The Fallacy of "Something Just as Good at a Lower Price"

Women accustomed to use high-grade Cream of Tartar baking powders like Royal Baking Powder are sometimes induced to try other brands at the solicitation of canvassers or because of apparent lower cost.

Almost invariably those who make such a change notice the inferiority in taste and texture of the biscuits, cake, muffins and other food prepared with the cheaper baking powder and discontinue its use with no desire to repeat the experiment.

The difference in cost in practical use between inferior alum and phosphate powders and Royal Baking Powder is less than a cent for each cake or pan of biscuits. Certainly too small a difference to warrant putting alum into food, and especially food for children.

The label on the can shows whether the baking powder you are now using, or any brand that may be offered, contains alum or phosphate instead of Cream of Tartar. Read the label carefully and remember it never pays to sacrifice quality and healthfulness for low price.

More Honor for Pine Co.

Corn From This Region Again Captures First Prizes at St. Paul

M. M. Shuey and son, residing six miles east of Pine City, won two first and two second prizes on corn shown at the First National Bank and Northwestern Trust Company's second annual corn show at St. Paul. Mr. Shuey has given Pine county a great deal of valuable advertising in years gone by on corn prizes at various corn shows. This kind of advertising pays large dividends to Pine county, as it puts the county on the map as being in the corn belt. It is to be hoped that Mr. Shuey will continue to win prizes on corn and thus build up a market for northern grown seed, an industry he has so ably promoted in the past.

The prize awards are on exhibition at F. R. Duxbury's land office and may be seen by anyone interested.

Sandstone Wins at Basket Ball

Pine City's second game of the Basket Ball schedule was played at Sandstone last Friday evening. Our boys came home defeated by a score of 13 to 21. They went up to Hinkley by train and from there to Sandstone in cars. To mention some of the unpleasant things; blowouts had to be contended with, and one of the party returned with a frozen ear.

Coming from the cold into the hot, stuffy, dimly lighted hall had its effects upon our players. The hall was heated by two stoves which heated only a small space near them. The light was so poor that at times it was impossible to see the ball.

William Korbel, the mainstay of our team, was out of the game because he was disabled. Brandes played center, Procha taking his place at guard and Klieker forward. The first half ended 9 to 7 in our favor. Babcock is credited with 3 points, Blanchard 4, Brandes 4 and Elin 2. If Pine City could shoot fouls they would have won the game. The average weight of Sandstone players was 170 lbs., Pine City's average weight is 188, but the weight didn't seem to bother our boys.

The feature of the game was the long shots made by our players. About 18 loyal rooters went up with the team. Wait till Sandstone comes down here, in a good place to play, well lighted and well heated. We are all going to be there to root our boys to victory.

Big Christmas Tree at Hinkley

Hinkley is to hold Municipal Christmas exercises on Friday afternoon of this week with a big Christmas tree on the corner between the village hall, Folsom Hardware store and Sigel general store. The school children will sing and give a series of folk dances and a big choir will lead the people of the town and country in singing familiar Christmas songs. Santa Claus will make this his headquarters in giving presents there and the churches will have "white" trees, later without presents except cards etc. The different churches there are also taking charge of all charity giving, giving a control and insuring reasonable distribution.

Short Term of Court

Judge Nettaway held a special term of court in the city hall, Monday afternoon, the court room not yet being ready for use. Only motions and arguments were listened to, the MacAdam divorce case, which was set for that day, being adjourned owing to the necessity of Judge Nettaway leaving in 11 an engagement in the southwestern part of the state where he had been assigned by Gov. Burnquist to try a murder case.

Poultry Show Closed Saturday

The Pine County poultry show closed, last Saturday, having laid an egg that ought to hatch out into more interest in poultry and poultry products in this region. It was an excellent show and there was much in it to crow about.

There were 463 birds on exhibition or twice as many as have ever been shown before in this county. But the attendance was poor.

There was no competition in the "open to the world" classes.

Besides the first, second, third, fourth, and fifth prizes given on each variety, special prizes of blue ribbon were given for best cock birds, best hen, best cockerel and best pullet in each class, three classes being represented—American, Mediterranean and English. These prizes were awarded as follows:

A purple "Champion" ribbon was awarded for best male and best female in show, regardless of class. These were awarded to Alex Tate on Black Minorca cockerel and Wm. Fisher on White Rock pullet.

A business meeting will be called in the near future, when officers will be elected for 1917 and other business discussed. Everyone at all interested in poultry is requested to watch for notice of same and attend this meeting.

The exhibitors were: Pine City: C. F. Jackson, Mrs. R. J. Jones, And. J. Johnson, S. B. Wells, G. H. Washburn, Leslie Wasson, Robt. E. Hamlin, I. M. Beechel and Mrs. Margaret Carlson. Hustletown: W. E. Otte, Meadow Lawn: Geo. Siroch, Rush City: Wm. E. Anderson, C. C. Coste, J. A. Haines, O. M. Haines, Jos. S. Murphy, Harry Olin, O. W. Rehfeld, Carl Sommers, J. E. Sotherland, Wm. R. Sommer and Mrs. C. F. Wenzel. Brook Park: Mrs. C. E. Camp, and M. A. Schofield. Rock Creek: Mrs. H. E. Dane, and Sandy Tate. Beroun: Frank Horejs and Wm. Fisher.

Looks Like Old Tunder

While banking the creek shanty at their newly established mill at the mouth of Snake river, a couple of weeks ago, Leo McAdam and Chas. Purdy found a human skeleton buried just beneath the sod. Thinking it was the grave of some Indian or early woodman, they worked about it, leaving it alone.

When Leo was telling his uncle, I. A. Holler, about it, while on a visit to town a couple of days ago, Mr. Holler's mind harked back to '98 or '99 when a trapper and claim fisherman named Freemont, whose camp stood only a few feet from where the body was found, suddenly disappeared.

Freemont was in the habit of carrying considerable money about him and, it is also reported, had trouble of some kind with a companion, thus leaving a tale of possible murder for money or revenge. At the time, it was thought that maybe he had "dug out," whereas present conditions rather point to the suspicion that he was "dug in."

If the skeleton be that of Freemont, it probably proves murder in '98 or '99.

Freemont was around lower Snake and the St. Croix, trapping and clearing for two or three years. No one knows where his home was.

PEACE TALK HELD FILE BY LLOYD GEORGE IS BELIEF

BRITISH PREMIER TO GIVE REPLY TO GERMAN PROPOSAL IN SPEECH TO PARLIAMENT TODAY.

TEUTONS MUST MAKE MORE DEFINITE OFF TO ALLIES

Tone of Bethmann-Hollweg's Proposal Satisfies Entente. The Good Could Come From Conference at This Time, Is Opinion Expressed in London.

London, Dec. 19.—David Lloyd George in his first speech to parliament as premier will give Britain's reply to the German peace proposals today, but one week from the day that Chancellor von Bethmann-Hollweg told the world that the Teutonic allies were ready to talk of peace.

The German note has not been presented to most of the Allied governments. Ambassador Padoa left Great Britain's copy at the foreign office, and a little later, dispatches from Paris say, the note was delivered there.

Must Make Another Statement. It is impossible to give an official statement in advance as to what Lloyd George will say, it is predicted, that after today, Britain's position will be clearer than Aquilla's plagues made it, and that it will be about as follows:

That Germany will have to make another statement, giving the conditions she is prepared to offer, before the Allies will even consider opening negotiations.

The tone of Bethmann-Hollweg's offer has satisfied the Allied leaders to no good can come from a conference at this time.

Britain Plays Waiting Game. Great Britain has been playing a cautious waiting game, before the Allies will even consider opening negotiations.

Even the wildest pacifists hardly hope for peace now, on one other hand, even the strongest advocates of a war-to-the-death say that the war has apparently shortened by Bethmann-Hollweg's speech.

War Shortened by Note. Just what course Lloyd George will take only a few of the most intimate advisers know, but some of the keenest politicians believe there will be a modification of the famous "knock-out" interview. They believe it will reflect in large measure the real burden of responsibility on his shoulders—a burden which has been greatly increased recently because the Allies are leaning more and more heavily on Britain.

Even the wildest pacifists hardly hope for peace now, on one other hand, even the strongest advocates of a war-to-the-death say that the war has apparently shortened by Bethmann-Hollweg's speech.

SEVENTEEN AMERICANS DIE ON TRANSPORT SHIP

Multitude on British Home Transport Ship Russian Killed When Vessel Is Sunk.

London, Dec. 19.—Seventeen American soldiers and 11 crew members of the British home transport ship "Hesperus" were killed when the vessel was sunk by a submarine on the Mediterranean Dec. 14. The British admiralty announcement says the names of the slain Americans have been communicated to the families.

The transport "Hesperus" returned to probably in the "Hesperus" that name which sailed from Malta, Nov. 16, for Alexandria, Egypt, which was about due to return. Her net tonnage was 5,572.

SUMMARY OF IMPORTANT HAPPENINGS IN FAR OFF NORTHLAND.

ITEMS FROM THE OLD HOME

Resume of the Most Important Events in Sweden, Norway and Denmark—Of Interest to the Scandinavians in America.

DENMARK.

Ever since the beginning of the war the Danish tanners have been hampered by the fact that the export most of the bark or acid used in place of bark. This drawback to an important industry induced the Teknologiske Institut to make a series of experiments to find out whether the bark of any native tree could be used for tanning. The results are said to be very gratifying. Spruce bark was proved to contain tannic acid of a high quality. So marked, indeed, was the success that the country is being started a factory at Valby for the production of tannic acid from spruce bark. Incidentally this discovery opened up fresh sources of revenue to the state, for the country is the utilization of the waste health land of Denmark, for spruce trees will flourish on that kind of land.

More than 220 mine mines have been picked up along the shores of the island of Gotland since the beginning of the war.

The four largest bakeries in the city of Gade have been forced out of business by the high prices of the raw materials used in their baking. The annual sales of the leading one used to be about $270,000.

Contracts have been closed for carrying 100,000 tons of charcoal on the railways of Jantland during the winter. This is a very bulky article, and the railway department is planning on using 10,000 cars.

NORWAY.

The railways of Norway have had an extremely busy season. During the winter season there was a steady flow of tourists, and there was hardly any decline during the early fall. All the traffic was well patronized, but the traffic was heaviest on the line between Christiania and Bergen. The Korns line drew more traffic than any other line in Norway.

On some lines the number of sleeping cars passing in a day exceeded 100. Most of the passengers were business people, but there were many people who went to Stockholm or Copenhagen to work a July time.

A good-sized city has sprung up at the business saltpetre factories at Alphen. It is now a busy town, and is obtaining good milk and plenty of it at the place. Now the proprietors of the factory have commenced to build the main floor, and in the other two stories the mill will be erected for the water power. It is expected that they need a special dining room, that they perhaps need to say that, the equipment of this sort of a factory is as modern as that of any in the whole world.

The city government of Trondheim has invited all Norwegian sculptors to express their feelings on the monument of Olav Trogsson, the founder of the city. The monument may be placed near the market square and is expected to cost about $100,000. On the line of the monument, he will be paid to pay all the expenses connected with the erection of the monument. At the same time he donated about $3,000 to some public buildings.

Major Gen. P. M. Stab and wife, Anna, nee Bretzeville, Christiania, have celebrated their golden wedding. He is said to be the oldest officer in Norway. He served in the army exactly half a century, from 1830 to 1900. General Stab is still doing well, and his hobby is the study of the history of his native place. He is eighty-five years old, and is managing their house with a great ability. They have always had the reputation of being hospitable.

SWEDEN.

When troop-raising and general farm work had to be stopped, towards the close of November about a thousand stonecutters were thrown out of work in Bohuslan. They had been employed for some time in those branches as a makeshift since the war ruined the iron industry in the country. In the same part of the country there were many idle stonecutters who had been working but had failed to obtain work.

"Extinguished Lighthouses" is the title of a collection of poems written by Prince Wilhelm while in the custody of the coast guard of the navy. But the poems are not about the lighthouses and islands and beauty of the coast. They are about the life of the lighthouse keepers and the life of the lighthouse keepers.

The Bible commission is said to have had its last session. The work on the New Testament is not finished, but at this time it may have been turned over to the press. The work on the Old Testament is not finished, but it is so advanced that this part of the Bible may be printed simultaneously with the New Testament.

For many months no Swedish missionaries could go to Congo on account of the war. Now the Swedish missionaries have decided to go to Congo. At least four hundred British and American missionaries are going to Congo. At least four hundred British and American missionaries are going to Congo.

The Archbishop of Sweden sent $5,000 to the relief of the famine in Paris. The money is to be used in Paris in spite of the difficulties connected with the war and the high cost of transport work done in Germany.

There is a general lack of help in the best sugar industry in Norway amounts to about $41 million. The sugar industry is in a bad way, and the average in Sweden is $34. In Denmark only $30. In Finland only $25. In the Scandinavian countries, having a debt of about $110 million.

Hans H. Holm's hat factory, in Christiania, has been closed for some time. It made no money. The firm of Holm and Holm was a hat factory, and it was a hat factory. It was a hat factory, and it was a hat factory.

On account of a poor hay crop a large number of sheep had to be killed in the district of Nordland. The sheep were killed because of the poor hay crop.

Renowned Swedes of Vardal sold a famous pig at Gleda. The animal was six months old but had gained 212 pounds, and the owner received about $70 in payment for it.

The decision of the Teutonic powers regard to the future king of Poland is awaited with great interest in Bavaria, because the conviction grows that Prince Leopold, the brother of King Ludwig III, and conqueror of Warsaw, will be the first ruler of the resurrected kingdom. The aged prince had famous army leader in practically $4,000,000 while the other is almost twice the amount which the order would have cost before the war.

More than 220 mine mines have been picked up along the shores of the island of Gotland since the beginning of the war.

The four largest bakeries in the city of Gade have been forced out of business by the high prices of the raw materials used in their baking. The annual sales of the leading one used to be about $270,000.

Contracts have been closed for carrying 100,000 tons of charcoal on the railways of Jantland during the winter. This is a very bulky article, and the railway department is planning on using 10,000 cars.

The railways of Norway have had an extremely busy season. During the winter season there was a steady flow of tourists, and there was hardly any decline during the early fall. All the traffic was well patronized, but the traffic was heaviest on the line between Christiania and Bergen. The Korns line drew more traffic than any other line in Norway.

On some lines the number of sleeping cars passing in a day exceeded 100. Most of the passengers were business people, but there were many people who went to Stockholm or Copenhagen to work a July time.

A good-sized city has sprung up at the business saltpetre factories at Alphen. It is now a busy town, and is obtaining good milk and plenty of it at the place. Now the proprietors of the factory have commenced to build the main floor, and in the other two stories the mill will be erected for the water power. It is expected that they need a special dining room, that they perhaps need to say that, the equipment of this sort of a factory is as modern as that of any in the whole world.

The city government of Trondheim has invited all Norwegian sculptors to express their feelings on the monument of Olav Trogsson, the founder of the city. The monument may be placed near the market square and is expected to cost about $100,000. On the line of the monument, he will be paid to pay all the expenses connected with the erection of the monument. At the same time he donated about $3,000 to some public buildings.

Major Gen. P. M. Stab and wife, Anna, nee Bretzeville, Christiania, have celebrated their golden wedding. He is said to be the oldest officer in Norway. He served in the army exactly half a century, from 1830 to 1900. General Stab is still doing well, and his hobby is the study of the history of his native place. He is eighty-five years old, and is managing their house with a great ability. They have always had the reputation of being hospitable.

The Bible commission is said to have had its last session. The work on the New Testament is not finished, but at this time it may have been turned over to the press. The work on the Old Testament is not finished, but it is so advanced that this part of the Bible may be printed simultaneously with the New Testament.

Read the advertisements in The POKER.

For rent—4 room cottage. Apply to Mrs. M. L. O'Brien Adv.

Make Prochaska's pharmacy the Rexall drug store, your drug store.

Andrew Ness went to St. Paul, Monday, for a few days' business trip.

Eric Larson returned, Monday, from a few days visit with the fair sex at Grantsburg.

Emil Revling arrived last Thursday to visit at the Otto Pecker home until after the holidays.

Note the ads in this paper. They express the intent of business men in dealing with the buyers of this region.

The big New Year's dance, to be given by the Naval Militia will be one of the finest ever given in the Armory.

Your prescription work always carefully attended to when you have them filled at Prochaska's pharmacy.

Mesdames Hodge and Breckenridge returned, Tuesday, from a 3-weeks stay at Mud Baden, much improved in health.

Grandma Webb of Sandstone spent the latter part of last week and first of this at the A. H. Daniels home, south of town.

Buy now before all the best Xmas items are taken up—also avoiding the rush. Look over some of our very suitable Xmas gifts—Prochaska's pharmacy, the Rexall store.

The Boyum hardware sale, which closes Saturday evening of this week, has been the biggest sale of hardware ever held in this region and has proven satisfactory to proprietor and public alike.

Christmas business never was better in Pine City than this year. It opened fairly early and has kept up fine. Without a doubt the latter part of this week will see the usual rush for holiday presents.

Mrs. T. J. Buselmeier is spending the week with relatives at St. Paul. She will probably be accompanied back, Sunday, by Mrs. Rae Olson who will spend the holidays with her parents, the Buselmeiers at.

Jos. Petschel left, last Saturday, for St. Paul to join the other "Overland" auto dealers of the northwest on a trip to Toledo, Ohio, where the car is manufactured, expecting to be home today or tomorrow.

W. C. Parker, returned to his home at Jamestown, N. D., last Thursday, after a few weeks' visit with his sister, Mrs. Tilden, here. Mrs. Erb, who has been at Reagan, N. D., for a short time, is expected Saturday to spend the holidays with her mother, Mrs. Tilden.

Mrs. Hare and Miss Bush were called to Minneapolis, last Thursday, by the serious illness of a brother who passed away after an extended sickness from ulceration of the stomach. The funeral was held Monday at Dover Minn. Mr. Bush was married, about 35 years of age.

O. E. Lyseth informs The POKER that he was mistaken in stating in last week's issue that Mrs. Lyseth was at all hard of hearing, this possibly accounting for her failure to hear the approach of the train that caused her death. He says that she could hear perfectly well.

N. A. Anderson of Kerriek, commissioner elect from the Winifremere-Kerriek-Nickerson district, was here Monday getting the lay of the land and taking his oath of office. Mr. Anderson gives the impression of being excellent timber for the office to which he has been elected—one of the most important in the county.

Emmett Mark, the Willow River circus man, is in town on business, Monday. Emmett, who endeavors to cover up his alleged Irish ancestry by signing himself "E. Z. Mark," informs The POKER that he has disposed of the dog and pony show, on which he cut his eye teeth in the circus line, and that he is now looking for a few elephants—says that his "long suit" is white elephants, anyway. That's why he signs himself "E. Z."

The Naval Militia will give a big New Year's dance in the Armory, Monday evening, Jan. 1, 1917. The big hall will be hung with the national colors and strings of electric lights from the draperies will cast a beautiful effect. The Crescent orchestra will play and tickets are to be kept down to the popular price of $1. The Degree of Honor will serve the lunch. There will doubtless be a large attendance for everyone wants to start the New Year right.

The Pine City post office will be open next Sunday, Dec. 24, between the hours of 12 and 6 p. m., to receive mail for the limited trains and also to distribute mail arriving on them. By special courtesy of the various postmasters along this railway the same plan will be adopted at all the villages and cities except Carlton, Cloquet and Stillwater. Postmaster Collins and the other postmasters of the county are men who are as anxious to give good service as they are to draw their salaries and this action is just one of the many proofs.

Kirstin Stump Puller One Man — Horse Power

Land clearing is not the time consuming, money consuming, back breaking, heart breaking, never ending job it once was, if you get a Kirstin to do the work.

The Kirstin Method guarantees a saving of 10% to 50% over any other method of land clearing. The Kirstin Method gets rid of your stumps after they are pulled. No stump is too big for the Kirstin Horse Power Puller. Its mighty strength is irresistible because of its triple power and other exclusive Kirstin features. It will clear more than two acres at one setting without strain to man, horse or machine. It has been a leader for 21 years.

One man without horses can pull the biggest stumps, too, with the Kirstin One Man Stump Puller. A little push on the handle gets tons of pull on the stumps. This enormous power is developed by use of double levers. It gives an ordinary 10-year-old farm boy a giant's power.

Learn how Kirstin machines will get the job done under your stamp.

Send today for our New Free Book, "The Gold in Your Stump Land"

It gives valuable information on all kinds of land clearing. It tells all about the Kirstin line of pullers—most complete in the world—and explains the Kirstin Service, forever free to all owners of Kirstin Machines. It has many photographs of stumps that the Kirstin has pulled, and letters from men who pulled stumps. Don't keep a pullet until you read this book.

Big Money to those who Order Early. To first buyers in every locality we offer a special opportunity to buy in our profit sharing plan. No commission, just a willingness to show your Kirstin to your neighbors. Don't wait—order the coupon today.

WHEN SPIES MEET

Do you believe the spy is as honorable in war as the soldier in the trenches? If you caught a spy, would you kill him? Or would you spare his life, at least, would you do it?

Time: The year 1811. David Larrence, young English weaver, comes to Corydon, Indiana Territory, intending to kill an old enemy. He meets Patrick O'Bannon and his charming daughter, Foinette, and becomes clerk in Colonel Posey's store. In Job Cranner's office, daughter Lydia, recently come from Britain, David finds congenial wants to marry Foinette and Doctor Elliott dislikes one another. Elliott wants to marry Foinette and Cranner is planning to meet at night in the courthouse. He hides there. What he hears and the strange adventures which befall him is told in this installment.

CHAPTER IV—Continued.

With the closing of the doors behind him, in the dim light of the candle, he stepped into the room. He was transferred from old Vincennes. Behind the high-backed desk he would be absolutely concealed from the eyes of the man who sat there. He made himself comfortable behind it and settled down to what promised to be a wait of several hours. He had a square of a sure showed through the unfastened roof. The afternoon was warm. David was more tired than he had realized. He was more tired than he had realized. He was more tired than he had realized.

When the clock struck twelve, he heard a faint, low, distant sound. It was a voice, a voice that had seemed to run through the room. All the light had faded from the room, a star shined through the unfastened roof high above him. The voices ran on at his ear. He could hear them from the street. "Money? Why, I tell you, man, there's barrels of it waiting at Maltese." The voice was impatient, a guttural harshness came from an effort to a whisper; sometimes it rose as though its owner could with difficulty constrain himself. "Barrels of it, I tell you. Heaps of good dollars like maize in the Indian villages."

"But do you think he is with us?" David could scarcely repress a start at the second voice. "The first speaker greeted contemptuously. "And with blood on his hands? You're as sure of him as you are of me."

"The voice that answered was one of hearty friendliness. "There, there, Captain Girty, no need to be so nervous. But you'd admit that I was sent over to treat with you and you only. And now you propose the name of this man. You must admit, Captain Girty, that there's a bare chance he would prefer a Yankee to an English commission."

"The man addressed as Girty swore irritably. "Americans? He ain't no more American than I be. You're commission a nice berth with the king's commission and protection and he'll take 'em."

"And if he refuses?" "No one's the wiser. I'll cut his throat as easy enough." David thought the husky giggle which accompanied the words would have grazed Satan.

"Well, will you meet him tonight, then? Where do you say he's to be found?" "We'll meet at the force at the corner of Oak Lane and Walnut—Israel Butts's smithy. He slips in and out when he pleases."

"We'll meet there at midnight?" "Therewith. Give me a drink of some of this liquor. We don't get good wine every day in the wilderness." And the backwoodsman chuckled again wholesomely.

David heard the faint shuffle of the British agent's steps as the two moved away. The second man made his barefoot, he thought. Then came the just audible sound of the closing doors and he was alone. He rose and hastened toward the growing darkness. He had a rattled ghost. He had still another rattled with traitors to keep that night.

With a grunt a portly passer-by told his impact as he turned the corner; it was Cranner himself, lingering on the way to his inn.

Recoiling the adventures and love which came into the lives of David Larrence and Antoinette O'Bannon in the days when pioneers were fighting red savages in the Indiana wilderness.

should return to the pitch-dark room than he had been in the street. And this he did. When he had crawled soundlessly back into the smoky kitchen, he saw the door open and the figure of the first man, Girty, faintly outlined in the aperture. Unseen, unobserved, David stole forward. Then the door opened wider. Then the door opened wider. Then the door opened wider. Then the door opened wider.

He had picked up a heavy horse shoe from the floor of the smiddy, the first weapon that had come to hand. The tall figure was just before him. His arm rose, and even as the heavy weapon hung in the air, Scotty, the Virginian and a gentleman he would go to Princeton.

David heard a faint, low, distant sound. It was a voice, a voice that had seemed to run through the room. All the light had faded from the room, a star shined through the unfastened roof high above him. The voices ran on at his ear. He could hear them from the street.

INCURABLE DEFECT IN BRAIN

Color-Blindness Cannot Be Overcome, Though World-Blindness May Be Alleviated. Two defects in regard to sight—color-blindness and world-blindness—are described by an English writer. He points out that they are not defects of the eyes at all, but are really defects of the brain.

THE PINE POKER

Color-Blindness occurs in about three per cent of males and in a smaller number of females. It is frequently hereditary, but, strangely enough, though the males suffer from the defect, their sons carry it on. Color-blindness is a defect in the registering apparatus in the brain and is of importance to recognize the defect early, and to turn the attention of the sufferer to work in which this defect will not be a handicap.
