FUNERAL TO BE HELD AT MARION

People Along Way Remain Up To Pay Homage To Dead President.

On Board Harding's Funeral Train - The West has paid tribute to the memory of Warren O. Harding...

Though it was in the early hours when the funeral train reached Omaha, there were thousands of persons who had kept watch for it and who like the other gatherings at points passed everywhere since Friday evening...

In Omaha, as in the other places where stops were made, floral pieces also were offered, thus making it possible for those attending to such affairs on the train to keep the bier all day decorated with fresh flowers.

Omaha was represented by about twenty thousand of its citizens with bowed and bare heads as the special pulled into Union station.

This is wonderful, wonderful, declared George Christler, secretary to the departed President as he stepped from the train. Who would expect to see such a large crowd gathered to show their sympathy and love at this hour of the day?

Spilling a tire on one of its drive wheels while running slowly through Chappell, Neb. the giant locomotive pulling the funeral train of President Harding, on its eastward way, was brought abruptly to a stop in time to avert a serious accident.

100,000 Expected at Marion Rites. Marion, Ohio - Upwards of 100,000 people are expected to fill this city to the point of overflowing Friday when the funeral train of President Harding will be received at the late President Harding.

Hundreds of persons motored to Marion, and Company D of marines was mobilized, being stationed at points of interest after souvenir hunters became so numerous that such a move was deemed advisable to prevent destruction of property.

No one will be permitted near the home of Dr. George T. Harding, Sr. where the funeral of the late chief executive will be held, the Harding household in Mount Vernon, Va.

Memorial Services Friday Afternoon

Pine City and community will pay fitting tribute to the memory of our late president, Warren O. Harding, with appropriate services to be held in the city commencing at 1:30 tomorrow - Friday.

Every business establishment in the village will close at 12 o'clock noon until three o'clock. The tolling of all bells in the village will announce the start of the program, which is being arranged for by the local legion post and will conclude by Legion Band.

Prayer services for our departed president will be held at 1:30 p. m. at the home of M. B. Hurley. Vocal selections by the Star Spangled Banner.

Every person in this region is asked to join in the services. People in practically every community in America will gather tomorrow to express their sorrow at the loss of their president as the body is being borne to its last resting place in his home town at Marion, Ohio.

The "front porch" house, of the Harding home grounds. It is the hope of Mrs. Sawyer and Harding that Mrs. Harding will consent to have the body of the President taken directly to the Marion county courthouse when it arrives here to lie in state from 10 a. m. to 4 p. m. This would be removed to the home of the late President's father, where, according to tentative arrangements, funeral services will be held Friday morning.

The funeral cortege on its way to the cemetery will pass the Marion State office, the newspaper and the residence of the late President. President Harding recently disposed of, and through the main streets of the city, which will be lined with troops.

New York - Thousands of persons of all creeds and nations, bowed their heads in prayer Sunday in this city for the late Warren G. Harding. In the historic old Trinity looking down Wall street and in all the humber churches throughout the city, worshippers listened for a few moments to pastors, priests and rabbis, the edification of the nation's dead executive.

Marion, O. - Close friends of President Harding estimated that his estate probably was worth between $50,000 and $50,000. Before he assumed the Presidency, Mr. Harding was regarded as wealthy, having amassed a fortune from the Marion Star, the newspaper which he owned since 1884 until it was sold recently. The controlling interest in the paper was sold to him for $100,000.

At one time or other Mr. Harding has been a stockholder in virtually every industrial enterprise in Marion.

Ely Team Going Strong

Sport news from Ely state that Pine City boys playing on the Ely team this year are getting away in fine shape. Ray Hoelder, manager of the team, is playing his old position in left field and is leading off in the batting lineup. In last Sunday's game, when Ely defeated Hibbing 8 to 4, Ray got 2 safe hits. Clarence Kabb is holding down right field and connected with two safes and scored two runs. Army Kowalko did the pitching and allowed 7 hits during the game. Bertie Lamberg pitched the bat is playing his usual steady game and holds up his end in batting, leading a good safe drive in this game.

The Hibbing Tribune, in reporting the game stated: "The Ely club is managed by Ray Hoelder, one time Range leader, and possibly one of the best hitters that ever swung in the circuit."

New Officers Installed

A very enthusiastic meeting was held at St. Mary's hall on Tuesday evening August 7th. Thirteen new members were installed into the immaculate Conception Court. Deputy warden Sister Mary B. Flammang, through whose efforts the class was secured had charge of the meeting. The following officers were elected: Chief Rancier - Katherine Sauer; Vice Chief Rancier - Mary Kester; Recording Secretary - Josephine Volence; Treasurer - Elizabeth Madden; Violet Conakover; Cecilia Odendahl; Conductors - Elizabeth Scully; Agnes Galik; Sentinels - Julia Conakover; Josephine Collins.

A banquet was held after the business program. Officers and members from the Hibbing and Rush City Courts were present and all had a fine social time.

Sister Mary Flammang and the members were very busy in visiting the Rev. Father Leo had to be absent from the city the night of the installation.

Public Career of President Coolidge

Calvin Coolidge, who became President of the United States last Friday, was reared in Plymouth, Vermont, where he worked his father's farm. He graduated from Amherst college in 1895 and was admitted to practice law in Massachusetts in 1897. He served as mayor of Northampton, was a member of the Massachusetts Legislature, and of the State Senate, was elected lieutenant governor and was then elected governor. He was elected vice president in 1920. His whole active life has been in politics. He is a firm believer in a "managed government." On international questions he has declared himself in opposition to the League of Nations as it now stands and in favor of a world court. On prohibition he stands with the drys.

No character sketch of Calvin Coolidge more clearly defines his philosophy than his own written and published words contained in the volume, "My Faith in Massachusetts" issued in 1919. It includes many of his public speeches and state papers. They are calm and spirited utterances of a calm man, and apparently of a man without great political ambitions. Through them all there runs a note of independence and a sense of duty.

What he says of Massachusetts as a State might often have been said of the United States as a whole. With his broadened vision he may find the opportunity to apply a national, and even to world, affairs the same theories which were evolved during the years of his long service to the Commonwealth of Massachusetts in 1919.

Mr. Coolidge does not make laws. They do not discover them. Laws must be discovered by something more than the will of the majority. They rest in the eternal foundation of righteousness. Don't expect to build up the weak by pulling down the strong. Don't hurry to legislate. Give administration a chance to catch up with legislation.

In an address delivered July 1, 1916 he said: "The light that first broke over the thirteen colonies lay along the Atlantic coast and was destined to illuminate the world. It has been a struggle against the forces of darkness, victory has been won and it still delays in some quarters but the result is not in doubt. It is the force of the universe, more than any man, that will prevail. The assertion of human rights is might but a call to human service."

In another address delivered on his arrival here, June 17, 1913, Mr. Coolidge said: "We are beginning to hear of the development of a Superman and the claim that he has the right dominion over the rest of his inventors on earth. This philosophy denies the doctrine of equality and holds that government is not based on consent but on compulsion. It holds that the weak must serve the strong, which is the law of the slave; it applies the law of the animal world to mankind and puts violence above morals. This sounds the call to the jungle. It is not the high of human reason but the darkness of the wisdom of the serpent. The law of progress and civilization is not the law of the jungle. It is an earthly law, it is a divine law, it is not the survival of the fittest, it means the sacrifice of the fittest."

Legion Convention Meets at Faribault

At least 10,000 visitors every day are expected to attend the State convention of the American Legion, the Legion Auxiliary, and La Societe des 40 Hommes and 8 Chevaliers which is to be held in Faribault August 13, 14 and 15. The members of the Faribault post have been busy for several months and now have everything set for the arrival of the visitors.

Leading attractions for the convention are the address which will be made by Judge Keneaw Mountain Landis, former federal judge, and now chief arbiter of baseball. National Commander Oswald of the American Legion, and Dr. Kate Barrett, national President of the Legion Auxiliary. The three will appear on Tuesday, August 13. This is expected to be the biggest day of the convention, and as least 20,000 are expected to be present at that time.

By a conservative estimate, the giant parade on Tuesday evening, August 14, 7:30 o'clock, will be three miles in length, according to M. D. Sims, and apparently of a man without great political ambitions. Through them all there runs a note of independence and a sense of duty.

Special transportation rates are being provided by the railroad companies and certificates have been sent to all posts in the state. All should make it a point to get the reduced rates to the convention.

Detlef Grandt is Married

Detlef Grandt and Mrs. Julia Kneal of St. Paul were united in marriage by Rev. Henke at the Pine City Lutheran church last Sunday at one o'clock. Relatives of Mrs. Kneal of St. Paul were present at the ceremony.

Mrs. Kneal has been a resident of St. Paul the past 3 years and prior to that time she was with Mr. Grandt in welcoming her to her new home in Pine City. Mr. Grandt was treated to a royal charavari at the Grandt home last Sunday evening when many of the old and young folks of the village gathered there to give them a real noisy welcome.

Roland Wiedeman Called

Roland J. Wiedeman, 3 year old son of Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Wiedeman, passed away at the home of his parents last Tuesday morning, the result of acute gastritis. The funeral was held at 10 o'clock in the Rush City hospital last evening when he had serious intestinal trouble. He was apparently getting along fine and it was thought he would recover when his sudden death occurred.

Funeral services will be held from the Pine City Lutheran church tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock and the little body will be laid to rest in Birchwood cemetery. Rev. Henke will officiate.

The sympathy of many friends is extended to the bereaved family at the sudden loss of their little boy. Ice cream buck 37c per quart. Sundae 10c, cones 2 for 5c. Every day at Prochaska's.

Band Concert Sunday Evening

The Legion band will give a concert in the park next Sunday evening. Many farmers are unable to get in to the concert during the week owing to this being their busy season and getting through late at night with the chores. So that every one may have the opportunity of enjoying these entertainments, a thespical concert will be given next Sunday evening.

The band will give a concert at Redman tomorrow - Friday - evening. Cars will leave the court house at 7 o'clock and everyone that can get away is urged to make the trip and visit at our neighboring village that evening.

Pine Co. Has Many Autos

Pine County, with 2,813 automobiles and trucks, stands 52nd among the 87 counties in Minnesota a number of motor vehicles according to figures published by the Farmer, St. Paul.

State motor vehicle taxes on these machines were $45,711 in 1922 at average rates applicable to the trunk highway fund for this county, so the taxes approximated $871 a mile for these Ramsey county and taxes were nearly 100 per cent more than in St. Paul although not a cent is received in that city. Hennepin county's total was nearly $1,250,000, $1,246 a mile by trunk route in this county, paid largely by Minneapolis auto and truck owners although paid wholly on roads in the county. General averages for counties are 4,638 motor vehicles and 89 miles of trunk highways - taxes of $938 a mile of truck route.

General statistics list only five states in which more automobiles and trucks are owned by farmers than in Minnesota, and show that farmers in this state last year bought more than 30,000 motor vehicles. Further, there are more tractors on farms in Minnesota and the Dakotas than in any other territory in the United States. In 1921 one farm in six had a tractor and more than 4,000 tractors have been bought by Minnesota farmers, according to U. S. department of agriculture figures. Motor trucks handled 56 per cent more livestock to South St. Paul markets than in 1922 during the year before.

The figures are combined in the highway bulletin to show the rapid, increasing importance of adequate highways to the farmer and in obtaining them at least outlay.

Can Have Key Too

W. J. Franta says that whoever took the lock belonging to the school house south of Pine City might just as well have the key to go with it and can get the same by applying to him. The lock is not much good without the key and Mr. Franta says the key is certainly useless without the lock. The building was entered last December 24 and a flag and a rope were taken out at that time.

FREE ADMISSION FOR CHILDREN

Every school child in Pine County under fifteen years of age is invited to attend the Pine County fair on Wednesday, Sept. 12th as the guest of the fair association. No admission will be charged for school children on that day who accompany their parents to the fair. Schools will be asked to close so that the children will be able to attend the fair.

The serial circus will stage their big show on Wednesday which with the other big free acts, a big racing program and the Ford race program will give fair patrons the biggest program that has been here for many years.

The Ashok-Standard combined band will give the musical program. Premiums increased. Premiums on the cattle and swine exhibits have been materially increased and a fourth premium on all registered cattle exhibits has been added for this year making the Pine County Fair prizes the highest paid in this part of the state. Exhibitors in these two departments should reserve space at once if the association is going to be crowded for room.

Fancy Work. The ladies department under the supervision of Mrs. Wm. Bandeen has added for this year, in these two big departments, a star attraction again this year according to present indications Chicago county ladies have been invited to show their fancy work and we are informed there will be many fine articles shown in this department from our neighboring county.

Farm Clubs. Reservations are being made for the farm club exhibits. The Lone Pine club of Hinckley and the Beroun club are already preparing for big exhibits again this year and the Chagnetwanna, Pine Town and Pokegama clubs will probably be there. The secretary is anxious to have these reservations early as special space will be provided for this department.

The commercial exhibit department will be of special interest to the fairgoers when they have already been reserved by the Richards Hardware Co., Piper Furniture Co., Pine City Mercantile Co., the Pine City Hardware Co. and the Sauer Hardware Co. There will probably be many other exhibits in this department when the fair opens to receive its visitors.

County Exhibit. County Engineer Jorgensen has an exhibit under construction that will prove of interest to every person in the county. This exhibit will consist of a miniature road about 12 feet in length which will show the various kinds of road construction from a mere trail showing the steps up to a modern paved road. The exhibit will also include the old style wooden bridge and the latest designed concrete bridge.

Hinckley vs Bush City. One of the best baseball games of the season will be played on Tuesday, Sept. 11 between Bush City and Hinckley. These two teams are pretty evenly matched and they will play all home players - their regular league teams - for a pure sport. There is considerable rivalry between these towns this year and their game will be a dandy for the baseball fans.

ELEPHANT HERD STATE FAIR FEATURE

A herd of trained elephants, schooled by one of the greatest animal trainers in the world, will be a big feature of the roadshows and fireworks program of the coming Minnesota State Fair and Northwest Dairy Exposition, September 11 to 9.

In the mammoth fireworks production, "India," staged before the grandstand each evening, this herd of elephants will play a big role. At the climax of the spectacle, when everything is ablaze with fire, these trained elephants rush through the flames and exploding bombs in battle, leaping their trunks about and screaming with rage. They are the only elephants that have ever been trained to leave no fire and fireworks.

The big beasts also perform on painted stages in front of the grandstand afternoon and evening. More than sixteen operatic circus acts, carried from the four corners of the world, will be put on at the state fair each day.

PRESIDENT HARDING DIES SUDDENLY

Stroke of Apoplexy is Fatal When His Recovery Was Deemed Certain—Mrs. Harding With Him at the End—Whole World is Shocked.

Washington—Death claimed Warren G. Harding with shocking suddenness at 7:30 p. m. Thursday at San Francisco. He died in the midst of apparent recovery he was stricken with apoplexy while Mrs. Harding was reading to him. The end came through his frame, he collapsed, and all recognized that the end had come. A stroke of apoplexy was the cause of his death.

"Within a few moments all of the President's official party had been summoned."

Dr. Thomas and later that Miss Powderly looked at the President while Mrs. Harding was reading to him and was struck by a great improvement in the patient's appearance.

"Don't be look fine," she said, turning to Mrs. Harding.

The nurse turned back to look at the President to verify her comment. Mrs. Harding looked, too. They saw a shudder pass over the sick man's frame. That marked the stroke that produced death.

The following telegram from the members of the cabinet who are here was immediately sent to Vice President Coolidge, Chief Justice Taft, and those members of the cabinet who were not in San Francisco:

"The President died at 7:30 p. m. from a stroke of cerebral apoplexy. The end came peacefully and without warning."

Plan Now to Attend

The nurse turned back to look at the President to verify her comment.

Mrs. Harding looked, too. They saw a shudder pass over the sick man's frame. That marked the stroke that produced death.

The following telegram from the members of the cabinet who are here was immediately sent to Vice President Coolidge, Chief Justice Taft, and those members of the cabinet who were not in San Francisco:

"The President died at 7:30 p. m. from a stroke of cerebral apoplexy. The end came peacefully and without warning."

"DAUGHERTY, WORK, WALLACE, HOVELL."

A Shocking Surprise.

Nothing could have been a more shocking surprise. But in a hour earlier General Sawyer had been telling newspaper men that Mr. Harding had had the best day since he became seriously ill the preceding Saturday. He said that the President had definitely entered upon the stage of convalescence and that everything went to show that Mr. Harding was on the road to ultimate recovery.

The members of the official party—those who had accompanied the President and Mrs. Harding—had to wonder why that the President was in danger. They, like the newspaper men, had been assured that a fatal termination of the President's illness was quite not to be expected, in view of his apparent improvement—the evident lessening of serious symptoms—in the last 48 hours.

George B. Christian, Jr., secretary to the President and his devoted friend, was in Los Angeles with Mrs. Christian. He had gone there at the President's solicitation to read at a Masonic gathering an address which the President had prepared in the expectation that he would deliver it in person.

The newspaper men had an engagement with General Sawyer for 8 o'clock. He was to tell them how the President was progressing toward recovery. The bulletin came at 7:30. Instead of informing them that the President's condition was to improve it gave them the astounding information that he was dead.

Regarding the manner in which Mrs. Harding sustained the shock, an official statement given to the press by Judson D. Welker of the White House staff, a member of the President's official party, said:

"Mrs. Harding, who from the beginning of the President's illness had expressed complete confidence in his recovery, did not break down. On the other hand, she continued, as from the beginning, the bravest member of the group. When it was realized that the President had actually passed away, she turned to those in the room whose concern had turned to her, and said: 'I am not going to break down.'"

COOLIDGE WELL EQUIPPED FOR PRESIDENTIAL DUTIES

President Calvin Coolidge is perhaps better equipped by experience to take on his administrative duties in the White House than was any of his predecessors who have been called to that high office by the death of a president.

He has kept throughout the Harding administration closely advised as to the problems of the federal government and has assisted in shaping administration policy by his constant attendance at cabinet meetings.

Although vice presidents usually have no other duties to perform than that of presiding over the senate, casting the deciding vote when that body finds itself in a tie, Mr. Coolidge absented himself from his sessions every Tuesday and Friday to participate in the cabinet deliberations. Thus he became familiar not only with all angles of the major public questions but also with the reasons actuating the President in his decisions.

Old Stuff.

"As we understand the new book of etiquette," says the St. Joseph News-Press, "is not pronounced to 'Hymn' or 'at' the past tense of 'eat.' That's what our dictionary has been telling us right along, brother—Boston Transcript.

A Trick With Letters.

Here is a bit of an etymology from the Oxford Dictionary. Ask your friend if he can spell "capitalization" with only seven letters. "The answer is: no, unless you use capital letters, isn't it?"

Official Statement.

It was about twenty minutes from the time Mr. Harding was stricken (7:30 p. m.) until he died (7:30 p. m.). The circumstances are told briefly in the following formal announcement:

Washington, August 9, 1929.

WARREN G. HARDING, President of the United States, died at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, August 8, 1929, at San Francisco, California.

He was stricken with apoplexy while reading to him at the home of his daughter in San Francisco.

The death was sudden and unexpected. The President had been in good health and was on the point of leaving for his home in Marion, Ohio, on August 10, 1929.

He was 59 years of age.

His death was a great loss to the people of the United States.

His remains will be transported to Washington, D. C., for interment in the Arlington National Cemetery.

WARREN G. HARDING

While our nation enjoys a good measure of peace and prosperity that is suddenly called upon to mourn the loss of her national leader, it is not without reason that we stop to mourn, yes, to pray that the Great Invisible Intelligence of the Universe, the God we worship and whose laborers who while they work for their own country, shall secretly regard the liberty of other peoples and the rights of man.

It has been pointed out as a strange and perhaps suggestive coincidence that the four Presidents who, during the memory of men now living have passed away at the very end of their activities, were all men of amiable, even genial, and kindly disposition. Lincoln, Garfield, McKinley and Harding, in their relations to their fellow men here at a distant time, each made self-sacrifice of himself to the demands made upon them. The normal desire of the president is to dispose upon any man all in the way of effort and thought of which the human body and mind are capable. The best official words of the President uttered, "more of the Christ spirit, more of the Christ practice," and a new and a more effective way to reverence for God." It was an address to have been delivered by him at a presentation of the "Eight Templars' International" to California Knights, and was read by Mr. Christian, his secretary.

Life is a mysterious thing. It is more merely to serve the physical part of our existence, the necessity of human life might well be doubted. But if it is to achieve some high purpose of the Creator, then it is well for mankind to be born, to struggle, to have the urge of ambition to achieve and to die.

To work for the purpose of making mankind better, that is worth doing to take an honorable and useful part in the affairs of our country and one's people is a worthy reason for existence. There are no regrets or misgivings about a life spent in such a helpful effort. There need be no tears because of the death of the man who has done all he can in his sphere of action to advance mankind. More than this man can do.

In his whole active public life Warren G. Harding has been clear in his thinking, high in his purpose, firm in his convictions, careful and sound in his judgment, scholarly and chaste in his utterances, kind and considerate and generous, without partiality in that courteous bearing which lent peculiar charm to his personality.

As the nucleus of his power and usefulness our President took his departure from friends and family. Why a thing like this should be done we don't know—it belongs to the endless mysteries of life. But somewhere in the vast scheme of the economy of the universe and the quidness years, it must be well. Somewhere there must be a kingdom where life's inequalities levelled, life's incompleteness made whole.

The death of Warren G. Harding, the twentieth President of the United States, has brought to every man and woman of this nation a sense of deep personal loss. For such a loss we are never prepared. Yet it is true today as in the moment when the maxim was first quoted: "God reigns and still government of Washington still lives." We join with Tenyson in saying:

He is gone who seemed so great—
 Yet nothing can larvae's him gone;
 Of the force he made his own
 Being here, and we believe him
 Something far advanced in spirit.
 And that he wears a tier crown
 Than any wreath that man can weave him.

Speak no more of his renown,
 Lay your earthly fancies down,
 And in the vast cathedral leave him
 God accept him; Christ receive him.

Theatre Notes

Saturday—Duncan and Edith Johnson will appear in "When Dinner Smiles." With all the vim, pep and horse-manship of the West and a Spanish back of it, with the love and fire of the Latin and the cool level-headedness of the American.

Larry Simon in "The Sutor." Are You One of the Happy Mortals that go about laughing at the antics of the Comedy King? If not you are missing a great many of the pleasures of life. You are not really living if you don't see Larry Simon in "The Sutor."

Also Movie Chats.
 Sunday & Monday—Harold Lloyd in "Grandma's Boy." Five reels of joy. Something new for Lloyd—the romance of a "Frat Cat" boy. You'll laugh at Lloyd. You'll love his grandma! The story is so surprising. The finish is a real "Some Joy in Grandma's Boy."

Also a two reel Western picture "Hearts of Dorson."
 Tuesday—Gladys Walton in "The Lavender Bath." Mayme Conroy wanted a "Lavender Bath"—she had heard of them. She got one. See the picture and learn how she did it.
 Also a comedy "Whiskers" and "In The Days of Buffalo Bill."

Wednesday & Friday—"Doubting for Dames." Sleepy Sam Cody, the laziest covey in Arizona, is here shown clapping with Lula Foster the prettiest and most romantic girl in the state. Lula had nothing to do with it. But Sam had his way. The story of how he worked himself up to the point of action makes the funniest motion picture in years.
 Monday—"Room 23" and "Magic Flight" at Hinchley.

 Elected vice president of United States, 1923.

Washington—President Calvin Coolidge has succeeded Warren G. Harding. He is the thirtieth president of the United States. He is the sixth vice president to succeed through the death of the president. The five other presidents were William Henry Harrison, Taylor, Lincoln, Garfield and McKinley.

Calvin Coolidge took the oath as President of the United States at Plymouth, Vt., at 2:47 a.m. Friday, August 3. The ceremony took place in the living room of the residence of the new President's father, John C. Coolidge. The oath of office was administered by the father, who is a notary public. The text of the presidential oath had been telephoned to Mr. Coolidge at Plymouth from the White House.

Statement by New Chief.
 President Coolidge received the news of the death of President Harding and of his own election to the presidency at ten minutes before midnight, standard time, Thursday.
 Mr. Coolidge received the first news through telegrams from George C.

PRESIDENT CALVIN COOLIDGE

Christian, Jr., secretary to President Harding.
 Mr. Coolidge issued the following statement:
 "Reports have reached me, which I fear are correct, that President Harding is gone. The world has lost a great and good man. I mourn his loss. He was my chief and my friend. It will be my purpose to carry out the policies which he has begun for the service of the American people and for meeting their responsibilities wherever they may arise."
 "For this purpose, I shall seek the cooperation of all those who have been associated with the President during his term of office. Those who have given their efforts to assist him I wish to remain in office, that they may assist me."
 "I have faith that God will direct the destinies of our nation."
 The following telegram was sent to Mrs. Harding:
 "Plymouth, Vt., Aug. 3, 1923.
 "Mrs. Warren G. Harding, San Francisco, Cal.: We offer you our deepest sympathy. May God bless you and keep you."
 "CALVIN COOLIDGE,
 "GRACE COOLIDGE."
 Message Tells of Death.
 The telegram announcing the death of the President was as follows:
 "Police hotel, San Francisco, Cal., Aug. 3, 1923.—Mr. Calvin Coolidge, Plymouth, Vt.: The President died, instantaneously and without warning, while conversing with members of his family, at 7:30 p. m. His physicians report that death was apparently due to some brain embolism, probably an apoplexy."

 "GEORGE B. CHRISTIAN, JR.,
 "Secretary."

This telegram was brought to the Coolidge home at Plymouth about 7:30 p. m. by W. A. Perkins of Bridgewater, who owns the telephone line running from Bridgewater to Plymouth. About five minutes later the Coolidge family was notified by Mr. Perkins and newspaper men arrived in Ludlow.
 A drive of thirty miles through the mountains brought them to the Coolidge summer home.
 Mr. Coolidge and Mrs. Coolidge had retired about an hour before the Coolidge home was notified. Ten minutes after the arrival of the newspaper men Mr. and Mrs. Coolidge came downstairs into the sitting room of the Coolidge home. Mr. Coolidge was dressed in a black suit and wore a black necktie. Mrs. Coolidge wore a black and white gown, white shoes and stockings. Mr. Coolidge was very pale and showed deep regret for President Harding's death. He seated himself at a table, and Mrs. Coolidge brought a lamp and read the telegrams he had received.

He then called his assistant secretary, Irvin Geleser, and dictated to him his statement and the telegram to Mrs. Harding.

"Mrs. Coolidge weeps.
 In the meantime people were arriving from all directions. Mr. Coolidge, seeing the house becoming crowded, gave orders that an adjoining house be opened for use as press headquarters.
 Meanwhile, the new first lady of the land sat weeping softly and exclaiming in sympathy for the bereaved first lady in San Francisco.
 "What a horrible loss! A terrible loss to poor Mrs. Harding," she said. "She had had such a heavy burden. In her own illness, to bear up under—and now this!"
 Finally Secretary Geleser returned with the press copies of the statements and pushing back the old photograph album and the family Bible on the center table. Mrs. Coolidge busied herself with the work of helping distribute them.
 The newspaper men had scarcely gotten out of sight when another telegram messenger arrived with a copy of the presidential oath from Washington. In the same sitting room with his hand-branded rifle, his clutter of venerable colonial furniture, his old wood stove and his family Bible—Calvin Coolidge received the oath of office from his father, and became America's twentieth president.
 Calvin Coolidge is a quiet, taciturn man, known to his friends as "Action Cal."

For more than twenty years prior to his election as vice president had been in political life, starting almost immediately after finishing college. His first political office was in the city council of Northampton, Mass., where he was elected. For several years he held various offices in that city, including those of city solicitor and mayor; then he was elected to the Massachusetts house of representatives. Later he won a seat in the state senate and was its president.
 Coolidge was lieutenant governor of Massachusetts and in 1910 was elected to the governorship in the first campaign won by the Republican party in several years. He was governor for two years. It was during this term he during his term as governor that he first attracted national attention. This was in connection with the policemen's strike in Boston. He took firm control of the situation, ordered the state guard to patrol the streets, and kept down rioting, taking the stand that law and order must be preserved. The strike was a complete failure.

It was mentioned as a possibility for the presidential nomination prior to the 1920 campaign, but he made a public announcement that he would not consider the nomination. His nomination and election to the vice presidency followed.
 Mr. Coolidge comes of a long line of New England ancestors who came to America in 1630, settling near Watertown, Mass. President Coolidge has two sons, Calvin, Jr., and John. Neither he nor his wife has been particularly active socially. A man of simple tastes, a thorough student, a hard worker, he is looked upon by his friends as a clear-headed, solid American. Although shy, he remains unperturbed no matter how exciting the situation may be. The keynote of his nature is dependability. In dress he is conservative, usually the opposite of extravagant, and also immaculate.
 In Washington Mr. Coolidge has been ranked as a clear thinker, aggressive in speech, a fair mixer—as aggressive as any vice president can be.

The Hoe Cake Devourer.
 "A lazy man," said Uncle Ebenezer, "doesn't hab no respect for a hoe-cuppl' as it tumbles hab summat' t'other way hoe cake."

Dear Neighbor Bill:
 Last week when I paid my rent I had been buying the flat I live in. That money would have paid the taxes on my old farm for a year. My first flat neighbor's name may be Johnson. I don't know for sure but I don't get acquainted here in the city. Mary and the kids don't like living upstairs and want to go back to the farm again where they can breathe.
 I haven't been working very steadily because those that they call upstairs strike so much, don't tell the Carbons but they don't mind any money here and let me know if my old job has been sold or rented again. I suppose that red ink on your budget is cheap at my age since I've got to go. How much would you take for her bill? Take good care of her. I'll go to bed now as we have to get up at five o'clock and ride an hour to my work.

The De Laval Milker Makes Dairying More Pleasant and Profitable

The De Laval Pulverator is operated through an independent pump. From the vacuum pump, and these pulsations are governed by a master pulsator which is geared to the pump, and is a regular and uniform in its action as the pendulum of a clock. Every milker unit runs at exactly the same speed as the master pulsator. The number of pulsations or squeezes per minute is exactly right, neither too fast nor too slow, and cannot be changed at the whim of the operator.

The De Laval Milker will do more than any other equipment you can own to put your dairy on a more pleasant and profitable basis. It gets more milk from the same cows, produces cleaner milk, and because of the time it saves, cuts the cost of production. It is "The Better Way of Milking" in every respect. Let us show you why.

They Met Their Pledge
Several members of the Butler University chapter of the Delta Delta Delta sorority recently held that a display of fine china in women's finery was planned at a convention of dry goods merchants in Indianapolis. The young women, who were accepted as models for the display, were to receive $75. It happens that the chapter pledged $500 to the Butler college endowment fund, and that one-fifth of the amount pledged was due in September. With unusual loyalty to their school and their chapter, the members banded together and went after the job. They got it, and they planned to apply the $75 to their $100 pledge in September, all the while wondering where they could get the remaining $25.
The display was given. It was successful. Out came the man in white. "You to do your work so well," he said, "that we've decided to make it $100." He handed a $100 bill to the girls.—Indianapolis News.

His Only Solace
Cornelius Bleeker, the New York clubman, sold on the Atlantic.
"I was in Berlin one day, and it was a funny sight to see the Berlin work people carrying their wages home in suitcases, wheelbarrows and hand carts. A man earning $20 a week, normal exchange would have you know, some $300 marks in notes of small denomination. No light burden."
"I spoke to a German banker about the denominated German mark. I said I supposed it distressed him considerably."
"Yes, it does," he agreed, and then he added:
"Sometimes, by heaven, I feel so depressed that to cheer myself up a little I take a few marks out and see how many rubles I can get for them."

A TALK WITH A PINE CITY MAN
Mr. Charles Head of Pine City tells of his interesting experience. There is nothing like a talk with one of our own citizens for giving hope and encouragement to the sickly sufferer from the dread kidney disease. We, therefore, give him an interview with a Pine City man.
"Heavy lifting weakened my kidneys and made my back lame," says Mr. Head. "Sharp knife-like pains took me in the small of my back and I was entirely cured."

GIRL'S STATEMENT WILL AMAZE PINE CITY
Many people will profit by the following statement of one of their own: "I was afraid to eat on account of stomach trouble. Even rice did not agree. After taking Doan's Kidney Pills, my stomach improved, and I was able to eat again. After taking another box I was entirely cured."

Vivacious Engine.
An engineer was giving evidence in a case in which a farmer was suing a railway company for damages resulting from the death of a cow, which had been run into by a train.
The farmer's lawyer was heckling the engineer, and kept reverting to his pet question, which was:
"Now, tell us, was the cow on the track?"
At last the engineer became angry, and answered the question:
"Well, if you want me to tell the real truth, the cow was bathing in the stream the other side of the track, but the engine saw her, leaped off the rails, dashed over the bank, and landed right on top of the cow, strangled her to death without a word.—Milwaukee Journal.

Novelties in Weddings.
At a recent English wedding the seven attendants of the bride were attired in colors representing the favorite flowers of the bride. The effect was very brilliant.
At a similar function there were five child bridesmaids who looked charming in Joshua Reynolds costumes of white muslin with quaint mop caps, blue sashes and bunches of king roses. The little ones looked as if they had just stepped from the painting of the distinguished artist.

Substitute for Rubber.
Chemists have worked out what they claim to be a practicable substitute for India rubber. They use as a basis the oil of the soap bean. Two parts of this oil are treated with one part of nitric acid, and the result is an emulsion. This emulsion is heated to the boiling point of water, when it becomes converted into a uniform gummy mass. Upon being washed in water, this mass is dissolved into dilute ammonia water (6 per cent) and from this solution a precipitate is obtained by neutralizing with some dilute acid. This precipitate is again washed with water and heated to about 112 degrees Fahrenheit.
