Chautauqua Is Fine

General Feeling Is That It Is Furnishing Best Program
Ever Given Here

Chautauqua opened Monday afternoon at the "old stand" on the south park grounds and will close tomorrow evening. It is just about clearing expenses, so the guarantors will not have much, if any, deficit to make up.

The entertainments are being well attended and are, in the opinion of The Pine Crier, the best as a whole that we have ever had here. Still, it is strange how opinions differ on these things.

Hon. J. Adam Bede was home the first day and introduced the entertainments and lecturers. Both afternoon and evening, telling in his convincing way what the Chautauqua is worth to a town or a people.

The lecture in the afternoon by Jos. Harlie Smith on "taste the apples" seemed to deal principally with the skin of the apple—but very likely we could not perceive the depth of his story. The musical and other work by the Tack company that afternoon and evening, however, was good—and very "catching."

Tuesday's articles were all of a high order—both Miss Buckley's delightful rendition of "Mister Antonio" and the excellent class musical and operatic work of the Orford company under very adverse stage conditions.

"The Webbers," yesterday afternoon, were very ordinary vanderbills called but their rendition of the "Arkmore Traverler" and some of their jokes got them good hands and filled a place not occupied by the concert company of the day before. And, then, Ope Ross in the evening spun his rapid-fire philosophy and his imitatively-told stories in a way that held his big audience spell-bound for more than an hour.

The lecture this afternoon by Hon. Wm. E. Wanner of Ohio was undoubtedly the most fruitful to date but the Huzzars proved to be a little less experienced in the entertainment line.

Equalization Board in Session. The county commissioners met Monday, as a board of equalization and were still in session at the time of The Crier going to press.

The board in reviewing the assessed values of personal property for the different townships of the county found a great range of difference in values of articles listed.

According to the returns of the assessors, many of the assessors have very little furniture, watches, jewelry and pianos while they are well represented in dogs, the values of the canine pets ranging from $1 in one town up to $750 in Chisago Falls town. Pianos, while a great number are listed throughout the county, seem to be of little value, as the average value range from $4 to $2000, some to $112 in Chisago Falls town.

According to the lists, watches are also a scarce article, about half the towns being without any and those listed ranging from $1 up to $225.

Danforth township does not list any of the following: rugs, carpets, books and hats a brace, sewing machines, watches or jewelry while the assessor lists one piano to furnish music for the township.

Chisago Falls leads the list in farm machinery listing an assessed value of $5,574.

Lots of gasoline is consumed in Pine county according to the listed values of automobiles, the total value ranging from 150 in one town, to $18,445 worth of cars and trucks in Brook Creek.

The bulk of Pine county's taxes will be paid on live stock and poultry. It is very unlikely being lifted off over the county.

but, instead of repairing the old plant, contracted with E. W. Doyle to install a new heating and water heating plant at a cost of $875 and, though a restraining order was issued by the Pine county district court stopping work on the plant, the board had the work finished and ordered the bill paid—amounting to $882.80. Action was brought by L. Skille and A. E. Stevens on behalf of the school district to recover the amount paid, from Charles Nelson, district clerk.

In the case against James Doland of Willow River, on a stationary charge, the jury, after about a 4 hours deliberation, brought in a verdict of "not guilty." Two days were spent in hearing quite a number of witnesses.

At the close of the state's testimony in the trial of the state against Otto Behrman of Finlayson, on a charge of adultery, on motion of the attorney for the defendant asking that the case be dismissed, the judge instructed the jury to bring in a verdict of "not guilty." Only two witnesses were heard in this case which took up about 4 hours of the court's time yesterday.

This winds up all jury cases for the term and Judge Scates will set a date soon for the hearing of the court cases.

Farm Caterpillar Runs over Boy. Bert Knudsen, 17 years old, of Duluth, was run over and severely injured—possibly suffering a concussion of the brain—by a caterpillar farm tractor which he was demonstrating at the Dr. Tanke farm, south of town, yesterday. The machine passed over his ankle, shoulder and right side of his face and the fact that the machine was a "caterpillar" was doubtless the only thing that saved him from crushed limbs and shoulder—as it was, no bones were broken, except as feared about the head. A wheeled machine would not have been so delicate, but the weight of the caterpillar was so well distributed on its broad ground surface that its full weight did not fall on the young man as it went over him.

Knudsen, who is a son of H. M. Knudsen, a well known automobile dealer at Duluth and distributor for the tractor in this region, was able to be removed to his home on the night train, this morning, and will doubtless be set soon if the feared broken skull does not materialize.

The accident, which occurred when a stump-pulling demonstration was being given, also resulted in a broken arm to A. J. Dyland of Duluth when he threw himself into another stump to escape the machine after he had made an attempt to shut off the power.

The machine was hitched to a chain fastened about a stump and the word given to Knudsen, who was driving, to "go ahead." Instead, he threw it into reverse and the machine deliberately backed up to and over the stump. Knudsen, who jumped off and accidently threw the machine into "high" as he did so, fell to the ground and the machine, now rapidly winding the chain about the stump, ran about it, and hit the young man in three different places as it went over him that number of times.

His father, who was called from Duluth, coming by auto. The machine has been shown at different points in the county and has made an excellent impression, always, for its homogeneity. Its ability to turn short or cover stretches of ground and its apparent general adaptability for farm work.

Pine County War History. Every county in the state is endeavoring to compile the data for a county war history, which is the only method of gathering together all the pictures of the service men from the county. A book of this kind will be published in Pine county as well, and will contain pictures of all the service men who served in the various branches of military service. There will also be pictures of Red Cross nurses, draft officials, medical examining board, local advisory board, county chairman of committees, Red Cross groups, prominent women, members of various societies, scenes from villages and townships and a complete history of Pine county's participation in the war. Names of people who served on committees will be given, amounts of money raised in all towns and all Minnesota county happenings.

This book will be a very interesting one and of great value to every town. Work has started and pictures of all men who have been members of any branch of military service should be sent in at once, together with records of when they enlisted, when discharged, rank, regiment, camp, battles, wounds, overseas service, etc.

Send the picture if once together with record. If not, send a card to have the picture inserted and all pictures sent in to the book to make it complete. Pictures will be returned with tags on cards.

Address E. E. Brewster, care of The Pine Crier, Pine City, Minn.

Big Picnic Saturday

Everyone Will Meet His Friends
at Pokegama Lake for a Good Day Together

The big Farmers and Merchants picnic will be held at the Pokegama town hall and Fritzen stadium grounds at Pokegama lake, Saturday of this week. Everybody in the south end of the county, especially, is invited to attend, but citizens, railroad crews and get acquainted. All others are invited, too.

There will be a fine day, beginning at 10 a. m. and lasting all day. Hon. J. E. Hay, deputy state commissioner of agriculture and well known over Pine county, will speak. The Greater male chorus and the Pokegama Booster orchestra will furnish music. There will be races and races during the day and a dance during the afternoon and evening.

The sports program will include ball game between Pine City and Brook Park but one of the ponies which was to have run in the pony race has broken a leg and that will have to be called off, as will also the canoe race owing to lack of water in the lake at that point. But there will be foot races and plenty doing all the time.

Get ready, take your lunch and join your neighbor for a pleasant day.

Would Redistrict Pine County

The question of redistricting Pine county into commissioner districts came up at the last meeting of the board when a petition was received, signed by E. T. Hogan of Holden and 43 others, asking for the creation of the eastern part of the county into a commissioner district—the part along the Soo railway and including the east half of Nickerson and Bruno towns and all Dooey, Wilma, Arna and Orona towns, nearly seven full townships in all. This is about one-seventh of the entire county, and including the most sparsely settled portion of the county, though a region that is expected to develop rapidly. That would leave the other six-sevenths (about) of the county, including the more thickly settled portions, four commissioners to look after their needs.

Good Roads on a Big Scale

County received a present from the Minnesota highway department yesterday, in the shape of a 20 ton, 120 h. p. tractor free on the county roads. The county board is undecided as to the adaptability of the tractor. As this county on account of its weight, but a thorough trial will be given and if it is not too heavy, it will be quite an addition to the county's road department.

New Postmaster at Hincley

H. R. Lynn of Hincley has been appointed postmaster at Hincley to succeed J. J. Folsom who resigned the office, last winter, to give his attention to his business affairs. Mr. Lynn, who has resided on his farm east of that town, will probably take over the work of the office by August 1.

ABOUT THE CHAUTAUQUA

The Pine POKER is in favor of continuing the chautauqua here, but we're not in favor of making it down anybody's throat. We believe it is a good thing for our town and region, but many of our friends do not. One side of the question is wrong—let us reason together. Various arguments are raised against it; let us treat them separately.

Some say that it is not necessary—and they are right. Neither are coffee, neckties, beds, potato sprayers, auto mobiles nor thousands of other equally or more commonly used articles. Even houses and barns aren't necessary, as we have them—folks used to live in caves, and could now if they had to. Might a few things be necessary in this world?

Some folks say that it is of no value to the community. Maybe not—to those who are educational and entertaining to most men, but maybe not to all, and so whether they are of value is entirely a matter of opinion—they may be of great value to one and none to another. Some say we have plenty of local talent to put on our own chautauqua. Pine City and this region do indeed have a lot of talent, headed by Mr. J. Adam Bede, who could give us an excellent chautauqua, but one of the greatest educational and entertaining values of the chautauqua lies in the fact that it gives us speakers and entertainers from the east, west and south who bring us new thoughts and new songs. Very few men would care to be forever copied up with any individual. If we are to be well rounded in our thoughts, and purposes we must become acquainted with others outside of our own family, no matter how much talent we may have at home. Why, even when we want preachers we go out of town for them because they bring us new knowledge and new ideas, among other things.

Some say that it takes money out of town, and I guess they're right. So does the cigar you smoke, the candy you eat, the coffee you drink, the clothes you wear, the auto you ride in—almost everything. Money goes out of this region by the hundreds of dollars every day—and always. In China, the great, advanced nation of the east, built a wall about itself and paralyzed its progress. We spend money by the thousands for our churches and schools and theatres, but no one would want to go back to the time when they were not had, merely to save the money from "going out of town". The chautauqua is a small expense anyway—not half as much as one day's circus, and you never heard any holler about what the circus takes out.

Our reasons for favoring the chautauqua are that it is, in the main, educational and entertaining and may be made of real financial value to our community if we persevere. Pine City has all the natural advantages to be the real chautauqua center of this entire region—no other town within 50 miles can offer half its advantages for a week of pleasure and we are confident that, with the chautauqua as a central attraction, people from all over this region could be attracted here for a week's camping and pleasure. They do it, elsewhere—why not here? No town anywhere has better advantages over the whole surrounding region for the purpose.

The method of operating a chautauqua which has been in force here may not be ideal—there are many things about it that we do not relish. We do not like the guarantee plan—if we can get a good chautauqua without it. We like the idea of the refund of the chautauqua people to give us coupon tickets for use by families out on the farms or in near-by towns who cannot be here at many of the entertainments but still want to help save the guarantee from loss—and we feel that we should be furnished with those coupon tickets or a change made to another company.

Our reason for devoting so much space to this subject is a desire to get the chautauqua question in this community ironed out. If we are wrong we shall be glad to be shown over by one's signature in a fair, clean way, and will gladly print their article in this paper, without charge. It seems to us that the chautauqua is a real value to our town and country and may be made worth much more and we know that all are anxious to help improvement and development, whether they believe in the present chautauqua plan or not.

In any event, we do not believe in forcing anyone to accept our views, we object to being forced to see things in a way that does not look reasonable to us and have no call on our consciences to advise us if we were not open to reason.

Everything has its drawbacks—the potatoes they feed and the corn the pig-suckers. Here we find that the crowded roads of this region are made for the "bug" out of the city where people burn out horses who sweat down and sweat with a sweat-soaked shirt and sweat-soaked pants on the road. They look more like the "bug" out of the city than they do like the "bug" out of the city.

INTERNATIONAL HARVESTER MACHINES

In Your Farm Slipping Away From You?

Take a ton of ordinary black clay loam. In it there are only 3 1/2 pounds of nitrogen, 3 3/4 pounds of phosphorus, and 64 pounds of potash. You can't afford to see a particle of that plant food slip away. Growing crops draw heavy drafts against these reserves and unless replenished by constant fertilizing, your soil one day will be worn out and become a liability instead of an asset.

The LOW 20TH CENTURY SPREADER, is the answer to your manure problem. It doesn't dump or unload in piles—it spreads. Practically all-steel built, light draft, narrow bow (38 inches), either endless or reverse apron style, it meets an increasing demand for a spreader that can be pulled by two horses. It is easy to load, easy to operate, beats the manure twice, and with its spiral wide spread throws it away beyond the wheels.

It is a time-saver—only 3 to 7 minutes required to unload. It makes possible light and frequent spreading of fresh manure, the ideal method to get best results. There are three sizes, small, medium and large, one of which is going to take care of all your manure problems—a fact, the use of the LOW 20TH CENTURY will dispose of even the ghost of a problem.

E. C. Dudley and John Webber returned yesterday from Moose Lake, where they have established an electric wiring business, to remain until Monday while attending to business matters here. They are both first class workmen and will doubtless complete a large part of the building operations in their line at Moose Lake.

W. B. Richards will move his well drilling outfit to Andrew Galt's place at the north end of Cross Lake, tomorrow. He recently put down a well and attached a windmill tank for John J. Becker at Mendota, La. on a well at the new Chenevans—district 1—school house, and a well for John Percy, just south of town.

There will undoubtedly be a large crowd from town, as well as the surrounding country, at the Farmers and Merchants picnic at the Pigeon Forge hall, this week, Saturday. The boys please wear your nicest clothes in "some in," when we have a big time—and this is our time to return the compliment.

The very first night the came down in a daring French aviation, West But Puritan husband and "in-law" were horrified. Where stacks you to stand. You will get even a larger idea of Elsie Ferguson's brilliance when you see her dressed in those stunning "Paris clothes" in "The Puritan Wife" at Family theatre, Sunday.

C. P. Jackson had his car badly smashed in Minneapolis, last Thursday. It was standing at the curb when the rear end of the passing street car jumped the track and ran into it, the steps tearing away the back fender and smashing the differential while it drove his car ahead into another one and smashed the front up badly, as well. The street car company repaired the damage at once.

The dance which was given by Yost-Grove-Hinze, at Beron, last Saturday evening was largely attended. Dancers were there from all corners of the county and the boys sure appreciated it. Tomorrow (Friday) evening the boys will give another dance in the armory, Pine City. If you miss this dance you are going to miss the time of your life. If you don't dance come along anyway and make yourself at home in the balcony.

Lieut. M. B. Hurley arrived home last Friday after ten months' service in France and will spend a couple of weeks at home before resuming his legal practice at St. Paul. Ed Ormally arrived recently from Bremen where he was in the government ship yards. We understand that one of the Madison boys, west of town, are home, also that word from New York announced the arrival there, Monday, of Harry Chmicki, Madison and Herman Neuhauer.

There never would be a picture "The Goat" if there wasn't any Fred Stone—he's a regular hurricane, you certainly have to hand him that! He juggles with life and limb as though they were not worth thirty cents, and to extract a little girl from a tangle of flying hoops is just an incident in the day's work for him. Remember how excited you were the day Dad first took you to the circus years ago? Well, that's the feeling "The Goat" will bring back. See it at Family theatre, Thursday, July 31, 10 and 12 o'clock.

Chas. Gehl completed the installation of his oil station near the creamery, the latter part of last week, when he pumped the first car of kerosene into his big, 12,000 gallon tank—the counter-lamp, except in color, of the gasoline tank which sets alongside. This, with the station and various lubricating oils and a big delivery kerosene pump and Charley into the "wholesale retail" class, with the only completely equipped station in this region. Things like this help to put our town on every map—and we want every one of them.

Since many from the locality are used to driving to the Taylors Falls region, we note that the old High City-Granville-Center City route is being cut up by the heavy traffic that has been diverted to that course. The party by the work on the Federal road in Chicago county a week before going will be found by taking the Federal road to Harris, thence east to Sunrise and directly on to Taylors Falls. If you wish to drive from the Falls to Center City take the route by the south one is taken by all the heavy travel. Doubtless a thousand or more cars go into the beautiful interstate park at the Falls every Sunday, and hundreds every week day, at this season.

The lawn social given at the William Albrecht summer home on Cross Lake, last Saturday evening, for the benefit of the library and reading room fund was a great success, both socially and financially. The attendance was excellent and the net receipts of the evening ran to $42, thanks to the generosity of the Albrechts who bore the expenses for ice cream etc., excepting cakes which were donated by the ladies, the Crescent orchestra which played without charge and those who gave their time in carrying folks from and to town. The evening was enjoyed in the large sun parlor and Miss Alma Albrecht gave a very pretty and pleasing special dance on the lawn. The library fund now has nearly $80 and the ladies working for it hope to see it grow liberally, as do many, many others who are interested in the movement.

A Wholesome Butter

The Product of Pine County Farms
Too few of the people in the towns and cities of our dairy districts realize or appreciate the fact that their own business and prosperity depends upon the business success of the men who are producing the raw material that goes into butter and cheese and ice cream. They give aid and comfort to the dairymen's great enemy—the oleomargarine interests—and bow down to the shortsightedness of the farmer who spends some of his money with the mail order houses instead of supporting home industries. They talk much of the injustice of spending the money where one portion of it will be returned to the community in the form of taxes—and then they have the nerve to use in their own homes and push in their stores the sale of the article that is taking money out of the pockets of dairymen every day in the year. The patriotic part of it is that such a large proportion of their sales are made to the dairymen themselves.
We should like to see a store-keeper with the courage to announce to his trade that he stood for the men back of the greatest industry in his community, and that hereafter none of the so-called butter substitutes would be sold from his place of business. Backed up by the right sort of publicity in the local papers and with the right sort of management we believe that merchant would corral a large share of the trade of the dairymen in his district. Recognition of mutual interests is almost always profitable for all concerned, and there is no exception to the general rule—Holstein Friesian World.

A "Peace" Kolpak Canning Outfit Costing Less Than One Dollar

Most housewives know that the jars nearest the bottom of any hot water container, cook most evenly and quickly. The PEARCE NO. 7 "KOLPAK" hooks all jars on the bottom of container. Consequently it uses less fuel than any other cooker, and is the most satisfactory in home used for the following reasons:

One half as high as a two-tier camper. When placed on the average water-high stove, it is easy to remove the full jars from the "KOLPAK", whereas, in the two-tier cooker you must lift your hand well above the head.

Any jar is instantly removable with the "LOCKTITE" lifter. Just pick out the jar you want, and set it down. No hot wires to handle, and you do not afterward have to unlock your jars by any wires.

Holds both pint and quart sizes of any style. By means of a novel construction, the rack is reversible one side in front for seven quart sizes and the other side for eight pint cans. A floating bottom is provided with automatically adjusted itself whichever side of the rack it is up.

It is durable, and is made of heavy, lined wire, electric welded, rigid and rust-proof, and will wear indefinitely. Container is made of heavy material, heavily enamel, with a durable cover. The feet of the rack keep jars safely off the fire bottom.

FAMOUS PEACE TREATIES

By H. IRVING KING

TREATY OF PORTSMOUTH, 1905.

Japan's Ability to Fight the European.

If the war which Japan waged against China in 1904 demonstrated to the world that a new power had arisen in the Pacific, still it was regarded by the western nations that the real test would come when she fought with America. After Shimonoseki Japan was a promising younger brother; after Portsmouth she was a nation to be treated with as an equal and one to make alliances with.

No sooner had France, Germany and Russia forced Japan to retreat to China than the fruits of the war, the peninsula of Liaoning, then Manchuria, and leased Port Arthur and the Liaoning peninsula to Russia by a lease which was only a cover for a direct conquest. This little deal between Russia and China rather charged the other two powers which had been so friendly in forcing Japan to retrocede Liaoning. Germany at once demanded an equivalent for the loss of the Chinese city and bay of Kiaochow on the same terms as those by which Russia had Port Arthur. Russia's answer was to demand an ally of Russia in the Pacific, offering to ally herself with Germany. The Japanese navy, after a series of victories, laid siege to Port Arthur. Another Japanese army drove the Russian army northward in Manchuria and administered a crushing defeat at Mukden.

The Russian transportation and supply corps utterly broke down and became useless; grand dukes at the Manchurian front were ordered to leave the theater. There was an orgy of official grief. The subsequent events of the war were the bombardment of Vladivostok March 6; the occupation of Port Arthur March 21; occupation of Wihai at the mouth of the Yalu river April 6, and the passage of the river and the May 1 of the Russian army opposing on May 1. The Russian army was routed at the church and another Japanese army occupied Korea. The Japanese navy utterly destroyed Russian power in the Pacific and the Japanese army, after a series of victories, laid siege to Port Arthur. Another Japanese army drove the Russian army northward in Manchuria and administered a crushing defeat at Mukden.

TREATY OF PARIS, 1800.

When the United States was at War With France.

Our relations with France have naturally been of much a kind since the founding of the nation until the present day that most people have believed that we were at war with her. But we were from the treaty of 1763 in September, 1800. France Monroe was minister to France in 1796 when the Directory had succeeded to the "Terror of Robespierre," informed him that the treaty of 1778 between France and the United States was at an end because America had signed the treaty with England known as Jay's treaty. Monroe recalled that the treaty of 1778 had already been brought to nothing by the constant capture of American ships by French men-of-war. France, under the Terror, had regarded the one of the world in the same manner as the Russian behemoth do now. American merchant ships were captured and destroyed and sold.

Mr. Monroe was too plain; he was called, and Charles Calvostrouschi was sent to Paris to negotiate. The Directory was purely selfish; it had no interest in the welfare of America. The French government would not recognize Pinckney and Monroe had to leave the country. The French government had a special session of Congress and recommended the prompt formation of a treaty and the permission for merchant ships to sail these waters.

Extra Chapter Added. The present appointed minister (Terry and Calvostrouschi) was sent to Paris to negotiate. The Directory was purely selfish; it had no interest in the welfare of America. The French government would not recognize Pinckney and Monroe had to leave the country. The French government had a special session of Congress and recommended the prompt formation of a treaty and the permission for merchant ships to sail these waters.

WHEN BOSTON WAS IN TROUBLE. In 1776, on the 1st of June, the British evacuated Boston and sailed for Halifax. The British were about to depart and the Continental Congress fled to Lancaster and then to York. The British evacuated Boston and sailed for Halifax.

Georgette is in Favor With All

What did we wear before georgette crepe was invented? Experiment as we will with every other material, we come back to this with joy and content, recognizing the service and beauty of other fabrics, yet, when a prominent fashion correspondent, or more than usual loveliness are the various frocks being displayed for more or less elaborate occasions. While many seem to have tired some-

A printed waist georgette in slender, graceful lines. It is a cool costume, appropriate for house, street and semi-formal wear. The dress is made of the heavily bleached crepe so long esteemed, others seek them out positionally, seeming to prefer the more of the front and the back, where a number of the most successful georgettes are in green and blue. The blue and white printed georgettes are among the most successful of the summer. They are made in almost every fashion, with straight skirts of dark blue satin or silk underneath as a foundation, while the printed fabric is draped in straight folds with unbroken lines. The dress almost to hem. A wide sash of dark blue satin is tied loosely about the waist, a left to hang somewhat lower in the back to give the sort of overhanging lines and long waist effect so much sought. This way of making the printed georgette is excellent for the dark blues or black and white, and is the sort of afternoon dress one is always needing during the summer.

The chemise dress is a boon to all who desire a dress that requires a wash, and wash, with or narrow belts and the drooping waistline cover a wide range of fashion. It is a dress revealed with unerring frankness in separate waist and skirt. The thick waist appears almost skin when the wide sash and belt are correctly arranged so as not to accentuate. Few women who have attained this desirable achievement through the realization apparently what a top-heavy look they have with a light shirtwaist above a dark skirt—if they did all would abandon this fashion and at least have skirt and waist of the same color, all white, for instance, or all blue.

Casworthy Has Come Back. Not so very long ago the question whether casworthy plaiting could come back as a trimming for women's hats. At that time it was stated that while the temperature of the weather had not advanced, the question was not so much as to whether it was worth the trouble to use it. The question has now advanced to the point where it is used on all-weather hats. It is used on all-weather hats. It is used on all-weather hats.

The Kitchen Cabinet

Welcomes a thousand times welcome, so Bird and delicate neighbors, and hum-mingbird fair and!

More Hot Weather Dishes. Eggs will have reached the lowest for the year, during the summer months. It is the time to indulge in egg dishes, as well as to make them for winter use.

Beaufort Eggs—Take one dozen eggs, one tablespoonful of corn-starch, five squares of butter, one cupful of milk, one cupful of sugar, one cupful of salt, one cupful of pepper and salt. Chop the milk, rub the yolks through a sieve, add milk and butter and corn-starch rubbed together. Now add the whites, then add salt and paprika to taste. Put the mass on a hot dish, cover with a layer of white sauce, then a layer of the yolks, then the whites, and finish with the yolks on top. Sprinkle with salt and pepper and put into the oven for a few minutes.

Deviled Eggs—One dozen cooked eggs, one teaspoonful of French mustard, four tablespoonfuls of minced ham or tongue, one tablespoonful of olive oil, salt and cayenne to taste. Cut the eggs lengthwise. Take out the yolks carefully, do not break the whites. Rub the yolks with a smooth paste with the mustard and oil, then add the ham or tongue finely chopped. Fill the whites with this mixture and press the halves together.

Eggs Poached in Tomatoes—Peel and cut into small pieces six medium-sized tomatoes. Chop the one small green onion. Put the onion and tomatoes into a sauce pan and cook slowly 15 minutes, adding salt and pepper. Have ready slices of well-browned toast, buttered. Carefully drop six eggs into the tomatoes, and when well poached place them carefully on the toast; pour the tomatoes around them and serve at once.

Peach Omelet—Pare and stone three ripe peaches, then press them through a fine strainer. Add one cupful of powdered sugar, and the well-beaten yolks of three eggs; add carefully the stiffly beaten whites and pour into a well-greased baking dish. Bake 15 or 20 minutes and serve at once.

FRUIT COCKTAILS

There is no more appetizing beginning for a summer meal than a fruit cocktail. They should be served very cold in small glasses or in fruit cups such as lemon, orange, apple, cherry, grape, strawberry, peach, plum, etc. Vegetables are also used as cocktail, the tomato being the special favorite.

In preparing fruits for cocktails, the first thing to be remembered is that the fruit should stand in a strainer or sprinkled with sugar to get well sweetened. To prepare the strainer use twice as much sugar as you would cook it until thoroughly dissolved.

The entire menu should be considered when serving a fruit cocktail, as other fruits do not appear at the same time. If a vegetable cocktail (to get together with some sort of a salad dressing) is served, the salad is omitted for that meal.

One of the most attractive cocktails for a summer meal is the watermelon and marmalade for the foundation, with the marmalade and French potato cutter, and cover with a generous layer of sugar, pour over the balls of ginger, pour over the balls of ginger, pour over the balls of ginger.

A pineapple and raspberry combination is very good. Cut the pineapple with a small potato cutter and let the fruits stand in syrup combined for three hours, then chill them together one hour.

Equal parts of sliced peaches and strawberries marinated in sugar syrup and garnished with frosted mint. Dip a sprig of mint in egg white and sugar, freeze the mint well, and chill.

Twice as much diced peach as very ripe strawberries, with a little lemon syrup and flavored with a little lemon and orange juice. The peaches may be made of various colors, but the most suitable are: Two tablespoonfuls of minced tomato, one of minced celery, one of minced onion, one of minced carrot, one of minced parsley, one of minced dill, one of minced chives, three drops of olive, nutmeg, French dressing and mayonnaise to moisten.

PEER DESERVED HIS VICTORY

Quick Wit Enabled Him to Win Success When Others Would Have Given Up Hope. Gypsy Smith, the noted evangelist, said on his recent voyage from Liverpool:

"There are some men who can make a success even in failure. Thus there was a certain peer once who tried to make his maiden speech—a speech granting to all accused persons the right to counsel—and when he put his hand in his pocket for his notes they weren't there. His notes were lost. The peer gulped. He looked about him wildly. He gulped again. Then he said:

"If I may I wish, who now rise only to give my opinion on this bill—if I am so confounded that I am unable to express what I had in mind, what must be the condition of that man who without any assistance, has got to plead for his life?"

"Then the peer sat down to the cheers of a converted chamber, and his bill passed almost unanimously."

The Way of it. "He is long about paying his bills." "I guess that is because he is a shrew."

Bulgaria Wants Harbor. For years Bulgaria has looked upon Kavala with a covetous eye. Although defeated and subdued, she looked hopefully to the peace congress at Paris to give her Kavala as a port. Yet Kavala is not a harbor. It is merely a roadside affording good anchorage for coastwise steamers.

different times. Different types of the disease are treated differently, but it is often found impossible to discriminate between the different classes of symptoms in men. When mice were inoculated with the germs, however, effects were produced which readily classified the disease.

HELD UP RESEARCH WORK

War's Absorption of Scientists Who Entered Service Also Retarded Investigations in Disease—Death Rate Jumps.

New York.—Study of cancer during the war was impeded, not only by taking physicians from research work but because of the shortage of mice, which were used in large quantities with the allied armies for the detection of gas and the diagnosis of certain types of disease, according to a report of Dr. Francis Carter Wood, director of the George Crocker special research fund of Columbia university. Thousands of mice which had been raised for research work were turned over to the government. The mice were used very rapidly and are far more sensitive to gases than human beings, so that they were kept in exposed sections of the gas line before it became perceptible to the crew, thus enabling them to find the difficulty and repair it before the air became so tainted as to be dangerous. In the British army hundreds of canaries were used as sentinels for the detection of gas. In addition to supplying thousands of mice to the government, the George Crocker special research fund raised money, however, to supply many medical schools and research laboratories throughout the country.

When he went to bat in the fourth inning, with the bases full, Jack asked his brother "Bern" (the Fly catcher) where the weakest spot of the infield was. "Bern" smiled and said—right down the third-base line. Jack, taking his brother's advice, and down the third-base line the pill sure did go, but lord and behold, Hoefler snapped it up with such easiness and turned it into a triple play. Jack said that "Home Run" Baker couldn't pull the play off any faster than Hoefler did, and furthermore he states it was Hoefler's hitting that defeated his club.

Next Sunday Pine City will play the deciding contest with the Creek aggregation, at the Creek ball park. Both clubs have won a game apiece. Hock Creek won the first contest by the score of 4 to 5, and the second contest went to Pine City by the score of 4 to 3. Tanlac Made Mrs. Norman Well 2 Years Ago—Good Health Continued

"Although it has been two years now since Tanlac relieved me of my suffering and built me up so wonderfully every day is still a well day for me," was the statement made by Mrs. Lillian Norman, Route 4, Box 242, Duluth, Minn., while in Abbott & Company's drug store recently.

"For three years," she continued, "I had suffered agonies with rheumatism all over my body. My feet were so swollen I could hardly get my shoes on, I had to wear gloves to keep down the swelling in my hands as much as possible. I was in so much pain that I was all but over and had to use a cane in order to get about. My stomach was in a very bad condition, too, and what I would eat seemed to lump in my body and lay in the pit of my stomach and ferment. I would float up terribly with gas and have such depressed feelings in my chest and around my heart that it was difficult for me to get my breath. My appetite was very poor—there were many things I couldn't eat at all—and at times I was very drowsy. I couldn't get any sound sleep, had fallen off a great deal in weight and just felt miserable most all the time.

"When I read and heard so much about Tanlac I made up my mind to try it and it was the wisest decision I ever made. By the time I had finished my third bottle I discerned my case and could eat what I wanted without the least trouble afterwards. After taking five bottles the rheumatism was gone entirely and I could walk as well as I ever could, and I also found that I had gained fifteen pounds in weight. Well, I haven't had an ache or a pain in this good day and I still eat and sleep like a child and feel fine all the time. I have related my experience with Tanlac many times and am willing to keep on telling it as long as I can help other people out of their

The romance of the mining camps still exerts a powerful sway upon the hearts and minds of old and young alike. There is something alluring about the search for wealth hidden from the view of men, but which when found, often proves the normal and physical ruin of the finder. This was not the case however, with Susie Baldwin, an uncouth girl of Starvout Camp, after her father had struck it fabulously rich. What happened to Susie is told in thrilling style in "Fuss and Feathers," Edith Bennett's new Thomas H. Ince Paramount vehicle which will be shown at the Family theatre, Saturday, matinee and night.

A Wholesome Butter

The Product of Pine County Farms

Too few of the people in the towns and cities of our dairy districts realize or appreciate the fact that their own business and prosperity depends upon the business success of the men who are producing the raw material that goes into butter and cheese and ice cream. They give aid and comfort to the dairy men's great enemy—the oligomeric interests—and how! about the shrewdness of the farmer who spends some of his money with the small-order houses instead of supporting home industries. They talk much of the injustice of spending the money where no portion of it will be returned to the community in the form of taxes—and then they have the nerve to use in their own homes and push in their stores the sale of the article that is taking money out of the pockets of dairy men every day in the year. The pathetic part of it is that such a large proportion of their sales are made to the dairy men themselves.

We should like to see a store-keeper with the courage to announce to his trade that he stood for the men back of the greatest industry in his community, and that hereafter none of the so-called butter substitutes would be sold from his place of business. Backed up by the right sort of publicity in the local papers and with the right sort of management we believe that merchant would coral a large share of the trade of the dairy men in his district. Recognition of mutual interests is almost always profitable for all concerned, and here is no exception to the general rule.—Holt's Friesian World.

FAVORABLE PEACE TREATIES

By H. IRVING KING

(Copyright 1919 by H. Irving King)

TREATY OF BUCHAREST, 1913.

A Peace Treaty Signed Just Before the World War Began.

The boundaries which those chronic disturbers of the peace, the Balkan states, had in the recent world war were established by the treaty of Bucharest signed at the representation of the states of Greece, Bulgaria, Serbia, Rumania and Montenegro on one side and Turkey on the other on December 3.

Greece refused to sign any armistice until the Albanian capital, Thessalonika, had been evacuated and the Greek army and the Serbian army, and the Montenegrin army, had been driven out of the city. The powers formed in London. There was a February 1913, hostilities were resumed. The Greeks captured Thessalonika. The Albanians drove in the Teba army took Adrianople with the Greek commander and 20,000 prisoners. Serbia and Montenegro and the Greek men-of-war in the Adriatic were negotiating the troops.

The powers were frantic and could not agree among themselves. But on April 19, 1913, another armistice was signed, and on May 30 the belligerents signed at London a treaty of peace with Turkey. It was the first treaty surrendered to the Balkan states, the island of Crete and all territory on the Albanian mainland west of the Shos-Milid line. The treaty also provided for the Albanian frontiers and the disposal of the Aegean islands to the powers, which Turkey gave up all her European possessions except Constantinople and the country immediately around it.

But the link in the treaty was not dry when the Balkan states began to quarrel with each other over the spoils.

Thirty days after the treaty of London had been signed they were all at it again, with the same old playing the Greeks in the Thessalonika district and the Serbians and Montenegrins in the Balkans. Bulgaria declared war against Greece and Turkey on October 10, 1913. Turkey declared war against Greece and Serbia on October 18, 1913. A Bulgarian army of 300,000 men occupied Thessalonika on the 24th and the Serbians on the 27th. Two days later was the preliminary battle of Lule Burgas, the chief battle of the war, with a front of 22 miles. In this battle the Turks lost 35,000 killed and wounded, 8,000 prisoners, while the Bulgarians lost 15,000 killed and wounded. The Turks fell back upon the Thessalonika, the last line of defense for Constantinople.

Meanwhile the Serbians had swept into Macedonia and were driving the Turks before them with heavy losses, while one part of their army was sent to join the Greeks at Salonika and another detachment to help the Montenegrins. The Greeks, coming up from the south, vented their anger in several engagements and finally captured Salonika. Turkey asked the powers to mediate.

TREATY OF LONDON 1913.

Pact Wherein the Neutrality of Belgium Was Defined.

The treaty by which the present kingdom of Belgium was created and its neutrality guaranteed was signed at London on November 18, 1839, by the representatives of Austria, Prussia, France, England and Russia. It was, in fact, not merely one "scripture" which the Great Powers signed when they invaded Belgium in 1914, but two—for this neutrality guaranteed by the treaty of 1839 was affirmed by Germany at the beginning of the Franco-Prussian war of 1870 at the demand of England, France and Vienna, after Napoleon war had constituted Belgium and Holland one country under the House of Orange; the Belgians were then sitting in London to settle the question of Greece. France proposed that the Belgian question be referred to the arbitration of the Polish arbitrator, which now binds the Belgian crown. It could attend to a host of other questions, but the Italian question was harassed by the Italian question in guarding her eastern frontiers. So England and France were allowed to have their way, and was the way of Belgian independence.

Failed to Settle Trouble.

The Congress of London issued several proposals intended to settle the Belgian question. One of them was to do so. One stipulation was that the Belgian king refused to give up and Belgium claimed; deputies from that duchy attended the Congress. The Belgian king refused to accept the terms of the Congress. The Belgian king refused to accept the terms of the Congress. The Belgian king refused to accept the terms of the Congress.

On August 5, 1830, while the people of Holland were supposed to be celebrating the king's birthday, a revolutionary party was formed in the opera house in Brussels. Stirred by the dramatic representation of the audience began to shout for France and against Holland. The cries were heard in the streets and in the city hall. The old standard of Brabant and the red tricolor into a revolution. In a few hours the Belgians were in the hands of the revolutionaries. The revolution spread to the country like wildfire. The revolutionists made a proposal to the king that he should submit to the states-general a proposition for separate government for Belgium and Holland under the House of Orange. The king promised and fulfilled his promise to the states-general. A provisional government was established in Brussels which declared Belgian independence and called upon all Belgians serving in the Dutch army to return home. The provinces were now

My husband saved my life. I was suffering from a severe case of dyspepsia and indigestion. I had lost my appetite and was unable to eat. McKenney
Gains 17 Lbs.

Eats What She Pleases and
Sleeps Like a Child Now,
Says Minn. Woman

"I never thought I would let my name be used in connection with medicine, but if it had not been for Tanlac I would still be a sick woman and I feel that I ought to try to help others by telling them about it," said Mrs. J. F. McKenney, who resides at 1121 Cedar Ave., Minneapolis, recently, in a statement in which one of the benefits received is described is a gain of seventeen pounds.

"I had been suffering from stomach trouble for five years," she continued, "and had almost despaired of ever getting relief. My appetite was very poor and I always suffered so much pain in my stomach after meals that I had gotten almost afraid to eat anything. My food would ferment and the gas from it would press on my heart until I would just have to fight for breath. I often had nervous, sick headaches and was very dizzy at times. I could hardly ever get a good night's sleep, was very weak, and always got up in the mornings feeling as tired as when I retired at night. In fact, that tired worn-out feeling was with me all the time and I hardly had strength to do my household work."

"Finally I got to taking Tanlac on the advice of my daughter in Minneapolis, Oklahoma. She told me of a minister who said he did not believe there was ever a case of stomach trouble Tanlac would not relieve, and the results in my case have convinced me that he was right. Soon after I began taking it my appetite improved and I commenced to gain both in weight and strength. My appetite is just fine now, the gas has stopped forming on my stomach, and I can eat what I please and all I want without ever having a pain or an uncomfortable feeling afterwards. I sleep just like a child every night, get up in the mornings feeling rested and refreshed."

"When I began taking Tanlac I only weighed one hundred and eighteen pounds, but I now weigh one hundred and thirty-five, making an actual gain of seventeen pounds. This is just what six bottles of Tanlac has done for me and there's nothing too good for me to say for it."

Tanlac is sold in Pine City by E. J. Prochaska.—adv.

Suspected Kidnaping Proves Untrue

The entire Pokegama lake region and many of the surrounding towns were stirred, last Sunday morning, by the reported kidnaping of Mrs. Frank Gardner, her cousin Miss Whitaker and Raymond Swanson, following the dance in the town hall there, last Saturday night. The report happily proved untrue.

The three had left the hall to walk home, while Mr. Gardner drove the car the short distance with a load of materials from the refreshment stand, passing them on the road. On reaching the house, he entered and was busily engaged when his attention was called to their failure to arrive, they having sat down on the lawn to enjoy the cool air. This caused enquiry at neighbors' without fully gathering at home and resulted in much undue alarm for a time.

The Value of Your Tractor Is Based on the Service It Gives

If it works all the time it is worth all you pay for it. You can keep it working all the time by using the right kind of lubricating oil.

One burned out bearing will offset the cost of a year's supply of lubricating oil. The Standard Oil Company has prepared three oils—

Heavy Polarine Oil
Stanolind Tractor Oil
Extra Heavy Polarine Oil

Years of experience and study have developed that one of these three oils is the correct oil for you to use. The nearest Standard Oil representative has a chart prepared by our Engineering Staff, which indicates the correct oil for you to use to get the best results in your particular tractor.

We have just published a 100-page book, "Tractors and Tractor Lubrication," prepared by our Engineering Staff which you will find a valuable reference book, and we believe it will save you many days of tractor idleness with the resultant money loss. It's free to you for the asking. Address

For Tractor Lubrication

Heavy Polarine Oil
Stanolind Tractor Oil
Extra Heavy Polarine Oil

Stanolind Tractor Oil has been found, through severe and thorough tests, to be the best lubricant for more than one-half of the tractors made.

This oil is one of great durability. It stands the high temperature developed in a tractor engine without change in body.

It has the correct body to thoroughly lubricate the remotest frictional surfaces, eliminating scored cylinders and undue wear.

Where mechanical conditions or design make it desirable to use a slightly heavier, or slightly lighter, oil than Stanolind Tractor Oil, Extra Heavy Polarine Oil or Heavy Polarine Oil is recommended.

Any Standard Oil representative will be glad to show you the chart of Tractor Lubrication, prepared by our Engineering Staff. It indicates specifically which of these three oils the Standard Oil Engineers have found will give the best results in your particular tractor.

We have just published a 100-page book "Tractors and Tractor Lubrication," prepared by our engineering staff, which you will find a valuable reference book, and we believe it will save you many days of tractor idleness with the resultant money loss. It's free to you for the asking. Address
