Cinches Band Wants Roads

Development Assn. Meeting & Field-Meet of Investment Monday Evening

The meeting of the Pine City Development Assn. Monday evening was very well attended and full of interest and enthusiasm for several matters of improvement.

A proposition of two young men from the state law school, both of whom saw service in France during the war, to put on a debate of the League of Nations question here was at first rejected and then re-considered and the committee on education with James D. Boyle as chairman authorized to make an engagement with them and proceed to put the debate on whenever seems most advisable. The cash outlay for this will be about $75—$50 to the debaters and $25 for army and advertising. It is thought the debate will be instructive and of great interest and that the association will be able to net something on the venture by charging a nominal admission.

The hand question came up on report of the committee who stated that they were in touch with W. H. Bastien of Minneapolis who could secure for $75 per month for the land, his time outside of those duties to be his own. On motion, the music committee, consisting of Messrs. Jordan, Breckenridge and Bohon, was instructed to enter into a contract with Mr. Bastien as stated above and he is expected here with his family about October 1. It was stated that the council would contribute liberally—probably $500—to this amount and that the association, though making the contract, would not have to pay any of the money out of its own treasury.

The question of an aeroplane landing here, to allow planes traveling between the Twin cities and Twin ports to land was brought up and a committee appointed to have the space within the race course, or the fair grounds leveled and prepared for the purpose. The question of good roads came up and Judge Therrien was instructed to appear before the board of county commissioners at their next meeting this week and represent the association in urging them to call an election to bond the county for good roads, preferably in the sum of $1,000,000.

Having transacted that business the meeting adjourned.

Pine County has Good Exhibit

The big Minnesota state fair, for this year, has come and gone. Visitors from Pine County, and there were hundreds of them from all over this county, to this "Victory Celebration" were well entertained, there being something for every one's taste, from the merry-go-round and sideway speels for the young folks to the grain, poultry and livestock exhibits for the farmers.

Lieutenant Lockyer held the vast crowd breathless while he did the "daredevil" stunts on an aeroplane, such as crawling out on the wings of the machine, standing on his head on top of the plane and hanging on by his knees from the axle of the wheels. It was worth the trip to the grounds just to see him climb by a rope ladder from one plane to another in mid-air. He would stand on top of one aeroplane and another machine with a short rope ladder suspended would fly above him, as it passed he caught the ladder, hung by his knees for a couple of minutes and then climbed up beside the pilot. The big crowd heaved a mighty sigh of relief when the feat was accomplished.

Perhaps no department created more interest to Pine county folks than the displays in the agricultural building. While the Pine county exhibit did not lead in the number of points won, still the display was a credit to the county and Matt Pofel, in charge of the exhibit, deserves no little praise for the hour he put in. He was the first to arrange his exhibit, thereby giving other counties a chance to profit by his arrangement and enlarge on his ideas. It was hard for Matt to get the best samples of stuff grown here as most of the farmers were holding them for the local fairs.

"Summer Flu" Rages Among Child

There is a great deal of sore throat and fever, termed "summer flu" raging among the children over the county. No deaths are reported that we are aware of. Tell your friends about The Poker.

County Fair Opens Today

Fine Exhibits in Every Department And Sure To Be a Record Breaker

The fair grounds are alive, today, with concessioners, superintendents, exhibitors and scores of people making preparations to give Pine county one of the best fairs seen for some time. The village began to feel the celebrating spirit, today, when a crowd gathered about the "old" but always new "dancing monkey" who was cavorting at the end of a string to strains of music tinkling forth from a hand-organ. Everything will be in place for the grand opening tomorrow—look at ad on this page for complete program. A trip through the grounds reveals a fine showing of displays and exhibits. Beron and Chengwatana farmers' clubs have each a very complete and fine display of canned fruit, vegetables, grains and fancy work. The Beron exhibit was brought from the Beron fair, held last Saturday.

On entering the culinary tent, one is immediately attracted by a strong desire to bite into some of the delicious fruit and food stuffs shown. These departments are very nicely arranged by Mrs. Paul Perkins, supt. of the culinary department and L. E. Dodge of the fruit department.

The ladies will be able to spend a very profitable and enjoyable hour in the fine arts department where Mrs. Wm. Bantion is in charge and has a large and very pretty assortment of needle-craft work.

J. W. Touley has a large and excellent showing of poultry in the department, an exhibit that will attract a great deal of attention. The horses, swine and sheep and poultry entries are not so extensive this year as on others, still it is expected a good exhibit in these departments will be on hand tomorrow. The superintendents of these are: H. W. Daley, E. Hinz and J. H. Wurblich. The Pine County Health Assn. have erected a tent on the grounds, where health exhibits are on display. Dr. Taylor of the Taylor sanitarium and others will lecture there during the fair. A trained nurse from the National Red Cross will also be on hand to give all possible aid and to examine children. They will conduct, in their tent, the first demonstrations in clothing and feeding of infants and will have a chart for testing eyes. This will be one of the most interesting and valuable exhibits on the grounds and will attract lots of interest and attention.

Don't fail to visit the American Legion booth. The boys have a big display of war relics under display, which are well worth seeing.

In connection with the fair the Fair Association will stage a boxing bout, in the armory, Friday evening, at 9 p. m. The main event will be a fight between Charlie McCarthy and Johnny Salvador, to go 8 rounds. McCarthy fought here on July 4, and sustained his reputation as a good clean boxer and a hard hitter, a good reputation and it looks as if our fight fans will have an opportunity to witness a real fast fistic battle. There will also be a 10-round bout between Cashill and Stroud, two fast fighters. Curley Ulrich, state referee will act in that capacity, which assures the public of good clean entertainment for the evening.

There will be a dance in the armory Saturday evening given by the fair association. Polka are coming to the fair, Friday and Saturday, from all over the county and there are sure to be crowds each day.

The amusement program is complete, and will give everyone a good time. Put on your "old gray bonnet" and get into the procession.

G. N. Turner Returns With Bride

Mr. and Mrs. G. N. Turner accompanied by Mrs. E. D. Fogle and Miss Hazel Fogle mother and sister of the bride, and her cousin Miss Millie Pettis, arrived in Pine City Sunday afternoon, from Linton, N. D., having made the trip by auto. The visitors left Linton, N. D., accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Turner, as far as Minneapolis, where they were met by E. D. Fogle who returned to their home with them. Mr. and Mrs. Turner returned to Pine City, Tuesday, where they will make their home.

The following article is taken from the Emmons County Record, Linton, N. Dak. "Grown together to manhood and womanhood in Linton, two well-known young people, Mr. Glen Turner and Miss Ethel Fogle, were united in marriage at the Episcopal church yesterday at 11 a. m., Rev. Buzelle officiating. After the wedding, a wedding dinner was served at the home of the bride's parents to a few of the intimate friends of the young couple.

The wedding was a simple affair, only the relatives and close friends being present. Both the bride and groom have been raised practically from childhood in Linton. It is one of the few romances that develop from grade school days. They attended school almost continuously together from the lower grades.

"The bride needs no introduction to Emmons county people. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elmer D. Fogle, of Linton. After completing high school in Linton, she engaged in teaching for a time, and, with her sister, taught in school at Kirtland last year. The groom is now making his home at Pine City, Minn., but has spent practically all his life in Linton. Mr. and Mrs. H. N. Turner, his parents, first came to Linton to live shortly after the Milwaukee railroad was built here. Glen was in the Blamark in April, 1917, when the United States declared war. He was promptly enlisted in Co. A at that place and served almost two years overseas returning home a sergeant of infantry.

"In the afternoon, the happy couple, accompanied by the bride's mother and sister, Miss Hazel, and Miss Millie Pettis, cousin, left for their Minnesota home by automobile. They will make their home at Pine City, Minn., where the groom has opened an insurance and real-estate office.

"The best wishes of their host friends go with them to their Minnesota home."

Pine County Boys Want a Calf Club

Dear Mr. Poker man: We kids want a calf club awful bad but don't know our way to do it. We pay no attention to us. We fellows talked it over with Silmy and Pat and I was asked to write to you and get you to help on this thing started. When you would put in your paper what we got to do to get our club in let us kids have good calves. Won't you ask all the kids to send their names to you that want a nice pure bred calf club. Good bye, your little friend, Willie.

Train Wreck at Brook Pk.

Every Car Rolls Down Ten Foot Embankment None Killed

The north bound limited on the Great Northern Ry. was wrecked at Brook Park at noon today and scores of passengers injured—some very severely—though none were killed. This is doubtless due to the fact that the train was a steel. Wooden cars would have been crushed and many killed.

The train was going through town at a high rate of speed when a spring on the tender broke, derailing every car and throwing them all down a ten foot embankment after they had been dragged about 150 feet and the track entirely demolished for about 500 feet. The accident occurred about two blocks east of the depot.

Belief trains, bearing doctors and nurses were rushed to the scene from nearby points and some of the cases taken to the Braham hospital while Brook Park itself is one big hospital today, its homes all caring for the injured.

Sandstone Had a Fine Fair

The Sandstone fair, on Tuesday, was a great success in every way. There was a big attendance, the day was fine and the exhibits were excellent. Sandstone people spent about $650 on the day—and made it a success. The corn, potato, vegetable, fruit and ladies' work exhibits were especially fine—none better anywhere.

Pine Countyites See and Hear Wilson

Delegations from over the entire county were at St. Paul, Tuesday, to see and hear President Wilson and all that we have seen returned home enthusiastic supporters of the man and his ideas. Pine City, Hinesley, Sandstone, Astor, Silver Lake, Kirtland, Willow River were represented—and maybe others.

Council Transacts Important Business

The regular monthly council meeting has been changed to the first Monday of the month unless that falls on a holiday, when it will be held Tuesday evening. The September meeting was held in the village hall, last Tuesday evening, all members being present.

A petition being received, signed by 38 farmers, asking that Challenge street be allowed to remain in its present location for a year, same was granted.

The petition for an extension of water mains from the Herley to the Washie corner was taken up and Al Oman instructed to prepare set of specifications, after which bids will be advertised for and if Mr. Oman is not the successful bidder, he shall receive 2 per cent, otherwise the work to be considered part of his contract.

Fred Jordan was granted privilege of operating his pool room on Sundays from 1 to 10 o'clock p. m. The council voted to raise $6,000 by local tax next year, about $3,500 of which is estimated will be about $2,000 for road work and the balance for miscellaneous expenses.

A special meeting was held, last evening, to consider adding a levy for musical purposes—to aid the balance for miscellaneous expenses. A special meeting was held, last evening, to consider adding a levy to take from the $6,000 an amount equal to 1-2 of one mill tax—about $170—for band purposes. Bills amounting to about $925 were allowed, about half being for road work about the south end of Cross Lake, of which the county stands $300.

He was a Strange Lover

What could have been his emotions as he sat on the topmost limb of the Mighty Jungle Tree, surrounded by those language he companions, the Apes who were his friends? He was a strange lover, and gazed below at the beautiful white woman who had become lost in the tangle of the primitive forest. Why did he crush her to his breast and shower her with kisses, he who had nestled at the breast of a mother ape?

Why should she look upon him with eyes of love, she who had always hid within the arms of civilization? See why in "Tarzan of the Apes" at the Family Theatre, Thursday and Friday, Sept. 18 and 19.

County Gasoline Stolen—By Whom?

Nearly a barrel of gasoline—about 45 gallons to be more exact—was stolen from one of three barrels standing on the roadside just north of Victor Pepin's on the range line east of Rock Creek, Monday evening. It had been put there that day for use of the big county tractor which was operating in that locality. The thieves rolled the barrel across the field about 30 rods to the east and west road, where they emptied out what they could take, using the bung hole and wasting lots of the precious fluid. The county also had some gas stolen from it near the N. A. Vandyk home, west of Rock Creek, recently, when the tractor was working there. Tell your friends about The Poker.

County Dads In Session

Several Matters of Co-Importance Coming up—May call Special Election

The board of county commissioners went into session this afternoon and will not adjourn until Saturday afternoon. Several important matters are coming up for consideration—the question of a crusher to break rocks on the roads and for them, building a monument in memory of the Pine-county soldiers in the world war and of bonding the county for good roads being among them. A delegation from Grantburg, Wis., appeared before them relative to the proposed state road east from Rock Creek, crossing the St. Croix and east to Grantburg and beyond. In the party were Representative J. P. Jensen, Co. Atty. C. J. Strang, Byron Selnes and Editor F. R. Huth. Our understanding is that the county board is very favorable to the plan as soon as money can be seen with which to carry it out.

The board will meet to consider the proposition of bonding the county further for good roads at 11 a. m. Saturday. No amount has been set for consideration—it will be merely to consider the matter in general.

New Culture Is Dream of Reds

Huge Sums are Expended by Bolsheviks to Promote Their Propaganda.

SEE WEIRD EFFECTS IN ART

Democratized Paintings are Splashes of Color That Outo the Work of Calista—Newspapers and Books are Scarce.

London.—"Professionalizing Russian culture," is one of the tasks allotted to the bolshevik government of Lenin and Trotsky. What this process consists of is told by the Copenhagen correspondent of the London Morning Post. He says:

"If the bolshevik system, as some likely disapprove altogether from this side during the present summer, a certain experiment in 'culture' thereby will be brought to an end. Beyond doubt the bolsheviks in common murder and plunder—the bolsheviks, Zaslavoff, in a speech of May 16, admitted that 'three quarters of the 140,000 soviet officials care only for their own pockets, but the other tenth is honest, energetic, and the conscious foundation of Bolshevism.'"

"One delusion is that there can be a specific bolshevik culture. Beyond doubt the bolsheviks are not only in the intervals of shooting old men and boys whose limbs of service are refused to fight, but also in organizing the villages, at which," says the Krasnyaya Gazeta, "in addition to showing placards and screaming stentorally the fanatics of our former form, we are providing real practical education, art, science, philosophy, history." It is culture stamped with the formidable "proletariat" mark. This "proletariat" a word coined by Lunatcharsky, is the official name of a state department with headquarters in the Dubovaya street, Petrograd, and in the Moscow Marosev palace. The co-edited work goes with Sovnarkom (Council of People's Commissaries), Glavkhar (for chief sugar monopoly), Sovdet, and other barbarous agencies which, with bolsheviks, have enriched the language of Turgenyev and Tolstoy.

"Millions Expended on Cult. The commissariat of education, over which Lunatcharsky presides, spent in 1918 2,500,000,000 roubles (approximately $1,400,000,000), and the estimates of its expenditure for the first half of 1919 alone amount to 4,657,000,000 roubles, monthly about 50 per cent more than the whole annual had budget before the war. Of the first mentioned sum over 220,000,000 roubles the Krasnyaya Gazeta says, was on the encouragement of literature and the arts, that is, of the specific artistic and literary forms which are gloriously known as "proletkult." This art and literature are violently denigrated.

These fish specimens, all caught by fishermen before in a net at Turbat, Portugal, 25 to 30 lbs. long and one of a species unknown to the fishermen, being a sort of new between the sand lance and the great sardine.

OFFICERS HIT HARD IN WAR

Washington.—"Officers were hit harder than soldiers during the war," says a new study by the War Department.

The Moscow public were held weekly camps, where M. Lunatcharsky and even "our mighty Ditch" (U. S. Lenin) did not shrink from attending, though the velvet for Lenin, who is a cultivated man, must have been hard. Bolsheviki poets read about their verse, and bolsheviki publishers showed how impressively they had left post-impressionists, cubists and expressionists behind. Two or three were mere splash of color, framed in designs of common tan.

Many Papers Suspended. The plight of proletarian culture has grown markedly worse during the last few months, mainly owing to lack of paper. In Petrograd, instead of the Russian newspapers, there have appeared since April 1 only five. The bolshevik propaganda is still turning out many thin political pamphlets, some of which I have seen; but book publishing has almost entirely ceased, and the best known Russian novelists, Andreff, Kargin and Mereshkovsky, are beginning the publication of their writings with Bonnier of Stockholm. The inability to produce books at home will certainly continue for years."

VICTIM OF CONFIDENCE

Share in Estate of Grandmother is Misappropriated by Former Congressman—Nephew Accepts Action.

New York.—As the result of a settlement announced, James P. Dechert, who served as a lieutenant in France, will receive $125,000 as his share of the estate of his grandmother, Mrs. Sarah J. Flanagan, who died in 1908, although his uncle, Dr. Witt C. Flanagan, formerly a congressman from New Jersey and original promoter of the Cape Cod canal, misappropriated his share of $133,000 in his grandmother's estate.

The settlement under which the payment is to be made by his aunt, Mrs. Gertrude E. Shannon of 1211 Madison avenue, follows the report of John Deaton, named in 1916 as referee to hear objections by Lieutenant Dechert in the accounting by Mrs. Shannon and Mr. Flanagan, as executor under his grandmother's will.

Mr. Quinn took testimony in the case for two years in order to determine the accountability of Mrs. Shannon for the acts of her brother, and finally decided that the decisions in similar cases compelled him to hold that both Mrs. Shannon and Mr. Flanagan should account for Lieutenant Dechert's $125,000, with interest since 1908.

Counted for Mrs. Shannon objected to the liability ruling against her on the ground that she had acted innocently and had been guilty only of blind trust in her brother, but before the attorneys for Lieutenant Dechert had presented a decree to the surrogate directing the payment of the $125,000 with 13 years' interest, overtures for a settlement were made as a result of the acceptance by her nephew.

SKIRTS FULLER ACROSS HIPS

Feature That is Now Insisted On by Leading Parisian Dressmakers.

SOME GIVE PANNIER EFFECT

Bartling Novelty, It is Sure, Will Figure in the Gowns for Autumn, but Long-Waisted Bodice Will Be Retained.

The most striking feature of the autumn suits and gowns is the increasing fullness at the top of the skirts. The ways in which the great French dressmakers achieve this fullness are so interesting. One point on which most of them agree is that the fullness must be massed across the hips, leaving both front and back perfectly flat.

Bulox, however, has departed from this by introducing fullness across the front of his new skirts, thereby differentiating them from the other designers. He makes one skirt with a full front flange gathered across the top. It lies above the knee, this panel has its fullness thrown to a shaped flounce so that the greatest fullness of the flounce is at the edge where it joins the panel.

An instance in which Bulox, like the other designers, placed the fullness at the sides appears in a skirt which has winglike pockets to give the effect of panniers. This is decidedly new and unusual on a suit skirt. The jacket which accompanies it flares from the waist, giving such fullness about the hips that it approaches the point of clumsiness. But although both skirt and coat are so full at the hips the skirt still remains narrow at the hem.

Miss Jenny does something novel in the way of achieving hip fullness by making a skirt of very slim outline and applying to it rolled plaits which stand out over the hips. To make them even more pronounced she prds these rolls, which swing loose from the belt and disappear gradually.

The chemise dress, which has held the center of the fashion stage for so long, was originally launched by Jenny. She still makes chemise dresses, which have been her favorites for the last three years, but she does something which is different to hold their own among the wider hip models. Now Jenny's chemise dresses have wide panels hung at the sides.

BROWN VELVET HAT

A brown velvet hat decked with small loops of henna chenille.

The fitted or plated tunic is another method of producing the fashionable hip flare now so characteristic of the new frocks. Taffeta is frequently used for models of this sort.

Long-waisted bodice appears in almost all of these models. A black taffeta day gown featuring such a bodice and hip fitted tunic is illustrated here. The half low neck is round in outline and embroidered with claret color silk beads. The sash, which is really a continuation of the bodice, has its ends fringed with deep red bangles.

Dance Frocks Comes from Paris

Evening dresses still have very little in the way of bodies. Bright colored skirts topped off by black or colored make produce some of the new dance frocks.

From the house of Braut in Paris comes such a dance frock. It is simply a black satin skirt attached to a sash. The long slender train is made of ribbon. A vivid bit of color is introduced by having the sash consist of a train of orchid pink satin ribbon. The ribbon used for the train is very much narrower than that which forms the sash bodice. The shoulder straps are of jet beads. Slippers of orchid satin with stockings to match are worn with this frock.

Autumn hats are neither large nor small but of medium size. The Chinese silk embroideries being brought from round corners, which are completed by small arrays of berries of fur.

Hint From Russia. It is some time since Russia has been looked to as a source of fashion, but that designers are turning

WITH EYE TO DOUBLE DUTY

Frock Eminently Suitable for Present Wear Might Also Be Available.

Occasionally one sees a very good looking frock which with a few alterations could perhaps be worn next summer. This for instance, a long frock of net, such a frock could, with its full draperies easily have its skirt widened a little and its sleeves trimmed so that it would be a fairly good frock for the winter.

It is a frock of wide and it is caught up in draped effect. The width in these draperies is not so wide as that needed for a truck suit skirt.

Return to the subject of the new frock of silk for dance occasions. Several of these models are made upon the loose flatterer during the late spring and summer. They are made of silk and satin made with beads and lace and satin and what not.

For afternoon wear. Dress of cream georgette over fish crepe de chine. Lace and delicately tinted ribbons make this charming and turned up in a way that gives the effect of a bunching hip bangle. She also puts bulging pockets on the skirts of her tailored suits and lines those pockets with satin, arranging them to look as if they were turned inside out.

Side Gore Trimmings. Bernard's method of adding width and attaining the full effect in the skirt of tailored suits is by side gore trimmings which take the form of ruffled pocket flaps standing away from the figure. This is not an entirely new idea, for these outstanding pockets have been used on the front of skirts, but this creator gives them further elaboration by the ruffled flap.

The coats which accompany skirts of this sort are three-quarter length and cut flaring with the fullness falling over the hips. On these coats are placed fringed pocket flaps and sometimes dangling button trimming.

The chemise dresses are vying with one another in introducing startling novelties that are just now having their first show. A craze of the moment is the frock from Fremont shown at the extreme right. Jade green satin is the material used for it and the embroidery is of jade and silver. Prent in this model, obtains the breadth across the hips by placing double frills of silver lace down the sides of the skirt, bordering a taffeta panel; thus creating an entirely new silhouette. The satin bodice is snugly molded to the figure and a sash of the satin placed about the waist flutters beneath the panel at the front.

Latest Hip Flare. The fitted or plated tunic is another method of producing the fashionable hip flare now so characteristic of the new frocks. Taffeta is frequently used for models of this sort.

Long-waisted bodice appears in almost all of these models. A black taffeta day gown featuring such a bodice and hip fitted tunic is illustrated here. They thought toward that country is evidenced by a high draped Russian tunic formed of gray felt and trimmed at the front with roll sprays of fancy grey feathers.

Still another hat showing Russian influence has a small crown with an upturned brim curved high in front. Softly draped satin forms both the crown and the skirt. The crown is decorated in heavy threads of blue silk.

To correspond with the flaring hip flares, the new frocks are lined with wide edges, are bell shaped hats having as their trimming wide ruffles of taffeta which cross the top of the crown.

Vogue for Yellow. Pale yellow is exceedingly dear to Dame Fashion these days. There are cunning little frocks of yellow batiste for bedtimes and gaily dance frocks of yellow georgette and tulle for debaucheries. Tapes of red and blue and other yellow shades, and yellow silk stockings are the detailer cut with spring pumps.

Back in loops, or looped over and falling down the back of the skirt in panel effect.

Frocks of tulle and satin had an ascension tunic of georgette. The satin forms the bodice and upper part of the skirt. Attached to the lower part of the shaped panel tunic is a deep louver of accordion-plated georgette crepe, falling over an underlayer of the satin. There are cuffs of white georgette and a double collar of the same lined at the center with a colored crepe.

Silk crepe continues in both, light or dark. The latter figure heavily in the new wardrobe, and are fashioned in every conceivable style from the so-called "faded" to the "bright" and "faded" frock. A simple frock of light grey silk is trimmed with head and neck of red and blue and other yellow shades, and yellow silk stockings are the detailer cut with spring pumps.

Not and more not is used for evening wear—no color, every color, every shade, every texture, every style of color which can be done necessarily is one is a failure.

BITRO-PHOSPHATE IS GOOD FOR THIN NERVOUS PEOPLE

THE MEN IN CLASS A1

A PHYSICIAN'S ADVICE.

Frederick E. Kelle, M. D., Editor of New York Post-Opinion, says that weak, nervous people who are unable to stand a long day's work, should take a 6-grain tablet of Bitro-Phosphate five or six times each meal.

A sound, healthy man is never a back number. A man can be as vigorous and able at seventy as at twenty. Conditions that weaken by overwork and carelessness are the cause of many ailments. The bodily functions are impaired and the life is shortened. The weak spot is generally the kidneys. Keep them clean and in proper working condition and you will generally find yourself in Class A1. Take the GOLD MEDAL Hamlin Oil Capsules periodically and your system will always be in working order. Your spirits will be invigorated, your muscles supple, your mind active, and you will be able to do your work. Don't wait until you have been rejected by a first-class man. Go to your drugist at once for a trial box of GOLD MEDAL Hamlin Oil Capsules. They are made of the pure, original, imported Hamlin Oil—the kind your great-grandfather used. Two capsules each day will keep you toned up and feeling fine. Money refunded if they do not help you. Write for the imported GOLD MEDAL Brand. In three sales, tested capsules.

"I don't know what the young men of today are coming to," said Mr. Smith. "In my young days there wasn't any need for all this courting. The girls were easy to get."

It was one of the days near the end of June, and young Bill, having to sustain a reputation as one of San Francisco's best town painters, had had a long day. He looked it when, at 9 o'clock in the morning, he wandered into the hotel dining room to keep an appointment with a friend, who was just then at breakfast.

"I was only going to say, my dear," he remarked, when he had recovered his composure, "that I wish the young fellow who is calling on Christabel would go away and let us get the house about it. It's past midnight."

"Hello, Jack," Bill murmured, yawning. It appeared as if every syllable cost him untold effort. He sat down and rubbed his eyes with his fists. He bit his lips to keep from yawning again.

"At that moment there entered the small boy of the household. He had been for the last hour or so, behind the draught-screen in the drawing-room, and vowed that he had enjoyed himself better than if he had been at a movie show.

"Had breakfast?" Jack inquired. "No," the other replied. "Don't want any." "Well," Jack insisted, "have a cup of coffee, anyway." "Bill yawned again in spite of himself. "Don't want any coffee," he said. "It would keep me awake all day."—San Francisco Chronicle.

SOLONS LISTEN TO PRESIDENT

Wilson Tells Minnesota Law-makers High Cost is World Problem.

SUFFRAGE IS RATIFIED

Action Taken by Both Houses Quickly After Extra Session Begins—Sept. 19 Set as Date for Final Adjournment.

St. Paul—President Wilson's first public appearance on his visit to the Twin Cities was before the special session of the Minnesota Legislature where he talked for the first time since he left Washington on the high cost of living problem.

The president discussed intimately with the Minnesota legislators the high cost of living problem and the relations that should exist between labor and capital. Touching briefly upon the peace treaty, he did not fall upon the peace treaty, he did not fall upon the peace treaty, he did not fall upon the peace treaty.

Arrives at Capitol. Arriving at the capitol, the president's party went at once to the governor's reception rooms. Speaker W. I. Nolan had named a committee of five men—Senators Charles H. Towne, St. Cloud and J. A. Carley, Playhouse, and Representatives J. W. Homer, Deep Creek, Andrew Johnson, DeWitt, DeWitt, and A. L. Lennon, Minneapolis.

Mrs. Wilson's account by Mrs. Burnquist, apparently unnoticed by the crowd, took a seat in a private gallery reserved for that purpose. She listened with attentive interest to what her distinguished husband had to say.

It was evident from the start that the president enjoyed talking in the legislative chamber. He has told newspaper correspondents that he liked the smaller audiences, for then he could discuss problems more intimately.

The cost of living, the president said, was largely due to a "world situation," growing out of the "war," and waste of the war. Back of that, he added, lay the fact that the world had not yet learned what the peace status would be.

World Wants on U. S. "The world is not going to settle down until it learns what the United States is to play in the peace," he said.

President Wilson asserted that this was the only nation which would have enough free capital in the near future economically to rehabilitate the world.

The president congratulated the legislators upon their support of the woman suffrage amendment. He said that he rejoiced with them in that achievement.

First of all, Mr. Wilson said, it was the nation's duty to set the commerce of the world going by the re-employment of peace. After that he continued, there were domestic adjustments that must be made, mentioning other things that they facilities in this country were not equal to the demand.

Labor Disaffected. Turning to the relations of labor and capital, the president said that laboring men everywhere were disaffected with their relation to their employers. That was true abroad, he added, in larger measure than in the United States.

As a basis for the solution the president suggested that the interests of labor and capital must be recognized as identical, and the two ought to be reasonable enough to get together. "When it is a question of co-operation had been established, production would increase," he said, "and that would be one element in reducing the cost of living."

To Adjourn Sept. 19. The special session of the legislature will adjourn September 19, 12 o'clock noon, both the senate and the house having adopted the resolution first introduced by the rules committee of the senate.

Representative H. Norton, in behalf of the rules committee of the house, said the special session was called for the special purposes of the matters outside of special purposes ought to be brushed aside.

He said that many members were not at home and that they could not follow only a reasonable time should be allowed for the session.

Refuse Fire. Members of the house and senate committees on reconstruction and relief. In a joint meeting in the senate chambers, refused to endorse the bill asked by W. T. Gray, state forester, for increased appropriations for forest fire protection and education of settlers in fire prevention. They took no action on the bill for forest service telephone lines as a temporary measure of relief proposed.

Levin Introduces Bill. Establishment of a department of trade and commerce and a bureau of the office of state oil inspector is sought in a bill introduced in the house by Representative John Levin of St. Paul.

He explained that the measure is intended to enforce the federal food control bill that it defines wasteful practices and provides for the labeling of the cost of products for penalties in cases of violation.

The measure is designed to cover all matters relating to the production, manufacture, transportation, storage and sale of foodstuffs and feeds, wearing apparel, farming implements, coal, fuel, oil and seeds.

Suffrage Is Ratified. St. Paul—The legislature adjourned at 11 o'clock after the Minnesota state legislature convened in special session, the lower house adjourned at 12 o'clock and the woman's suffrage amendment, 120 to 6, the joint resolution went through.

The joint resolution went through without opposition in the senate. Not a single vote was cast against the amendment by the senate. The amendment followed shortly with only five opposing votes.

The house voted on the joint amendment before going into final session with the senate. Governor J. A. A. Burquist read his message.

The governor was escorted to the house chamber by representatives Ralph J. Parker, Charles H. Warner, Tom Greene, Senators Arch Coleman and Charles H. Towne, and Representatives J. A. A. Burquist read his message.

Race to Ratify Measure. Upper and lower houses met separately to elect officers and adopt rules. The leaders in both chambers racing for the honor of being first to ratify the suffrage measure.

Members of the senate, however, were not so quick to ratify the amendment. They held the amendment up for several days, waiting for the governor's message.

Non-Reluctant Speaker. Adoption of the old organization was the order of the day to open up the work of the session. W. I. Nolan of Minneapolis was re-elected speaker of the house over John A. Urness of Le Sueur.

Are we here to work, not to talk? Representative Nolan told the house when he had been introduced as speaker of the session by Julius A. Givens, chairman of the committee on the floor. He said that he had fewer speeches, the shorter will be the session. We want a short session, he said, and we want to get on with the work.

Thomas McGrath of St. Paul acted as temporary secretary of the house until the election of Oscar Armstrong as chief clerk.

Governor Proposes Program. Governor J. A. A. Burquist appeared before a joint session of the legislature to deliver his message, as soon as he was notified that organization had been completed. He outlined his proposals for a legislative program.

These nine recommendations were made by the executive.

First of all, the federal woman suffrage amendment. Pass legislation for benefit of returned service men that burdens of the war may be more fairly distributed.

Take steps to prevent recurrence of disastrous forest fires, including the clearing of state and privately owned lands where fire prevents.

Give drainage of lowland means and funds to prevent floods, and provide compensation for flood victims.

Amend primary law to bring about majority nominations and defeat control by minority organizations, preferably by a proprietary party convention.

STATE BRIEFINGS

Monticello.—Corn is one of the best crops in Clay county this year, according to Alvin H. Larson, county wood inspector.

St. Paul.—Friday was moving day at the state capitol. Five state departments changing offices to make room for committees of the state legislature during the special session.

Members of Elks lodge No. 44 were present and speakers. Len G. Lennan of the Thirty-first legislative district which took place at Johnson's restaurant, 3409 Hennepin, in this city.

First indication of a serious shortage of grain cars in Minnesota was given in a telegram from the St. Vincent Elevator company, to the grain raisers and warehouse commission, appealing for cars in which to ship grain and added that Klinton county's grain cars are in such a state that grain now being threshed will have to be dumped on the ground unless cars are shipped from other districts.

Conference of Red Cross delegates from every chapter in Minnesota and North and South Dakota has been called by the Northern Division office to be held in Minneapolis September 22 and 23. The program of the Red Cross, so far as it has been formulated, will be a legislative program.

Red Cross Roll Call, to be held November 2 to 11, will be announced in a few days. That Minnesota will have the largest corn crop in the history of the state is indicated by the September report of the Bureau of Crop Estimates issued through the Minnesota Pilot office, Paul F. Kirk. Speaking about crop conditions in Minnesota, Mr. Kirk says: "Based on a condition of 92 per cent of maturity, a corn crop of 111,472,000 bushels is indicated which is the greatest ever produced in this state."

Grand Rapids.—Potato buying opened almost a month earlier in this section than ever partly because potatoes are farther along this year at this season than usual, but chiefly because the market is unusually strong and the prices particularly good.

Many of the potato growing sections are making a heavy crop. On account of too much moisture, or because the farmers went into more profitable crops, the quantity of wheat and other crops indicating that to forego raising potatoes.

Lake Park.—The 29-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Heiber, a farmer living near here, was accidentally hanged when he tried to get into a chair to the bed at the foot and in trying to get through the framework, slipped and was accidentally caught.

Mankato.—Ole Nelson, a merchant here, killed himself by suffocation. Nelson placed his head under a tin cupola in the rear of his shop and held a blow torch in such position that the fumes from the gas entered the fumes from the lighted torch which caused his death.

St. Peter.—St. Peter will perhaps be the first city in Minnesota to have a municipal airplane for use of passing aviators. The business men of this city are completing plans for remodeling a building suitable for a hangar on a ten-acre tract, the use of which has been donated by the Nicollet County Fair Association.

Fergus Falls.—The relief fund for sufferers in the cyclone of June 22 is approaching the $200,000 mark. Residents of Ottertail county have contributed $1,237.60. Clay county $1,410. Becker county, $4,975, and Wilkin county, $4,012.25.

Important to all Women Readers of this Paper. Thousands upon thousands of women have kidney troubles, and have been made miserable by the disease. Women's complaints often prove to be nothing else but kidney trouble, or the result of kidney or bladder disease. If the kidneys are not in a healthy condition, they will cause the other organs to become diseased.

Women who suffer pain in the back, head, back and legs of abdomen, who feel weak and nervous, irritability and may be dependent on medicine, may need for a simple bottle to see what Swamp-Blow, the great kidney and bladder medicine, will do for them. By enclosing ten cents to Dr. Kilmer & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., you may receive sample size bottle by Parcel Post. You can purchase medium and large bottles at all drug stores.—Adv.

Roseau.—Hans Trundheim has a half acre on his lot on North Broadway Avenue from which he has without doubt harvested the biggest money crop of raspberries and strawberries in the county, if not in the state. The half acre is in raspberries and when the picking is finally done and the gross returns will be close to $300.

Red Lake Falls.—Rev. Charles E. Bronson, D.D., pastor of the First Presbyterian church in Philadelphia for the past thirteen years, returned here last week after an absence of thirty-six years and preached in the Presbyterian church which he founded here in 1833. Dr. Bronson came here from Crookston in 1833 and was the first pastor of St. Hilary, a St. Hilary who came to start a school, and a Mr. Morris who was to start a bank.

St. Paul.—A state sanitation league is being organized to combat the influenza epidemic which caused thousands of deaths last year in Minnesota. The league will be organized by Charles E. Smith, Jr., acting executive officer of the State Board of Health at the request of Rupert E. Wagoner, general officer of the United States Public Health Service. Plans to combat another possible outbreak of the disease will be discussed at the regular meeting October 14 of the State Board of Health.

Minneapolis.—Delegates from all over the state were here when H. H. Merkle of Ely, president of the Minnesota Association of Woodmen of the World, opened the annual meeting which was devoted largely to committee reports and recommendations looking toward state development through betterment of the highways.

The "Way" extends from the northeast corner of Minnesota, hence over the Shapeco bridge, southwest to Albert Lea and Des Moines, a southern terminus in St. Paul, Tex.

St. Paul.—Extra precautions against fire in a pine forest along the North Pacific Railroad south of Moose Lake, which is rated an extraordinary fire hazard as the result of a severe hail storm, have been ordered by T. Cox, state forester. The hail stripped the needles and the bark from the pine, leaving growing sections of the trees an unusual fire danger, the forester said. Special crews were sent into the district and will be kept there for a few weeks until the menace is over. Reports are asked as to the area of timber damage.

Duluth.—Receipts of coal at Duluth and Superior docks fell off during August as a result of the strike of dock operators here. Arrivals of coal for the month were 62,100 tons as compared with 137,400 tons during July and August 1913. Arrivals during July, the movement of anthracite this way up to September 1, amounted to 62,100 tons, a falling off of 120,000 tons from the corresponding period last year, and 65,000 tons from the same period in 1912. An excess of 450,000 tons as compared with the same period in 1911.

Duluth.—Five Hunter P. S. Converse has been busy posting signs of warning in the wooded sections of the city and securing the cooperation of the settlers and others in an attempt to eliminate the fire danger always prevalent at this time of the year.

FARMERS' POLITIL' MOVE GAINS

The farmers political movement has gained tremendously in Pine county and the entire state since the war and promises to give the old parties a "run for their money" at the election next year.

And why not? The war is over and the argument against added-political-turmoil-within-Dist-Country-while-it-is-at-war no longer exists. Labor unions and big business all over the country are bawling their political strength for financial advantage and labor has launched its political party to seize the reins of government from the older organizations which are claimed by many to be dominated by wealth. Why shouldn't the real producers get into the game on their own account? We deprecate the condition that exists. We do not believe that arousing class strife and class hatred works for the common good. But the condition does exist. The radicals are in the saddle and the country seems hell-bent.

But this country will not go over the political Niagara. There is too much political sense in the land when it is aroused—and the backbone of it is of the farm. All down the political history of the country the agricultural states have been the "safe and sane" ones. The farmers of New York have repeatedly saved that state when Tammany threatened to eat it, the farmers of New England constituted the real strength of the Revolution, it was the farmers of the north that won the Civil War. The great majority of the men of the country are of the farm—on it or from it—and the sense and spirit of the soil is the real factor for good government when we get down to brass tacks, every time.

There is absolutely no association of interest between the labor unions of the cities which are controlled by the radicals and the farming interests of the country which are the most conservative element in the land. There are exceptions in both but the rule is as we have stated it: the business interests of unions, controlled by the radicals, and the men on the farms, dominated by a spirit of conservatism and care, will not mix, despite what some political schemers may try to make us think. The radical unionist, who controls his organization, is for short hours and high wages for himself and low prices on food stuffs while the farmer wants a fair price for the food stuffs that he sells and other things that he buys.

Between the two, capital is getting an awful squeeze, but capital has done some squeezing in its day and the experience won't hurt it any.

WHAT WILL THE HARVEST BE?

The policemen in Boston, Mass., are out on strike. Next thing will be for the sheriff and the soldiers to strike, and then will come the "rule of the strong" when the big man will take away from the little fellow his money, property, home, family—anything that he wants. That is possible, but very unlikely.

We rather think that the pendulum of public opinion will soon begin to swing the other way and that it will then be illegal either for employees to strike or for employers to cause a lockout but that there will be courts designed to hear these matters and decide them legally as other matters are decided.

This will not effect individuals but organizations only. No body of men has a right to commit acts injurious to the public welfare any more than individuals have, and everyone knows that strikes and lockouts ruin industry, make paupers and reduce the quantity of articles needed for public use.

But striking among officers of the peace—policemen, etc.—is especially ruinous and perfidious. When a person accepts an office they do so at whatever pay is allowed by the public. They are entitled to quit the job at their option if a successor can be found so that the public business shall not be retarded or injured, but they certainly have no right to organize themselves into unions to get enemies and use their strength to force the public into doing the things that it does not believe it should do.

The Pine Poker feels that everyone in the county owes a personal obligation to Mrs. Eugene H. Long of Pine City, Mrs. Pauline of those who these other folks of the county who are using their own time and spending their own money to further the public work of the county health society. If you are interested in your own pocket—the health of your family—see the exhibit at the county fair this week. Family—anything that he wants.

Methodist Church Notes Sunday school at 9:45 and preaching at 11 a. m. Also subject being "Dinner." In the evening the pastor will speak at 8 p. m. on "The River of God." Special service will be given for the 100th anniversary and every one is cordially invited to attend.

Sunday school at 1:30 and preaching at 3:00 at Brook Creek, Minn. Dr. Beck of Minneapolis, Mo.

Presbyterian Church Notes Rev. Blair, who was unable to be with us on last Sunday morning, promises to redeem himself by coming next Sunday, Sept. 14, and if possible, will be persuaded to speak the morning service at 11 a. m. If not the pastor will endeavor to preach on the subject, "A Provitable Reflection."

The suggestion has been offered that the reason why people do not come out to the evening services is because they are too long. While we do not believe this to be the reason yet we are willing to make the experiment through the month of September of holding the evening service only half as long, or only thirty minutes, to see if twice as many people will come out. The evening subject will be "The Hidden Treasure."

Now that the fall months are upon us and the schools have opened let there be also an enthusiastic renewal of our devotion to the work in the Lord's vineyard. Our Sunday school has great and pressing need just now for teachers and scholars. Our young people's work needs a real re-impetus. Let your love for Christ lead you to a place of service.

Catholic Church Notes Next Sunday, Sept. 14, will be "Cemetery Sunday" at Pine City and the church cemetery is being put in excellent shape for the year. Following services in the church at 10 a. m., the procession will proceed to the cemetery where appropriate exercises will be held.

Lutheran Church Notes Services will be held at 10 in the morning and at 8 in the evening, preaching being in English. The celebration of the "Lord's Supper" will be observed. Sunday school as usual at 9 a. m.

District Superintendent, was with us and held the last quarterly conference, of this conference year, in the Pine City church last Saturday evening, when delegates from Brook Creek and Beroun were also present. Good reports were given as to the condition of the work. The pastor preached in Pine City last Sunday morning and at Brook Creek in the afternoon.

The conference year closes the last of this month. We hope all subscriptions to the church and the various benevolent enterprises will be all paid before the last of this month.

Leon Heath Post Holds Meeting The local post of the American Legion met, in the Family theatre Monday evening, and listened to a report from the delegates who attended the state convention held at St. Paul last week. Arrangements were made for having a booth at the county fair, this week, where a number of war relics will be shown, and members of the Legion will be on hand to enroll new members. The constitution and by-laws of the order will be received this week from the state headquarters and will be distributed amongst the members. The delegates were Wm. Challen and Frank Gardner.

Pokegama Town News Wm. Neubauer and Mr. Becker of Muscatine, Iowa, in company with G. W. Butler of Brook Park visited at the Wm. O'Donohue farm last Thursday. Mr. Becker is thinking of buying land in this region.

Theodore Gjorvad returned home, where he has been employed the past year. Mrs. Eng Peterson entertained a number of ladies last Thursday afternoon. Refreshments were served and a jolly good time had.

Miss Myrtle Norstrom is visiting at home for a short time. The Farmer's club will hold a meeting Saturday night, Sept. 13, and all members are requested to be present.

School will start in the Pokegama lake school on Sept. 22 with Miss Ethel Star as teacher. Mrs. J. Dahl recently returned from the cities where she has been attending the state fair.

Pokegama played Brook Park last Sunday and won, as usual, by a 13 to 9 score although it took 12 innings to beat the doughy Parkers.

Chengwatana Town News G. O. Schwartz arrived, Wednesday of last week, from Coon Rapids, Ia., for a few weeks' visit at the home of his daughter, Mrs. E. B. Haddeman. He has not been here for about 14 months.

We are all proud of the showing that Chengwatana will make at the Beroun fair last Saturday and we know it will win credit at the county fair, this week.

John Bashore has rented a farm a mile south of Gratton from Mr. Washburn of Pine City and expects to move thither about Nov. 1. If he can find someone to occupy the farm he is in until spring when his lease terminates.

Dowden Potato Digger

JUST A WORD ON VALUES

A Potato Digger may be attractive to your eye—it may have all of the looks and conveniences so very tempting, and still be of little genuine worth, because when put to the test of time you will find that those parts vital to its life and endurance were skimmed. Whether or not this is applicable, hence, whether or not your expenditure was wise, may not be apparent for some time, but "truth will not"—wear will come. Then and only then you will discover the final value of your Potato Digger. If it is only then you will discover the final value of your Potato Digger, if it is well designed and well built, the ultimate measures of its worth, you will then appreciate and enjoy, year after year, the wisdom of your investment but if not, your expenditure is almost a total loss, and your disappointment immeasurable, because you might just as well have invested safely. The DOWDEN Digger is built so strong that there is no danger of breaking. You can go deep enough to get below the potatoes without choking down. It is made of the very best material, and so simple in construction that a boy can run it. It has been on the market for over thirty years, and is celebrated in all the large potato sections for its real worth and reliability. You can depend on it to do a day's work. It will not give you nervous prostration for fear that something will break or give out and keep all your hands waiting while you send for repairs. With our twentieth century improvements, we are offering you a Digger that will work under more and varied conditions than any other Digger.

Get your Digger now while I have machines on hand to make deliveries, a little later we may not be able to get them.

ANNOUNCING OUR FALL POLICY

We take this means of announcing to you what we propose to do on fall goods, also at the same time we beg to inform you of the present critical condition in merchandising. Never before in our history have complicated conditions arisen that are to be compared with those of the present day. We foresaw and anticipated these complicated conditions many months ago, therefore we are well prepared to meet these conditions to your utmost satisfaction, which of course will have a tendency for you to make a great saving on your purchases at our up-to-date store.

We have used all our money and we have also borrowed the extreme limit from our banks and other financial connections thereby enabling us to stock up on rock bottom prices. After a thorough investigation we find that the possibilities for a greater increase is as yet due. We have reasons to believe that no sensible thinking person will deny that above. We promise faithfully that we will sell our merchandise based on the price we paid and not upon the present market prices. We will stick by you if you will stick by us. We openly declare ourselves that we are not out to profiteer but our high aim is to work up a big business and we are doing everything that we possible can do to accomplish this end. A Little Dope on Base Ball Pokagama late ball club success over to Brookpark, last Sunday, and cleaned up that club in a 12-inning game by the score of 9 to 12. Kowalko, the kid wonder, took the mound for Pokagama with Youngbauer behind the bat. In the 4th inning, on account of Youngbauer's sore arm, Yost was called of the third-station and took up the catching burden. From the fourth-inning on Kowalko was invincible, the kid showed no signs of weakness in the entire game. Besides pitching a fine game he cracked the pill in the nose for a homer in the 12th inning.

Stanchfield skunked over to Hinckley, last Sunday, and was cleaned up by the score of 4 to 8, in a 12-inning battle. This was a real pitchers battle between Johnson for Hinckley, and Al Peterson of Rush City for Stanchfield. Kalb, returned from Hibbing, last Saturday, and will take over the short-station tomorrow (Friday) against the Brennan's colts of Hinckley at the fair grounds.

Brennan's colts will be here tomorrow (Friday) to tangle up with the local all-home boys, at the county fair. Hinckley has the ball club, and they are also all home boys.

Much credit must be given James Brennan for the success of the first Hinckley ball club. James was in our midst, last Saturday afternoon, and while here stopped in this shop and kicked the local manager around for a few moments. When he had completed this job, he strictly informed the local manager that he is the whole work on the Hinckley club and held the position he claims he holds—president, vice-president, secretary, treasurer, manager, captain, second-baseman and ground-keeper. Everything from president to ground-keeper, "Jim."

While the local manager was grabbing a game at Brookpark, and gave the Brookpark boys the once-over in the first round, and drew away from us closer to our eyes we found Cashier Eddy, stepping around the first-station livelier than he did his by-gone school days. He sure looks like the local manager that he is a first class first-stacker.

Dewit and Carrol Booth passed through this city today on their way from Minneapolis to their home at Hibbing. Dewit has been captain and center-fielder for the first Hibbing colts while Carrol has been playing the third-station. The boys stopped here to spend an hour with Chas. Spickler, formerly a play mate of theirs at North Branch and Stillwater, years ago.

Ely cleaned Winton, last Tuesday, by the score of 10 to 2. Hoefler landed on Humphrys slants for two 3-base clouts while Lambert had to be satisfied with three doubles.

Mora was cleaned last Thursday by Princeton by the score of 7 to 2. Herman Hansch twirled for Mora.

Rich Kowalko got away with four hits out of five trips to the plate, last Sunday at Brookpark.

According to the dope handed out by Jim Brennan that Japs Johnson dropped a fly ball at Princeton, last Thursday, being something that doesn't happen every minute in the year.

Manager Fritzen of the Pokagama ball club, is getting along very nicely with his club. It was an uphill grade to climb but he got there and now his ball club is decked out with a fine set of uniforms and all the playing equipment which is needed.

The base ball dance at Pokagama town hall was fairly well attended and a neat little sum put into the treasury.

John Breckenridge dished out a new league ball to Arnold Kowalko, last Monday, for getting a home run at Brookpark, last Sunday. John, who is a real base ball crank, says any local player who cracks the pill for a homer, next Friday, report to him and a new league ball is yours. Thanks John.

Stillwater cleaned up Brainerd, at Lexington ball park, St. Paul, last Sunday, for the state championship, by the score of 3 to 1. Stillwater is now the champion of the state of Minnesota.

John Gray has been selected to umpire the ball game between Pine City and Hinckley, Friday afternoon.

Dad Sullivan snaked out of Henriette, last Sunday, and was next seen prancing around the second-station for Brookpark in his stocking feet, just like a two year old colt.

Word was received from Clinton Breckenridge that he is now touring the eastern states with an all-star ball club.

Carl Edin landed home Saturday, from Clouget, and may be put into the game Friday.

Visd Beel, came up from Butterfield, last Saturday, for a short stay at home. He has been cutting them over for the fast St. James club this year.

cards in War Service.

Having helped many a soldier through weary hours in trench and hospital, playing cards are now being pressed into active war service, says the London Chronicle. You may have noticed the new and neat little cloth badges on the sleeves of our men from the front, but possibly have failed to understand the designs. They are nothing but the familiar club, spade, heart and diamond of the playing card. Under the new scheme regiments are divided into packs, each company being its own symbol in a certain color to serve as an identification mark, all other badges being removed before going over the top.

DORD

The Quality Goes Clear Through

Buy a Dord and Use It

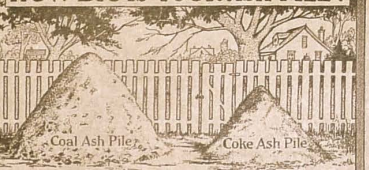

The Dord is the sort of a car that is used—one that more than pays for itself. Light, easily handled, costing little for upkeep, there is no hesitancy about using it "early and often."

You can do more with Dord to get you about quickly than you can do with any other car on the ground. Instead of telephoning, in any way you look at it, the Dord will increase your efficiency by a Dord and use it.

Fair Day a Great Success. The Beroun community fair, held there last Saturday, was a great success. The live stock was quarantined in the Strokhich sheds across from the bank and the other exhibits in the Prochaska hall, where the speaking also took place. There were 40 entrants of exhibits—all from that and the Meadow Lawn regions and these were probably from 300 to 400 folks present from these localities. The backbone of the fair was the Beroun and Meadow Lawn farmers' club but many other joined with them in making the day such a success. Entries began arriving early in the day, being checked in by Wm. Guppli as secretary and arranged by the judges who were as follows: Wm. Von Busch and J. C. Hancock—pigs, cattle, colts, sheep. Casper Kruse—poultry. W. H. Cutler and V. Stephan—grain. J. B. Butler—sheaf grain. O. Lyseth and S. H. Derr—garden truck. Mrs. Holt—dairy products. Mrs. Brown—canned goods. Mrs. Wilson—bakery. Mrs. Wm. Baker, Mrs. J. Chalupsky and Mrs. Fisher—fancy work. Paul Cote—corn. H. Baine—fruit. Mrs. Sam Heath and Mrs. J. Clyne—boys' and girls' products. The event was financed by a fund to which Beroun business firms contributed $105 and the Meadow Lawn and the farmers' club of Beroun contributed $10 each and each individual member of them contributed $1 more, making the entire purse from these sources about $125. Then, too, the club ran a refreshment stand just north of the Prochaska building where an excellent business was done by a bunch of hustlers, netting about $30 to aid in the event. Some brought their own lunches, and a few did not come until afternoon.

Mr. C. M. Curson of the state agricultural school judged the exhibits and aroused much interest and spread much knowledge among those who heard him by explaining why he gave a prize to this and refused it to that exhibit. He also later delivered a valuable and interesting address on "corn"—a subject that is becoming of tremendous interest to our people and one which the exhibits at this fair demonstrated to be of great financial benefit. Father Leo and Hon. J. Adam Bede of Pine City also spoke along general farm and development lines. In the sports program in the afternoon, which was presided over by Henry Stephan and Chas. Butler, six boys were entered in the number race, first and second prizes going to George Hornik and David Gerdanson, and in the tug-of-war the side captained by Casper Kruse won over Elmer Henderson's bunch. The Meadow Lawn hay-movers then challenged the Beroun swash-bucklers to a "finish" contest. Ole Lyseth captained the former and Alex. Henderson the latter. The hay-movers pulled and the sash-bucklers hauled and the event was quite a stand-off for a time when Compelled to be on his knees, pulling and exhorting the boys to beat the band and getting away with it in fine shape up to this time Compelled to arise to his feet, he lost his power and the Berounites, with the aid of an additional "pull" that Charley Butler managed to work in by inadvertently grating with one of his hands, Wm. Hende's casually upturned and well-braced foot, managed to "put it over" on the folks from the Lawn. There was also an enjoyable drill by the boys and girls who had been drilled by Miss Alva Guppli. There were many exhibits worthy of special mention but space forbids our notice of all of them. Chas. Dille showed a fine cheese pumpkin weighing over 47 pounds and Henry Stephan a squash that would doubtless weigh over 100 pounds. This exhibit of red mangels was above the average—of good size and quality. The fruit exhibit was fine, individual exhibits being by Peter Habrman and Paul Cote, including fine cobs and large apples and plums of various kinds, and a plate of red grapes—the best present-day grape for this region—shown by Simon Derr. The corn exhibit, also, was fine from start to finish and mention must be made of the 13 1/2 lb. shag corn shown by Paul Cote, the 90-day yellow dent which ripened about Aug. 10 was shown by Wm. O. Guppli, the northwestern dent shown by Orville Blood and the calico flint which is used by the state experimental station for this region, and was exhibited by Henry Stephan. The wife of The Poker editor, who was present was all the first exhibit for her own cellar but the rarest exhibit was the white blueberries shown by Mrs. Simon Derr whose folks discovered them and, also, the blue huckleberries growing east of Hinckley, which the fancy work and live stock exhibits were fine. The prize winners were: Corn W. H. Cutler and V. Stephan and W.

Save that we may share Save food EACH HAS INDIVIDUAL COLOR Cities by No Means Alike in Hue Which Attract the Eye of the Traveler. "Have you ever noticed how cities sometimes seem to have their own special colors?" asks Julian Street, "In New York, it is yellow, in London, it is white, in which he and Wallace Morgan recorded, in words and pictures, what they think is the most picturesque part of our country—the South. "Paris is white and green—green more so, I think, than Washington," Mr. Street continues. "Chicago is gray; so is London usually, though I have seen it buff at the beginning of a heavy fog. New York used to be a brown sandstone city, but is now turning to one of cream-colored brick and tile. Naples is built with pink and blue and green and white and yellow; while as far Baltimore, her old houses and her new ones, as Habrman puts it, of 'cheerful red brick—not always, of course, but often enough to establish the color of the city as its city's predominant hue. And with the red-brick houses—particularly the older ones—go clean white marble steps, on the bottom of which, at the side, may usually be found an old-fashioned iron 'keeper' doubtless left over from the time (not very long ago) when the city payments had not reached their present exorbitance."

OF ANCIENT EGYPT

Interesting Relics Coming to the United States. Expedition Under the Auspices of the Pennsylvania University Museum Has Been Highly Successful in its Explorations.

Despite handicaps caused by the war, the Pennsylvania University museum has acquired many relics undisturbed by the Egyptian expedition. A vessel will be chartered to transport the relics. The expedition started on its trip in March, 1915, and continued explorations until last June, when the shortage of labor and the high prices of materials due to the war, caused a cessation in the work. A request made by the Roumanian government had obtained the concession of the whole site, but the war intervened and the Egyptian expedition offered the university party the choice of any portion. An area near the colossus of Hammes II was selected because of the discoveries made in that region by an inspector of antiquities for lower Egypt. He had revealed what was apparently the room of a Pharaoh's palace.

Excavations by the party from the university museum proved the building to be the royal residence of Menepthah, who ruled from 1225 B. C. to 1213 B. C. The entire structure had three layers of earth, representing the actual location of as many civilizations. A large Roman city had occupied the site of the topmost layer, and three layers of earth, representing the actual location of as many civilizations. A large Roman city had occupied the site of the topmost layer, and three layers of earth, representing the actual location of as many civilizations. The palace, which had been undermined by the sea, was a magnificent structure. Limestone was the material used for the columns and framings, while the other walls were of sand-lime brick. The eastern wing of the palace, which was the first to be excavated, contained magnificently decorated apartments where the Pharaoh and his wife (or wives) spent their time. The section of the palace that pleased the explorers most was the throne room. Six columns supported its roof, the best preserved giving a base of limestone with a horizontal band of inscription laid in pale greenish blue glaze. The lower part of the column had a row of spirals in relief springing from a broad band of gold. Between the tips of the spirals were large lotus flowers laid in faience. Panels, showing a procession of Nile gods, bearing vases of water to the west, and gilded relief figures of Menepthah, were prominent features of a massive doorway that was unexcavated. Elaborate colored stucco pavements, walls and small papyrus columns—red, yellow, and blue—were the chief of the principal patterns—formed some of the striking interior relief features of the royal residence.

All Together, All the Time, for a Greater Pine City

Building Your Home Now

The biggest building boom Pine City has ever had will start next spring. Get in on the ground floor and build this year! Consult the Development Association Home Building Finance Committee for a plan to finance your home building. $30.00 per month will pay for an $1,000.00 home in five years. ($10.00 per month in ten years), the increase in value of the property in that time will more than cover the interest, taxes and taxes. WHY WAIT? REMEMBER—Pine City will have a 2,000 population in 1921, and be double its present size in 1924.

THE Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is owned by 4649 men and women—not one owning as much as 10 per cent of the total.

The Company is not personally owned or controlled by one or two men.

The stockholders have conferred full authority and sole responsibility for the handling of the Company's affairs in a Board of Directors of seven men.

These men have come up from the ranks and risen to their present position because they have demonstrated unusual ability in their particular division of this highly specialized industry.

The Board of Directors measure the success of their trusteeship not by earnings alone, but by the service the Company renders the people at large.

They know that the earnings available for dividends are always in direct proportion to the degree of usefulness and character of service rendered.

It is this ideal of management which has developed the Company to its present proportions as a public servant.

There will be a big dance at the Chengwatana town hall, 9 miles northwest of Pine City and 7 miles southeast of Beroun, on Saturday evening, Sept. 13. Music will be furnished by Wilson's orchestra. Cream and supper will be served. Everybody welcome.

The Royal Neighbors meeting has been postponed until Friday September 19.—Ellen Schumacher, Oracle.

The dance at the Maple Grove dance pavilion, last Saturday evening, was one of the best ever pulled off on that plain. There were in the neighborhood of two-hundred couple enjoying the open air and the fine music which was furnished by the well-known Potter's orchestra of Minneapolis. Manager Cort of the platform has a motto of his own which appeals to the "devil" at this office, his motto is "your money back if you don't enjoy yourself." We would like to see Mr. Cort take charge of the army, in this place, and put on some of his real dances—the kind he puts on at the platform. There's no doubt but Mr. Cort would make a success of the dances in the army. The dance given at the Petchak's fireproof garage last Saturday evening, drew a fairly good house. Crescent orchestra furnished the music for this occasion.

Raymond Hoefler and Birney Lambert came down from Ely today to remain the balance of the week with their folks.

Mrs. Sandberg came up from St. Paul yesterday for a few days' visit at the home of her parents, the L. Lambers in Pine town.

Ray, Maisonneuve, who recently returned from France, arrived last Friday to visit at the homes of his sister and brother, Mrs. Jos. O'Brien and Phil Maisonneuve, here. Mrs. Phil Maisonneuve was a visitor at the Twin cities from Saturday last to yesterday, being accompanied by her sister, Mrs. A. C. Swanson of Duluth who came here last Friday.

They were accompanied back by their sister, Miss Ethel Marsh, and the three expect to go to Duluth the latter part of this week.

Miss Caroline St. Germain came up from St. Paul, Tuesday, to spend the balance of the week at the Hillman home and with other friends here. She will again attend Hamline university, this year.

STRENUOUS DAY FOR PRESIDENT

Chief Executive Delivers Three Addresses in Minneapolis and St. Paul.

IS WARMLY WELCOMED

Wilson Declares Peace Treaty Will End Regime of Balance of Power and Will Be To Advantage of All Nations.

Minneapolis, Sept. 10.—Declaring that the peace treaty would end the regime of the balance of power, President Wilson, today spoke at the armory Tuesday that the new world order set up would be to the advantage of all nations rather than a few of the stronger.

The President's party motored over from St. Paul, where he had spoken earlier in the day. At the Gateway the Fourth infantry met the President and he was escorted through the business district to the armory. The sidewalks, stores and office windows and cross streets were lined with spectators who cheered as Mr. Wilson passed.

President Arrives at Armory. President Wilson arrived at the armory at 3:45 p. m. and received a warm greeting from a crowd estimated at 1,000 persons.

The President was introduced by Mayor Meyer of Minneapolis. People Speak. "Under the old balance of power," said the President, "the people no where dared speak up against the anarchy or against the burden of armaments. But now," he continued, "the people are awake and are saying that if the governments can't get together they will destroy the governments."

"The people of the world are now saying to try. The world is now saying that if it is not going to turn around to destroy autocratic power," Mr. Wilson continued, "is the object of the war yet in Russia?" he said, "an autocratic government as that of the czar has been set up and the United States must see to it that there is no similar movement in this country.

"We will break the control of no minority in the United States," he added. "I would as leave have one kind of an autocracy as another."

The President then outlined the nations provided for the destruction of autocratic power by admitting only self-governing nations to membership.

"Had you ever been told that there was a chance of peace and there was a chance of peace and there was a chance of peace," he said.

Peace Always Supervised. "For another thing, continued the President, the treaty provided to substitute arbitration and arbitration for force and an absolute boycott against covenant breakers.

"The peace of the world is every body's business," said Mr. Wilson. "This is the first international document that has recognized that fact."

That there should be disarmament and that no nation ever should again attempt annexation were further points in the treaty, continued the President. There would be no secret treaties. When it was provided further that no secret treaties should be valid.

Secret Treaties. "Secret treaties," said the President, "were a constant source of embarrassment at Versailles. Let us see that the war had been fought on the principle of the sanctity of treaties and it was impossible to disregard the secret agreements."

Finally, said Mr. Wilson, there was the treaty of the great peace, the labor, establishing an international labor organization to keep up to date.

Of course, the President said, the United States was "at liberty to stay out of the league, but asked whether it would be better to have no treaty at all than to have a treaty that was not respected."

"We've got to be either provincial or statesmen; we've got to be either selfish or egotists," said the President, "adding that he would be for or against those who 'submit their necks to the guillotine against the world.'"

President Wilson concluded his address shortly before 4 o'clock. In the evening he addressed a great throng at the St. Paul auditorium and left later in the evening for St. Paul.

Addresses Legislature. "The vast stores of food, held back by the war, must be released for public consumption," President Wilson told members of the legislature in joint session in the House chamber today.

The public to be entitled to use the surplus of food, he said.

16,000 Children Sing Welcome. New York, Sept. 10.—Twenty thousand New York school children today were greeting in Grand Central by waving flags and singing the national anthem.

Wilson's party had been here since the night of the day's progress of welcome to the returned commander in chief. After the ceremony of the homecoming, the President left for a rest.

Purshing Runs Gauntlet. New York, Sept. 10.—General Pursh was welcomed by the Lieutenant Governor and the Mayor of New York today.

REGIMES CITY'S GUEST

America of Tragedy Dims Joy of Conquering Hero at Plaudits of Hosts—Receives Commission as General.

New York, Sept. 9.—Pershing is home again. Standing on the bridge of the huge Levlathan, itself symbolic of victory over Germany, the commander of the greatest host ever gathered under the Stars and Stripes, came slowly up the bay, world famed and hailed as a conquering hero.

Miss Cora E. Van Norden of the Salvation Army will be with the First division when General Pershing leaves in parade in New York September 10. She established the first canteen at the front for the Eighteenth Infantry Aug. 20, 1918. She wears the Cross de Guerre, Sablon, Cross, a Serbian and Greek decoration and a Victory ribbon studded with four bronze stars and two silver ones.

Like a Roman Triumph. The welcome given him would have quenched the pulse of the hero of Roman triumph. Fresh from the capital of Allied Europe, where honors had been bestowed upon him, he returned for New York to show the first American to lead an army across the Atlantic in the "Home of Heroes" has a meaning deeper than that of "Chief."

Looms Through the Mist. When the general stepped ashore at the Battery, he was met by a throng of thousands who greeted him with shouts of "Welcome, welcome, welcome." The general's salute was met by a cheer that rang across the bay.

SENATE GETS TREATY

Peace Document Reported to Body by Committee.

FINAL TEST OF STRENGTH OF WORLD PAC

Begin With Opening of Debate.

Washington, Sept. 10.—The German peace treaty, six months in the making, has been returned to the senate by the foreign relations committee, although a majority report containing amendments to the treaty and reservations to its league of nations covenant.

The treaty went back to the senate exactly two months to a day from the date it was laid before the body by President Wilson. Senator Hitchcock of Nebraska, ranking Democrat member of the committee, will present a minority report within the next few days. General debate will continue almost without interruption until final action is taken.

There were several informal conferences at which members endeavored to reach a compromise over the form of reservations, and Senator Spencer, Republican, Missouri, speaking against the league, declared he would be forced to vote to reject the treaty as it now stands.

Senator Johnson, California; Borah, Idaho; and Senator Hiram, Illinois, all opponents of the league, have left here for Chicago on the trail of the President, to speak against it.

In 15 Days
Gains 15 Lbs.
 Thompson was so Run Down
 He Couldn't Walk
 Without Help

"I commenced taking Tanlac just ten days ago, and have gained exactly fifteen pounds so far, which gives me an actual gain of one pound a day," said Peter Thompson, who for the past six years has been confined with the Kansas City park board, and lives at 406 Chestnut street, Kansas City, Mo., a few days ago.

"When I began taking Tanlac," he continued, "I was so weak that run down that I couldn't walk a step unless I had somebody to lean on, but I can get out and cover a good many blocks now, and am getting ready to go back to work.
 Sometime ago I had a bad spell of typhoid pneumonia, and it came very near finishing me up. I pulled through, however, but I had never been able to regain my strength, and my appetite was so poor that I couldn't eat enough to keep me alive hardly. My head ached all the time, and I would often get dizzy spells. I also suffered from nervousness and never got a good night's sleep. My stomach was in a mighty bad condition, too, and every thing I ate disagreed with me, and I would have the worst sort of attacks of indigestion. I was certainly in bad shape, and I had begun to think that I would never find medicine that would get me started up hill again.

"I had been reading the different statements about Tanlac, and one day I saw where a lady whom I knew very well, had been greatly helped by taking this Tanlac, so I made up my mind right then and there to give it a trial myself. I commenced to get better right away, and it is just simply remarkable the way I have gained in weight and strength. Why, I can go anywhere I want to, now, and I can just feel myself getting strong or every day. My appetite has come back, and I eat three hearty meals every day, and what I eat agrees with me alright. I never have indigestion or any kind of stomach trouble anymore, and my nerves are so steady that I sleep like a log every night. The headaches have left me, too, and so have those dizzy spells, and in fact, I just feel fine all the time. Tanlac has just simply fixed me all right, and that is why I talk so much about it, and am always recommending it to other people."

Tanlac is sold in Pine City by E. J. Prochaska.

The Jonas Strandberg farm of 40 acres, just east of the village, has been sold to Barney Greenpan who figures on bringing his family down here, next spring, and making it his home. Leonard McNeal, who has been on the place the past three years, advertised an auction to be held Friday, Sept. 26, and intends opening a barber shop in town, in which line he has considerable experience, about Nov. 1. The Strandberg place brought $6,000.

O. W. Barringer purchased an 89 acre piece, 1-4 mile east of the Federal road just south of Brown's hill, 2 miles south of Beroun, and 3 miles north of Pine City, Monday, paying $5,320. There are 20 acres under cultivation on it and he expects to build on it in the spring.
 Peter Carlson has also purchased an 80 of wild land, west of Beroun.
 Both buys were made through Chas.
 Peterson, the Beroun banker, who is regarded as a most reliable authority on lands in that region.

J. C. Smith is some better after several weeks of partial illness from lumbago.

The Rush City Merc Co. potato warehouse was opened here, Monday, with John A. Johnson in charge, we understand that others of the potato warehouses will open next Monday.

Mrs. A. B. Bartow has been on the sick list but is reported much improved and Miss Myrtle Bartow expects to leave, today, after her summer's vacation at home, to resume her duties as grade teacher in the Oklahoma City, Okla., public schools where she has taught the past five years.

 Miss Gladys Smith returned home Sunday from Eagle Grove, Ia., where she spent the summer at the home of her sister, Mrs. Florence Peters.

Mrs. D. J. McKay, southeast of the village was happily surprised on her birthday, at her home last Sunday afternoon, when five carloads of friends, bringing lots of good cheer and eats drove in to the McKays and remained well into the evening. A fine time was enjoyed.

W. D. Miller has sold his 200 acre farm east of town, which is occupied by Otis Schmidt, to a Mr. Bassett from Iowa who will take possession next spring, we understand.

Mr. Miller has purchased the John A. Rozum place of 200 acres, northeast of here, we understand. Otis Schmidt had intended building on his own land, south of J. C. Smith's, but has given up doing so for a year at least and does not know just where he will go if he leaves his present location.

F. S. Dane, wife and two daughters drove down from the range last Saturday and visited at the home of his brother H. E. until Monday.

School in the village opened Monday of this week with the Misses Clark of Rush City and Fairchild of Bruno, who were here in the morning. The influx of the again in charge. The influx of first-year pupils is the greatest ever known in the district, we understand. Last week school in Rock Creek town, opened in districts
 23 and 9 with Miss Helen Wurm, Miss Alvera Kvech, and Miss Estelle Babcock in charge.

The Rock Creek ladies aid will meet at the home of Mrs. Lee Skel-ley on Friday of next week, Sept-19.

Miss Esther Johnson of Minnesota came up Friday, for a few days' visit at the home of her parents,
 Mrs. and Mr. Johnson at West Rock.

That Morning Lassness
 If you are lame every morning, and suffer every day, these mean a cancer. Often it's weak kidneys. To strengthen the weakened kidneys and avert more serious troubles, use Doan's Kidney Pills.
 You can rely on Pine City testimony.

H. O. Haas, harnessmaker, Pine City, says: "Doan's Kidney Pills helped me, and I am glad to recommend them. I had a steady dull ache in my back and my kidneys acted irregularly. Some times the kidney aches were passed on frequently, and again they were just the other way.
 Mornings, when I got up, I felt all tired out. Doan's Kidney Pills brought me quick relief and soon made me well. I have used them several times since when I have noticed such attacks coming on, and each time Doan's have prevented any return of the trouble."

Pine County in the World War
 Those who have not sent in the pictures of their service men for the County War History should do so immediately. Pictures of every man are wanted, regardless of length of time in service. Pictures of Red Cross nurses are also desired. Date of enlistment, date of discharge (or if still in service), regiment, rank, camps, battles, wounds, etc. See that the picture and record are sent in at once.

This big book will be prized very highly in years to come. It is the only available method of securing a complete record and picture of the various men who have served their country. There will be approximately 700 pictures of service men and Red Cross nurses, besides the many pictures of the different boards, committees, prominent workers, scenes from villages, towns, camps and the front, as well as the county history which will give a full account of this county's war activities.

There is no charge for inserting the pictures in the books and they will be returned to you as soon as the cuts are made. Don't delay in sending the pictures, what would your son think if his picture and record was not included. To make a complete and valuable book all service men's pictures and records must be included.
