COUNTY COMMISSIONERS GIVE FARM BUREAU $1,500

Committee Appointed Redistrict for Commissioner Districts

After considerable red-hot argument, the county board appropriated $1,500 for the county farm bureau, at their meeting, last Monday.

The court room was crowded with members of the bureau, who asked for an appropriation of $3,000. Quite a number of speakers were heard, among them being Aug. Wickstrom, J. H. Holand, Mr. Moeback and Jensen of Askov, and others. Everything was going nicely, until Com. Anderson moved the request be rejected, seconded by Co. Stepan. Then the storm broke loose and before things settled down, the poor farm and other things were hurled at the heads of the county fathers opposed to the appropriation.

Com. Hancock moved an amendment, appropriating $2,000. This motion receiving no second, Chairman Oakland turned the chair over to Vice Chairman Stepan, and supported the motion, which was lost by a 3 to 2 vote, Thomas voting with Stepan and Anderson against the motion. Mr. Hancock then moved the appropriation of $1,500 which carried, being supported by Hancock, Oakland and Thomas.

Regardless of whether or not we agree with how they vote on a question of this kind, we can't help but admire their stand, if they honestly think they are voting according to the wishes of the majority of their constituents, even when they are told, it will cost them their political heads.

Tom Hogan of Holden, representing the eastern part of the county, carried $150 per month, truck drivers $100 per month, and men and teams 30c per hour each. We understand that Carl Freeman will be the foreman.

A delegation from Ogema town asked for a bridge over Crooked creek in that town. The board as a whole, will make an inspection trip there.

A delegation from Crosby town asked for a ditch and a bridge across Bear creek. No action was taken by the board.

Bonds were approved for additional county deposits in the following banks: State Bank of Bruno and Beroun, Brook Park State Bank and the Farmers State Bank of Rock Creek.

Changes in Train Schedules
Effective Sunday, July 24th, the Northern Pacific Railway will make some important changes in the southern division as follows:

68, 64, 62 and 66 between Duluth Superior and St. Paul-Minneapolis. Lake Superior Limited trains Nos. 63 and 64 will be on a schedule 35 to 40 minutes earlier and will use the same running time as at present.

Night express Nos. 65 and 66 will start from Duluth, Superior, Minneapolis and St. Paul 20 minutes later, but will arrive at their terminals on their present schedule.

These changes will involve some minor rearrangements of schedule of local trains at intermediate points details of which may be obtained from the local agent of the Northern Pacific.

Auto Thieves Busy
About a week ago, several auto parties were held up and robbed on the State road near White Bear, but last Sunday it is reported that a couple of highway men were operating on the road between here and Hinkley.

Just about dusk, Carl Pearson and Elyse McAvoy were driving along the road near Peteland when they came upon two men standing beside a car and holding up their hands. Thinking that they had run out of gas or that they were in trouble, the boys stopped and at once they were covered with guns in the hands of two men and told to hand over their money. The young men readily "shelled out" what change they had and proceeded on their way as soon as possible, without taking the number of the car as a means of identifying the robbers. In this case the "gas" was very small, but others carrying more valuables might have received the same treatment. The men were evidently transient, but by the use of the telephone they should be nabbed before they have a chance to operate very long.—Sandstone Courier.

Redmolding Building
Ted Bussmeier commenced work, the first of this week, remodeling his building—the old movie theatre. Frank Bulacek is in charge of the work.

All the old fixtures and the theatre floor has been torn out. The entire front and about 20 feet of the side from the corner will be plate glass, with a copper frame. The entrance will be in the corner. Windows will also be put in the side.

The interior will be redecorated, and modern in every respect, with new electric light fixtures. As soon as completed, Mr. Bussmeier will use an up-to-date stage, the character of which will be announced in a short time.

President Asks Delay on Bonus
Financial Stability of Nation Is Declared Imperiled by Proposed Outlay.

TREASURY IS MENACED
Hearing Retardance Before Senate His Desire to Fulfill Every Obligation to the Disabled and Dependent Service Men.

Washington—Adjustment at the present moment of adjusted compensation legislation for veterans of the World War would "greatly impair the financial stability of our country," President Harding told the Senate in the second address he has made to that body since his administration.

Every obligation to the disabled and dependent, the President said, and the executive branch owed it to the country "frankly to state the difficulties we daily are called upon to meet, and the added peril this measure would bring."

"This monstrosity effort to expend billions in gratuities will imperil our capacity to discharge our first obligations to those we must not fail of," he said.

"Our nation has its share of the financial chaos and industrial depression of the world," the President said. "We have needed the growth in indebtedness or the limits of expenditures during the war because we could not stop to count the cost. But one thought then was the winning of the war and the survival of the nation."

Three Essential Shows.
After a four month survey of conditions, which would stagger all of us were it not for our abiding faith in America, the President said he was fully persuaded that three things were essential to restoration.

"These are," he continued, "the revision, including reduction, of our internal taxation, the reforming of our war debt and the adjustment of our foreign loans."

It is vitally necessary to settle these problems before adding to our Treasury any such burden as is contemplated in the pending soldier bonus bill.

Mr. Harding said it was "unthinkable" to expect business revival while maintaining "an excessive load of war" and "quite as unthinkable" to reduce tax burdens while committing the Treasury to additional obligations ranging "from three to five billion dollars."

Great Storm Possible.
"The precise figures no one can give," he said, "if it is occasionally true that not only we but other nations a year will be drawn annually from the treasury in the next few years in the amount of the national debt, it is too inconceivable to be of real value to the nation's destiny; and if the extremes of the nation should call for cash running into billions, the depression in finance and industry would be so marked that nearly more harm than good would attend."

"No government that will pay our bills," the President said, "The changes of the world testify today to that venous throat."

Aim of Executive Branch.
The executive branch, he said, was driving toward that decreased expenditure which is the most practical assurance of limited taxation.

"I can make you no definite promise in figures today," he said, "but I can pledge you a most earnest desire to reduce government cost by many millions. It would be most encouraging to those who are building their savings to save millions to have Congress add billions to our burdens at the very beginning."

St. Croix Falls Partners to Open Meat Market

J. B. Buchan and C. F. Gleoda of St. Croix Falls, have purchased the building and fixtures, formerly owned by Henry Fara, and will open a meat market.

They expect to be ready for business the first of next week. The interior of the building is being thoroughly renovated and redecorated this week. It is their intention to try a first class meat market, handling only the best of meats and poultry, and they will add a green vegetable department, if the trade warrants it.

Mr. Gleoda owned a meat market at Waseca before going to St. Croix Falls. Both these gentlemen understand this business thoroughly. The firm name will be Buchan & Gleoda.

Both men are married. Mr. Gleoda has rented a house and will move his family here in a few days. Mrs. Buchan expects to remain at St. Croix Falls for the summer.

The side was retired with a double play, the score being 5 to 5 in favor of Pine City. It should have been our game then, but the last of the eighth gave North Branch 4 runs, due to a few misplays and some hard luck.

Mrs. Anna Forsman was born in Sweden, 71 years ago and came to St. Paul 15 years ago, where she has made her home since. She married in Sweden, her husband dying there in 1901.

The deceased came to her daughter's home about 3 weeks ago, death coming very suddenly, caused by a stroke received some time ago.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Johnson, she leaves two sons, Axel and Arvid Forsman of St. Paul. The sympathy of friends is extended to the bereaved relatives.

All Foods Are Delicious when Cooked THE Electric Way

The art of cooking received its greatest impetus when the Electric Range was developed to its present state of perfection. Never before were such dainty foods prepared. Bread, light as snow and golden-crust; biscuits, cakes and pastries of surprising goodness, testify to the fireless cooker principle of the oven, with its insulated, heat-retaining walls and its evenly distributed heat. Meat, fish and game all find their true worth when cooked in their natural juices on the Electric Range. They shrink less in cooking, and taste better because of the flavor-enclosing, searing effect of cleanly electric heat of the broiler and cover.

A revelation awaits you when you first use an Electric Range. Ask some friend who owns one if this is not so. Then investigate the modern way of cooking for use in your home.

(There are six vital reasons why you should own an Electric Range: It is modern, cool, cleanly, convenient, cooks better food and does it in a scientific manner. If you will call at our office we shall be glad to explain the many superiorities of the Electric Range.)

"One of the Greatest Economic Problems Is Distribution"

PRESIDENT HARDING in a recent address declared that "one of the greatest economic problems, if not the greatest, is distribution. There can be no doubt of the position of the good roads movement in the solution of the problem. I believe that Federal and State Governments must not only create good roads but they must insist upon the maintenance of good roads. A good road gone wrong is a streak of mercurial to neglect and waste. The roads we build must be built for use in the distribution of products rather than for merely pleasure riding. We must foster the use of motor trucks."

The expression of the chief executive of our nation is but a confirmation of the experiences of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) in the conduct of its business.

The problems of distribution are of paramount importance and in effecting this distribution, good roads are a primary essential.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has in operation more than 4000 motor trucks engaged in distributing gasoline, kerosene, and lubricating oils to ultimate consumers in 11 Middle Western States. It is the business of this department to attempt to furnish Standard Oil products to whoever may require them, wherever he may live.

To supplement the tank wagon, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) maintains a network of service stations, located on the main traveled highways, every few miles in the country and every few blocks in the city.

Through its highly specialized organization, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) manufactures from crude petroleum the three factors necessary to a solution of the problems of distribution.

Standard Paving Asphalt for good roads—enduring roads.

Red Crown, the high-grade gasoline, for power—tremendous power.

Polaris, the perfect motor oil, for lubrication—correct lubrication.

In the manufacture of these products, the Company has set as a measure of value, specifications which it believes insure the user the utmost of service at a minimum of expense. Its products are made to exact standards, and these standards are based upon a careful, exhaustive study of the conditions under which they will be used. All are uniform in quality and go to the consumer with the Company's guarantee that they are exactly as represented.

This is a photograph of the famous old Bridge of Spain, Manila. It is now a departed landmark of the Philippines, for its place has been taken by one of the finest bridges in the entire Orient, the new Jones bridge.

The Jones bridge is named in honor of the late Congressman W. A. Jones of Virginia, author of the Jones law of 1916 which promised the Philippines independence upon the establishment of a stable government.

The old bridge of Spain is called "the mother of Manila's bridges." The original bridge was built by Spaniards sometime between the years 1500 and 1550, being known as the Bridge of Beals. The stone bridge shown above was built about 1890. It was twice damaged by earthquakes, and was once partly demolished by a flood.

Waiting until the real hot weather is here before starting to take ice may be false economy. FALSE ECONOMY HAS NO VALUE
---BUYING OF CHEAP, INFERIOR
GOODS DOES NOT PAY

Economy is one of the greatest of virtues but false economy is no more a virtue than anything else that is false. To be able to economize wisely is one of the greatest blessings that one can have, for it is the prerequisite to thrift and well-being. Too many persons, however, who think they have found the secret of true economy are practicing a false economy which is worse than wifely waste.

For instance, the man who buys a stove from a mail order house for $9 because he thinks he would have to pay $10 for one if he purchased it from his home merchant, is practicing false economy, for the chances are that he would save more than $1 in the end if he purchased the $10 stove from the local hardware dealer.

There are several reasons why this is false economy. The first one is that dollar for dollar, the greater part of the merchandise sold by the mail order houses is of less value than that sold by the retail merchants of the smaller communities. The mail order business, as a whole, is built upon cheapness. In order to attract customers the catalogue houses must sell goods cheaply and in order to do that they must sell cheap goods. Their business is built up on price and not on quality. The retail hardware dealer, like retail dealers in other lines, probably can match the price of the mail order houses. He probably has a $9 stove which he can sell to the man who wants to get a stove for $9. The trouble is that the man who buys from the mail order house does not distinguish between price and quality.

The man who buys the $9 stove from the mail order house probably would not buy a $9 stove from his local merchant for in the latter case he would see just what he was buying and might realize that the $9 stove would not meet his needs. He orders a $9 stove from the mail order house, however, just because the price is $9 and not because he has any assurance that the stove will meet his needs. He thinks that he is saving a dollar or two by buying this stove instead of paying $10 or $11 to the home merchant for one that he has seen and knows will give him satisfaction. The chances are that when the stove arrives and he has used it for a short time he will realize that he has practiced false economy—that it would have been more economical in the end for him to pay a dollar or two more to his home merchant and get an article that was guaranteed by the dealer.

The patron of the mail order house, also, often fails to take the matter of transportation charges into his purchase. He sees only the price of the article as listed in the mail order catalogue and does not think of the express or freight charges, which with the cost of a money order and postage often make the total cost of the article greater than the price at which the same thing could have been purchased at the local store. Another case of false economy.

Buying merchandise of poor quality because the price is low is often false economy when the purchase is made at the home stores but it is doubly so when the merchandise is bought from a mail order house. When buying at home one can be reasonably sure of the article purchased at a low price, while there is no such assurance when it is bought by mail on the "high unseen plan."

The idea that the mail order houses sell the same quality goods at lower prices than the home merchants is quickly exploded when one learns of the large profits that are made by the majority of the selling expenses to which they are subjected. The large mail order house spends thousands of dollars annually for advertising and the selling expenses of the smaller concerns are proportionately as large. Their other expenses such as rent, taxes and labor, are also higher than those of the local retail merchants, in proportion to the business that they do. In spite of these heavy expenses, the mail order houses distribute millions of dollars in dividends among their stockholders. In one large mail order concern the profits of the stockholders, in cash and stock dividends, have averaged as much as 1,000 per cent on the capital investment in the short period of nine years. This does not indicate that the mail order health and life giving away merchandise to their customers.

The mail order houses have capitalized the desire to economize. By paying prices above quality and making cheapness the fundamental element in their business they have facilitated in the minds of their patrons the idea that they are economizing when they buy cheap goods at cheap prices.—Copyright, J. Western Newspaper Union.

South St. Paul, Minn., July 11, 1921: A considerable decrease in general cattle receipts resulting in substantial upturns in wholesale prices of carcass beef at large eastern consuming centers was the chief bullish factor in the cattle trade at the week's opening, and the market held all of last week's gain of 50c or more on the better killing grades, with some sales showing another 25c advance. Last week's late top of $8.00 was duplicated Monday, city butchers paying this price for a load of yearling steers and heifers mixed averaging 709 lbs. Best heavy steers here made $7.50, with a load of 1075lb. averages going to packers at $7.10, and bulk of common to medium beef steers selling from this price down to $5.00. Cows and heifers went mostly from $3.00 to $3.60 with a few good dry feeds reaching $6.00 to $6.50. Canners and cutters sold steady to strong at $1.00 to $2.50. Bologna higher basis, bulk selling from $3.00 to $4.00, with occasional choice ones up to $4.25. Prices of veal calves held steady with packer tops at $8.25, and seconds largely at $5.25. Stocker and feeder trade showed some signs of reviving. A few good to choice kinds sold from $5.00 to $6.00, with bulk consisting of common and medium grades selling from $3.00 to $5.00. Feeding cows sold strong, prices ranging mostly from $1.50 to $2.75.

Hogs made a big gain last week, opening steady to higher today compared with Friday, range $8.00 to $9.50; bulk $8.50 to $9.25, best pigs $9.60. Lambs opened 50c lower, packer top $8.50, sheep steady, good light ewes $3.50.

The new livestock marketing agency organized by Minnesota farmers to centralize co-operative selling in the northwest will open for business on the South St. Paul market next month, W. A. McKerrow, manager, announced today.

It will begin active operations with the expectation of handling 10,000 cars of stock in its first business year, Mr. McKerrow said. With 250 Minnesota co-operative shipping associations signed up as members of the new selling agency, its officers believe that amount of business assured.

Minnesota farmers once more have taken the lead in co-operative marketing enterprises, according to an announcement from state farm bureau headquarters. The new livestock organization this week became an interstate marketing agency when the work of organizing Wisconsin shippers to sell through the South St. Paul co-operative firm was begun. Shipping associations in South Dakota will be offered membership in the Minnesota agency next week, Mr. McKerrow said.

American Legion Corner

The American Legion has proposed to Minnesota senators a certain postponement of the consideration of the adjusted compensation bill. Legionnaires all over the state are urging Senators Nelson and Kellogg to work for and vote for the bill and secure enactment. Legionnaires being informed that the majority of the people of this state believe that the American Legion bill is just and fair and that it should be enacted now. Both bodies of the Minnesota Legislature have expressed their opinion. It has been endorsed by the legislatures of many states besides our own. The United States Chamber of Commerce is reported to be leading the fight against the Legion bill, but practically every Minnesota commercial body to which the measure has been explained, has endorsed it. Many misleading estimates as to its cost have been printed in a number of editorials throughout the country recently. Other estimates deliberately ignore the principles of justice underlying the bill. None of them cite the fact that the adjustment of compensation for the defenders of our country will cost less than it cost to carry on the war for a single month. Neither do they explain that the money needed to do justice to ex-service persons is only two-thirds of the amount promptly appropriated for the adjustment of compensation of canceled contracts for war materials. Instead they try to frighten the country into repudiating its debt to its defenders, by trying "it will ruin the country." This eleven hour attack on the bill won't succeed if Minnesota Legionnaires can avoid it.

 Don't worry and complain about a bad back. Get rid of it! For weak kidneys, lame and aching backs, your neighbors recommend Doan's Kidney Pills. "Mrs. J. T. Hagen, Pine City, says: 'I had an attack of kidney trouble. When it came on me, I had a dull ache in the small of my back which kept getting more severe until sharp-cutting pains went through me. I felt run down in general and was in misery most of the time. I tired more quickly than usual and I was frequently dizzy and lightheaded. My kidneys showed they were disordered by the way they acted.' Doan's Kidney Pills which I got at Breckenridge's Pharmacy, helped me very quickly and soon every symptom of kidney complaint disappeared. I haven't had any return of that trouble since Doan's cured me.—Price 60c, at all druggists. Get Doan's Kidney Pills the same that Mrs. Hagen had. Foster—Mills, Buffalo, N. Y."
