

When the Farmer Has to Plow

HERE comes a time on every farm when work must be done at once if it is to be done at all. It may be plowing, cultivating, harvesting, or housing of the crops. When conditions are right the work must be started and pushed with all possible speed if the farm is to pay a maximum return that season.

Under such conditions the man on the job has no time to go to town, even to get necessary supplies, and no one on the place can be spared for that purpose.

Some times it is necessary to send in for food, seed, or machinery, but for his requirements of petroleum products, the farmer knows that he will be supplied by the dark green tank wagon of the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) which calls at his home as regularly, though not as often, as does the man who brings his mail.

He has learned that he can depend upon this delivery service, and that the Standard Oil man will deliver his kerosene, gasoline and lubricating oil not only to his door but, if needs be, to the tractor in the field—there are 150,000 tractors in the Middle West.

This is the reason for the harmonious, close, friendly relations which always has existed between the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) and the farmers of the Middle West. Also this is another reason why the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) takes pride in its position as a public servant, doing an exacting job as well as it knows how, to the distinct advantage of the man who raises the crops, and the millions who eat them.

Salvation Army Drive

The Home Service Drive for Pine County Next Week August 10 to 18

The Home Service Fund drive will be made next week—Aug 10 to 18. Drives have been made all over the United States and all money that will be raised is to be used in this country, only the Eastern drives, which have been held, exceeded their quotas in every instance, the total eastern campaign having gone over the top by $3,000,000.

It is hoped that Pine county will raise its full quota in this, as it has in all other drives. The county has been divided into 10 districts which will be handled by the following: Sturgeon Lake, D. W. Kilmer, J. E. Turrettin and Jas. Selenski Sandstone, Dr. James Slaven; Hinkley, C. L. Jack; Rock Creek, Edwin R. Peterson; Beroun, Chas. L. Peterson; Brook Park, A. E. Eddy; Finlayson, H. E. Shafer; Willow River, C. M. Erickson; Askov, L. C. Pedersen; Pine City, O. S. Brekke and G. N. Turves. Ask any soldier home from the front, as to the work done and the good accomplished by the Salvation Army, with their "bags" at the front during the war. It is safe to say you will find no criticism and nothing but praise for the "Salvation Lassies" who were at the front, where the fighting was thickest and the suffering the worst. Their "daughters" have become famous throughout the world, and the least we can do to show our appreciation is to support their drive to the best of our ability. They were on the job for our boys "Over There." Let's all be on the job for them over here.

Soldiers May Keep Equipment
The Pine Poker is in receipt of a letter from Congressman Thomas D. Schall, in regard to the equipment used by soldiers while in the service, stating the following articles of clothing and equipment may be permanently retained by enlisted men upon honorable discharge: 1 overcoat (for all enlisted men who had service overseas) or 1 hat and hat cord for all other enlisted men, 1 olive drab shirt, 1 service coat and ornaments, 3 scarlet socks, 1 pair breeches, 1 pair shoes, 1 pair leggings, 1 waist belt, 1 overcoat, 2 suits underwear, 4 pair stockings, 1 sacker, 1 pair gloves, 1 gas mask and helmet (if issued overseas), 1 set toilet articles (if in possession when discharged), and 1 barrack bag.

"Any enlisted man who served in the United States army during the war and who was honorably discharged or furloughed to the Reserve since April 6, 1917, and who has returned to the Government any of the above articles, or whom for any reason they were never issued, may make application for blanks for such articles to Congressman Schall, West Terrace, Capitol building, Washington, D. C. and similar clothing and uniform in kind and value as near as may be returned to him. The application should state sizes required and will be accompanied by affidavit made before any civil or military officer authorized to administer oaths, setting forth the soldier's record of service since April 6, 1917, the date and place of his discharge or furlough to the Reserve, the articles and kind of clothing retained to Government, whether soldier O. D. or woolen I. D. and certifying that none of the articles applied for were retained by him at the time of his discharge or furlough to the reserve, or if retained, that they had been restored to the Government since that time. "Officers and enlisted men who have returned gas masks or helmets may make similar application for these articles and they may be issued if available."

Our First Re-Union at State Fair
Every in-coming vessel from overseas is bringing them—tens of thousands of them—veterans of Chateau Thierry, Belleau Woods, the Argonne and innumerable other places of America's victorious legions on their way back home.

What a reunion it will be when they all get back—what reviews and parades and gala days—what occasions for public rejoicing. Even now, a full month ahead of the big reunion at the Minnesota State Fair, Aug. 30 to Sept. 6, full plans for that great Reunion have been laid. It will be a stupendous event, bigger than anything ever held in this part of the country.

There will be reviews, military music by America's most noted military bands, and hosts of other features. The crowning feature of the fair—the daring flights by Lieut. Ormer Locklear, who masses from one plane to another—is a reunion feature in itself, since Locklear learned the art of flying as an instructor in an American aviation camp.

It is sincerely hoped that everyone in this community will participate in the festivities at the State Fair this year, and help greet our boys just returned home. We owe that much to them without question.

More Baby Clinics

Pine County Health Assn. to Hold Baby Clinics Again This Fall

Residents of Pine county will be glad to learn that the Baby Clinics, which were discontinued a short time ago, will be resumed in the near future and will be held under the direction of the Pine County Health Assn. The Clinics, which were formerly held under the auspices of the State Board of Health and were discontinued on account of lack of funds will now be handled through the Minnesota Public Health Assn., who have secured the cooperation of the Northwestern Pediatric Society which is closely allied with the University of Minnesota and is composed largely of children specialist physicians on the university staff for children clinics throughout Minnesota.

Mrs. E. H. Long, president of the Pine County Health Assn., will call an executive meeting of the association to be held at Hinkley, soon, when plans will be made to continue the clinics, which the association is planning to hold in the different communities of the county at least every two months. Plans will also be discussed for holding a tuberculosis clinic, in conjunction with the State Advisory Commission, sometime before the first of January.

Go To It
In another column of this paper you will find a partial program of the "Chicago County Fair." Other features will be added to the program before opening dates. The officers and directors of the fair are starting no time and expense in making this year's fair the best ever, and the encouragement already given and the support promised in the line of exhibits is very much appreciated.

One of the very best ways to get the most enjoyment out of the fair is to take an actual part in it and make an exhibit. The fair will be much more interesting to you if you have an exhibit. You will enjoy comparing your products with those from other parts of the county, winning over someone or losing to someone who has something better. Be an exhibitor. Go to it and bring to it.

Chicago county promises to become one of the strong dairying centers in the state, and in order to bring this about the Fair Association has increased the premiums in the cattle department, and a large number of entries have already been promised. A few hours spent at the cattle exhibit, studying the cows and talking with the exhibitors will be well worth the time, and may help you to improve your own herd.

In order to avoid the congestion at the fair on opening day the secretary asks you to hand in a list of your entries four or five days ahead of the fair, or as soon as you can. Entry tags can then be made out before hand which will save you a great deal of waiting on fair day, and will be of great assistance to the superintendants. Any additional articles not listed in advance can be handed in at the fair grounds on entry day. For entry blanks call or write Carl Semmer, Secretary, or Donald Wilson, Manager of exhibits.

Washington, Aug. 6.—Plans for a permanent peace time army of 500,000 officers and men and a system of universal military training have been transmitted to congress by Secretary Baker.

Under provisions of the bill, representatives of the military establishment, all special services built up in the war would be retained in their present status to keep the chemical warfare service, which would be merged with the engineering corps.

Training for Youths. Three months military training for youths of 19 would be compulsory. Youths completing the course of training would be subject to military service for two years in peace time, but it is impossible to determine how long would be required to serve for that length of time.

No Change in Guard. The bill makes no change in the training law with regard to the organization of the national guard and its relation to the regular army.

The reserve strength to be created by universal military training could be utilized in time of emergency to bring to war strength the 20 infantry divisions and one cavalry division into which it is proposed to divide the regular army.

Gained 17 Pounds

Troubles Overcome by Taking Tanlac—Had Suffered Eight Years
"I suffered for eight long years before I found a medicine that would do me any good, but since taking Tanlac I have gained exactly thirty-seven pounds, and all my troubles have been completely overcome," said John N. Moore, a well known and prosperous farmer who lives on R. 1. D. 4, Empire, Ill., while in Shorthose's drug store in Bloomington the other day.
"When I commenced taking Tanlac," he continued, "I had reached the point where I couldn't do any work at all, and was forced to hire a hand to take my place on the farm. I had suffered so much and so long with stomach trouble, I was just about down and out so far as health and strength was concerned. During all these years my appetite was very poor, and what little I did manage to eat would cause me worlds of suffering. Gas would form on my stomach so bad that I could hardly get my breath, and I would have the worst sort of cramping spells. I finally got to where I was hardly ever able to retain what I ate, and would actually get nauseated every time I looked at anything to eat. I had fallen off so much, and was so low in health that all my friends were talking about the awful condition I was in. I was very nervous all the time and never knew what a good night's sleep was.
"I heard about Tanlac, then, and I thought I would give it a trial. Well sir, my friends and neighbors are talking differently now. They are asking me what in the world have I been taking to make such a big improvement in my condition, and it just does my heart good to tell them that Tanlac did it. It is wonderful the way I have gained in weight and strength. I can go to the field now and do as much hard work as any hand on the farm. My stomach seems to be in perfect condition, and I never have indigestion, and am not bothered with gas forming after meals. I have the best appetite I ever had in my life, and can eat just anything I want. I am free from all that nervousness, too, and I sleep just like a boy every night. Tanlac has done all that for me, and I am as well and hearty now as I ever was in my life, and as long as I live I will pass the good word along to others who suffer as I did."
Tanlac is sold in Pine City by E. J. Prochaska.

A Little Dope on Base Ball

Rush City ball club autoed over to Rock Creek, last Sunday, and defeated the Creek aggregation, by the score of 12 to 4. The first five innings were well played, but in the sixth, the ball-club went on, with three hits and half dozen errors gave Rush City the contest. Yost took the mound for Rock Creek, but was relieved in the sixth by Damm, who got away nicely the balance of the game. Peterson took the mound for Rush City and went the entire nine rounds.
Rock Creek will play the fast Stanchfield team, at the Vandike farm, near Rock Creek, next Sunday. Stanchfield has a fast club and it will be worth your time to come out and watch the battle. Yost or Damm will do the twirling for Rock Creek and "Smoky" Peterson will work for the Stanchfield club.
What is the matter with forming a six team base ball league in this neck-of-the-woods. With proper management it sure would be a winner. For instance if the following towns would put a club into the field—Hinckley, Rush City, Rock Creek, Pine City, Mora and Abraham, all these towns are close together and autos could be used for transporting clubs to their scheduled dates. Who is going to make the start—don't all speak at once. With such men as Jordan-Yost-Garbois as managers for the local club, without a doubt will make it a winner.
"Dad" Buckle was seen stepping around a egg as a spring chicken at the Creek, last Sunday. "Dad" is about forty pounds over weight, but he gets there just the same.
"Bill" Johnson, has quit the pitching game for Rush City, and is now stepping around the third-station.
On July 27—Rush City ball club autoed over to Ogilvie and were cleaned-up by that club, by the score of 6 to 2. Ogilvie rapped Peterson and Johnson of Rush City for 16 safe clouts, and both held Rush City to 6 safe ones.

The Home Service Campaign

The Salvation Army has survived the acid test of the war, and has emerged stronger, more efficient and more determined than ever to accomplish its great purpose in the world. The very esteem and admiration which its service with the American Expeditionary Force have won for the Salvation Army in the hearts of the people of the United States have brought new responsibilities, responsibilities which demand an extension of its facilities and of its activities. The Salvation Army will continue as heretofore to lift up those who are in distress, to bind the wounds of the injured, to teach those who have fallen to raise their heads again and renew their hearts with hope, but the scope of its activities will be wider, the effects of its labors more lasting. The Salvation Army's millions of new friends demand this; it is the penalty of its new popularity. And to meet the demands that peace will make upon it, the Salvation Army must have financial support.

Primarily the Salvation Army is a religious body, founded in London by General William Booth in 1865, for evangelistic work. Its labors for social relief, by which, possibly, it is best known, are an outgrowth from its missionary efforts. It was first known as the Christian Mission, but the present name was adopted in 1878 as typifying perfectly its purposes—the salvation of mankind from all forms of moral, spiritual and physical distress. The activities of the Salvation Army are practical, concrete—and productive. Slum Settlements, Rescue Homes for fallen women, Mendicity Hospitals, Industrial Homes, Workingmen's Hotels, Orphans' Homes, Boarding Houses for young women, Fresh Air Camps, Free Employment Bureaus, Prison Relief, the distribution of free food, fuel, clothing, medicines and cash—these are only a few of the means the Salvation Army is using to champion the weak and to uplift the lowly. And these things it does in 61 countries and colonies, without regard to race, or creed or any other imaginable condition.

Not one dollar of the funds received by the Salvation Army from gifts of the American people to finance its war work at home or overseas has been, or can be, devoted to its manifold civilian activities. Money given for war service work has been, still is and must continue to be used for war service and for the relief of the war-stricken. The war has drained the finances to the utmost and now they must not only recoup their resources, but must do so on a scale to keep pace with the broadened scope of its activities and the significant changes going on in the country as a result of the war.

Salvation Army workers have always given generously, raising much of the necessary money as well as doing the work. Early in its career the tambourine became the natural collection box at meetings held both indoors and outdoors. Then came the well-known girl with the tambourine, soliciting funds wherever people gathered. Certain branches of their work, chiefly industrial, became self-supporting, often even earning profits which were devoted to the support of other departments or for enlarged service in their own field. In time persons of wealth, who came to know the work of the Salvation Army, gave financial aid. But the tambourine in the hand of the lassie always was the chief means of support—and a too uncertain resource it has always been.

The Salvation Army is asking the American people to subscribe $12,000,000 to maintain its varied work in the United States. The money will be for use in the United States only. Except for a small percentage which will be devoted to national work, the money raised in each community will be spent there.

Dollars for Doughnuts

Is the motto of honest Dave Ryan, cook in the United States Army for more than thirty years. Dave has worn the uniform of a private in the army and has fed the boys of practically every army camp in the country on beans and soup of his own cooking. He is known to folks everywhere for his honesty and for his retentive memory.

When the war broke out, Dave went with the rest and was a cook at Chateau Thierry. There came a day when he laid off his own cooking and looked around for some thing different. "Dead broke" but hungry as an ox, Dave heard of the Army but where they were serving, but doughnuts to the soldiers, as he approached the line. "Help yourself," said the Salvation Lassie with a smile, handing him five doughnuts. "And come back for more if you want them."

Recently he happened to be near the doughnut hut in Union Square, New York, during the Home Service campaign. He went in, and handed the lassie in charge five one-dollar bills.

"I own this for five doughnuts that I got at Chateau Thierry," he said. "I didn't have no money then, but when I heard about this home campaign I knew it was worth a dollar a doughnut and so here it is."

SMOCK FAIS ADDEE BY ALL

And now enters the smock—that is, it is entering everybody's wardrobe. At first, writes a fashion correspondent, this curious fall was followed only by those of artistic or gardening temperament or those who loved the most advanced and different sort of thing. The smock has undergone so many modifications from its first appearance as the typical peasant garment which it really is, that it is in fact at this time hardly recognizable. Its name, too, has changed, for whereas in the beginning it was just a smock, now it is known as the "overblouse," and the "blouse blouse," and the "cosack blouse." The garment itself in its present form is believed to be responsible for the acceptance of this type of blouse. The smock is so comfortable with its loose free lines that it became at once just the sort of thing needed for this sort of work, especially since it many women understand so cleverly, the adaptation of every mode that it are spread an avalanche of fashions especially abroad in the most important countries of the world.

A Lovely Smock Blouse.

One of the most beautiful of all the smock type of blouses seen lately is of finest inimitable white voile, braided all over in fine white silk braid in circle design. The bottom of the blouse has a hem of white silk faced back over the blouse. It is cut out at the front and sides with white silk. Two silver buttons caught together with loops of the narrow braid fasten it at the throat. It slips over the head in kimono fashion and a heavy silver cord of white slips around the waist and loops in front. This charming thing is to be worn with white skirts of satin or silk or crepe.

A curious concession to the overblouse-fashion is found in many elaborate waists of chiffon or organdie with the front piece left long enough to go over the skirt and the back stopping just at the waist line. The belt of the skirt slipped on over the panel gives the effect when worn under a coat or vest. The blouse of these blouses hangs the back. The vestee live on and on and on and on, just as often an simple waist of wash fabric as it does on the more elaborate type.

One final waist of organdie with vests made by using fall after fall of narrow Valenciennes lace. It often has the vestee is simulated by leaving the front panel longer than the back so that it hangs over the skirt. Just as often one finds a hem of some organdie (tracing color to the body of the blouse) adding the contrasting color appearing on collar and sleeves. Now and then in a very fine smock of organdie one finds this sort of trimming done with fine lace.

Of all of the delightful summer things we have seen none is more charming than the smock of organdie of a new sort which has a lot of a different color scattered thickly over its surface. Tiny frills of the plain organdie trim collar, cuffs and waist edge the turned back hem, while narrow string belts of the organdie hold the extra fullness in place at the waist. These offer the greatest degree of freshness and crispness—just any summer waist ought to have.

The Long Cosack Blouse.

A variation of the smock is the Cosack blouse. This is just as apt to reach to the knees as to the ankles, buttons right up to the chin, or again it is apt to separate down the front entirely to allow a vest underneath of richness and beauty. The Cosack blouse, as the name tells, is borrowed from the Russian. It has the same drooping fullness at the waist that one sees in the Russian peasant garment, or traced over a wide belt of the same material as the blouse or of a different color and fabric.

The skirt of this blouse is always very long and just above the ankles, the hem of the skirt is so much so that it is often worn with a thick coat of silver threads. This is to be worn with a skirt of silk or of some satin or gabardine and makes a pleasing contrast. The printed effect has been extensively used for the type of blouse. One seldom sees them without a belt of some sort, especially a heavy silver cord which encircles the waist and loops in front with heavy tassels or fringe.

If the smock is worn under the vest it is often left free and unbuttoned, but rarely is seen worn in this way without some sort of outer garment. The smock of the unbuttoned variety has a decidedly dressing room look, but so

Waist of Tailored Type

Now because there is much talk of these newer models we must not for a moment think that the regulation blouse or dress waist is out of favor. Indeed, it is not, and it is reported in fact in many instances it is being resorted to make them. The kimono type with its slip-on waist is still much favored for the dramatic blouse of organdie or chiffon. If you have a three fold foundation over which is hung a piece of contrasting color back and front. This panel, when closed, is so that it lies over the skirt and is so that in appearance. The sleeves of the blouse are of the same material and extend to the body. One often finds this type of waist designed in combination of organdie and chiffon or of silk and lace. The effect is pleasing and elegant.

As to the more radical of waist or evening or ballroom there are several models which had for favor. One of these is the "overblouse" design following the exact lines of a smock skirt and is usually altered for shortness. It has the same style of collar and is very much of a brilliant

Colors ARE IN ABUNDANCE

Shades especially popular for the Popular Blouse—White Veil for Warm Weather.

The colored silk and organdie which were favored in the previous blouse fashion are in evidence in many of the new designs. The blouse itself is made of the finest and most beautiful materials. The blouse is made of the finest and most beautiful materials. The blouse is made of the finest and most beautiful materials.

Shipbuilding In College Courses

Many Institutions Will Include Naval Architecture in Curriculums.

TO BE DEMAND FOR EXPERTS

United States Shipping Board Is Encouraging and Fostering Plans for Development of Marine Architects and Engineers.

New York—Schools of naval architecture and ship construction may soon become important branches of educational institutions of the United States if this nation continues its headway in maritime strength. Fourteen universities and technical colleges have signified their interest in a line of instruction that was decadent almost to the point of extinction when the needs of war presented a demand for ships that could not be denied and some of them have already established courses in naval architecture, marine engineering and ship construction, while others are planning similar action.

The United States Shipping Board Emergency Fleet corporation, which felt so keenly the lack of technicians in carrying out its shipbuilding program, and had to establish engineering courses in naval architecture, marine engineering and ship construction, and to establish similar courses in the open field of competition for expanding these fields of learning.

It is assumed by men in closest touch with the situation that the need for marine architects and engineers will grow as the yards expand and enter the open field of competition for construction for home and foreign account.

Mr. J. M. C. Jones, manager of the division of ship construction, recently sent letters to various naval and technical and preparatory schools which read as follows:

"Your curriculum include a naval architecture course, and if so would you be interested in reviewing a copy of the following information pertaining to ships and ship construction?"

"Technical order concerning change and alteration for vessels."

Rome—Italians are struck by the similarity of problems which face citizens of this small country and of the big, rich and most prosperous United States. They need food, political deficits, rail, their eyes and rail industry. It is possible that even America, that goldmine amongst countries, has these worries, just as we have. Even Italy, that rich and most prosperous United States, has these worries, just as we have. Even Italy, that rich and most prosperous United States, has these worries, just as we have.

Elmer, five, had seen her first dance, five, had seen her first dance, five, had seen her first dance. She was watching the dancers, but had little to say when she got home that evening.

The next morning mamma told her to tell daddy about the dance, as it explained it thus to daddy.

Well, you see, daddy, they sort of couple up with their hands on this way on one side and hug with the other hands and then they scrape their feet on the floor and sort of run up one side of the floor, scraping their feet, and down the other side."

SAVED TWO FAMOUS PICTURES

Old Masters Taken by British Officer From the Ruins of Ypres Cathedral.

The king of the Belgians will shortly have returned to him two famous pictures which were rescued, four years ago, from Ypres cathedral. It appears that during the bombardment of Ypres in 1915 a young British artillery officer noticed inside the cathedral, which was being heavily shelled, that the only things not shattered by German fire were two large Flemish masters, dated 1660, hanging some 20 feet high on the walls. How to get them and save them from Belgium was the question which immediately presented itself. The officer called two private soldiers to help him, and with the aid of some long gas pipes which he had blown down by the German fire, and two large hooks, the pictures were lowered to the ground. The officer, Lieutenant Daniels, R. A., then cut the pictures out of their frames and put them in a large sack which he used for a time as a bed. In the end he took them to London, where, with the approval of the Belgian minister, they have been placed on exhibition prior to being returned to King Albert at Brussels.

Self-Announced.

A story told by Bishop Greer illustrates the plain nature of the man. On an occasion when he was to confirm a class a carriage was sent for him in charge of an English coachman who had been imported by a wealthy American. Bishop Greer walked unaccompanied and in non-ceremonial dress from his front door to the carriage and entered it—but the driver did not move his horses. After waiting for a moment the bishop asked the man why he did not drive on.

"Well, waiting for the last bishop of New York, sir," the proper person replied.

"Well," said the bishop, "tho' I drive on—Christian Register.

FAMOUS PEACE TREATIES

TREATY OF ST. PETERSBURG, 1772.

One of the Many Efforts to Straighten Out Poland.

Poland, having been taken off the map by a treaty, is now to be put back again by another treaty...

At last in 1806, when the American colonies were already settled commonwealth, Poland was so powerful that her king, John Sobieski, marched with a Polish army, relieved the siege of Vienna and saved Europe from being overrun by the Turk.

After all, it took four months after the signing of the armistice to sign a treaty with Spain...

Seems Like Prophesy. I have a friend, a professor at I. I. Stanford Junior University, who many years ago was a tutor in the house of Hohenzollern. He taught the six tiny sons of the former emperor to shoot. This friend was telling me not long since that one day when he was instructing young Frederick Hohenzollern, the crown prince in matters of history, discussion arose between teacher and pupil about the rise and fall of dynasties.

The advantage of having of hollow tile is twofold. The air spaces in the tile provide insulation, which makes the barn warm in the winter and cool in the summer although the herd is housed little during the hot weather.

It will be noted that there is an abundance of windows in the stable walls. These permit the entrance of both fresh air and sunlight, two essential factors in the health of the cow and horse. Sunshine is nature's greatest disease germ killer and is a purifier.

Pine County in the World War

Unusual interest is being manifested in the announcement that a history of Pine county's participation in the war will be published. This large volume will contain pictures of all the service men from this county together with their records. There will also be pictures of draft board officials, medical examining board, legal advisory board, county chairmen of committees, prominent workers, scenes from villages and townships, pictures sent home by our men from camps and overseas.

Every county in the state has either published or has a history of this kind in the state of completion. It is the only way to record the happenings at home and also to secure a collection of pictures of all the men from the county who have done their duty so well. A book of this kind will be priceless in years to come, and everyone should cooperate to see that the pictures and service records of the men from their families are sent in promptly, as every service man's picture must be included. There is no charge for inserting pictures, and the photographs will be returned in good condition as soon as cuts are made.

Send the picture of your service man today. Send a picture in uniform if possible; otherwise a civilian picture will do. If you have no photograph, send a kodak or postal card picture but be sure that you send a picture. Tell when he enlisted, when discharged (or if still in service); regiment; camp; overseas service (if any); battles fought; etc.

Do this today and address County History, care The Pine Piker, Pine City, Minn.

THE TRACTOR That Keeps Busy All the YEAR ROUND

When you think of tractors, your first thought is probably of plowing. But plowing is only the beginning of the Cletrac's wide range of usefulness. While this sturdy machine is constantly demonstrating its ability to handle two 10-inch bottoms at from 3 to 3 1/2 miles an hour—8 to 10 acres a day—it is the other work it does that makes it different and better—the

CLETRAC TANK-TYPE-TRACTOR

(Formerly known as the Cleveland Tractor)

not only plows, but it does all the work necessary in preparing the seed bed. And it does this without packing the soil.

After the ground is broken, the Cletrac goes over it with the dice and harrow—then goes over it with the seeder.

The Cletrac rides on top of the seed bed and does not waste its power in constantly climbing out of its own tracks.

It Does More Kinds of Work-- More Days in The Year

At harvest time, the Cletrac takes the place of the teams necessary for pulling the binders.

It handles the hot, horse-killing job of pulling the hay-loader.

It takes care of the Summer plowing immediately after harvesting, and does this work quickly and well—something that is practically impossible for the farmer who depends on horses.

Summer plowing often means all the difference between profit and loss in the next year's crop-- BUY YOUR CLETRAC NOW

We can deliver it from stock to day—and we can put it to work on your farm tomorrow.

E. G. Sadoris of Fort Dodge, Iowa, reports that the use of his Cletrac made it possible for him to harvest his grain last Summer in half the time required when he used horses and with less help. In fact, his 14-year-old boy operated the tractor, pulling one binder, and accomplished as much in the same time as could have been done by two horse-pulled binders, each pulled by a five-horse team.
