

WOODROW WILSON HAS WON THE PINE POKER FOR THE YEAR

PRESIDENT WINS RE-ELECT BY SLIGHT MARGIN

ONLY BARRETT POSSIBILITY REMAINS THAT RECOUNTS AND POSSIBLE COURT CONTESTS WILL CHANGE SITUATION.

HUGHES CANNOT WIN IF GIVEN MINNESOTA'S VOTE

G. O. P. National Committee Makes Preparations to Begin Legal Proceedings for Re-count in States Where Results Are Close—Democrats on Alert.

New York, Nov. 11.—America has chosen Woodrow Wilson president and Thomas R. Marshall vice president for four years more.

There is only the barest possibility that recounts and possible court contests predicted by various Republicans will change the situation.

California was the pivotal state, its 13 electoral votes, finally giving a total of 272, more than the necessary majority of 266 in the electoral college.

Apparently it is no longer a question of victory for Wilson, but of how large will be his electoral college lead.

Hughes Issues No Statement. With the democrats over the nation planning to elect a victory, the republican national committee still declines to concede Wilson's election.

Lawrence Green, secretary to Charles E. Hughes, said in response to questions by newspaper men that Mr. Hughes would not make any statement to Wilson or President Wilson today.

Mr. Hughes himself declined to make any comment upon the election returns. He arose about 8 a. m. after reading the news sent for the automobile ride. He apparently was in cheerful spirit.

Election Not Conceded. Chairman W. B. Wilson, refusing to concede the election of President Wilson, said in a formal statement issued after a conference with other republican campaign managers that the result still depends on the vote of a few close states and that their returns thus far announced are in most cases unconfirmed and may be changed by the official counts.

"This result still depends upon the votes in a few close states," Mr. Wilson said. "It is not to be borne in mind that the returns thus far announced in most states are unofficial and may be changed by the official count required by the laws of those states. Twice during the campaign competition yesterday in California mistakes in additions were announced from that state which are changing figures previously given. It is common experience that the results of the official count will always vary from the returns first announced."

May Demand Recount. "Where the vote is as close as that reported in a few states, it is probable that material changes will result from the official count. We owe it to the country to take all necessary steps to see that an exact, honest count of the votes is made. When the current reports are ready, we will convene on Wednesday the democratic managers announced their intention to demand a recount in every close state."

All We desire is to make sure that the vote is counted as cast. Mr. Wilson added verbally that it was unfortunately impossible for the preliminary count to conform exactly with the official count.

NUMBER 13 LUCKY FOR WILSON, NOT HUGHES. "I am strongly inclined to believe in the chance of President Wilson's success. I believe in his good luck in the 'poker' number 13."

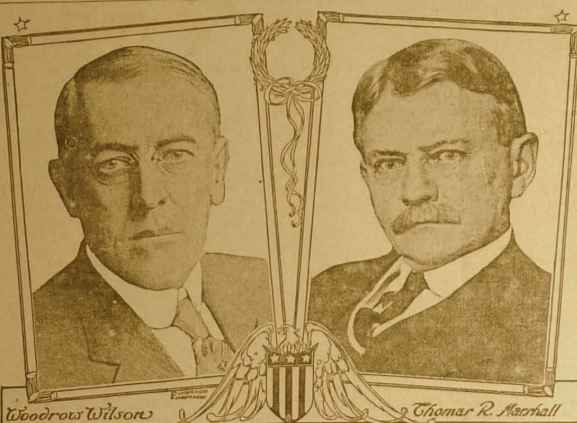

Apparently Mr. Wilson won the presidency with California's 13 electoral votes. Mr. Hughes, his opponent, voted 13 today.

HALF OF NATION NOW "DRY"

TWENTY-FOUR STATES IN PROHIBITION COLUMN.

Michigan, Montana, Nebraska and South Dakota New "Dry" States—Beer Amendments Fall.

NEW DRY STATES—Michigan, Montana, Nebraska and South Dakota—Arizona, Arkansas, Colorado, Georgia, Idaho, Iowa, Kansas, Maine, Mississippi, North Carolina, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Carolina, Tennessee, Virginia, Washington, and West Virginia.

Washington, Nov. 10.—The Methodist board of temperance here has just announced that Michigan, South Dakota, Nebraska and Montana have voted dry. Montana, Utah, there are 54 states, or half the union, now in the dry column. Local option laws in several states add to the sobering territory.

The wet majority in Missouri has apparently been cut by 12,000 votes. Most of the beer amendments and repeal offered in dry states seem to have been defeated and Idaho, which has statutory prohibition, has enacted a prohibitional constitutional amendment by probably two to one.

HUGHES HAS PLURALITY OF 250 IN MINNESOTA Increase Lead of Republican by Two Votes.

St. Paul, Nov. 13.—Three additional to election returns throughout the state, received Sunday, raised the Minnesotan plurality of Charles Evans Hughes by two votes, making his lead 420. The total figures now stand: Wilson 178,659 and Hughes 178,519.

The changes came from Wisconsin which reported a revised and complete total of 1,360 for Wilson and 982 for Hughes; from Faribault county which corrected totals of Wilson 1,115 and Hughes 1,120; and from the southeast of Polk county, members of the county board, who cast 21 votes for Wilson and 11 for Hughes.

WILSON LEADS HUGHES BY 3,278 VOTES IN CALIFORNIA Official Count Started, But Result is Not Expected to Change Results Materially.

San Francisco, Nov. 12.—With 17 isolated precincts still to hear from, Wilson leads Hughes by 3,278 votes in the presidential race. The vote now stands: Wilson, 466,189; Hughes, 462,911. The missing votes, it is generally believed, will not materially change President Wilson's majority.

The official count of California's vote was begun today. Steps have been taken not only to expedite the election, but to insure its accuracy. Both the Democratic and Republican central committees have assigned checkers and attorneys to scrutinize the count of each tally sheet.

Issues Elects Harding Governor. Des Moines, Nov. 8.—Republicans swept Iowa practically clean, turning in pluralities of 80,000 for Hughes, 100,000 for Harding, and 100,000 for electing the entire state ticket, and electing the 10 Republican congressmen.

Wilson Retains New Mexico Lead. Santa Fe, N. M., Nov. 12.—President Wilson leads Charles E. Hughes in the unofficial New Mexico returns by 2,184 votes, with 60 per cent of the vote. These precincts are small and widely separated. Late in the afternoon news from the Democratic lead of 1,774 in 542 precincts. For senator A. James, Dem. won by 1,100 votes, with 60 per cent of the vote. For congressman, Wilson retained a 500-vote lead, with 215 precincts not reported.

WILSON'S PLURALITY IS 8,563,927

NATION IS NOW UNITED, PRESIDENT DECLARES.

New York, Nov. 13.—The total popular vote received in each of the states by President Wilson and Charles E. Hughes, but based on incomplete reports and estimated, indicated that the President received 462,312 more votes than Mr. Hughes. The tallies follow:

WILSON'S FACES NEW

PROBLEMS; POLICY STAYS UNCHANGED

PRESIDENT, BACK IN THE WHITE HOUSE, DISPLAYS ANXIETY OVER POLITICAL COMPLEXION OF NEXT HOUSE.

PRESSING FOREIGN ISSUES ARE BELIEVED DANGEROUS

Recent Developments in Mexican and U-Boat Questions May Demand Immediate Action—Executive Feels His Course Has Been Endorsed at the Polls.

Washington, Nov. 14.—President Wilson, back in the White House for the first time since the campaign began, two months ago, yesterday took an anxious look at the political complexion of the next House of Representatives.

Secretary Lansing told the President of pressing foreign problems, including the Mexican situation, the German blockade issues, and the Henry Morgenthau of the Democratic national committee explained the latest developments in the political situation.

Faces Dangerous Possibilities. State department officials make no secret of their belief that dangerous possibilities are presented by the developments in both the Mexican and submarine questions, but Secretary Lansing said no immediate action was expected at the American-Mexican conference, sitting at Atlantic City.

It is believed that the President in the confidence of the President that he feels that his course has been endorsed by the voters, so the administration's policy, both in domestic and foreign affairs, will remain practically unchanged.

With regard to foreign affairs, it was said that the attitude of the government toward the submarine warfare, laid down in the note following the sinking of the channel steamer Sussex and in previous communications, will be followed strictly and the state department will continue to press for American rights in connection with allied blockade and mail censorship.

NORWAY.

Manufacture of coal waste materials of paper factories—an industry which holds forth promise of reducing the cost of paper and turning the small cost an excellent substitute for coal as a fuel product is described in a report made public by the department of commerce from American Consul General Deminard at Christiania. The inventor of the coal substitute is V. Strensen, a Gøteborg engineer. The process is said to be that of producing coal in powder of a suitable size. It is stated that this process, the report says, "produces a coal powder almost equal in caloric value to distillate coal. The process has been tested and proved to the satisfaction of Norwegian interests. A company under the title of Sulphite Coal, Ltd., has been formed with a minimum capital of $428,000 to exploit it. The coal powder is made of all the sulphite by refuse of Norway, 30 per cent of the lignite coal will be replaced. According to Doctor Strensen's method the ly will be mixed with some foreign matter to prevent the boiling of the sulphite and then it will be transferred to a large kiln, where it is to be heated again under high pressure. Under this process the coal is changed and the substance, which is converted into coal, sinks to the bottom and is then taken out in a thick sludge. This black paste, the water which remains in the paste is then removed in a centrifugal machine. The residue remains in the paste in a powdered form. The powder will then, in all probability, be made into briquettes and used in the same manner as coal. It may seem strange that coal can be produced from ly, but the following will explain the reason. Under the present process only 45 per cent of the weight of the timber is utilized. The remainder falls as sawdust to the ground and it is this (over half of the timber), which Mr. Strensen's process transforms into coal.

The Norwegian committee for a durable peace has sent out 15,000 copies of a manifesto signed by about fifty persons representing the various political parties, social interests, science, literature, art and the press. The support of public opinion in favor of the international program for the duration every reason. The manifesto is met with throughout the country. Out of 674 municipalities 500 have signed. 574 adhered to the program. Nine hundred and eighty unions and associations also have signed. More than 60,000 individuals attended special meetings at which the purposes of the program were elaborated, and of these 3,000 signed the lists accompanying the manifesto.

The city council of Trödevalle resolved to spend about $3,500 for furnishing the postoffice for a statue of King Karl X. Gustaf. This was done in 1914. Now the provincial government has declared the appropriation null and void, because the money was to be taken from the accrued interest of the fund donated to the city by A. W. Rydholm, whose testament provided that the donation was to be used for the aid of persons who have distinguished themselves by long and faithful service.

The national food commission has been authorized by the king to borrow not to exceed $2,000,000 for covering the expenses connected with the purchase of grain and herring. The money is to be furnished by Swedish banks, and the loan is to be back part of the loan by the end of the year and the balance before March 31, 1917.

It is estimated that the city of Stockholm requires an expenditure of about $200,000 for aerial defenses in order to be fairly safe against assaults from the air. All $200,000 of this amount has been secured, and efforts will be made to see out the balance by means of private subscriptions.

TWO NEW FOLIAGE TROUBLES OF APPLE

The portion of the young branch reported in Fig. 1 gives an idea of the characteristic appearance of the diseased foliage on the tree. The leaves shown in Fig. 2 were selected to show the extreme left of the illustration are far from typical of the great majority and represent about the only specimens of this character found, out of probably more than one hundred collected. While the yellowing appears to start frequently along the line of the larger leafveins, it is just as likely to appear first in the tissues midway between them.

The preliminary studies made in the field no definite clue could be obtained as to the cause of the trouble.

As far as the writer has been able to learn, the only references to this disease in American literature are contained in the writing of Gussow. In 1910 he recorded its presence in Nova Scotia. In giving the characters of the disease he mentions that the leaflets on the affected branches have a silvery appearance or a milky white gloss, pointing to the upper and lower surfaces of the leaves is also very brittle. In this paper he states that when a branch is attacked it dies, as a rule, after one or two years, and that a tree once attacked by silver leaf will eventually succumb. In this paper he mentions that some European writers consider the disease to be physiological, but the present writer is constantly associated with it.

The portion of the young branch reported in Fig. 1 gives an idea of the characteristic appearance of the diseased foliage on the tree. The leaves shown in Fig. 2 were selected to show the extreme left of the illustration are far from typical of the great majority and represent about the only specimens of this character found, out of probably more than one hundred collected. While the yellowing appears to start frequently along the line of the larger leafveins, it is just as likely to appear first in the tissues midway between them.

The preliminary studies made in the field no definite clue could be obtained as to the cause of the trouble.

As far as the writer has been able to learn, the only references to this disease in American literature are contained in the writing of Gussow. In 1910 he recorded its presence in Nova Scotia. In giving the characters of the disease he mentions that the leaflets on the affected branches have a silvery appearance or a milky white gloss, pointing to the upper and lower surfaces of the leaves is also very brittle. In this paper he states that when a branch is attacked it dies, as a rule, after one or two years, and that a tree once attacked by silver leaf will eventually succumb.

STRAWBERRIES NEED GOOD WINTER COVER

Nothing Better Than Clean Straw of Some Kind—Carefully Avoid Grass Seeds.

By R. A. MCINTOSH, Colorado Agricultural Experiment Station. There is probably no better covering for the strawberry bed during the winter than a layer of good, clean straw of some kind, though some growers prefer to use a mulch of straw manure. Whatever material is used should be as free as possible from the seeds of grass and weeds, otherwise they will cause trouble when they come up among the plants in the spring.

The covering should be applied after the ground becomes frozen late in the fall, and ought to be deep enough to prevent rapid freezing and thawing, say three or four inches. In this climate it is advisable to place boards, brush or poles on the mulch to hold it in place when there are strong winds. The main reason for covering strawberry plants is to prevent the alternate freezing and thawing of the soil during cold nights and warm days. When plants are not protected they are likely to have their crowns and roots injured and may die. In addition to preventing this, the mulch will help retain moisture and may retard the blooming period for a week or ten days. The latter is advantageous, since the killing of the blooms by the late frosts in the spring may be avoided.

When growth begins in the spring, the mulch is removed. Part of it may be worked around the crowns of the plants to form a clean bed for the roots. The remainder is removed to allow irrigation and cultivation.

There is no starvation in Germany. There is no great variety of food, but plenty of what there is, and the cost of it is not high. It is to be doubted if with a few exceptions, the prices are much higher than for the same commodities in England or America.

Paternalism in government has been worked out to such a degree in Germany that it is not necessary to restrict at what time they can put up their preserves, and in what quantities, but what prices they may buy their fruits.

The imperial military tribunal has rejected the appeal of Dr. Karl Liebknecht, leader of the left-socialist party, from the prison sentence imposed on him by the court-martial at Berlin.

INTERESTING BITS OF NEWS FROM THE GREAT GERMAN EMPIRE.

WHAT'S DOING IN OLD HOME

Summary of the Most Important Happenings in the Land of the Kaiser—Timely Items for the German Readers.

A dispatch featuring a statement of the Berlin Kreis Zeitung to the effect that Germany has decided to make a list of neutral ships carrying neutral cargoes. It is stated that no part of such cargoes shall be landed, whether through British consular officers or not, at any British port. Furthermore, according to the Kreis Zeitung, an exact list of all foreign vessels, including all German vessels, is to be compiled by the German government.

MAINE VINDICATED. A census report of the liquor administration to claim that prohibition premises in Maine. In order to prove this they select a few southern states, where the population is very different from those in New England, and contrast them with Maine. As a matter of fact, the United States census reports show that Maine has fewer people per acre than any other New England state.

The statement in sometimes made that prohibition forces business drivers away from capital. But in the ten years covered by the last census reports, when the great manufacturing state of Massachusetts increased the amount of capital invested in manufacturing 65 per cent, the production state of Maine showed an increase of 77.4 per cent. The per cent increase of Maine was larger than in any of the other New England states.

The Boston horticulturists marching in a parade carried a banner upon which they proclaimed the starting news that the new produce crisis. This was intended as a fling at Maine by the representatives of a so-called business association in 1915, composed of 58,385 persons in Boston alone, and 106,140 in the commonwealth, under the high license regulation. The United States census reports prove the falsity of the liquor claims. Contrasting Maine with her sister states we find that in 1910 she had for every 100,000 population, 98 prisoners in her jails, while the other New England states had for every 100,000 population, 98 prisoners in her jails, while the other New England states had for every 100,000 population, 98 prisoners in her jails.

While there are many causes of insanity, the study of which shows it to be a very complex problem and which requires extensive scientific authorities like Doctor Rossmoff of Clark university find that drink is the cause of about two per cent, but has remained for a long time a subject for discussion. Certainly there has been no prohibition in the District of Columbia up to the present time (1916), yet the census reports show that on January 1, 1916, the number of insane in that district was $280, or $724 for every 100,000 of the population, the largest proportion reported anywhere in the country.

How does Maine stand in this respect as compared with other New England states? If prohibition were carried out in Maine, it would be at the head of the list. We find, however, from the official figures that Maine has the smallest proportion of insane in the country, 344 per 100,000 population.

Opponents of prohibition are fond of referring to the city of Bangor, Me., as an example of the results of prohibition, and pointing to the number of arrests for drunkenness as proof of the complete failure of the prohibitory law in that state. As a matter of fact, there is a striking proof of the failure of the regulation system. Under the Bangor system of nullification of the law, liquor sellers have been brought into court and fined, thus setting aside the intent and purpose of the law and rendering it a mere formality. Under this plan the number of arrests for drunkenness has been large, not on account of prohibition, but because of the complete failure of the prohibitory law in that state.

Roumanians Are Compelled to Yield to Austro-Hungarians in the Transylvanian Alps—Teutons Capture Towns of Diota and Arsuril.

London, Nov. 14.—Once again the German line in France has been hard hit. Starting an offensive running from the southern bank of the Ancre river, northward over a front of about five miles, the German divisions to the north of Serre—the British have captured the towns of Beaumont-la-Croix and Pierre-Divion and the second line trenches at various points.

St. Paul, Nov. 11.—That Congressmen Thomas D. Schall, re-elected from the Tenth district of Minnesota on the Progressive ticket, will be able to throw the balance of power in Congress to the Republican party was the belief expressed by Republican leaders here in the state when late returns indicated that the rival parties are deadlocked with 215 votes each in the national House of Representatives.

URIC ACID POISONING? A PROMINENT ST. PAUL WOMAN.

The most eminent physicians recognize that uric acid stored up in the system is the cause of rheumatism, that this uric acid poison is present in the joints, muscles, or nerves. By exposure with Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, I was never very strong and after the birth of my little girl, about four years ago, I was in a very serious condition. I could scarcely move, I was in a state of weakness. I could not get out of my bed. I just thought I never would get well again. I began taking 'Favorite Prescription' and most heartily endorse its use.—MRS. EDNA McCLELLAN, Thompson Ave.—Advt.

THE WOODEN CROSS

Writing to a student at Yale, a member of the American ambulance corps in France says: "Two of the American ambulance corps in France were in the 'wooden cross' in the past week. We have just heard that Bill Thaw, ex-Yale '15, was killed a few days ago. It did not sound like a joke. You are just 'ruin' your health."

"Don't listen, ma," replied her son. "I am seventy years old, and I don't care. 'Yes, you do,' admitted the mother, 'but maybe if you didn't 'cuh' 'n' smoke you'd be ninety now.'"—Youngstown Telegram.

NINE IN JUMPING PLANE TO DEATH

Vancouver, B. C., Nov. 14.—Plunging through the gates protruding a draw on the main line of the P. & N. Vancouver-Livermore driven by George Smith, carried six persons to death at the Mile House, near the P. & N. river. Smith was driving to Vancouver at high speed and the supposition is that the car was struck by a wire which became entangled and he failed to see the warning lights. The heavy machinery was thrown into the air and the car and its occupants were hurled into the water.

Arabic Numerals.

An illustration of what mankind owes to the labor-saving Arabic numerals is compared with preceding forms of notation which is shown in addition, 1848 to 1848, the sum which is expressed in only four figures, or 2000. Mentioning in Roman characters we would have to denote 1848 with the capital letters MDCCXLVIII. Inventing these letters explains why Clero complained of the wearing toll of all addition. On that account Clero's total of 2000 minus a few is not the correct sum of the different continents to which he gives the Greek letters. Herodotus is correct as well as he gives the total figures of Greece after 480, meaning the apogee of the various, his generalization which is correct. It is like wise, what a life insurance company would now do without Arabic numerals would be laughable.

Baths of Diocletian.

It is said that when the baths of Diocletian were in operation they must have accommodated not fewer than 5000 bathers at a time. With some of the emperors bathing seems to have been a part of fun, as they expended vast sums in the erection of bathhouses and bathing apparatus. Diocletian, however, does not depend entirely on the baths for his place in history. He became emperor in 284 A. D. and abdicated in 305. Two years before his abdication he became very active in persecuting Christians, so much so that in the annals of martyrdom his name is allied to as "the Diocletian, etc." It is said that the Diocletian baths were built by Christians, 60,000 of them being compelled to do the work.

Flogged For Bathing.

On an island in the Cam at Grantchester, England, is a mill pond known as "Byron's pool" because it was here that the poet as an undergraduate enjoyed his favorite recreation. Even in his day, Edward Congreve took on in "Highways and Byways" in Cambridge, writing a pretentious notice that frowned on by the academic authorities. A century or so earlier any student found guilty of it was publicly flogged in the hall of his college, and was again flogged on the morning in the university schools by the proctors. A second offense meant expulsion from the university.

Shop Talk.

"If we didn't have to give back any change think of the money we merchants would make."
 "We all have our troubles," said the magazine publisher. "Sometimes it frets me to have to print any reading matter, but I suppose it must be done."
 —Kansas City Journal.

The Turk and the Crescent.

The crescent was not original to the emblem of the Turk. It was first used by the primitive Christians of Constantinople and the eastern provinces of the old Roman empire as an emblem of the growing religion of Christianity. It was not until about the year 1455 after the Turks had over-run Asia Minor and parts of southern Europe and had captured Constantinople, that the Turks adopted the crescent as their national emblem. The Koran prohibits the use of images and symbols in the religious decorations of the strict Turk or the interior of their temples and mosques, the rule being so strict as not to allow the mural or civic decorations of their greatest generals or pashas, successful commanders or other distinguished persons. The adoption of the crescent by the Turk as a national emblem is an oddity which, has so far remained unexplained.—Philadelphia Press.

Early Amused.

When Professor Chumbley's hat blew off he made no effort to retrieve it. Instead he leaned against a lamp-post and watched half a dozen pedestrians join in a mad chase.
 "I could have picked it up myself," he murmured, "but I knew from my studies of human nature that everybody with a slight wind would endeavor to get it for me."
 So he remained, chuckling cynically, as the hat dashed by the way and the mad crowd grew hot and frantic in their efforts to capture it.
 "At last a boy made a fine long jump and held it with both feet. When he returned it to the professor it had eleven holes in it, eight ounces of dirt and was fitting the boy."
 "Ah," well murmured the servant, as he tendered the boy threepence for his trouble, "I suppose one must pay for one's pleasure!"—London Mail.

A Ballet Averted a Revolution.

When Bonaparte put the Duke of Angouleme to death at Paris felt so much horror at the event that the throne of the tyrant trembled under him. Sir John Sinclair wrote a comic revolution was expected and would most probably have taken place had not Bonaparte ordered a new ballet to be brought out with the utmost splendor at the opera.
 The subject he picked upon was "Osolan, or the Birds." It is still recollected in Paris as perhaps the grandest spectacle that had ever been exhibited there.
 The consequence was that the murder of the Duke of Angouleme was totally forgotten and nothing but the new ballet was talked of.

BEROON NEWS DEPARTMENT

The Henry Daley car drove up from Pine City to the J. C. Hancock home last Sunday, bringing the Daleys and friends from Virginia—all old Swift, county friends of the Hancock's. Mrs. H. returned to Pine City with them for a few days visit, returning Tuesday.

C. M. Hanscome shipped his household goods to St. Paul yesterday and goes down himself today to get located. He is not certain yet as to what his work will be there, however. He still has interests here that will call him back occasionally.

A party, consisting of John Pulkrabek, Earl and Warren Durr, Jake and Martin Ploub, and Ed, John and Win. Pulkrabek, drove up to Kerrick last Thursday and are hunting in west of that place. They secured one deer the first day.

Arthur Anderson arrived from Watertown on Monday to visit his brother Otto, east of town.

Mrs. Frank Baumschen and two children returned, Tuesday, from a few days' visit with friends at Pine City.

Miss Jessie Pulkrabek is clerking in Challeen's store at Pine City during his sale this week and next.

Meadow Lawn News

The teachers and pupils of school districts 98 and 73 will give a basket social in the Chongwanta town hall on Friday evening of next week—Nov. 24. The proceeds will be divided between the schools—the portion belonging to "98" going into a ball fund while the other district will use it for school furniture of some kind, we understand. All are invited. Miss Iva Beckstedt of Hinkley teaches in district 73 while Miss Alma Schultz of Pine City is teaching in 98.

Otto Gaukel was at St. St. Paul after a car of sheep which he shipped in by way of Beroun and will winter on his place here.

Folks of the Meadow Lawn and Hustletown localities are requested to write or phone the news in to The Poker.

The Lobster.

The lobster is decidedly pugnacious, engaging in frequent combats with others of its kind, in which contests limbs are often severed, but this loss is soon repaired by the growth of new members, rather smaller, though, than the old ones.

Terrible Threat.

Aunt—Why didn't you scream when he kissed you? Niece—He threatened me. Aunt—Threatened you? Niece—Yes. He said if I did he'd never kiss me again.—Boston Transcript.

Made Up.

Mrs. Flatbush—She tells everybody her face is her fortune. Mrs. Bonshurst—Well, she's made it nearly all herself.—Yonkers Statesman.

Between Friends.

"What foolish things a fellow will do when he is in love?"
 "Oh, Margy! Has he proposed?"
 Philadelphia Ledger.

A welcome once worn out is hard to patch.—Youth's Companion.

ROCK CREEK NEWS DEPARTMENT

The Kippes gave another of their excellent concerts in Hendrickson's hall last Sunday evening but did not have a very large attendance. This company of young ladies is really of very high class and Rock Creek is fortunate indeed to have them stop here for they hardly ever appear in towns of less than from 500 to 5,000.

The Farmers club meeting on Saturday evening of this week will be addressed by a representative of the state prison whose subject will not be how to keep out of prison nor how to act if one should inad-tantly, or verotherwise, get in, but rather state-prison products—bird, or twine, farm machinery, etc.—in which the farmers are all interested.

The Royal Neighbors and Woodmen enjoyed a delightful social hour in Hendrickson's hall, last Saturday evening, following their regular meetings. The men provided the etables while the ladies put on a dandy program of the "suffrage" variety.

A big dance will be given in Johnson's hall here, Friday evening, Nov. 18. Music by Hildyard's colored orchestra of St. Paul. All are invited.

Remember the M. W. A. dance here Saturday evening of next week.—Nov. 25. Tell your friends.

Most all the boys who went deer hunting, have returned with deer.

Israel Larson spent Sunday afternoon at Chas. Anderson's.

Oscar Carlson spent all day Sunday at John Erickson's.
