Canada is a second best customer of the United States. This is proved by trade statistics recently issued by the Canadian government covering the fiscal year ended March 31. Gross imports from the United States last year averaged $100 per capita of Canada's population. Its total imports amounted to $1,240,125,056. This was an increase of $100,000,000 over the gross of the previous year, due according to authorities, to heavy buying in the United States. The grand total of trade done by Canada during the last year was $2,450,533,175.

The French Sportswoman.
George Carpenter was talking to a girl reporter.

"I am a Frenchwoman," she said, "as well up in sports, but the French woman is still rather prudish. I know a young Frenchwoman who called a friend on the telephone and said, 'I'm sorry to trouble you, dear madame, but can you give me a good recipe for cooking clay pigeons?' Jacques has just sent me word that he is sure to bring out a short story, and he can't find a single word about them in the cook book."

Pretty Equipped.
"Funny how some people try to get along with no household equipment at all," remarked Juggins. "Why, those neighbors of mine haven't a lawn mower, nor a stepladder, a saw, a fishing rod, an ice cream freezer or any new books."

"How in the world do you know they haven't?" asked Mugger. "I saw them over in a neighboring way and tried to borrow those things."

Friday, James Oliver Curwood "Giant" opened Saturday, Nov. 11, in "Black Sheep." For years the cattle had roamed the Wyoming ranges—free and untrammeled up the Buffalo's—but—See what happened when NEAL HART refused to ride with the cattlemen; see "Black Sheep" and know the "real" West as it has never been screened, also a comedy "Fellow Citizens."

SUNDAY AND MONDAY

CHARLES RAY

In "A MIDNIGHT BELL"

Some of the most amusing scenes in First National's forthcoming release, "A Midnight Bell" in which Charles Ray is starred, take place in a smoky saloon in which Ray gives some excellent examples of satiricism! The manner in which he forces the old proprietor to give him a job by witnessing his method of selling a lady a bolt of cloth she does not want is one of the best comedy touches Mr. Ray has given in the screen.

On seeing the trial run of the film in the studio, Mr. Ray's father remarked: "Well, Charles, you need not worry; if you ever have to quit acting, I am convinced you can make a comfortable living tending store." Also a comedy "Wone Oni Flivver."

Tuesday, Eugene O'Brien in "The Figurhead," Sheridan Down (Eugene O'Brien) was a silk-stockin' candidate whom certain patriotic grafters were using as a "cats-paw." But a cat's paw has claws and this one found use for them in "The Figurhead," also a comedy "Highwayman Style."

Thursday, Mildred Harris in "Habit," A Real Dramatic Triumph.

The story of a girl who left love in a cottage for hate in a mansion.

Three promises of perfect pleasure—powerful drama, a brilliant romance, and the greatest stylization ever seen! Don't tell a soul how it ends. It's too good to miss—so spoil by telling, also a Fox News.

Pine City News

Mr. and Mrs. Elmer Carlson and Mrs. Ira C. Holt went to St. Paul Tuesday to take in the fair.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Read of St. Paul visited the latter's aunt, Mrs. Mary Holt of Hinsdaleton Monday.

Mrs. Louis Larson and children of Minneapolis and Mr. and Mrs. H. L. Priester of Sandstone spent Sunday at the Robert Wilcox home, Mrs. and Mrs. Roy Stratton of Mankato, visitors from the home of his brother, Wm Stratton, living north of town, last week. Bill's mother sister and another brother were also up for a visit.

George F. Hartigan last Sunday with his family here. George is now a foreman for the state highway department, and is in charge of 16 trucks on road work near Excelsior.

Joe Kubicek came up from Twin cities and spent the week end with his mother here. Mrs. Kubicek is due to leave this week for an extended visit at Milwaukee and other points.

Mr. Wm. Buselmeier and baby for Oslo yesterday noon where they will make their home. Mr. Buselmeier has been there the past two or three weeks where he has purchased a collection store. He and his wife moved to Pine City last Friday afternoon. That evening Mr. Brown was host to all the small boys in town, at an impromptu ice cream party, in honor of their wedding which took place in the cities a short time ago. Mrs. Brown, formerly Miss Florence Dahl, was the daughter of a prominent local merchant, whose son here last year and Mr. Brown is superintendent. As soon as the young folks heard that the Browns had arrived, they were out in force to give them a reception with the usual noise making devices used for such occasions. As soon as the first bunch had eaten their ice cream and dessert, the boys and girls gathered around the piano, and started singing all their friends that the "Pew" was entertaining, which resulted in a steady stream of youngsters arriving to congratulate the newlyweds. Quite a coincidence happened last spring when Miss Dahl's number was the lucky one drawn for the diamonds given away at the development association when they were raising money for the bath house. The poker game with other friends in congratulations.

THE TRIALS OF A HOUSEWIFE

How They Have Been Endured and How Overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Experience of a Providence Woman

Providence, R. I.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a female trouble and backache. It began just after my baby was born, and I had to do a great deal of house work. I had my work done, but I had awful bearing-down pains so I could not stand on my feet. I had to give up my job as a saleswoman. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and the good it was doing other women, and I have not done any house work since. I am now well again and I would like to recommend it. You can use these facts as a testimonial if you wish."—Mrs. Anna M. H. Smith, 15 Moon Court, Providence, R. I.

Ohio woman for three years could not bear down when she was still. Made well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Fayette, Pa.—For about three years I have suffered from backache, sidesache, dragging-down pains, could not sleep at night, and had no appetite. At times I could hardly do my housework. I used Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound as directed in a newspaper and took it with good results, and am now able to do my housework. I recommend this compound to all my friends and you may purchase it at your druggist's.

Mrs. Charles A. Ball, 46, Fayette, Ohio.

An Illinois woman relates her experience:

Bloomington, Ill.—"I was never very strong and female trouble kept me so weak I had no interest in my housework. I had such a backache I could not cook a meal or sweep a room without pain. Rubbing my back did not help. I used the same for a few hours, but did not stop it. I heard of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and six bottles of it have made me as strong as ever. I am now able to do my housework again. I take it for my health."

The conditions described by Mrs. Cassen, Mrs. Ball, and Mrs. McQuatty will appeal to many women who struggle with their daily tasks in similar conditions—in fact, it is said that the tragedy in life is sometimes as great as the burden of housework. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound is a welcome relief to those for their families to help in the daily routine of housework, often make clothes for themselves and for their children, or work in their gardens, all the while preserving from those who are less fortunate than themselves the health and strength.

HERE'S A TIP FOR MOTHERS

Sage Advice Offered Without Charge by the Pastor of the Arkansas Thomas Cat.

Take a little tip from ye pastor of the Arkansaw when you're preggers! He'll light on your side. Watch your young daughters' friends. Scrutinize carefully her men friends, for many wolves there be in sheep's clothing. If a wolf is a wolf, on her friends, become a lion of center surprise to flock together, and one silly, loud, indiscreet young person can compromise all who associate with her. But, if ye be a mother, be safe, turn a searching of investigation upon the character and antecedents of her middle-aged women acquaintances.—Arkansas Thomas Cat.

Indians Idea of Man's Origin.

How the Earthmakers making man from bits of clay, first did not bake him long enough, and he came out white and semi-transparent, and then they baked him out black, and thirdly baked him just right and he came out red, is the Cree Indians' explanation of the creation of man. And when we look at the Indians we get that peculiar feminine thrill of a new fresh which no other proceeding on earth can bring with it.

Straight Lines Are Conspicuous on the Fall Suit Models That Have Made Their Appearance.

that way of dressing her locks is more practical and that they always fit with her style for the same reason.

Who knows? If we are women, we must conform to the changes in fashion, whatever our inclination. And when we do, we are sure to find a new fresh which no other proceeding on earth can bring with it.

Buying for Winter.

Western buyers are putting out their first stock for winter. They are cleaving to short skirts and to straight lines. But this is always the case.

Friends are dropping to something more modest than they were, and consequently ready-to-wear garments are coming down in sympathy with necessities as well as luxuries.

Radiant Silk for Lingerie

In Paris the mannequins at the stores have been wearing skirts that are very full and very long, indeed out around the waist. After the Spanish style, it yet say that they had been lower in the past. As far as color, the fuchsia shades and royal purple, with royal red, were the favorite being so brilliant.

When Financiers Disagree

John Skelton Williams, former controller of the currency (portrait herewith), has been having a lively time with Federal Reserve system officials before a congressional committee. His criticisms of the system's credit policies aroused resentment on both sides. The system's two highest officers, Governor Harding of the reserve board, and Governor Strong of the New York reserve bank, in one of the frequent verbal interchanges, flatly denied charges across the committee room that they had, but was hated by strongmen, and was just in front of his adversary. A few minutes later Mr. Strong, while the commission was receiving a report which charged Mr. Williams with "fate and misleading statements," was interrupted by the former controller who shouted: "That statement of yours is false."

Mr. Williams charged that the board had countenanced bank lending to a New York banking group during the last two years, for speculative uses, while forcing liquidation in southern and western agricultural districts, and that it had allowed exorbitant interest charges, and generally failed to "ease down" inflation.

Open Disarmament Conference

Senator Biram Johnson of California has issued a statement in which he says that the sessions of the forthcoming disarmament conference must be open.

"The disarmament conference must be held in the open. I realize the disadvantages of this, but I think it is important that what may be said and agreed upon may have our lesson. We have seen a world conference commencing under the most favorable auspices, with idealism fully expressed, and then have had that idealism thrown overboard."

"The old diplomatic game is one which at all hazards must be avoided in the coming conference, in order that the world may be benefited and that the ultimate object of disarmament and world peace may be obtained. The only way in which we may avoid the pitfalls of secret diplomacy is by the sunlight of publicity."

Only by open sessions, with the world looking on and the public opinion of the world compelling obedience to its will, can be obtained from European diplomats what we seek in the disarmament conference."

"Pa" Harding Marries Again

Warren Gamaliel evidently isn't the only "live wire" in the Harding family. Dr. Charles F. Harding, the President's father, after being a widower eleven years, has gone and taken to himself a second wife. She was Miss Alice Severns, who has been for several years the doctor's accountant and office nurse. The doctor is a Civil War veteran, seventy-six, and has been a practicing physician in Marion, Ohio, for fifty years; his new wife is fifty-two.

Early, it was quite romantic. They stopped away together and went to Detroit. They were refused a license in Windsor, Canada. So they went on to Monroe, Mich., where they were married by Rev. Frank T. Knowles. Then they returned to Marion, where the doctor took his bride to her home and started for his own home four blocks away, saying "Good night, Alice; I'll see you in the morning."

In the meantime, the doctor went to his office and resumed practice. The bride paid him a visit and said maybe she'd keep on helping. But she moved into the doctor's home, put on an apron and hustled herself about the dinner table. The happy couple announced that they would be at home, for a time at least.

Crane Visits Soviet Russia

One hundred million soviet paper rubles for the journey from Koenigsberg to the western border of Russia was the estimate furnished Charles R. Crane, former U.S. commerce minister to China, by authorities in Chita. These rubles are not in circulation in the Far Eastern republic, but can be bought at the rate of six and one-half silver to 1,000 rubles of the soviet issue.

Mr. Crane and his son, John; his secretary, D. M. Brodie; his interpreter, Paul M. Dunko, and W. M. Palmer left Chita for Russia on route to the United States July 2. When passing through the U.S. port of Peking, Mr. Crane secured a boat car and stocked it with commodities he believed would be vastly more useful than rubles.

Mr. Crane left Peking with the assurance that permission to enter Russia would be granted. At Chita, however, the word was "nietza"—nothing doing. However, the soviet government finally reversed itself and said "nozhina"—can do.

"Pussyfoot" Johnson in India

William E. (Pussyfoot) Johnson has sailed from England for India. The trip of the famous American prohibition leader is in response to numerous invitations from various temperance organizations in India, including those headed by the missionary organizations and natives.

"Pussyfoot's" itinerary includes Bombay, Poona, Baroda, Lucknow, Agra, Delhi, Cawnpore, Madras, and Calcutta. Besides apportioning and has been passed out by the temperature forces in India. From India Mr. Johnson will go to Ceylon for a brief visit, in response to invitations from temperance organizations there, and then sail for England.

In the temperance organizations abroad Mr. Johnson's itinerary are said to be some of the most prominent persons in the social and civil life of India. The various native religions of India are what may be termed "temperance religions." While native liquors are made and sold, the temperance forces say the drink trade is largely in the hands of foreigners.

ESCAPING JUICES CAUSE MUCH LOSS

Leaching and Fermentation During Ensiling of Corn is Made Subject of Inquiry.

SILAGE SAMPLES ANALYZED

Evidence Found of Downwash, or Liquid in Silo Carrying With It Soluble Food Materials—Results Not Yet Complete.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Accumulations of manure in the silos are objectionable upon grounds of sanitation, but not more so than sheep droppings. Has anyone seen a dead chicken thrown into the road or trampled into the barnyard? The disposal of these dead bodies offers a problem for the poultryman, the correct solution of which may in many cases become a very important matter, says specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. This is especially true, of course, in cases of death from contagious diseases, and this includes a large proportion of poultry deaths.

To draw a dead chicken on the manure pile and lay the road is to insure the spread of disease. But this is not entirely satisfactory, because unless the grave is deep the carcass may be scratched up by dogs or other animals. Moreover, in winter ant-freezing weather, the dead animal may be frozen. Therefore specialists declare, the best way to dispose of dead poultry is to burn the bodies.

Many town and city homes have incinerators which may be used, but where this is not available some poultrymen having hot-water heating systems burn the bodies in the furnace. This is a good way to dispose of the dead, though it may be dangerous, though, as small incinerators have been built on some poultry plants. Some of these are of concrete, the size depending upon the number of birds to be disposed of, the plan being an enclosure with a burning stove. A concrete incinerator would not be expensive and would pay for itself in safeguarding the health of all the poultry.

Cutting and Blowing Corn Into Silo.

Substance of both moist and dry matter takes place as a result of fermentation and leaching. To ascertain as nearly as possible the amount of loss, its causes, and means for wholly or partially preventing it, the dairy division of the United States Department of Agriculture has been conducting a series of experiments. The results of two years' tests are covered in a professional paper, Department Bulletin, 953, Nitrogen and Other Losses During the Ensiling of Corn.

Samples of Silage Analyzed.

Samples of silage in cheesecloth sacks were buried at various depths and positions in a silo 42 feet high by 14 feet in diameter, holding approximately 100 tons of corn. The sacks were weighed when put in, and samples of the silage analyzed. When the bags were reached in feeding out the silo, the contents were again weighed and analyzed.

The two year's work furnished evidence of a downwash of the juice in the silo carrying with it soluble food materials, so that the silage in the lower part of the silo was gained in food material at the expense of the upper part. There was an average loss for all the bags of nearly 10 per cent of the dry matter, which apparently is due largely to the fermentation of the silage, and the consequent leaching away of soluble material by the juice. The sugars almost entirely disappeared. There was a considerable loss in the case of the purest of the forage-laden bodies. These were lost in total nitrogen, which was largely lost in the corn put into the silo was immature than when mature corn was used. It is probable that this loss is due to the fact that the silage is treated with nitrogenous compounds in the juice.

Big Escape of Corn.

There is a great escape of corn, probably due to the formation of new ether-soluble bodies. The second season nearly 10,000 pounds of juice escaped from the silo. This juice carries a considerable percentage of nitrogen of various forms which in ordinary practice would remain in the silo. The results are as yet incomplete, and the tests are being continued.

PUREBRED BEST PRODUCERS

Enormous Differences Among Dairy Cows Have Been Brought Out in Number of Cases.

The value of purebred cattle, say specialists in the United States Department of Agriculture, is most noticeable in those cases in which the capability of the animals is measured most directly. Among farm animals the purebred cattle are the best in dairy cattle, though cattle, yearly tests of milk and butterfat production are relatively recent affairs. The enormous differences among dairy cows when compared with the purebreds find their expression in the largest male birds into several fine chicken dinners.

BURN DEAD POULTRY IS EXCELLENT PLAN

Especially True in Case of Death From Disease.

Burying Not Satisfactory Because Dogs and Other Animals May Dig Capsule Up—Concrete Cemetery Not Expensive.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Accumulations of manure in the silos are objectionable upon grounds of sanitation, but not more so than sheep droppings. Has anyone seen a dead chicken thrown into the road or trampled into the barnyard? The disposal of these dead bodies offers a problem for the poultryman, the correct solution of which may in many cases become a very important matter, says specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture. This is especially true, of course, in cases of death from contagious diseases, and this includes a large proportion of poultry deaths.

To draw a dead chicken on the manure pile and lay the road is to insure the spread of disease. But this is not entirely satisfactory, because unless the grave is deep the carcass may be scratched up by dogs or other animals. Moreover, in winter ant-freezing weather, the dead animal may be frozen. Therefore specialists declare, the best way to dispose of dead poultry is to burn the bodies.

Many town and city homes have incinerators which may be used, but where this is not available some poultrymen having hot-water heating systems burn the bodies in the furnace. This is a good way to dispose of the dead, though, as small incinerators have been built on some poultry plants. Some of these are of concrete, the size depending upon the number of birds to be disposed of, the plan being an enclosure with a burning stove. A concrete incinerator would not be expensive and would pay for itself in safeguarding the health of all the poultry.

TOWN MAN MAY KEEP PIGEONS

Bird Has Place in Scheme of Poultry Production, but Not Always Desirable on Farm.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The bird that has become an undesirable accoutre status on the farm is the pigeon, the specialists of the United States Department of Agriculture say in Secretary's Circular 107. Almost exclusively a grain eater, the pigeon renders no notable services as a conservator of waste, unless it is shattered grain in the fields, and in large numbers would take up any other poultry and game birds. The pigeon has a place in the scheme of urban poultry production, but, except in isolated instances where conditions are peculiarly favorable, its production on farms may not be desirable. A good heavy skin.

With its antiseptic, fascinating cutaneous properties, and its sweet-scented convalescent emollientic, fatty, skin, bathy and dusting powder, perfume. Renders other perfumes superfluous. One of the Cuticate Toilet Trio (Soap, Ointment, Talcum).—Advertisement.

BALKED AT WORD "COMMON"

Proffiter Felt It Was Due to His Dignity to Have Nothing But the Very Latest.

Bisher Homer Stunts said at a dinner in Omaha:

"If we can all as ambitions to prove ethically as our war profters to progress socially, it would be a very good thing."

A war proftor decided recently to draw the Baptist faith and turn Episcopalianism, as all the bang-on people in town went to the Episcopalian church.

"He seemed well enough pleased with the voices at the salesmen and ladies who came in to call on the book of Commend Prayer. Once this he frowned and shook his head.

"This'll hardly do," he said, and he tapped the title with his forefinger. "Let's have something a little more select, boy."

Father's Prediction.

Frederick Bridgeman—Helen prefters to call him Bridger—had a discussion across the table the feeding which someone maintained, still existed between the North and the South. The minister remarked:

"The time is coming not so far off, when there will be no north, south, east or west, and—"

"Won't that be splendid," interrupted little Will, "and does that interest you?" asked the boy's astonished parent.

"Because it will be so much easier to learn geography"—Harper's Magazine.

Don't be indifferent or you'll soon be out.

Spoonies lovers make quite a stir in public.

Petified Apple.

Dr. C. E. Holt of Ouis, Me., is petifying local scents with what appears to be a petrified apple. It was picked up on the shores of a nice lake, and the "apple" is polished and polished the work of nature or a clever stonecutter cannot be decided. It is perfectly formed, yellowish white in color, natural fruit shape, about two inches in diameter and exact even to the stem, leaf and a decayed portion of the skin.

Two swelled heads are worse than one.

Children Cry For Fletcher's CASTORIA

Special Care of Baby.

That Baby should have a bed of its own all are agreed. Yet it is more reasonable for an infant sleep with grown-ups than to use a man's medicine in an attempt to remove the delicate organism of that same infant. Either practice is to be abhorred. Neither would be tolerated by specialists in children's diseases.

Your Physician will tell you that Baby's medicine must be prepared with even greater care than Baby's food.

A Baby's stomach when in good health is too often disarranged by improper diet. You must then, think of giving to your ailing child anything but a medicine especially prepared for Infants and Children? Don't be deceived.

Make a mental note of this:—It is important, Mothers, that you should remember that to function well, the digestive organs of your Baby must receive special care. No Baby is so abnormal that the desired results may be had from the use of medicines primarily prepared for grown-ups.

QUEER METHOD OF DEFENSE

Fishes That Have the Power of Inflating Their Bodies, frightening Their Enemies.

The swell fishes of tropic coast waters have the power of suddenly inflating the body with water until they assume an apparently impossible size, which is often three times the normal diameter, which can be discovered by any enemy about to seize one.

The puffer fish, in addition to this, has the body everywhere covered with long, sharp spines which project even when the fish is inflated, protecting from its forehead. They are excellent eating, cooked in the shell like a lobster. The back muscles of the swell fishes are sometimes so tough that they make a very delicious, as are the well-authenticated instances of severe poisoning from eating these fishes. The poison seems to be localized in the viscera and to permeate the rest of the fish after death.

A Good Time Coming

There was company at dinner, and the son and her husband listened to the conversation. During meal time the discussion grew热烈, the feeling which someone maintained, still existed between the North and the South. The minister remarked:

"The time is coming not so far off, when there will be no north, south, east or west, and—"

"Won't that be splendid," interrupted little Will, "and does that interest you?" asked the boy's astonished parent.
