Many Civil Cases
The petit jury was convened last Thursday and a number of cases have been disposed of. It is expected that Judge Scaries will adjourn court this evening, making it necessary to continue a few cases which have not been heard.

A special term of court will be held the latter part of December when the five cases will be taken up.

In the case of John R. O'Connell vs. Ernest Stephan, the jury returned a verdict of $182.20 damages in favor of the plaintiff, who brought suit for damages received when his car collided with that of Ernest Stephan near Bald Eagle.

The jury returned a verdict in favor of the plaintiff, the defendant entered a counter claim. Testimony given was to the effect that the plaintiff's car had run into the defendant's car when the latter had started to turn around on the road.

In the case of Paul Perkins vs. James Hejny the jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant, awarding him $117.78. Perkins had sued for $39.04 for automobile repairs purchased by the defendant. Hejny entered a counter claim for $100, claiming this was commission due him for securing a prospect for the sale of a tractor.

On order of the court, the jury found for the plaintiff in the case of Nelson Brock vs. James Laughton, awarding $128.18.

The jury returned a verdict in favor of the appellant in the case of the estate of Christina Lind vs. Anna Berglund, awarding $100.

The problem of the proper handling of the family income is one which is receiving more attention today than ever before and much has been said and written on the question.

The blanks which the postmaster has for distribution provide for a record of all disbursements under the heading of food, shelter, clothing, entertainment, miscellaneous and savings, with subdivisions of some those main items. The budget also shows sample budgets prepared by the Home Economics Department of the University of Minnesota so that everyone may have an idea of the proper standard for various items.

In commenting on these figures, Mr. E. C. Kibbee, Director of the Savings Department of the University of Minnesota, said: "The figures given in the budget system are the result of careful study and investigation of the conditions of Minnesota some two years ago. Although allowance will have to be made for changing prices and local conditions, the figures will serve as a guide in making their first budget. It is, of course, impossible to prepare a table to apply everywhere in the state."

The postmaster looks for some interesting results following the adoption of the family budget and expects that after the budgeting and the family income has been put on a business basis sufficient funds will remain for investment.

Poultry Shows in December

The annual show of the Pine County Poultry Assn. will be held at Sandstone, December 16 to 19 inclusive. W. E. Standfield of St. Paul, who did the judging last year, will act in that capacity again this year. Secretary Appleby announces the association has set a mark of 400 birds and will make an effort to have that many entries.

Mr. Appleby informs us that the quality of the Pine county poultry is improving steadily, and there are many fine flocks in the region. He has culled over 3200 birds for children raisers the past two or three weeks.

Chicago Show December Sixth

The Chicago poultry association will hold their show at Rush City, December 5, 6 and 7th. Premium lists are printed and entry blanks can be had from Secretary Carl Summers at Rush City.

Almelund Robber Gets Life

North Branch Review—George Hughes, alias George Williams, alias Harry, was sentenced to life imprisonment in the state penitentiary at Stillwater.

It was found that he was instrumental in bringing him to justice as to his guilt, it was very thoroughly disclosed Saturday when he was brought up for sentence.

Hughes pleaded a plea of guilty to the charge which alone entitled him to a long prison term. When asked by the Court if he had any statement to make he started cursing and using obscene language that it is not to print. His abuse was finally cut short by deputy sheriff Hammarstrom, who kindly but firmly told him it was time to go to the cell way.

Another man was brought up from the city Friday, who it was supposed was one of the gang but none of them in the bank at the time of the robbery were able to identify him and he was returned to St. Paul where he was placed in jail charged with another bank robbery.

Auto Destroyed by Fire

A large Studebaker car traveling toward Duluth, went into the ditch north of Rush City, last Sunday afternoon and caught fire. The car was destroyed by fire. The spill was caused by a flat tire and we understand the car was traveling at a high rate of speed.

A man, his wife and daughter were in the car and fortunately were unharmed. A Rush City service truck towed the car to Duluth, as the remaining gear was not damaged enough to interfere with the trip.

Can Get Budget Books

Postmaster J. M. Collins is now in a position to state discussions regarding the proper disbursement of the family income. The postmaster has just received from the District Savings Bank of the Treasury a supply of family records for distribution to the public.

Greetings between housewives in the winter months and during the morning hours is your budget or in some instances "Good night—I haven't a cent."

First Down and Six Months to Go

Pass Resolution

One of the duties of the Grand Jury is to inspect County Buildings and report on the activities of the management and condition of such Public Institutions.

The Grand Jury discussing these matters, appointed the following committee to report on the condition of the Poor Farm, who in conference with the Grand Jury as a whole, discussed the same.

Some of the complaints discussed and answered were as follows: That County Commissioners had no right to build such an expensive building for the Poor. A disapproval of the fact that the Board of Control had ordered the erection of a new building which had to be built according to their specifications.

Evidence submitted disclosed the fact that our County Commissioners did protest the erection of an expensive building as directed by the Board of Control.

The members of the committee reported that they had investigated the fact that the inmates themselves were the fault finders. The evidence shows where actual investigations were made and disclosed it was found they had ample and suitable clothing stowed away in trunks. In one particular instance one of the inmates had three pairs of sheet good suitable warm underwear, and outside garments as good as any common people wear. In the men's rooms trunks have been opened by the investigators and found to contain even more elaborate wardrobes. When the inmates were asked why they did not wear these things they protested that lines belonged to them and the County was under obligation to furnish them with both food and clothes.

The members of the committee reported that they had interviewed the old quarters at our County Farm but expressed some inconveniences, but these conditions could not be bettered under the circumstances.

Removal and complaints of the management of the Farm are without ground and unfounded as shown by the investigation. The management has been very faithful, conscientious and efficient.

It was resolved that a copy of these resolutions be given such paper in the county for publication.

Org. Testing Assn.

At a meeting held at Brook Park November 7th, the organization of a cow testing association, including in its membership farmers in the vicinity of Pine City, Brook Park and Hinckley, was completed.

Mr. E. A. Jensen, who is in charge of the cow testing association, spoke in the state, first gave a talk on the value of cow testing associations and outlined in this state this far as a system of most dated checks in order to facilitate the work of the secretary-treasurer. These present seemed their checks. The checks will be sent out to the members no later than the 15th of this month.

The board of directors met after the regular meeting was adjourned to consider applications for the joint testing of the cow. Mr. Jensen was present and was hired by the board. He has had experience in feeding dairy herds for official testing work and was recommended by Mr. Hanson as being well qualified.

The association will get started work by the 15th of this month. It is hoped that as time goes on there will be more farmers interested so that we will have enough members to have two testers busy where we now have one. Anyone desiring to join the association should get in touch with some member of the board of directors so as to be put on the waiting list in case it is impossible for the secretary to handle their herd at the present time.

Will Build This Winter
At a directors meeting held at the Farmers Exchange last Saturday, it was decided to start work immediately on the construction of their warehouse which they will build on railroad property south of the stock yards. The building will be 60x30 feet in size, with a full basement having a 10 ft. wall. The walls will be of concrete and the roof will be of shingles.

Some little delay was experienced in closing the lease with the railway as it was made out for a potato warehouse by the Thibault and E. Odendahl went to St. Paul, last week, where they met the railway officials and closed the lease as desired by the Exchange. The roadmaster expected to be here this week and stake out the location for the building. It will be necessary to extend the siding a 100 feet to accommodate the warehouse.

Man-Woman-Marriage

Those who would doubt the world has progressed during the last two (two) years should witness the showing of Allen Helberg's famous Associated First National production of the eternal drama "Man-Woman-Marriage," starring Dorothy Phillips. The picture will be shown at the Family Theatre on Friday and Saturday of this week.

"Man-Woman-Marriage" is a condensed history of the world's progress—a screen epic and prof-ession of woman's noble and benign nature over the destiny of mankind.

In the retrospective Roman scenes of this stirring modern story, beautiful Dorothy Phillips is seen as a Christian slave girl at the court of the Emperor Constantine. In the night splendor of this potentia's magnificence is pictured the ascendancy of civilization—the period when man lived for pleasure. It is the period whose unstrained orgies were notable even in the reign of an Augustus.

Down through the ages, as depicted in "Man-Woman-Marriage," the talented Miss Phillips deftly interprets the spectacle with the influence for good women has wielded over man. In the modern story of this magnificent film, Miss Phillips is no less impressive in her role as a woman of our times.

The story is strong and convincing, the work of the star stamps her an artist of rare talent and ability.

Prous Urges Memberships

With the proclamation of Gov. J. A. O. Prous urging Minnesota to support the membership enrollment of the American Red Cross, which opens an Armistice Day and continues until Thanksgiving, great impetus has been given the Roll Call in this state.

The governor's proclamation just issued states:

"The American Red Cross will make its annual appeal for membership during the period commencing Armistice Day, November 11, and ending Thanksgiving Day, November 24.

It is extremely important that the Red Cross be given whole hearted support at this time, not only in order that the organization may be maintained in case of unforeseen emergencies, but because of the splendid work which is being done every day.

Garage Robbed

Thieves broke into the A & B garage, owned by Messrs. Anderson and Baker at Brook Creek, sometime during Wednesday night.

It is reported that five or six tubes were taken by the thieves. This is the fourth time this summer that this garage has been visited by thieves. Entrance was made by breaking the glass in the door and turning the night lock. No trace or clue to the robbery has been found.

Celebrate Joint Birthdays

A surprise party was held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Lind Tuesday evening. A large number of friends and neighbors gathered to celebrate the joint birthday of the Lind family. A very enjoyable evening was put in, and the honored guests were the recipients of many nice presents. Mr. and Mrs. Lind were both born on this date, the 24th of August, 1862. They were both born in Sweden. They lived in the same ward attended the same school, and were married 30 years ago last July. They came to America 30 years ago, and have lived in this community since the last 15 years.

Brain Jost—That trivial incidents sometimes result in serious accidents was the experience of Mr. H. F. Stokes last Saturday when at Henriette. Mr. Stokes was merely going a demonstration of breaking a half Nelson hold to the back when his foot caught in one of the boards of the sidewalk. He fell, carrying the full weight of his body upon the sidewalk, the result being just above the ankle.

Mr. Stokes is at the Brothers hospital recovering. The Johnsons failed in their attempt to correct the long that he should be around again.

Deer Season Opens Today

The annual exodus of deer hunters from the cities and southern part of the state, has been taking place this week. The trains have been crowded with hunters, and hundreds have gone through in autos to be on the ground and ready when the season opens today. The northern part of Minnesota is one of the best deer hunting grounds in this part of the country, and attracts many from other states, notwithstanding the high fee for non residents.

The snow, the forepart of this week, was a welcome sight. About 400 licenses have been issued in Pine County up to date. This is about half the number that were taken out last year and we understand, the proportion is about the same in Chisago county. This is partly due to a shorter season of this year, and the license is $2 and 25¢ for a season's hunting ground. Last year the license was $1.00.

Pine City and community has quite a number of deer hunters, most of whom have already left for some of the small hunting grounds. The hunters were issued at the Pine County Auditor's office, Tuesday. This is the largest number ever issued in one day at the local court house.

Bold Robbery at Stacy Last Week

North Branch Review—A holdup was pulled off at Stacy, Tuesday evening, when two bandits armed with automatic revolvers entered the general merchandise store of George Hildford and robbed him of $180 in cash, while a third stood guard outside.

The bandits entered the store about 5:45 in the evening and succeeded in robbing the counters as they intended to make a pure chase. Mr. Hildford walked up behind the counter to wait on them when he was suddenly ordered to throw up his hands. While one of the bandits held him covered with two automatic revolvers, the other went through his pockets and cash register. Two customers, Mr. George Hildford and Miss Sylvia Sherman who were in the store at the time, were also ordered to hold up their hands. Mr. Hildford was evidently frightened by being ordered to throw up his hands and the bandits' disposal by making a quick exit through the back door. It came nearly being a costly experience for him, however, for the bandits with the two guns fired three shots at him as he fled through the door, but luckily none took effect. Miss Sherman was in greater danger of being hit by the flying bullets than the man whom they were intended for. One of them crashed through the stove pipe just a few inches from her head and another went through a display stand a very short distance to the right of where she stood. Miss Sherman was remarkably cool during the trying ordeal and said she did not make a sound, although she knew from the sound that the bandits were close to her head. She also stated that the departure of Mr. Hildford seemed to make the bandits nervous and they decided to leave their plans for which they hurried out without going through the safe or taking her name which was going to be a counter containing some $100 in cash.

Mr. Hildford advised the other citizens of Stacy with the crime of "Robbers" but by the time a posse had been organized the bandits had made their get-away, making in a northerly direction past the potato warehouses.

It was thought at first that they had a car stolen somewhere on the outskirts of the village and all the neighboring towns were alerted to be on the lookout for them. It later developed, however, that they had no car as the section crew reported that they had met one on the railroad between Stacy and Wyoming about a half hour before the holdup was pulled off, and it is most likely that they got away on a freight train sometime during the night.

Arrestive Day Program

FIGURES QUITE INTERESTING

They Prove Consistent Ability and Show Practically Same Men at Top in Hitting.

Baseball figures are interesting in more details than ever. They prove consistent ability. Year in and year out, each set of figures show practically the same men at the top in hitting, fielding, and in pitching.

Cobb, Hornsby, Speaker, Ruth, Slaughter—it is a familiar role. Once in a while a new name appears. Sometimes it remains in the first flight a few weeks, sometimes an entire season, only to drift downward to the lower levels.

When you find it staying there several years you know that same stands for consistent ability. The owner has something more than a mere dash of skill. The good team in baseball, as in every other line, are always at the top.

Fisher, with a losing ball club, manages to win ball games by sheer superiority in individual effort. Walker Johnson did it as long as his physical power held out. Cobb, Hornsby, Speaker, Ruth, Slaughter, would get 300 with a fallender every season.

The figures don't lie in the matter of consistent ability. They may deceive you for a few weeks, or cause you to hold a maning place as a perpetual bloom, but over a stretch of years they are bound to tell the truth.

BEN WALLIS CALLED APOSTLE OF ROWING

Coach of California Crew Got His Job by Accident.

Served Time Under World's Best Instructors, Dick Glendon of Navy, Ten Eyck of Syracuse and John Kennedy.

Ben Wallis, rowing coach at the University of California, got his job by accident.

One day, by chance, he saw the Californians trying to row. They were making a miserable showing. He walked in the clubhouse and offered a bit of advice.

His five-minute chat got him his job. This spring he brought his earnest East. The crew is recognized as one of the best outfits on the water.

But Wallis had served his time under the world's best rowing coaches—Dick Glendon, coach of the Navy crew; Ten Eyck of Syracuse, and John Kennedy.

Wallis is a Yale man. He won his rowing letter against Harvard. His former home was Boston.

After graduating from Yale his days in the shell were over. He went to Honolulu to work. Poor health overtook him. He drifted into San Francisco, where by chance he became coach for the Golden Bears.

Wallis is the youngest big-league coach in the country. Both Ten Eyck and Glendon are old enough to be his father.

ladies of the court requests that she should leave the room. Her own hesitation compelling, and one day under a status of liberty for which the countess was the more the lady clings her in his arms and imprints the "kiss of eternity" upon her lips. Later she tells her that she also is beautiful and that he loves her, and she consents herself with the thought that she will give him the best of the queen, but returns gave him to her.

At an opportune moment her brother, or friend tells her that her husband is a courier, pretenses to her but is rejected, and the countess begins to realize that it is just to be conscious of guilt and yet remain beautiful and happy creature.

In the meantime, Walpurga contemplates her term of service, and before leaving for home calls upon Irma, who gives her a bag of gold won at the counting table the night before.

In the little village in the Highlands, every one at first patronized the countess and Hansel, but receiving no favors at their hands, the people show that human nature is the same throughout the world. For the countess all sorts of scandalous tales concerning them, but when the happy couple purchase an extensive tract of land, the good will of all their friends go with them to their new abode.

In this juncture, some one at court writes and tells her that she is the king's mistress, and at the news she is fatally stricken, but before she dies she writes to her father, his daughter's brother, and she interposes the act as setting there the mark of Cain and wears a handkerchief over her forehead.

Irma is now in a terrible state of mind when the king writes to her: "I alone can kiss away the shadows that cloud your brow." It only increases her desperation and she resolves upon suicide.

She writes thus to the queen: "I expiate my crime in death." And to the king: "I alone can kiss away the shadows that cloud your brow." It only increases her desperation and she resolves upon suicide.

On the way to end her life, she encounters a noble woman who has been ruined by her brother, Bruno. This woman drowns herself in the lake and Irma struggles on, benumbed and insensible, until she is found by Walpurga and Hansel on their journey to their newly purchased freedom. Conscious of her duty to her father, Walpurga, she accompanies the party to their mountain home.

The lady of the household, Countess Irma von Wildenort, daughter of a noble sire, who spent his life in improving the condition of his subjects, but who lived alone and self-centered, leaving his children to grow up with little of his advice and yet too much expression of his affection. Dr. Gunther, physician to the queen, a man straightforward and of polished and dignified and her father never appeared at court.

These, with Countess Brinkenstein, the high-priestess of etiquette and decorum; Irma's brother, and others who appear prominently, were the characters, the interesting of whose lives, and a story of the exploring of sin, full of warning to those who are on the brink of wrongdoing and replete with suggestion to the self-satisfied philosopher.

The story opens with the birth of a prince in the royal household. A nurse from the Highlands is found in Walpurga, wife of Hansel, a humble peasant, when the queen kissed upon her arrival, and this being so contrary to the customs of the court, she is taken up by the scandal-mongers and recorded in the newspapers, offending the king and evening his anger. The queen is weak and sentimental.

Countess Irma, because of her official position, has access at all times to the young prince's apartments, and it is soon apparent that she is fast attaining royal favor. One day the king lays his hand upon her forehead, and she looks at him in such a manner that Walpurga tells her it is improper, but it is advised to attend to her own affairs, and the countess writing to a friend, boasts that the king prefers her above all others and that he has given her a feather from an eagle that he has shot.

Later, when they are alone together, the king asks the countess if when they are by themselves, he may call her his "true comrade" and makes remarks implying that the queen and he are not in closest harmony.

The levity of his wit, however, is abundantly atoned by a mighty struggle through which she passes. She was a Protestant and the king a Catholic, and out of love to him she resolves to give up her religion, but instead of pleasing his majesty, this only makes him angry because he takes it to be another proof of her weakness, and he gets Dr. Gunther to advise her from such a course. He also sends her several verses, but she writes Irma, who is flattered, but away down in her heart she is offended, and she writes her friend that she feels herself altogether alone in the world.

Soon after this the king goes on a hunting trip and he asks the queen to save the countess from the king about the baby prince. The queen begins to be suspicious of her husband and the scandal-mongers increase the fears of the king and Irma increases.

In the midst of the turmoil, the countess is called home to her father, but he and she do not understand each other, and when—after a while—a letter signed by the king and the queen is received.

Must Sleep or Die. Good Friday. Good Friday has been observed since the earliest days of Christianity in memory of the crucifixion of Jesus Christ, which event is said to have occurred Friday, April 25, A. D. 33. The expression "Good (probably Good) Friday" is said to be peculiar to the Church of England. Good Friday is observed the Friday before Easter. Women are not permitted to be photographed in China.

MOTHER! CLEAN CHILD'S BOWELS WITH CALIFORNIA FIG SYRUP. Even a sick child loves the "fruity" taste of California Fig Syrup. If the little tongue is coated, or if your child is listless, cross, nervous, full of cold, or has colic, give a teaspoonful to cleanse the liver and bowels. In a few hours you can see for yourself how thoroughly it works all the constipation, sour bile and waste out of the bowels, and you have a well, playful child again.

Thirty Feet of Danger. The intestines bend and twist and turn on themselves—more than thirty feet of them—and when they do, they are liable to get jammed up, irritating and dangerous poisons are formed and the blood is poisoned. Remove this food waste regularly with Nujol—the modern method of treating an old complaint.

TOO LATE. Death only a matter of short time. Don't wait until pains and aches become incurable diseases. Avoid painful consequences by taking GOLD MEDAL MARIEM OIL CAPSULES. The world's standard remedy for kidney, liver, bladder and uric acid troubles—the National Remedy of Holland since 1856. Three sizes, all druggists. Look for the name Gold Medal on every box and accept no imitation.

Ladies Keep Your Skin Clear, Sweet, Healthy With Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Talcum. KREMOLA. DO YOUR TOES SPREAD OUT? Mary E. Bayley, R. N., Tells What, in an Expert's Opinion, the Feet Should Be Like. Does the great toe of your foot (or the big toe of both feet) continue in a straight line from the heel? And do your other toes spread apart? This condition exists you have good understanding feet, according to Mary E. Bayley, R. N., who tells in the Dermatologist what feet should be like. Her article has been approved by Dr. Virgil E. Gilmer, surgeon in chief of the Hospital for the Ruptured and Crippled, New York; and therefore bears the stamp of authority. Too much care cannot be taken of the feet, Miss Bayley continues, as they are the keystone to correct body position and have much to do with one's health. Particular attention should be paid to shoe fitting between the toes of the feet and forenoon, since this is the period of growth and expansion. Stockings, too, come in for discussion, as tight-fitting ones compress the toes and interfere with the circulation.

Are you stepping on the brake or the accelerator? The food you eat does make a difference. Heavy, starchy foods often do slow down body and mind—often steal the energy that belongs to the day's work. Grape-Nuts is a good-bread food. It contains the perfected nourishment of Nature's best grains. It includes all those elements needed to nourish body and brain. It is easy to digest. It gives energy without taking energy. How about your breakfast or lunch—does it give, or take? Grape-Nuts is sweet, crisp, delightful to the taste, and is an ideal source of power for a busy and difficult day. "There's a Reason" for GRAPE-NUTS.

It is awfully hard for a little woman to impress people with her dignity. Feasibly. Creditor (determined)—I shall call at your house every week until you pay this account. Debtor (in the blindest tones)—Then, sir, there seems every probability of our acquaintance ripening into friendship. It is awfully hard for a little woman to impress people with her dignity.

COMMUNITY SPIRIT

If you live in a country town and you have sickness or other misfortune, and thus find yourself hard up, your neighbors will take hold and do needed jobs of work for you, or pass around a subscription paper. But if you live in a larger place, you may have hard luck and no one will know or care about it.

There ought to be in every community like Pine City, a spirit of watchfulness on the part of comfortable and well to do people, to look out for cases of misfortune and privation and loneliness. People who have been favored with the good gifts of life, ought not to sit down in ease and comfort, while others are getting barely enough to eat or lack for warm clothing.

There ought to be active agencies circulating around among humble and struggling people, and looking out for cases where the helping hand is needed.

The friendships of life ought not to be merely between people of the same so-called class. The majority of prosperous people look for associates among people of the same strata. They are interested only in those who have money and can make social returns for favors offered.

The generous hearted family will seek earnestly to keep up friendships among people who have been less fortunate. It will ignore differences of wealth and so-called social position, and will realize that the hard working family is far more interesting and worthy than people who live in semi-idleness.

The churches and fraternal societies watch carefully over the interests of their less fortunate members. They should offer tangible help generously and should give just as cordial handshake to the man with shabby clothes, as to the whose garments reek with luxury. If this spirit can permeate a town, the life of the city will not be spoiled by sentiments of social antagonisms, and every element in the community will be able to contribute something to the progress of the community.

ARMISTICE DAY

When the war closed many people wanted November 11 made a legal holiday for the whole country, but at last reports only five states had done so. One reason for not taking this action has been that Thanksgiving day comes so near this date. This is a working world and six days labor are usually necessary to support a family.

Armistice Day should never be forgotten. It marks the greatest height of achievement yet reached by the American people. It notes the day when a triumph was achieved for American spirit that disfounded the world, and brought earth's proudest empire to the dust. It showed what the Americans can do to conquer seemingly insurmountable obstacles, and what dangers and hardships they undertake to vindicate their national ideals.

Armistice day should be a legal holiday, but the best way to observe it would be to have Thanksgiving day proclaimed on that date. The two occasions are harmonious, and the thought of one adapts itself to the other.

NOVEMBER 11, 1921

A brief three years since that auspicious day When from the clouds of war a shining ray Of hew descended to the sons of men, And grew in radiance until again The morning sun of Peace smiled calmly down From skies which four long years had worn a frown. Now on this anniversary they come, The Nations of the Earth, nor file nor drum Nor gaudy trappings of that monster dread, That smiling ghoul who fattens on the dead, But solemnly and with high seriousness May they have come together to impress Upon the world the Greater Armistice, A truce to wars, a death to avarice! God gave them minds above the petty hates And broils and bickerings of jealous states! O'er all the world where War's dread children thrive, Famine and suffring, crime and death all strive To teach the lesson mankind long has sought (Yet strive in vain, for man will not be taught) Eyes with despair long dimmed at last are bright With hope, and hearts bowed down and crushed by Might Are beating faster on this day of days. Oh, fail us not, ye in whose care the ways And destinies of nations are assigned, Whose hands now hold the fate of humankind! Else your inheritance shall be the scorn And contumely of those yet unborn. Oh, fail us not, we cry from East and West, And millions shall rise up and call you blest.

Rev. Duckton leaves for Illinois this week, and expects to preach at a Chicago church next Sunday. There has been some rumor to the effect that he might leave Pine City soon, to accept a call to another church. He states that it is not correct, as it is his intention to remain at Pine City this winter at least.

This might very appropriately be called the hunting issue of The Pine Piker. In hunting for news of the local items had to do with hunting trips. If all the hunters from this community, who have gone hunting this week, each return with a deer, the meat market business will be shot to pieces for awhile at least.

Herb Ingram, Clarence Gottry, Fred Karsky and Wm. Tunnell left Tuesday, for the eastern part of the county where they expect to spend the next few days bagging deer. A couple of the boys were up there a few days ago and engaged a guide and hired his cabin. We understand they have been staked out to a tree waiting for the season to open.

His many friends will be pleased to learn of his improved physical condition.

Mrs. Gates and daughter, Mrs. Milo DeWolf, returned from the Twin cities, last Monday, after a two weeks visit with friends and relatives there. Mr. DeWolf was a visitor here Monday. Fourteen members of Mt. Olive lodge attended the ceremonies for the dedication of the new Masonic temple at Moose Lake, last Tuesday evening. Delegations from the Sandstone, Hinkley, Cloquet and the six Duluth lodges were present. Officers of the grant were in charge of the ceremony. Ladies of the Moose Lake Eastern Star served lunch—cafeteria style—from six o'clock until midnight, for the visitors. The new temple, just recently completed, cost in the neighborhood of $10,000 and is a fine two story structure with every convenience.

Wm. Collins, Wendell and Ell Huber and Dave McGlaughlin spent last Sunday duck hunting on Kettle river. They returned home with a fine bag of game, each of the hunters getting their share. Dave took the prize for the largest bird getting a fine mallard, which weighed 1-1/2 pounds. The other boys are convinced it was an accident, but Dave says not. He said a flock of about fifteen flew over. He already had some ducks and wanted to get very carefully picked out the largest one, nonchantly took aim and fired. Well that's some hunting and some story, but we are inclined to be a little dubious.

Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Carlson, daughter Dorothy, and Mrs. G. F. Walter and children returned from the Twin cities last Sunday, where they had put in a few days shopping. They made the trip in the Carlson car. The Carlsons attended the football game, last Saturday. Roy is perhaps the best football fan in Pine City and regaled us all length with a description of the game. He was quite disgusted with the showing made by Minnesota, and has the same opinion shared by many others, that a change in coaches at the university is needed. They expect to leave today, for New Prague to take in a game there Friday, and plan on attending the Hamline-Carlton game at Northfield Saturday.

America Again Aids Cuba

America's ward, Cuba, has been lately in the limelight because of its election struggles and financial upheaval. Now it is coming fast into prominence again through a revival of its prosperity. Help from the United States in financial form first extended in 1898, is again the cause. In Cuban-American history General Enoch H. Crowder, now reconstructing the island's finances, bids fair to rank with General Leonard Wood, who cleaned up Havana and enforced sanitation after the war of 1898.

But General Crowder has by no means completed his task. Continued in his mission by President Harding, he will be retained there until the job is finally completed. The Cuban government has just authorized the appointment of a commission, which will review the revenue situation of the island, evolve methods of reducing expenses and of raising more governmental funds, rewrite the Cuban tariff law and generally brush up the entire revenue machinery of the government. General Crowder will be its chief adviser.

Lasker Is Making Changes

Separation of the Emergency Fleet corporation from the United States shipping board in order to permit the fleet corporation to assume control of the operation of ships and of this property of the corporation, and leave the board free to develop its regulatory powers as contemplated by the Jones merchant marine act, is announced by A. D. Lasker, chairman of the board (portrait herewith) with the approval of President Harding.

Chairman Lasker and the other members of the shipping board resigned as trustees of the emergency corporation. Joseph W. Powell, who has been serving as a vice president and general manager, was elected president of the corporation. T. L. Clear, formerly treasurer of the Panama canal, was elected as treasurer of the fleet corporation to succeed H. W. Bolling.

Mr. Bolling will remain with the corporation long enough to assist Mr. Clear in becoming familiar with the routine of the office. A successor to Amos Tvesdale, controller, was not announced, but one will be appointed shortly.

"The Colonel's Lady and"

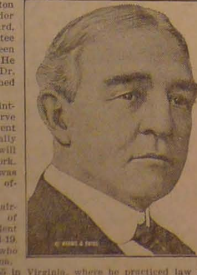

The widening influence of internationalism already is beginning to eradicate the national characteristics that once sharply differentiated the members of the world, according to Miss Jane Addams of Hull House, who returned to Chicago recently from a four-month tour of Europe. Miss Addams, who is president of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, which will hold its third convention in Vienna, was acclaimed in her pilgrimages through Europe as "the foremost woman of America."

It is a very striking fact that there are few marked characteristics that differentiate the women of the world today," said Miss Addams. "The underlying similarity of all women everywhere is remarkable. Of course, there are differences of manners and dress, but those are superficial. Women delegates from 31 nations of the earth were at one conference in Vienna, and that universal likeness seemed an outstanding fact."

Miss Addams was optimistic concerning the future of the woman's league, the purpose of which she says is to "organize women of every nation so effective pressure may be brought to bear upon the governments of the world with a view to forestalling all future wars."

Payne Now Heads Red Cross

Appointment of John Barton Payne, former secretary of the interior and chairman of the shipping board, as chairman of the central committee of the American Red Cross, has been announced at the White House. He took office October 15, succeeding Dr. Livingston Farrand, who has resigned as chairman.

Mr. Payne accepted the appointment on condition that he would serve without salary. Since his retirement from the cabinet he has practically given up professional life, and will give all of his time to Red Cross work. Announcement of the acceptance was made through President Harding, of chief head of the Red Cross.

Dr. Farrand, the retiring chairman, has been elected president of Cornell University. He was president of the University of Colorado, 1914-19. He succeeds Jacob O. Schramm, who is United States district judge.

Judge Payne was born in 1852 in Virginia, where he practiced law and served on the bench. He went to Chicago in 1880.

Westerner Goes to Capital

Edwin S. Booth, the newly appointed auditor for the Department of the Interior, is accredited to Baker, Minn. He is not a native of that state, but was born in 1865 in Iowa, where he was educated and admitted to practice as a lawyer. His life, however, has largely been identified with the younger commonwealth, where he spent upon attaining his majority, and he is known from one end of Montana to the other as an attorney, legislator and progressive citizen. He has been an active participant in all the courts and in the federal courts and member of the legislature. He is considered an authority on legislative procedure, and it is said of him that he has drafted more of the laws of Montana than any other individual in the state. He has had old experience. Once he presented a measure and obtained a conviction on one day, and, at the court hearing on the next day, the court having set his own life during the night.

Legion Endorses Red Cross Roll Call
Staunch support has been pledged to the Roll Call of the American Legion.

At the annual convention, held this week in Kansas City, the following resolutions endorsing the forthcoming enrollment and enlisted the influence of service men were unanimously passed on Nov. 2, the closing day:

"Whereas, The American Red Cross rendered valiant and unflinching service to service men of America during the war, and

Whereas, The American Red Cross is now cooperating to the fullest extent with the American Legion in its efforts to obtain immediate relief for disabled service men, and

Whereas, The American Red Cross is now appealing to the American public for support necessary to carry out its splendid work,

Therefore, be it resolved, that the American Legion in convention assembled endorses the Roll Call of the American Red Cross and call upon the service men of America to lend their influence and best efforts to the Roll Call in recognition of service that has been and is still being rendered."

Reports of organization for the Roll Call which are reaching Central Division Headquarters, here in Chicago, indicate increased interest in Red Cross activity over the preceding year in hundreds of communities. The present program which is being adapted to local needs in serving the people in all of the nine states of Illinois, Iowa, North and South Dakota, Nebraska, Minnesota, Montana, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

That enrollment will show an increase over the past year and result in increased service, to world war veterans and their families, in more public health nursing and greater community activities is the belief of workers in the 748 chapters of the division.

National Convention Echoes
Three tons candy and 200,000 cigarettes were brought to Kansas City by the Knights of Columbus and distributed to the Legionnaires. The K. C. clubrooms bore a "War" sign for all the boys who wore their country's uniform.

A fat negro woman watching the parade had the right spirit. Her husband started ambulating down the street out of the parade, as he was treading her vantage point. When he told her he was getting tired, she waved her two flags vehemently and stepping time to the band music, exclaimed, "Lan' sake! Yo'll's too stiff. Limber yo'self up and get back in de parade."

Iowa had probably the longest line of marchers in the parade, with the exception of Missouri and Kansas, but Illinois and Kansas, but Illinois and Minnesota had more post banners in line than other states. Minnesota had forty, backed Memorial Day.

Duluth's Legion Band, the official band of the American Legion of Minnesota, did itself proud. Some idea of the snap, appearance, and musical ability of the Duluth boys may be gained by considering that out of 56 Legion bands from all over America, which marched in the parade, Minnesota's Legionnaires won first prize of $1,000 and all the honor that the title implies. With this band leader, with more post colors than any other state except Illinois, with a "Gopher" badge pinned on every man's shoulder, the impression left by Minnesota's delegation was second to none of another delegation in the parade.

New Orleans was selected as the meeting place for the 1922 convention of the Legion, and Louisiana Legionnaires declare the coming there will never be forgotten. But most Legionnaires who went to Kansas City are "from Missouri" on that question, for Kansas City folk went the limit to make everybody happy, and the weather man smiled on the 1921 convention of the Legion. New Orleans will have to come in to provide more ideal conditions.
