The Passion of Propaganda

Formerly reading was a contented state of act. People sat down to enjoy poetry and other works of literature in a mood of untroubled peace. Authors wrote about the beauty of nature, and drew entertaining pictures of society. Humorists made graceful fun of life. Reading was a restful pursuit.

Nowadays, whatever you read, is full of the intense desire of some one to convince people of the truth of some idea. People are assailed by a flood of arguments, not merely in reading newspapers, but novels and poetry are loaded with the same propaganda. Social reform, economic revolution, changes in the institution of marriage, new methods of education, and every kind of "ism" and cult is hurled at our heads. Many of the ideas are cranky but four fifths of them are good. All this may be kind of good, but it indicates some form of growth. But there is so much of all this, that it unsettles the minds of a lot of people. They get away from the basic realities of life, and forget that propaganda must keep close to facts to accomplish any good.

The Stay-at-Home

Others may stay at the Rolling Stone Who snaps his fingers at care And accumulates naught, but

Who in knocking from here and there, But I sing of the praise of the Stay-at-home, Whose praise is so seldom sung, Who sticks to his job in the factory or field

And is never from duty awing. He is the man who gathers the mow. The kind that, is long and green, He is the fellow whose years are fat

When the wanderer's failed to find For many a man has years to find The spot where the treasures lurk Until he came to his old home town And settled himself to work.

Stout is the heart, which chooses aright of And willing the hand to do For Duty wears ever a fearsome guise

And those who follow are few. But under the garb so tattered and torn Are garments of texture fine, And rich the reward of the ones who are brave

And who patiently hold the line. Pleasure may wait in the path afar, And the lure of the trail be strong But often we come to the end of the road

To find that our course is wrong And many a man has sought fame For wealth and fame and wide

Only to learn that they might have been his If he stayed in his own home town

Presbyterian Church Notes

Why Not Go to Church? Few persons think things through. If everybody reasoned the matter of going to church to its logical conclusion, there would not be many vacant pews and a widespread demand for more churches would exist. The reason is simple. People do not stay away from church because they are opposed to religion or the church. Far from it. Nearly everybody believes that the Christian church is absolutely necessary to our civilization. If it were threatened, the great mass of people would fight for it.

But by some curious kind of mental process a many non-church goes far to believe that if everybody else followed their example—and every honest person grants others the right to do as he chooses—the church would quickly pass out of existence.

Every Non-Attendee Upon Religious Services Virtually Votes For The Elimination Of The Institution From Society.

If a person believes that the world needs the church, he has but one clear, unmistakable and unanswerable way of stating his position. That is by regular church attendance. The one who goes to church stands for an indispensable institution, even as a good citizen stands for the state by voting. Absenteeism from The Ballot Box And Absenteeism From Church Are Kindred Failures In Duty To Society.

Rev. T. Buckton preaches at 11 and 8 o'clock next Sunday.

Minneapolis, Minn., June 9th. Elks of Minneapolis and St. Paul members of lodges No. 44 and 59 are directing their energies toward the grand sports program to be held at the Minnesota State Fair grounds at Hamline on Saturday afternoon, June 18, when more than a dozen sensational events will be staged.

Auto races, with more than a score of nationally known drivers in high powered racing cars, will feature the sports festival. Aviation will play its part with Al Williams, formerly daredevil with Ruth Lewis' flying circus, leaping from a speeding automobile to an airplane. Elks of each city will compete in a style driving contest and boy scouts will participate in athletic contests.

The sports program marks the first benefit to be launched by the "Hello Bills" of the Twin cities, which they adopted as a protegee organization as a protegee. Funds are now being raised to establish a permanent outdoor camp for the youth of Lake Minnetonka.

The auto races will be the feature. Yorkland showed the average of the June 18 program and 27 miles to the gallon.

more than 20 entries have already speedway veteran, Sig Haugdahl, been received. Louis D'abrow, world's dirt track champion, Fred Horvay, holder of 11 world's dirt track records and a score of other national known drivers will be included on the list of starters. For the first time in the history of auto racing in Minnesota, Frontenac will be seen in action during the race meet here. Two machines from the Chevrolet stables created a sensation on open roads says last year when all records were shattered with a record of 120.3 miles an hour. It was a Frontenac; that Tommy Milton of St. Paul drove to victory at Indianapolis on Decoration day.

Thousands of speed fans from throughout the northwest are expected to come to the Twin cities for the races, which the Twin city Elks claim will be the greatest sporting event of the kind ever attempted in America.

Indianapolis, Indiana.—Claims of high economy in fuel consumption by Overland owners led to a novel owners contest just closed here. Sixty-six owners of Overland cars entered the test and their records showed a grand average of 26.6 to the gallon of gasoline. The winner, James Wilson, of 1424 South New Jersey Street, Indianapolis, averaged a mileage of 37.2 miles.

Under the terms of the contest the owners brought their cars at hours which best suited their convenience to a central service station from their eye and a special container affixed to a station of the windshield. An observer then got in the car with the owner and the car was driven over a course which took the car into all manner of traffic conditions. All carburetor adjustment and any tuning of the cars for the test were done by the owners.

The first twelve awards in the contest were won by owners who drove more than 30 miles to the gallon.

The results of the contest were watched eagerly by the public and by all owners of light cars, as it was demonstrated that with proper care of an Overland this light car could achieve records in the hands of amateurs which a few years ago were considered remarkable when turned in by professional drivers.

The Overland's fame for economy has been based always upon performance. A stock Overland driven 5452 miles over frozen Indian roads in 1919, made the last mile in 1920, making an average of 23.2 miles to the gallon even when driven at racing speed.

In the famous run from New York to San Francisco last fall an Overland showed the average of 27 miles to the gallon.

In a test of the car on the Indianapolis Speedway the Overland ran 1000 miles in less than 24 hours, stopping for driver changes every two hours.

Waiting until the real hot weather is here before starting to take ice may be false economy. Monday's Closing—Cattle 1900.

Market closing steady to weak. Top yearlings $8.00, best heavy calves $5.00. Calves 800. Market steady, packer top $8.50. Hogs 8.50. Market about 25c lower. Range $6.50 to $7.75, bulk $7.25 to $7.45. Top pigs $8.00. Sheep 700. Market about 5c lower.

South St. Paul, Minn., June 13, 1921.

Yearling heaves weighing from 700 to 800 pounds are not coming to market at the present time in sufficient numbers to satisfy the local demand and are out-selling heavy cattle of the same grade at least 50c per cent. Lots of this class of a good grade are slow sale from $7.50 to an extreme top of $8.00. Bulk of the best steers are selling from $7.00 to $7.75 with only the common ones down to $6.50 or slightly below. Dry fed butcher she stock continues weak, top heifers of this class being quotable at $8.00 or slightly better, and top cows around $7.00, with bulk selling under $6.50. Grassy she stock is selling largely from $4.00 to $5.00 or slightly above. Canners and cutters are draggy and slow sale at $1.50 to $3.75. Bologna bulls are from $3.25 to $4.25. Top calves to packers sell for $8.00, with sea bulls largely at $5.00. Practical no good or choice stockers or feeders are coming, and common medium grades are selling on a slow uneven market, prices ranging largely from $4.50 to $3.25.

The hog market is about steady with a week ago, range $6.50 to $7.75, bulk $7.35 to $7.65, top pig $8.50. Lambs opened lower, but yearling grades here Monday being good grade that brought $10.00 with top ewes at $3.50.

To help every man, woman and child in Minnesota to recognize the Canada and sow thistle, quackgrass, and dodder when they see them, A. H. Larson, school and plant analyst at University Farm, and members of his staff are mounting specimens of these lading plant pests. The specimens are placed against a background of cotton on strong cardboard with transparent celluloid front and metal orders of frames. Each is 10 to 15 inches and is designed for a spray in offices or county agents and in other public places. A charge to cover only the actual cost of production is made for the series of mountings.

Livestock interests in Minnesota are expected to derive considerable benefit from various new statutes enacted during the 1921 session of the State Legislature and pertaining to that industry. It will be recalled that public stockyards and the livestock industry generally were placed under the jurisdiction of the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission in 1919. Several reforms were introduced with such success that livestock breeders and shippers not only approved the work already accomplished but expressed a desire for further improvement. It was particularly desired that the class of dealers commonly known as "scalpers" should be placed under strict control. This desire has been met and it is now a law that all persons or concerns engaged in buying and selling stock at public stockyards must obtain a license from the Railroad and Warehouse Commission, the fee for which is placed at $10.00 annually, and in addition must deposit a bond of at least $1,000.00 for the protection of their customers. The Legislature, in order to widen the scope of livestock exchanges profiting members hereof from dealing with non-members. The effect of the law will be to make livestock exchanges become open markets. It is understood that the new law will be attacked in the courts.

Another new measure requires railroads to remove all litter and refuse from stock cars, at least once a month between March and December. The State Livestock Sanitary Board is directed to promulgate rules for cleaning and disinfecting stock cars.

Still another measure provides that shippers of stock when accompanying their shipments to market shall be entitled to first-class transportation, both coming and going, instead of being compelled to travel in a caboose as they allege they have been compelled to do heretofore.

For the purpose of promoting public welfare an organized town ship in Minnesota, under the authority of an act of the 1921 session of the State Legislature, may acquire and operate a town telephone system. The new law provides that the voters of the town at the annual meeting or any special meeting previously called may authorize the board of supervisors to construct or acquire a telephone system and to operate the same. Such system may be joined with another town plant for the maintenance of a joint central exchange, which may not however, be located within a municipality in which a local exchange already is operating. Whenever further extension of service is desired physical connection may be obtained with a local exchange or her through negotiation with the management thereof or through application to the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission. In the event that satisfactory arrangements cannot be obtained, otherwise, the purchase of existing telephone property by a town ship must have the approval of the State Railroad and Warehouse Commission.

The Legislature also passed two other laws generally desired by rural telephone utilities, and which, it believed, will prove advantageous to them. One measure provided that the moneys collected by rural telephone companies for connecting or switching charges shall not be figured as earnings of the collecting company, but shall not be reported as the earnings of the company in which the fees are paid.

Another measure provides that any telephone exchange may be used to establish physical connection with a rural line, whenever in the opinion of the Minnesota Railroad and Warehouse Commission public convenience may be secured by such connection. The Commission may fix the compensation to be paid for such connection in case the two concerns are unable to come to terms.
