KING TUT'S COFFIN OPENED; FIND BODY

Crossed Hands of Dazzling Effigy of Great Pharaoh Bear Crook Scepter and Flail.

Luxor, Egypt.—The lid of King Tut's unknown sarcophagus was raised revealing the most splendid gilded inlayman's case ever found in Egypt. It is about three meters (approximately 10 feet) long.

The mummy case bears an effigy in relief of the king, wearing the "Nemes" or sacred headdress like that of the sphinx, decorated with the head of a hawk and a serpent in pure gold, set with lapis lazuli. The hands are crossed, one bearing a crook and scepter and the other a flail.

A pathetic touch is given the effigy by a little crown of withered natural flowers set about the gold headdress.

The lid of the great pink stone coffin was raised about two inches during a test of the hoisting machinery which had been erected in the mortuary chamber by Howard Carter and his assistants, but no attempt was made to disinter the contents, as it had been agreed to have Egyptian government representatives at the opening.

Beyond Mohammed Pasha, under-secretary of public works, and the local provincial governor, only representatives of the Egyptian department of antiquities were present.

Mr. Carter and his principal assistant when the coffin was opened.

Facts on Adjusted Compensation

The following article taken from the American Legion Weekly will give readers a long view of what grounds the Legion is fighting for Adjusted Compensation for the ex-service men.

I. A debt is owing the ex-soldier and his estate.

The war was not won by the aid of a few close, Capital and labor performed services universally recognized to be as patriotic and necessary to victory as the services of soldiers. Men were legally exempt from military duty on that assumption, and were assured that they rendered the greater service to their country by remaining apart from the armed forces as members of the great industrial army which supported the fighting forces.

2. Equal service was not equally rewarded. There was a great discrepancy in pay between those in uniform and the civilian war workers which yielded enormous sums in increased wages and profits to those who stayed at home, but imposed a distinct economic handicap on the soldier.

3. The ex-soldier soldier is bearing his share of the burden of paying off this debt, which was contracted for the transportation of the war, which yielded enormous sums in increased wages and profits to those who stayed at home, but imposed a distinct economic handicap on the soldier.

4. The soldier asks no reward for his services which in uniform. But returning home, he asks that, providing for himself and his family and in bearing his share of the national debt, he be given economic equality because of the superior service. The soldier has not had this equality because of the superior economic position attained during the war by those who did not go.

5. Therefore a debt is owing, and some adjustment of economic value is due the soldier to balance the scale in the economic equality between him and his competitor who did not fight and by reason of that fact was able to improve his economic position at the expense of those who did fight.

II. This debt has been acknowledged by the country and payment has been promised to the veteran.

1. In the national elections of 1916 and 1920 a majority of the legislative offices campaigned and were elected on platforms which contained the statement that an adjustment of compensation was due the veterans and should be paid. This platform Harding, as a candidate, placed himself explicitly on record as favoring the passage of the Adjusted Compensation Bill.

2. Candidates who declined to do this on record in nearly every instance were defeated at the polls.

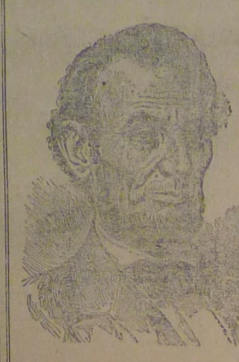

III. The country wants this debt paid.

1. The people of twenty states at general elections have voted in favor of adjusted compensation.

2. The legislatures of twenty three states have petitioned Congress to enact the federal compensation bill.

3. The governors of thirty three States called on the President to sign the Adjusted Compensation Bill.

4. The legislatures of twenty-two states have acted favorably on state legislation of a similar nature.

President Coolidge's Tribute To Abraham Lincoln

A proclamation issued January 30th, 1919, by Calvin Coolidge, then Governor of Massachusetts

FIFESCORE and ten years ago that Divine Providence, which infinite repetition has made only the more a miracle, sent into the world a new life, destined to save a nation. He overcame evil with good. He broke the might of opposition. He restored a race to its birthright. His mortal frame has vanished, but his spirit increases with the increasing years, the richest legacy of the greatest century.

Men show by what they worship what they are. It is no accident that before the great example of American manhood our people stand with respect and reverence. And in accordance with this sentiment our laws have provided for a formal recognition of the birthday of Abraham Lincoln; for in him is revealed our ideal, the hope of our country fulfilled.

Now, therefore, by the authority of Massachusetts, the 12th day of February is set apart as LINCOLN DAY and its observance recommended as befits the beneficiaries of his life and admirers of his character, in places of education and worship wherever our people meet one with another.

GIVEN at the Executive Chamber, in Boston, this 30th day of January, in the year of Our Lord one thousand nine hundred and nineteen, and of the independence of the United States of America the one hundred and forty-third.

CALVIN COOLIDGE

Large Attendance At Creamery Meet

The village hall was crowded to capacity last Saturday afternoon with stockholders of the Pine City Creamery who had gathered for their annual meeting.

The annual reports of the secretary and treasurer were read. The report in detail will be found on page four of this issue of the Polar.

An audit of the company's books and affairs was made, by a certified accountant this year and in his report he praised the officers and management very highly for the efficient manner in which the business of the creamery had been conducted during the past year and complimented Secretary Stried for the excellent way the books of the company were kept.

In reading his report, Mr. Stried went into detail and explained each item of the report which gave the stockholders a thorough understanding of how the business had been conducted.

The terms of two of the directors, S. A. Stried and P. H. Anderson, expired this year and they were re-elected. The election of the officers by the directors resulted in the following: List of the officers and directors will be found in the report on page 4.

The proposition of the creamery joining the pooling association of the state for the purpose of marketing the butter was touched on briefly and it was voted to have the board make a thorough investigation of the matter and then to call a special meeting of the stockholders when a decision will be made.

The meeting was an extremely harmonious one, the large crowd being thoroughly satisfied and well pleased with the way their business had been transacted by the management during the past year.

The creamery has made remarkable progress during the past few years and this is largely due to efficient management. The local association is fortunate in having such a manager in charge of its affairs. The Pine City butter has a place with the best on the market, and this is directly due to Elmer Carlson, butter-maker, who is an expert in his line.

Receives Lincoln Medal

Springfield, Illinois, was the home of the late Abraham Lincoln. His body was interred in that city. A magnificent monument, erected largely by the pennies and small coins of the children of the nation, shelters his body.

An association has been developing through a number of years to stimulate the study of Lincoln's life and the world to mark those places in the city and nearby, which have made sacred by his presence, and otherwise to make it worthy of the world's attention.

The Illinois Watch Company, of Springfield, has undertaken to create interest and increase knowledge and admiration of Lincoln among school children in the United States. As a civic duty and part of the Lincoln program this company is offering a beautiful bronze medal to a pupil in each High School in the United States for writing the best short essay on the life of Lincoln.

One of these medals, which has been on display at Stacker's store was presented to Galen Weinberger of the Senior Class of the Pine City High School on Lincoln's birthday, February 12.

The medal is three inches in diameter. The head of Lincoln is a reproduction of Douglas Vela's famous painting, "Abraham Lincoln," which is the work of Charles Louis Hinton, an artist of note. Both artists are Americans.

A space is provided on the medal for the name of the winner. No advertising of any kind is found on the medal.

The first medal was presented to Lloyd George, on the occasion of his visit to the tomb of Lincoln in the Fall of 1923. Others have been placed in Lincoln collections and he carries throughout the country, but they are not for sale.

SENATE ASKS DENBY TO RESIGN

Ten Republicans and Two Farmer-Laborites Join With Democrats.

Washington.—President Coolidge was advised by the Senate to ask for the resignation of Edwin Denby as secretary of the navy.

A resolution declaring the secretary's retention should be requested "immediately" was adopted 74 to 34, and sent to the White House by special messenger within the hour.

Ten Republicans and two Farmer-Laborites voted for the resolution. The Republican organization fought to the last in present adoption, but went down in defeat after a parliamentary fight almost without precedent in American history.

The request made of President Coolidge by the Senate to ask immediately for the resignation of Edwin Denby as secretary of the navy was refused by the chief executive. He said:

"No official recognition can be given to the passage by the Senate of a resolution relative to their opinion concerning members of the cabinet or other officers under executive control."

"As soon as special counsel can advise me as to the legality of these laws and assemblies were unable to cast their ballots because they were paired with absentees. They announced that if permitted to vote they would support the resolution."

"The dismission of an officer of the government, such as is involved in this case, other than by impeachment, is not an executive function. I regard this as a vital principle of our government."

Play Sandstone Friday Evening

Pine City's old time rivals, the Sandstone, high school basket ball team, will meet the local team in the armory floor tomorrow—Friday evening.

While we will miss former Supp. Schwartz from the coaching lines, the old song of basket ball fans, Editor Colby, will be here to give his moral, as well as his oral support to his team. At any rate the visitors will probably arrive, with a good crowd of boosters in their train and it is up to Pine City to be out in force and enjoy the fun. This is the first contest with Sandstone, on the local floor in two or three years. Fans who don't remember some of the large crowds and the excitement when Pine and Sandstone have met, will be glad to see the game.

Let's show Sandstone we're just as enthusiastic over basket ball here and just as ready to back our team. Let's all go to the game Friday.

Fire Destroys Hotel and Bakery

The Askov hotel and bakery went up in flames Sunday morning of last week and this marks the passing of an old landmark, according to the Askov American. The building was already an old one when the Danes started to colonize there 18 years ago.

About 15 years ago it was moved slightly south of First street and stood at diagonal with the railroad and at that time extensive repairs also were made.

The fire started about 6:30 in the morning and within two hours the entire wooden structure was a mass of ruins, only the foundation being left. The smoke was first noticed by one of the roomers at the hotel, escaping from the bakery which joined the hotel. He immediately sent in an alarm and strenuous efforts were put forth to save the structure but the fire rapidly gained headway and by the time the fire fighters arrived the loss of base and water nothing could be done to save the building so effort was immediately turned toward saving what furniture could be hurriedly carried away.

COLLEGE SKI JUMPER AT LAKE PLACID

Good One on McCoy

Kid McCoy, one of the famous stars of the ring, was in a familiar town in Los Angeles with Cliff Jordan, former boxer, now the traffic officer at Second and Broadway, New York, at the Vermont coliseum. An elderly man in the crowd brought up the Ed Dunkhorst-McCoy fight held years ago. McCoy fought with the man for a few minutes and, turning to Cliff Jordan, said: "Cliff, I want you to meet an old friend of mine from New York state." Turning to the middle-aged man he said: "Cliff Jordan is one of the best boys ever developed on the coast." And then some one smirked. McCoy had introduced Cliff Jordan to his father, Pat Jordan.

SEES NEED OF CODE FOR YOUNG PLAYERS

Believing that the modern game of football as played in the universities has certain characteristics that make it different from the game of the nation provided some of the elements of danger are taken out of it, Maj. Charles D. Daly, former coach of the Army eleven, has worked out a set of rules for boys under ten and another for boys between the ages of ten and fifteen. Those codes were presented at the time of the N. C. A. A. meeting with the recommendation that they be inserted in the intercollegiate rule books, but no action was taken. "Almost everywhere you go in the fall," said Major Daly, "you see footballers handling a football. The desire to emulate their 'big brothers' is everywhere evident and I believe that the modified codes of rules, which would give the smaller and younger boys a game which is adapted to their needs and which will safeguard them against injuries which young boys are subjected to if they play the intercollegiate game without the protection afforded the intercollegiate players. "For boys between ten and fifteen I would suggest that in order to eliminate a rule be provided whereby a player carrying the ball can cry 'held' and the play cease, the situation being the same as if the referee had blown the whistle. "For boys under ten I would advise that the game be made a kicking and passing game only, and that tackling, throwing and interference be prohibited. Also that running with the ball be prohibited. All kicks and passes should be headed. I would suggest that there be a formation similar to the usual scrimmage formation and that from this the ball be either thrown or kicked forward to a player on the same side, who must hold the ball in order for his side to retain the ground. The attacking side would be given four attempts to retain the ball by gaining ten yards. The rule should give the defense an opportunity to knock the ball down or catch and beat it in order to get possession. The ball would progress in this manner until the ball down or it does under the rules for older players. "I think that the adoption of some such rules would tend to increase the interest in the game by giving the boys of this age a distinct set of rules different from those in control of the college game."

Old Players Serve as Polo Grounds Officers

There are three ex-hall players serving in the capacity of special officers at the Polo grounds who once held exalted positions in the national game. They are Amos Hustle, Dan Brothers and Bill Dalton. Rustle ranks as one of the greatest pitchers of all time. He had a fast ball controllable only with Walter Johnson's smooch and a curve with a whizzing pop. Had he been fortunate enough to have been a boy twenty or thirty years later than he was he would have drawn a $20,000 salary and had bonuses, worthy series cuts and vaudeville contracts to avail his bankroll. But Rustle was of the pioneers. He played his league baseball when salaries were low and audiences light. His steel-muscle arm gradually crumbled with the years. His blinding speed left him and his curves no longer had a "break." So he drifted out of baseball altogether and at last became a laborer in a lumber yard. Working with the section gangs he had time to think of the glory that had been his and to curse an unkindly fate for having been born too soon. Finally John McGraw heard of his plight and brought him to New York for a "cushy" job and the pleasure of being with men who loved the game as he had loved it.

Called Upon a Shinker

A young lady at Navin field last summer said to her escort: "Why doesn't that other man catch some of the balls? It isn't fair to let the little fellow catch them all." "What do you mean?" asked her escort. "He isn't supposed to catch the ball." "Why I mean," said this fat young thing, "that big man in the blue uniform with the big life-saving apparatus in front of him. Why doesn't he do his share of the work?" "Oh, that is the umpire," an awestruck her escort. "He isn't supposed to catch the ball." "Well, I don't care, it isn't fair and he is much bigger and not nearly so nice looking."

Here's the Veteran Who Picks Stars of Football

Rustle has been opposed to McGraw on the diamond many times. John Rustle, the burly man who had been the greatest pitcher of his day and gained the greatest respect in the baseball world, died at an old age.

Miami's Racing Plant Is to Open in January, 1929

The newly organized Miami Jockey club, which is headed by Joseph M. Sneed, began the actual construction of its half-million-dollar racing plant recently. It is planned to have the track and the grandstand, as well as the other buildings, finished in time to inaugurate the first meeting January 5, 1929. This meeting will consist of 45 days of consecutive racing.

Barring Sport Writers Penits Gotham Boxing

More than half of the working newspaper men in New York are now barred out of the Madison Square arena press box by the ruling of the boxing commission that seats near the judges on two sides of the ring cannot be occupied. The action is seen as an attempt to retaliate for criticism of the commission by most of the boxing writers. As a result, it is understood that a state assemblyman is preparing a bill to stop boxing.

ODDS AND ENDS OF SPORT

Indoor tennis is gaining in popularity in England and Australia. Frip is now engaged in a program of "hardening up." And you must admit he has hit it pretty soft. The famous Schuylkill river stretch of water at Philadelphia will be the scene of the annual Chubb cup race May 31, in which Columbus—present cup holder—will oppose Princeton and Pennsylvania eight-oared shell crews. Next fall on November 8 Princeton will clash Harvard at Cambridge, November 15 Yale will upset at the Harvard stadium, and November 22 Yale will entertain Harvard in the New Haven bowl. Battlers are at hand to show that a tennis player will run five miles in playing five sets of tennis and while we are not exactly dumfounded at the revelation we must confess a limited amount of mild surprise.

That Was Different

Little Jimmy was suffering from a childish ailment, and the doctor ordered some medicine in the form of powder. "Now listen, Jimmy," said his fond mother, preparing to administer one of the powders in a teaspoon, "take this at once and you will soon be better."

But Jimmy was not so easily won over. "No, I don't want to take it," he whined. "I don't like medicine, and I won't take it."

"Why, Jimmy," pleaded his mother, "you never heard me complain about a little powder, did you?" "No, and nor would I," was the bright child's starting response. "It could just put it on my face like you do, but I want to swallow it."

Woman's Wisdom

He—What do you think, Oldly? She—Not to be reminded of it.

Bloviata, a New Word

There is a word which, so far as I know, is local to Washington, and largely to its newspaper and political fraternity. The word "bloviata," it is not in the dictionary. (I have just looked and found there is no word of which the first four letters are "blovi.") You pass from "blowing" immediately to "blow." But although the word is not in the dictionary, those whose ears have quick apprehension of the meaning inherent in sounds, will already have guessed its significance.

When a public man, especially one rather given to "speaking," is invited to inform and address the annual dinner of this or that, we may say he has gone out of town to bloviata. The word carries an implication of ornate, rotund speech and partly of expansion of the ego.—Mark Sullivan in McNaught's Monthly.

One Reason for Nervous Disorders

YOUR doctor can tell you that nervous disorders are very common among Americans. One reason for this is found in the fact that they are great coffee drinkers.

Coffee contains caffeine, a drug, prescribed by doctors as an emergency stimulant for the heart and nervous system. It has a tendency to increase blood pressure, develop heart irregularities and cause digestive disturbances.

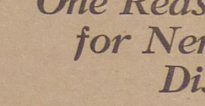

If you feel that coffee is not good for you, serve Postum as your meal-time drink. Postum is a pure cereal beverage that refreshes and satisfies. It is absolutely free from caffeine or any other irritating drug.

Try a cup of Postum with your dinner or supper tonight. Postum is sold everywhere.

Postum for Health

"There's a Reason"

Postum comes in two forms: Postum and Postum Cereal. Postum is made from a special blend of wheat and is prepared instantly in the cup by adding it with boiling water. Postum Cereal (10 packages) for those who prefer the flavor brought out by boiling for 20 minutes. The one or the other is about one-half cup a cup.

Two names are mentioned as possible candidates for commissioner of the second district. These are Ed Hakes and Henry Anderson.

Friends of Mr. Hakes have urged him to make a try for the place. He is not very enthusiastic and states he hasn't given the matter a thought. It is undecided whether he will run for the place or not. His friends should urge him to do so.

Voters of the town of Pokegama are boosting for Henry Anderson for commissioner and if they have their way he will probably be a candidate. He is clerk of Pokegama town board and a hard worker for his township. He is undecided at present and will await developments before making any announcement.

The announcement that Can Hancock might not run for re-election has aroused his friends and he has rallied to his support and insists that he not retire yet. He is a little undecided at present but will announce his plans in The Poker in the near future.

Adolph Watson has withdrawn in favor of Frank Drimel. Frank is taking things easy and awaiting developments.

Bob Derr, former commissioner, has practically decided to enter the race and expects to file for commissioner. Mr. Derr has been mayor of the village the past year and will probably be a candidate for reelection to that position also. If Bob should run for both positions he will be kept busy campaigning for the next few months.

Fred Deegertson of Aakov is being urged to run for commissioner in the fourth district. Fred is a former member of the county board and made a fine record as a county commissioner. He is not anxious to enter the race but may be prevailed upon to do so.

Frank Stepan, present commissioner of the fourth, has made no announcement that we know of, but if he should decide to run for reelection and Fred also throws his hat in the ring, it will make a keen contest in the fourth. Both men are good politicians and have a good following.

Curtis Johnson of Rush City has everyone guessing as to his plans this year. Many are of the opinion he is going to enter the gubernatorial race and others think he will run for congressman from this district.

If he enters the political arena as a candidate for governor, Curtis Johnson has many friends over the state and is one of Minnesota's prominent citizens. He is well known as a public speaker and his administration, as president of the state fair, the past year, has brought him prominently to the front. Should he decide to enter the race he will be a strong contender.

Actual Average Price	45.85

The actual average price of each patron will be different as it depends upon the time of the year that he delivers the bulk of his cream and also whether his cream is first or second grade. For example the most of our patrons that have their cows fresh in the fall show an average price of around 51 cents for the year. Other patrons who have their cows fresh in the spring and bring in very little butterfat in the winter and the bulk of it second grade don't get in at the high market and show a much lower average price.

In like manner a creamery that has a large winter run and very little second grade cream will show a larger average price than one that has a greater summer run and handles more second grade cream even though the actual price at each pay day for the two creameries were exactly the same.

This report covers the calendar year of 1922. Respectfully submitted,
 B. B. BRIDGES,
 Secretary.

The War on Waste

Waste is the result of misdirected energy. It is like dirt—matter out of place.

The history of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) success may be summed up in two words: "Industrial Housewifery", which is another way of saying "Eliminating Waste."

In a big organization such as the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) there are innumerable opportunities to waste time, effort and material.

By intensified organization, by providing proper facilities, abundant raw materials, pleasant working conditions, and by encouraging initiative—the Company makes it possible for every man in its employ to develop the best there is in him and to conclusively prove his worth by his achievements.

Through intensive study and extensive research and experiments, the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) has found ways to recover more than a score of useful products from waste—products that fill a definite place in the commercial or domestic affairs of mankind.

Time was when gasoline was waste in the petroleum industry. Today, it is the major product.

Perhaps the outstanding example of Standard Oil Company (Indiana) achievements, in eliminating waste, is in the increased yield of gasoline per barrel of crude made possible by processes discovered and developed in its laboratories.

This achievement is the greater because of the imperative urge for more gasoline.

In 1918 there were 6,146,617 cars and trucks registered in the United States. In 1922 there were 12,239,114—or an increase of nearly 100%.

In 1918 the industry produced 325 million barrels of crude, as against 501 million barrels in 1922—an increase of only 53% plus.

Statistics show that while less than 10 gallons of gasoline were recovered per barrel of crude in 1918 that the industry increased the yield to more than 12 gallons per barrel in 1922.

This increased yield was due largely to the process as developed by this Company, and without such an increased yield the price of gasoline unacceptably would be higher.

Thus the war on waste, waged so intensively by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana), redounded to the lasting benefit of mankind and also enable the Management of this Company to give a satisfactory accounting of its stewardship to the stockholders now numbering 43,286, more than 11,000 of whom are employes.

How Long Would This Load of Coal Last In Your Range?

Some ranges are hungry, positively hungry for fuel. They eat it up as though it didn't cost anything.

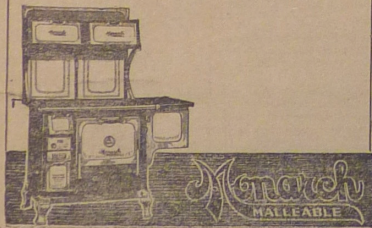

When your range gets too hungry it is cheaper to get rid of it.

But the next time you buy, get a range that doesn't need more and more fuel as it grows older.

Buy a Monarch Malleable Range. It gives the same satisfactory service at the same low fuel cost after ten or twenty years as when it is new.

If you know the real facts you wouldn't even consider anything except a range built of malleable iron, riveted tight and solid to heavy steel plates, protected safely against rusting or burning out.

Come in and let us show you how a range ought to be built—and how the Monarch is built. The surprising part of it is that some of the ranges built in the ordinary way sell for more money than the Monarch.

Sick for Ten Years Gained 60 Pounds by Use of PE-RU-NA Read This

Fur Jabots Come Into Prominence

Examples of the art of costume design from two of the world's greatest dressmakers, Callot and Vionnet, are interesting. The Vionnet models illustrate new and clever variations of the classic, which Vionnet herself introduced in the past and which have been so much played upon, not only by themselves, but by many other great dressmakers, that it would seem no one could evolve anything new from them.

Mr. John Wick

No matter how long you have been sick or how much you have suffered, you must not give up hope. Mr. John Wick of Mamouree Falls, Wisconsin, did not and is a well man today. In September, 1918, he had catarrh of the stomach for two years. Nothing did me any good. I grew worse until a friend advised me to try Pe-Ru-Na. I had found the first bottle. I am entirely cured. My weight was down to 135 pounds and now I weigh 195 pounds. I have used very little medicine for the last ten years.

The condition known as catarrh is not confined to the nose and throat. It may be the cause of many diseases there are mucous membranes and is responsible for a multitude of troubles. Coughs and colds, catarrh as well as stomach and bowel disorders.

Do as John Wick did. Keep Pe-Ru-Na in the house. It stimulates digestion, aids in throwing off the poisonous secretions, cleanses the blood, increases the resistance to disease and promotes good health generally.

Insist upon having genuine Pe-Ru-Na in either tablet or liquid form. Your dealer has it.

EGGS GIVE CREAM TIGHT RACE IN BARNUM COUNTY

Farmers Paid $2,211.68 for Eggs in December and $7,929.36 for Eggs in January

Cream and eggs continue to make good as "leaders" for the farmers of the Barnum community in Carlton county. The disparity in the financial receipts from the two products is as great as most people imagine.

For instance, in December $7,929.36 was paid to Barnum farmers for their cream. Receipts from eggs by Barnum farmers for the same time amounted to $2,211.68. In the three communities of Barnum, Maitowa, and Atkinson the average price paid for all cream in December, 1923, was 62.9 cents a pound as against 53.9 cents a pound in December of 1922.

E. E. Bauer of Barnum, a banker-poet, received $54,817 for eggs marketed in December. Charles E. Doherty second high farmer, was paid $28,580 for his December eggs and reports a record of $100,000 for the year. Several other poultry keepers had receipts of the month for more than $2,000.

STATE SEED SHOW TO BE HELD AT OWATONNA

Minnesota Crop Improvement Association to Present Program at Same Time

Farmers on 500-acre program in the annual State Seed Show and convention of the Minnesota Crop Improvement Association at Owatonna, February 19 and 21, have arranged for entertainment and recreation as well as for study and work. The booklet shows a low berth-like yoke of the mawse face and insertion panels running up and down the chemise foundation which supports the fan panels.

These little plated fans are used in shirt collars with success on a silver dress, the fans being of silver net. Vionnet attaches these fans to each end, using them so long that they form the shirt's collar, the dress falling as they do from a low waistline almost to the skirt hem. With a smart and more closely the shape of the closed fan than the open fan.

Simple Frocks for Spring

The panel dress is still much in use; that is, the dress made of a series of tabs or panels, most of the panels elaborately embroidered in Persian or Chinese designs. The colors of these embroideries are of the Oriental.
