen found an ax, a scythe and a spade which turning him round. The objects were turned to the archeological collection in Tromsø. The find was made at a burial place from the thirteenth century. The ax and the sickle were in a remarkably good state of preservation.

The city of Drammen is the scene of a religious revival the power of which extends to the whole of the other movement of its kind recently by the oldest inhabitant. It is regarded as the most important revival since, which cannot always be said of some religious upheavals. What may be lacking in noise is more than made up for in depth and earnestness. One of the leading men in the work is Rev. Dr. H. Andersen, who has been a pastor in Drammen, and then went to Bergen, where he stayed for some time. As he is not a native of Bergen, he returned to Drammen, and the result is that his houses are crowded with eager hearers, and the church is full. He is assisted by a young man named "Deacon Johannes," whose singing is highly appreciated.

A strong syndicate is being organized in Bergen for the purpose of starting a number of new canneries along the west coast of Norway.

The Kristiania Attenposten asked its readers how they would like to have a Family Home in Order to be Cultured? This proved to be a bad trap. Mrs. Marie Jacobsen, a prominent society lady, explained that a family may make a start with as little as $75 a year, but this will do little good unless the family members are common people pounced upon these figures and used $75 as the dividing line for $5. Even then he did not leave her until she had been killed.

The late Nils Ulrik Stang will be the property to the Norwegian Forestry association and the Royal Society for the promotion of Norway. It was found that each of the two societies will receive at least $25,000. The late Stang had a large tract of land in the clearing of new land, and the former will use its share in the interest of forestry and the draining of wet lands. The interest of agriculture of limited means who have taken good care of their timber. All the money received from the estate will go to the part of the country. This is the largest bequest made in the course of a hundred years in the interest of agriculture and forestry.

Many British agents have been securing the Norway part of Norway for the purpose of hiring people to work in the ammunition factories of England. The inducement offered, however, were not very attractive. The chances at home. It is known that one hundred men have left for England by way of Bergen.

Mrs. Karoline Bjornson, the widow of the late Nils Ulrik Stang, has celebrated her eightieth birthday. She was the object of great attention, Norwegians as well as foreigners received her with the greatest honor. Governor Hanna of North Dakota filed the Ford peace party in Christiania after a clash with the Ford Intransigents. When Hanna made informal contacts on Norwegian officials, who received him because of his official position, the Ford agents, he alleged, caused him to believe that these interviews were connected with the peace propaganda, thus placing the governor in an embarrassing position.

The bureau of information has voted a bonus of almost $2,000 for Lovas-Svensson of the Norwegian National League for his services to the Central America in the interest of the Norwegian export trade to that part of the world.

The directors of the Soldiers' home at Varnas, the Young People's Christian Society, and the Christian Peace Society have been given publicity. Newspapers have power to end the war. For it is through the war that the gospel of peace is spread. Norway is like every other country. The people are all right.

Before returning to America, Mr. Ford said, "I had accomplished in Christiania what I had been given publicity. Newspapers have power to end the war. For it is through the war that the gospel of peace is spread. Norway is like every other country. The people are all right."

WHAT'S GOING IN OLD HOME

The great leader sent the following reply: "I do not regret that the Bavarian race by their wonderful bravery and persistence. Bavaria and Germany will be united. Bavaria and Germany will be united. Bavaria and Germany will be united."

A slight ailment of the cellular tissues confines him to his apartments, but not to bed, and he was able to attend the celebration of the Hohenzollern Christmas tree or rather Christmas trees, which entertainment as usual was held Christmas eve in the palace at Potsdam. The emperor, the empress, their daughter, their daughter-in-law, and their grandchildren, were present. Details of how the government intend to deal with the continuous procession of women traveling from New York to Rotterdam on Dutch steamers, their baggage packed with rubber stamps for military uses, have come to light. Federal officials had a statement from the Dutch minister of war, that in the summer in the southern half of the year in some seasons. At the same time, the government is making provision against the spread of the boll weevil, and also the insects, crickets and locusts, which are so common in the southern half of the year in some seasons.

An instance of the thoroughness of the German spy system at the front is shown in the following from the Belgian trenches: A regiment of Belgian chausseurs was ordered to leave the trenches one night at dark to receive new khaki uniforms. An hour after the order was issued a sign was hoisted from a German trench across the front and the Belgians were ordered to return to their trenches. The Belgians were ordered to return to their trenches.

Kaiser Wilhelm has issued a Christian, non-political, and non-religious proclamation to the people of Serbia promising to respect their national rights and to return to their homes. The Germans have installed a provisional government at Nish.

Prince von Buelow, former German imperial chancellor, who has been in Switzerland since late October, but who has denied that he was in that country on the night of the assassination, has returned to Germany, accompanied by his large staff of secretaries.

The Minden-Hanover railway was opened December 15. This is the first railway line in the Hanover region which has been under construction for several years at a cost of more than $60,000,000.

It was to be fought every year—cicullio and cooling moth—were present in all parts of the state. The dry weather which prevailed from May until August greatly favored the spread of the cicullio moth. Another insect, the lesser apple worm or wide worm, was especially bad in 1914. This insect bores a hole into the apples starting at almost any point on the surface but usually on the side. If the "worm" penetrates deep it goes straight into the fruit in whatever direction it may strike. In such cases the hole it leaves is much smaller than that made by the cicullio moth. Sometimes though, the apple worm penetrates only a quarter or half an inch and then burrows out quite a large cavity. Again burrows may be made along near the surface, sometimes just through the skin or a little deeper. This is the way the insect works on the fruit in cold storage and sometimes even in cold storage if the temperature is not kept consistently around the freezing point.

In 1915 consistently orchards were sprayed by the University of Michigan and other big industries—steel works, shipyards and mines—were sprayed by their workers, or made to be sprayed by the state. In one place plant of the consumption of beer fell from 17,000 barrels in 1909 to 14,500 barrels in 1914. The Berlin railways have forbidden the use of beer during working hours, and similar action has been taken by the government railways of Baden, Alsace-Lorraine, where anti-alcohol placards are posted in all the stations.

Each demonstration orchard was sprayed from two to four times. The "straw" Hinderburg, who was turned again in his life-long roommate, Jawn Harleycorn. After the "straw" Hinderburg, who was turned again in his life-long roommate, Jawn Harleycorn. After the "straw" Hinderburg, who was turned again in his life-long roommate, Jawn Harleycorn.

With one exception all of the demonstration orchards were sprayed during the season, and the two standard solutions, bordeaux mixture and lime sulphur to control the insects, were used. The bordeaux mixture is a reliable fungicide for all preventable or curable diseases of the fruit, and is used for the ciculy spray, especially on varieties of the Ben Davis type and those having a light colored skin before spraying. The lime sulphur seems to set free a large amount of arsenic from the arsenate that must be used as an insecticide, and it is this that causes the injury.

Bordeaux mixture, while unsafe to use as now made, is a promising spray material. Two applications during the season of 1914 on Gano produced fruit that was free from insect injury. The bordeaux mixture is a reliable fungicide for all preventable or curable diseases of the fruit, and is used for the ciculy spray, especially on varieties of the Ben Davis type and those having a light colored skin before spraying. The lime sulphur seems to set free a large amount of arsenic from the arsenate that must be used as an insecticide, and it is this that causes the injury.

The growth of arsenate against the evil has been almost irreparable. In the year 1913 there was only one known arsenate mine in operation in the German empire, a noted Hainburg engineer. In 1914 a leading physician, Dr. Hinderburg, was elected to the position of vice-minister of the interior, and he was elected to the position of vice-minister of the interior.

Some People Have Been Asking, Do Chiropractors Ever Help Any One?

We Would Reply That They Do

There are hundreds who would testify and that following is one who can give you convincing evidence that they are doing a lot of good.

To the Honorable S. J. ...

I wish to remain neutral. Catastrophic adjustments. Since the age of 16 I have suffered from six headaches. I would go to doctors and they would write a prescription which I would take, but my headaches continued. In a few years the medicine began to affect my heart and the headaches were worse. I have taken quite a number of adjustments and I have had my headache for over a month, my heart trouble is entirely gone and I am gaining in weight all the time. When I think how much better I am in so short a time, I am amazed.

Sincerely,
MRS. GUY L. BRITISH

REVIEW OF THE GREAT WAR YEAR 1915

European Conflict Develops Into a Struggle to the Death, With Deadlock on Eastern and Western Fronts—Serbia Overrun by Turtons and Bulgarians—Trying Period for the United States—General Carranza Recognized as President of Mexico.

THE EUROPEAN WAR

The year 1915 has been so distinctive from a historical viewpoint that in all the ages to come it will stand apart from those that have preceded it and from those which are to follow. During its entire course the greater nations of the European continent have abandoned themselves to a policy of bloodshed which has fallen little short of a miracle. The neutral onlooker it has been a relief on a huge scale of the irrationally and murderous activity which characterized the earlier ages of mankind. It has been the complete overthrow of all the pacific theories which have normally gained as strong a foothold at the time of the dying of the first sun in the present conflict.

At the beginning of the year, it was evident that it was to be a struggle to the death. It was plain that the attempt by the superior armed forces to force a strategic withdrawal had failed. Six months had elapsed and the Teutonic allies were still faced by the same situation. Their strength unbroken and their determination inflexible. Austria had driven Russia and twice the Serbs had routed Austrian armies the same year.

September marked a decided change in the Teutonic campaign in the East. Russia was unable to rally her badly demoralized forces to make a winning defense of Lemberg. Once again the German offensive was successful. It was not until August 6 that German troops entered their triumphal entry into Warsaw, capital of Russian Poland.

Once again the German offensive was successful. It was not until August 6 that German troops entered their triumphal entry into Warsaw, capital of Russian Poland.

With the advent of March, there came a sudden and dramatic change in the war situation. The scale of military activity was shifted to the Balkans. By the third week of the month, Rome, Athens, Sofia and Belgrade were centers of great political activity. The surrender of Romania, March 22, the most important event of the year, had the effect of the Marne. The German assurance that the military power of the center of military activity was transferred to the Balkans.

In November both the long-expected allied offensive in the West and the Teutonic drive in the East came practically to an end. The allies failed to reach the Atlantic coast and the Teutonic drive in the East came practically to an end. The allies failed to reach the Atlantic coast and the Teutonic drive in the East came practically to an end.

The disaster to the Allies at the end of the year, which occurred during the third week of March, put an end to the expectation of forcing the Teutonic drive in the East. The German advance advanced rapidly, and the difficulty of the task under the eyes of the allies was now obvious. In this month, also, the British won the battle of Neuve Chapelle after a bloody fight.

In April the French made a bold offensive strike against the German position between the Meuse and the Marne. The success of this offensive was a tremendous loss to the Teutonic drive in the East. The German advance advanced rapidly, and the difficulty of the task under the eyes of the allies was now obvious. In this month, also, the British won the battle of Neuve Chapelle after a bloody fight.

In May the Germans sent their troops on the left of the Meuse. The success of this offensive was a tremendous loss to the Teutonic drive in the East. On August 19 the British liner Arabic was torpedoed by a German submarine and several Americans were drowned. The attack followed the United States was at the breaking point. On September 7, the United States declared war on Germany. The act of the submarine in the United States that the captain of the submarine had torpedoed the Arabic in self-defense, believing that she was a German vessel. On September 9, the United States asked Austria-Hungary to recall Doctor Dugan, an American citizen who had been active in a movement to cripple American manufacturing. On October 5, the German government notified the United States that the captain who sank the Arabic. At this time it was announced that the position of British loan of $500,000 had been resubscribed.

WAR AND THE UNITED STATES

Strictly neutral as has been the policy elected by this country, the government has been brought face to face with the most serious problems which have arisen from the conduct of the European war. One of these was the seizure of the Lusitania, a British liner carrying American goods to neutral ports in Europe. A protest was made by Washington and London, but the British replied by only offering reasonable redress for any misdeeds of that nature.

In the last days of the month, Italy joined forces with the allies against Austria-Hungary. The campaign in the West was strangely quiet. The allies kept to their trenches and the outside world wondered. Up to June 1915, the Teutonic claim that its side was still engaged in successful warfare had not been disputed. The splendid resistance interposed by the discredited Turks came as a surprise to the world.

The month of October marked a decisive change in the war. The German offensive was successful. It was not until August 6 that German troops entered their triumphal entry into Warsaw, capital of Russian Poland. September marked a decided change in the Teutonic campaign in the East. Russia was unable to rally her badly demoralized forces to make a winning defense of Lemberg. Once again the German offensive was successful. Yet when breaking through his general rule, he did in fact reply to a reviewer who was writing to him, and he was extremely sensitive to his assistants.

Bumper Grain Crops

Good Markets - High Prices. From Awarded to Western Canada for Wheat, Oats, Barley, Alfalfa and Grasses.

The winnings of Western Canada at the Soil Products Exposition at Denver were easily made. The list comprised 1000 Wheat and Grasses, the most important being the prizes for Wheat and Oats and steep stacks on Alfalfa.

Western Canada produced in 1915 one-third as much wheat as all of the United States, or over 300,000,000 bushels.

Canada in proportion to population has a greater exportable surplus of wheat than any other country in the world, and at present prices you can figure out the revenue for the farmer.

How to Get a Better Standing At The Bank

Every farmer should deposit all of the money he receives in a bank and pay his bills by check instead of simply waiting and depositing what he has left over. Business men do this, why not the farm business man?

Suppose you receive from all sources during the year $1,000—from time to time—as you receive it deposit it in the bank. Your bank will have record of $1,000 deposited to your account during the year, even though your balance may never be more than $100 at any time. Don't you suppose your credit will be better at the bank by doing this than by waiting and depositing the $100 or $200 you may have left over at the end of the year.

Drug Weighing

There's more than one detail to be considered in the filling of prescriptions. Purity, strength and skillful compounding are three very necessary considerations, but there's a fourth consideration equally as important. The weighing and measuring of drugs must be carefully done. The fraction of a grain or a drop or two in excess oftentimes makes a big difference in results. If your doctor wants an exact amount on his prescription, if this were not so he would not be so particular in his specifications. We give you exactly what your doctor orders. We weigh medicines on the most accurate prescription balance made. All liquid medicines are measured in carefully graduated containers. You are sure of receiving the right amount and the exact amount when we fill your prescription. It is a carefulness that goes with our service. Price reasonable.
