Memorial Service Held Friday

Pine City and community paid tribute to the memory of our late president, Warren G. Harding, with short impressive services in the park last Friday afternoon. All business establishments of the village closed at 1 o'clock and remained closed until three o'clock. All the bells of the village tolled from 1 o'clock until 1:30. At 1:30 the services commenced in the park with a selection by the Lector band and followed a prayer by Rev. Barnes of Beroun, vocal selections by Miss Bess Lambert, Mrs. Clint Bow and Margaret Hurley with Mrs. F. P. Gaitry at the piano, prayer by Father Leo. M. B. Hurley delivered an excellent address in which he traced the memory of Mr. Harding. He reviewed briefly the life and career of our late president, his rise from a poor boy to the highest office in America, and told of the high esteem in which he is now held and will always be held by the American public.

Adam Biedermann Installs Oil Tanks

Adam Biedermann has installed two storage tanks with a capacity of 12,085 gallons each for the handling of gasoline and kerosene. The tanks are located on the west side of the N. P. right of way opposite the Pine City Mercantile Co. store. The plant is electrically equipped with a large electric pump to transfer the oil from railroad cars to the tanks and has every modern convenience for the handling of the business. His first carload of gasoline arrived yesterday and will be transferred to the tanks. He will engage in the oil business both wholesale and retail. His gas station is located at his blacksmith shop and warehouse. A new Ford truck has been purchased for the delivery of his whole sale business. Mr. Biedermann will have his grand opening on Saturday of this week when everyone purchasing five gallons of gasoline at his station will receive a present free.

Big Horse Show At County Fair

The Pine County Fair is assured of the best horse show that it has had for a number of years. Herman Teich, who owns the registered percheron stallion, Buster, formerly owned by the Percheron Breeders Assn., has offered 3 additional premiums to the regular list. These special premiums are for colts that have been sired by his stallion. Arrangements will be made with the judge to hold a special demonstration in judging these colts and to make a little talk on the fine points of each animal. Mr. Teich has already entered 20 colts owned by various farmers. The premiums he offers are first, five service fee; second, one-half service fee; third, on third service fee. The Chagovvanna Farmers Club has reserved space on an exhibit. It is makes three clubs already entered in this department and more are expected. Plans are also under way for an automobile show and if plans materialize we will have a dandy exhibit of new automobile models in this department.

Gas War Causes Big Reduction

Consumers of gasoline in Pine City and community began to reap the benefit from the gasoline war that Tuesday when the retail price of gasoline took a drop of 7 cents per gallon and sold at 17c per gallon for low test and 20c per gallon for high test gasoline. Up until Tuesday the price was 24c and 27c. The price of gasoline over the country began to tumble when Gov. McMaster of South Dakota ordered the state filling station to sell gasoline at 16c per gallon. Following this order the Standard Oil Co. ordered all their stations to meet the price and their action was followed by other companies. The price war in other states and will probably result in a number of the smaller refineries going to the wall. In the meantime gasoline consumers are reaping the benefit and many automobile owners are laying in a supply at the reduced price in anticipation of the prices going back to or near the old prices.

Council Proceedings

The Village Council of the Village of Pine City, Minn., met last day in the village hall at its regular meeting. The meeting was called to order by Pres. Durr with the following members present: Pres. Durr, Trustees Daley, Boo and Wehrle and Clerk, Pennington. Absent none. The minutes of the meetings of July 2nd and 17th were read and duly approved.

Odd Fellows to Picnic

The committee appointed some time ago to arrange for a country-wide picnic for Odd Fellows, met last week and decided to hold the picnic on Labor Day, Sept. 3rd, at the Stenson Grove on the shores of Gimmatone Lake. A picnic dinner will be served at noon and various committees have been appointed to look after arrangements. Sandstone, Cloverton, Brook Park and Hinkley will take part.—Hinkley News.

William Tierney Dies

William Tierney passed away at his home in Pine City yesterday morning. Funeral services will be conducted by Father Leo from St. Marys church tomorrow and the remains laid to rest in the local cemetery.

County Bankers Hold Picnic

Practically every banker and his family in Pine County attended the annual picnic held at the county bankers association which was held at Pine Lake last Tuesday afternoon and evening.

George Hayes' Son Dies

Funeral services were held for Samuel Nelson Hayes last Tuesday evening and the remains were laid to rest in Birchwood cemetery at Pine City. Rev. John Lowe officiated.

Are Cutting Weeds

Patrolmen on trunk highways or so-called Blacked roads in Pine County are cutting weeds in the right-of-way in compliance with special orders received this week. Instructions are to burn Saw Thistle and other noxious weeds to prevent reseeding, first obtaining burning permits where required. A new state law requiring the "weed law" repealed by the last legislature requires the cutting of weeds along state highways before October 15 and the work is ordered now when the maintenance forces generally can handle the work conveniently and cut the best results.

May Get State Building

Three members of the State Board of Control, Mrs. Blanche La Du, C. J. Swendsen and John Coleman were here last Thursday to inspect the proposed Sandstone site for the new state institution which will be a home for epileptic children. The local committee met them at the depot and took them in cars for a short inspection of the quarry before dinner, and after dinner, and after dinner they were taken to inspect the four sections northwest of Esniger's corner, all of which are remarkably well located and have excellent drainage, soil, water, etc. The board will make no decision as to the site until all of the proposed locations have been inspected. We were informed by one of the members of the board that they now have an appropriation of $100,000 which will probably be used for building purposes as soon as the site is selected.—Sandstone Courier.

Home Talent Play

The young people of the Methodist church will give a home talent play—"Pill Bottle"—in the church on the evening of Friday August 21st. The admission will be children 15c and adults 25c. Full particulars will be given in a later issue of The Paper.

Card of Thanks

I wish to thank my many friends for their sympathy and assistance during the sickness and at the death of my beloved son, and for the many beautiful floral offerings. Especially do I thank the many kind friends at Marvillo and particularly Mr. and Mrs. Yonda for all their kindness and beautiful flowers.—George Hayes.

Card of Thanks

We wish to express our sincere thanks to our relatives, neighbors and friends for their kindly sympathy and assistance, and for the many beautiful floral offerings at the sad death of our beloved son and brother Ronald. Mr. and Mrs. Otto H. Wiedeman and children.

Bad Fires Near Henriette

The Comfort Cheese Factory burned Sunday afternoon at about 2:30 o'clock. It was completely destroyed, there being nothing to mark the site save the chimney, smoke-stack and a pile of ashes.

"Quicksand"

The absorbing story of "Quicksand," which comes to The Family Theatre next Sunday and Monday is based in large part on the effort of a band of criminals to smuggle narcotics into this country from Mexico. The cast is a powerful one and includes such notable names as Helene Chadwick, Richard Dix, A. H. Hale, Noah Berry, George Cooper, J. Farrell McDonald, Dick Sutherland and many others besides the 10th United States Cavalry. The story was written and produced by Howard Hawks and directed by Jack Conway, the latter responsible for "The H. P. Trail" and many other pictures depending on big effects and swift action.

County Board Meets Monday

The regular monthly meeting of the board of county commissioners will be held at the county house next week and will convene next Monday noon. We are not aware of any matters of special interest to come up at this meeting, as only routine business is scheduled so far for this month's meeting.

House Destroyed

A day later on Monday afternoon at about 9 o'clock, the beautiful dwelling of Mr. and Mrs. Berghoff was burned to the ground. The fire is thought to have originated in the attic and probably had burned a long time before being discovered. The place was valued at $6,000 and was partially covered by insurance thus making the Berghoffs heavy losers.—Kanabek County Forum.

Chicago Co. Fair Next Week

Chicago county's big fair will open at Rush City next Monday when the gates open to receive the entries of the exhibitors and concessionaires. Tuesday and Wednesday are the two big show days and the fair promises an excellent entertainment up to the standard they have set other years. The complete program for their first year is set out on the editorial page of this week's issue of The Paper.

is equipped to drill water wells, all sizes, from 2-inch to 12-inch. We guarantee all sizes except the 2-inch and 3-inch. These sizes cannot be completed without screens, and according to the highest authorities a screened well can only last a short time. Right in this vicinity last year we drilled seven 5-in wells to replace 2 and 3-inch screened wells that had had only been drilled a short time ago. The Village of Pine City had a 10-in. screened well which never was a success until the screen was removed. Therefore what can be expected of a 2 or 3-inch well? Absolutely nothing.

BATTLE OF SIDNEY STREET

Story of Fight in the Toughest Quarter of the London White-chapel.

Greve Street and Sidney Street in Whitechapel, a quarter of London in England, is about the toughest quarter in the world. In its dilapidated houses, with forbidding fronts, are the meeting places of scores of radical societies, anarchists and communists, as well as gangs of thieves and criminals of all kinds and characters.

Few persons remember about the "Battle of Sidney Street," which took place several years ago. Police had planned to raid a house in which were a number of violent anarchists, led by a Russian character, called "Peter the Painter."

The anarchists barred the doors and windows and opened fire on the police. Soldiers were ordered for the fight. They swarmed into the houses on the other side of the street, built defenses on the pavement, and from every vantage point poured a steady fire into the anarchist stronghold, every window of which was shattered.

The heaviest fighting with their rifles and automatics until their ammunition gave out. Then the attackers saw a haze of smoke pour heavily out of the windows. In a short time volumes of black smoke leaked from the windows, through the crevices of the roof, and the windows were a far distance from top to bottom.

When the smoke was a deep of rain, the police and soldiers found the charred bones of the anarchists. They had lighted their own funeral pyre.

Such was the famous "Battle of Sidney Street," which took place in the heart of London.

 THURSDAY AUGUST 16 1923

The demand of large employers for labor for the unrestricted entry of European wage earners for the real purpose of hammering down the wages of labor in this country, would no doubt react sooner or later in a way not pleasant to contemplate. The economic and social need of America is not now for cheap labor, but for a well paid labor that those who work for their daily wages or weekly or monthly salary may continue to be generous consumers of the food, clothing and other products time heretofore, must find a market at home. To lower the level of wages would not result in a greater profit to industry. To increase the output of those productions by cheapening the cost of the man-power employed would result simply in reducing the buying power of those who must be looked to as the consumers.

Present values are inflated to a considerable degree. Of this there is no possible doubt. Those who are best able to buy frequently complain the loudest because of alleged extortion and unscrupulous profiteering. But conditions are by no means as bad as they would be with street corners and employments of fees crowded with unscrupulous workers with empty pockets and no jobs. The miner, the bricklayer, the carpenter and the mechanic in the shop who earn big wages all spend them for the necessities and comforts to which they and their families are entitled. They have a right to demand reasonable protection.

Viewed from every point to-day's duty would seem to safeguard and fortify established institutions and industries by educating and otherwise helping the comparatively few aliens who are permitted to enter under the existing laws. It might be convincingly shown that to look forward, say half a century, it would be reasonable to see a population thoroughly Americanized, with every voter a defender of American institutions and traditions. A study of the present population will show that this is an imperative duty, if our institutions are to be perpetuated.

Complete reconsideration of the 1924 political situation in the Republican party becomes necessary, through the passing of Warren G. Harding.

Two weeks ago Mr. Harding's renomination was looked upon as all but an accomplished fact. During the brief period of his incapacity at San Francisco, the view gained ground that for personal reasons, he might not seek a second term. Had Mr. Harding survived and voluntarily retired from the Presidential race, Hiram W. Johnson, Senator from California, was considered by many the most probable heir to the 1924 nomination. He supported the new tariff bill, the ship subsidy and nearly all other administration measures, and missed his train when the Newberry vote was taken.

To-day with Calvin Coolidge in the presidency, the situation has taken on a kaleidoscopic and wholly unexpected turn. President Coolidge is certain to perpetuate the conservative ideals of the Harding Administration. He will stand for a steady course in domestic and international politics as firmly as Mr. Harding did. That there will be a strong demand for Mr. Coolidge for President in 1924 can be foreshadowed with little risk. The field for the nomination is now wide open. A competition in its prospect as intense as in the race in 1920, from which Mr. Harding emerged the triumphant compromise candidate.

Among the numerous possibilities may be mentioned Frank O. Lowden, ex-governor of Illinois, Maj. Gen. Wood, Governor Packer of Pennsylvania, Senator LaFollette who has the backing of farmers and organized labor, ex-senator Kenyon of Iowa, Senator of Kansas, Borah of Idaho, Watson of Indiana, and Albert Beveridge, Charles E. Hughes is favored by some and Herbert Hoover is a vote-getter. Secretary Denby and Secretary Weeks are in the field.

All that can with certainty be set down at this critical hour is that the Republican presidential affairs are in the melting pot. It looks like a free field, and no sure favor for any man.

Democratic leaders are standing pat waiting for the Republican pot to boil over. The growing impression is that a new man, with no over-hanging prejudices, and a real progressive American platform, will sweep the field. The independent vote is the controlling factor and both parties are playing for it.

Theatre Notes

Saturday—
 Earle Williams in "The Man from Downing Street." A the title of a very clever film production dealing with India and the British secret service in that country.
 The British secret service in India is perhaps the most highly developed in the world. It was here that the finger print system was perfected and given to the police of the various countries throughout the globe.
 Larry Semon in "The Sportsman and Movie Chats"

Sunday & Monday—
 Helen Chadwin in "Quicksand." The story of a girl who was known as a sweet and alluring blonde rode with her in the forenoon north of the Rio Grande—and as a seductive brunette secretary by the sinister frequenters of a suspicious cantina in which she fitted in the evenings south of the border.

In danger of losing her sweet heart's love should he discover her dual personality—for she could not explain her motive; in danger of losing her life should the other discover her deception.
 Yet risking all—for what? Buster Keaton in "The Pale Foot." A comedy you won't forget.

Tuesday—
 Hoot Gibson in "Biding Wild." Still Water Runs Deep—and Earl Cyril broke loose he proved it with a vengeance. You'll enjoy this story of a lad who was his "mother's boy"—who refused to fight until the girl came along—and then cleaned up a whole town before he quit!
 Also a comedy "Two Auctioneers." "In the Days of Buffalo Bill."

Thursday & Friday—
 Reginald Baker production "Heart Affaire." A crafty, unscrupulous dealer in real estate, in a fit of revenge against a millionaire lumberman, bribes a feeble-minded man to turn a beautiful tract of Michigan pine, owned by a courageous girl. The flames spread through the forest with incredible rapidity. Nothing can be done to hinder them. Heroic measures are required; and a whole mountainside is blown up to save the village beyond from the ruin and devastation of the on-rushing flames—in Reginald Baker's production, "Heart's Affaire."

Big City, Minn. June 13th, 1923.
 Dear Neighbor Bill:
 Last week when I paid my rent I thought I was buying the flat I live in. That money would have paid the taxes on my old farm for a year. My next flat neighbor's name may be Johnson, I don't know for we don't get acquainted here in the city. Mary and the kids don't like living upstairs and want to go back to the farm again where they can breathe.

Former Farmer "buys" a large flat in city!

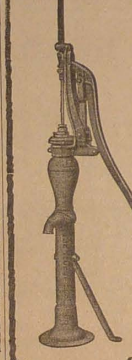

I haven't been working very steady because those, what they call unions strike so much, don't tell the Carbons but you can't make any more here and let me know if my o'd "800" has been sold or rented again. I suppose that red haffer you bought so cheap at my sale gives lots of milk now. How much would you take for her now? Take good care of my dog Bill, for I may want him again. Must go to bed now as we have to get up at five o'clock and ride an hour to my work.
 Write me about your crops.

"Well, that's news," Curtis commented. "How come?"

GIGANTIC DAIRY COW STATE FAIR FEATURE

A gigantic dairy cow, sculpted from plaster paris, thirty feet long and fifteen feet high, gracing a pedestal in the rotunda of the Agricultural building, will be one of the big attractions at the Minnesota State Fair and North-west Dairy Exposition, Twin Cities, September 1 to 8.

The immense cow will symbolize the relation of agriculture to this year's big State Fair and the dairy industry.

What the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) Means To You

WHEN the Standard Oil Company was born, this country of ours was a land of scattered agriculturists and a few centers of straggling industry.

Power was limited to the physical endurance of horse and man.

Had you lived then you would have enjoyed few of the comforts which today are a common heritage.

In one generation, living conditions in our country have changed completely.

Petroleum products, created and manufactured by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana) have made new industries possible.

Individual opportunities have multiplied in exact ratio to the progress of industry.

New industrial practices and modern refinements have been made possible because petroleum furnished the operating power.

Petroleum supplied the lubricants needed for the speeding up of machinery and the consequent increased production.

With these new practices and the new institutions to manufacture the new products, came new opportunities of all kinds— for labor— for capital— for initiative.

Today you have an automobile—something your father never dreamed of owning.

The fact that you own an automobile is less significant than the fact that the machinery of industry dependent upon petroleum for its successful operation—has made it possible for so large a percentage of people to own one.

Without petroleum products—the kind of petroleum products manufactured by the Standard Oil Company (Indiana)—the brassy arms of every other industry would shrivel to uselessness.

Without Standard Oil Company (Indiana) initiative and industrial daring your standard of living today would be on a different plane.

THE ONLY "SURE THING" IN THE INVESTMENT FIELD

The Advice of Honest Men Who Know, and Willingness to Be Content With Reasonable Return, Declared Only Safe Road to Assured Income.

"Success in life depends upon the investments made of talents and time," says an article on investing prepared by the Committee on Public Education of the American Bankers Association. "Future return will be gain or loss, according to these investments. That is a law of life which controls investment of money, just as it controls investment of talents." The article, which is particularly timely in these days when so many are being robbed by fake investments, continues:

In the business sense, the word investment relates to the use of money in acquiring ownership of an enterprise. Ownership may represent entire possession of property as of a home, a corporation, or conditional ownership as in the case of buying a mortgage or a bond. When a person makes an investment in bonds, he is really lending his money to the government or corporation issuing them. He will receive the interest which they earn as long as he owns them, or until they are paid off.

Ownership of great corporations is vested in individuals who have invested money in their stock or bonds. Many people regard the ownership of the United States Steel Corporation, for example, as differing from the ownership of, say, a small workshop. Yet investors in shares of Steel Corporation stock are entitled to the same rights, under the law, as the owner of the workshop. In the corporation, the owners hold certificates of stock as evidence of their investment, whereas the owner of the little workshop holds a deed as title to his land.

Capitalists Laws Protect Investors
Because the laws stand for the equal protection of all investors, it is possible and profitable to make good investments. It gives an incentive to work hard and to invest. The person who wishes to invest must first work and accumulate funds with which to do so.

Bonds are always secured by mortgages on the lands, buildings or other property of the corporation for which the money has been used. When a bond matures the money must be repaid to the owner of the bond.

All investors are a part of a great financial system which gathers up and puts to work the wealth of the country for the mutual benefit, prosperity, and wellbeing of all. In America, it is possible for any one who is willing to pay the price of material and hard work, to be an investor. Good investments made in early life by saving such small sums as may be possible, lay the foundation for providing the comforts of later years, when it is harder to earn a livelihood and when poverty often becomes the condition of those who have not practiced thrift in youth.

It is not wise for those without experience to undertake to make investments of their money without guidance from those who know. Many companies are constantly being organized to promote unsound schemes, referred to as "wildcat". There are always solicitors ready to reeve people of their savings by the promise of big returns. The lure of great wealth is always temptation by which thousands of thrifty people are deprived of hard-earned savings every year. Widows and orphans who have inherited money are frequently sought and made the targets of these fake stock salesmen. Misery and suffering are the usual results.

Good Defeats Safety
Many people with small means also lose money because they insist on a high rate of interest on their investments. Safety of principal should be considered above large returns in interest or dividends. Small investors should never buy high-rate, speculative investments, in which there is a great risk, but should stick to those which pay a fair rate and which are known to be safe.

To know whether an investment is worth buying the investor should go to a banker, or a successful business man in whom he has confidence, get his opinion and act in accordance with it. In all probability this will mean the difference between success in investment and total loss of his money.

The banker deals with investments every day and knows all the tricks and help and information he can, and the business man has learned by experience the need of caution and careful judgment. They believe one should have a clear understanding of an investment before it is purchased. They know the difference between the stock promotion schemes and get-rich-quick propositions which in many cases have brought poverty and suffering. While many states have passed laws aimed to protect the public against promoters of fake investments, thousands of people are still falling for their wiles, because they fail to seek advice of those experienced in making investments.

Good advice and temperate expectations mark the only road to safe investment and an assured income. There is no other certain way.
