WHY DRUGGISTS RECOMMEND SWAMP-ROOT

For many years druggists have watched with much interest the remarkable record maintained by Dr. Kilmers Swamp-Root, the great kidney, liver and bladder medicine.

It is a physician's prescription. It is a physician's recommendation. It is a physician's prescription.

Swamp-Root is a wonderful medicine. It helps the kidney, liver and bladder do their work more effectively.

Swamp-Root has stood the test of years. It is sold by all druggists on its merit and it should help you. No other kidney medicine has ever been equal to it.

Be sure to get Swamp-Root and start treatment at once.

Send for our free booklet with first to test this great preparation, and ten cents to Dr. Kilmers & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample of Swamp-Root and receive our free copy of this paper—Advertisement.

Rock Creek News Departm't

Walter Carlson returned from Chicago last Friday morning where he spent a few days last week.

Leonard Johnson went to Duluth Wednesday for a few days visit at the home of his sister.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard McNeight Sunday at the home of his brother, Glenn, in Finlayson.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Johnson, and Mr. and Mrs. O. Hartz and daughter drove to Arbythe for a visit at the home of Mrs. Johnson's sister. Mrs. Holmes returned with them for a visit at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. N. J. Bornhoff.

Albert Anderson left for the twin cities the first of the week where he expects to be employed.

Mrs. Wm. Doran suffered a severe injury last Saturday morning when she slipped and fell breaking her leg. The injured member is getting along as well as could be expected.

Fire destroyed the garage and woodshed on the Harry Mills farm, east of town, early last Tuesday morning. The fire was discovered by Harry Mills Jr., after he had been awakened by a loud explosion. Mr. Mills and Harry were able to back their Buicks out before the flames reached it although it was badly scorched and will need new coat of paint. The building also contained a couple of loads of wood, some oats and small tools. It was covered by $200 insurance. The fact that there was no wind and the quick arrival of Police Carlson and his son was the only thing that saved the house and other buildings.

The origin of the fire cannot be determined.

Miss Marie Tate left last Friday for International Falls where she expects to be employed.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Holm and daughter drove to the twin cities last Friday, returning home Sunday.

The Lutheran ladies aid sewing club meets at the home of Mrs. Gertie Johnson this afternoon—Thursday.

The M. E. ladies sewing club met at the home of Mrs. Geo. Schmidt on Wednesday afternoon of this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Herb Baker spent Sunday in Braham at the home of relatives.

Mr. and Mrs. A. Knedel and children spent Sunday at Mille Lacs lake.

Herb Baker and Tom Adams drove to Mora Monday evening where they attempted the climb of the "40 steps."

Ted Erickson came up from the cities for a visit over the week end with friends and relatives.

Mrs. Frank Stevens returned home last Sunday from Minneapolis where she has been receiving medical treatment for the past month or more. Her condition is greatly improved.

The John and Gust Erickson families spent Sunday at the Olaf Erickson home.

Mr. and Mrs. Knedel and children and Mrs. Baker drove to Cambridge Wednesday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Zentner of Minneapolis spent Sunday at the home of her brother, John Lindgren.

Fred Allgood finished putting on a new roof on his barn this week. Pete Carlson was in charge of the work.

Mr. Jack Herren of Brainerd spent the latter part of last week at the home of her parents here, Mr. and Mrs. Gust Erickson.

Tom Adametz was a visitor in the twin cities over the week end.

Friends broke into the John Nelson blacksmith shop last Saturday evening. It is thought they were after the crank for the gas pump outside, but they were unable to find it. When not able to find the crank they tried cutting the hose but the steel spring inside stopped them from cutting it completely off.

Mr. and Mrs. Cory Waddell and Mr. and Mrs. Childs and children of Minneapolis spent Sunday at the George C. Schmidt home.

With all the mean tricks that anyone could pull was done at the A & B Garage last Saturday night. During the night someone cut off the hose on the free air plug. For what reason anyone would do this is hard to realize. Mr. and Mrs. replaced the hose and the culprit again visited the garage and done the same thing to the second hose on Monday night. It certainly is a small trick and the offender should be proud of himself.

Gordon Anderson and Herb Baker who have been running the A & B Garage for the past three years dissolved partnership last Friday when Mr. Anderson bought out Mr. Baker's share of the business. Mr. Anderson will continue in the business alone and give the same satisfactory service. Mr. Baker is undecided as to his future plans.

MANY FAMOUS MEN STUPID IN SCHOOL

Napoleon, Blucher and Darwin Slow Scholars.

Heidelberg.—German historians defining the distance between the date of the "Peas's Bad Day" and the "Tom Sawyer's" of literature, became waid figures in achievements of various kinds and especially on the battlefield.

Napoleon was particularly bad, but because of his campaigns and accomplishments which brought him everlasting fame. Napoleon, it is recorded, was always a slow learner, son of an army officer, teacher, and when he was a military academy student he was known as one of the most stupid young men in his or any of the other classes.

One of Napoleon's opponents in war later years, the Duke of Wellington, was known as a lazy youngster, and in his school days his thoughts always appeared to be preoccupied with books or study. General Butler was another who, according to German custom, was known as a "last place" pupil, one of the class relegated to the rear seats in the schools because of their unwillingness to learn.

Charles Darwin never cared much for his schoolroom tasks, "but always appeared more interested in birds and animals than in the great outdoors," and was known as a slow learner. The other youngsters in having a weakness for chasing every cat or dog in sight.

THE COUNTRY

Mr. Curtis M. Johnson continues to violate all the principles of present-day politics in his campaign for the Republican nomination for governor. Instead of urging the voters to fly at one another's throats, he is actually telling them to get together! The thing is perfectly unheard of.

Well, why not? Why not try getting together rather than pulling apart? What is the idea of setting the grange and the city at odds anyway? Their interests are common. What helps one helps the other. No great structure ever was built so long as half the workmen had up the walls while half thought them down. Mr. Johnson, of course, is taking the very unorthodox way for a politician.
The rule is to tell the people that somebody else is robbing them; and to create as much suspicion and bad temper as possible. But that Mr. Johnson is talking the utmost good sense cannot be denied. His entry into politics is different because it is very different

DAWES' TERMS OR NEW WAR

BELGIUM SEEKS TO MEDIATE DIFFERENCES BETWEEN BRITAIN AND FRANCE.

Berlin—A proclamation issued here, by the government, urges many people against the extremists who oppose acceptance of the Dawes reparation experts' report and makes this one of the chief government issues in the recent elections.

Extremists are at full war with the reparation experts' report and makes this one of the chief government issues in the recent elections.

The proclamation points out that the report would be a wise way to settle the dispute between Germany and France.

The experts' report turned down by the extremists, the proclamation declares, is wise, inasmuch as the long and difficult negotiations between Germany's enemies under conditions more grave than if the report were accepted. The statement concludes with the statement that only persons leaving the country from utter ruin is a abide by the policy outlined by Brigadier General Dawes and his colleagues.

DE TRAPS 27 LAKE SHIPS

MEN PUT ON SHORT RATIONS DUE TO BLOCKADE OF CANAL.

Duluth—Crews of 27 lake and river steamers and tugs and harbor boats have been placed on short rations according to a wireless message received here by Wm. Edmont, an amateur operator. The action was taken as a preventive measure.

This was thought to be no immediate danger to the ships marooned outside of the huge ice drift which is blocking entrance to the harbor.

Bagdad—Two deputies known to favor ratification of the treaty between Great Britain and the kingdom of Irak, were stabbed.

EX CABINET MEMBERS ACCUSED.

Washington—Three members of the late President Wilson's cabinet, former democratic senators, are accused of having plotted before the war began to prosecute claims against the government within two years after leaving office. Secretary of War Weeks, referred to the same former cabinet members weeks ago, was William Gibbs McAdoo, A. Mitchell Palmer and Thomas Watt Gregory.

I LOVE YOU

SYNOPSIS.—Solomon Binkus, veteran scout and interpreter, and his son, Tom, travel up the Jack River, passing through Horse Valley, New York, to the camp of Indians who are settlers of an Indian uprising, results from a band of Indians who are rebels against the Colonists of England. There is a fight, in which Jack distinguishes himself.

CHAPTER I.—Continued.

"We didn't have no more trouble with them. I put one o' them boys on a horse an' he led him up the valley to help us. The Indian captain was here. I tol' 'em to go to straighten out their faces and go with Jack an' his father down to Fort Stanwix. There were kind o' lew weary an' excited, but there was two who'd fixed 'em back to the pastur," said Jack. "That's good," the boy answered. "Why don't you say it?" "It's a long way off."

"Do you like good-looking girls?" "I'd rather look at the them cat." "Well, there are many in London."

"I'd love to show them a real hero." "Well, I can tell that. I just call me Jack Irons. I'd like to see you. But first you want to know how I look. I am not a fighter."

"I am sure that your character is as good as your face."

"Gosh! I hope it ain't dark colored," said Jack.

"I hope it is about you when you took my hand and helped me on the pony—or nearly all. You are a gentleman."

"I hope so."

"You are a Presbyterian?"

"No—Church of England."

"I was sure of that. I have seen Indians and Shakers, but I have never seen a Presbyterian."

"The sun was low and the company ahead were stopping to make a camp for the night, the boy and girl dismounted. She turned facing him and asked:

"Didn't mean it when you said that I was good-looking—did you?"

The bashful youth had imagination and like many lads of his time, a round and doubtful if this history would have been written but for an accidental and highly interesting circumstance.

In the first party young Jack Irons had been captured by the Indian captive, but had helped everyone to get away; then there seemed to be no riding horse for him. His mother, in consequence of the stranger's mount's being lame, the girl was silent for a time after the colt had settled down, now and then wiping tears from her eyes. By and by she asked:

"Today I fear the colt while you ride?"

"Oh, no, I am not tired," was his answer.

"I want to do something for you." "Why?"

"I am so grateful. I feel like the kid cat. I am trying to express my feelings. I think I know, why the Indian women do the drudgery."

As she looked at him her dark eyes were wide.

"I have done little," said he. "It is Mr. Binkus who rescued you. We live in a wild country, where savages and the white folk have to protect each other."

"Well, I am to it!"

"I never saw or expected to see men like you," she went on. "I have read of them in books, but I never hoped to see them and talk to them. You are like the fairies."

"Then I shall say that you are like the fair lady for whom they fought."

"I will not ride and see you walling."

"I am so grateful. I feel like the kid cat. I am trying to express my feelings. I think I know, why the Indian women do the drudgery."

"I never saw or expected to see men like you," she went on. "I have read of them in books, but I never hoped to see them and talk to them. You are like the fairies."

"Then I shall say that you are like the fair lady for whom they fought."

"I will not ride and see you walling."

"I am so grateful. I feel like the kid cat. I am trying to express my feelings. I think I know, why the Indian women do the drudgery."

As she looked at him her dark eyes were wide.

"I have done little," said he. "It is Mr. Binkus who rescued you. We live in a wild country, where savages and the white folk have to protect each other."

"Well, I am to it!"
