CHANGE MADE IN OPERATING FARM

Tractor Is Cause of Numerous Alterations, According to Department of Agriculture.

REDUCTION OF WORK STOCK

Among Other Innovations Brought About is Variation in Cropping System, Increase in Size of Farm and Fields.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

Numerous changes in the organization and operation of a farm may be effected by the use of a tractor, according to recent investigations by the United States Department of Agriculture. These changes may be a reduction in the number of work stock, a change in the size of the farm, an increase in the size of fields, a saving in man labor and changes in livestock enterprises. Detailed results of the investigations are contained in "Farmstead Bulletin," entitled "Changes Effected by Tractors on Corn Belt Farms," just published. L. A. Revell, junior farm economist, and H. I. Tolley, agricultural engineer, are the authors.

Reduction of Stock. The extent of the reduction in work stock depends primarily upon the number which are already owned, the work which it is planned to do with the tractor, says the bulletin. No rule is given to show in advance how many work stock can be disposed of on farms in general, but it is stated that on most corn-belt farms enough horses will have to be kept to cultivate corn and do the other necessary horse labor which comes at that season.

Where hired help is employed during the year, all or part at least, of such help may be eliminated, according to the bulletin. On farms run without the use of hired help, the tractor will enable the operator to do his work in less time than formerly by combining different operations, such as plowing, harrowing and performing his work at different periods of time. Where land is available, adjoining or in the vicinity of the farm, it may be possible to increase the number of acres in crops which can be handled with the same

PREPARING EGGS FOR SHIPPING TO MARKET

Candling Will Save Transportation and Storage Charges.

Method of Conservation Tried Out During World War and Results Are Gratifying That Several States Have Adopted Plan.

Do you know how to tell the quality of an egg without breaking the shell? All you need is a pastboard box with a hole 1 1/2 inches in diameter, strong light such as is furnished by a lamp or an electric light bulb, a dark room, and the eggs. When the egg is held close against the hole the strong light renders its contents visible and its quality is indicated by the appearance of the yolk, the white and the air space at the blunt end.

Testing eggs by candling, as it is called, may not only be used by the housewife in obtaining fresh eggs for her table but has also proved to be commercially practicable in preventing loss by separating the local or shipment, eggs that, because of chink, weakness, insect spoilage and other defects, are likely to spoil in shipment, but which are suitable for immediate use but will not stand shipping.

Candling as near as possible to source of production will not only save transportation and storage charges for the farmers who wish to market their own eggs, but will prevent the loss of a valuable food product. This method has been widely tried out during the World War and the results have been so gratifying that many states have made it a permanent feature of their food-control work.

TURNING LOSSES TO PROFITS

Authorities at Ithaca Say Low Producer Is Loser—Suggestions for Improvement.

The low-producing cow is a money loser all around.

So say authorities at the New York State college of agriculture at Ithaca, who cite one herd as an example where the average production for each cow for a year was only 6,585 pounds of milk. After all costs were charged, including all feed, interest on investment, depreciation, and service fees, the owner had left for his

BURNING OVER WASTE LANDS

Practice in Some Sections Frequently Results in Great Destruction of Bird Life.

The practice in some sections of burning over waste land and marshes during April and May frequently results in great destruction of bird life and links nests and eggs, particularly on valuable land where wild ducks breed, according to the Biological Survey of the United States Department of Agriculture. The department suggests that where it is at all possible the growth should be left alone, or the marshes burned previous to the arrival of the birds or the building of their nests, which would be generally in speaking in February and March. In many instances the burning is unnecessary and no good purpose is served by it. Due to the burning of numerous acres throughout the country for agricultural purposes, suitable breeding places for birds are constantly being fewer in number, and for this reason the unnecessary burning over of waste lands and marshes should be discouraged everywhere by bird lovers, conservationists and sportsmen.

LEG WEAKNESS OF CHICKENS

Growing Pullets, Cockereels and Chicks Are Affected by Ailment Similar to Rheumatism.

Growing pullets and cockereels sometimes become affected with a leg weakness that is difficult to account for. They suddenly become unable to use their legs, and flop about by means of their wings. This condition may be the result of a rheumatism or other ailment similar to rheumatism in human beings. In this case there is a swelling of the joints, with pain and tenderness.

Remove the affected fowl from the rest of the flock, and place them in a dry, comfortable place by themselves. Give each one a teaspoonful or two of castor oil, but remember that what goes down the outside of the neck does not go in.

CARE IN PASTURING ALFALFA

Bleat Caused in Sheep and Horses When Changing From Dry Feed—Give Some Hay.

Care must be taken in pasturing alfalfa as it will cause bleat in cattle, sheep and horses. When changing from dry feed alfalfa pasture, the animal should consume a quantity of hay, and they should be allowed to pasture on the alfalfa for a very short time at first. As they become accustomed to alfalfa, they may remain longer, but it is best to allow them time to a straw stack or hay at all times.

MATING OF BREEDING FOWLS

It Takes Two Weeks After Male Has Been Introduced Before Maximum Fertility Is Sure.

Breeding flocks should be mated, especially for early hatching. If taken before maximum fertility is obtained. If the hens have been with an undesirable mate, it will take three weeks for them to get rid of his influence.

TESTING FOR TUBERCULOSIS

Bulletin Issued by Department of Agriculture Outlines Three Principal Methods.

Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.

The three principal methods of testing cattle for tuberculosis are described in detail by L. B. Ernest and Elmer Lash in Circular 240, "Tuberculosis Testing of Live Stock," just issued by the United States Department of Agriculture. The tests in use are the subcutaneous, the intradermic, and the ophthalmic. The circular lists the advantages and disadvantages of each test and gives directions for applying. Information is also given regarding the use of various combinations of these tests.

In the past, say the authors, tuberculosis testing was regarded by many persons as being a routine operation that required little skill in its application or interpretation, but experienced veterinarians are required to obtain good results. In addition they must be men of sound judgment and diplomacy.

In addition to the discussion of the different tests and the responsibilities of veterinarians doing the testing, the circular contains chapters on the nature of tubercular tuberculosis, identification of white and poultry, identification of reacting cattle, and necessary work following tubercular testing. The circular is illustrated with photographs and charts and of particular interest to veterinarians. Copies may be had on application to the Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C.

Cows Must Be Kept Comfortable.

There are 140 different farming problems now being studied co-operatively by the United States Department of Agriculture and Iowa agricultural experiment stations. These studies deal with soil, crop, animal disease, farm management, pests and other common problems.

First, keep a herd of healthy animals.

Second, keep a herd that has the inherent ability to produce milk at a low cost.

Third, supply the herd with a proper ration.

Fourth, obtain the ration at the lowest possible cost, use legumes.

Fifth, supply the ration in the proportions to obtain best results.

Sixth, furnish individual drinking buckets so that the cows can have water when desired.

Seventh, provide a well ventilated and lighted stable.

Eighth, never forget that the herd must be kept comfortable and contented.

Ninth, aim to produce a quality product.

Tenth, know your business by keeping records.

NAME TOO MUCH FOR THEM

Hawaiian Natives Found It Practically Impossible to Translate "Roosevelt" into Their Language.

The village of Roosevelt has changed its name back to Puukoo. Not many persons, probably, know where this village is. It is situated in an obscure corner of one of the Hawaiian islands, and some years ago it had as one of its residents a Dr. E. S. Goodhue, who was anxious that the name of the famous president should never die out of the section of America, and so he got up a petition to the postmaster general at Washington, asking that the original name of the village should be altered, and as the mail was concerned, to Roosevelt.

The request was granted, but the new name bothered the natives terribly. They have no "r" or "o" or "l" in their alphabet, and the nearest Hawaiian equivalent to Roosevelt means that to be lukewarm. So they sent a second petition, in which they stated that they were desirous of signing the first, and asked that the native name of the village be restored. The petition has been granted.

Humorous Nova Scotian Unintentionally Very Gravely Misted Sermons—Minded Glasgow Newspaper.

R. M. MacGregor told the following story at a luncheon of the Scottish criers in New Glasgow. A New Glasgow shipper firm was having built a steamship on the Clyde and gave it the name of Mianus. The oddity of the name aroused considerable curiosity. The Nova Scotian captain was asked the derivation of the name. Goodnaturedly the captain replied that "Mianus" was the name of a tribe of Indians in Nova Scotia. To his further astonishment a correction, reading as follows:

"We were slightly in error in the derivation of the name Mianus" in yesterday's issue. We now learn that the ship is called Mianus after a tribe of wild Indians in Nova Scotia, who are half Irish and half Scotch."

A Personal Experience With Standard Oil

"Chicago, March 7.—I read with a great deal of interest the editorial, 'Should Run for the Penalty of Success,' in connection with the report of the senate committee attacking the various Standard Oil companies.

I want to take this opportunity of relating my personal experience with the Standard Oil Company of Indiana.

Having changed from a coal to an oil burning furnace, several oil companies, I closed a contract with the Standard Oil of Indiana, simply because their contract was more liberal and advantageous to me in every way.

I secured cheaper oil, better oil, and first class service." D. G. Moustakis

The letter reprinted above appeared in the Voice of the People columns of a Chicago newspaper, March 9, 1923.

Cheaper oil—better oil—and first class service.

That, in terse simple terms, expresses the ideals which have made the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) big.

The Standard Oil Company (Indiana) is big because it is called upon to render a big service. Its financial statement deals in big figures because it does an enormous volume of business in a multiplicity of products entering innumerable fields of industry.

Money To Loan on Easy Terms For Building Town Homes

During the past two or three years we have had a great many people in Pine City tell us that they wanted to build a new home, or home of their own, but didn't have enough money, and didn't know where to go to borrow it.

In order to remedy this situation, and make it possible for some of these homes to be built this year, we recently made a financial connection whereby we can help a limited number of town families finance the building of a new home for themselves as soon as they are ready.

The conditions and terms on which this financial help may be secured are so easy that we are sure they will fit the circumstances of almost any family in Pine City.

If you want or need a new home, or if you want to quit paying rent, or want to make your rent money pay for a home of your own, call at our office as soon as you can and let us give you the details of our plan of service, and our financial help.

We have a large number of modern home plans here ready for you to select from, making it easy for you to get the right plan as well as the money to build it with.

Call this week, so as to get an early start.

Buy lubrication—not just "oil"

Maybe your way is to drive up to an oil station and say, "Give me a quart of oil." Poor way. All oils look alike; but are not alike.

SUNOCO
THE DISTILLED OIL

is different; we made a lot of very careful scientific tests to find the difference.

Sunoco is a pure lubricant and nothing else; all impurities are removed. You can put it every place in your car that needs lubrication and know that you're getting just that—effective lubrication.

There are six types of Sunoco—fully distilled. Go to a Sunoco dealer; let him drain your crank-case and refill with the proper type of Sunoco. Then watch results.

SMUT CONTROLLED BY NEW DUST TREATMENT

Use of Copper Carbonate Will Save Formaldehyde Method, Says Stakman

Experiments made at University Farm and various other agricultural stations in the northwest have shown that the use of formaldehyde will supersede the formaldehyde treatment for the control of the smut.

Dr. C. Stakman, of the university department of agriculture, a noted smut specialist, says that the use of formaldehyde on wheat can be practically controlled by copper carbonate dust.

The dust is made by mixing formaldehyde with water and is applied to the seed at any time before planting, even after the seed has been planted.

The use of copper carbonate dust is a simple matter and is not dangerous to the seed, nor is it dangerous to the soil or to the farmer.
