Pass Resolution Opposing Bonds McKay House and Barn Razed by Fire

Close to a hundred people attended the meeting of the Pine City Development Association held in the club rooms last Monday evening. Most of those present were farmers from the surrounding community there being a large representation from the towns of Cross Creek, Pine, Chongwatana, Pokegama and Royalton.

The gathering passed a resolution opposing the road bond issue to be made by the county and appointed a committee to devise ways and means for halting the issue of the $140,000 worth of bonds.

The meeting was one of the best held here in some time. There was no excitement connected with it but the proposed bond issue was thoroughly discussed from all angles and it was the unanimous opinion of practically all those present that the expenditure of $100,000 for the construction of roads through Pine county was a needless expenditure of money at this time, regardless of the state of the treasury would have to foot the bills. Nor were they in favor of issuing any bonds for work on route No. 1.

Many of the speakers felt that No. 23 would be used primarily for the benefit of tourists and would be of little benefit to the county as a whole. As one speaker pointed out, the issuing of $140,000 in bonds together with the $140,000 issued by the county three years ago takes up the total of $280,000 which county bonds may issue without a vote and then it would be impossible to issue more bonds until the time is liable to come in the near future when it may be necessary to issue road bonds for work where road construction will be of real benefit.

With the completion of State road No. 7 from No. 1, through Henriette to Marysville, and No. 9 through West Rose, and over to No. 5 will give traffic on No. 5 two fast direct routes. In connection with No. 1, and those attending the meeting feel that the construction of 23 through Pine county at the present rate is a needless expenditure of public money.

It was the sense of the meeting that road steps should be taken if necessary to stop the issuance of the bonds by the board and it is very likely that a temporary injunction will be asked for so that the proposition can be thrashed out in the courts.

Make War on Barbary Bush

The war on common barberry is now of local interest. County Judge and W. J. Elling of the Barberry eradication force, engaged in searching farms of Minnesota for the common barberry bush which spreads black stem rust to grain, arrived in Pine City this week for the purpose of making a preliminary inspection of Pine County for the common barberry bush. They have established a list of temporary agents and will remain until they have made a complete survey of this vicinity.

The barberry eradication campaign began in the United States in 1918. That has been the latest full in not of recent discovery. For hundreds of years practical farmers have known that the common barberry creates black stem rust, and for fifty years scientists have known how it does this. Even so early as 1866, laws were passed against the common barberry in France. Many laws designed to create the barberry were enacted in European countries and several American colonies passed similar laws.

The relation between barberry and rust, there is a long-established fact as hundreds of farmers will testify who have noticed the effect of the bushes on their grain fields.

The seeds have found a number of bushes in the northern part of Pine county which they have surveyed. They have at many places specimens of the local laws which they feel that the public may be helped in identifying bushes which have been identified in their vicinity.

Persons who know of places where common barberries are growing, who know they have not been destroyed are asked to notify the permanent agents at Pine City, whose names are given above.

The state law provides for the punishment of persons who refuse to remove their bushes when notified to do so. The law also gives authority for the removal of the bushes at public expense, with the cost charged back to the owner on which they were found.

The government would however, appreciate that they have no objection of involving the law. They say they are having splendid cooperation from the public.

A specimen of the common barberry can be seen at the Police office for all those who wish to familiarize themselves with the bush.

Ladies Aid Holds Social

The Presbyterian ladies aid served considerable tea on Sunday and cake at their social in the parlors of the church on Sunday last evening, and had a nice time with their treasury.

The house and barn on the D. J. McKay farm, southeast of Rock Creek, were completely destroyed by fire during the storm last Sunday night. Very little of the contents of the house were saved and everything in the barn was consumed by the flames. Fortunately there was no stock in the barn, but about 40 chickens were burned. The barn contained a number of pack farm buggy, speakers, harness and some hay and feed. A wagon, hay rack and spring buggy outside the barn caught fire and were destroyed.

The fire started about 12:15 at night. The family were all in bed, but Mr. McKay got up to close the garage doors on account of the severe storm. Upon his return to the house he noticed a small fire and was able to locate the fire for a few minutes until the shed on the west side of the house burst into flames. The family was awakened and escaped, but there was little time to save much. While they were working on the house the barn also blazed up. The automobile in the garage was saved and the garage caught fire a couple of times but they were able to extinguish it. The total loss amounts to about $10,000 which is fairly well covered by insurance.

Both the house and barn were equipped with a lighting system and it is thought that this was struck by lightning which started the fire. The barn about the same time as both buildings are quite a distance apart and neither one caught fire until the other. Both buildings were razed to the ground and there is nothing left but ashes.

The new barn is a big building 36x82 feet in size and had modern barn equipment. The house was also a fine residence with everything modern and convenient. Friends and neighbors were prompt in offering assistance and help for the family and they are number of the Pine City Old Fellow lodge, of which Mr. McKay is a member, called for the farm Monday evening to offer the assistance of members in helping to clear up the debris and prepare for the new building.

Axel Martinson County Schools Drowned Sunday Get State Money

An extremely sad accident occurred last Sunday afternoon when Axel Martinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Nels Martinson of Pine Grove, was drowned while swimming at the bathing beach on Cross Lake in Pine City.

The young lad had ridden into town on his bicycle and went in bathing shortly after dinner. He was accompanied by Clarence Lewis, who was in swimming also. The unfortunate lad had tried to swim out to the raft, which is quite a distance from shore and the water is about fifteen feet deep there. He didn't reach the raft and returned to shore. After a short rest he made another attempt to swim to the raft and when a few feet away from the shore he called for help. Clarence went to his assistance and tried to save him. The drowning lad caught him around the neck and it took all his strength to break the hold of the frantic boy, otherwise it would probably have proven fatal for both. By the time Clarence was so weak that it was all he could do to save himself and get back to shallow water.

The accident happened about 3:30 in the afternoon and there were only a few small children in the town at that time. They quickly spread the alarm but by the time help came the body had disappeared in the water. A number of young men attempted to find the body by diving to the bottom but the water is so deep at the raft they were able to find under only a few seconds. Grappling irons and hooks were used and it was only after the body had been under only a few minutes that the remains were brought to the surface by Ell Huber. It was not recovered until 5 o'clock.

The funeral services were conducted by Rev. Peterson of North Branch from the Pine Grove church Tuesday afternoon and the remains were laid to rest in the Pine Grove cemetery. The pall bearers were Emil Hanson, Wm. Englund and Otto Becker.

Nels Martinson was born on the farm where his family now resides August 8, 1907 and spent his short life at home. He was the oldest of 5.

Words fail to express the sympathy of the community at the tragic death of the young man and sorrow felt for the bereaved parents, brothers and sisters.

PERTINENT POINTERS FOR PRACTICAL FARMERS

Prepared by the Agricultural Department, University of Minnesota

NEW SYSTEM TRAINS WOMEN AS LEADERS

Home Economics Work of University is Enlarged by New Method.

A new system worked out by the home demonstration section of the agricultural extension division, University of Minnesota, as a means of reaching larger numbers of Minnesota women with respect to home economics problems, is proving of immense value in a rather unexpected manner.

It is not only enabling the home demonstration section of the University to reach a larger number of women with instruction, but it is training large numbers of women in leadership in the home economics field. In other words it is making teachers of home economics and creating among them a new type of leadership in the home economics work in home economics throughout the state.

Because the home demonstration section of the extension division of the University was limited to a small staff and because the number of demands for home economics instruction in various parts of the state was relatively very large, a system had to be worked out by which the specialists in the various departments of the extension division could be brought into the new plan.

According to this plan the county extension agent of a county meeting composed of at least two women from each township or township.

Before this group the home economics specialists are presented and a first and second choice of projects is made by the members of the group.

The local leaders, in turn, instruct community groups of at least ten women with respect to the project chosen.

Dairy Animals Help in Country's Meat Supply

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture)

About 37 per cent of the mature dairy animals in this country find their way to the slaughter and packing plants, according to the United States Department of Agriculture.

If this percentage is applied to the number of mature dairy animals reported on farms by the last census, and the average live weights and dressing yields are used in calculating the beef production, the result shows about 1,022,450,000 pounds of carcass beef produced from dairy cattle during the year 1920.

This quantity represents more than 25 per cent of the total beef production of the United States for that year. Probably 80 per cent of all the calves slaughtered are of dairy breeding.

If this percentage is applied to the total number of calves slaughtered in 1920 and the resulting figure multiplied by the average live weight and dressing yields, the amount of beef produced by dairy calves is about 560,647,000 pounds during the year 1920.

The principal conditions which cause dairy cows to be discarded for milk production purposes are, in order of importance, physical defects, low milk yield and sterility. Many old dairy cows and others that are unprofitable as milk producers are fattened for a short period and then sold for beef.

When properly fed such cows make rapid gains, though the dressing figure accumulates rather than to produce a well-marbled beef. About 80 per cent of the cow carcasses are graded as common or lower, and the meat is used largely in the preparation of sausage and comminuted meats.

Bulls that are no longer desired in the herd for various reasons make up a part of the meat from dairy cattle. They are seldom suitable for dressed beef, a large proportion of the rounds being used for dried or smoked beef and the remaining portions of the carcasses for sausage.

While the quality of beef produced from mature cows and bulls is of lower grade, it is of no necessity true with respect to the yield obtained from dairy calves. Probably 95 per cent of the female dairy calves are slaughtered as calves.

Most of these animals, if properly handled and slaughtered while young, produce a high grade of veal.

Comfort in Hot Weather Necessary for Dairy Cow

During the hot summer months many high producing cows are prevented from giving their normal supply of milk by carelessness of their owner in not supplying some one of many necessary comforts for hot weather milk and butterfat production.

One of the most common of these is the furnishing of drinking water. A cow in milk requires about 100 pounds, or 125 gallons, of water daily. She can judge for herself just how much she needs.

Profitable Cow Ought to Produce Much Milk

It is pointed out by successful dairy men that to be profitable a cow ought to produce at least 5,000 pounds of milk in a year. In producing this quantity of milk, her butterfat would amount to about 200 pounds.

Daily Water Supply of Greatest Importance

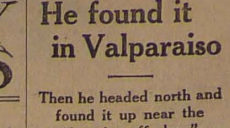

Cows which produce 25 pounds of milk a day require 75 pounds or more of water daily, and the amount is increased in hot weather. In the output, there is little waste as machines see over and see that the water does not waste and the quantity called upon to perform some mechanical miracle upon them.

Young Calves Should Be Fed Good Grain Ration

Young calves should be fed grain as well as milk. The grain should be a good corn chop and wheat bran, mixed in equal proportions, constitute a good ration for the young calf.

National Brand of Butter

There is a growing demand among the people of this country for a national brand of butter can be developed.

No matter what part of the world you may find yourself in, few things make you feel more at home than to walk into a store and find your favorite smoking tobacco for sale.

You get a great thrill from seeing your home newspaper in a strange land, and an even greater thrill on meeting someone from the old home town. But tobacco certainly comes first in the order of importance in a way-from-home thrill.

When in Valparaiso, South America, I could get it. I found it in a store, and the "jumping-off place" was low in the "jumping-off place."

I have an old letter that I had had for me, and the "jumping-off place" was low in the "jumping-off place."

If it is the same, "you tell me," you tell me.

If Mr. Brumley makes frequent trips from continent to continent, his record of keeping all tobacco but Edgeworth out of his briar is indeed remarkable.

Although Edgeworth does reach the far corners of the earth, there must be some one to keep the Edgeworths in the States.

Zanzibar and other remote districts.

Edgeworth's smokes, wherever they are, generally manage to find a way to get Edgeworths, for they are really smoking under a name that comes from a little blue tin.

If you are not an Edgeworth smoker but would like an opportunity to find out why you want to be one, please write name and address to Lorus B. Brooker Company, 72 South 21st Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

You will receive almost immediately free samples of the Edgeworth Plug Slice and Ready-Rubbed. Then you can judge for yourself just how you think about this tobacco that so many smokers claim gives complete satisfaction.

If you will include the name and address of your regular tobacco dealer with your request for the free samples, your courtesy will be appreciated.

To Retail Tobacco Merchants: If you have a regular supply you will be glad to supply you with Edgeworth, Lorus Brooker Company will gladly send you prepaid by parcel post, a quantity of the Edgeworth Plug Slice and Ready-Rubbed for the same price you would pay the dealer.

THURSDAY JULY 26, 1923

Conditions in the Philippine Islands are badly mixed, and because of the intense feeling on the part of natives, serious trouble may ensue.

The start of the trouble dates back to the report of the Woods-Ford Commission, appointed by the Secretary of War to investigate and pass upon the question of granting independence. Former Governor General Harrison had recommended that that be done, and President Wilson twice asked Congress to fulfill the promise made in 1916 in the Jones Act. Everything in the island seemed to be moving in good shape. General Wood and Mr. Forbes recommended that the independence be delayed, and shortly after that General Woods was appointed to succeed General Harrison as Governor of the Islands. From that time dates all the trouble. General Wood, as governor, vetoed some sixteen measures passed by the Filipino legislature a large number of which related to municipal organizations. General Wood's administration has been very unsatisfactory to the Filipinos. The constant clash has finally resulted in the resignations of the President of the Senate and the Speaker of the House and the demand by the Filipinos of the recall of General Wood. These three constitute the Board of Control, and as the matter now stands General Wood is sheared of much of his power. It is a matter Congress will have to deal with.

There is no secret in Washington circles as to the fact that Congress believes the Filipinos should be granted their independence. It is promised, but the War Department is determined to keep a grip on the islands at all costs.

The situation is really serious, because of the growing Filipino sentiment that the United States is not sincere or honest in its pretenses. Unless something is soon done the 11,000,000 Filipinos may open the way for Japan to gain a foothold.

The group of economists of Federal Reserve banks, colleges, and farmers organizations who met with officials of the Department of Agriculture last week to consider the farm products situation, recommended that farmers curtail the production of winter wheat. Expansion of wheat growing areas in chief exporting countries, coupled with decreased buying power of Western Europe, was declared responsible for the present price slump.

Gray Silver, Washington representative of the American Farm Bureau Federation at Washington, declared, "as soon as the Government estimates of the crop yield came out the middle-men began to force prices downward. Within the last month the price of wheat to the farmers has dropped from $1.40 per bushel to 80 cents. The $1 wheat at Chicago includes the freight charges, which the farmers do not receive."

The slump in the price of wheat during the past month means a loss of $500,000,000 to the farmer's pocketbook.

While the Government agencies investigate the coal industry, the use of price control and war against possible shortage next winter, owners of West Virginia mines claim to be shipping coal at prices far below the cost of production and scores of mines are reported to have closed. Already more than 100 mines are closed down on the Chesapeake & Ohio Railroad, which serves the non-union fields of southern West Virginia.

Big City, Minn. June 13th, 1923. Dear Neighbor Bill: Last week when I paid my rent I that I was buying the flat I live in. That money would have paid the taxes on my old farm for a year. My next that neighbor's name may be Johnson, I don't know for we don't get acquainted here in the city. Mary and the kids don't like living upstairs and want to go back to the farm again where they can breathe.

I haven't been working very steady because those, what they call unions strike so much, don't tell the Carbons but you can't make any money here and let me know if my old "80" has been sold or rented again. I suppose that red heifer you bought so cheap at my sale gives lots of milk now. How much would you take for her now? Take good care of my dog Bill, for I may want him again. S. O. S. Standard Oil Service

THE Standard Oil Company Indiana is doing much to solve a problem of intense and vital interest to you.

With its mammoth central refineries and its far-reaching distributing system—operating with machine-like precision—it is exerting a direct influence on the labor problems of the farmer.

That the farmer is coming to a realization of the benefits of motorizing his equipment is shown by the fact that one tractor manufacturer reports the sale of 20,000 of his machines during the first three months of 1923 as compared with 8,000 of the same machines sold during the same period in 1922.

This increase in the use of mechanical power in general farm practice means a distinct saving in time, and, eventually, will mean greater crops and greater general prosperity.

While the efficient harnessing of petroleum with farming, and the production of food, is an achievement of signal importance, it is but one instance of how Standard Oil Company (Indiana) service dovetails with every other business.

It dovetails with industry by furnishing specialized lubricants for special machinery.

It promotes health by taking from petroleum those ingredients which are used medicinally. It makes it possible for the doctor to cover a much greater territory in pursuing his practice.

It dovetails with the railroads through lubricating much of their intricate equipment, and makes night travel safe by reason of a dependable signal system.

It meets the housewife by furnishing her a wax which safeguards her preserves, jellies, and condiments against spoilage.

It reaches directly, or indirectly, every man in the Middle West at some point which is essential to his prosperity or happiness with a service which is occupying the entire time and attention of 27,000 loyal, efficient, hard-working men and women.
