SAD DEATH OF BEROUN YOUTH

A sad death occurred at Beroun last Sunday morning, when Marshall Prihoda, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prihoda of Mission Creek town ended his life.

The young man had been complaining recently of pains and thought he had an attack of appendicitis. He was taken to Hinckley by a brother on Sunday to see a doctor, but the doctor was out.

Early Sunday morning he got up and took a gun. He went a few rods from the house, placed the gun in a hole in the ground and arranged a stick on the trigger. He took the barrel of the gun in his hands and worked the trigger by the use of a foot pressed on the stick. The charge entered the forehead and death was instantaneous. His family found the body about 10 o'clock in the morning.

It is thought that despondency over ill health was the cause of the rash act as his folks think of no other reason. He had been to a neighbor's house the evening before and seemed to be in good spirits. His brother went to the Beroun district with members of the neighbor family but Marshall remained there for a time and then returned to his own home, later going to bed.

Funeral services were held from the home by the Bohemian lodge Tuesday morning at ten o'clock and the remains were laid to rest in the Park cemetery east of Beroun. The pall bearers were Edw. Vlasek, Anton Vlasek, Fred Kubesh, A. Rohlf, Tom Plasek and Chas. Cerny.

Marshall Prihoda was born in Iowa, August 5, 1908. He came to Pine county with his parents nine years ago. He had many friends in his home community who join with the paper in extending sympathy to the bereaved family. He leaves his parents and three brothers, George, Richard and Joe, and one sister, Mary.

Card of Thanks
We wish to express our sincere thanks to our many friends and neighbors for their kindness and sympathy at the sudden loss of our beloved son and brother. Especially do we wish to thank Mrs. Ernest Rohlf and the following: Fred Kubesh, Anton Vlasek, Eddie Vlasek, Anton Kacer, Frank Pistulka, Alvin Rohlf, Lester Rohlf, Henry Parker, Ernest Rohlf, Fred Rohlf, Lena J. Rosen, Charlie Corney, Tom Plasek, Emil Pangrac, Eddie Ouradnik, Aola Ouradnik and George Pangrac.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Prihoda and children.

Foot Nearly Severed

The twelve year old son of Tony Dlabovsky of Milanov, who has been visiting his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Janousek, received a serious injury Tuesday afternoon.

He was helping his grandfather with the wood saw when he was struck in putting a log on the saw rack. He lost his balance and threw one foot up against the saw. The point of the foot was partly severed.

Dr. Wiseman was called and gave him temporary aid. He sent the injured boy to the Rush City hospital to Dr. Holmes, who informed Dr. Wiseman this morning that the foot had been saved and he thought it could be saved.

Bids Wanted

Sealed proposals will be received by the Town Board of Kookagam Township, Pine County, Minn., at the Town Hall at said township until July 31, 1924 at 1 o'clock P. M. for the construction of one 24 foot steel beam span bridge over Mission Creek between Section 8 & 9, T. 33 N. R. 24 Pine County.

Plans and specifications may be examined at the office of the county Highway Engineer, Pine City, Minn.

Bids must be completed by certified checks or cashiers' bond payable to Town Treasurer of Kookagam Township for at least 10 per cent of the proposed bond and reserves the right to reject any and all bids and to waive any defects.

By order of the Town Board of Kookagam, Pine County, Minn.
Date, July 30, 1924.
Bernis Hady Chairman
Hox 331 Pine City

BIG PROGRAM FOR BEROUN

The Beroun fair association is already for the big Fourth of July celebration to be staged there tomorrow. No effort has been spared by the committee to make the day a big success, and present indications are it will be a dandy.

The day's festivities will open with a sun salute at sunrise. The Hinckley band will furnish music for the day and will usher in the sports program at 10:30 the program being as follows and open to all:

At 2:30 there will be a ball game between Hinckley and Brook Park members of the Eastern Minnesota baseball league.

The evening's program will start with an exhibition boxing match between Rink Von Busch and Tom Havel of 6 rounds. The match will be followed by dancing in the pavilion, music by the Club Novelty of Pine City, the Gang with the Life, and an old time dance in Prochaska's hall. There also will be a dance in the pavilion in the afternoon, music by the Club Novelty.

Gowns in New Home

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Oman moved into their new home last Saturday, which is practically completed. The new residence is located on the lot between the motor and Sobotta residences.

The new house has 6 rooms, three down and three upstairs. A large living room extends across the front, connected by an arch with a dining room. The kitchen is equipped with every convenience, cupboards, enameled sink, drain board, etc., with a large closed adjoining.

Three fire bedrooms and the bath comprise the upstairs. Each room has a spacious clothes closet. The interior of the bathroom is white enamel and the latest fixtures.

There is a large basement with concrete floor, laundry tubs and a hot water plant will supply the heat. The house is finished throughout with the woodwork, wainscot and floor of oak. A large porch extends across the front.

Frank Bukachek was in charge of the construction and done by Chas. Slicher. The new house makes a beautiful home and the cost was very reasonable when the equipment and finishing is taken into consideration.

Forest Gereaux is Married

Announcement of the marriage of Forest Gereaux, son of Mr. and Mrs. George of Pine City, was received recently. His marriage took place in St. Paul the forepart of last month. He and his bride and friends by surprise and wrote his mother after he was married.

Forest graduated from the city high school four years ago and has been working in the city since that time. He now works for the C. S. Lumber company there.

Friends here were surprised to learn of the wedding and will look forward to greeting his bride on his return. He is glad to extend congratulations and best wishes.

Fred Spearin at Carlton
Fred Spearin is stationed at Carlton for the time being. He is inspector for the Northern Pacific on the railroads. He has been working in the construction work during the local crew during Fred's absence.

Harte Withdraws As Rep. Candidate

H. W. Harte of Brook Park has "withdrawn" as a candidate for the office of state representative from Pine County. He filed his notice of withdrawal with Auditor Edin last Monday afternoon and his name will not appear on the ballot in November.

Mr. Harte was nominated for the office, with Jos Therrien present incumbent, at the Primary last month. Harte received 1144 votes, Therrien 1685, and Steen was third with 908.

Since Mr. Harte's withdrawal there has been some discussion as to whether or not Steen's name would appear on the ballot as the next high man. There is no provision for anything like that in the election law, however, and Auditor Edin has written the auditor general for an opinion regarding the matter.

The following opinion was given by Lyndon A. Smith, former attorney general in July 9, 1914.

This office holds that where a person who is nominated at a primary election drops out and there is another candidate who received the votes at the primary election next in number to those who are nominated such a candidate should be placed in the position of a nominee and there is no vacancy as the word vacancy is used in the election statute. When there are other persons voted for at the primary to supply the ballot, then the ballot is to be filled up from the persons voted for at the primary election in case of nonpartisan offices.

Lyndon A. Smith, Attorney General.

Sheep Growers Will Meet

The sheep growers organization will hold their annual meeting at Hinckley on Monday, June 7, at 1 A. M. We would urge that all of those interested in sheep breeding make it a point to attend. The disposition of wool will be one of the subjects discussed and this subject should be of interest to all sheep breeders. There was a considerable difference in the pool price and the local dealers price last year, therefore we would like to see as many sheep breeders as possible at the meeting, if they are interested or not in wool pooling. Come and bring your opinions with you and express them at this meeting.

J. C. Hancock, President.

Twelve Day Old Baby Buried

Funeral services were held at the home yesterday afternoon for the twelve day old baby daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Scherlock. The child was born at the home of her mother on July 18th and passed away 12 days later. The sympathy of friends is extended to the bereaved family at the loss of the little one.

Many Attend Company Picnic

A steady downpour of rain greeted the Zinsmaster company picnicers or their annual picnic which was held in Pine City last Saturday. Fortunately Sunday was nice sunny day and the picnic was held in the morning. The employees of the two plants, Duluth and St. Paul, each have a club and there is considerable rivalry over sports. The Duluth team won the Kittenball game on Saturday and the St. Paul team won the Sunday game.

There was a large crowd here for the picnic Sunday, which was held at the fair grounds, and many local folks were over to enjoy the program. The Pine City band attended the picnic and furnished music helping considerably to liven the occasion.

Mr. Zinsmaster, president of the company, was extremely pleased over the hospitality extended to his company and wishes through the columns of The Pioneer to thank the village for the kind reception shown them, and the army management, the development association and fair association and especially the band boys.

FAIL TO STOP BANDIT CAR

It sounded like a small sized Fourth of July celebration in Pine City early last Tuesday morning, when Marshall Biedermann, with the assistance of Clarence Gottry, tried to stop a car.

The marshal got a phoned call from Hinckley about four o'clock in the morning. The Hinckley marshal stated he had seen a man in the act of breaking into the power office there. The fellow ran to a car and headed south. The Hinckley marshal had fired one shot and then his gun jammed.

Mr. Biedermann had about ten minutes to get to the bridge. On the way past the Gahl oil station he halted at Gottry's house there, to see if the car in case it got past the bridge.

There was a car parked on one side of the road at the south end of the bridge. The car was a 1922 model, with a horse and buggy and when he saw the approaching car he parked on the other side of the road. The bandit didn't even hesitate but passed between the car and the buggy with the speed of an express train.

Marshall Biedermann tried to halt them, but without result and he then emptied his revolver at the fleeing car. He feels certain that at least one of the men entered the rear of the automobile.

Gottry also took a few shots at the machine as it speeded past the oil station. Marshall Biedermann then phoned the Hinckley marshal but he could not be located in time to stop them there. Mr. Biedermann boarded a car from Hinckley and returned to Pine City but no trace of the bandits could be found.

Chas. Spicker, whose house adjoins the highway, heard the car speed past and saw the window in time to see the car speed past and hear the fusillade.

Farm Bureau News

During the past month the egg marketing has taken nine and one half days of the County Agent's time. Twenty-three evening meetings have been held throughout the county where the egg marketing of the proposed Egg Marketing Association has been discussed. Fifty-seven farm visits have been made. Fifty-five of those where the agent tested soil in preparation for raising alfalfa another year. This is a considerable amount of the alfalfa campaign started last winter.

The part attendance of all the meetings held in the county during the past month is 1485 which shows that considerable interest is shown in the work. Achievement Day held at Hinckley by the Clothing Project has been very well attended. This is the first project finished since the extension work started in the county last fall and we feel that the women have done very well. We have several requests for the continuation of this work but we are sorry to state that due to the war we are unable to continue where there has been no work done it will be impossible for us to get any more help from the University Extension before next year, if then. We would like to state that any ladies that would like to have this work done should make the request known to the County Agent's office and we will try to locate some local leader to help you out.

Arrangements have been made for Cold Pack Canning Schools and demonstrations to be held at the following places during the second week of July:

- Willow River, Tues., July 8
  - Milwaukee, Wed., July 9
  - Askov, Thurs., July 10
  - Hinckley, Fri., July 11

Arrested For Jelinek Robbery

George Edmondson, about thirty years of age, was taken into custody by the St. Paul police for Sheriff Hawley last week, and arrested on charge of being implicated in the robbery of the Jelinek store of Pine City.

Sheriff Hawley went to St. Paul last Saturday and returning he had the prisoner the following day. He was given a hearing before Justice Chas. Stephan when he waived examination and pleaded not guilty. He was bound over to the district court and sheriff took him to Stillwater that afternoon where he was lodged in jail to await trial at the next term of court.

Sheriff Hawley had made a couple of trips to St. Paul, following the robbery, and the police department there gave him every assistance in an endeavor to round up the robbers. All tailor shops and clothing stores were notified.

The forepart of last week the police were notified by Rice Street that a suit and overcoat were bought in an altering which answered a description of one of those stolen from the Jelinek store. Detectives were on hand when the owner returned for the suit and arrested him.

ARRESTED FOR JELINEK ROBBERY

George Edmondson, about thirty years of age, was taken into custody by the St. Paul police for Sheriff Hawley last week, and arrested on charge of being implicated in the robbery of the Jelinek store of Pine City.

Sheriff Hawley had made a couple of trips to St. Paul, following the robbery, and the police department there gave him every assistance in an endeavor to round up the robbers. All tailor shops and clothing stores were notified.

The forepart of last week the police were notified by Rice Street that a suit and overcoat were bought in an altering which answered a description of one of those stolen from the Jelinek store. Detectives were on hand when the owner returned for the suit and arrested him.

He gave his name as Lawrence Olson and age as 17. He stated that he had purchased 2 suits from Edmondson Edmondson was then arrested and two of the suits were found in his possession. He claimed that he had purchased them from another fellow. The other fellow is well known to the police as a suspect, but he had evidence in the word of the found up and disappeared. The police expect to locate him any day and it is expected that most of the stolen property will be recovered.

They have other suspects under surveillance and they are all related to the man arrested. The evidence in the hands of the St. Paul police and county attorney point to Edmondson as one of the culprits. Sheriff Hawley stated that he certainly appreciated the prompt assistance of the St. Paul police department as they gave all aid possible and were very thorough in checking up all possible places where they might get a trace of the stolen property.

Mr. Jelinek went to St. Paul with Sheriff Hawley Saturday morning to see if any of the part of the clothing that was taken from his store the night of the robbery, June 18th.

Novarro at Last

For the first time in his career as motion picture actor Ramon Novarro, the hero of romantic roles, has played a character of his own nationality. This happens in Fred Niblo's production for Metro, "My Name is Woman," which is to be shown at the Family Theatre.

Novarro is of Spanish descent. His previous came from Spain to Mexico a short time before his birth, and he was brought up in the traditions. He has had a variety of roles and, after he had almost given up hope of getting a chance to portray one of his own countrymen, Mr. Niblo summoned him to play the leading part in his newest production, which is laid in the Byronic district and concerns the love hates among a smugling band.

St. Paul Police Co-operate

There has been considerable publicity in the past on the assumption that the St. Paul police department would not co-operate with the authorities of smaller towns in apprehending criminals. Some have even gone so far as to say that the St. Paul police would even harbor criminals that had perpetrated crimes in the smaller towns and counties of the state.

We know nothing about the truth or falsity of such statements although when such a controversy was being waged a year or so ago, we were of the opinion that the St. Paul police were far fetched.

In view of the assistance given on our own Sheriff Hawley in the apprehension of Edmundson, who is accused of being one of the robbers of the bank store, we cannot overlook the opportunity to express our appreciation and the appreciation of Sheriff Hawley, to that assistance.

The sheriff has stated that he was rendered every assistance in his search by the St. Paul police department. They were not satisfied to handle the report of the robbery as a regular routine police duty, such as is generally given in outside reports, but they handled it in as thorough a manner as though the culprit were wanted for an offense committed in St. Paul.

Regardless of what the attitude of the department may have been in former years, today the attitude is to assist the authorities of other counties as thoroughly as possible. Many St. Paul organizations spend thousands of dollars annually in advertising and boosting St. Paul. No money spent can create and friendlier feeling for the city in the state than knowledge that the facilities of the St. Paul police department are available to the country authorities, and that every assistance and courtesy in the search for those wanted in the country will be given. St. Paul is making rapid strides under the leadership of Mayor Nelson in coming to the front as one of the progressive cities of the United States. Whether this attitude of co-operation on the part of the police department is due to the mayor, commissioner of public safety, the chief of police or the individual members of the department, it reflects the spirit of the city as a whole and is worthy of the gratitude of the country.

We wish again to express our appreciation to St. Paul. It is such co-operation that builds up the country town, the city and state.

Local News

C. C. Plank and family of St. Paul have rented the Wm. Albrecht cottage, adjoining their summer home on Cross Lake, and will arrive in a few days to spend July and August there.

Frank Sicker reports the theft of four boxes of strawberries last Monday. He had picked nine boxes of strawberries and placed them in his wagon near the barn. He went to the field to get the horses being gone not over ten minutes, and while he was after the horse someone swiped four of the boxes. They made toward the lake as Frank found some of the berries in the road. Frank says it is mighty small business and he would like to find out who is doing the petty thieving.

D. C. Linsley of Morris, Minn. was a visitor at the J. C. Hancock home last Tuesday. Mr. Linsley and Geo. Hancock were two of the first settlers in Stevens county, Cap located there in 1876 and Mr. Linsley the following spring. Mr. Linsley is the only living character member of the Masonic lodge at Morris. These two old friends had a long talk to reminiscing on the early days. Mr. Linsley is the father of Bert Linsley, editor of the White River Farmer, and dropped down with his son. After visiting with Mr. Linsley sr. it is easy to see where our brother editor gets his good nature and hearty laugh, as he is certainly a "chip off the old block." Although Bert's father is 85 years of age, he is healthy and hearty and enjoys a hearty laugh over amusing incidents of former days.

Mrs. James Griffin, Mrs. O'Brien and the Misses Hoyer and Dora O'Brien and Miss Hel-on Griffin and James Griffin Jr. of St. Paul, motored up Tuesday for a visit at the Wm. Albrecht home. Mrs. Griffin is Mrs. Albrecht's mother. George Griffin is ex-judge today. Bernard J. Lynch and nephew, Grant Gardner spent the week end at the Wm. Albrecht home on Cross Lake.

 When an employee is injured, great damage may be inflicted upon the healthy spirit of other workers if settlements are slow, doctors' services slighted, or if there is haggling over trivial matters. Every accident, too, takes toll of other employees' productive time, lessens machine return and increases labor turnover.
 Under an Aetna Compensation Policy, claims are adjusted in a way that creates confidence among employees. No effort is spared to restore the injured employee to highest possible efficiency at the earliest moment. ### BANKERS DIRECT WAR ON CROOKS

Rising Crime Waves and Attacks on Banks Call for Increased Measures of Defense.

Criminal activities against banks have reached unprecedented proportions in recent months according to a report made to the American Bankers Association by its Protective Committee, which directs the work of the Association aimed to combat criminal operations against banks.

"Sharp increases in crime perpetrated against banks definitely prove that instead of being broken the crime wave has risen to heights heretofore unknown to the banking fraternity," the report said. "Strangers continue to trick in otherwise invisible unsuspecting banks into making generous contributions to their cause—a terrific toll which defies the imagination. Bank burglars and hold-up men have apparently rebuffed their activities during the last six months. The number of criminals plying their trade in this field has grown to such proportions that there is now a fair sized army comprising this more desperate type of criminal, specializing against banks."

"Don't cash checks for strangers," is the warning emphasized by the committee in view of the situation it adds:

"We are gratified to report favorable results in a good proportion of cases investigated, which are due to the nation-wide activities of our detective agents through the aid of specialists in bank crimes. In Montana two fearless, well-organized bands of professional burglars had been more than a score of banks with such reckless abandon that the situation seemed beyond control. Realizing that conditions demanded prompt and drastic treatment, a trained crew of operatives were delegated to conduct a special investigation throughout the state. Nineteen men and two women were arrested. Of these four already are serving sentences, three are on trial, four are awaiting trial and the rest were freed for lack of evidence."

A similar raid was carried out in Oklahoma. Conditions in other states similarly bad were investigated and with the co-operation of local, state and federal authorities and the co-ordinated activities of members the percentage of arrests and convictions has materially increased."

The report pointed out that figures covering bank burglaries over a period of thirty years showed that 1,409 banks, members of the Association and entitled to its protective services, have been attacked, suffering losses aggregating $1,195,000, while non-members to the number of 2,357 were burglarized and suffered $4,950,000 in losses. The point was also brought out that there are only half as many non-members as members, so that these losses among them represent an excessively high rate as compared with members."

WILL CHART STORMS FROM U. S. BALLOON

Weather Man Plans Flights to Study Winds.

Washington—The first of fifteen flights in a free balloon which will ride the storms in an effort to learn more about them, will be begun by Dr. LeRoy Meisinger of the central office of the United States weather bureau. The flights are part of the most ambitious plans for scientific exploration of the atmosphere ever to be undertaken and they will be carried on through the co-operation of the weather bureau and the United States air service. All will start from Scott Field, Illinois, not far from St. Louis. They will be made in a hydrogen-filled balloon, furnished and piloted by the weather bureau with a full set of meteorological instruments. The balloon will be a large one, about 40 feet in diameter and holding 35,000 cubic feet of gas.

The main purpose of the flights is to study the motions of large masses of air with reference to the ground, when they are influenced by the great whirls in the atmosphere, hundreds of miles in diameter, which the meteorologists call cyclonic storms and which in their passage across the country give us most of the many varieties of our weather. The motion of the air with reference to the centers of these storms is fairly well known, but these centers are always themselves in motion and just what happens to the air in them or above them is not understood.

Dr. Meisinger proposes to find out, by going up in a balloon to the storm to a height of 10,000 feet, and then sticking by it as long as it is possible to do so, mapping out his location from time to time, and at the end charting the whole voyage, which will give the track not only of the storm, but also of the air in which it rode. He proposes to take some trips in front of storms, some near their centers, others trailing behind them, to study the behavior of the air in such cases.

OFFICE BUILDINGS GOOD FOR 28 YEARS

End of Financial Strength Comes About That Time.

New York—An office building is in what may be termed the obsolete stage after 28 years. Up to that time the income from a building does not vary much from year to year except during a long stretch of over-supply, when for economic reasons concessions are given. After the twenty eighth year has been left behind an appreciable drop comes in the income of the structure, and at the same time a corresponding increase will be shown in the maintenance figures. Investigation recently into the financial affairs and lives of 155 office buildings in various parts of the country by the National Association of Building Managers is the basis for the statement that 28 years is the great dividing line in the financial success of the average office building.

Two Periods in Life of Building.
The investigation shows there are two periods in the life of a building. Period one starts at the time of erection and ends 28 years later. During this time the gross income is usually constant. The expenses, however, rise continually with a corresponding falling off in the net return. This period represents the useful and profitable life of an office building, during which it is earning an adequate return on its investment. During most of this period a building is able to maintain itself as a first-class structure, house the tenants and pay the cost. It is because of the fact that when a building has arrived at the second period of its life and is only a question of time when it will have to be dismantled, its investment value declines very rapidly and is very often extinguished entirely. That is, whereas as a building is sold during the first period of its life it will bring a price somewhere near its cost; if sold in the second period of its life it will probably bring a much smaller price, and often will not be considered as adding any value whatever to the land on which it stands.

As a consequence, while a building in the second period of its life may for a time under favorable conditions continue to produce a small margin of profit, obsolescence will have largely or wholly destroyed its sale value.

Period Two Extends from the twenty-eighth year to the time when the structure is dismantled. In this period the gross income of a structure falls very rapidly as also do its operating expenses. While the net income continues to decline at a somewhat faster rate than during the first half of its life.

At the beginning of the second period a building finds that, through the action of obsolescence in any one or more of its several forms, it is losing its better class of tenants and that it is impossible for it to maintain its income at its present level. Because of this falling off in income, it must necessarily reduce its operating expenses in proportion by giving a cheaper rate of service, thus becoming a second-grade building.

In spite of all that can be done to reduce operating costs, the ever-increasing extent of repairs and replacement necessary in an old building continued in existence soon becomes a non-producer and is likely to be operated at a loss.

Period two necessarily ends with the life of the building, which occurs when obsolescence has progressed so far that the building is torn down to be replaced by a new structure. Many illustrations may be cited of buildings thus torn down and replaced by other structures at ages varying from 15 to 40 years.

Farm in Virginia Rented by Family for 96 Years

Winchester, Va.—A farm near Wadesville, Clarke county, has been tenanted and managed by members of the Bromley family so long that it has become known as the "Bromley place," although members of the family have no title to the property. The land was long ago owned by Miss Williams of Waterford, London county, and now is owned by her niece, Mrs. Lewis Pilgerton of Wadesville. Lewis Bromley was on the farm for 20 years; at his death a son, John S. Bromley, was in charge for 70 years, and now the latter's son, William Bromley, is moving to Winchester after a tenancy of 20 years, making 97 years that the farm has been rented by grandfather, father and son.

TIDES PREDICED YEARS IN ADVANCE

Only Instrument of Kind Aids Geodetic Survey.

Washington—Time and tide wait for no man, nor do the scientists of the United States coast and geodetic survey in Washington wait for the tides. By means of the only machine of its kind in the world the tide for Astoria, for instance, is already predicted for 1923 and all skippees are invited to compare the predictions with their actual observations—on March 1, 1923, if they care to wait that long. For Astoria, high tide will be at 2:50 a. m. and 2 p. m. and low tide at 8:25 a. m. and 8:38 p. m. High water measure 7.8 feet and 7.9 feet respectively, while low water will measure 1.8 feet and 5 feet respectively, above mean low water.

As far as that is concerned, scientists of the coast and geodetic survey can turn a few dials, set a number of complicated looking screws, jot some figures down on paper, turn a crank and predict the time and height of high and low tide for any port in the world a thousand years hence, and come within a fraction of an inch of being correct. Being correct is one of the main things the coast and geodetic survey is noted for. Mistakes might mean loss of life and many thousand dollars' worth of property.

Years of Work Required.
To explain the tide-predicting machine to the layman would take up something the Einstein theory to a moon for it took many years to build it and each year meant endless calculations and study by men who had devoted their lives to learning the law of the tides and their relation to the sun, moon, winds and old Mother Earth herself. In appearance the tide-predicting instrument is something of a cross between a thrashing machine and a radio set, if one can recognize the picture. But it resembles nothing, in reality, so much as the tide-predicting machine. It is made of shiny brass and blue steel, with cogs, pulleys, dials and a fine flexible chain, which can over a hundred thousand miles in an oil bath to give it pliability before it was placed on the machine.

The tide-predictor sets, these on this machine which represent the 37 component parts of a tidal wave, and facing an instrument board which resembles on a larger scale that of an automobile turn a crank. The machine does the rest.

Prediction Far in Advance.
Dials automatically turn to the day of the month, time and height of high and low water, while a pen busily traces on paper an exact replica, drawn to scale, of the tide wave as it will appear at that future time. So accurate is the machine that its predictions have been compared with actual observations and found to differ by the smallest fraction.

The machine requires the work of two of the survey's assistants, Dr. R. A. Harris, chief mathematician, now dead, and Dr. E. G. Fischer, mechanical engineer, who recently retired after long years with the government at a salary which would make a bricklayer laugh in disdain.

Tide-predicting is only one of the invaluable services rendered every year by the coast and geodetic survey to thousands of mariners. The tides are published a year in advance, printed in book form and made available to anyone who sails the seas or has to do with harbor facilities in any port. In addition, the organization is responsible for the charts that guide skippers up and down the coast line of the United States or into its countless harbors. Mapping for the first time, the famous "inside route" to Alaska—which will aid in the development of that vast territory by allowing big steamers to reach its ports—is one of the recent and important tasks completed by the survey.

"Stick 'em up, kid!" ordered the thug. "Where you think you're going?" "Home," murmured the student. "Where from?" "Dude," who whips "Goed." "Here, take this five-dollar bill."—Olio Sun Dial.

Telephone Users Relieved of Tax on Long Distance Calls

On and after July 3 the Federal tax on long distance telephone messages will be discontinued as a result of the new tax law passed by Congress and signed by the President on June 2.

The elimination of this tax affects all long distance calls of 15 cents or more. On calls for which the charges are from 15 to 50 cents, inclusive, the tax has been 5 cents and on each message for which the charges are more than 50 cents, the tax has been 10 cents. This tax has been collected by the telephone company for the Federal Government.

This reduction in the cost to users of long distance service increases its usefulness for business and social purposes. Ask our Business Office for assistance in further adapting long distance service to your requirements.

"A MEAN CUSS"

SYNOPSIS.—Solomon Blinck, veteran and his young companion, Jack Irons, passing through New York, New York, in September, 1783, to warn settlers of an Indian uprising...

He hid him in the cab, called for his young friend at the hour appointed. The office of the doctor was on the first floor of a large building in Gough square, Fleet street.

CHAPTER VIII

An Appointment and a Challenge.

Solomon Blinck had left the city with Preston to visit Sir Jeffrey Amherst in his country seat, near London. Sir Benjamin had taken Jack to dine with him at two of his clubs and after dining they had gone to see the great actor Robert Bessley at Meville and the comedian Dodd as Sir Andrew Aquebeck. The British had been most polite, but had seemed studiously to avoid mention of the subject nearest the heart of the young man.

Then said Lady Howe: "I wish, my brother Franklin, that you were to be sent thither. I should like that much better than General Howe's going to command the army there."

A rather tense moment followed. Franklin broke its silence by saying in a gentle tone: "I think, madame, they should provide the general with more honorable employment. I believe that my dear brother will not misjudge me. I am not capable of taking an office from this government while it is acting with so much hostility towards your country."

"The ministers have the opinion that you can compose the situation if you will," Lord Howe replied. "I am sure we have unbought faith in your ability. I would not think of trying to influence your judgment by any motive, but certainly you may, without respect, expect any reward which it is in the power of the government to bestow."

"Then came an answer which should live in history, as one of the great credits of human nature. It was especially those of English blood, should find a certain pride in it. The answer was: "Your lordship, I am not looking for rewards, but only for justice."

"Let us try to agree as to what is the justice of the matter," Howe answered. "Will you not draft a plan on which you would be willing to cooperate?"

"That I will be glad to do," Persisting in his misjudgment, Howe suggested: "As you have friends here and constituents in America to keep well with, perhaps it would better not be in your hands. Send it to Lady Howe and she will copy it and return the original."

"Then said the sturdy old Yankee: "I desire, my friends, that there shall be no secrecy about it. Lord and Lady Howe showed signs of great disappointment as he bade them good night and begged to be sent to his room."

"I am growing old, and have to ask for like indulgence from every hostess," he pleaded. Howe was not willing to leave a stone unturned. He could not dismiss the notion from his mind that the purchase could be effected if the bid were raised. He drew the Doctor aside and said: "We do not expect your assistance without proper consideration. I shall insist upon generous and ample appointments for the man who takes with you and especially for you as well as a firm promise of subsequent rewards."

"Who crown had he in mind for the white and venerable brow of the man who stood before him? Beneath that brow was a new type of statesman, born of the hardships of the west and high faith of a new world, and then and there these two faced each other—the soul of the past and the soul of the future—a moment when the combat which there had been no greater in human history. In America, France and England the coasts had been crossed and now the first light of dawn of a new day fell upon the figure of the man who in honor and understanding towered above his contemporaries. Now, for a moment, on the character of this man the unfathomable plan of God for future ages would seem to have been resting.

"In his sixty-eight years he had discovered, among other things, the value of wealth and the pleasure of it was no more to him than the idle wind. These are his exact words as he stood with a gentle smile on his face: you wish to use the talents and the propensities and dismiss all thoughts of rewards from your mind. They would destroy the influence you propose to use."

GLORIOUS DEED IN WAR FOR LIBERTY

How Maine Fishermen Beat Off British Warship.

Conflict That Was in Many Ways Unique in Battles on Land or Sea.

On the lovely headland of Cape Porpoise, in the town of Kennebunkport, Maine, stands a spectral memorial commemorating a battle of the American Revolution which stands forth as one of the most unusual and extraordinary fought in the great war for liberty.

The tablet, erected by Maine State Council, D. A. R., on the 130th anniversary of the battle, bears the legend: "August 8, 1782, a British Ship of 18 guns attacked a small force of inhabitants gathered on Goat Island and was driven away by severe musketry fire, losing 17 men. Lieut. James Burnham of this town was killed."

The march of seventeen years has dealt gently with the cape whose rocky slopes echoed to the wild whoops of Indian warriors a century before they cast back the sullen hordes of British cannon. For this is historic ground.

On the last day of the battle of August 8, 1782, a British ship of 18 guns attacked a small force of inhabitants gathered on Goat Island and was driven away by severe musketry fire, losing 17 men. Lieut. James Burnham of this town was killed."

U. S. DEPOSITORY FOR THE OLD WORLD To Play Important Part in Financing Big Enterprises

Washington—The United States strengthened its position as a world depository in 1923 as the "right to capital" continued from unstable conditions of the old world...

Once again the "invisible" trade, the transactions for which there are no government records, played an important part in the balance of the books...

Ocean freight appeared to be the only consequential service or commodity for which the United States paid foreigners more than it received...

"New loans inevitably give a temporary boost to exports and thereby a permanent one. On the other hand, interest is received in the form of imports of one sort or another...

Discussing the items that went to make up the "invisible" transactions, the survey said that American citizens had spent something like $200,000,000 in pleasure and American citizens gave about $70,000,000 for foreign and philanthropic purposes...

Quaker City Cops Use Radios to Curb Crime Philadelphia—Installation of radio equipment in all police station houses and on all motor equipment to be used by the department was ordered recently by Director of Public Safety Butler...

Quake Refugees Flocking Back to Yokohama Again Yokohama, Japan—Although tens of thousands of citizens driven from this city by the great quake of last year are struggling back and trying to reestablish their homes...

MAKING IT HARD FOR BANK CROOKS How the Nation's Bankers Are Banded Together in War on Crime—The Great Crook Trap and the Way It Works.

The slick gentry who have been wont to walk into banks and meekly paying tellers into giving them good cash for worthless checks have recently become aware of the facts that their operations are daily growing more difficult...

To show how effectively this is now working, one of the biggest figures among the worthless check operators is a man named Thompson caught in the meshes of what amounts to a nation wide crook trap...

A dramatic illustration of the workings of the association's detective department was recently staged in Buffalo, N. Y. A perpetual war against the army of bank crooks scattered throughout the nation...

The pair began their operation in Buffalo in the middle of January and the check were accepted, and a number of the special savings banks were closed...

He presented a counter check on the bank for $40. He also presented a second deposit slip for $3, professor of the bank. He told the teller that he wanted to deposit the two items, that is, $3 in cash and $40 out of the check...

Later that same day the detective office received another report from a second bank that had been similarly granted by a man answering the description given by the first bank...
